Dewey called for elimination of state income taxes, uring that the Federal government reciprocate by getting out of the field of so-called "nuisance" taxes, such as those on admissions, in favor of the states.

Marshall Speech Text

Salt Lake City, July 14 (AP)—The text of Secretary Marshall's address at the governors' conference follows:

I have welcomed the opportunity to meet with you gentlemen again, but not the obligation to make a formal public statement. During the war years it was possible for me to talk off the record and also to discuss matters in a rather definite manner. I always felt that you not only gave me your confidence, but that the Army derived a very definite benefit from the more intimate knowledge of its problems that I felt free to communicate to you.

I express again my appreciation of the support you gave me in those difficult days and the meticulous manner in which you respected my confidence.

I little thought in my last meeting with some of you, I believe at Mackinac Island, that I would return again in a totally different capacity and with problems and responsibilities that are in some respects much more difficult than those that were mine during the war.

Peace Has Its Difficulties

It is unnecessary to tell you gentlemen that re-establishing the peace has its difficulties, or that it is necessary that I be very careful in what I say and when I say it. If it had been practicable for me to talk to you off the record and in great confidence, there is much that I would like to discuss with you. However, I must confine myself to the necessities of the time and the occasion.

In accepting my new responsibilities it is probably fortunate, though it did not seem so at the time, that I had little opportunity to go into all of the details concerned with the critical negotiations, discussions and actions in which I was soon to participate.

Probably if I had had a full realization of the enormity of the task and its requirements, I would have suffered considerably in morale. As it is, I have reason to be really very grateful for the generous support which has been given me and the sympathetic understanding with which my various efforts have been regarded.

His Greatest Problem

I will say right now that the greatest problem I feel we have to deal with is in bringing the American public to a general understanding of the conditions involved at home and abroad which influence all negotiations and therefore all efforts to re-establish the peace and prosperity of the world. Prejudiced points of view are of course objectionable in all such matters, but it is very hard to avoid a degree of prejudice under real provocation, and particularly when one is remote from the scene of the difficulties.

Also it is very difficult to reduce the problems to a simplicity of statement that is understandable to our citizens generally. I can judge this I think rather accurately by my own difficulties when I first took up the burdens of preparation for the meetings in Moscow. That experience, incidentally, has guided my language to a considerable extent in the various public statements I have had to make.

Function Of States

State papers and state pronouncements must be couched in diplomatic, at least dignified, phraseology, and unless one is a master of the English language, such as Mr. Churchill for example, it is very difficult to combine these requirements with the urgent necessity of making impressively clear to the ordinary citizen the matters under discussion.

These gatherings of the executive heads of the states on which our Government is founded are emphatic reminders of the functions of the states in our political life. That function has a very special significance today when one considers the present world problems.

Thinking back on the developments of our Federal Union; on the doubts and difficulties which preceded the final union of the colonies, on the remarkable productive effort which followed on the solution of the early difficulties, and on the high degree to which the states have continued to maintain their own individual personality and institutions, Americans should have a keen and sympathetic understanding for the efforts now under way in Europe to overcome the limitations of national barriers in the approach to a solution for common economic problems.

And this understanding will strongly influence, in fact will determine the decisions which this country will be called upon to take with relation to the outcome of those discussions.

There is no blinking the fact that this country now stands at a turning point in its relations to its traditional friends among the nations of the Old World. Either it must finish the task of assisting these countries to adjust themselves to the changed demands of a new age, or it must reconcile itself to seeing them move in directions which are consistent neither with their own traditions nor with those of this country.

A Radical Alteration

In this latter case, the United States would be faced with a radical alteration of its own position in the world. I ask you to consider most carefully the implications of such a development for the future prosperity and security of our country.

There are many who are in doubt as to the course which this nation should now pursue. They feel that the aid granted thus far to the countries of Europe has been piecemeal, and certainly not fully effective. And they wonder whether we are pursuing the right course.

These reactions are understandable. It is true that the efforts to put European countries back on their feet have thus far been largely to meet a series of crises and therefore of a somewhat disjointed character. It is also true that they have not accomplished all of the task which it was hoped they would accomplish, though I think they have been far more beneficial than is generally realized.

The uncertainties of the immediate post-hostilities period were such that no one could have predicted accurately the course of developments or devised adequate, co-ordinated approaches to Europe's problems. An immense amount has been accomplished by what this country and others have already done to help Europe overcome the effects of this war.

Could Not Be Foreseen

However, a great part of the problem or postwar adjustment in Europe still awaits solution. No one clearly foresaw, and no one could have foreseen, the outlines and the magnitude of the problem while the smoke of battle still hung over the scene.

It is now possible to calculate more exactly the needs which must be met, and the sources from which they must be met, if this adjustment is to be completed. Furthermore, the urgent need for a carefully coordinated European effort is now widely recognized.

The meeting in Paris called at the initiative of the foreign ministers of France and Great Britain constitutes an auspicious beginning to the accomplishment of this task. The representatives of European countries there assembled deserve to feel that their work will be followed in this country with genuine sympathy and good-will.

For we are intimately concerned with the solution.

From U.S. Standpoint

In Washington we are studying with the greatest of care the implications of the various possible solutions from the standpoint of the interests of the United States. But whatever course is adopted will affect the lives and fortunes of people in every state of the union.

It is imperative that the attitude taken by our Government toward this problem, as in all great questions of foreign affairs, be in intimate accord with the feelings of the nation at large. To make up its mind this country will need facts.

One of the results of the meeting being held in Paris and of the studies now being made by the governors will be to bring out all the facts. With the facts before them I am confident of the response of the American people.

With your help I feel it will be possible for our Government to find a course of action fully consistent with our own national interests and yet equally considerate of the incalculable stake which this country has in the preservation of European civilization.

STASSEN IN PLEA FOR STATES UNDER RED DOMINATION

WASHINGTON, July 14—(AP) Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination, pleaded tonight that the United States should not "abandon" the eight Soviet-dominated European countries which refused to attend the Marshall plan conference in Paris.

In a radio address Stassen predicted there will be "a continuing major competition and clash of economic systems and of ideologies between Russia and the United States." He continued:

"The hope of mankind is that a decision can be reached on a basis x x x of ideas and not through a resort to force."

Tools of Russia, He Says

Stassen declared that the eight small nations — Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Albania— "do not want to turn away from us" and did so only because "in their position they cannot defy Russia."

Stassen's plea came a few hours after three midwest Republican congressmen urged economic isolation and refusal of aid for countries refusing to cooperate with the United States.

Rep. Mason (R-Ill) in a speech prepared for the house proposed severance of diplomatic relations with Russia and economic isolation "until she is ready and willing to cooperate."

Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill) announced that he will try to cut out of the pending $350,000,000 European relief program those countries which are boycotting the current Paris conference on the Marshall plan.

Rep. Byrnes (R-Wis) made public copies of a letter to President Truman urging him to "terminate promptly" any relief to such countries.

Stassen, on the other hand, asserted:

"I consider it imperative x x x that we immediately make it clear that we do not turn our backs to these eight countries, that we do not foreclose the probability, under proper conditions, of extending to them desperately needed economic assistance."

The conditions for such aid, he said, should clearly include that the press and radio be able to report to the outside world what is happening within the country.

Grave Issue, He Declares

Terming the refusal of Russia and her satellites to join in the Paris parley a development of "major and grave postwar significance," Stassen said:

"I do not believe there will be a major change in Russian policy for the better until the members of the all-powerful Politburo, including Generalissimo Stalin, become convinced of two things:

"1. That notwithstanding the strains of war and postwar conditions, our economic system can continue to function with high production and high standards of living and without a major economic crash and devastating depression.

"2. That the Communist party cannot successfully infiltrate and dominate or sabotage this country or any other one of the major powers of the world."

As a move in that direction, Stassen urged that this country "proceed promptly with an intelligent, coordinated program to clear up Communist infiltration in the United States."

G.O.P. LEADERSHIP GIVEN JOLT BY RESULT OF VOTE

Backers Succeed, However, in Beating All Attempts to Amend Bill.

TRUMAN TO ACT SOON

12 Democrats Join 48 Republicans in Voting for New Measure.

WASHINGTON, July 14 — (AP) The second-try $4,000,000,000 income tax reduction bill cleared the senate today by a vote of 60 to 32—two votes less than the two-thirds majority which would be needed to override President Truman's promised veto.

The roll call dealt a jolt to the Republican leadership. It had been predicting hopefully that the tally would foreshadow victory for their side on the veto showdown.

Forty-eight Republicans and 12 Democrats, most of them from the South, voted for the bill. Republican Senators Langer of North Dakota and Morse of Oregon joined 30 Democrats in opposing the measure.

Amendments Beaten

Backers of the January 1 tax cut succeeded in beating back all attempts to amend the bill, which passed the house last Tuesday 302 to 112. But that series of successes was dimmed by their failure to achieve a two-thirds or better margin on passage.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), the president pro tempore, received renewed assurances from President Truman during a White House conference today that he will act promptly on the bill when it reaches him. Mr. Truman let it be known last week that his action will be another veto, just as he rejected the original tax cut bill which carried a July 1, 1947, effective date.

By the time the second veto reaches Capitol Hill, the administration expects to count another sure vote with the return of Senator Thomas (D-Utah) from an international labor conference in Switzerland.

An administration strategist said his side is hopeful of picking up two additional votes. Thirty-three votes could sustain any veto in the Senate which now has 95 members.

Today's vote of 60 to 32 compared with a 52 to 34 tally May 28 on passage of the first tax cut bill, when nine senators did not vote, and with the 48 to 28 roll call by which the senate adopted the conference committee's report on the first measure.

The senate rejected five amendments today before passing the bill. It had turned down eight offered by Senator Morse Saturday.

Closest Amendment Vote

The closest call came on the 47 to 43 vote which defeated an amendment by Senator McClellan (D-Ark) to raise personal exemptions of single taxpayers from $500 to $600, and of heads of families from $1,000 to $1,200.

Senator Millikin (R-Colo), manager for the bill, said the increase in exemptions would raise the revenue loss by $1,800,000,000 a year.

A 52 to 40 vote knocked down another McClellan amendment which would have permitted husbands and wives in all states to split their income for tax purposes. Only residents of states with community property laws are permitted to do so now.

Another amendment by the same senator, to require the internal revenue bureau to recognize state partnership laws, lost on a voice vote.

The Senate also shouted down an attempt by Senator Kilgore (D-WVa) to substitute McClellan's income-split amendment for the entire bill. Another voice vote killed a proposal by Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) to exempt trailer-houses from federal excise taxes.

The bill probably will reach the White House tomorrow or Wednesday. One influential Democrat predicted that both houses will have an opportunity to vote on the veto before the weekend. The House acts first.

The measure provides cuts ranging from 30 per cent in the lowest tax bracket to 10.5 per cent at the top. In detail, here are the reductions:

30 per cent off on net income of $1,000 or less, after exemptions and deductions.

From 30 to 20 per cent off on income from $1,000 to $1,400.

20 per cent from $1,400 to $136,000.

15 per cent from $136,000 to $302,000.

10.5 per cent on all income above $302,000.

Parley Absentees' Isolation Urged

Washington, July 14 (AP)—Three mid-West Republican congressmen urged today the economic isolation of nations refusing to participate in the Marshall plan or otherwise co-operate with the United States.

Representative Mason (R., Ill.) advocated that the United States "sever diplomatic relations with Russia now and keep her isolated . . . until she is ready and willing to co-operate."

Representative Dirksen (R., Ill.) announced he will seek to deny any of the $350,000,000 European relief program to countries which failed to join in the economic proposal advanced by Secretary of State Marshall.

Representatives Byrnes (R., Wis.) released copies of a letter asking President Truman to "terminate promptly" any relief "to those nations which have refused to participate in the economic conference in Paris."

Marshall Plan Described

[Marshall proposed that Europe organize a self-help program and advise the United States what further aid is needed. Russia and her satellites boycotted a conference in Paris called by Britain and France for that purpose. Sixteen nations are participating.]

In a statement to reporters, Dirksen declared:

"It is time to serve notice that Operation Rathole is at an end. If European nations are more interested in Red Fascism than in rehabilitation, that is their concern.

"Once and for all let us put an end to the use of American dollars to spread this hateful doctrine and thus undo the work which has cost hundreds of thousands of American lives and billions of American treasure."

Urges Relations Cut

Mason released copies of a speech prepared for delivery to the House. In it he said:

"Many members of Congress believe we should sever diplomatic relations with Russia now, isolate her from the rest of the world, and keep her isolated until she is ready and willing to co-operate to insure the future peace of the world. We believe drastic action on our part is the only way we can prove to Russia that she has gone too far already."

Mason said United States aid has gone to 59 countries since the end of the war and $20,000,000,000 has been spent in loans, grants, relief, lend-lease, surplus property credits and other projects. He added:

"One can easily see that our American tax burden will be a heavy one for the next 100 years.

"Democracy is dying in Europe, dying of war wounds. Democracy as we know it never existed in Asia. Democracy in South America exists in name only.

"In view of these facts, it might be wise for us to devote all our efforts to preserving democracy at home."

Byrnes Challenges Eligibility

Byrnes's letter read, in part:

"The full and willing participation of the United States (in reconstructing Europe) . . . is dependent, in the last analysis, upon the approval of the people. . . . Such approval will not be obtained, and it should not be given, unless our program is consistent and is designed to aid only those countries who show a willingness and desire to assist themselves.

"It is clear that those nations who have refused to participate in the Paris Conference have made themselves ineligible for relief assistance under the ($350,000,000 foreign-aid) program."

PETERSEN RESIGNS

Washington, July 14 (A. P.).—Howard C. Petersen resigned today as Assistant Secretary of War. President Truman accepted the resignation, effective July 31, "with genuine regret."

Petersen told the President in a letter he had "reluctantly come to the conclusion that I cannot afford to stay in Government service any longer."

He said he could not do so "in fairness to my family."

Truman Gets Bill On Japan Islands

Trusteeship to Affect Tokyo 'Stepping Stones'

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP).—The Senate today approved an international agreement setting up an American trusteeship over former Japanese mandate islands in the Pacific captured during World War II.

The islands—known during the war as "stepping stones to Tokyo"—include the Marshalls, Carolines and Marianas. Once owned by Germany, they were given to Japan under a League of Nations mandate after World War I.

Under United States administration, they will be called "the Territory of the Pacific."

The legislation, previously approved by the House, now goes to President Truman for signature. It gives Mr. Truman authority to put into effect a trusteeship agreement unanimously approved last April by the United Nations' Security council.

Stalin Reported Aging

Agronsky Quotes 2 Men Who Saw Russian Leader Recently

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP).—Martin Agronsky, radio commentator, said today two men who had seen Premier Stalin recently report the Russian leader appears to have aged considerably.

In an American Broadcasting Corporation broadcast, Mr. Agronsky said one observer who had seen Mr. Stalin several times over a period of years reports the leader's movements are slower and his body appears shrunken. This visitor, Mr. Agronsky said, states that Mr. Stalin himself told him he is getting to be an old man.

Another observer, Mr. Agronsky said, who saw Mr. Salin for the first time recently, reports he appears older than his photographs indicate. The commentator quoted both observers, however, as saying Mr. Stalin appears mentally alert.

Arabian Prince Abdulla In Capital For Talks

Washington, July 14 (AP)—Prince Abdulla, of Yemen arrived here by train from New York today for a three day visit as a guest of the Government.

Considerable time on his program has been set aside for talks with Department of Commerce officials, indicating that trade is high on the list of the Prince's interests here.

He will see other top officials including Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State and President Truman before his departure Thursday.

2 EX-GI'S ARRAIGNED IN ATOM DATA CASE

Wallis, von der Luft Are Freed on $10,000 Bonds After U. S. Charges Are Read

CHICAGO, July 14 (AP)—Earnest D. Wallis, 34 years old, former Army sergeant and formerly an official photographer at the Los Alamos, N. M., atom bomb plant, pleaded innocent today to a Federal charge of removing top secret atomic photographs and negatives.

The plea was entered at his arraignment after United States Attorney Otto Kerner Jr. told newsmen there was "no indication from information we ha ve" that Wallis let the photgraphs or negatives slip into the hands of any foreign power.

Bond was set at $10,000, a figure the Government said had been recommended by Attorney General Tom Clark.

The hearing was continued to July 28, pending arrival of records from Los Alamos, where the formal charge against Wallis was filed.

Wallis was accused of taking highly confidential photographs and negatives with him when he left the atom bomb plant upon his release from the Army on March 6, 1946. Agents of the FBI said they had recovered the photographs and negatives in Wallis' studio in Chicago on May 24.

The charge on which Wallis was arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker alleged he had engaged in:

"Moving and concealing papers and documents filed and deposited in a public office of the United States and also that he did take and carry away said papers and documents with the intent to remove and conceal same."

The charge carried a maximum penalty of a $2,000 fine and three years' imprisonment.

Wallis' attorneys Julius Schwartz and Jesse H. Brown, urged that the bond be lowered to $2,500, asserting that Wallis had done nothing more than "other soldiers who sent home war souvenirs."

Mr. Kerner said Wallis had told FBI agents that he h ad snapped many of the photographs himself and was of the opinion he had the right to take them when he left the Army.

Wallis did not state any plea, but Commissioner Walker entered one of innocent when Wallis' attorneys said they had not had an opportunity to see the Government charges.

Wallis' father said "we will do our best to raise the bond."

Von der Luft Out on Bond

PITTSBURGH, July 14 (AP)—Alexander von der Luft, 23 years old, former Army sergeant accused of taking secret records from the Los Alamos, N. M., atom bomb plant, received a preliminary hearing today.

He was freed on $10,000 bond by United States Commissioner Roger Knox, who said a date for a further hearing would be set after arrival of a certified copy of the record from New Mexico.

Before the hearing, von der Luft, a student at Princeton, told reporters in the corridor that the records were "only historically secret" and added:

"No one could tell how to make an atomic bomb from them."

Von der Luft's attorney, Ralph D. McKee, said: "I have known this boy's father all my life. The boy has a good service and I know he didn't mean any harm, whatever."

Von der Luft's parents also have expressed confidence, saying their son was a victim of the GI's love of souvenirs.

He was charged specifically with wilfully and unlawfully removing and concealing records and documents. Conviction carried a maximum penalty of a $2,000 fine and three years in prison.

Asks Trials Be Held in Santa Fe

SANTA FE, July 14 (AP)—United States Attorney Everett M. Grantham said today he was seeking removal to Santa Fe of the two ex-sergeants accused of taking secret records from the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic laboratory. Mr. Grantham said he had requested United States attorneys in Pennsylvania and Illinois to arrange for their return to New Mexico to enter pleas here in United States District Court.

LEGAL POINT IS RAISED IN DURANT CASE

Terminal Leave Factor In Effort To Free Her In Jewel Theft

Charleston, W.Va., July 14 (AP)—An attorney for Kathleen Nash Durant, former WAC captain, today cited an Army judge advocate general's ruling to support a contention that she was recalled illegally to active duty for a courtmartial in the theft of the Hesse crown jewels.

Attorney Hugh H. Obear, of Washington, agued that Mrs. Durant hed been placed on terminal leave, which, he asserted, in reality was an inactive status.

Closing arguments are expected to be completed tomorrow, but Federal Judge Ben Moore did not indicate when he would rule on the case.

Seeks Her Freedom

The 43-year-old ex-WAC, serving a five-year court-martial sentence for complicity in the theft of the jewels valued at $1,500,000 from Kronberg Castle, Germany, is seeking her freedom on a writ of habeas corpus from the Federal Reformtory for Women at Alderson, W.Va.

Obear argued begore Judge Moore that terminal leave was a "nominal active status" simply defined in the regulations in that manner to permit payment of accumulated leave time to officers.

Arrested June 3

Mrs. Durant, dressed in a two-piece dark blue suit, testified that she signed her terminal-leave papers March 9, 1946, and that her terminal-leave period expired May 30. She was taken into custody by military policemen on June 3.

Lieut. Col. Nicholas R. Voorhis, of the judge advocate general's office at Washington, representing the Army, in cross-examination, drew from her the acknowledgement that she received a War Department telegram on May 29, 1946, recalling her to active duty.

Legal Point Argued

Obear said the wording of the telegram concerning "active" duty supported his contention that she was on inactive duty, and that the judge advocate general had ruled previously that "the Army has the power to recall officers from an inactive status, but that power may not be used to recall an officer for a court-martial."

In reply to Colonel Voorhis' questions, Mrs. Durant said that after her arrest and during her trial she continued to draw her pay as a WAC captain.

She also admitted that in an early plea to the Supreme Court of the United States, she styled herself in the petition as an Army captain.

Obear declared she was a civilian and had a certificate of service showing her separation from the Army.

UN STALLS REDS' PLAN TO DESTROY ATOMIC WEAPONS

LAKE SUCCESS, July 14 (AP)—The United Nations Atomic Energy Commission today postponed a vote on Russia's proposal for destruction of all atomic weapons after bogging down over the issue of when.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko fought unsuccessfully for a ballot on the principle of destroying the bombs and even agreed to leave open the question of time.

However, other delegates insisted that any such formal resolution should provide that the bombs would be dismantled only when a stage had been reached when atomic control and safeguards machinery was considered effective.

Stick to Baruch Plan

Delegates thus stuck to the original American (Baruch) plan which provided that atomic bombs would be destroyed only after such controls were operating. Russia always has insisted that there first should be a separate treaty outlawing and destroying bombs.

The commission, meeting as a working committee, was in general agreement on eventual dismantling of atomic bombs, with the nuclear fuel from such weapons to be retained for peaceful purposes.

A vote providing for destruction of all bombs will close one of the loop-holes in the Baruch plan by ruling out the possibility that atomic weapons might be turned over to the proposed U. N. global police force for use against an aggressor.

The committee will meet again Thursday and Gromyko said at that time he again would insist that the delegates go on record formally.

Osborn to Make Statement

Frederick H. Osborn, American delegate, did not speak at today's session but said later that he would make a statement at the coming meeting.

Earlier the commission's political committee considered an informal paper on the function of an international agency in relation to location and mining of ores.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canada, chairman of the small sub-committee which drafted the paper, said that all nations should contribute source materials in proportion to their useable reserves and that no nation should be able to hoard its reserves under ground in order to gain advantage over those countries using their reserves.

He said that the paper proposed that the agency should be given complete authority on the disposition of material from the time it is removed from the ground. This would mean that no nation or individual may possess or dispose of source material, without the knowledge of the agency, after it has been mined.

Russ Move To Override U.S. Atom-Curb Plan Seen Beaten

Lake Success, July 14 (AP)—A veiled move by Russia to get the United Nations to indorse the immediate dstruction of all atomic weapons appeared headed for defeat today in the Atomic Energy Commission.

American sources said that Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was attempting to override a United States plan, already agreed to by all except Russia and Poland, which calls for disposal of the bombs only upon completion of a treaty for world-wide atomic control with airtight safeguards.

Gromyko last week offered a proposal for "destruction" of all finished and unfinished atomic weapons rather than for their "disposal." He drew tentative support from Britain, Canada, Brazil, China and Australia, all of whom stipulated, however, that the nuclear fuel in such weapons should be retained for peaceful purposes.

Subcommittee To Report

With delegates unable to agree on wording, the proposal was handed to a four-nation subcommittee which was directed to report to the commission's working committee today.

American sources said there were two "jokers" in the proposal.

First, they said, by avoiding any direct mention of the time of such destruction, Gromyko was trying to circumvent the American plan for stage-by-stage surrender of atomic secrets and finally the bomb itself.

Bombs For Police Opposed

Secondly, Gromyko was said to be attempting to bar the possibility of the bombs being handed over to a proposed United Nations police force for use in event of aggression.

Meanwhile, other American sources said that the United States would plump for early admission of Italy and Austria to the United Nations, but might oppose the entry of three Russian satellites in the Balkans.

A Security Council membership committee was convened today to tackle nine applications, including five rejected last year and new bids from Italy, Austria, Romania and Hungary.

GREEKS URGE U.N. BALKAN DECISION

Ambassador Asks Speed In View Of Border Fighting

Lake Success, N.Y., July 14 (AP). Vassili Dendramis, Greek Ambassador to the United States, requested today that the United Nations Security Council "do everything possible to hasten action" on recommendations of its Balkans investigation commission in view of "drastically more serious" conditions on the Greek-Albanian border.

In an urgent letter to the president of the Security Council, Dendramis said his Government had instructed him to report that "strong and well-armed hostile forces invaded Greek territory from Albania yesterday morning, July 13," and beseiged the town of Konitsa.

Known To Be Concentrated

"Furthermore," he wrote, "it is known that to the northwest of Konitsa, in the vicinity of the border an Albanian soil, supplies and medical services are concentrated as well as substantial forces including units of an international brigade of irregulars and Communists."

"Leading persons of the Communist party of Greece are also in Albania, as well as in Yugoslavia, for the purpose of forming a rebel 'government' and eventually transferring its seat to the district against which the offensive is being launched," Dendramis said.

"It is apparent that while the Council has been discussing the recommendations of its commission of investigation, the conditions reported by that commission have become drastically more serious. It is respectively requested of the members of the Security Council that they do everything possible to hasten action on the resolution now before the Security Council to give effect to the recommendations of this commission.

May Switch Agenda

"After action has been taken on that, the Council can consider whether further decisions may be necessary in the light of the present serious development."

Shortly after the Greek letter reached the United Nations, Dr. Oscar Lange, of Poland, current president of the Security Council, began polling delegates to determine if tomorrow morning's meeting should be switched to the Balkan report.

The Security Council has two sessions scheduled tomorrow and planned to meet in the morning on the proposed global police force and in the afternoon on the Balkans.

Delegates generally were expected to agree to giving priority to the Greek case.

LONDON, JULY 14-(AP)-THE POLISH EMBASSY SAID TODAY FEAR OF RECREATING "THE DOMINATING ROLE AND SPECIFIC WEIGHT OF GERMANY" IN EUROPE WAS THE PRIMARY CAUSE FOR POLAND'S REFUSAL TO TAKE PART IN THE MARSHALL PROGRAM FOR EUROPEAN RECONSTRUCTION.

AT THE SAME TIME A DISPATCH FROM WARSAW SAID A GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN, MINISTER PLENIPOTENTIARY WIKTOR GROSZ, TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE THAT POLAND WAS DEEPLY CONCERNED OVER AN AMERICAN DECLARATION LAST WEEK FAVORING RECONSTRUCTION OF GERMANY.

(GROSZ EVIDENTLY REFERRED TO THE PROJECTED CONFERENCE OF UNITED STATES AND BRITISH AUTHORITIES IN WASHINGTON LATE THIS MONTH ON THE PROBLEM OF INCREASING RUHR COAL PRODUCTION TO SPEED EUROPEAN RECOVERY.)

JUL 1947

THE LONDON EMBASSY MADE PUBLIC THE NOTE DELIVERED JULY 9 TO THE UNITED STATES, BRITISH, FRENCH AND RUSSIAN AMBASSADORS IN WARSAW, REJECTING THE ANGLO-FRENCH INVITATION TO THE CURRENT PARIS CONFERENCE, IN WHICH POLAND ALSO OBJECTED:

1. TO THE "INCLUSION, ON A BASIS OF EQUALITY, OF COUNTRIES WHICH RETAINED A FRIENDLY NEUTRALITY TOWARD THE AXIS UP TO THE END OF THE WAR," AND

2. THAT THE INVITATION WAS WORDED, IN POLAND'S VIEW, SO AS TO EXCLUDE "IN ADVANCE, ALL AMENDMENTS AND CHANGES, BOTH IN THE STRUCTURE AND COMPOSITION OF THE ORGANIZATION TO BE CALLED INTO BEING."

"WE WILL NOT TAKE PART IN A FAKE SHOW," K.DUNIN-KEMPLICZ, EMBASSY PRESS ATTACHE, SAID IN REPLY TO QUESTIONS AT A NEWS CONFERENCE.

DUNIN-KEMPLICZ WAS ASKED BY BRITISH NEWSMEN WHETHER POLAND FELT HER ALLIES ISSUED THEIR INVITATION "DISHONESTLY."

"THE VIEW OF THE POLISH GOVERNMENT IS THAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE CONSULTED IN ADVANCE ON THE WHOLE THING," HE REPLIED.

"THE CONFERENCE WAS CALLED UNDER SUCH CIRCUMSTANCES AND ACCOMPANIED BY SUCH COMMENTARIES, ESPECIALLY IN THE AMERICAN PRESS, THAT AT LEAST ~~VERY CAREFUL CONSIDERATION OF THE WHOLE CONFERENCE~~ AND ITS DEVELOPMENT WAS NEEDED."

HE DID NOT IDENTIFY THE "COMMENTARIES" SPECIFICALLY.

THE POLISH NOTE, SIGNED BY FOREIGN MINISTER ZYGMUNT MODZELEWSKI, SAID "POLAND, WHO HAS MANY TIMES OVER BEEN A VICTIM OF GERMAN AGGRESSION, CANNOT PARTICIPATE IN A CONFERENCE WHICH WOULD CONTRIBUTE TO THE REBIRTH OF GERMAN IMPERIALISM."

THE PRESS ATTACHE SAID POLAND STILL WOULD WELCOME ECONOMIC AID FROM AMERICA, "ON A UNILATERAL BASIS," AND WOULD BE GLAD TO GIVE ALL INFORMATION REQUIRED ON HER ECONOMIC POSITION.

POLAND ALSO IS WILLING TO COOPERATE WITH ANY EUROPEAN ORGANIZATION "WITHIN THE UNITED NATIONS," HE SAID, AND WILL CONTINUE TO SEEK AND CARRY ON TRADE WITH NATIONS OF BOTH EASTERN AND WESTERN EUROPE AND "ANYWHERE ELSE IN THE WORLD."

"AFTER WE LEFT SOUTHAMPTON AND WERE IN THE OPEN SEA I SUDDENLY DECIDED I COULD NOT GO BACK TO RUINED, IMPOVERISHED GERMANY," SCHNEIDER SAID.

A CORK SHIPPING FIRM EMPLOYED SCHNEIDER TO TRANSPORT THE COAL FROM THE HARBOR NINE MILES UP THE LEE RIVER TO CORK ITSELF. THE JOB WAS EXPECTED TO LAST A WEEK.

OTHER CORK SHIPPING MEN SAID A TEMPORARY SHORTAGE OF IRISH COASTERS WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR SCHNEIDER'S EMPLOYMENT AND PREDICTED HE WOULD GET NO MORE JOBS WHEN THE SITUTION EASED.

LOCAL AUTHORITIES HAVE MADE NO MOVE TO INTERFERE WITH THE PRESENCE OF SCHNEIDER, HIS WIFE AND TWIN DAUGHTERS AND A GERMAN CREW OF FOUR--ALL OF WHOM ARE LIVING ABOARD. THEY HAVE ALREADY OBTAINED IRISH FOOD RATION BOOKS.

THE ADELAAR, AN OIL-BURNER, WAS STILL RUNNING ON HER OWN FUEL SUPPLY. SHIPPING MEN SAID THERE MIGHT BE DIFFICULTIES WHEN SCHNEIDER APPLIED TO THE DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE FOR A FUEL PERMIT TO SECURE MORE OIL.

THE MOSCOW RADIO ASSERTED THAT THE SUNDAY SESSION HAD "BROUGHT A MEASURE OF DISAPPOINTMENT TO THE ORGANIZERS OF THE CONFERENCE" AND CHARACTERIZED THE DECISION IN FAVOR OF A 16-MEMBER STEERING COMMITTEE AS A DEFEAT FOR BRITAIN AND FRANCE, WHOM IT ACCUSED OF TRYING TO CONCENTRATE POWER "IN THE HANDS OF A SMALL GROUP OF THEIR TRUSTED PEOPLE."

Paris Conference

MOSCOW BROADCASTS ALSO ASSERTED THAT "THE ORGANIZERS OF THE PARIS CONFERENCE ARE LABORIOUSLY CONCEALING FROM THE VIEW OF OUTSIDERS ALL THAT IS GOING ON AND ENDEAVORING BY ALL MEANS TO CREATE THE IMPRESSION THAT HARMONY REIGNS."

ONLY A FEW HOURS BEFORE THIS BROADCAST THE CONFERENCE HAD VOTED FORMALLY TO ADMIT THE PRESS TO ALL PLENARY SESSIONS AND HAD INSTRUCTED THE SECRETARIAT TO INFORM NEWSMEN OF THE PROCEEDINGS IN CLOSED COMMITTEE SESSIONS.

THE MOSCOW PRESS SCOFFED AT THE USE OF THE WORD "EUROPEAN" IN CONNECTION WITH THE CONFERENCE, ASSERTED THAT OF THE PARTICIPATING NATIONS "ONLY HALF FOUGHT AGAINST HITLERITE GERMANY."

AT THE SAME TIME DISPATCHES FROM MOSCOW INDICATED THAT THE RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT WAS WATCHING WITH CONSIDERABLE CONCERN THE PART THAT SWEDEN IS PLAYING IN THE CONFERENCE -- A CONCERN WHICH WAS REFLECTED IN AN IZVESTIA ARTICLE ASSAILING "AMERICAN ECONOMIC PENETRATION OF SWEDEN" AND ASSERTING THAT SWEDEN'S ECONOMIC INTERESTS WERE AT ODDS WITH THOSE OF THE UNITED STATES, FRANCE AND BRITAIN.

ALMOST 90 PER CENT OF THE BULGARIAN EXPORTS TO RUSSIA UNDER THE AGREEMENT WILL BE REPRESENTED BY 20,000 TONS OF TOBACCO VALUED AT $36,000,000.

FURTHER NEWS OF INTERCHANGES BETWEEN THE SOVIET BLOC CAME WITH WORD OF THE ARRIVAL OF ROMANIAN PREMIER PETRU GROZA AND FOREIGN MINISTER GHEORGHI TATARESCU IN SOFIA FOR TALKS WITH BULGARIAN GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS.

THE SOVIET UNION--HAVING JUST ENLARGED HER TRADE RELATIONS WITH BULGARIA AND CZECHOSLOVAKIA---APPEARED CONCERNED TODAY THAT SCANDINAVIAN COMMERCE MIGHT BE TIED UP WITH THAT OF OTHER WESTERN NATIONS.

THE MOSCOW COMMUNIST NEWSPAPER PRAVDA ACCUSED THE UNITED STATES OF TRYING TO HINDER SWEDEN, NORWAY AND DENMARK--AMONG THE 16 NATIONS REPRESENTED IN PARIS---FROM DEVELOPING "NORMAL RELATIONS" WITH EASTERN EUROPE AND TO DOMINATE THEIR ECONOMY.

ON THE OTHER HAND, RUSSIA MADE NEW BARTER TRADE MOVES OF HER OWN WITH TWO NEIGHBORS WHICH FOLLOWED THE SOVIET UNION IN BOYCOTTING THE PARIS TALKS.

A NEW FIVE-YEAR RUSSIAN-CZECHOSLOVAK TRADE PACT CALLS FOR AN IMMEDIATE AND VAST INCREASE IN THE EXCHANGE OF GOODS. UNDER THE AGREEMENT CZECHOSLOVAKIA GENERALLY WILL SHIP MANUFACTURED GOODS TO RUSSIA IN EXCHANGE FOR AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

THE REVERSE IS TRUE OF THE $87,000,000 RUSSIAN-BULGARIAN AGREEMENT, ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY IN SOFIA. BULGARIA WILL SEND AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS, INCLUDING A LARGE AMOUNT OF TOBACCO, TO THE SOVIET UNION IN EXCHANGE FOR MANUFACTURED GOODS, COTTON AND RUBBER.

POLITICAL TENSION WAS HEIGHTENED BY FIGHTING IN NORTHERN GREECE. THE GREEK GOVERNMENT SAID ITS TROOPS WERE DRIVING BACK AN EXPEDITIONARY FORCE OF 1,000 MEN, INCLUDING "PARTS OF AN INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE," WHICH HAD STRUCK ACROSS THE BORDER FROM ALBANIA. U. N. Security Body Agrees to Long Session Tomorrow—Balks on Meeting Today

By The Associated Press.

ATHENS, July 15 — Airborne Greek Army reinforcements today abruptly halted a drive by 2,500 savagely fighting guerrilla troops nineteen miles from their objective, the Epirian capital of Yanina in northwestern Greece, and enveloped them in a trap from which they "cannot escape," a Cabinet Minister said tonight.

The guerrilla drive, which the Greek Government contended originated in Albania, was stopped short at the village of Negrades, nineteen miles north of Yanina, during the first clash between Government troops and the insurgent band.

The Government Minister said it had not been determined on how large a scale the battle at Negrades had been waged, but that the Government was confident the threat to Yanina and its population of 20,000 had been dissipated.

[The United Nations Security Council failed to agree to the request of the United States that two sessions on the Greek situation be held Wednesday, but will meet morning and afternoon on Thursday. Russia opposed the motion and ridiculed the Greek charges after the United States had warned that the situation "might burst into an explosion any day."]

War Minister George Stratos said that two Army brigades of 1,500 men each moving down on the guerrilla forces from the north and a third brigade moving against them from the opposite direction had halted the menace to Yanina.

Forced to Stand and Fight

The guerrillas "cannot escape and they have to give battle," Mr. Stratos declared.

Retreat Up Mountain

One report said the thwarted guerrilla army left the main road leading to Ioannina and retreated up 7,000 foot Mount Gamila, about 200 miles north of the city and near Negradhes.

Despite bad weather and the rugged terrain of Mount Gamila, high Greek military sources said they expected the guerrilla force would be cut to pieces within a day or two.

A large number of wounded guerrillas were reported to have been taken to an Albanian military hospital at Leskovic, where a huge concentration of arms and military supplies is stored just across the border from Konitsa.

A source close to the Greek General Staff said a "showdown" battle between the Army and the guerrillas, who began a surprise offensive Sunday, moving against the village of Konitsa with military precision and full war equipment, probably would take place soon in the region of the village of Yeroplatanos, twenty-five miles north of Yanina.

Guerrillas in the area of Yeroplatanos and near-by Vasilikon, a few miles to the north, now are surrounded, he said, while nine miles west of Yeroplatanos the insurgents who were repulsed at Konitsa now are trapped by two Greek brigades.

[Navy Minister Sophocles Venizelos said savage fighting continued at St. Nicholas, five miles northwest of Konitsa, The United Press reported. Regulars and rebels also were engaged in heavy skirmishes in the Mount Grammos area, to the northeast.

[It quoted Gen. Napoleon Zervas, Minister of Public Order, as saying at Yanina that guerrilla reinforcements were pouring across the Albanian frontier.]

Mr. Stratos said his Government had ascertained that there were large concentrations of arms and military supplies at three points in Albania just over the Greek frontier and at three points in Yugoslavia.

"Foreign" Support Reported

He added that twenty guerrilla prisoners admitted that the "invasion" force included contingents of an "international brigade." [The Government said the guerrillas were "supported by foreign elements," Reuters reported.]

The War Minister said that members of the United Nations Balkan investigation subcommission, currently studying Greek border incidents, returned to Salonika today after viewing some battle grounds "convinced" the current attacks in northwest Greece were launched in Albania.

The subcommission, he said, would return to Konitsa, which he described as now entirely "free," to question guerrilla prisoners.

Despite Government victories at Konitsa and Negrades, there was some speculation here that those guerrilla attacks had been diversionary operations to screen even greater actions planned in the Florina and Kastoria regions, just south of the Yugoslav border.

The Cabinet praised the Greek Air Force tonight for its part in moving reinforcements into the battle areas under difficult conditions. Greek veterans also were rushed from Yanina to Kalpaki, twenty-five miles to the west, where regulars and guerrillas joined battle last night.

A report from the Second Army Corps said the regulars and gendarmerie had dislodged guerrillas from passes and heights in the Kalpaki region, ten miles east of the Corfu channel.

Unconfirmed reports said the Government was strengthening its forces at Kastoria and Florina, both opposite the Yugoslav frontier, in case any "invasion" should be staged from that direction.

The Royalist newspaper Estia said a squadron of British warships was scheduled to arrive Saturday at Piraeus, the port of Athens, and that United States vessels, including an aircraft carrier, might arrive sooner than expected because of developments here.

Greek Forces Improve Position In Epirus

Chapel Hill 1947

Athens, July 15 (AP)—Air Minister Panayotis Canellopoulos announced today that the situation has radically changed in favor of national forces" in Epirus, where Greek Army troops were reported snapping a pincers on strong guerrilla units driving south on the key city of Ioannina (Janina).

Army sources said two important engagements with guerrilla columns were imminent in northwestern Greece. The Government charged that the guerrillas had "invaded" Greek soil from Albania. Informants close to the Greek General Staff said a new "invasion" was possible from the direction of Yugoslavia.

The informants quoted headquarters of the 2d Army Corps and the Army of Northern Greece—both of which are involved in the current operations—as saying: "We've got the invading forces in a difficult position." Unofficial estimates said eight battalions—about 2,500 men—were in the areas where the two battle impended.

Push Toward Ioannina

Two guerrilla columns were said to have started moving southward toward Ioannina, capital and largest city of Epirus, after the attack on Konitsa two days ago. Konitsa is about 6 miles from the Albanian frontier and 25 miles north of Ioannina.

One large force, estimated at more than 1,000 men, was reported caught between the reinforced Greek army units at Konitsa and replacements moving north from Ioannina.

West of Ioannina, at the village of Kalpaki, where a skirmish took place last night, Leftist forces were reported holding strategic heights. A new clash was apparently expected there.

Another Column

The whereabouts of the guerrilla column reported driving on Ioannina along the Voisi River valley was not pinpointed by the informants. This column, which bypassed Konitsa, was estimated at more than 1,000 men.

Information available in Athens indicated that a battle might be joined about 15 to 20 miles north of Ioannina.

The other guerrilla column near Kalpaki, which is south of Konitsa, clashed last night with Government troops. It was reported that 50 guerrillas were taken prisoner in the engagement. This force, which the Government charged came from Albania, apparently aimed at moving down the Kalamas Valley, also leading to Ioannina.

Another Invasion Feared

Sources close to the general staff said there was a possibility of still another invasion of Greece's frontier.

These informants, however, would not specify the point from which such an invasion might take place. Unconfirmed reports said Florina and Kastoria, both opposite the the Yugoslav frontier, were being strengthened.

The Communist-directed newspaper Eleftheria Ellada said a guerrilla battleline stretching southward from Florina was becoming more sharply defined. The newspaper denied the presence of an international brigade in the north, saying this charge was a ruse to bring American troops to Greece.

Hurried Reinforcement

There were strong indications that the Government forces near Kalpaki were being reinforced hurriedly. The Minister of Public Order, Gen. Napoleon Zervas, said last night the situation there was "comparatively critical," and urged that arms and men be sent. It was reported unofficially that Zervas himself went there to survey the situation.

The Government, meanwhile, issued orders to all travel agencies not to furnish transportation out of Greece for any men in the military classes from 1932 to 1948. This was interpreted to mean that a new general mobilization might be contemplated.

British troops in Athens and Salonika have been forbidden to go outside a 15-mile perimeter of the two cities. A British military source said British officers and men were not connected in any way with Greek military operations.

British Ships Due

The Royalist newspaper Estia said a squadron of British warships under Admiral Sir Algernon Willis, commander of the Mediterranean fleet, was scheduled to arrive in Piraeus, port of Athens, on Saturday. The newspaper said American naval contingents, including an aircraft carrier, might arrive sooner than expected because of developments in Greece.

Dwight P. Griswold, administrator of the United States program of assistance to Greece, landed at the Hassani Airport here last night. Before leaving Washington, Griswold last week said $35,000,000 worth of military supplies were en route to Greece.

A team of a United Nations Balkan subcommission meanwhile scheduled an on-the-spot investigation at Ioannina. The team took off from Salonika yesterday. The United States, Russia, Australia, Brazil and Syria were represented on it.

BRITAIN PROBES GREEK REPORTS OF FOREIGN BRIGADE

Arnold Phillips

LONDON, July 15 (AP)—A foreign office spokesman said tonight Britain was investigating Greek reports that an "international brigade" had invaded Greece, but had been unable so far to "prove or disprove" the reports.

The spokesman said British envoys in "various" unidentified countries had been instructed to find out whether the brigade exists and, if so, what it is doing.

"The replies to the inquiries gave nothing to prove or disprove the international brigade's existence," he added.

May Protest to UN

Other Whitehall sources said the investigation might be the first step toward a British-American protest to the United Nations security council, if the reports were proved correct. However, the foreign office spokesman declined to comment on this angle.

The French foreign office later denied that any volunteers had been recruited for the brigade from southern France, springboard for the international brigade which fought against Generalissimo Francisco Franco in the Spanish Civil war.

Authoritative sources said British inquiries were underway in Italy, Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria.

Today's developments came in the midst of gloom throughout London over slow progress of the present Greek government to solve the guerrilla problem that has plagued every Greek administration since the liberation.

Whitehall sources said Britain and American civil and military representatives in Greece were conferring on the "very serious turn of events."

The foreign office spokesman said he could "not prophesy" whether the 5,000 British troops remaining in Greece would be ordered into the fighting. The troops are slated to be evacuated in the near future.

Authoritative comment was lacking on a report by A. A. Phallis, Greek government information minister in London, that 20,000 Greek Moslems who fled to Albania after the liberation were massing for a fighting march back to their old homes in southwest Epirus.

Greek Foreign Army Probed

JUL 1947

London, July 15 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today Britain was investigating reports that an "international brigade" was invading Greece.

Whitehall informants said that if the existence of such a brigade is proved, a joint British-American protest may be entered in the United Nations Security Council.

These sources added that American and British civil and military authorities in Greece already were in communication with one another over "the very serious turn of

U.S. Urges UN Act to End Balkan Threat to Peace;

SPEEDY NAMING OF BORDER WATCH ASKED IN CRISIS

Johnson Warns Situation 'Might Burst Into an Explosion Any Day.'

RUSSIA FIGHTS MOVE

Protests American Proposal for Speeding Up Council Sessions.

LAKE SUCCESS, July 15—(AP) The United States told the United Nations Security Council today that the situation in Greece "might burst into an explosion any day" and urged delegates to meet continuously to quell the threat to world peace.

"A situation is developing dangerously along the Greek-Albanian border which might burst into an explosion any day," Deputy Delegate Herschel V. Johnson said soberly. "The events of the past few days indicate that the situation has worsened.

Wants Border Watch

"The United States urges the Security Council to proceed with all possible dispatch in setting up this (border watch) commission."

Johnson asked the Security Council to hold two special meetings tomorrow and to vote "as soon as possible" on proposals to end the border disturbances.

The Security Council voted down Johnson's appeal for two meetings tomorrow after Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, objected on the grounds that the United Nations schedule was filled and he could see no reason for the Council "to blindly follow the Greeks in this noise."

Lacks Seventh Vote Needed

Britain, Australia, Syria, Belgium and Brazil supported the United States on the ballot. The motion lost because seven votes were needed. No negative vote was taken. The other members are Colombia, Russia, Poland, China and France.

The Security Council then decided to meet twice on Thursday and once on Friday.

Nesti Kerenxhi, Albanian representative, told the Council that a "so-called international brigade" was merely a reptition of previous reports—"completely without foundation"—spread by Greek officials.

"The lies from Greek sources—intended for the outside world—cannot stand up for a single minute," he added.

Yugoslavia said the reports were without foundation and the situation was not as difficult as it had been pictured by some delegates.

Vassili Dendramis, Greek Ambassador, reported quickly that "there have been real battles going along the Albanian border for two days." He backed Johnson's appeal for speed on a decision.

In his plea for speed, Johnson gave the first indication that the United States might be ready to compromise on sections of its demands. He said he was willing to stress conciliation but noted that certain sections such as establishment of the commission were "fundamental."

Calls For Calm Study

Earlier, Alexandre Pardo, French delegate, called attention to the "grave" reports from Greece and counseled delegates to "keep calm."

He urged delegates to await full confirmation of dispatches before forming conclusions and cautioned that the Security Council must confine its action to limits of the United Nation charter.

He agreed with the American demand for a semi-permanent border commission, but suggested it to be composed of small neutral states rather than the eleven Security Council members, which include the major powers. The French delegate also emphasized that conciliation should be the watchword of the group which would operate with great "moral authority."

Also Seeks Compromise

Dr. Alfonso Lopez, Colombia, also sought to inject a compromise on the American plan by asking for a seven-nation commission which would have headquarters outside the Balkans.

Lopez said Greece had "become a frontier between the East and West in an ideological war" and this was making the solution difficult.

China supported the United States plan.

Earlier Johnson, declaring he was speaking on direct instructions from Washington, said the Balkan situation was a matter of "genuine urgency" to the world and made a plea for speed.

Charges Greek Pressure

In the tussle over speeding up the Security Council schedule, Gromyko said:

"The noise raised by the Greeks in the last 48 hours has a very obvious aim."

He added that Greece was attempting to bring pressure in the Balkan case, and declared "I can't see why the Security Council should blindly follow the Greeks when they make this noise."

He said the Security Council was not a "stock exchange" but a international organization to study problems calmly and coolly.

Johnson took the floor again to deplore "the accusations that have been cast at the head of the Greek delegation here with such vulgarity."

Global Police Discussed

Johnson did not press his demand in the light of a previous plan to discuss a global police force at the morning session. However, he insisted that beginning with the afternoon session that delegates concentrate on the Greek situation.

The delegates had two resolutions before them. A United States proposal called for establishment of a semi-permanent watch over Greece's troubled frontiers with Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria and blamed the three Soviet satellites for the disturbances. A Russian proposal, directly opposed, charged the fault rested with the Athens Government and rejected the idea of a United Nations investigating commission.

The Security Council again failed to reach any agreement on contributions to the proposed international military force, and put the question off indefinitely.

events" in Greece.

Reports Requested

The Foreign Office spokesman declared:

"I cannot prophesy whether British troops will be ordered to take part in the fighting."

The Foreign Office said Britain had asked its diplomats in "several countries" to report on the purported existence, activities and composition of the international brigade. The countries were not named but authoritative informants said they included Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Italy, France and Albania.

These sources said inquiries were being made in Paris because some newspaper dispatches have suggested that an international force was being trained in southern France.

Scope Not Known

Scope of the British-American talks was not immediately ascertainable.

The informants emphasized, however, that if the British and American Governments could establish that an international force was entering Greece from territories of her northern neighbors a joint protest might be made in the United Nations Security Council on the grounds that peace was being threatened. Greece already has protested to the United Nations.

Albanian In Moscow

Britain has about 5,000 troops left in Greece. The Foreign Office spokesman said they were not in the areas where fighting is reported to be taking place.

Most British newspapers have carried dispatches from Greece reporting that an international force has crossed the Albanian frontier, and that many Albanians were in its ranks.

These papers today linked the invasion reports with the arrival in Moscow of Gen. Enver Hoxha, Premier of Albania.

Navy Denies Rumors.

Washington, July 15 (A. P.).—The Navy denied today reports from Athens that American warships might arrive in Greek ports because of developments, and declared that no vessels were en route to Greece. Meanwhile, a State Department official told reporters that there have been rumors from several sources about the organization of an international brigade to assist the rebels in Greece.

MARSHALL PLAN NATIONS START WORK ON REPORT

PARIS, July 15 — (AP) Swiftly and without division, the 16-nation European Economic Conference completed today its blueprint of an organization to draft and administer continental reconstruction outside the aloof Russian sphere, under the Marshall Plan of U. S. aid.

The conference's third plenary session, meeting for only 45 minutes, unanimously approved a rules committee recommendation to establish a general "committee of cooperation," or steering committee, a five-nation executive board and four technical boards.

Study Marshall's Talk

The lesser committees will survey Europe's resources and dollar needs by Sept. 1. Delegates perused with care Secretary of State Marshall's address in Salt Lake City last night indicating the program would not be submitted to Congress before January.

Paul-Henri Spaak, the Belgian premier, summed up by paraphrasing an old French proverb: "Help yourself and heaven will help you." Instead of heaven, he substituted the United States.

Apparently referring to Russia and the eight eastern and southern European states in its sphere—all of which spurned the conference on the assertion that economic cooperation would threaten national sovereignties, Spaak said:

"We have often heard talk of the sovereignty of states. Experience shows that there is a tendency to invoke sovereignty as a cloak for aggressive nationalism or a selfish economic policy. We think that sovereignty should be used as something to promote a constructive spirit of cooperation. I think we can establish an organization for the common good without it being considered a menace or a disagreeable action."

With Russia outside the conference were Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Finland, Hungary, Poland, Romania and Yugoslavia. The countries represent about 280,000,000 people.

Nations inside the conference were Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Greece, Iceland, Eire, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and the United Kingdom—with some 218,000,000 persons. Spain was not invited.

Plenary Sessions Adjourn

Claude Bouchinet-Serreulles, secretary general of the new economic organization, summoned a steering committee session for 10 a.m. (4 e.m. E.S.T.) tomorrow. A schedule for the other committees will be drawn then.

The United Kingdom, France, Italy, Norway and the Netherlands comprised the dominant executive board.

Today's plenary session will be the last until the various committees are ready to report on their surveys. The next plenary meeting probably will be late in August or around Sept. 1.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and other visiting foreign ministers prepared to return home tomorrow, turning over the detailed work to their respective financial experts.

Speed Draws Praise

The speed of the conference in erecting an organization for co-operation in the four days drew praise from both Bevin and Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister.

Bidault, in an apparent indirect reference to Russia, said the conference 'has shown that, when various peoples approach a problem with good will, they can agree. It has been remarkable for the extreme speed with which fundamental decisions have been reached. It has been a fine example to the world of what people can do if they want to."

Bevin remarked that "we can go away from Paris with the certainty that people of the world want to agree and will agree if they are permitted to."

Both speakers were applauded heavily.

Viewed As Opening Sortie

When the session convened, delegations were studying closely Marshall's address. Many interpreted it as the opening sortie of the Truman Administration to convince Americans and their Congress of the worth of the proposal and its attendant cost.

[Benjamin Cohen, State Department counsilor, said last month Europe would need $24,000,000,000 during the next four years.]

Many expressed satisfaction with Marshall's frank statement of the connection between United States security and their own economic success. Some were disappointed that American dollars could not be expected before late winter or early spring.

Delay Won't Halt European-Aid Preparation

Soviet press says nations that accept United States aid will regret it. [Page 3.]

Paris, July 15 (AP)—A well-informed source at the sixteen-nation economic conference said today that the organization of European co-opoeration for recovery would proceed, despite indications that United States money for the Marshall plan would not be available before late winter.

The informant—commenting on Secretary of State Marshall's address last night in Salt Lake City, in which he said the program would not be submitted to Congress before January—said the Marshall timetable doubtless was fixed after careful consideration of the best means of preparing the legislation.

[What the cost will be never has been stated definitely. Benjamin Cohen, State Department councillor, said a month ago Europe would need $24,000,000,000 during the next four years and would require

$15,000,000,000 alone to prevent staravation.]

French Stick To Survey Goal

Official French circles said they saw no reason for altering the goal of September 1 for completion of a survey of resources and dollar needs among the sixteen nations participating in the conference. (Russia and eight eastern European nations declined to take part).

The nations which make up the conference executive committee and four subcommittees on food and agriculture, iron and steel, transport and coal and power were selected yesterday by the rules committee. The nominations were to be submitted to a plenary session today.

This was expected to be the last plenary session until committee reports on assets and dollar needs are completed. A British spokesman said Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin probably would return to London tomorrow.

French Dollar Supply Dwindles

One conference source said France would be among the first to feel ill effects of any delay in United States credits. French official sources said last week that France's dollar supply, including all private French dollar holdings in the United States, woul dbe exhausted by January 1. The French Government requisitioned by decree recently private French dollar holdings in the United States.

French officials commented cautiously on Marshall's speeche. A Foreign Office spokesman said he regarded the address as an explanation to Americans as to why they should help Europe. Swedish, Belgian, Dutch and Luxembourg delegates reserved comment.

The French and British view has been that should the Paris conference devise a program of self-help, it would have made a major step toward economic recovery, although United States credits were not immediately forthcoming.

Bevin had intimated that things were going so well with proceedings under the Marshall plan that he probably would leave for home today.

In London, British officials saw evidence of the emergence of a "Molotov plan," to embrace these nations, in recent eastern trade negotiations.

Some Moscow sources said a trade agreement between Russia and Albania might result from the visit of Albania's Communist Premier, Gen. Enver Hoxha, to the Soviet capital.

Reported Preparing Markets

Norway, Sweden and Denmark were taking part in the conference, but some observers said they were fearful that in doing so they would be suspected of a political, rather than an economic, interest. Last night a Scandinavian source in Paris, while discounting this somewhat, declared they would be unwilling to give up any Eastern markets in favor of western European economic co-operation.

rules committe report, the secrerules committee report the secretariat would be headed by Claude Bouchinet-Serreulles, of France, and would start work tomorrow in the Grand Palais, Paris Exposition Building.

Poland Blames Fear

Poland, which turned down a British-French invitation to the conference, said yesterday she did so primarily for fear of recreating "the dominating role and specific weight of Germany" in Europe.

A Warsaw dispatch, meanwhile, said Polish Minister Plenipotentiary Wiktor Grosz told reporters Poland was deeply concerned over a United States declaration last week in favor of rebuilding Germany.

This seemed to be a reference to a planned United States-British conference in Washington in late July on how to raise the Ruhr's coal output, deemed vital in European reconstruction.

PASSES INDIA BILL

London, July 15 (A. P.).—The House of Commons passed the Indian independence bill tonight and sent it to the House of Lords for final action expected later this week. The measure was approved without a division after Prime Minister Attlee had expressed his gratitude to the members "for realizing the urgency of the matter."

The bill, which is to become effective on August 15, creates two separate dominions—the Dominion of India (Hindustan) and that of Pakistan (the Moslem state). Attlee has announced that the British Government hopes that all the princely states of India will join one or the other of the dominions.

Dominion status is granted until March 31, 1948. The British have promised to withdraw completely from India by next June, but Attlee has expressed the hope that both dominions will voluntarily choose to remain within the British Commonwealth.

British Communists See Aid Dilemma For Labor

London, July 15 (AP)—The Communist party of Great Britain said tonight American assistance under the Marshall proposal would force Britain's Labor Government to abandon the Socialist program on which it was elected.

"This policy of coalition with American capitalism is increasing the pressure of the British Tories for coalition in Britain and another 1931," a party statement said.

Ramsay MacDonald, Labor prime minister, formed a coalition cabinet during the 1931 economic crisis.

Purchase Power Loss In U.S. Loan Claimed

London, July 15 (AP)—The United States loan of $3,750,000,000 to Britain has decreased 28 per cent—$1,050,000,000—in purchasing power value since it was contracted in 1945, Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said today, with a sixteen per cent decrease since October 1, 1946.

It is impossible to say how much of the decrease is attributable to the abandonment of price controls in the United States, and how much to the general rise in world prices, Dalton added in a written answer to a House of Commons question.

Kaiser's Former Yacht Scuttled

DARTMOUTH, England, July 15 (AP)—The $240,000 yacht Westward, once the property of Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany, was scuttled today in accord with the will of its owner, T. B. F. Davis, who died in 1942. The yacht was built in Rhode Island. Mr. Davis started life as a South African fisher boy and became a millionaire.

Mrs. Peron to Visit Paris

PARIS, July 15 (AP). — The Argentine Embassy announced today that Mrs. Eva Duarte Peron, wife of Argentine President Juan D. Peron, would arrive here for a visit next Monday. Mrs. Peron, now in Italy, will visit Portugal before coming to Paris.

Harriman Flies to Paris

ROME, July 15 (AP).—United States Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman left by air today for Paris. He had passed two days in Rome as the guest of Ambassador James C. Dunn, during which he saw the Italian President and Premier and Ministers of Budget, Treasury and Foreign Commerce.

U.S. UPDATES REICH POLICY

Opens Door For German Participation In Marshall Plan

KASISCHKE

Berlin, July 15 (AP)—The United States Government, announcing a revised policy toward Germany, declared today "a stable and productive Germany" with a higher standard of living was essential to European recovery and lasting peace.

The new policy, first overall American directive on Germany since the end of the war—apparently opens the way for German participation in the Marshall proposal for European reconstruction.

Updating Of Occupation Policy

The new directive was sent to Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor, by the State, War and Navy departments. It represented an updating of American occupation policy, which officially had been based largely upon the old joint chiefs of staff directive to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and the Military Government dated April 16, 1945, twelve days before the end of the war.

The new 6,000-word directive laid down American objectives and basic policies to be pursued in the United States administration of still-partitioned Germany. It contained, especially in its economic aspects, some policy revisions which were stated officially and publicly for the first time.

Rated Next To Byrnes's Speech

United States Military Government leaders here said they regarded the document as the most important American statement on Germany since the speech of former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes in Stuttgart last fall, when he advocated the return of self-government to the Germans as quickly as possible.

General Clay said that he regarded the "most important" part of the directive "the fact that it recognizes the essential part which Germany has in the revival of the economy of Europe as a whole and provides for the participation of Germany in European revival."

Maj. Gen. William H. Draper, chief economic adviser to Clay, said the new economic policy was a public and official discarding of the Potsdam and war-era proposals which envisioned a pastoral Germany and a stern peace.

For Permanent Demilitarization

The United States directive repeatedly made it plain that America wants Germany demilitarized permanently. It said that "there should be no relaxation of effort to complete and effectively maintain the disarmament and demilitarization of Germany."

But it added, that, within the limits of these "necessary restraints" Germany should be permitted to raise her standard of living by development of her resources and should be aided in achieving a self-sustaining economy.

Statements on economy and reparations in the directive also were interpreted as putting into force an American policy expressed at the Moscow Foreign Ministers' meeting last March and April: That the United States would not agree to permit Russia to extract reparations goods out of Germany while the American taxpayer was obliged to pour in funds to keep Germany alive.

Keynote Of The Directive

Keynote of the directive was contained in the section headed: "United States policy toward Germany," which read in part:

"The basic interest of the United States throughout the world is a just and lasting peace. Such a peace can be achieved only if conditions of public order and prosperity are created in Europe as a whole. An orderly and prosperous Europe requires the economic contributions of a stable and productive Germany as well as the necessary restraints to insure that Germany is not allowed to revive its destructive militarism."

Germany In Marshall Plan

Military Government leaders said that a section on "recovery" apparently laid the groundwork for the participation, at least of western Germany, in the Marshall plan. This section directed Clay to "consult with other European countries and international organizations representing such countries on matters of German production and trade and ensure that emphasis is given, in the selection of items for export, to goods needed by European countries for their economic recovery and rehabilitation."

The directive also provided that "funds for German expenditures should be increased" where necessary to speed the restoration of normal international commercial relations between Germany and the rest of Europe and where needed to speed the attainment of a "self-supporting German economy at an appropriate standard of living."

Other Salient Points

The directive contained these salient points:

REPARATIONS—The United States Government does not agree to finance the payment of reparations by Germany to other United Nations by increasing its financial outlay in Germany or by postponing the achievement of a self-sustaining German economy. The United States Government reaffirms the principle that the proceeds of authorized exports shall be used in the first place for the payment of authorized imports."

[This was interpreted as a restatement of United States objections to the Russian practice of taking as reparations huge volumes of manufactured products out of current German production in their occupation zone while American and British taxpayers are paying hundreds of millions of dollars for food imports to keep western Germany alive.]

Germany And Free Enterprise

SOCIALIZATION — The United States will "give the German people an opportunity to learn of the principles and advantages of free enterprise," but it will "refrain from interfering in the question of public ownership of enterprises in Germany except to insure that any choice for or against public ownership is made freely through normal processes of democratic government."

SELF-GOVERNMENT—The United States Government does not wish to impose its own historically developed forms of democracy and social organization on Germany and believes equally firmly that "no other external forms should be imposed."

[This was regarded as an alert firmness against any Communist pressure on the development of a future German state.]

DECARTELIZATION—Pending agreement within the other occupying powers, Clay was instructed to prohibit in the United States zone "all cartels and cartel-like organizations and effect a dispersion of ownership and control of German industry" through the dissolution of combines and other restraints of trade.

Interzonal Agreement

Clay said Saturday in Berlin that American representatives at conferences with a British group headed by Lieutenant General Sir Brian Robertson had agreed on a new level of industry for the economically merged zones, terms of which will be announced tomorrow.

Authoritative sources here said they expected the new level would be based on a 12,000,000-ton annual steel production.

The United States State Department also has announced that British and American representatives will begin talks within ten days in Washington on ways of boosting coal production in the Ruhr.

Blaming U.S. For Food Lack

Meanwhile, American Military Government officials said that many Germans were blaming the United States for food shortages rather than expressing appreciation for contributions made. General Clay recently ordered a press campaign to inform the Germans of large British-American food contributions.

"There is little evidence that the recent increase in press information concerning American food shipments to Germany has impressed the rank and file of the German population," Dr. Charles E. Brown, medical nutritionist for the Military Government, said in his monthly report.

Three A. M. G. Officers In Berlin Are Decorated

BERLIN, July 15 (AP).—Three officers in the American Military Government here were decorated today by Major General Frank A. Keating, United States deputy military governor, for their wartime and post-war services.

Joseph Keenan, labor advisor, received the Medal of Freedom for his contribution in organizing and developing German man-power agencies. He is from Oak Park, Ill.

Colonel Harold R. Maddux, secretary general of the Military Government, received the Bronze Star for his work in 1945 as chief of staff of Army Air Forces in the Pacific, which bombed Japan. He is from Price Hill, Cincinnati.

Major Haakon Lindjord chief of the Military Government's counter-intelligence section, received the Army commendation ribbon for his work from July, 1945, to August, 1946, in arranging inter-Allied regulations on German travel and border control. His home is Seattle.

Business Men May Gain Hand In Reich Trade

Minden, Germany, July 15 (AP)—American and British bizonal authorities are considering a plan to put the promotion of German foreign trade in the hands of American and British business men, reliable sources said tonight.

The plan, proposed by American economic experts, calls for the formation by United States and British business men of a corporation with a capital of $50,000,000 to be known as the Foreign Trade Finance Corporation.

The corporation, its sponsors propose, would provide credits to German manufacturers to obtain raw materials from world markets for the production of finished and semi-finished goods.

JUL 1947

U.S. Urges Economic Boost For Germany

Berlin, July 15 (AP)—The United States Government, in its first official statement of policy governing Germany since the war ended, declared today the German people should be assisted in attaining a higher standard of living and economic self-sufficiency.

The policy statement was contained in a directive giving new instructions to the United States military commander, Gen. Lucius D. Clay. It superceded the directive issued by the joint Chiefs of Staff on April 26, 1945, about two weeks before eGrmany surrendered.

The directive brought up to date the objectives of the United States Government and the basic policies to be followed in the American administration of its occupation areas in Germany.

For Ecoonmic Unity

Particular stress was placed on the economic aspect of rehabilitating Germany and achieving the nation's economic and political unity.

The directive said the United States Government sought to secure a production and foreign trade program for Germany as a whole, which would be directed toward an increasing standard of living in Germany and the attainment at the earliest possible date of a self-sustaining German economy.

Industrial Capacity

The order said the highest priority should be given to increased production of coal, food and export goods.

The United States Government "believes that the level of industry eventually agreed upon for Germany as a basis for reparations removals, while eliminating excess industrial capacity which has been used by Germany for the purpose of making war, should not permanently limit Germany's industrial capacity."

"The German people, after the period of reparation removals, should not be denied the right, consistent with continued disarmament, to develop their resources for the purpose of achieving higher standards of living."

Other Zones

The directive instructs General Clay to "exert every effort to achieve economic unity with other zones" until the Allies agree on ways of treating Germany as an economic and political unit.

The British and American zones in Germany have been merged economically, but Russia and France have declined thus far to join their occupation zones into one overall unit.

The new policy generally continues disarmament and demilitarization provisions but puts emphasis on economic measures needed to rehabilitate Germany.

The statement said:

"The basic interest of the United States throughout the world is just and lasting peace. Such a peace can be achieved only if conditions of public order and prosperity are created in Europe as a whole."

Text of New U. S. Instructions to Gen. Clay on Military Government Policies in Germany

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, July 15 — Following is the text of a new directive, approved by the State, War and Navy Departments, to Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States commander in Germany, on the Military Government of that country:

I

1. Purpose of This Directive

This directive, issued to you as commanding general of the United States forces of occupation and as Military Governor in Germany, constitutes a statement of the objectives of your Government in Germany and of the basic policies to which your Government wishes you to give effect from the present time forward. It supersedes JCS 1067/6 and its amendments.

2. Authority of Military Government

a. Your authority as Military Governor will be broadly construed and empowers you to take action consistent with relevant international agreements, general foreign policies of this Government and with this directive, appropriate or desirable to attain your Government's objectives in Germany or to meet military exigencies.

b. Pending arrangements for the effective treatment of Germany as an economic and political unit, you will exert every effort to achieve economic unity with other zones.

II

3. United States Policy Toward Germany

The basic interest of the United States throughout the world is just and lasting peace. Such a peace can be achieved only if conditions of public order and prosperity are created in Europe as a whole. An orderly and prosperous Europe requires the economic contributions of a stable and productive Germany as well as the necessary restraints to insure that Germany is not allowed to revive its destructive militarism.

To accomplish the latter purpose the United States Government has proposed to the other occupying powers a treaty for the continuing disarmament and demilitarization of Germany and it has committed itself to maintain a United States army of occupation as long as foreign occupation of Germany continues.

As a positive program requiring urgent action, the United States Government seeks the creation of those political, economic and moral conditions in Germany which will contribute most effectively to a stable and prosperous Europe.

III

4. Demilitarization

There should be no relaxation of effort to complete and effectively to maintain the disarmament and the demilitarization of Germany.

IV

5. United States Political Objectives in Germany

It is an objective of the United States Government that there should arise in Germany as rapidly as possible a form of political organization and a manner of political life which, resting on a substantial basis of economic well-being, will lead to tranquillity within Germany and will contribute to the spirit of peace among nations.

Your task, therefore, is fundamentally that of helping to lay the economic and educational bases of a sound German democracy, of encouraging bona fide democratic efforts and of prohibiting those activities which would jeopardize genuinely democratic developments.

6. German Self-Government

a. You will continue to promote the development in Germany of institutions of popular self-government and the assumption of direct responsibility by German governmental agencies, assuring them legislative, judicial and executive powers consistent with military security and the purposes of the occupation.

b. It is the view of your Government that the most constructive development of German political life would be in the establishment throughout Germany of federal German states (Laender) and the formation of a central German government with carefully defined and limited powers and functions. All powers shall be vested in the Laender except such as are expressly delegated to the Central Government.

c. Your Government does not wish to impose its own historically developed forms of democracy and social organization on Germany and believes equally firmly that no other external forms should be imposed. It seeks the establishment in Germany of a political organization which is derived from the people and subject to their control, which operates in accordance with democratic electoral procedures and which is dedicated to uphold both the basic civil and human rights of the individual. It is opposed to an excessively centralized government which through a concentration of power may threaten both the existence of democracy in Germany and the security of Germany's neighbors and the rest of the world. Your Government believes finally that, within the principles stated above, the ultimate constitutional form of German political life should be left to the decision of the German people made freely in accordance with democratic processes.

7. Inter-Zonal German Administrative Agencies

Pending the establishment of central German administrative agencies and of a central German government, you will continue, consistent with the objectives of Paragraph 6, to make arrangements with other zonal commanders for the creation and operation of inter-zonal German administrative agencies.

8. Political Parties

a. You will adhere to the policy of authorizing, and encouraging all political parties whose programs, activities and structure demonstrate their allegiance to democratic principles. Political parties shall be competitive in character, constituted by voluntary associations of citizens in which the leaders are responsible to the members, and with no party enjoying a privileged status.

b. You will likewise give support to the principle that Military Government and the German authorities should afford non-discriminatory treatment to duly authorized political parties. Every authorized political party should have the right freely to state its views and to present its candidates to the electorate, and you will tolerate no curtailment of nor hindrance to the exercise of that right; if, however, you find that an authorized party is adopting or advocating undemocratic practices or ideas, you may restrict or withdraw its rights and privileges.

c. You will urge in the Control Council the recognition of nation-wide political parties and the uniform treatment of all authorized parties in all zones of occupation. You will advocate quadripartite supervision of political activities and of elections throughout Germany as a whole.

9. Denazification

You will implement in your zone the decisions on denazification taken April 23, 1947 by the Council of Foreign Ministers, as may be agreed in ACC [Allied Control Council].

10. War Crimes

You will make every effort to facilitate and bring to early completion the war crimes program subject to the conclusions and recommendations with respect to organizations and members thereof contained in the judgment of the International Military Tribunal.

11. Courts and Judicial Procedures

a. You will exercise such supervision over German courts as is necessary to prevent the revival of National Socialist doctrines, to prohibit discrimination on grounds of race, nationality, creed or political belief, to enforce the application of the principles expressed in Control Council Proclamation No. 3 and compliance with the provisions of Control Council and Military Government legislation. You will foster independence of the German judiciary by allowing the courts freedom in their interpretation and application of the law and by limiting the control measures instituted by Military Government to the minimum consistent with the accomplishment of the aims of the occupation.

b. You will maintain sufficient Military Government courts to try persons accused of offenses involving the safety and security of United States and Allied personnel and all cases in which the interest of Military Government requires such procedure.

c. You may extend the jurisdiction of the German courts to all cases which do not involve the interests of Military Government or persons under the protective care of Military Government. Any German tribunal established for the purpose of determining internal restitution claims may exercise jurisdiction over any person, irrespective of his status, who institutes a proceeding therein.

d. As a basic objective of the occupation is the re-establishment of the rule of law in Germany, you will require all agencies under your control to refrain from arbitrary and oppressive measures. Except when it clearly appears that detention is necessary for the security of the occupying forces, no person will be detained except when he is charged with a specific offense and is subject to trial by a duly constituted tribunal. You will protect the civil rights of persons detained under charges assuring them a fair trial and ample opportunity to prepare their defense. You will by regulation limit arrests for security purposes to cases where overriding considerations of military necessity require such procedure. Persons so detained will be permitted to communicate with their nearest relative or friend unless urgent security considerations require an exception, and you will review their cases periodically to determine whether further detention is warranted. When in your opinion it will be compatible with security considerations, you will eliminate such arrests without prejudice to a revival of the practice in emergencies.

12. Legislation

You will exercise your power of disapproval over German legislation only when such legislation conflicts with the legislation or other policies of Military Government.

13. Movement of Persons

a. You will implement the decisions taken 23 April 1947 by the Council of Foreign Ministers with regard to United Nations displaced persons and population transfers.

b. You will, in cooperation with IRO [International Refugee Organization], facilitate the emigration to other countries of those displaced persons unwilling to be repatriated.

c. Pending the movement of displaced persons, you will retain over-all responsibility for their appropriate care, maintenance and protection. You will utilize the IRO to the maximum possible extent in assisting you to discharge this responsibility.

d. The term displaced persons as used above refers to displaced persons and refugees as defined in the IRO Constitution.

e. You will hold the German authorities responsible for the care and disposition of nationals of former enemy countries not otherwise provided for herein, and you will continue to facilitate their repatriation.

f. You will require that persons of German extraction who have been transferred to Germany be granted German nationality with full civil and political rights except in cases of recognized disqualifications under German law. You will take such measures as you may deem appropriate to assist the German authorities in effecting a program of resettlement.

g. You will continue to permit the exchange of Germans seeking permanent residence between the United States zone and other zones on a reciprocal basis. You will permit free movement for temporary purposes to the greatest possible extent consistent with security considerations and with inter-zonal or quadripartite agreement.

h. You will continue to receive those Germans whose presence abroad is deemed by your Government to be contrary to the national interest. You will likewise permit the re-entry of German and former German nationals who desire to return permanently, but in view of restricted facilities you will give priority to those who are willing and able to contribute to the peaceful reconstruction of Germany.

i. You will permit only those Germans to leave Germany who are included in categories approved by Allied agreements or your Government's instructions.

14. Prisoners of War

In carrying out the decision of the Council of Foreign Ministers of 23 April, 1947, you will press in the Control Council for the earliest possible return of all German prisoners of war still located in the territories of the Allied powers and in all other territories.

15. General Economic Objectives

The economic objectives of the United States Government in Germany are:

a. to eliminate industry used solely to manufacture and to reduce industry used chiefly to support the production of arms, ammunition and implements of war;

b. to exact from Germany reparation for the losses suffered by United Nations as a consequence of German aggression; and

c. to encourage the German people to rebuild a self-supporting state devoted to peaceful purposes, integrated into the economy of Europe.

Although the economic rehabilitation of Germany, within the framework of these objectives, is the task and responsibility of the German people, you should provide them general policy guidance, assist in the development of a balanced foreign trade and insure that German efforts are consistent with, and contribute to, the fulfillment of your Government's objectives.

16. Economic Disarmament and Reparation

a. Your Government continues to desire the general fulfillment of the principles of the Potsdam Agreement regarding reparation and industrial disarmament.

b. Your Government believes that the level of industry eventually agreed upon for Germany as a basis for reparation removals, while eliminating excess industrial capacity which has been used by Germany for the purpose of making war, should not permanently limit Germany's industrial capacity. The German people after the period of reparation removals should not be denied the right, consistent with continued disarmement, to develop their resources for the purpose of achieving higher standards of living.

c. Your Government does not agree to reparation from Germany greater than that provided by the Potsdam Agreement. Nor does your Government agree to finance the payment of reparation by Germany to other United Nations by increasing its financial outlay in Germany or by postponing the achievement of a self-sustaining German economy. Your Government reaffirms the principle that the proceeds of authorized exports shall be used in the first place for the payment of authorized imports.

d. You will attempt to obtain Control Council recognition of the principle of compensation for property taken for reparation or where it has been necessary to destroy property under the agreements for economic disarmament, such compensation to constitute a charge against the German economy as a whole. Except in prohibited industries, you will endeavor to insure, to the greatest extent practicable, that no plant in which there is foreign ownership or control is removed for reparation as long as German-owned plants are available for that purpose.

e. You will continue to assist in the location of cloaked German-owned assets abroad and where possible you will assist in their liquidation.

17. Restitution

a. You will proceed, consistent with agreements on restitution reached in the Control Council, to restore such identifiable property other than gold and transport essential to minimum German economy, to the Government of the country from which it was taken. You will not consent to any extensive program for the replacement of looted or displaced property which has been destroyed or cannot be located whenever such replacement can be accomplished only at the expense of reparation, a self-sustaining German economy or the cultural heritage of the German people.

b. You will turn over monetary gold uncovered in Germany to the Tripartite Gold Commission in Brussels for distribution in accordance with the terms of the Paris Act on Reparation.

c. In accordance with JCS 1570/9, you will make available for the rehabilitation and resettlement of non-repatriable victims of German action valuable personal property looted from Nazi victims which is not restitutable.

d. It is the policy of your Government that persons and organizations deprived of their property as a result of National Socialist persecution should either have their property returned or be compensated therefor and that persons who suffered personal damage or injury through National Socialist persecution should receive indemnification in German currency. With respect to heirless and unclaimed property subject to internal restitution you will designate appropriate successor organizations.

18. Economic Unity and Recovery

a. Your Government is desirous of securing agreement in the Control Council to the treatment of Germany as an economic unit, the formulation of common policies in all matters affecting Germany as a whole and the establishment of central German administrative agencies for the purpose of implementing such common policies in the fields of finance, transport, communications, agriculture, economics (including industry and foreign trade) and such other fields as the Control Council may consider necessary and appropriate.

b. Your Government likewise desires to secure the adoption of a production and foreign trade program for Germany as a whole which should be directed toward an increasing standard of living in Germany and the attainment at the earliest practicable date of a self-sustaining German economy. Such a program should give highest priority to increased production of coal, food and export goods; provide for such allocation and distribution of German indigenous output and approved imports throughout Germany as are necessary to carry out the production program and attain the agreed standard of living; insure full payment for all goods and services exported from Germany (other than reparation or restitution) in approved imports or in foreign exchange which can be utilized for the payment of approved imports and provide for the pooling of all export proceeds to be made available, first to meet the import needs of Germany as a whole for such time and in such amount as may hereafter be determined, and secondly to compensate the occupying powers for past expenditures pursuant to terms and conditions to be established hereafter, priority in the latter case being given to payment of costs sustained for essential imports in direct proportion to the expenditures made by the occupying powers.

c. In cases where the restoration of normal international commercial relations between Germany and the rest of Europe would involve an increase of United States dollar expenditures for the government of Germany, or a delay in the attainment of a self-supporting German economy at an appropriate standard of living, funds for German expenditures shall be increased, or the German economy compensated through provision by the United States of sufficient relief monies to the country or countries so benefited to enable them to pay Germany. You will consult other European countries and international organizations representing such countries in matters of German production and trade mentioned above, and insure that emphasis is given, in the selection of items for export, to goods needed by European countries for their economic recovery and rehabilitation in so far as these countries may provide in payment needed imports for Germany, or foreign exchange which can pay for such imports. Proposed transactions of a substantial nature which would lead to a restoration of general European trade or normal international commercial relations or restore normal trade exchanges between Germany and other European countries, but which would not conform to the principles stated in this paragraph, should be referred to the United States Government for decision.

d. You will support the removal of existing trade barriers and will encourage the return of foreign trade to normal trading channels.

19. Finance

a. Your Government views the reorganization of German finances on a sound basis and the attainment of financial stability in Germany as among the main factors essential to German economic recovery along democratic and peaceful lines. To that end, you will endeavor to have the Control Council adopt uniform financial policies in conformity with the principles and the objectives set forth in this directive.

b. Pending agreement in the Control Council, or until receipt of further directive from your Government, you will continue to be guided by the following policies in your zone:

(1) You will control, within the scope of your authority, all financial transactions of an international character in order to keep Nazi influence out of the field of finance and prevent outward movements of capital from Germany;

(2) you will exercise general supervision over German public expenditures and measures of taxation in order to insure that they are consistent with the objectives of the Military Government;

(3) you will take such action as may be necessary to prevent the establishment of a centralized German banking system and an undue concentration of financial power, but will encourage the establishment of a central authority for the production, issuance and control of currency and for technical banking supervision. You will also encourage the Germans to re-establish normal banking facilities within the limitation prescribed above and within the present blocking of assets and accounts under Military Government Law No. 52;

(4) you will use the resources of the German economy to the maximum extent possible in order to reduce expenditures from appropriated funds of your Government. You are authorized, as provided in the Potsdam Agreement, to use the proceeds of exports to pay for imports which you deem essential, subject to strict accounting and auditing procedures;

(5) you will continue to aid economic recovery by collection of full payment for exports of German goods and services; and

(6) you will continue to prevent nonessential imports.

c. You will press for the adoption by the Control Council of a program for financial reform which provides for a substantial and appropriate reduction in outstanding currency and monetary claims, including public and private debt; for the equitable sharing of the costs of war and defeat; and for ancillary measures including adjustments in the wage-price structure necessary to the restoration of balance between the financial structure and the economic realities.

d. (1) You will maintain such accounts and records as may be necessary to reflect the financial operations of the Military Government (United States) in Germany, including also such operations undertaken jointly by you with the Military Government in the British and other zones of occupation in Germany.

(2) You will take measures necessary for calculating occupation costs distinguishing those now incurred within Germany and supported by the German economy, and external occupation costs for eventual settlement with Germany. You will endeavor to agree on a definition of occupation costs of both types within the Control Council and to limit and control internal occupation costs on a quadrilateral basis.

20. Agriculture

a. In accordance with the decision of 23 April 1947 of the Council of Foreign Ministers, you will insure the carrying out and completion of land reform in your zone in 1947.

b. You will require the appropriate German authorities to adopt and implement policies and practices which will maximize the production and provide for the effective collection and distribution of agricultural products.

c. You will require the appropriate German authorities to adopt and implement similar policies and practices in respect to forestry and fishing resources.

21. Economic Institutions

a. Pending agreement among the occupying powers, you will in your zone prohibit all cartels and cartel-like organizations, and effect a dispersion of ownership and control of German industry through the dissolution of such combines, mergers, holding companies and interlocking directorates which represent an actual or potential restraint of trade or may dominate or substantially influence the policities of governmental agancies. You will not, however, prohibit governmental regulation of prices or monopolies subject to Government regulation, in fields where competition is impracticable. In so far as possible, you will coordinate your action in this field with the commanders of other zones of occupation.

b. You will permit the formation and functioning of cooperatives, provided they are voluntary in membership and are organized along democratic lines and do not engage in activities prohibited under the above paragraph.

c. While it is your duty to give the German people an opportunity to learn of the principles and advantages of free enterprise, you will refrain from interfering in the question of public ownership of enterprises in Germany, except to insure that any choice for or against public ownership is made freely through the normal processes of democratic government. No measure of public ownership shall apply to foreign-owned property unless arrangements which are satisfactory to your Government have been made for the compensation of foreign owners. Pending ultimate decision as to the form and powers of the Central German Government, you will permit no public ownership measure which would reserve that ownership to such Central Government.

d. Pending agreement among the occupying powers, you will limit new foreign investment in your zone of Germany and will continue to insure that all property, however owned, and all production and manpower in your zone are subject in all respects to the decisions and directives of the Control Council and to Military Government and German law.

e. (1) You will permit the organization, operation and free development of trade unions, provided that their leaders are responsible to the membership and their aims and practices accord with democratic principles. Any federation of trade unions shall not impair the financial and organizational autonomy of member unions. You will encourage the trade unions to support programs of adult education and to foster an understanding of democratic processes among their members. You will permit trade unions to act in the interests of their members and to bargain collectively regarding wages, hours and working conditions within the framework of such wage and price controls as it may be necessary to maintain.

(2) Trade unions may represent the occupational, economic and social interests of their members in accordance with the authority contained in their constitutions. Their basic functions may include participation with appropriate authorities in the establishment and development of a peaceful economy.

f. You will permit the organization and functioning of work councils on a democratic basis for the representation of the interests of employes in individual enterprises and will not prohibit the cooperation of trade unions therewith.

g. You will also permit the establishment of machinery for the voluntary settlement of industrial disputes.

JUL 1947

22. Cultural Objectives

Your Government holds that the re-education of the German people is an integral part of policies intended to help develop a democratic form of government and to restore a stable and peaceful economy; it believes that there should be no forcible break in the cultural unity of Germany, but recognizes the spiritual value of the regional traditions of Germany and wishes to foster them; it is convinced that the manner and purposes of the reconstruction of the national German culture have a vital significance for the future of Germany.

It is, therefore, of the highest importance that you make every effort to secure maximum coordination between the occupying powers of cultural objectives designed to serve the cause of peace. You will encourage German initiative and responsible participation in this work of cultural reconstruction and you will expedite the establishment of these international cultural relations which will overcome the spiritual isolation imposed by National Socialism on Germany and further the assimilation of the German people into the world community of nations.

23. Education

a. In recognition of the fact that evil consequences to all free men flow from the suppression and corruption of truth and that education is a primary means of creating a democratic and peaceful Germany, you will continue to encourage and assist in the development of educational methods, institutions, programs and materials designed to further the creation of democratic attitudes and practices through education. You will require the German Laender authorities to adopt and execute educational programs designed to develop a healthy, democratic educational system which will offer equal opportunity to all according to their qualifications.

b. You will continue to effect the complete elimination of all National Socialist, militaristic and aggressively nationalistic influences, practices and teachings from the German educational system.

24. Religious Affairs

a. You will, in the United States area of occupation, continue to assure freedom of religion. You will assure protection of religious activity and support these principles in the deliberations of the Control Council.

b. You will give freedom to the Germans to decide all questions concerning the constitution, the religious activity and the amalgamation of purely ecclesiastical bodies.

c. You will continue to take such action as may be necessary to prevent the revival of National Socialist and militaristic activity under the cloak of a religious program or organization.

25. Monuments, Fine Arts and Archives

a. You will respect, and permit German authorities to protect and preserve, the property of all cultural institutions dedicated to religion, charity, education, the arts and sciences, historic monuments and historic archives, together with their collections and endowments. You will apply the same principle to all other property of cultural value, whether publicly or privately owned, except for institutions and monuments specifically devoted to the perpetuation of National Socialism or to the glorification of the German militaristic tradition.

b. You are authorized to make such use of German records and archives as may be appropriate.

26. Public Information

a. You will, in the United States area of occupation supervise, encourage and assist in the development by the Germans of media of public information designed to advance the political and cultural objectives stated in this directive.

b. You will arrange through the Allied Control Council for the implementation of the decision of 23 April 1947 of the Council of Foreign Ministers on the free exchange of information and democratic ideas by all media in all of Germany.

c. You will develop and maintain organizations and facilities for the operation of media of information, including those sponsored by Military Government, designed to further the objectives of your Government.

27. Re-establishment of International Cultural Relations

In furtherance of the program of the reorientation of the German people and the revival of international cultural relations, you will permit and assist the travel into and out of Germany of persons useful for this program within the availability of your facilities. You will also permit and assist, to the extent of your facilities, the free flow of cultural materials to and from Germany.

11 Nazis On Trial For Execution Of 13,000

Nuernberg, Germany, July 15 (AP)—Two German field marshals and nine generals went on trial before a United States military court today on charges of executing 13,000 civilians who resisted German occupation of the Balkans and Norway.

Only Field Marshal Maximilian von Weichs, who commanded in the Balkans, showed nervousness. He bit his lips constantly. The other field marshal was Wilhelm List.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief American prosecutor, accused them all of killing and murder in violation of the rules of war and "undermining the very basis of civilization."

"Policy Of Terror"

"Their policy of terror was a military failure and an important cause of the defeat which has brought them to their present plight," Taylor told the five-man tribunal.

Weichs was accused specifically of ordering 100 hostages shot for every German soldier killed by resistance groups.

Other defendants were Col. Gen. Lothar Rendulic, commander in Norway, and Generals Walter Kuntze, Hermann Foertsch, Wilhelm Speidel, Kurt von Geitner, Helmut Selmy, Hubert Lanz, Ernst Demner and Ernst von Leyser.

Much "Greater Scope"

Taylor said the scope of the current trial was "much greater" than any previously heard by United States war-crimes courts, which have been in constant session here. He explained:

"There is a general feeling that some of the laws of war as written in the Hague Conventions are obsolete and on both sides are honored only in the breach. This case will achieve international meaning. We have not sought and will not seek in this case to make murderers out of soldiers for the violation of rules framed in 1907, if those rules are outmoded and generally disregarded."

Germans Acclaim Policy

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, July 15 (AP).—German leaders tonight welcomed the new American policy toward Germany as a step toward restoring Germany to a place in the world and saving the German people from idleness.

Ludwig Metzger, chairman of the executive committee of the newly formed Economic Council of the American and British zones, interpreted Washington's new directive as an "obvious step toward readmitting Germany to the world economy."

In Bavaria, Minister-President Dr. Hans Ehard said, "If the Germans are given more liberty, if they can dispose of their own raw materials and if the dismantling of our factories is stopped, I am convinced that better food and economic conditions for Germany can be attained before winter."

Austria Fears Soviet Squeeze

VIENNA, July 15 (AP).—A high Austrian government official expressed fear today that what he described as a "second iron curtain" would be erected along the boundary of the Russian occupation zone if Austria participates in a general European recovery plan such as that being discussed now in the Paris economic conference. Austria is participating in the conference.

The Russian zone includes Austria's most productive agricultural areas, most of the country's industry and the nation's entire indigenous oil production. By a rigid control of this zone, the Soviet Union effectively could counter Austria's participation in any program upon which the Russians might frown.

The official also expressed fear that Russian trade agreements with Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Poland and Romania would create an eastern economic bloc which might deprive Austria of her best markets and sources of supply. He said Russia might exert pressure on these countries to break their present trade agreements with Austria.

Red Hits Austria's Aid Pact With U.S.

Vienna, July 15 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. L. V. Kourasov, Soviet high commissioner, has warned Chancellor Leopold Figl that Russia believes the Austrian-American agreement for economic aid to Austria is "not in accordance" with the Moscow declaration of 1943 and that the agreement will not be recognized as legal by the Soviet Union.

"The assumption of unlimited control over the entire Austrian economy by one occupying power constitutes a threat against Austrian sovereignty," Kourasov wrote Figl.

Informants said Figl would inform Russian authorities that he would submit the matter for further study by his Government, but would also tell them that Austria intended to live up to her agreement with the United States.

Hungarian Coup Clinching Impends

Budapest, July 15 (AP)—Vilagossag, Social Democratic newspaper, said today the Hungarian Parliament might be dissolved next week—a step which would deprive opposition members of their parliamentary immunity from arrest.

The paper said passage of new election laws would precede adjournment. Anti-Communist leaders have predicted these new laws would guarantee sweeping Left-wing victories in the September elections and clinch the Communist coup of May 31.

Szabad Nep, Communist newspaper, published what it said were provisions of the new election laws which will be submitted to committee when Parliament convenes tomorrow and to Parliament as a whole Monday.

Changes In Election Laws

The newspaper gave a brief description of the laws totally different from the versions previously published. This was taken as indicating the proposed laws may be changed again before submission.

The new laws, the Communist organ said, will reduce the number of parliamentary members by requiring that there be one seat for every 14,000 voters instead of one for every 12,000 as heretofore.

Those who would be deprived of the right to vote would include all members of previous parties now considered "Fascist," plus members of the German minority destined for deportation and persons who "went to the west" and did not return before October 31, 1945.

Must Submit Petitions

In their latest form, the proposed laws provide that parties which did not take part in last elections in November, 1945—including Father Istvan Balogh's new Hungarian Independent Democratic party — must submit petitions signed by qualified voters before being entitled to a place on the ballot.

An announcement said the Small Holders party, after meeting with President Zoltan Tildy yesterday at Lake Balaton, had decided against calling a party assembly before the September election.

OPPOSITION HEADS SEIZED IN ROMANIA

Peasant Party Leaders Taken At Airport In Attempt To Flee

Bucharest, Romania, July 15 (AP). Several leading members of the principal government opposition, the National Peasant party, were arrested Monday at Tamadau airport just outside Bucharest while trying to flee to another country, it was announced tonight.

Among those arrested were Ion Mihalache, vice president of the party; Nicholae Penescu, its secretary general, and Dr. Constantin Gafnko, a prominent member.

Dr. Iuliu Maniu, president of the party, is being held incommunicado at a sanitarium in Bucharest which he entered six days ago for treatment.

Confirmed By Ministry

The arrests were confirmed tonight by the Ministry of Internal Affairs, which issued a communiqué saying:

"Full of hate for the popular democratic regime and wanting to overthrow the regime; being implicated in the criminal actions of elements hostile to the people and afraid of the responsibilities before justice and the people's anger at the illegalities they have committed, several leaders of the National Peasant party, at the direct order of Iuliu Maniu, attempted on July 14 to escape to a foreign country.

"For that purpose they bribed several pilots of the military air force.

Names Leaders Seized

"State security police on July 14 at 7 o'clock arrested at Tamadau Airport . . . as they tried to escape by boarding a plane the following leaders of the National Peasant party and their accomplices:

Ion Mihalache, vice president of the National Peasant party.

Nicholae Penescu, secretary general of the party.

Elena Penescu, wife of the secretary general.

Ilie Lazar, member of the central commmittee of the party.

Nicholae Carandino, former editor of the party newspaper.

Lily Carandino, his wife and well-known Romanian actress.

Dr. Constantin Gafnko, prominent member of the party.

George Popescu, engineer and party member.

The arrests apparently preceded a raid on party headquarters staged by police Monday night. Several party members found on the premises also were arrested.

The National Peasant party opposes the policies of the six-party pro-government leftist bloc.

Russ Press Sees 'Dollar Trap' In Aid

Moscow, July 15 (AP) — While carrying far less news than before on the Paris Economic Conference, the Soviet press nevertheless hinted today at a sorry fate for European nations that will get American aid.

The only published dispatch from Paris was a two-paragraph item of the official Soviet news agency Tass reporting that "in journalistic circles they say that the United States demanded the granting of the seat of 'third power' to Italy."

Izvestia, Russian Government newspaper, in an article titled "Dollar Trap" noted that Britain's loan from the United States was going fast and said Britain, by terms of the loan, now had to buy food from the United States or do without.

British In "Trap"

"Having gotten into the dollar trap," said the article, "the British are forced again to stand before the U.S.A. hat in hand or tighten their belts, longingly gazing at the dominions' food.

"This is how 'sympathetic' American aid turned out for Britain. If American philanthropists are so tough with their Anglo-Saxon brothers, one can imagine the consequences of aid for other European nations."

[Moscow Radio Commentator K. Gofman, heard in London, said today an effort was afoot to "utilize the drawing up of a general European economic plan for the resurrection of the German monopolies." He declared that "Bevin and Bidault have not succeeded in creating an atmosphere of mutual understanding and good will" and had drawn "unconditional support" only from Italy, Portugal and Turkey.]

RUSS AID SEEN FOR ALBANIA

Izvestia Hints At 'Dollar Trap' For 16 Paris Conferees

Moscow, July 15 (AP)—Russia was believed drafting plans today to give economic aid to Albania, while the Soviet press hinted at a gloomy fate for European nations which accept American assistance.

The presence in Moscow of Gen. Enver Hoxha, Communist Premier of Albania, gave rise to speculation that an economic agreement between Russia and the Balkan nation would be announced soon.

Hoxha, who arrived by plane yesterday, said in a greeting to the Soviet people that Russia "gave us freedom, gave us victory and now is giving us light and life."

Follows Gottwald's Visit

As the Paris conference to implement the Marshall plan proceeds, other diplomats from eastern and southern European countries may show up here for economic conferences. Hoxha is the second Premier to visit Moscow in the last week. Premier Klement Gottwald of Czechoslovakia arrived here July 9 and worker out an economic and political agreement.

Meanwhile, the Government newspaper Izvestia hinted that the sixteen nations participating in the Paris conference (Russia and eight of her satellities are not participating) would fall into a "dollar trap."

Britain In "Dollar Trap"

The newspaper said Britain already had fallen into such a trap by accepting a loan from the United States. It added that the loan was going fast and that Britain now, under the terms of her agreement, had to buy goods from the United States or go without.

"Having gotten into the dollar trap, the British are forced again to stand before the United States of America hat in hand or tighten their belts, longingly gazing at the dominions' food," the article said.

"This is how 'sympathetic' American aid turned out for Britain. If American philanthropists are so tough with their Anglo-Saxon brothers, one can imagine the consequences of aid for other European nations."

Manchuria General Reported On Leave

Peiping, July 15 (AP)—Mpkden dispatches said today that Gen. Tu Li-ming had been relieved temporarily of his Manchurian command to permit him sick leave. One newspaper said he planned to go to the United States for medical treatment.

The reports said Gen. Chen Tung-kuo, Tu's second in command, would assume his position.

Trial Of Former Jap Governor Completed

Nanking, July 15 (AP)—A Chinese military tribunal today concluded the two-day war crimes trial of Lieut. Gen. Renseke Isgai, wartime Japanese occupation governor of Hong Kong. Judgment will be rendered July 22.

Isgai denied all charges against him, including specifications that he placed 400,000 Chinese civilians in concentration camps and encouraged opium smoking in Hong Kong.

Peiping, China, July 15 (AP)—The naming of Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer to a fact-finding mission was considered here today as a further indication that the United States has abandoned a policy of "drift" in China—and highly authoritative sources said there are two alternatives:

1. Pull out of China entirely, leaving the nation to shift for itself.

2. Take steps aimed at securing the unity and democracy which President Truman and the "Big Three" Foreign Ministers said last year they believed necessary for China.

The feeling is general here that the United States will not undertake all-out military support of the Chinese Government in its current civil war.

First, such a course would be highly unpopular in America, well-informed sources are convinced; second, it would create hostility toward America among a large segment of China's population, and, third, a Chinese Government victory over Communist armies appears almost impossible to attain under present methods of warfare.

Hence, American efforts appear to be on the side of urging the Chinese Government to secure wider support from the people, through basic reforms, these sources say, particularly reforms in land rents and ownership. It is generally believed the Government's mobilization order disappointed Washington, because it ignored such points.

Whether Wedemeyer can succeed in convincing the Nationalist Government that America wants to see a better China before help is forthcoming is one of the big questions still to be answered.

Another major question: What course should Washington chart in event the Nanking Government collapses? Some observers here predict that this eventuality may not be far distant.

In the balance also would be the fate of the United States military advisory group in China, which is acceptable to and desired by China's present Government but which might not be welcomed by some subsequent administration.

United States Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart, meanwhile, has expressed his willigness to continue in office as long as Secretary of State Marshall feels that he needs him, it was learned authoritatively today.

U.S. Policy Of 'Drift' In China Held Near End

Chiang Troops Re-Enter Taian

Nanking, July 15 (AP)—Chinese Government troops have re-entered Taian, on the Tientsin-Pukow railroad, 33 miles south of Tsinan, field dispatches reported today.

They said Communists withdrew in the face of superior Government forces, easing the threat to Tsinan itself, the Shantung provincial capital.

Nationalist dispatches admitted the loss of the railroad towns of Kiaochow and Kaomi, west of Tsingtao, Shantung port city. The cities were lost two days after Government forces occupied them.

Mobilization Approved

In Nanking, the executive Yuan approved general mobilization, which virtually placed the Government on a war footing, economically, politically and militarily. Details of the order for "general mobilization and completion of preparations for enforcement of the constitution" will be published after the State Council gives its sanction this Friday.

A qualified source said the order places emphasis on a controlled economy as a means of preventing profiteering while the Government goes all out in a military campaign against the Communists.

Meanwhile, reports from remote Tihwa, capital of Sinkiang province, told of growing unrest in the Kashgar district, in the southwest corner of the province.

The reports suggested that leaders of the district would back up rebels in the Ili area in northwest Sinkiang who object to appointment of Mahsud Sabri as governor and want a greater degree of self-government.

Sinkiang borders on the Soviet Union and Outer Mongolia. Earlier this year, Outer Mongolians staged a brief invasion of the province in the outgrowth of a border dispute.

PRESIDENTIAL TALK IGNORED BY MACARTHUR

General Silent On Wisconsin Speculation He 'Will Be Available'

Tokyo, July 15 (AP)—MacArthur-for-President speculation from Wisconsin landed in silence here today.

Efforts were unavailing to obtain General MacArthur's comment on a statement by Lansing Hoyt, chairman of the Wisconsin MacArthur-for-President Club, that "I'm positive he will be available" as a Republican presidential candidate in 1948.

Hoyt declared he had learned from "a source on the highest level in Tokyo" that MacArthur would accept, but headquarters officers declined to discuss his announcement, issued after the General told a visiting Wisconsin editor he intended to settle down in Milwaukee, his boyhood home.

Has Disclaimed Political Aims

There was a feeling at headquarters that this meant pressure once more would be brought on the five-star supreme commander for the Allied powers to enter politics—as it was frequently during the war. Several times he has denied having any political ambitions.

MacArthur repeatedly has insisted he would remain here until the job is completed. Lately he has clarified this to mean he will stay on until the peace treaty is signed. He has expressed belief the treaty would be completed in one year to eighteen months—or between July, 1948, and January, 1949.

"After The Treaty Is Signed"

MacArthur, 67 years old last January 26, first disclosed his intention to settle in Milwaukee to James Packman, managing editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel, whom the General greeted Monday with the remark: "It's good to meet somebody from my home State."

Later he added: "Tell your paper that I plan to go back and settle down in Milwaukee after the peace treaty is signed."

Other members of the visiting editors' party who talked with Mrs. MacArthur said they received the impression the famous couple had decided definitely to return to the United States upon the General's retirement but were considering several possible residence sites.

In the past, MacArthur has talked with relish and vivid memory of numerous places where he has lived when meeting someone from one of them.

Talked Of His East Coast Home

On one occasion he described with great detail an east coast home he had not seen since boyhood in conversing with a visitor who once was a neighbor. He talked similarly with a Korean editor about Seoul where he lived for a time as a boy and later as a young officer.

MacArthur takes pride in his amazing ability to remember such precise details. He has demonstrated a sentimental attachment for many periods and many cities in his long, widely traveled career.

On the other hand, MacArthur's family has had long association with Wisconsin. He was born in Little Rock, Ark., but moved to Milwaukee with his mother in 1898 while his father was commanding the American Army in the Philippines. His grandfather was once Governor of Wisconsin.

Army Plane Hits Freight In Japan; Trainman Dead

TOKYO, July 15 (AP).—A United States Army A-26 attack bomber crashed into the rear end of a Japanese freight train Monday, killing one trainman and injuring six, but both occupants of the plane escaped serious injury, Far East Air Forces announced today.

The train was crossing a bridge near Hachioji, west of Tokyo, when the accident occurred, the announcement said. One of four cars in the train was knocked from the bridge into the river.

The flyers, who suffered bruises, burns and shock, were identified as Lieutenant David A. Jones, of Brownwood, Tex., and Technical Sergeant Edwin M. Noonan, of Alhambra, Calif.

M'Arthur Bans Sun Suits, Slacks As Working Dress

Tokyo, July 15 (AP)—General MacArthur came up today with a few fashion notes for civilian employés of general headquarters.

An order signed by the supreme commander said the employés must wear "conventional dress" when in public buildings or places.

And such dress, he said, does not include "sun suits, play suits or men's undershirts as outer garments."

As for slacks—women may wear them "only when in the opinion of the section chief concerned, (the wearer's) duty is such as to make this dress desirable."

Russ Korea 'Veto' Invalid: U.S. Aide

Seoul, Korea, July 15 (AP)—The chief American delegate to the joint United States-Soviet Commission accused Russia today of attempting to use unauthorized veto power to exclude certain Korean groups from consultations on formation of a provisional government for all of Korea.

Maj. Gen. Albert E. Brown said that the Russian attitude was contrary to the agreement that negotiations on setting up a government would be resumed on a basis of broad consultation of political and social organizations. In addition, he said, it would prevent a fair sampling of Korean opinion.

"Bad Faith" Charged

Brown also said the Soviets had charged all parties affiliated with the South Korean Anti-Trusteeship Committee with bad faith. The United States, he declared, "holds that no group can be accused of bad faith until indicted and convicted."

The Anti-Trusteeship Committee, which claims an enrollment of 40 Rightist parties, was formed by Political Leader Kim Koo in December.

The American delegate added that the Soviets had sought to deny consultation privileges to purely local and district organizations, such as chambers of commerce and medical institutes on the ground they were not social organizations. He said the Russians had refused American offers to define social organizations and to limit consultation to groups of more than 1,000 or any figure proposed by the Russians.

Pay With Good Grace, Ex-Premier Tells Japs

Shizuoka, Japan, July 15 (AP)—Former Premier Shigeru Yoshida said today the Japanese should make reparations payments with "good grace" and avoid trying to "get anything in the peace treaty."

"Most of the machinery which has been designated for reparations is now quite old," Yoshida told Japanese newsmen. "It would be of value in a fast-progressing world to cling to old things. The Japanese people, who are determined to build a new Japan, should search for newer and better things."

Yoshida, president of the Liberal party, said reparations and peace terms should be accepted by the Japanese "with good grace, as they have accepted the surrender."

Natanya Kidnap Hunt Pressed For Soldiers

Jerusalem, July 15 (AP)—Troops pressed a house-to-house hunt today through curfew-stilled Natanya in a search for two kidnapped British sergeants held as hostages for three condemned members of Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization.

The search began yesterday after the imposition of military rule over Natanya—Palestine diamond center—and the surrounding area.

Ekron Isolated

Nearly 14,000 persons were left without newspapers, mail, bus service or banks. Only essential telephone traffic was permitted and a military court was established to replace the civil courts.

Police, acting on a tip, later sealed off Ekron, and a three-hour search was made of the small Jewish village south of the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv. The sergeants were abducted early Saturday in Natanya.

Meanwhile, Samuel Mikunis, secretary of the Jewish Communist party, testifying before the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine, said today it was his opinion that British troops were in the Holy Land "in preparation for a third world war.

Evidence Sought

Mikunis was replying to a question by the Committee's Yugoslav member, Vladimir Simic, who asked if the Communist leader had any evidence to support his earlier contention that Britain was using Palestine as a military base.

The Communist replied that British troops are "said to be here for the protection of Jews and Arabs, but most are not stationed in Jewish or Arab areas but in the south in big military camps."

"The troops are here with help and assistance of American imperialism," he added.

BRITISH HOLD 15 IN KIDNAPPINGS

House-To-House Manhunt In Palestine Continuing

Jerusalem, July 15 (AP)—British troops, continuing their house-to-house manhunt in the martial law area of Natanya, arrested fifteen persons today for questioning in connection with the kidnapping last week of two British sergeants.

An announcement said two of those detained were "top grade" leaders of the Jewish underground, and that a third was a "second grade" leader.

U.N. Group In Session

At the same time, a military source disclosed the Army was considering the possibility that the kidnapped pair may have been smuggled to a secret hideaway by ship, after they were whisked away from Natanya in an automobile.

This informant said it would have been possible for Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization which has admitted responsibility for the kidnapping, to have led the pair through shadowed orange groves and seaside sand dunes to a hidden boat.

Meanwhile, the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine, continuing its sessions here, heard a charge by Samuel Mikunis, secretary of the Jewish Communist party, that British troops were in the Holy Land "in preparation for a third World War."

"American Imperialism"

Mikunis, under questioning of Vladimir Simic, Yugoslav member of the committee, asserted British troops were "said to be here for the protection of Jews and Arabs," adding that "most are not stationed in Jewish or Arab areas but in the South in big military camps."

He said the "troops are here with the help and assistance of American imperialism."

sergeants. Officials described two of the persons seized as top grade Underground leaders and a third as a second grade leader.

One official said that the Jewish Underground organization Irgun Zvai Leumi, which has announced it was responsible for the kidnaping, may have used a sea route to smuggle the sergeants to a secret hideaway, to be held as hostages for three condemned Irgun members.

Indonesia Trading Rice For Textiles

Batavia, July 15 (AP)—The Indonesian Republican Government today announced plans to ship 76,000 tons of rice to non-Republican areas of Indonesia which for nearly two years have been dependent upon imported supplies on virtually a ship-to-mouth basis.

In return the republic will receive two thirds of the textiles, agricultural tools and other supplies which the Dutch have stockpiled in Australia.

It was expected that the rice situation in Malaya, the Philippines and other parts of Southeast Asia would be eased by the new arrangements.

Quirino Ends Mission

Manila, July 15 (AP)—Vice President Elpidio Quirino returned today from an 80-day diplomatic mission around the world. He was met at Makati International Airport by President Roxas and Government and consular officials.

Argentina Accepts Bid To Parley At Rio

Buenos Aires, July 15 (AP)—Juan A. Bramuglia, Foreign Minister, said today that Argentina has accepted an invitation to attend the Rio de Janeiro hemisphere defense conference scheduled to open August 15.

Bramuglia told a news conference Argentina would send a delegation including representatives of the Army, the Navy, the Air Force and the Foreign Office.

BRITISH SEIZE 15 IN JEWISH TOWN

Jerusalem, July 15 (A. P.).—Fifteen persons were seized by British troops today in a house-to-house hunt through Batavia for the kidnapers of two British

PRESIDENT SIGNS BILL EXTENDING TRADE CONTROLS

WASHINGTON, July 15 — (AP) President Truman today pictured the nation as united on foreign policy and stressed anew "our desire to assist nations willing to cooperate in the common objective of reconstruction."

The President's remarks came at a time when European nations outside the Russian sphere are holding an economic conference at Paris as a result of a suggestion by Secretary of State Marshall. Marshall proposed that Europe get together on a program of recovery, and said the United States would give aid where practicable.

The President's statement was regarded as an effort to allay any doubts that Congress would support the Marshall Plan when the time comes to decide on American financial assistance.

Signs Trade Measure

The President issued his statement in signing legislation, passed at his request, continuing export and import controls over certain scarce goods until next March 1.

He said that with enactment of this measure "we have again demonstrated to the world our unanimity on matters affecting our international relations."

"This is particularly significant and timely," he added, "at this moment when so much attention is focused abroad on our desire to assist nations willing to cooperate in the common objective of reconstruction."

Congress again has shown, he said, "its willingness to support the achievement of our foreign policy objectives."

Mr. Truman said he had been reluctant to ask continuation of the controls, which would have expired today, "but world shortages have by no means been dispelled and the threat of inflation has not been dissipated."

Seen as Economic Aid

He observed that "haphazard distribution" of our products throughout the world would have bad economic results. Our objective remains, he said, "the removal of interferences with world trade."

The legislation includes authority to direct delivery abroad of goods required for "production in foreign countries of commodities urgently needed in the United States, or required for carrying out our foreign policy," Mr. Truman said.

It continues the office of defense transportation along with its powers to allocate transportation equipment.

It drops controls on Manila and other types of fiber and cordage. Import controls on rice and rice products are retained.

Materials on which the emergency wartime regulations are continued include tin and tin products, except for imports of tin ores and concentrates; antimony, fats and oils, petroleum and petroleum products.

The President said the controls will be used sparingly and dropped as conditions allow. He added, however, he expects the need "for some supervision of our foreign trade will continue beyond next February."

FEARED MRS. R. VISIT—HALSEY

Admiral Later Lauded Her After Pacific Trip In 1943

Nimitz In Hospital

Washington, July 15 (AP)—The Navy said today that its 62-year-old chief of naval operations, Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, has entered Bethesda Naval Hospital for treatment of an inflammation of the right leg.

His condition is not serious, the Navy said, and he is expected to be out in about a week.

New York, July 15 (AP) — Fleet Admiral William F. Halsey said today he dreaded the visit of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt to his South Pacific area command in 1943, but he later decided she had accomplished much for the morale of his men.

Writing in the Saturday Evening Post, the former 3d Fleet commander said he "marveled" at Mrs. Roosevelt's hardihood and told of her eagerness to visit Guadalcanal at a time when he believed the trip too dangerous for her.

Lauds MacArthur

Halsey also wrote of arguments with Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Despite his arguments with MacArthur, which "always ended pleasantly," Halsey said he could recall "no flaw in our relationship." He expressed his deep admiration for the General's wartime leadership and his "masterly administration" of occupied Japan.

Of Mrs. Roosevelt's visit to Noumea in New Caledonia, the admiral said:

"Among an area commander's worst problems are the politicians, admirals and generals, 'special' correspondents and 'dogooders' who present themselves in the assurance that their visit is a 'morale factor' or that they are entitled to 'see it from the inside.'

"Mrs. Roosevelt I classed as a dogooder and I dreaded her arrival. . . . I had known Mrs. Roosevelt for many years, and I have always liked and admired her, but I could find no excuse for her entering my area and monopolizing planes, crews and fuel that were needed for military purposes."

Halsey recalled that Mrs. Roosevelt presented a letter from the President requesting permission for her to go to Guadalcanal, if the Admiral thought it feasible. This conversation followed:

"I told her rather curtly, 'Guadalcanal is no place for you, Ma'am!'

"'I'm perfectly willing to take my chances,' she said. 'I'll be entirely responsible for anything that happens to me.'"

Visited New Georgia

Halsey then explained he couldn't spare any fighter escort for her trip to Guadalcanal. Later, when the New Georgia campaign ended, he permitted Mrs. Roosevelt to visit the island.

Speaking of her inspection tours, Halsey said he "marveled at her hardihood, both physical and mental; she walked for miles and she saw patients who were grievously and gruesomely wounded. But I marveled most at their expressions as she leaned over them.

". . . When I saw her off, I told her that it was impossible to express my appreciation of what she had done, and was doing, for my men.

"I was ashamed of my original surliness. She alone had accomplished more good than any other person or any group of civilians who had passed through my area."

Secret Project Base Disclosed

WASHINGTON, July 15 — (AP) Use of a New Mexico base for a highly secret project was disclosed indirectly today in a War Department announcement of routine changes of command for a number of general officers.

The announcement reported that Brig. Gen. Robert M. Montague, former assistant commandant of the anti-aircraft and guided missiles center at Fort Bliss, Tex., was now assigned to the "armed forces special weapons project at Sandia Base, Albuquerque, N. M."

There was no further explanation of the function of this project.

It is known, however, that Maj. Gen. Leslie J. Groves, former chief of the Manhattan Project, the agency which developed the atom bomb for the Army, is associated with direction of the "armed forces special weapons project" at Washington.

The Sandia base was a former Army air forces field. It is in the general area of the Los Alamos a-bomb laboratories and the site of the first bomb test at Almagordo.

Succeeding Montague at the Fort Bliss guided missiles center is Brig. Gen. Charles E. Hart, artillery officer for the first army, at Governors Island, N. Y.

The War department announcement also said that Maj. Gen. Ernest N. Harmon, who commanded the famous 2nd Armored "Hell on Wheels" Division which pierced the Siegfried Line and who has commanded constabulary forces in the American zone of Germany, will retire on Aug. 31 after 30 years army service.

SENATORS JOIN ATOM HUNT

Question of 'Russian Pipeline' on Secrets to Be Studied

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—The Senate War Investigating Committee has joined in the hunt to determine whether atomic secrets have been lost to foreign agents.

Chairman Owen Brewster, Republican, of Maine, reported today that the committee's staff has revived a wartime inquiry into the spending of $2,000,000,000 for development of the atomic bomb.

Mr. Brewster told a reporter the investigation will be broad enough to go into the question of whether "Russian pipelines" were draining highly restricted information from the project.

"If there were Russian pipelines operating into it, that would come under the head of waste and extravagance," he said. "If we found such evidence, we would consult with the Joint Atomic Energy Committee and the Department of Justice to see what information they had about it."

Mr. Brewster said the inquiry has been under way some time, although he has not received a progress report.

"Our primary interest is as to the prudence of the contracts, which necessarily were handled secretly," he said.

R.A.F. 'Dam Busters' Squadron To Visit U.S.

Washington, July 15 (AP)—Sixteen four-engine Lincoln bombers of Royal Air Force Squadron 617 will arrive at near-by Andrews Field on July 28 for a visit to the United States.

The Army Air Force and the British Embassy announced today that Squadron 617, famous during the war as "Dam Busters" and for helping sink the German warship, the Von Tirpitz, are coming here to assist in celebrating Air Force Day August 1.

After the celebration the squadron will go on a good-will tour to six AAF bases—Selfridge Field, Mich.; Smoky Hill Army Air Base at Calina, Kan.; Mather Field at Sacramento, Cal.; March Field at Riverside, Cal.; Fort Worth (Texas) Army Air Base and the Air University at Maxwell Field in Alabama.

Squadron 617 got its name of "Dam Busters" when nineteen planes from the unit broke the dams of the great German Noehne and Eder reservoir.

TANKERS FOR RUSSIA SET

Commerce Department Reveals Three to Carry Licensed Exports

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—The Commerce Department identified today the three Russian tankers designated to carry 248,901 barrels of petroleum products from San Pedro, Calif., to Russia as the Taganrog, Maikop and Suchan.

The department has licensed, over protests of some members of Congress, export to Russia of 805 barrels of aviation gasoline, 21,905 barrels of motor gasoline, 4,762 barrels of kerosene and 221,429 barrels of Diesel oils. Officials said the licenses did not specify the tankers, but that their names were among the papers accompanying the application for licenses.

Study Proposed On Foreign Need

Washington, July 15 (AP)—Legislation setting up a nineteen-member special House commitee to study foreign economic needs and this country's ability to meet them was offered today by House Republican leaders.

It was introduced by Representative Herter (R., Mass.).

The resolution provides for appointment of the committee, probably eleven Republicans and eight Democrats, by Speaker Martin (R., Mass.).

SAYS SOVIET BLOC NEEDS LITTLE GRAIN

Washington, July 15 (A. P.).—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson reported after a talk with President Truman today that he foresaw little need for shipping grain to European countries in the Russian sphere of influence.

Anderson returned yesterday from the International Cereals Conference at Paris. He said that there would be no shipments of grains to Czecho-Slovakia which, he said, was not a deficit nation. There may or may not be shipments to Poland, he continued, adding a personal belief that Poland is in pretty fair shape. During the Paris talks Anderson sent an American mission into Poland and expects a report within two or three days.

The Secretary also said that the United States does not intend to ship grains into areas where needs are being supplied from other sources.

The Government has no information on Russian crop prospects, but unofficial indications are, he said, that the harvest in Ukrainia will probably be the best in fifty years. Asked whether there would be grain shipments to Romania, Anderson replied he did not expect any.

3 BILLION FOR NAVY PASSES IN CONGRESS

55 Million to Run Both Houses Also Sent to White House—Senate Raises Army Fund

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—Behind schedule, the fourth and fifth of a dozen big departmental appropriation bills needed to run the Government for this fiscal year went from Congress to the White House today.

They set up $3,433,046,100 cash for the Navy and $55,000,000 to operate Congress.

As the money mill ground slowly in the economy-minded Congress, the House took emergency steps to keep thousands of Government employes from going payless. It passed and sent to the Senate a measure authorizing the agencies to meet their mid-July payrolls.

The Senate passed by voice two other appropriation bills—$6,160,-000,000 for the Army and $8,307,-978,247 for a score of independent executive agencies, including $6,-985,504,300 for the Veterans Administration.

The War Department measure was increased $600,000,000 by Senate action, mostly for the Air Forces. The Senate also added $140,109,220 to the independent agencies bill as passed by the House. If the House does not accept these changes the bills must be held up for compromise.

The remaining five big appropriation bills are pending in conference committees working out differences between Senate and House, or are awaiting Senate passage. All apply to the fiscal year which began July 1.

The appropriation for Congress includes the lawmakers' salaries.

The Navy bill, which carries in addition to the $3,433,046,100 cash the authority to contract for $248,000,000 in aircraft, passed the Senate by voice vote after the House had approved. Its cash outlay is $234,000,000 below President Truman's recommendation. It provides for an average Navy strength of 395,000 enlisted and 42,000 officer personnel.

Just before passage of the Army bill, the Senate rejected an attempt by Senator Warren G. Magnuson, Democrat, of Washington, to place in the measure a rider that would prevent any "stop-watch" or "time-measuring" studies in War Department agencies.

Senator Wayne Morse, Republican, of Oregon, supported Mr. Magnuson, saying that unless the prohibition was included some Army and Navy officers would become "petty tyrants" and "speed-up artists" in their sections.

Senator Harry F. Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia, blocked a War Department request for exemption from the ceiling on the number of its civilian employes, which had been approved by the Appropriations Committee. Mr. Byrd said the department had 547,000 civilian workers, or more than one for every two soldiers.

As the bill passed the Senate it provided for 35,205 more civilians than allowed by the House, which had cut 74,806 positions from the 495,034 recommended by the budget.

The bill to finance independent executive agencies carries an additional $592,393,000 contract authorization for five of the agencies, approved by both houses.

As approved by the Senate, the bill carries some $192,000,000 less than the President asked in his budget.

Also covered in it are the Executive Office of the President, the Atomic Energy Commission, War Assets Administration, Civil Service, Federal Trade, Interstate Commerce, Communications and Federal Power Commissions, the Federal Works Agencies and a dozen smaller agencies.

The Senate on a 47-35 roll-call defeated an attempt by Senator J. William Fulbright, Democrat, of Arkansas, to increase the allotment for the Federal Trade Commission from $3,000,120 to $3,920,-700.

SEES EUROPE FINISHED

Washington, July 15 (A. P.).—Robert E. Wood, chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co., said today that the United States should halt most of its aid to Europe "because western Europe is to a large extent finished."

Wood made the statement before the joint congressional committee on the economic report, which is studying ways to stabilize the nation's economy.

Guam Postal Loss Bill Voted

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP)—The House passed a bill today relieving James H. Underwood, former postmaster of Guam, of responsibility for the loss of $25,-439.31 in postal receipts when the island of Guam was invaded by the Japanese Dec. 10, 1941. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Authorizes Hawaii Bonds

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP).—President Truman signed today legislation authorizing Hawaii, during the years 1947 to 1951 inclusive, to issue public improvement bonds in such amounts as will not cause the total indebtedness of the territory to exceed $35,-000,000.

GOVERNORS BACK MARSHALL PLAN TO AID EUROPE

SALT LAKE CITY, July 15—(AP) The nation's governors coupled tonight support of the Marshall plan with moves toward endorsement of the widespread military preparedness program.

The governors' conference resolutions committee is studying four national preparedness resolutions. One is likely to be submitted to the 43 governors in attendance for a vote tomorrow.

Secretary of State Marshall's plea here for support of his program to aid Europe drew a generally favorable program from the governors.

Gov. Herbert B. Maw, Utah Democrat, said he will ask the resolutions committee, of which he is a member, to draft and report out a resolution formally endorsing the secretary's program.

Urges Preparedness

Meanwhile J. Strom Thurmond, South Carolina Democrat, told his colleagues at a luncheon that the United States must begin immediately to prepare on a wide scale for any eventuality.

"One of our great allies in the recent war has embarked on what appears to be a policy of isolationism," he said. "One group of European nations is meeting in Paris in an effort to design plans for rehabilitation of war-devastated Europe. Another group, under the leadership of the Soviet Union, has remained away from the Paris conference."

"This choosing up of sides in Europe x x x is following a policy that leads to war and not to peace," Thurmond declared.

He urged universal military training, merger of the armed services, legislation providing for total mobilization in case of war, uniform hemispheric defensive training and armament, and research "to stay ahead of the world."

Bi-partisan backing of Marshall's plan was reflected in statements by a cross-section of the 43 governors after the secretary told their annual conference last night the United States must choose between completing the European aid program or seeing many nations move in directions "consistent neither with their own traditions nor with those of this country."

Marshall reinforced his public appeal with a private talk to the governors in which he was reported to have placed stronger emphasis on implementation of the administration's program.

Dewey Declines Comment

While a few governors, including Thomas E. Dewey of New York, withheld comment, and one expressed doubt that the United States should try to rebuild Europe's economy, several others were outspoken in their endorsement of the program.

Gov. Earl Warren of California, a prospective candidate for the Republican presidential nomination and a self-declared enthusiastic admirer of Marshall, said the secretary's advocacy of "a course of action fully consistent with our national interests" is "a very sound approach to the international situation."

Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., Maryland Democrat, said, "I am 100 per cent for whatever Secretary Marshall wants."

Republican Gov. Ralph F. Gates of Indiana said he believed Marshall "will have the governors with him unanimously."

"It calls our shots, as I see it," commented Gov. Mon Wallgren, Washington Democrat, who has been mentioned prominently as a possible running mate of President Truman next year. "I am satisfied that the whole country is behind Marshall's plan to do everything we can, within justifiable bounds, to help rebuild these European nations."

No Dole Says Gov. Duff

Pennsylvania's Republican Gov. James H. Duff declared that "if Secretary Marshall means that we must help these European countries to help themselves, I am fully in accord with that idea. We must keep away from the dole in Europe. It don't work here and it won't work there."

Gov. Dwight H. Green, Illinois Republican, had no comment, and Gov. Kim Sigler, Michigan Republican, termed the speech "a carefully worded statement by a sincere gentleman."

The third day of the annual conference ended with a parade of governors and their wives through the business district of the city, a dinner at the home of President George Albert Smith of the Latter-day Saints (Mormon) church, attendance at a rodeo in connection with the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the arrival in this mountain-girdled valley of Brigham Young and his Mormon followers.

The conference will close tomorrow.

Wife Divorces Vet So They Can Wed

Forced to Dissolve Irish Union So She Can Come to United States Where They'll Remarry.

Seymour, Conn., July 15 (A. P.).—The story of a veteran whose wife divorced him so she could marry him came to light here today.

The divorce was obtained in Belfast, Ireland, last week by Mrs. Agnes Gibbons Torowich, 25 years old, of that city, who plans to come here next month to remarry her 32-year-old ex-husband, John Torowich, an American Brass Company employee.

The divorce had to be obtained, Torowich explained, because he married Miss Gibbons in 1944 without Army permission while he was stationed in northern Ireland. After he was returned to the United States and discharged, Torowich discovered that his wife and their daughter, now 2 years old, could not come here with the regular war bride shipments because he had married without Army permission.

However, with the divorce, obtained in four days through the intercession of the United States consul in Belfast instead of the six months usually required, Mrs. Torowich becomes eligible to enter the United States as an alien seeking to join her ex-G. I. fiance.

Torowich said today he had not seen his wife and daughter for fourteen months.

LONDON--FOURTH ADD FOREIGN OFFICE XXX ALBANIA. (A96)
ALEXANDER A.PALLIS, SPOKESMAN FOR THE GREEK EMBASSY IN LONDON, SAID THAT 20,000 GREEK MOSLEMS WHO, AFTER THE LIBERATION, HAD LEFT THEIR COUNTRY AND SOUGHT REFUGE IN ALBANIA, WERE MASSING ON THE FRONTIER
IN AN APPARENT BID TO MARCH INTO THEIR OLD TERRITORY IN SOUTHWESTERN EPIRUS.
PALLIS ASSERTED THESE GREEK MOSLEMS (KNOWN AS TSAMS IN THEIR OWN COUNTRY) WERE FULLY EQUIPPED AND SAID THEY OBVIOUSLY HAD "RECEIVED THEIR ARMS FROM THE ALBANIAN GOVERNMENT."
"DURING THE WAR," PALLIS DECLARED, "THESE PEOPLE COLLABORATED FIRST

FOLO ATHENS

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, JULY 16-(AP)-THE MOSCOW RADIO SAID TODAY, QUOTING AN ATHENS DISPATCH BY THE SOVIET NEWS AGENCY TASS, THAT THE "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE," REPORTED BY THE GREEK GOVERNMENT TO BE OPERATING ON THE NORTHERN GREEK FRONT, "ACTUALLY WAS GROUPS OF PARTISANS WHICH ADVANCED FROM THE GRAMMOS AREA AND ARE MOVING SOUTHWARD."

THE PARTISANS WERE ATTEMPTING, TASS SAID, "EVIDENTLY TO CUT OFF THE KONITSA GARRISON FROM OTHER GOVERNMENT TROOPS."

AT THE SAME TIME, THE MOSCOW RADIO BROADCAST A MONTH-OLD REPORT BY THE GREEK GUERRILLA LEADER, GEN.MARKOSN ACCUSING BRITISH PILOTS OF PARTICIPATING IN AIR RAIDS AGAINST GUERRILLA FORCES.

THE BROADCAST QUOTED A TASS DISPATCH FROM BELGRADE DESCRIBING MARKOS' REPORT WHICH WAS PUBLISHED LAST MONTH IN GUERRILLA NEWSPAPERS.

"WITH COMPLETE JUSTIFICATION, WE SUGGEST BRITISH PILOTS ARE ALSO TAKING PART CN AIR RAIDS" AGAINST "UNDEFENDED VILLAGES," THE REPORT SAID.

MARKOS ALSO CITED NUMEROUS ALLEGATIONS OF AMERICAN AND BRITISH ASSISTANCE TO GREEK GOVERNMENT TROOPS IN THE CIVIL WAR AND SAID:

"IT CLEARLY FOLLOWS THAT INTERVENTION OF BRITISH AND AMERICANS NOT ONLY PERSISTS, BUT TAKES ON THE CHARACTER OF DIRECT PARTICIPATION IN THE CIVIL WAR WHICH THE MONARCHO-FASCISTS ARE WAGING AGAINST THE PEOPLE."

AMERICAN ARMY OFFICERS, MARKOS' REPORT SAID, TAKE PART IN ALL GREEK GENERAL STAFF DISCUSSIONS OF OPERATIONS.

THEREFORE, HE ADDED, THE GUERRILLAS "CANNOT MAKE A DISTINCTION BETWEEN GREEK GOVERNMENT TROOPS AND THE ANGLO-AMERICANS PARTICIPATING IN OPERATIONS AGAINST THE DEMOCRATIC ARMY."

"BRITISH AND AMERICAN AUTHORITIES," THE REPORT SAID, "IN EVERY WAY SUPPORT THE GREEK MONARCHIST FASCISTS AND ARE FANNING THE CIVIL WAR IN GREECE, WHICH IS SPREADING."

ON JUNE 13, THE REPORT SAID, AMERICAN AND BRITISH PLANES APPEARED IN THE AREA OF MILITARY OPERATIONS NEAR AGRAPHA, ABOUT 150 MILES NORTHWEST OF ATHENS.

LONDON,JULY 15-(AP)-A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID TONIGHT THAT BRITISH DIPLOMATS IN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES HAD BEEN UNABLE "TO PROVE OR DISPROVE" BALKAN REPORTS THAT AN "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" WAS AIDING GREEK GUERRILLA FIGHTERS.

THE SPOKESMAN SAID BRITISH ENVOYS IN "VARIOUS" UNNAMED COUNTRIES HAD BEEN INSTRUCTED TO MAKE INQUIRIES ABOUT POSSIBLE EXISTENCE OF AN INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE. HE DECLINED TO COMMENT ON REPORTS FROM OTHER WHITEHALL SOURCES THAT A JOINT ANGLO-AMERICAN PROTEST TO THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL WOULD BE CONSIDERED IF EXISTENCE OF AN INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE WAS DISCOVERED.

"THE REPLIES TO THE INQUIRIES GAVE NOTHING TO PROVE OR DISPROVE THE INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE'S EXISTENCE," THE SPOKESMAN SAID.

LONDON,JULY 15-(AP)-A BOARD OF TRADE SPOKESMAN SAID TONIGHT CONCLUSION THIS WEEK OF AN ANGLO-SOVIET TRADE AGREEMENT, PROVIDING FOR RUSSIAN DELIVERY OF 6,000,000 TONS OF CEREALS IN THE NEXT FOUR YEARS WAS PROBABLE.

UNLESS SOME UNFORESEEN LAST-MINUTE DIFFICULTY ARISES, PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE MAY ANNOUNCE DETAILS OF THE PACT IN THE COMMONS BEFORE THE END OF THE WEEK, OTHER GOVERNMENT INFORMANTS REPORTED.

IN RETURN BRITAIN IS EXPECTED TO AGREE TO THE REVISION OF A 1941 ANGLO-SOVIET CIVIL CREDIT AGREEMENT REDUCING THE RATE OF INTEREST FROM THREE PERCENT TO ONE-HALF PERCENT ON A DEBT OF 55,000,000 POUNDS $220,000,000) AND INCREASING THE REDEMPTION PERIOD FROM SEVEN TO 12 YEARS.

IN ADDITION BRITAIN WILL EXCHANGE STEEL RAILS, MACHINERY, TIMBER-CUTTING EQUIPMENT AND OTHER GOODS AND EQUIPMENT FOR RUSSIAN TIMBER, CANNED FISH AND A WIDE RANGE OF RAW MATERIALS INCLUDING CHEMICALS.

SECOND LEAD ECONOMIC

BY TOM WILLIAMS

PARIS, JULY 15-(AP)-THE 16-NATION EUROPEAN ECONOMIC CONFERENCE APPROVED TODAY PLANS FOR ORGANIZING A COOPERATIVE EFFORT TO SPEED THE CONTINENT'S RECOVERY UNDER THE MARSHALL PROPOSAL.

THE DELEGATES UNANIMOUSLY APPROVED A RULES COMMITTEE REPORT NOMINATING BRITAIN, FRANCE, ITALY, NORWAY AND THE NETHERLANDS TO A KEY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE AND SETTING UP FOUR SUBCOMMITTEES ON FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, IRON AND STEEL, TRANSPORT AND COAL AND ENERGY.

THE PLENARY SESSION, THIRD SINCE THE CONFERENCE CONVENED SATURDAY, WILL BE THE LAST UNTIL THE COMMITTEES HAVE COMPLETED THEIR DETAILED WORK OF ASSESSING THE RESOURCES AND NEEDS OF THE PARTICIPATING NATIONS BEFORE APPLYING FOR AMERICAN FINANCIAL AID UNDER THE PROPOSAL OF U.S.SECRETARY OF STATE GEORGE C.MARSHALL.

JUL

ADDRESSING THE SESSION, PREMIER PAUL-HENRI SPAAK OF BELGIUM URGED LONG-RANGE ECONOMIC PLANNING WHICH WOULD "NOT BE LIMITED TO IMMEDIATE OBJECTIVES," AS WELL AS A SHORTER-RANGE PROGRAM TO QUALIFY THE NATIONS FOR THE AMERICAN AID.

SPEAKING FOR THE BENELUX DELEGATIONS--THOSE OF BELGIUM, THE NETHERLANDS AND LUXEMBOURG HE SAID THE NATIONS SHOULD SEEK BY THEIR ACTIONS HERE TO CONVINCE THE AMERICAN PUBLIC "THAT WE ARE ON A CONSTRUCTIVE PART."

THE INFORMANT--COMMENDING ON SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL'S ADDRESS LAST NIGHT IN SALT LAKE CITY, IN WHICH HE SAID THE PROGRAM WOULD NOT BE SUBMITTED TO CONGRESS BEFORE JANUARY --SAID THE MARSHALL TIME TABLE DOUBTLESS WAS FIXED AFTER CAREFUL CONSIDERATION OF THE BEST MEANS OF PREPARING THE LEGISLATION.

(WHAT THE COST WILL BE NEVER HAS BEEN STATED DEFINITELY. BENJAMIN COHEN, STATE DEPARTMENT COUNCILLOR, SAID A MONTH AGO EUROPE WOULD NEED $24,000,000,000 DURING THE NEXT FOUR YEARS AND WOULD REQUIRE $15,000,000,000 ALONE TO PREVENT STARVATION.)

OFFICIAL FRENCH CIRCLES SAID THEY SAW NO REASON FOR ALTERING THE GOAL OF SEPT. 1 FOR COMPLETION OF A SURVEY OF RESOURCES AND DOLLAR NEEDS AMONG THE 16 NATIONS PARTICIPATING IN THE PARIS CONFERENCE. (RUSSIA AND EIGHT EASTERN EUROPEAN NATIONS DECLINED TO TAKE PART).

THE NATIONS WHICH MAKE UP THE CONFERENCE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE AND FOUR SUBCOMMITTEES ON FOOD AND AGRICULTURE, IRON AND STEEL, TRANSPORT AND COAL AND POWER WERE SELECTED YESTERDAY BY THE RULES CMMITTEE. THE NOMINATIONS WERE TO BE SUBMITTED TO A PLENARY SESSION AT 4 P.M (10 A.M. EST.)

THIS WAS EXPECTED TO BE THE LAST PLENARY SESSION UNTIL COMMITTEE REPORTS ON ASSETS AND DOLLAR NEEDS ARE COMPLETED. A BRITISH SPOKESMAN SAID FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN PROBABLY WOULD RETURN TO LONDON TOMORROW.

ONE CONFERENCE SOURCE SAID FRANCE WOULD BE AMONG THE FIRST TO FEEL ILL EFFECTS OF ANY DELAY IN U.S.CREDITS. FRENCH OFFICIAL SOURCES SAID LAST WEEK THAT FRANCE'S DOLLAR SUPPLY, INCLUDING ALL PRIVATE FRENCH DOLLAR HOLDINGS IN THE UNITED STATES, WOULD BE EXHAUSTED BY JAN 1. THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT REQUISITIONED BY DECREE RECENTLY PRIVATE FRENCH DOLLAR HOLDINGS IN THE U.S.

FRENCH OFFICIALS COMMENTED CAUTIOUSLY ON MARSHALL'S SPEECH. A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID HE REGARDED THE ADDRESS AS AN EXPLANATION TO AMERICANS AS TO WHY THEY SHOULD HELP EUROPE. SWEDISH, BELGIAN, DUTCH AND LUXEMBOURG DELEGATES RESERVED COMMENT.

THE FRENCH AND BRITISH VIEW HAS BEEN THAT SHOULD THE PARIS CONFERENCE DEVISE A PROGRAM OF SELF HELP, IT WOULD HAVE MADE A MAJOR STEP TOWARD ECONOMIC RECOVERY ALTHOUGH U.S.CREDITS WERE NOT IMMEDIATELY FORTHCOMING.

IN BRIEF TALKS CLOSING THE FIRST PATH OF THE CONFERENCE, BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN AND FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTER GEORGES BIDAULT PRAISED THE SPIRIT OF COOPERATION SHOWN HERE.

"THIS MEETING HAS BEEN REMARKABLE IN TWO RESPECTS," BIDAULT SAID. "IT HAS SHOWN THAT WHEN VARIOUS PEOPLES APPROACH A PROBLEM WITH GOOD WILL THEY CAN AGREE.

1947

"IT HAS BEEN REMARKABLE FOR THE EXTREME SPEED WITH WHICH FUNDAMENTAL DECISIONS HAVE BEEN REACHED. IT HAS BEEN A FINE EXAMPLE TO THE WORLD OF WHAT PEOPLE CAN DO IF THEY WANT TO."

BEVIN SAID THAT "WE CAN GO AWAY FROM PARIS UNDER THE CERTAINTY THAT THE PEOPLE OF THE WORLD WANT TO AGREE AND WILL AGREE IF THEY ARE PERMITTED TO."

SPAAK PARAPHRASED AN OLD FRENCH PROVERB: "HELP YOURSELF AND HEAVEN WILL HELP YOU."

"HELP YOURSELF AND THE U.S.WILL HELP YOU," HE SAID.

THEN, IN AN APPARENT REFERENCE TO THE RUSSIAN OBJECTION THAT ECONOMIC COOPERATION WOULD THREATEN NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTIES, HE DECLARED:

"WE HAVE OFTEN HEARD TALK OF THE SOVEREIGNTY OF STATES. EXPERIENCE SHOWS THAT THERE IS A TENDENCY TO INVOKE SOVEREIGNTY AS A CLOAK FOR AGGRESSIVE NATIONALISM OR A SELFISH ECONOMIC POLICY. WE THINK THAT SOVEREIGNTY SHOULD BE USED AS SOMETHING TO PROMOTE A CONSTRUCTIVE SPIRIT OF COOPERATION. I THINK WE CAN ESTABLISH AN ORGANIZATION FOR THE COMMON GOOD WITHOUT IT BEING CONSIDERED A MENACE OR A DISAGREEABLE ACTION."

SPAAK SAID THE MARSHALL PROPOSAL "IS PERHAPS A UNIQUE OPPORTUNITY FOR EUROPE TO PUT AN END TO POST-WAR DIFFICULTIES."

THE COOPERATION COMMITTEE WILL MEET AT 10 A.M. (4 A.M., EST) TOMORROW TO MAP A SCHEDULE FOR THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE AND SUBCOMMITTEE SESSIONS.

JUL 1947

EARLIER, A WELL INFORMED SOURCE SAID THE ORGANIZATION OF EUROPEAN RECOVERY WOULD PROCEED DESPITE INDICATIONS THAT UNITED STATES MONEY MIGHT NOT BE AVAILABLE BEFORE LATE WINTER.

BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN, CONFERENCE CHAIRMAN, HAD INTIMATED THAT THINGS WERE GOING SO WELL WITH EUROPEAN PROCEEDINGS UNDER THE MARSHALL PLAN THAT HE PROBABLY WOULD LEAVE FOR HOME TODAY.

RUSSIA AND EIGHT OTHER EASTERN COUNTRIES WERE BOYCOTTING THE CONFERENCE. IN LONDON, BRITISH OFFICIALS SAW EVIDENCE OF THE EMERGENCE

JUL 1947

30. 24- 10933

OF A "MOLOTOV PLAN," TO EMBRACE THESE NATIONS, IN RECENT EASTERN TRADE NEGOTIATIONS.

SOME MOSCOW SOURCES SAID A TRADE AGREEMENT BETWEEN RUSSIA AND ALBANIA MIGHT RESULT FROM THE VISIT OF ALBANIA'S COMMUNIST PREMIER, GEN. ENVER HOXHA, IN THE SOVIET CAPITAL. RUSSIAN FOREIGN MINISTER V.M. MOLOTOV MET HOXHA UPON HIS ARRIVAL BY PLANE YESTERDAY.

NORWAY, SWEDEN AND DENMARK WERE TAKING PART IN THE CONFERENCE, BUT SOME OBSERVERS SAID THEY WERE FEARFUL THAT IN DOING SO THEY WOULD BE SUSPECTED OF A POLITICAL RATHER THAN AN ECONOMIC INTEREST. LAST NIGHT A SCANDINAVIAN SOURCE IN PARIS, WHILE DISCOUNTING THIS SOMEWHAT, DECLARED THEY WOULD BE UNWILLING TO GIVE UP ANY EASTERN MARKETS IN FAVOR OF WESTERN EUROPEAN ECONOMIC COOPERATION.

THE SETUP DESCRIBED IN THE RULES COMMITTEE REPORT, APPROVED YESTERDAY, WOULD CONSIST OF AN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE (FIVE NATIONS); SUBCOMMITTEES ON FOOD AND AGRICULTURE (EIGHT), STEEL AND IRON (FIVE), TRANSPORT (SEVEN) AND FUEL AND POWER (NINE), AND A GENERAL SECRETARIAT.

THE SECRETARIAT WOULD BE HEADED BY CLAUDE BOUCHINET-SERREULLES OF FRANCE AND WOULD START WORK TOMORROW IN THE GRAND PALAIS, PARIS EXPOSITION BUILDING. BRITAIN AND FRANCE WOULD BE ON ALL FIVE COMMITTEES. OTHERS ON THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE WOULD BE ITALY, THE NETHERLANDS AND NORWAY.

THE INFORMANT WHO REPORTED THE ATTITUDE OF NORWAY, SWEDEN AND DENMARK SAID: "I DO NOT THINK THERE IS ANY POSSIBILITY OF GETTING THE SCANDINAVIAN COUNTRIES TO CHANGE THE BALANCE BETWEEN THE EASTERN AND WESTERN COUNTRIES IN THEIR FOREIGN TRADE.

THIS DOES NOT MEAN THAT THE THREE NATIONS ARE HEDGING IN THE CURRENT CONFERENCE, HE ADDED, BUT THAT THEY WANT BOTH A PART IN WESTERN EUROPEAN ECONOMIC PLANNING AND CONTINUED TRADE RELATIONS WITH THE EAST.

A26

HE POINTED TO SWEDEN'S AND NORWAY'S HISTORY OF HEAVY TRADE WITH FINLAND, POLAND, ROMANIA, BULGARIA AND CZECHOSLOVAKIA.

TRADITIONS OF "SEVERAL HUNDRED YEARS OF COMMERCIAL RELATIONS WITH EASTERN EUROPE," MORE THAN ANY FEAR OF RUSSIA OR ANY ALLEGED POLITICAL BLOCS, FORM THE BASIS OF THE SCANDINAVIAN ATTITUDE, THIS SOURCE SAID.

POLAND, WHICH TURNED DOWN A BRITISH-FRENCH INVITATION TO THE CONFERENCE, SAID YESTERDAY SHE DID SO PRIMARILY FOR FEAR OF RECREATING "THE DOMINATING ROLE AND SPECIFIC WEIGHT OF GERMANY" IN EUROPE.

THIS WAS BROUGHT OUT IN THE TEXT OF POLAND'S NOTE OF REFUSAL, MADE PUBLIC AT THE POLISH EMBASSY IN LONDON. IN THIS NOTE, DELIVERED JULY 9 TO BIG FOUR AMBASSADORS IN WARSAW, POLAND ALSO OBJECTED THAT THE INVITATION'S WORDING SEEMED TO EXCLUDE "IN ADVANCE ALL AMENDMENTS AND CHANGES" IN THE PROPOSED STRUCTURE FOR ECONOMIC COOPERATION.

IN A NEWS CONFERENCE, K. DUNIN-KEMPLICZ, EMBASSY PRESS ATTACHE, REMARKED, "WE WILL NOT TAKE PART IN A FAKE SHOW."

A WARSAW DISPATCH MEANWHILE SAID POLISH MINISTER PLENIPOTENTIARY WIKTOR GROSZ TOLD REPORTERS POLAND WAS DEEPLY CONCERNED OVER A U.S. DECLARATION LAST WEEK IN FAVOR OF REBUILDING GERMANY.

THIS SEEMED TO BE A REFERENCE TO A PLANNED U.S.--BRITISH CONFEGENCE IN WASHINGTON IN LATE JULY ON HOW TO RAISE THE RUHR'S COAL OUTPUT, DEEMED VITAL IN EUROPEAN RECONSTRUCTION.

BERLIN, JULY 15-(AP)-AN AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL SAID TODAY THAT GEN. LUCIUS D. CLAY'S ORDER FOR A PRESS CAMPAIGN TO INFORM GERMANS OF LARGE U.S. AND BRITISH FOOD CONTRIBUTIONS HAD MISFIRED AND THAT OCCUPATION POWERS STILL WERE BLAMED FOR LOW RATIONS

"REMARKS FREQUENTLY HEARD AT THE SURVEYS EXPRESS BLAME FOR THE FOOD SHORTAGES RATHER THAN APPRECIATION FOR THE TREMENDOUS CONTRIBUTIONS."

THE RUSSIAN MILITARY ADMINISTRATION BEGAN A CAMPAIGN IN ITS OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER, TAEGLICHE RUNDSCHAU, ABOUT FOOD PACKAGES BEING SENT TO GERMANS BY GERMAN SPECIALISTS, TECHNICIANS AND ENGINEERS WORKING IN RUSSIA. A PAGE OF PICTURES WAS TITLED "FOOD PACKAGES FROM THE SOVIET UNION ROLL TO BERLIN." THE ARTICLE ASSERTED 2,500 PARCELS HAD ARRIVED SINCE MARCH 19.

AMERICANS HAVE SENT MORE THAN 10,000,000 FOOD AND OTHER GIFT RELIEF PACKAGES TO GERMANS, PLUS TENS OF THOUSANDS OF C.A.R.E. PACKAGES, SINCE JUNE OF 1946.

DR. BROWN'S REPORT SAID THERE WAS NO ACCELERATED DETERIORATION IN THE NUTRITIONAL STATUS OF URBAN POPULATIONS DURING MAY COMMENSURATE WITH THE FOOD SHORTAGES DURING MARCH, APRIL AND MAY. HE SAID A GENERAL, SLIGHT DOWNWARD TREND RECORDED IN THE LATE WINTER AND EARLY SPRING HAD CONTINUED.

BERLIN---FIRST ADD DIRECTIVE (A120) XXX STANDARDS OF LIVING.

THE DIRECTIVE APPARENTLY WAS AN ATTEMPT TO FIT AMERICAN POLICY IN GERMANY INTO THE MARSHALL PROPOSALS FOR EUROPEAN RECOVERY.

IT DIRECTLY INSTRUCTED GEN.CLAY TO CONSULT OTHER EUROPEAN COUNTRIES AND INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS REPRESENTING THOSE COUNTRIES IN MATTERS OF GERMAN PRODUCTION AND TRADE.

"YOU (GEN.CLAY) WILL CONSULT OTHER EUROPEAN COUNTRIES AND INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS REPRESENTING SUCH COUNTRIES IN MATTERS OF GERMAN PRODUCTION AND TRADE MENTIONED ABOVE," IT SAID. "AND ENSURE THAT ENMPASIS IS GIVEN: IN THE SELECTION OF ITEMS FOR EXPORT, TO GOODS NEEDED BY EUROPEAN COUNTRIES FOR THEIR ECONOMIC RECOVERY AND REHABILITATION IN SO FAR AS THESE COUNTRIES MAY PROVIDE IN PAYMENT NEEDED IMPORTS FOR GERMANY, OR FOREIGN EXCHANGE WHICH CAN PAY FOR SUCH IMPORTS."

THE DIRECTIVE ALSO RESTATED THE U.S.STAND ON NATKALIZATION JUST BEFORE THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN GOVERNMENTS ARE SCHEDULED TO DISCUSS THE QUESTION OF SOCIALIZWION OF THE RUHR AND BOOSTING COAL OUTPUT.

"YOU WILL REFRAIN FROM INTERFERING IN THE QUSTION OF PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF ENTERPRISES IN GERMAN EXCEPT TO ENSURE THAT ANY CHOICE FOR OR AGAINST PUBLIC OWNERSHIP IS MADE FREELY THROUGH NORMAL PROCESSES OF DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT," IT SAK.

"NO MEASURE OF PUBLIC OWNERSHIP SHWL APPLY TO FOREIGN-OWNED PROPERTY UNLES ARRANGEMENTS WHICH ARESATISFACTORY TO YOUR GOVERNMENT HAVE BEEN MADE FOR THE COMPENSATION OFFOREIGN OWNERS."

TURNING TO AMERICA'S POLITICAL OBJECTIVES IN GERMANY, THE DIRECTIVE STATED: "YOUR GOVERNMENT DOES NOT WISH TO IMPOSE ITS OWN HISTORICALLY DEVELOPED FORMS OF DEMOCRACY AND SOCIAL ORGANIZATION ON GERMANY AND BELIEVES EQUALLYFIRMLY THAT NO OTHER EXTERNAL FORMS SHOULD BE IMPOSED.

"IT SEEKS THE ESTABLISHMENT IN GERMANY OF A POLITICAL ORGANIZATION WHICH IS DERIVED FROM THE PEOPLE AND SUBJECT TO THEIR CONTROL, WHICH OPERATES IN ACCORDANCE WITH DEMOCRATIC ELECTORAL PROCEDURES, AND WHICH IS DEDICATED TO UPHOLD BOTH THE BASIC CIVIL AND HUMAN RIGHTS OF THE INDVIDUAL.

"IT IS OPPOSED TO AN EXCESSIVELY CENTRALIZED GOVERNMENT WHICH THROUGH A CONCENTRATION OF POWER MAY THREATEN BOTH THE EXISTENCE OF DEMOCRACY IN GERMANY AND THE SECURITY OF GERMANY'S NEIGHBORS AND THE REST OF THE WORLD."

THE DIRECTIVE ADVOCATED THE ESTABLISHMENT THROUGHOUT GERMANY OF FEDERAL GERMAN STATES AND THE FORMATION OF A CENTRAL GERMAN GOVERNMENT WITH CAREFULLY DEFINED AND LIMITED POWERS TO FUNCTION.

AN INFORMED GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID USIWA, THE RUSSIAN TRADE AUTHORITY, OFFERED AUSTRIA 9,000 TONS OF LIQUORS AND MEDICINAL ALCOHOL FROM THE BALKANS FOR COMPLETE RIGHTS TO ALL PRODUCTION OF SEVERAL AUSTRIAN FACTORIES PRODUCING FARM AND INDUSTRIAL MACHINERY.

THE OFFER WAS DESCRIBED AS "TEMPTING" IN VIEW THAT AUSTRIA NOW HAS NO CONTROL OVER THE PRODUCTION OF THE FACTORIES PENDING A DECISION BY THE ALLIED TREATY COMMISSION ON WHETHER THEY ARE ACTUALLY GERMAN ASSETS AS CLAIMED BY THE RUSSIANS. THE GOVERNMENT, HOWEVER, WAS SAID TO HAVE TAKEN THE STAND THAT THE OFFER WAS A "BRIBE." IT MIGHT ALSO BE CONSIDERED BY THE RUSSIANS TO BE PERMANENTLY BINDING ON AUSTRIA.

BY JOHN RODERICK

PEIPING, JULY 15-(AP)-BELIEF GREW HERE TODAY THAT THE UNITED STATES, WITH TWO ALTERNATIVES FOR FUTURE RELATIONS WITH CHINA, WILL NOT UNDERTAKE ALL-OUT MILITARY SUPPORT OF CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S GOVERNMENT IN ITS DECLARED FIGHT-TO-THE-FINISH WITH CHINESE COMMUNISTS.

INSTEAD IT APPEARED AMERICAN EFFORTS WOULD CONCENTRATE ON URGING THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT TO INSTITUTE BASIC REFORMS--PARTICULARLY IN LAND RENTS AND OWNERSHIP--IN AN ATTEMPT TO GAIN WIDER SUPPORT FROM THE PEOPLE.

THE GOVERNMENT'S TOTAL MOBILIZATION ORDER--APPROVED OFFICIALLY TODAY BY THE EXECUTIVE YUAN IN NANKING--IGNORED SUCH LIBERAL STEPS, AND IT IS GENERALLY BELIEVED THE ORDER DISAPPOINTED WASHINGTON.

APPOINTMENT OF LT.GEN.ALBERT O.WEDEMEYER TO A FACT-FINDING MISSION WAS VIEWED HERE AS FURTHER INDICATION OF U.S. ABANDONMENT OF A POLICY OF "DRIFT" IN CHINA. HIGHLY-PLACED INFORMANTS LISTED THE AMERICAN ALTERNATIVES AS:

1. PULL OUT OF CHINA ENTIRELY; OR 2, ACT TO SECURE THE INDEPENDENCE, UNITY AND DEMOCRACY WHICH PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND THE BIG THREE FOREIGN MINISTERS ADVOCATED FOR CHINA LAST YEAR.

REASONS ADVANCED FOR THE BELIEF THE UNITED STATES WILL NOT GIVE GENERALISSIMO CHIANG COMPLETE MILITARY SUPPORT INCLUDED CONVICTION THAT HIS FORCES CAN NOT DEFEAT THE COMMUNISTS UNDER PRESENT METHODS OF WARFARE. OTHERS WERE THAT SUCH A COURSE WOULD BE HIGHLY UNPOPULAR IN AMERICA, AND THAT IT WOULD CREATE HOSTILITY TOWARD AMERICANS HERE.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT TROOPS, MEANWHILE, REGAINED TAIAN, ON THE TIENTSIN-PUKOW RAILROAD 33 MILES SOUTH OF TSINAN, BUT FIELD DISPATCHES ACKNOWLEDGED THE LOSS OF TWO OTHER RAILROAD TOWNS--KIAOCHOW AND KAOMI, WEST OF THE SHANTUNG PROVINCE PORT OF TSINGTAO. TOKYO, JULY 15-(AP)-A LIBERAL PARTY DIET MEMBER DECLARED TODAY THAT IF OFFICIALS WOULD FOLLOW HIS DIRECTIONS AND PAY A FEW INFORMERS, THEY COULD UNEARTH 50,000,000,000 YEN ($1,000,000,000) WORTH OF HOARDED JAPANESE ARMY GOODS RANGING FROM UNIFORMS TO ENGINES.

KOICHI SEKO, KIMONO-CLAD LITTLE LEGISLATOR WHOSE CHARGES CONCERNING HOARDING OF ARMY GOODS HAVE THROWN POLITICAL CIRCLES INTO AN UPROAR, MADE THE STATEMENT IN AN INTERVIEW. HE SAID BILLIONS OF YEN WORTH OF TEXTILES AND CLOTHING, PRECIOUS STONES AND METALS, AND INDUSTRIAL MATERIALS WERE STILL UNDER COVER IN WAREHOUSES AND OTHER HIDING PLACES THROUGHOUT JAPAN.

THE JAPANESE ARMY, HE SAID, HAD AN ESTIMATED 100,000,000,000 YEN WORTH OF MATERIALS ON HAND WHEN THE WAR ENDED. ONLY HALF OF THIS WAS TURNED INTO THE GOVERNMENT, SEKO ADDED, ASSERTING THAT THE BALANCE WAS BEING HELD BY ASSOCIATIONS AND INDIVIDUALS, AIDED BY GOVERNMENT AND POLICE OFFICIALS.

SEKO CHARGED THAT JAPANESE WERE SELLING SCRAP FROM ARMY AND NAVY WEAPONS IN THE BLACK MARKET, TO THEIR "GREAT PROFIT". HE ALSO DECLARED THAT "THIRD PARTY NATIONALS" -- CHINESE, KOREANS AND FORMOSANS -- WERE IMPLICATED IN WITHHOLDING THE GOODS.

THE DIET MEMBER SAID HE HAD TURNED OVER HIS RECORDS, INCLUDING MAPS, CHARTS AND DIAGRAMS, TO ALLIED HEADQUARTERS' CIVIL PROPERTY CUSTODIAN. HEADQUARTERS SOURCES SAID THE CHARGES WOULD BE INVESTIGATED, BUT THEY DID NOT SEEM TO PLACE TOO MUCH CREDENCE IN HIS ALLEGATIONS.

METROPOLITAN NEWSPAPERS HAVE SPECULATED THAT POLITICAL MOTIVES MIGHT UNDERLIE SEKO'S ASSERTIONS, SINCE HE IS A MEMBER OF THE MAJOR OPPOSITION PARTY.

TOKYO, JULY 15 (AP)-A LONG PERIOD OF "SUFFERING AND SACRIFICE" LIES AHEAD BEFORE JAPAN CAN "BE WELCOMED BACK INTO THE FAMILY OF NATIONS AS A WORTHY MEMBER," FOREIGN MINISTER HITOSHI ASHIDA TOLD A GROUP OF VISITING AMERICAN EDITORS TODAY.

ASHIDA WAS HOST AT A LUNCHEON FOR THE EDITORS, WHO ALSO CONFERRED WITH OCCUPATION OFFICIALS, MET LEADING JAPANESE NEWSPAPER EXECUTIVES AND TOURED NEWSPAPER PLANTS. PREMIER TETSU KATAYAMA WAS UNABLE TO ATTEND THE LUNCHEON BECAUSE OF ILLNESS.

"THOUGH THE PRESENT ECONOMIC CHAOS, THE FOOD SHORTAGE AND THE REPARATIONS RIDDLE, AS WELL AS THE QUESTION OF OUR FUTURE STATUS AS AN INDUSTRIAL, COMMERCIAL AND POLITICAL ENTITY ARE FACTORS THAT CONSTANTLY HARASS OUR MINDS, WE ARE NOT DEPRESSED, FOR WE LOOK FORWARD WITH FAITH AND HOPE," ASHIDA SAID.

THE EDITORS WILL LEAVE TOMORROW FOR A FOUR-DAY TRIP THROUGH CENTRAL HONSHU WITH LT.GEN.ROBERT L.EICHELBERGER, COMMANDER OF THE EIGHTH ARMY, ABOARD HIS SPECIAL TRAIN.

KOREA, CHINA, OKINAWA, THE PHILIPPINES AND GUAM ALSO ARE ON THE EDITORS' ITINERARY.

KURE, JAPAN, WEDNESDAY, JULY 16-(AP)-BRITISH COMMONWEALTH OCCUPATION HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED TODAY THE "GRADUAL REDUCTION OF STRENGTH" OF ITS FORCES IN JAPAN.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THE REDUCTION IS BEING CARRIED OUT FROM THE PRESENT TIME TO SEPTEMBER AND AFFECTS FORCES FROM INDIA AND NEW ZEALAND.

SUCH WITHDRAWALS INDICATE A CHANGE IN ATTITUDE. LAST FEBRUARY, INFORMED SOURCES TOLD THE ASSOCIATED PRESS THAT BRITISH OCCUPATION FORCES, THEN TOTALLING ABOUT 30,000 MEN, WERE "HERE TO STAY" DURING THE MILITARY OCCUPATION OF JAPAN. THE CURRENT PLANNED REDUCTIONS WILL TRIM THE TOTAL TO AN ESTIMATED 20,000.

THE BRITISH FORCES GARRISON A PORTION OF CENTRAL HONSHU ISLAND AND THE ISLAND OF SHIKOKU.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT SPECIFIED THERE WILL "BE NO ALTERATION IN AREAS OCCUPIED OR RESPONSIBILITIES ALLOTTED TO THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH OCCUPATION FORCES."

THE REDUCTION IN THE NEW ZEALAND FORCES APPARENTLY WILL BE ACCOMPLISHED IN GROUND UNITS AS THE ANNOUNCEMENT STATED THAT COUNTRY'S AIRFORCE DETACHMENT IN JAPAN WOULD BE MAINTAINED AT ITS PRESENT STRENGTH.

THREE DAYS AGO, RELIABLE SOURCES REPORTED AT OKAYAMA THAT 10,000 TROOPS OF THE 268TH INDIAN BRIGADE WOULD RETURN TO INDIA WITHIN THE NEXT FEW MONTHS.

THE BRITISH HAME BEEN GRADUALLY WITHDRAWING FROM JAPAN. AMONG THE FIRST TO GO WERE ENGLISH UNITS SENT TO SOUTHEAST ASIA AND SOME INDIAN UNITS.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THE BALANCE OF THE INDIAN TROOPS ARE SCHEDULED TO BE WITHDRAWN "IN VIEW OF CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGES AND CONSEQUENT REORGANIZATION OF THE INDIAN ARMED FORCES."

GUAM, JULY 15-(AP)-THE U.S. MILITARY COMMISSION TRYING 19 JAPANESE IN THE ATROCITY DEATHS OF 10 AMERICAN PRISONERS ON TRUK ATOLL REJECTED TODAY A DEFENSE PLEA FOR IMMEDIATE ACQUITTAL.

DEFENSE COUNSEL ARGUED THAT THE PROSECUTION HAD NOT PROVED ITS CHARGES. THE PROSECUTION RESTED ITS CASE AFTER ALMOST THREE WEEKS OF TESTIMONY.

AFTER DENYING THE 19 SEPARATE ACQUITTAL PLEAS, THE COURT GRANTED THE DEFENSE A WEEK'S RECESS IN WHICH TO PREPARE ITS CASE. THE TRIAL WILL BE RESUMED JULY 23.

JAPANESE DEFENSE COUNSEL YUICHIRO AKIMOTO MEANWHILE DEPARTED BY PLANE FOR TOKYO IN AN EFFORT TO LOCATE SIX WITNESSES, BUT DEFENSE ATTORNEY CMDR.MARTIN E.CARLSON, CHICAGO, TOLD THE COURT HE DOUBTED THEY COULD BE FOUND.

CARLSON, IN ASKING FOR ACQUITTALS, TOLD THE COURT THE PROSECUTION NEVER HAD IDENTIFIED THE AMERICANS IT ASSERTED WERE SLAIN IN BACTERIA, TOURNIQUET AND DYNAMITE EXPERIMENTS AND BY STABBINGS, AND THAT THE BODIES NEVER HAD BEEN FOUND. THE EVIDENCE AGAINST THE JAPANESE DEFENDANTS, HE ARGUED, WAS "INSUFFICIENT, UNSATISFACTORY AND WEAK."

DISCUSSING THE CASE OF 18 OF THE JAPANESE CHARGED WITH STABBING TWO AMERICANS, PROSECUTOR CMDR.JOSEPH REGAN, BROOKLYN, N.Y., RETORTED:

"WE PROVED THERE WERE TWO LIVE AMERICANS WHEN THE 18 ACCUSED WENT UP ON THAT HILL, AND WHEN THEY WERE THROUGH WITH THESE UNARMED VICTIMS, THERE WERE TWO DEAD BODIES."

CARLSON'S CONTENTION THAT JAPANESE HOSPITAL COMMANDER CAPT.HIROSHI IWANAMI HAD NOT BEEN SHOWN TO HAVE ANY DIRECT HAND IN THE DEATHS OF ANY OF THE AMERICANS DREW THIS REPLY:

"IF ANY CASE WERE PROVED, IT WAS THAT AGAINST IWANAMI. THERE CAN BE NO DOUBT THERE WERE CRIMES COMMITTED AGAINST 10 CAPTIVE AMERICANS IN HIS CUSTODY."

NEW DELHI, INDIA,JULY 15-(AP)-INDIA'S CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY ACCEPTED TODAY FOR CONSIDERATION A COMMITTEE REPORT PROPOSING PROVINCIAL CONSTITUTIONS MODELLED UPON STATES OF THE UNITED STATES AFTER ONE MEMBER OBJECTED BECAUSE THE CONSTITUTIONS WERE NOT PATTERNED AFTER THE RUSSIAN MODEL.

PROVINCIAL CONSTITUTION PROPOSALS PROVIDE FOR ADULT SUFFRAGE ABOVE THE AGE OF 21, A POPULARLY ELECTED GOVERNOR HOLDING OFFICE FOR A FOUR-YEAR TERM AND A UNICAMERAL OR BICAMERAL LEGISLATURE AS THE INDIVIDUAL PROVINCES MAY CHOOSE. THE GOVERNOR WOULD APPOINT MINISTERS TO HOLD OFFICE AND WOULD BE EMPOWERED IN AN EMERGENCY TO TAKE OVER ALMOST ALL LEGISLATIVE AND EXECUTIVE POWERS.

MAULANA HASRAT MOHANI, FORMERLY PROMINENT COMMUNIST LEADER AND NOW A MOSLEM LEAGUER FROM THE UNITED PROVINCES, OPPOSED THE DRAFT CONSTITUTION ON THE GROUND IT WAS NOT MODELLED AFTER THAT OF SOVIET RUSSIA.

PANDIT JAWAHARLAL NEHRU, VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT AND CONGRESS LEADER TOLD MOHANI THE "PRINCIPLES OF THE PROVINCIAL CONSTITUTION FOLLOW CLOSELY THE AMERICAN EXAMPLE. WASHINGTON,JULY 15-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES TODAY TOLD AMERICAN OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES THAT A "STABLE AND PRODUCTIVE" GERMANY IS NECESSARY TO MAKE EUROPE "ORDERLY AND PROSPEROUS."

THIS STATEMENT WAS CONTAINED IN A NEW POLICY DIRECTIVE OUTLINING BASIC AMERICAN PRINCIPLES TOWARD GERMANY. MADE PUBLIC BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT, IT SUPERSEDES THE OLD DIRECTIVE WHICH HAS BEEN IN EFFECT SINCE MAY,1945.

THE DIRECTIVE INSTRUCTS LIEUT.GEN.LUCIUS D.CLAY, AMERICAN ZONE COMMANDER, TO "EXERT EVERY EFFORT TO ACHIEVE ECONOMIC UNITY WITH OTHER ZONES" UNTIL THE ALLIES AGREE ON WAYS OF TREATING GERMANY AS AN ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL UNIT.

A113WX

JUL 1947

THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN ZONES IN GERMANY HAVE BEEN MERGED ECONOMICALLY BUT RUSSIA AND FRANCE HAVE DECLINED THUS FAR TO JOIN THEIR OCCUPATION ZONES INTO ONE OVER-ALL UNIT.

THE NEW POLICY GENERALLY CONTINUES DISARMAMENT AND DEMILITARIZATION PROVISIONS BUT PUTS EMPHASIS ON ECONOMIC MEASURES NEEDED TO REHABILITATE GERMANY.

THE STATEMENT SAID:

"THE BASIC INTEREST OF THE UNITED STATES THROUGHOUT THE WORLD IS JUST AND LASTING PEACE. SUCH A PEACE CAN BE ACHIEVED ONLY IF CONDITIONS OF PUBLIC ORDER AND PROSPERITY ARE CREATED IN EUROPE AS A WHOLE."

ASSISTANT UNITED STATES ATTORNEY WILLIAM HITZ TOLD THE JURY HE WOULD INTRODUCE WITNESSES TO PROVE EISLER SAID IN PARIS IN 1938 HE PLANNED TO GO TO THE UNITED STATES "TO SHOW THE STUPID AMERICANS HOW TO RUN THE COMMUNIST PARTY."

EISLER, REPUTED BEHIND-THE-SCENES BOSS OF AMERICAN COMMUNISTS, IN ON TRIAL BEFORE A JURY OF FIVE MEN AND SEVEN WOMEN, CHARGED WITH PASSPORT FRAUD.

HITZ SAID EISLER ENTERED THIS COUNTRY IN 1933 "UNDER A FLASE FRENCH PASSPORT," AND THAT EISLER LATER THE SAME YEAR THREATENED A CLEVELAND COMMUNIST PARTY LEADER WITH EXPULSION UNLESS HE BROUGHT PARTY MEMBERS THERE IN LINE WITH MOSCOW POLICIES.

IN ADDITION TO THE 12 REGULAR JURORS, TWO ALTERNATE MALE JURORS ALSO WERE SWORN. THIS WAS DONE, JUSTICE JAMES W. MORRIS SAID, BECAUSE "THE COURT IS OF THE OPINION THAT THIS TRIAL IS LIKELY TO BE A PROTRACTED ONE."

WASHINGTON--FIRST ADD GERMAN POLICY X X WHOLE."

THE DIRECTIVE TOLD CLAY THAT THE UNITED STATES, WHILE NOT WISHING TO IMPOSE ITS OWN "HISTORICALLY DEVELOPED FORMS OF DEMOCRACY AND SOCIAL ORGANIZATION ON GERMANY," NEVERTHELESS BELIEVES "EQUALLY FIRMLY THAT NO OTHER EXTERNAL FORMS SHOULD BE IMPOSED."

THIS IS PRESUMED TO BE AN ORDER TO CLAY TO OPPOSE ESTABLISHMENT OF A COMMUNISTIC OR SOCIALISTIC FORM OF GOVERNMENT IF FORCED ON THE GERMANS FROM THE OUTSIDE.

"YOUR GOVERNMENT BELIEVES THE ULTIMATE CONSTITUTIONAL FORM OF GERMAN POLITICAL LIFE SHOULD BE LEFT TO THE DECISION OF THE GERMAN PEOPLE MADE FREELY IN ACCORDANCE WITH DEMOCRATIC PROCESSES."

THE UNITED STATES REITERATES ITS ACCEPTANCE OF THE POTSDAM FORMULA FOR REPARATIONS BUT ADDS THAT THE PRESENT LOW LEVEL OF GERMAN INDUSTRY "SHOULD NOT PERMANENTLY LIMIT GERMANY'S INDUSTRIAL CAPACITY."

(A FORMULA FOR GERMAN PAYMENT OF REPARATIONS WAS AGREED UPON AT A POTSDAM MEETING BETWEEN PRESIDENT TRUMAN, PREMIER STALIN AND PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE OF GREAT BRITAIN.

(CLAY ANNOUNCED IN BERLIN SATURDAY THAT AT A MEETING OF AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVES WITH A BRITISH GROUP HEADED BY LT.GEN.SIR BRIAN ROBERTSON THE TWO NATIONS HAD AGREED ON A NEW LEVEL OF INDUSTRY FOR THEIR ECONOMICALLY-MERGED ZONES IN GERMANY. TERMS OF THE PACT ARE TO BE MADE PUBLIC TOMORROW. AUTHORITATIVE SOURCES IN BERLIN PREDICTED THE LEVEL WOULD BE BASED ON STEEL PRODUCTION OF ABOUT 12,000,000 TONS YEARLY.)

THE STATE DEPARTMENT ALREADY HAS ANNOUNCED THAT BRITISH AND AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVES WILL BEGIN TALKS IN WASHINGTON WITHIN 10 DAYS CONCERNING METHODS OF BOOSTING COAL PRODUCTION IN THE RUHR SECTION OF GERMANY, WHICH LIES WITHIN THE BRITISH OCCUPATION ZONE. AUTHORITIES VIEW BOOSTING OF RUHR COAL OUTPUT AS AN ESSENTIAL FOR RECOVERY, NOT ONLY IN GERMANY, BUT OTHER NATIONS OF EUROPE AS WELL.

REPRESENTATIVES OF 16 EUROPEAN NATIONS NOW ARE MEETING IN PARIS IN AN EFFORT TO WORK OUT A GENERAL PROGRAM OF REHABILITATION ALONG LINES SUGGESTED BY SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL. RUSSIA AND EASTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES WITHIN HER SPHERE DECLINED INVITATIONS TO ATTEND.

THE NEW POLICY DIRECTIVE TODAY SAID THAT "THE GERMAN PEOPLE, AFTER THE PERIOD OF REPARATIONS REMOVAL, SHOULD NOT BE DENIED THE RIGHT, CONSISTENT WITH CONTINUED DISARMAMENT, TO DEVELOP THEIR RESOURCES FOR THE PURPOSES OF ACHIEVING HIGHER STANDARDS OF LIVING."

OUTLINING THE AMERICAN VIEWPOINT TOWARD FUTURE POLITICAL DEVELOPMENTS IN GERMANY, THE DIRECTIVE PLACES THE UNITED STATES ON RECORD AS "OPPOSED TO AN EXCESSIVELY-CENTRALIZED GOVERNMENT WHICH THROUGH A CONCENTRATION OF POWER MAY THREATEN" GERMAN DEMOCRACY AND NEIGHBORING COUNTRIES.

JUL 1947

A129WX

THE DIRECTIVE SAID THE UNITED STATES BELIEVES THAT THE "MOST CONSTRUCTIVE DEVELOPMENT OF GERMAN POLITICAL LIFE" WOULD BE IN ESTABLISHMENT THROUGHOUT GERMANY OF "FEDERAL GERMAN STATES." THESE STATES WOULD FORM A CENTRAL GERMAN GOVERNMENT WITH "CAREFULLY DEFINED AND LIMITED POWERS AND FUNCTIONS."

IT ADDED THAT AMERICAN OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES SHOULD CONTINUE TO PROMOTE SELF GOVERNMENT IN GERMANY AND SHIFT RESPONSIBILITY TO GERMAN GOVERNMENT AGENCIES AS FAR AS MILITARY SECURITY WILL PERMIT.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS FAMILIAR WITH THE DOCUMENT TOLD REPORTERS IT IS THE PRODUCT OF MANY MONTHS OF INTENSIVE STUDY AND REVIEW BY THE STATE WAR AND NAVY DEPARTMENTS.

THE NEW DIRECTIVE, THEY SAID, TAKES COGNIZANCE OF THE NEW DEVELOPMENTS OF THE PAST 26 MONTHS AND INCORPORATES THE VIEWS EXPRESSED BY FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE BYRNES IN HIS SPEECH AT STUTTGART LAST YEAR AND SECRETARY MARSHALL'S STATEMENTS TOWARD GERMANY DURING THE MOSCOW CONFERENCE THIS SPRING.

THESE OFFICIALS SAID THE DIRECTIVE REPRESENTS A CODIFICATION OF POLICY DEVELOPED SINCE APRIL, 1945.

THE NEW ORDER REFLECTS UNITED STATES ACCEPTANCE OF THE NECESSITY OF DEALING WITH GERMANY IN AT LEAST TWO PARTS -- WESTERN GERMANY AND THE SOVIET ZONE -- BUT REITERATES AMERICAN DESIRE FOR UNIFICATION OF THE WHOLE COUNTRY.

JUL 1947

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 15-(AP)-U.S. DEPUTY DELEGATE HERSCHEL V.JOHNSTON WARNED TODAY THAT THE BALKAN SITUATION MIGHT "BURST INTO AN EXPLOSION ANY DAY" AND DEMANDED THAT THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL RUSH A VOTE ON THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL FOR A BALKAN BORDER COMMISSION.

"THE EVENTS OF THE PAST FEW DAYS INDICATE THAT THE SITUATION HAS WORSENED," JOHNSON DECLARED. "THE U.S. FOR THAT REASON WOULD LIKE TO URGE THE COUNCIL TO PROCEED WITH ALL POSSIBLE DISPATCH."

HE SAID NEWS REPORTS INDICATED THAT "THE SITUATION IS DEVELOPING DANGEROUSLY ALONG THE GREEK-ALBANIAN BORDER"--A SITUATION, JOHNSON ADDED, WHICH MIGHT "BURST INTO AN EXPLOSION ANY DAY."

JUL 1947

A20UN

IN APPEALING FOR A VOTE AS SOON AS POSSIBLE, JOHNSON SAID HE HOPED THE SITUATION WOULD BE CONSIDERED "URGENT" ENOUGH TO JUSTIFY CONTINUOUS MEETINGS UNTIL A DECISION IS TAKEN.

JOHNSON SPOKE AFTER FRENCH DELEGATE ALEXANDRE PARODI APPEALED TO THE COUNCIL TO "KEEP CALM" IN THE FACE OF WHAT HE CALLED "GRAVE" REPORTS COMING FROM GREECE.

HERSCHEL V.JOHNSON, U.S. DELEGATE, PROPOSED THAT THE COUNCIL SIDETRACK ALL OTHER ISSUES THIS AFTERNOON AND WORK EXCLUSIVELY ON THE BALKAN CASE UNTIL IT ARRIVED AT A DECISION.

~~JOHNSON DECLARED THAT HE WAS ACTING ON INSTRUCTIONS FROM~~ WASHINGTON WHERE TOP OFFICIALS CONSIDERED THE SITUATION "URGENT."

HE DISCLOSED THAT HE HAD PROPOSED LAST NIGHT TO DR. OSCAR LANGE OF POLAND, COUNCIL PRESIDENT, THAT THE BALKAN DISCUSSIONS, ORIGINALLY SCHEDULED FOR THIS AFTERNOON, BE MOVED UP TO THE MORNING SESSION.

HE SAID, HOWEVER, THAT HE WOULD NOT PRESS HIS DEMANDS BECAUSE SOME DELEGATES APPARENTLY WERE NOT READY TO BEGIN DISCUSSIONS THIS MORNING. HE DID NOT INDICATE WHICH DELEGATES OBJECTED.

LANGE ASSURED JOHNSON THAT ALL COUNCIL MEETINGS THIS WEEK, EXCEPT THIS MORNING'S SESSION, WOULD BE DEVOTED TO THE BALKAN QUESTION. HE SAID HE WOULD ANNOUNCE THE SCHEDULE FOR NEXT WEEK LATER.

THE COUNCIL THEN RESUMED ITS SCHEDULED DISCUSSIONS OF THE GLOBAL POLICE FORCE.

JOHNSON'S MOVE CAME AFTER THE COUNCIL RECEIVED AN URGENT APPEAL FROM THE GREEK GOVERNMENT TO EXPEDITE THE BALKAN DEBATE.

SOVIET DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER ANDREI A.GROMYKO OPENED THE DEBATE ON THE PROPOSED GLOBAL FORCE WITH A NEW DECLARATION IN FAVOR OF A SMALL FORCE.

HE DECLARED THAT ONLY A SMALL ARMED BODY WOULD BE NECESSARY TO PRESERVE PEACE IF THE U.N.SUCCEEDED IN ITS AIM TO REDUCE WORLD ARMAMENTS. IN VIEW OF THIS, HE SAID, THERE WAS NO REASON WHY HIS PLAN OF "EQUAL CONTRIBUTIONS" WOULD NOT WORK.

UNDER THE SOVIET PLAN, EACH OF THE BIG FIVE POWERS WOULD CONTRIBUTE IDENTICAL UNITS TO THE GLOBAL FORCE--MAN FOR MAN, SHIP FOR SHIP AND PLANE FOR PLANE. THE OTHER BIG FOUR POWERS FAVOR "COMPARABLE" RATHER THAN IDENTICAL CONTRIBUTIONS. THIS MEANS A POWER STRONG IN PLANES WOULD CONTRIBUTE MORE PLANES; A NATION STRONG IN GROUND FORCES WOULD CHIP IN WITH A GREATER NUMBER OF SOLDIERS THAN THE OTHER POWERS.

JOHNSON SAID THE SOVIET PLAN WAS "IMPRACTICAL."

HE SAID THE UNITED STATES COULD NOT AGREE TO BE LIMITED IN SUPPLYING ANY ONE KIND OF STRENGTH TO THE GLOBAL FORCE MERELY BECAUSE ANOTHER ONE OF THE BIG FIVE COULD NOT SUPPLY ANYTHING IN THAT CATEGORY.

HE SAID THE UNITED STATES DID NOT BELIEVE THAT THE DISCUSSIONS ON THE U.N.FORCE WERE LAYING ANY BASIS FOR DISARMAMENT AND ADDED THAT THE TWO QUESTIONS SHOULD NOT BE CONNECTED AT THIS STAGE.

NEWS OF THE EXTRAORDINARY GREEK LETTER REACHED THE DELEGATES LAST NIGHT AS THEY WERE BEING ENTERTAINED AT A COCKTAIL PARTY IN DOWNTOWN MANHATTAN BY SOVIET DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER ANDREI A.GROMYKO. DR.OSCAR LANGE OF POLAND, COUNCIL CHAIRMAN, IMMEDIATELY INITIATED A PERSONAL POLL OF DELEGATES ON CHANGING THE SCHEDULE.

DECLARING THAT HE WAS ACTING "UPON URGENT INSTRUCTIONS FROM MY GOVERNMENT," GREEK AMBASSADOR VASSILI DENDRAMIS ADVISED THE DELEGATES OFFICIALLY THAT "STRONG AND WELL ARMED HOSTILE FORCES INVADED GREEK TERRITORY FROM ALBANIA JULY 13."

HE ADDED THAT "SUBSTANTIAL FORCES INCLUDING UNITS OF AN INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE OF IRREGULARS AND COMMUNISTS" WERE CONCENTRATED ON THE BORDER ON ALBANIAN SOIL.

"LEADING PERSONS OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY OF GREECE ARE ALSO IN ALBANIA AS WELL AS IN YUGOSLAVIA FOR THE PURPOSE OF FORMING A REBEL 'GOVERNMENT' AND EVENTUALLY TRANSFERRING ITS SEAT TO THE DISTRICT AGAINST WHICH THE OFFENSIVE IS BEING LAUNCHED," THE LETTER TO THE U.N. SAID, ADDING:

"IT IS APPARENT THAT WHILE THE COUNCIL HAS BEEN DISCUSSING THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF ITS COMMISSION OF INVESTIGATION, THE CONDITIONS REPORTED BY THAT COMMISSION HAVE BECOME DRASTICALLY MORE SERIOUS. IT IS RESPECTFULLY REQUESTED OF THE MEMBERS OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL THAT THEY DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO HASTEN ACTION ON THE RESOLUTION NOW BEFORE THE SECURITY COUNCIL TO GIVE EFFECT TO THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THIS COMMISSION."

THE NOTE CONCLUDED WITH AN INDIRECT REFERENCE TO THE POSSIBILITY OF A CALL FOR FORCE WITH THIS STATEMENT: "AFTER ACTION HAS BEEN TAKEN ON THAT, THE COUNCIL CAN CONSIDER WHETHER FURTHER DECISIONS MAY BE NECESSARY IN THE LIGHT OF THE PRESENT SERIOUS DEVELOPMENT."

A18

WHILE THE GREEK LETTER SPOKE OF "THE RESOLUTION," THE COUNCIL ACTUALLY HAS BEFORE IT TWO SUCH MOTIONS.

ONE FROM THE UNITED STATES UPHOLDS THE MAJORITY REPORT OF THE COUNCIL'S BALKAN INVESTIGATING COMMISSION BLAMING BORDER DISTURBANCES ON ALBANIA, YUGOSLAVIA AND BULGARIA AND ASKS FOR CREATION OF A SEMI-PERMANENT BORDER WATCH.

A RUSSIAN RESOLUTION IS DIRECTLY OPPOSED, REJECTING THE IDEA OF A COMMISSION AND LAYING ALL THE BLAME ON THE GREEK GOVERNMENT.

ALEXANDRE PARODI OF FRANCE WAS THE NEXT SCHEDULED SPEAKER IN THE BALKAN DEBATE AND IT WAS UNDERSTOOD THAT HE WOULD ADVANCE IDEAS OF A COMPROMISE. THE UNITED STATES HAS REJECTED IN ADVANCE ANYTHING LESS THAN SETTING UP AN ON-THE-SPOT COMMISSION WITH FULL POWERS OF INVESTIGATION.

THE SECURITY COUNCIL FIRST SENT ITS INVSTIOATORS INTO THE BAL

THE SECURITY COUNCIL FIRST SENT ITS INVESTIGATORS INTO THE BALKANS LAST JANUARY AND THE COMMISSION RETURNED A REPORT IN JUNE. MEANWHILE, A SUB-COMMISSION WAS ASSIGNED TO REMAIN -- OVER VIGOROUS RUSSIAN OBJECTIONS -- UNTIL THE COUNCIL COULD ACT ON THE REPORT. THIS SUB-COMMISSION WAS REPORTED ENROUTE FROM SALONIKA TO THE SCENE OF THE FIGHTING NEAR THE ALBANIAN BORDER.

LONDON, JULY 15-(AP)-BRITAIN FACED A "DOLLAR CRISIS" TODAY AS CLAUSES OF THE YEAR-OLD U.S. LOAN AGREEMENT FORCING BRITAIN TO MAKE ALL CURRENT STERLING TRANSACTIONS AND ALL RELEASED STERLING BALANCES FREELY CONVERTIBLE INTO ANY OTHER CURRENCIES CAME INTO EFFECT.

"ANY OTHER CURRENCIES" MEANS MAINLY DOLLARS, FOR THE UNITED STATES IS THE ONLY NATION IN THE WORLD ABLE TO PRODUCE A HEAVY EXPORTABLE SURPLUS OF GOODS WHICH THE REST OF THE WORLD NEEDS, AND DOLLARS ARE NECESSARY TO BUY THEM.

THE $3,750,000,000 WHICH BRITAIN BORROWED FROM THE U.S. HAVE BEEN MORE THAN HALF USED IN THE FIRST YEAR, MAINLY TO PAY FOR IMPORTED FOOD AND TOBACCO. BOTH OFFICIAL AND UNOFFICIAL EXPERTS PREDICT THAT THE PRESENT DOLLAR STORE WILL BE GONE BY SPRING, EVEN WITHOUT THE DRAIN OF CONVERTING OTHER NATIONS' ACCOUNTS.

IN EFFECT, CONVERTIBILITY WILL MEAN THAT BRITAIN MUST WATCH HER ACCOUNTS WITH OTHER COUNTRIES JUST AS CLOSELY AS SHE MUST WATCH HER PURCHASES WITH THE REMAINDER OF HER DOLLARS.

"EVERY POUND WE SPEND IN EXCESS OF THE AMOUNT WE EARN IS LIABLE TO BE WITHDRAWN FROM THE DIMINISHING GOLD AND DOLLAR RESERVES," THE FINANCIAL TIMES SAID. "AND WITH THE WORLD CRYING FOR DOLLARS WE NEED EXPECT NO MERCY."

THE FINANCIAL TIMES SAID THE CONVERTIBILITY CLAUSE WAS ANOTHER ARGUMENT FOR THE MARSHALL AID-EUROPE PLAN.

FULFILLMENT OF THE LOAN AGREEMENT, IT SAID, "DEPENDS IN THE LAST RESORT ON THE PROVISION OF AN ADEQUATE SUPPLY OF DOLLARS TO KEEP THE TADE WHEELS MOVING.

TRADE WHEELS MOVING. MUCH DEPENDS ON MARSHALL."

JUL 1947

"IF INSUFFICIENT DOLLAR AID IS FORTHCOMING THEN FREE CONVERTIBILITY NON-DESCRIMINATION AND ALL THE DOGMA OF THE BRAVE NEW WORLD WILL GO DOWN," THE PAPER ADDED.

BRITISH OFFICIALS EARLIER EXPRESSED OPTIMISM OVER BRITAIN'S ABILITY TO KEEP AFLOAT FINANCIALLY DESPITE THE NEW DRAIN ON HER DOLLARS, POINTING OUT THAT BRITAIN HAD NEGOTIATED FINANCIAL AGREEMENTS WITH SEVERAL EUROPEAN AND LATIN-AMERICAN COUNTRIES, WHICH WILL HELP EASE THE BURDEN.

JUL 1947

B32 (SEG)

LATELY, HOWEVER, THERE HAS BEEN INCREASING EVIDENCE THAT HIGH GOVERNMENT FIGURES ARE VERY WORRIED ABOUT THE NATION'S CONTINUING INABILITY TO PAY ITS OWN WAY, WITH A RESULTANT INCREASE IN DEBT.

THE NEWS CHRONICLE FINANCIAL EDITOR SAW CONVERTIBILITY MAKING LITTLE DIFFERENCE IN BRITAIN'S DIFFICULT POSITION.

IF THE BURDEN IS "HEAVIER THAN EXPECTED IT MAY ADVANCE THE DATE OF OUR DOLLAR STARVATION BY A FEW WEEKS--IF IT IS LIGHTER THAN EXPECTED IT WILL NOT APPRECIABLY DELAY THE DATE," HE SAID.

BUT THE DAILY EXPRESS, WHICH CARRIED ON A BITTER CAMPAIGN AGAINST ACCEPTING THE LOAN TERMS, SAID THAT CONVERTIBILITY "WILL CONCENTRATE THE DIRE EFFECTS OF THE WORLD DOLLAR SHORTAGE UPON THE FINANCES OF THIS COUNTRY."

THIS POINT WAS SUPPORTED BY THE NEWS CHRONICLE, WHICH OBSERVED THAT THE POSSESSION OF STERLING NOW GIVES THE CREDITOR CLEAR TITLE TO DOLLARS.

JUL 1947

THE TREASURY BELIEVES MANY COUNTRIES FROM WHICH BRITAIN IMPORTS WILL ASK FOR DOLLARS BECAUSE OF THE WORLD-WIDE DOLLAR SHORTAGE.

THE UNITED STATES INSISTED UPON THE "FREE CONVERTIBILITY" OF STERLING ARISING FROM CURRENT TRANSACTIONS AS PART OF THE 1945 LOAN $3,750,000,000 LOAN AGREEMENT. THE U.S. TREASURY INSISTED ON THE CLAUSE TO INSURE THAT COUNTRIES WHICH SENT GOODS TO BRITAIN WOULD NOT BE COMPELLED TO SPEND THEIR STERLING PAYMENTS IN THE SO-CALLED STERLING AREA.

HIGH FINANCIAL SOURCES ACKNOWLEDGED TODAY THAT IF BRITAIN'S FOREIGN EXCHANGE SITUATION IS NOT EASED BY IMPLEMENTATION OF THE MARSHALL PLAN, THE SUSPENSION OF STERLING CONVERTIBILITY MIGHT HAVE TO BE CONSIDERED IN DUE COURSE AS ONE OF SEVERAL EMERGENCY MEASURES.

LONDON, JULY 15-(AP)-BRITAIN'S POUND STERLING BECAME A CONVERTIBLE CURRENCY TODAY, EXPOSING THE BRITISH TREASURY TO NEW RAIDS ON ITS FAST DISAPPEARING DOLLAR RESOURCES.

UNDER THE YEAR-OLD $3,750,000,000 BRITISH-AMERICAN LOAN PACT, BRITAIN PROMISED TO FREE, AS OF TODAY, ALL THE STERLING EARNED BY HER OVERSEAS CLIENTS OR CUSTOMERS ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD.

IN EFFECT, THIS WILL MEAN THAT MOST COUNTRIES WILL CHANGE THEIR STERLING SURPLUSES INTO DOLLARS BECAUSE THE UNITED STATES AND OTHER WESTERN HEMISPHERE DOLLAR COUNTRIES, ALMOST ALONE AMONG THE WORLD'S PRODUCERS, HAVE GOODS AND FOOD TO SELL. (more)

Greek Army Opens Full-Scale Attack On Invading Forces

300 GUERRILLAS REPORTED KILLED IN BORDER BATTLE

Main Leftist Force Withdrawing in Attempt to Join Mountain Rebels.

NEW INVASIONS FEARED

Plea to Use More Truman Doctrine Funds Indicated if Fighting Continues.

ATHENS, July 16—(AP)—Supported by planes and heavy gunfire, the Greek army launched a full-scale attack late today on approximately 2,500 guerrillas in the hills of north Ioannina, near the Albanian frontier, military sources reported.

Three hundred guerrillas were reported wiped out in one engagement. The main guerrilla force was believed withdrawing eastward in an attempt to make a junction with other leftists fighting in the Grammos mountain range.

Planes in Hot Pursuit

Military sources said the army and strafing planes were in hot pursuit, and that infantrymen were eliminating rear-guard forces left behind to cover the withdrawal.

The attack was launched following a heavy bombardment and strafing of the slopes of Mount Gamila and an area including the villages of Kato, Pedina, Elatohori, and Asprangelos where the guerrillas earlier were reported encircled.

The only serious resistance was encountered in the vicinity of Elathori and Asprangelos, approximately 19 miles from Ioannina, where 300 guerrillas were said to have been wiped out.

The guerrillas were part of a force which the government said invaded Greece from Albania and attempted to march on Ioannina, capital of Epirus and a strategic city of 20,000 near the Albanian frontier.

Earlier government reports from the fighting front indicated that 4,500 regulars—many of them airborne reinforcements—had closed the jaws of a trap on the guerrillas in the vicinity of Mount Gamila, near the village of Negradhes, where the leftists were halted yesterday.

Invaders Termed 'Foreigners'

Napoleon Zervas, minister of public order, said that statements made by prisoners asserted that two of eight battalions in the attack were "foreigners." The invaders, Zervas said, were excellently equipped with heavy machine guns and mortars.

Sources in government circles said there was a possibility Greece would request American permission to use additional Truman doctrine funds to more than double the size of the Greek army.

The government circles, expressing fear of what they said might be new invasions from the territory of Greece's Communist-dominated neighbors to the north, said that if the general situation grew much worse it might be necessary to request the American mission to sanction an increase in the army from 130,000 to 200,000 or 300,000 men.

Approximately half of $300,000,000 American aid extended to Greece under the Truman doctrine already has been earmarked tentatively for military uses.

Guard Against New Attacks

Consequently, any such increase in the army would bite sharply into the remainder, which was slated for civilian use.

Military authorities, meanwhile, said precautions were being taken to thwart any new invasion of Greek soil. They quoted intelligence reports as disclosing the existence of three guerrilla concentration centers in Yugoslavia and three in Albania, from which new offensives could be launched.

War Minister George Stratos said last night that the irregulars "cannot escape and have to give battle." He pictured the current guerrilla offensive as an "invasion" from Albania, aimed at setting up a new Communist state in northern Greece.

Top military authorities said they were particularly concerned about the possibility of a new, large-scale guerrilla operation in the Florina area, adjacent to the Yugoslav frontier.

The informants declared that a leftist operation might be launched through the classic invasion route of Monastir Gap, in an effort to take the pressure off guerrillas now fighting within Greece.

Informed sources said the unsuccessful attack last Sunday on Konitsa, six miles from the Albanian border, and the subsequent march toward Ioannia were frustrated by the army's quick recovery from the surprise assault.

A United States embassy spokesman asserted that the British and American governments were "exchanging information here, in Washington and in London" on the border fighting.

War Minister Stratos said yesterday that the United Nations Balkan inquiry sub-commission was convinced that the offensive in Epirus began in Albania, and that the sub-commission returned from the battlefront to its headquarters in Salonika.

(A British foreign office spokesman in London did not exclude the possibility of a joint Anglo-American complaint to the United Nations about the fighting. There have been unofficial suggestions that the complaint might be filed on grounds that a purported international brigade was fighting against the Greek army. The spokesman said Britain had not yet established the "existance or nonexistence" of any such brigade.)

ATHENS REPORTS TRAPPED REBELS ROUTED IN ATTACK

Declares 300 Wiped Out in One Area; Says Army Pursues Others.

Athens, July 16 (A. P.).—Greek Army troops under cover of a heavy bombardment and supqorted by strafing planes, launched a strong attack today on a large guerrilla force trapped in the hills near the Albanian border, military sources reported. Guerrilla resistance was said to hacve melted before the attack.

The informants said the only serious resistance was in an area about twenty-five miles north of Ioannina, where 300 of the rebels were wiped out.

Other guerrilla forces was reported in flight, with the army in hot pursuit. The guerrillas were believed attempting to reach the Grammos Mountain range, where other rebel forces have been fighting. Unconfirmed reports said the army had anticipated the guerrilla withdrawal and had deployed forces to counteract the move.

Army authorities said that precautions also had been taken against any new invasion on Greek soil. The authorities added that Greek intelligenc reports disclosed that there were six guerrilla concentration centers—three in Albania and three in Yugoslavia—from which new offensives could be launched. These reports said that the largest of the three in Albania was at Lescovic, and that a hospital for the guerrillas was located there.

A source close to the general staff indicated last night that the field of the payoff battle in northwestern Greece probably would be near the villages of Yeroplatanos and Vasilikon where, he said, the Army had surrounded guerrillas. Vasilikon is only four miles from the Albanian frontier.

Top military authorities said that they feared a new, large-scale, guerrilla operation in the Florina area facing the Yugoslav border.

Informants in official Government circles said that if the Greek situation grew much worse, it might be necessary to request the American mission to sanction an increase in the Greek Army from 130,000 to 300,000 men. Such a sharp increase would bite substantially into the United States aid program funds previously earmarked for civilian use.

Battle Predicted.

Meanwhile, George Stratos, Minister of War, reported the entrapment of some 2,500 anti-Government troops by three Greek brigades—4,500 men—north of the village of Negradhes, where, he said, they were halted yesterday in a drive on the Epirus capital of Ioannina, nineteen miles to the south. The irregulars, said Stratos, "cannot escape and have to give battle."

Stratos, who has pictured the current guerrilla offensive as an invasion aimed at setting up a Communist state, said that twenty prisoners had told interrogators that contingents of an "international brigade" were among the forces fighting the Army.

Vassos Tsimberados, reporter for the Athens newspaper Emros, said that a number of Greek soldiers who participated in yesterday's battle near Ioannina told him that some of the attackers wore red stars on their caps and others wore hammer and sickle arm bands, while Moslem Chamouran irregulars were uniformed in black trousers and red blouses.

Stratos added that members of a United Nations Balkan subcommission had become convinced that the offensive began in Albania. Stratos reported that the sub-commission went back to its Salonika headquarters from the battle zone yesterday, but would return to Konitsa to talk with prisoners.

Russians Deny Charge.

London, July 16 (A. P.).—A Moscow broadcast heard in London carried a Tass-distributed dispatch of the official Albanian Telegraph Agency which denied alleged "international brigade" had crossed from Albania into Greece. This dispatch attributed reports of such a force to "certain foreign news agencies and a number of foreign newspapers."

"The Albanian Telegraph Agency," it said, "refutes these assertions as absurd, fantastic and without any foundation."

PRESSED BRITAIN MAY ASK U. S. AID IN GERMANY ZONE

LONDON, July 16—(AP) Authoritative informants said today that hard-pressed Britain will ask the American taxpayer to shoulder an additional annual burden of $250,000,000 to $350,000,000 in the occupation costs of the economically-fused British-American zones of Germany.

The informants said the United States government will be told that this country, with its resources already strained to the limit, cannot meet her share of the $1,000,000,000 cost on the present 50-50 basis the next two years.

At the same time, a highly-placed government source said there was a "strong possibility" Britain will be compelled to cut her imports from the United States in December because her dollar credits will be near exhaustion.

The informant said Britain might be forced to cut imports because of the decision in Washington to delay Congressional consideration of the Marshall plan until spring.

Britain decided to continue her import program several weeks ago, he explained, on the assumption that there would be no interval between the exhaustion of the $3,750,000,000 U. S. loan and the effective date of the Marshall plan.

Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison warned Britons bluntly today that they faced another hard winter, but expressed the hope that the preliminary results of the Paris conference might "open the way to a clearer future by the autumn."

By that time, he told a news conference, he hoped agreements and arrangements made at Paris for trade expansion among European countries might operate to ease Britain's position ahead of the Marshall program.

British to Ask U. S. Aid.

London, July 16 (A. P.).—Authoritative Whitehall informants, expressing approval of the latest Washington proposals for a self-supporting Germany, said today that Britain would ask the United States to take over a greater share of the cost of feeding and running the economically fused British and American Occupation Zones.

An additional financial burden of between $250,000,000 and $350,000,000 will have to be shouldered by American taxpayers over the next two years if the United States Government agrees to take on this new commitment, it was estimated.

Although there was no formal Foreign Office comment on yesterday's Washington directive to Gen. Clay, military commander of the United States Zone of Germany, the informants said that Britain:

1. "Wholeheartedly" supported the call for German-wide elections under four-power observation, although it seemed to be more academic than practicable at present.

2. Backed the need for a politically and economically united Germany under a democratically-elected central government but doubted, too, whether this was practicable.

3. Saw any approach toward properly uniting and balancing the economy of Germany as "completely acceptable."

4. Received "gratefully" the order warning Clay to keep off the question of public ownership of Germany's basic industries, "except to ensure that any choice is made freely through the normal processes of democratic government."

Draft of British Labor Urged

Bevin May Become Economic Czar Under Plan of Union Official to Boost Production.

London, July 16 (A. P.).—Britain's Labor Government was confronted today with a controversial proposal for a peacetime draft of so-called non-productive workers to fill the man-power gaps in industry which are retarding economic recovery.

The explosive suggestion was advanced by Arthur Deakin, general secretary of the powerful Transport and General Workers Union, in a speech directly counter to long-standing union opposition to labor conscription and piece-work pay.

Deakin made the suggestion yesterday at a conference of his union in Hastings.

"There are thousands of people who ought to be put into productive industry and at once," Deakin declared, after asserting that organized labor "must of necessity expect a limited measure of direction."

Regarded as Trial Balloon.

Many observers believed that Deakin's speech was merely a trial balloon released with the approval of a cautious Government seeking the reaction of trade union members, on which its political strength is based.

The new developments lent strength to revived rumors that Ernest Bevin might give up his portfolio as Foreign Secretary to become Britain's economic czar. Bevin is a former boss of the T. G. W. U., which, with 1,300,000 members, claims to be the largest union in the world. As wartime Minister of Labor, he mobilized British workers under broad powers to draft them for vital jobs.

The coal mines still need thousands of workers and the textile mills need 75,000 more. It is estimated that 40,000 more workers are needed on the farms. But the unemployed labor pool is at its lowest level in the nation's history—272,000 out of a working population of about 20,000,000. The employed workers, however, include thousands working for entertainment enterprises, from which, the News Chronicle said, Deakin apparently believed the necessary workers should be drafted.

Britain To Get Russian Timber

London, July 16 (AP)—The Soviet Union will send Great Britain unspecified quantities of timber by the terms of a contract which has been signed in Moscow, a member of the trade delegation to the Russian capital said tonight on his return to London by plane.

Other members of the delegation, headed by Harold Wilson of the British Board of Trade, are remaining in Moscow in an attempt to sign contracts for 1,000,000 tons of Russian grain in exchange for machinery and other manufactured articles.

The delegation spokesman said the talks had made "remarkable progress" and that the group was optimistic of success.

Newspaper Probe Unit Of Britain Reports

London, July 16 (AP)—The Royal commission investigating Britain's press made public today the recomemndations it has received from the National Union of Journalists (N.U.J.)—including a law to curb newspaper monopilies and a "good conduct" body to enforce a newspaper code of ethics.

The N.U.J., by far the largest newspaper men's union in Britain and the group that first proposed the Government inquiry into newspaper ownership and practices, made its recommendations in a 20,000-word memorandum.

Expressing concern at the passing of many independent newspapers into the control of "chains," the N.U.J. said there should be a legal safeguard against overconsilodation, adding:

"There is little doubt that the status and independence of the editorial department have declined as newspapers have become more and more a stock exchange commodity."

Colony Resources Should Be Listed, Alphand Asserts

Paris, July 16 (AP)—France proposed to the European economic conference today that colonial resources of all member nations be included in drawing up the economic balance sheet in a co-ordinated reconstruction program under the Marshall plan.

Addressing the opening session of the new organization's "co-operation" or steering committee, Herve Alphand, of France, said the sixteen member nations should reckon overseas production of essential materials in compiling their needs and assets.

French sources said no opposition was expressed to this move which would encompass British colonies, France's territories in Africa, Asia and America, the Belgian Congo, Portuguese colonies in Africa and Asia, Dutch possessions, and even Denmark's Greenland.

Resources Pledged

Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, already has pledged Britain's colonial resources to continental co-operation.

Alphand's proposal was part of a more comprehensive French project on procedure which the committee is to take up for decision at its next session tomorrow. This eight-section project, in the form of a questionnaire to be submitted to participating governments, even suggested that the assistance needed to increase colonial production of fats, woods, minerals and other materials be tallied.

The questionnaire would give the committee data on difficulties due to the war such as destruction and loss of population, accomplishments by each nation for its own reconstruction, contributions which have been made or will be made to the reconstruction of other nations, reconstruction efforts projected for the next four years, a tally of the surpluses and deficits of each nation in foodstuffs and raw materials, estimated import needs and export possibilities in mechanical equipment and industrial products, estimates of the mode of balance payments, contributions each could make to other nations under such headings as credits, manpower, migration.

To Determine Needs

French officials said the purpose of the questionnaire was to determine quickly what each nation is doing for itself, what it can do for its neighbors and what it needs from the United States.

The committee will decide tomorrow which of these questions it wants answered now. When a questionnaire is finally adopted, French sources said, copies may be sent to all four occupation commanders in Germany, or the commanders may be asked to appear before the committee.

Bevin, as president of the conference, formally opened the committee's deliberations with a speech this morning. He then left for London.

An accompanying citation mentioned her "immeasurable kindness" to the men she entertained in her home-town club.

LORDS APPROVE BILL GIVING INDIA FREEDOM

LONDON, July 16 (AP)—The Indian independence bill was passed by the House of Lords tonight and sent to King George VI for royal approval—the final act that will give divided India dominions status.

Passed by the House of Commons yesterday, the bill creates two separate Indian dominions of India (Hindustan) and Pakistan (Moslem), effective Aug. 15. Prime Minister Attlee has expressed the hope the Indian princely states will join one or the other of the dominions.

Dominion status is granted to each of the two dominions until June 1948, when the British have promised to withdraw from India. Then it will be up to each dominion whether it remains in the commonwealth.

The bill—ending 200 years of British rule in India—was sped through both Houses of Parliament with virtually no opposition.

Britain May Cut Imports.

London, July 16 (A. P.).—A highly-placed Government source said today there was a "strong possibility" that Britain would be compelled to cut her imports in December if the United States delays congressional consideration of the Marshall plan until spring.

By December at the present rate of expenditure, Britain's dollar loan from America will be near exhaustion, the source said.

The British import and export programs had been set up on the assumption that there would be no interval between the exhaustion of the dollar loan and the effective date of the Marshall plan to restore Europe, he declared. The British Government expects that the Marshall plan if approved in Congress, will mean a fresh supply of dollars for Britain.

Well-informed British sources said they believed that imports of tobacco and movies would be the first to be cut if reductions are found necessary.

U. S. LABOR GROUP RECEIVED BY POPE

Vatican City, July 16 (A. P.).—Pope Pius XII today received fourteen members of the American delegation to the thirtieth International Labor Conference which ended at Geneva last Friday, and told them that the Catholic Church would always defend the worker "against any system that would deny his unalienable rights."

The Americans—representatives of the State and Labor departments and of American labor organizations—will sail from Naples tomorrow aboard the Saturnia, leaving their "chief, David A. Morse, to confer at Geneva with the labor attaches of American embassies all over Europe.

Of the task of the delegates, the Pope said that it was "vast and seemingly unending," but "one which challenges all that is noblest in the human heart."

He described as rightful the working man's "desire to be independent and secure possession of what is necessary to provide for himself and his family a way of life in keeping with his dignity and his conscience."

Any organization for improving the lot of labor, the Pope said, would be "a mechanism without soul, and hence without life and fecundity," unless its charter prescribed (1) "respect for the human person in all men . . ." (2) "acknowledgment of the solidarity of all people in forming the human family . . ." and (3) "the imperative demand on society to place the common good above personal gain, the service of each for all."

TEXT OF POPE'S TALK

ROME, July 16 (AP)—Following is the text of the Pope's address today:

You have come, gentlemen, from an important meeting of the international organization that is charged with improving the condition of the working man. No doubt you find it a vast and seemingly unending task but it is one which challenges all that is noble in the human heart. We cannot give too high praise to your aims.

History is witness to the grave concern with which the Church has always treated this question. Not that the Church has a mandate directly to regulate economic life. But the social and economic orders cannot be divorced from the moral, and it is her privilege and duty to affirm and proclaim the unchanging principles of morality.

They rise above the storm-tossed sea of social controversies as beacons whose piercing light should guide every attempt launched to bring a cure to social sores.

The honest working man does not wish to improve his position by trampling on the liberties of others, which should be as sacred to him as his own.

But deep down in his heart there is the rightful desire to be independent and secure possession of what is necessary to provide for himself and his family a way of life in keeping with his ignity and his conscience.

That is why the Church will always defend him against any system that would deny his inalienable rights, which derive not from any civil society, but from his own human personality, and would reduce him to the state of complete subjection to the bureaucratic clique holding political power.

We are sure that you, gentlemen, will agree that any organization for improving the condition of the working man will be a mechanism without soul and hence without life and fecundity, unless its chatrer proclaims and effectively prescribes first, respect for the human person in all men, no matter what their social position; secondly, acknowledgment of the solidarity of all people in forming the human family, created by the living omnipotence of God; thirdly, the imperative demand on society to place the common good above personal gain, the service of each of all.

When the spirit of man is reformed and stabilized according to these truths, the condition of the working man will be improved.

No power of the state will reform the spirit of man; that is the sacred office of religion. And the state, whose foundations rest on morality and religion, will be the surest protector and defender of the working man.

We pray God's blessings on your earnest efforts in this field; and may His choicest graces descend on you and all who are dear to you.

PONTIFF RECEIVES LABOR DELEGATION

ROME, July 16—(AP) Pope Pius XII told an American labor delegation today the Catholic church would defend the working man from any system that sought to deny his rights and subjugate him to a "bureaucratic clique holding political power."

Receiving 14 members of the delegation to the 30th international labor conference which ended in Geneva Friday, the Pope said their task was "one that challenges all that is noblest in the human heart."

"We cannot give too high praise to your aims," the Pontiff said.

"The honest working man does not wish to improve his position by trampling on the liberties of others, which should be as sacred to him as his own.

"But deep down in his heart there is the rightful desire to be independent and secure possession of what is necessary to provide for himself and his family a way of life in keeping with his dignity and his conscience.

U. S., Britain Agree On German Steel Output

BERLIN, July 16—(AP)—Tentative agreement on a new level of industry for Germany, said to include an annual steel production of about 11,000,000 tons, appeared to have been reached today by the British and American military governments.

Emerging from a conference, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. Military governor, and Lt. Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, his British counterpart, said no announcement could be made pending settlement of some details. It was learned that copies of an agreement already had been mimeographed.

The postponement followed a Washington report that the U. S. military government had been instructed to cooperate fully with working committees of the Paris economic conference and make available any information which might be required on Germany's economic potential. There was speculation here that the plans for German industry might be reviewed with regard to possible integration with the Marshall proposal.

American quarters also speculated that the French might decide to join their zone with the British and American zones in an economic merger, in which case they would have equal voice on western Germany's level of industry.

When achieved, the 11,000,000-ton production would represent about 57 per cent of Germany's 1936 steel production.

U. S. Aid Official Arrives

VIENNA, July 16 (AP)—H. G. Giblin of Dorchester, Mass. was reported to have arrived to serve as relief attaché in the United States legation. His work will be in connection with the aid program. Mr. Giblin formerly was director of the American Red Cross civilian war relief for Western Europe.

Romanian Purge

Bucharest, Romania, July 16 (AP). Purge raids by Romanian police indicated tonight the Leftist Government of Premier Petru Groza might be preparing to deal a death blow to its principal opposition as arrests of members of the National Peasant party were reported unofficially to have reached the 100 mark.

The exact number of Peasant party members arrested by Government police could not be determined, but the widespread police action, which began Monday when fourteen National Peasant leaders weer arested allegedly while trying to flee "to another country," continued today with searches and arrests.

To Escape To Turkey

A Communist newspaper said the opposition leaders arrested Monday had planned to escape to Turkey. It added that the luggage of the fourteen, who included Ion Mihalache, National Peasant vice president, and Nicholae Penescu, secretary general, contained large amounts of foreign currency, arms and ammunition when they were seized at Tamadau Airport.

Some sources said three other planes bearing opposition leaders left the country successfully before Mihalache's group was seized.

Iuliu Maniu, aged president of the National Peasants, remained under apparent arrest in a Bucharest sanitarium he entered a week ago for treatment of rheumatism.

City Outwardly Calm

Bucharest was outwardly caim as the purge of oppositionists continued, the only military guards in sight were stationed outside the sanatorium and the headquarters of the National Peasant party, which were raided and closed Monday night. The two main highways leading to the north and east from Bucharest were closed, which the Government explained by saying "a motorcycle race" was in progress.

Newsmen could find no National Peasant member who had personal information with which to refute or confirm the Government's explanation that Mihalache's group had been trying to the country. Members of the Liberal party, also oppositionists, said the story was plausible.

Escape Plan Offered

Some Liberal party members said one of the arrested National Peasants had approached them with plans for an escape from Romania, which they declined to discuss, fearing a trap.

Last month all 33 National Peasant members of the Romanian Parliament walked out of Parliament and subsequently were threatened by the Government with loss of their seats if they did not return by July 25. A majority of the 33 then voted to return, but a minority group headed by Maniu opposes returning. Oone of the majority group has been arrested.

"Sold To Foreigners"

Another theory for the arrests was that Maniu recently ordered all resistance to the Government to end on the ground that it was useless. The party members who tried to leave the country agreed, some sources said, but voiced the opinion that action outside Romanian borders might keep the opposition spirit alive.

The Communist newspaper today captioned a photograph of the arrested airport group: "Sold to foreigners."

Legal authorities said that the group was liable to prison sentences of several years "for illegally attempting to cross the frontier under a state of siege" and currency smuggling, and might also be tried for treason if found to have been carrying political documents.

HUNGARY TO ACT ON NEW VOTE LAW

Bill Provides No Restrictions on How Many Times One Person May Ballot.

BUDAPEST, July 16—(AP) A new Hungarian election law, which provides no restrictions on how many times one person may vote, was presented to a parliamentary committee today.

The bill will reach the floor of parliament next week, possibly Monday.

A Hungarian legal expert, who translated and explained the law for American correspondents, said it "will assure the victory of the Communist-dominated coalition government" which includes the now thoroughly weakened Smallholders party. He said it will "make equally certain" the defeat of opposition parties, principally the outspoken anti-Communist Szabadsag (Freedom) party led by Dezso Sulyok, who apparently is disqualfied as a candidate.

New Attack Reported

Meanwhile, Hungarian informants said Sulyok's much-molested party was attacked again tonight at two separate meetings "by persons shouting Communist slogans."

The new election law provides that elections may take place within 60 days after its enactment and sets up restrictions governing which parties may participate, who may become candidates and who may vote.

The law was written by Interior Minister Laszlo Rajk, a leading Communist, and Justice Minister Istvan Ries, a left wing social Democrat.

In referring to the law, Rajk said he had followed "the lines of the constitutions of most European countries" and explained the restrictions aimed at small opposition parties by saying "the peaceful and quiet governing of a country and healthy parliamentary procedure are only possible when functional parties do not threaten the unity of the national assembly."

Provides for Voting Abroad

In setting out voting procedure, the law specifies that any qualified voter may cast his ballot anywhere in Hungary he happens to be on election day. It provides also that qualified voters, wherever they may be living abroad, may cast their votes with their local Hungarian representatives who will forward the results to Budapest.

The law makes no provision for ascertaining whether a person votes only once and provides no penalty for voting more than once.

The proposed legislation changes the wording of the 1945 election law to provide that all persons who belonged to the now defunct party of national unity cannot be candidates for election. The previous law said that persons who resigned from the party after it became fascist could be candidates.

Under the 1945 law, Sulyok was elected to Parliament, but under the proposed law Sulyok and at least three of his followers, all members of Parliament, would be disqualified in the coming elections.

The law would disenfranchise all members of former Fascist organizations, persons who have returned "from the West" since October 31, 1945, persons who were in police custody as of June 1 of this year and persons who were in political internment camps after the liberation.

Might Disqualify

This last category, the legal expert said, might disqualify as many as 40,000 persons who have no love for Communism.

Parties of the coalition government are Communist, Social Democrat, Small Holder and Peasant. The last three are Communist-dominated.

In order for any other party to participate in the election, it must present a petition signed by 5,000 "qualified" voters in each district, which might entail as many as 50,000 signatures.

In addition, the party must obtain approval of the national election committee, whose members are representatives of the coalition government, plus a member of the Communist-dominated trade union council. Neither the Freedom party nor the opposition party headed by Father Istvan Balogh yet has this approval.

RED-HUNGARIAN PACT REPORTED

Budapest, July 16 (A. P.).—Budapest newspapers said today that a Russian-Hungarian trade pact has been signed in Moscow. The terms were not given.

Minister of Justice Istvan Ries, currently in Moscow, was quoted as reporting that the agreement was signed in "close connection with the economic agreement network which is making closer the friendship of the European peoples' democracies."

Romania-Bulgaria Accord Reported

Sofia, Bulgaria, July 16 (AP)—A joint communiqué issued tonight by participants in bilateral discussions here said al lterritorial questions existing between Romania and Bulgaria had been settled in a spirit of mutual friendship.

The delegates said that in order to facilitate the achievement of economic and trade relations between the two countries, they laid the ground work for the signing of an agreement concerning the supplying of electric power, the easing of transport between the two countries and for the construction of a bridge over the danube.

The communiqué said the conferees also "studied the preparation . . . of a treaty of collaboration, friendship and mutual aid."

The negotiations lasted two days.

Russian Pact Gains

Moscow, July 16 (AP)—A Pravda commentator, Boris Leontiev, said today that the Soviet Union was "steadfastly developing economic collaboration with all countries which have inclinations toward such."

Shedding fresh light on the U.S.S.R.'s economic plans toward countries remaining outside the proposals of Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Secretary of State, for aid to Europe, Leontiev's comment came as the Soviet press accused Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Secretary, of "hostility" toward Russia which impelled him "to indulge in the splitting of Europe" at the Paris economic conference.

Cites Czechoslovak Pact

Leontiev said the new economic and political pact with Czechoslovakia would aid "not only the growth of the peoples' economy of the U.S.S.R. and Czechoslovakia but the development of economic collaboration of European states and the strengthening of peace in Europe."

Russia was believed preparing extensive aid for Albania, whose Premier, Enver Hoxha, is now in Moscow.

[Budapest newspapers said a Russian-Hungarian trade pact had been signed in Moscow. Terms of the pact were not reported. The newspapers quoted Istvan Riesz, Hungarian Minister of Justice, who is in Moscow, as saying the agreement was closely connected with "the economic agreement network which is making closer the friendship of the European peoples' democracies."]

Tass Assails Bevin

A Tass dispatch from Paris which attacked Bevin said he had failed to isolate Russia and that countries whose population makes up more than half the population of Europe had refused to take part in the Paris conference.

Authoritative British quarters, meanwhile, reported there was now a good possibility that a British-Soviet trade agreement will be completed in the near future. Members of the British trade delegation headed by Harold Wilson, who have been here almost a month, have been engaging in nightly negotiations with Russian experts which frequently have lasted until dawn.

[London dispatches said the best diplomatic opinion there was that Russian negotiators had adopted a more lenient attitude in the talks after Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Foreign Minister, had rejected the British-French plan to formulate a plan for American aid. Presumably, the Russians were looking more strongly to Britain to fill in the gaps in Russia's trade plans.]

TASS CALLS BEVIN HOSTILE TO SOVIET

Moscow, July 16 (A. P.).—The Tass News Agency asserted today that British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin had deliberately sought to divide Europe through the agency of the Paris economic conference because of hostility toward the Soviet Union.

Bevin's policy, the agency declared, was dictated by the hope of "receiving as a reward new American credits for Britain."

"It is now apparent, however," Tass added, "that Bevin's goal—the isolation of the U. S. S. R.—has not been achieved. On the contrary, countries whose population makes up more than half of Europe refused to take part in the conference. Czecho-Slovakia's refusal to participate emphasized its failure."

Tass commented that it was apparent from developments at Paris that "the United States does not want to do business any longer with the independent nations of Europe."

Embassy To Assist Polish Aid

Warsaw, Poland, July 16 (AP)—United States Ambassador Stanton Griffis said today that all private relief activities of Americans for Poland would be co-ordinated soon by the embassy in Warsaw. He said the plan was to assure that all gifts from Americans reached their intended sources.

Chinese Finding New Curbs Heavy

Nanking, China, July 16 (AP)—China began to learn the full extent of the Government's general mobilization order today, and found that it was heavy with political and economic restrictions.

New trouble flowed along the Yellow River as UNRRA withdrew dike-repair personnel under threat of renewed civil war fighting in areas marked for a temporary truce. Chinese Communists and Government troops kept up their battle in Hopei and Shantung provinces.

Many of the mobilization order regulations, it was learned, incorporated stringent emergency measures implanted last winter in an effort to halt ever-rising inflation. Now they will be applied with the aim of strengthening the country for its announced all-out battle against the Communists.

The mobilization program, effective Friday, provides for Government control of prices of daily necessities, movement of commodities, the use of capital—including its movement within China—and other financial activities. Even stricter controls over foreign exchange than at present threaten severe punishment for black-marketing in gold and foreign currencies, particularly United States dollars.

The Government also will have the power to prohibit assemblies and stamp out propaganda which it deems likely to foment unrest. And strikes, sabotage, closing of factories and "other activities liable to disturb the social order" will be subject to Government action.

CHINESE PUTTING MARKETS IN VISE

Nanking, July 16 (A. P.).—Movement of idle capital within China will be placed under close Government supervision by the general mobilization order approved by the executive, Yuan, it was learned today. Main objective will be to prevent large-scale profiteering.

The order, which becomes effective after a State council meeting Friday, authorizes Premier Chang Chun's Cabinet to adopt emergency steps in the political, economic and military fields.

The order also provides stronger controls over foreign exchange. "Backdoor transactions" in gold and foreign currencies, particularly American dollars, will be subject to severe punishment.

Strikes, sabotage, closure of factories and "other activities liable to disturb the social order" will be subject to Government action. The order also empowers the Government to prohibit assemblies and propaganda which it may consider likely to stir unrest.

Prices of daily necessities, the movement of commodities and other financial activities also will come under Government control through the mobilization order.

Meanwhile, the overseas Chinese affairs commission ordered all newspapers and periodicals published by Chinese nationals in other countries to register with the commission. It warned that Chinese newspapers and magazines carrying "unlawful statements" or statements "harmful to China's foreign relations" will be banned in China and their publishers denied the privilege of visiting their homeland.

Colonel's Diamond Theft Sentence Cut to 8 Years

YOKOHAMA, July 16 (AP).—Lieutenant General Robert L. Eichelberger reduced today by two years the ten-year sentence imposed recently on Colonel Edward J. Murray, of Palo Alto, Calif., convicted of misappropriating $200,000 worth of diamonds while custodian of the Bank of Japan vaults.

Murray, had been sentenced to ten years at hard labor and dismissal from the service. He was ordered to forfeit his pay.

General Eichelberger, commander of the 8th Army, reduced the sentence because of Murray's combat record, headquarters said. The reduction in sentence is subject to confirmation by the Secretary of War.

INDONESIA REJECTS DUTCH COMPROMISE

Military Action May Be Result —Difference Over Cease Fire Order Is Now Issue

STANLEY SWINTON

BATAVIA, Java, Thursday, July 17 (AP)—Netherland sources predicted without reservation today that armed hostilities would break out in Java as a result of the rejection of Dutch proposals for a compromise settlement in Indonesia by Amir Sjahriffoedin, Premier of the Indonesian Republic.

In a radio address from Jogjakarta early today, Premier Sjahrifoedin declared that he had turned down yesterday the Dutch proposals for solution of the Indonesian problem "in the full knowledge of our responsibility," and that he was "awaiting the consequences of this decision, but the truth in this affair is on the Republican side."

Premier Sjahriffoedin's radio address was interpreted generally here as meaning that he had rejected all Dutch proposals for a compromise settlement, but he later telephoned his Vice Premier, Dr. M. Setiadjit, in Batavia that he rejected only one Dutch point—that which would have required all Indonesians to have ceased fire in the current border disorders.

"It would be a tragedy if this misunderstanding of what Sjahriffoedin meant bring war," Mr. Setiadjit said, adding tha the Premier would make another radio speech within a few hours clarifying his previous address.

Cease-Fire Order in Dispute

The Indonesian leader said, his deputy explained, that he rejected the one Dutch cease-fire proposal because he believed that both Dutch and Indonesian forces should have been ordered to lay down their arms, rather than the Indonesians alone.

Mr. Setiadjit said that Hubertus J. Van Mook, acting Governor General of the Netherlands Indies, refused Premier Sjahriffoedin's request that the cease-fire order be postponed twenty-four hours. Van Mook replied that the order must be issued by the Indonesians alone because, he said, all incidents along the front were caused by the Indonesians.

In his radio address, Premier Sjahriffoedin said:

"We looked for a peaceful solution to these political affairs, but we were frustrated by Dutch demands which do not seek a political solution and which also are not justified because they seek to lay all the blame on the Republican side.

"Indonesians! I declare once again the situation is critical. The Dutch attitude leaves no doubt that they want to avoid the road of peace.

"Let us be alert. We must organize all forces and powers under our command. But never forget the ways of peace.

"However, we must be prepared should the Dutch choose another way."

Complete Reversal Seen

The rejection was a complete reversal of Premier Sjahriffoedin's position as stated on high authority here earlier today.

Earlier, Premier Sjahriffoedin was reported to have approved a compromise personally in conversations yesterday with Dr. Hubertus J. van Mook, Dutch Acting Governor General, and the Netherlands Commission General.

However, the final Indonesian acceptance rested with the Republican Cabinet and Parliamentary working committee, holding emergency sessions at Jogjakarta.

Informants here said that Premier Sjahriffoedin had agreed to a Dutch-sponsored compromise plan for future police arrangements within the Republic until Jan. 1, 1949, when the United States of Indonesia would be set up under the Cheribon Agreement.

The police issue had been the last major stumbling block to a Dutch-Indonesian agreement. A reliable authority said the compromise called for an all-Indonesian republican state police to hold initial responsibility for maintaining order, with a joint Dutch-Indonesian police force stepping in whenever an emergency occurred.

India Appoints U. N. Minister

New Delhi, July 16 (A. P.).—The Indian Government today announced the appointment of Dr. P. P. Pillai as India's representative to the United Nations with the rank of Minister.

Pillai has been director of the Indian branch of the International Labor Office and was chairman of a commission sent to Asia early this year by the International Labor Organization to prepare for the forthcoming Asian regional conference of the I. L. O.

ONE KILLED, 16 INJURED IN PALESTINE VIOLENCE

JERUSALEM, July 16—(AP) At least a dozen British soldiers were wounded, some seriously, in the detonation of two road mines tonight on the outskirts of Jerusalem.

One soldier was killed and four others were wounded earlier in three road mine blasts near Petah Tikvah.

The explosions outside Jerusalem occurred almost simultaneously with a statement delivered to Jerusalem newspapers by Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, in which the resistance group "took the responsibility for acts committed this evening which were intended to relieve Natanya from the siege.

Natanya, the Palestine diamond center, and the surrounding area have been put under military rule to facilitate a search for two kidnaped British sergeants held as hostages for three condemned members of Irgun Zvai Leumi.

Sees Jews Facing New Terror

Editor Tells U. N. Palestine Inquiry That Volcano Is Beginning to Smoke Again.

Jerusalem, July 16 (A. P.).—Zalman Rubashov, Jewish labor leader and editor of the Tel Aviv Davar, testifying today before the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine, demanded the speedy transfer to the Holy Land of Jewish survivors of the Nazi terror.

"There is very little time left," he said. "This volcano on which our people have been left is beginning to smoke again."

Speaking on behalf of the 170,000 members of Histadrut, the Jewish labor federation, Rubashov also called for the establishment of a "Jewish state in our homeland," declaring that the British Government had shown "no understanding of the social needs of the Jewish worker, or the dynamic character of his efforts," and had made no effort "to bridge the gap between the standard of the Jewish and Arab worker and to promote co-operation between them."

Chief Rabbi J. H. Dushinsky and Rabbi Selig Reuben Bengis testified on behalf of Palestine's Orthodox Jews. They complained that the orthodox community had not received the same official recognition as other Jewish groups in Palestine and that the system of issuing immigration certificates through the Jewish Agency, rather than the Government, had effectively reduced the influx of Orthodox Jews. Rabbi Bengis estimated the Orthodox Jews in the Holy Land to number only about 70,000.

As the committee prepared to leave for Lebanon on Sunday to begin taking testimony in Arab countries, Jewish journalists cabled a request to Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the U. N., urging him to seek Lebanese visas for them. Such visas had been refused here on the ground that no visas to enter Lebanon could be granted to Jews.

Jewish Policeman Slain.

Meanwhile today the British authorities announced that a Jewish temporary policeman was killed by a burst of automatic gun fire from an orange grove last night while on duty at a power station near Tel Aviv. No trace of the killers was found, the announcement added.

Another announcement said that the house curfew imposed late Monday in the controlled area around Natanya, the Palestine diamond center, would be lifted from 4 P. M. to 7 P. M. today to permit the inhabitants to shop for food. Natanya and surrounding territory were placed under military rule to facilitate a search for two kidnaped British sergeants held as hostages for three condemned members of Irgun Zvai Leumi, the Jewish underground organization. The British arrested fifteen pe[illegible] for questioning in the area [illegible]day.

Montgomery in New Zealand

WELLINGTON, N. Z., July 16 (AP). — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the British Imperial General Staff, arrived here by plane today after a sixteen-day tour of Australia, during which he conferred with government officials and defense chiefs. He is scheduled to pass fifteen days in New Zealand, after which he will fly to Japan for his first meeting with General Douglas MacArthur.

U. S. WOULD DROP VETO RIGHTS IN WRITING JAP PACT

Challenges Russia, Britain and China to Forego Special Power

URGES PARLEY AUG. 19

Plan Would Put Original Treaty Drafting Into Hands of 11 Nations.

WASHINGTON, July 16—(AP) The United States challenged Russia and the other great powers today to give up their veto rights in drafting a peace treaty for Japan. It also suggested that a conference to begin work on the treaty be held here or in San Francisco beginning Aug. 19.

The proposal for the conference was announced by the State department. In addition to changing the voting procedure from that followed by the great powers in working on the German, Austrian and European satellite treaties, the American proposal would put original treaty drafting into the hands of 11 nations instead of simply the big powers.

British Question Date

In London, authoritative British sources expressed qualified approval of the U. S. proposal. It was indicated, however, that Britain might question the date for the conference because it might conflict with a British empire conference on Japanese problems, scheduled for Aug. 26 in Canberra, Australia.

Diplomatic authorities predicted that France and China would accept the American suggestions.

However, there was considerable uncertainty whether Russia would go along. Secretary of State Marshall was asked at a news conference today whether the United States would follow the proposed procedure or would allow it to be delayed indefinitely by a Soviet rejection. Marshall said he would have to wait until such a situation arose before discussing it.

4 Powers Have Veto Power

The 10 nations to which the United States made the proposal for an early start on the Japanese treaty are Britain, Russia, China, the Philippines, India, Australia, New Zealand, France, the Netherlands and Canada. These and the United States compose the far eastern commission here and are considered to be the 11 countries which made the greatest contributions in the war against Japan.

In the commission each of the "big four" of the far east—America, Britain, China and Russia—has a veto power over decisions. By inviting the nations individually and suggesting a different voting procedure, the United States is moving to get away from this veto power.

American opposition to the veto is based on official feeling here that it has been used by Russia in European treaty making to delay progress. It is contended that in drafting a Japanese treaty decisions should be reached by a simple two-thirds vote.

Today's formal announcement, which did not disclose the voting suggestion although officials privately described how they would work, discussed the desirability of having the initial treaty drafting done by more than simply the big powers.

"An eleven power conference is advocated," the announcement said, "because it would provide a broad representative basis of participation to include all of those nations with a primary interest in Japan."

The announcement then went on to describe the steps which should be taken in drafting the treaty:

"It is the view of the United States government that other states at war with Japan (states in addition to the eleven) should be given an opportunity to present their views while the treaty is being drafted, and after the draft has reached a sufficiently advanced stage it should be considered by a general conference of all the states at war with Japan."

A survey of diplomatic representatives of the powers here indicated that they were generally in favor of the American proposal for an early start on the Japanese treaty but that they were still awaiting instructions from their governments before making formal replies.

"The sooner the Japanese peace treaty is concluded, the better," M. Asaf Ali, Indian ambassador and representative of the government of India to the far east commission, said.

"It is the general desire of far east commission members that the peace conference be held as soon as possible," another allied ambassador and member of the FEC said, but declined further identification.

"Even if the peace discussions are begun immediately," he said, "it likely will be 1949 before a treaty can be completed. In the meantime the present system of control of Japan must continue."

JUL 1947

11-NATION TALKS ON TOKYO TREATY CALLED BY U. S.

Meeting Aug. 19 Proposed in Move to End Big Power Dictation

Washington, July 16 (A. P.).—The United States announced today that it has proposed an eleven-nation conference on August 19 to begin work on a Japanese peace treaty. The proposal represents a break with the peace-making methods followed in Europe, where Russia and each of the other Big Four Powers has an absolute veto.

The conference, under the American proposal, would be held either in Washington or San Francisco. Some of the invited nations might suggest alternative places or dates. No replies have been received to the proposal which was made, the State Department announced, last Friday.

American officials said that because of the availability of diplomatic representatives in Washington it probably would be simpler to arrange this initial conference here, but the American proposal was reported authoritatively to have left the way open for a meeting in San Francisco. The State Department's formal announcement said only that the United States told the other governments that "it would be pleased to be host" if they desire.

American officials, disclosing this today, said they are uncertain whether Russia will accept the proposal, which would have the effect of eliminating a Big Four or Big Five veto control over every provision going into the treaty.

The proposal which went out only a few days ago and to which no replies have been received yet would not only take treaty-making out of the hands of four nations and turn it over to eleven, but it also would establish a two-thirds voting system among the eleven so that even there no veto would be permitted.

Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith, on confidential instructions from Secretary of State Marshall, has discussed the new treaty-making plans with Foreign Minister Molotov and Molotov is understood to have indicated dislike of those provisions which would end exclusive domination of the great Powers in this field.

Molotov Weighing Bid.

However, Molotov agreed to take the matter under consideration and no Russian objection or counter-proposal has been received.

The countries invited to the August 19 parley are the members of the Far Eastern Commission set up about two years ago to make Allied policy for the Japanese occupation: Australia, Canada, China, France, India, the Netherlands, New Zealand, the Philippines, the United Kingdom, the Soviet Union and the United States.

These eleven were invited, a high State Department official said, because the American Government is determined that the Japanese peace treaty work from the outset will be carried on by the largest possible number of qualified nations.

The list includes the so-called Big Four of the Pacific war—the United States, Britain, China and Russia. It also includes nations such as Australia which, as American officials frequently point out, contributed much more to the war effort against Japan than Russia, which came in only at the last moment.

May Favor Delay.

The meeting called here is supposed to tackle only questions of peace treaty procedure—that is, creation of working committees, when and where peace conferences should be held and the like.

In a formal announcement of the conference call, the State Department said it had been proposed that deputy foreign ministers and experts participate in the initial meeting because the ministers themselves are tied down with other commitments.

The department also said it is the view of this country that nations other than the invited eleven should be given an opportunity to present their ideas during the drafting of the treaty. After the draft has reached a sufficiently advanced stage, the department suggested, it should be considered by a general conference of all nations who were at war with Japan.

The date, August 19, follows by only ten days the opening of a British Commonwealth conference on Japanese peace problems at Canberra, Australia. Some officials believe that because of this the Australians might favor a delay in the Washington conference.

Informants here said that Gen. Douglas MacArthur had been kept fully advised of plans for the Washington conference and the implication was that the proposals have his approval.

A majority of the eleven nations on the commission also have very informally indicated full agreement with American suggestions and, in fact, the only possibility of disagreement seen here lay in some protest or rejection from Moscow.

Russia May Accept.

Speculation also covered the possibility that Russia, which obviously will not like any system which denies her a veto, might accept the invitation with some reservations and fight out the issue after the conference opens.

In the case of the European peace treaties, the initial principles and the actual drafting of the treaties thus far completed have been handled by the Council of Foreign Ministers composed of the ministers of the United States, Britain, France and Russia. Any one of the four could block any or all work of the council simply by refusing to agree.

American officials beginning with former Secretary of State Byrnes have always taken the view that there is an essential difference between the European and Far Eastern settlements. They base this on Russia's own standard argument of degree of participation in the war.

BRITAIN AGREES TO EARLY ACTION ON JAP TREATY

LONDON, July 16 — (AP) Britain agreed with the United States today on "early consideration" of Japanese peace terms, but asked that a proposed preliminary treaty conference be deferred until after empire talks are held in Australia late next month.

The U. S. proposed that the 11 members of the Far Eastern commission meet in Washington Aug. 19 to discuss peace for Japan.

"While his majesty's government in the United Kingdom welcome the American proposal for the early consideration of a Japanese peace treaty, the date suggested would not be convenient in view of the fact that they have already accepted an invitation from the Australian government for a preliminary exchange of views among members of the British commonwealth to take place at Canberra on Aug 26," the foreign office announced.

The statement expressed the hope that agreement would be reached for a meeting of the commission after the Canberra meeting.

Australia, the commonwealth nation most vitally concerned with Japanese affairs, suggested the Canberra meeting some months ago for an exchange of views by Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

Although there is expected to be empire unanimity on how Japan should be dealt with under the peace treaty, authoritative sources said there was no intention of forming an "empire bloc" at that session.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin does not plan to attend the Canberra meeting, and has not yet decided whether he will attend the projected Washington session, official sources said.

RISE IN RUHR COAL OUTPUT, MARSHALL AIM

Held Essential To European Recovery—Parleys Open Next Week

Washington, July 16 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, today pictured German coal as essential to European recovery and declared the United States is anxious to see Ruhr coal production increased.

To that end, he told a news conference, British and American experts will meet the latter part of next week in conferences here.

In London, authoritative persons indicated the British may ask the United States at this meeting to assume a greater share of the burden of feeding and administering the combined British-American zones in the conquered nations.

Over $250,000,000 More

The additional cost for the American taxpayers would be between $250,000,000 and $350,000,000 over the next two years if this Government agrees to the request, it was estimated. The costs now are shared half and half, but Britain is expected to tell this country that her own strained resources will not permit her to carry this much of the load.

Marshall recently was asked whether the United States would consider it if such a request were made. He replied it would be considered but he did not say whether the American attitude would be favorable.

At today's conference, Marshall was asked whether the United States will send officials to the Paris economic conference to give a hand toward fitting Germany into the European economic program. He said the initiative is that of the Europeans and that is the way he would desire it to be.

Clay Told To Co-Operate

Other officials said that Gen. Lucius B. Clay, American commander in Germany, has been instructed to co-operate as far as necessary to help the Paris conferees in dealing with the American occupation zone. Thus the United States might lend a hand to committees by supplying facts on the German economy.

Nothing would be done, however, unless the conference sends an invitation, it was said here.

The meeting at Paris has reached the stage of committee meetings designed to lay out a working sheet covering Europe's needs and resources. It was assembled by sixteen nations at the suggestion of Marshall, who urged that Europe try to work out its own rehabilitation program.

In Line With New Policy

Marshall's concern for coal production in the Ruhr is in line with the new direction of American foreign policy toward a "stable and productive Germany." The obvious intention is to make the western zones, self-supporting and a more important factor in the rebuilding of the continent.

The new policy, outlined in a directive to Clay this week, contains instructions to restrain militarism.

MARSHALL BARES PLANNED SALE OF SHIPS TO TURKEY

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—A prospective sale of 10 passenger-cargo ships to Turkey was disclosed today by Secretary of State Marshall as part of the government's program to strengthen the Turkish armed forces against Communist pressure.

Announcing the deal Marshall said also he assumed that the American military mission in Greece was advising the Greek army on an instructional basis. The Greek army is now in combat with guerrillas.

Marshall at a news conference did not go into detail on this point but other officials noted that the recently enacted legislation authorizing $300,000,000 for bolstering Greece provided the mission could act in an "advisory capacity."

Asks Approval of Sale

The ships to be sold Turkey include two oil tankers, two victory ships and six passenger-cargo carriers not yet finally selected by a Turkish purchasing commission. Two under consideration were naval transports during the war and are deemed suitable for troop carriers.

Marshall in his announcement said he had asked the Maritime commission to approve the sale of all the vessels. They are in two lots. The navy, Marshall said, has concurred in the sale of six-government-owned passenger-cargo carriers.

He said the sale was "for the purpose of assisting in the strengthening of the Turkish transport system through replacement of some of the very old vessels now in use."

The remaining vessels are the two victory ships and the two tankers, to be disposed of as surplus under the 1946 merchant ship sales act.

Aid Funds Not Involved

Neither transaction involves use of the $100,000,000 Congress has authorized but not yet appropriated to reinforce Turkey. The Ankara government is using its own funds to buy the six passenger-cargo vessels, and has American credits to finance the purchase of the surplus craft.

Marshall said the ships sales would be the first actual transfer of material to Turkey since enactment of the legislation May 22, although arms and military supplies valued at $35,000,000 already are being shipped to Greece.

Turkey has received altogether $30,000,000 in American postwar credits. Six ships valued at $2,782,800 already have been delivered to Turkey under an earlier deal, Maritime commission officials said.

On the Greek fighting, Marshall told questioners the State department had very little information beyond that in press dispatches. The immediate function of the military mission is to determine what is needed to strengthen the Greek army, Marshall said, adding that this requires observation of the army. Guerrilla fighting, he said further, is quite different from normal warfare.

Retorts to an Interruption by Texan Who Says We Have Our Share of Aliens.

Washington, July 16 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Marshall, urging the admission of 400,000 European war refugees, was interrupted in his testimony today by the suggestion that the United States already has absorbed its share of aliens.

Marshall retorted: "That's the significance of the Statue of Liberty."

Representative Gossett (D.-Tex.) made the observation that brought the reply as Marshall, Secretary of War Patterson and Secretary of Commerce Harriman asked a House Judiciary sub-committee to approve legislation permitting the entry of displaced persons.

Marshall testified he would be willing to see Congress pass this year a measure to admit only 100,000 refugees—the proposed legislation would provide for entry of 100,000 a year for four years.

"It would be better than nothing," he said, adding that admission of a "substantial number" would partly remove a source of "conflict and friction" with Russia.

Cites American Tradition.

Marshall told the sub-committee that to accede to repeated Russian demands and forcibly return "these Allies of ours" to their prewar homes would violate both American tradition and principles adopted by the United Nations General Assembly.

But as long as they remain in Germany and until they can strike new roots elsewhere in friendly soil, the displaced persons will remain a "constant source of international friction," Marshall said.

Noting a committee suggestion that the current European economic conference in Paris consider increasing the number of displaced persons to be cared for on the Continent, Marshall said any such efforts "will certainly have our support."

"But the problem," he continued, "is of such magnitude that both we and the South American countries must also take steps to aid in its solution.

Marshall contended that the United States is in a better position to receive a substantial number of displaced persons than any other nation.

Calls on U. S. to Lead.

Patterson contended the United States should take the leadership in resettling these displaced persons. He said their admission would be an economy to the taxpayers, since the cost to the Army and contribution to the International Refugee Organization this fiscal year will total $73,000,000. He said resettlement would put their energies and skills to productive use and enable them to provide means for their own support.

Harriman said in a statement that the United States has a "moral obligation" to aid these people and "to do it now."

In another statement, the Catholic Association for International Peace said that "these people have fought or suffered for their ideals and continue to suffer. They have a right of refuge—a right that has been recognized as sacrosanct in the history and culture of the United States."

MARSHALL URGES REFUGEES' ENTRY

Asks Congress To Admit At Least 100,000 In Year

Washington, July 16 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, asked Congress today to open the doors to at least 100,000 European war refugees within the next twelve months to demonstrate that "we are not retreating behind the Atlantic Ocean."

This is necessary in part, he said, to remove a source of "conflict and friction" with Russia.

Marshall told a House judiciary subcommittee that to yield to repeated Soviet demands for the forcible return of "these allies of ours" from Germany to their prewar homes would violate both American tradition and United war homes would violate both Nations principles.

Related To Foreign Policy

On the other hand, he continued, congressional approval of a bill to admit 400,000 displaced persons to this country over a four-year period "will have an important bearing on our foreign policy."

In the face of a tentative decision to shunt the bill over to the next session, Marshall indicated his willingness to accept now a modified measure for admission of only 100,000. He said it would be "a lot better than nothing."

The subcommittee also:

1. Heard Robert P. Patterson, Secretary of War, say that resettlement of Europe's approximate 900,000 refugees would be "a significant factor in promotion of world peace."

Hits Procrastination

2. Received a statement from W. Averell Harriman, Secretary of Commerce, declaring that "the procrastination which has so far characterized our national conduct on this problem reflects little credit upon ourselves. . . ."

3. Decided to call Tom Clark, Attorney General, on Friday to answer questions on what could be done to prevent spies or persons with subversive ideologies from gaining entry among the displaced persons if and when the bill is passed. Clark already has indorsed the measure.

At one point during Marshall's testimony Representative Gossett (D., Texas) protested that the United States already has admitted a larger percentage of foreign-born persons than other countries.

"That's the significance of the Statue of Liberty," Marshall fired back.

SENATE UNIT ASKS INVESTIGATION OF 'VOICE OF AMERICA'

WASHINGTON, July 16—(AP) A $100,000 congressional investigation of the State department's "voice of America" broadcasts to foreign nations and its information programs was proposed today by the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) said the committee made this recommendation in approving house legislation giving legal authorization for the work. Congress already has provided $12,400,000 for it this fiscal year.

The recommendation was attached to the authorization bill in the form of an amendment.

Rep. Mundt (R-SD), author of the bill, said the amendment was for a study of "the whole field of education and information exchange" and is aggreable with him. The investigation would be made by five members from each house, reporting next Feb. 1.

The Mundt bill gives the information plan an authorized status. It has been provided for only by special legislation.

HENDERSON WARNS NATION IS FACING PRICE COLLAPSE

WASHINGTON, July 16—(AP) Leon Henderson, former OPA chief, said today the nation is headed for a price collapse rivalling the 1920-21 slump unless consumer buying power is jacked up, but Senator Taft (R-Ohio) flatly disagreed.

"Today, just as in 1920, prices have been permitted to get out of hand," Henderson told the joint congressional committee on the economic report. Then he predicted a tumble.

But Taft shook his head. "You've got a perfectly tremendous economy," the Republican leader said. "Everybody has more money than ever before."

Says Prices Far Ahead of Wages

Henderson appeared before the committee representing the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA).

He said prices have run far ahead of wages and this "imbalance" has cut buying power to the danger point.

Taft, continuing his long-standing dispute with Henderson over economic principles, questioned whether there has been any "real reduction" of purchasing power.

"I suggest there is no imbalance between prices and wages. x x x I suggest that on the whole wages have gone up more than prices," Taft said.

The ADA program outlined by Henderson calls, among other things, for an "orderly scaling down" of prices by about 50 per cent of the increases since June, 1946. It also recommends wage increases wherever the 15-cent-an-hour increase pattern of this year has not been put in effect.

Taft Cites Reversal of Stand

Taft commented that Henderson, when he headed OPA in 1942, said wage increases threatened the nation's economic stability.

"Now you recommend that we cure the present situation by raising wages in order to make up purchasing power," Taft said.

Henderson argued that prices were controlled then, and this required wage ceilings as well.

Taft and Henderson agreed that:

1. High prices for homes and the housing shortage should be investigated by congress. Henderson called the housing situation "one of our stinking shames."

2. Federal excise taxes—levies on such items as liquor, jewelry and luggage—should be eliminated. Taft said this can be done after income taxes have been reduced.

Henderson appeared with three other ADA members who played a part in the government's wartime stabilization program: Paul Porter, also a former price administrator; Robert M. Nathan, former deputy director of war mobilization and reconversion; and Richard V. Gilbert, one-time OPA chief economist.

Mrs. Roosevelt and Ives Target Of Federal Anti-Bias Bill Critics

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP).—Paulsen Spence, of Walden, N. Y., and Baton Rouge, La., told a Senate subcommittee today that relations between whites and Negroes were "very cordial" in Louisiana "up to the time Mrs. Roosevelt and other pseudo-uplifters took a hand in the matter."

Mr. Spence testified before a Senate Labor subcommittee in opposition to legislation to prevent racial or religious discrimination in employment.

Mr. Spence referred also to Senator Irving M. Ives, Republican, of New York, author of the bill, which is patterned after a New York law. Senator Ives apparently had seen the statement in advance and asked Mr. Spence to read a portion which said: "Senator Ives is not fooling me in his great desire to help the colored people. If Senator Ives did not know that the Southern Senators would filibuster this bill to death, I seriously doubt if he would even consider offering it."

Senator Ives broke in with "I don't think you understand me at all." He said he had been asked to head a commission to draft the New York law and added: "I didn't want to do it because I thought it would be the end of me politically."

Senator Ives said he accepted, however, and the commission drafted a bill and "in two years this law has operated in such a way that not a single individual has been haled into court."

"I'm not going to get a single vote out of this legislation, but that has nothing whatsoever to do with it. I believe in it," Senator Ives commented. "I hope there will be no filibuster, but filibuster or no filibuster, I am still for it."

Frank J. Llooney, Shreveport, La., lawyer, told the committee the bill is "ultra-unconstitutional" in that the right to hire is a "natural right" protected by the fifth and ninth amendments to the Constitution.

Two Virginians—T. Brady Saunders, president of the Miller Manufacturing Company, Richmond, and Raymond P. Long, Virginia state planning engineer, Richmond—spoke against the bill. Mr. Saunders said that "this law may work in New York but it won't in Virginia—Virginia is not yet ready for it."

Harry B. Crozier, Texas Employment Commission chairman, told Senator Ives that "New York is more cruel to the Negro in a subtle sort of fashion than the South is." "I think I understand what you mean," Senator Ives returned, "but the Negro in the North doesn't feel he is being treated cruelly."

30 HOUSE GOP ACT ON JEWS

Want Congress To Favor National Home In Palestine

Washington, July 16 (AP)—Thirty House Republicans sought today a firm new Congressional declaration for establishment of a Jewish national home in Palestine, and called on the the administration to back the idea before a special United Nations committee considering the Holy Land's future.

Representative Twyman (R., Ill.) and Javits (.N.Y.) made public the double-barrelled move at a news conference, at which they said most of the 30 will drop individual proposals into the legislative hopper tomorrow for passage of this resolution:

"That it is the sense of Congress that the United States announce its continued adherence to its Palestine policy as established by the President and the Congress and its willingness to join in the carrying out of a solution of the Palestine problem along the lines of such policy."

Based On Truman Letter

The group's interpretation of that policy was based upon a letter last fall from President Truman to the King of Saudi Arabia saying tht "a national home for the Jewish people should be established in Palestine," and upon a congressional resolution passed in 1945 which declared:

"Palestine shall be opened for free entry of Jews into that country to the maximum of its agricultural and economic potentialities, so that they may freely proceed with the upbuilding of Palestine as the Jewish National Home. . . ."

Questions Asked

Both the letter and the 1945 resolution were cited in a letter to George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, and Warren Austin, United States delegate to the United Nations, in which the 30 lawmakers asked these questions:

1. "Is it the intention of our Government that the United States representative at the United Nations appear before the special committee?

2. "Assuming that our representative is to appear before the special committee, will he announce at that time (A) the continued adherence of the United States to the policy set forth above, and (B) the willingness of the United States to join in the carrying out of a solution of the Palestine problem along the lines of such policy?"

The Congressmen asked that the administration inform them of its intentions "in order that the Congress can c ontribute to an expeditious, equitable and humane solution of this distressing Palestine problem."

Passage Seems Doubtful

In the congressional drive adjournment by the end of next week, chances of the resolution's passage by both the House and the Senate appeared doubtful.

In addition to Javits and Twyman, those who signed the letter, all Republicans, are:

Woodruff (Mich.), Herter (Mass.), Seely-Brown (Conn.), Muhlenberg (Pa.), Mitchell (Ind.), Keating (N.Y.), Lodge (Conn.), Judd (Minn.), Coffin (Mich.), J. Caleb Boggs (Del.), Morton (Ky.), Meade (Ky.), Foote (Conn.), Fulton (Pa.), Brophy (Wis.), Crow (Pa.), St. George (N.Y.), Riehlman (N.Y.), Bender (Ohio), Ralph Gwinn (N.Y.), Stratton (Ill.), Donald Jackson (Cal.), Youngblood (Mich.), Mackinnon (Minn.), Tollefson (Wash.), Margaret Smith (Maine), Edwin A. Hall (N.Y.) and Wadsworth (N.Y.).

Stabilized Money Seen Vital to Europe

Washington, July 16 (A. P.).—Senator Elbert D. Thomas (D.-Utah), just returned from Europe, said today that "there can be no economic stabilization in Europe until there is some kind of money stabilization."

He was a delegate to the Geneva meeting of the International Labor Organization.

U.S. Eases Up on Purchases Of Food For Shipment Abroad

WASHINGTON, July 16—(AP)—The government eased up today on some of its food procurement program for shortage areas abroad to lessen pressure on domestic prices.

It withdrew temporarily from the wheat market and announced that meat exports during the July-September quarter will be reduced about 89 per cent from the previous quarter.

It announced also that it will stop buying eggs July 23 for the purpose of supporting producer prices.

No Change in Policy

Agriculture department officials said these actions should not be interpreted, however, as indicating a change of policy of sharing this country's supplies with shortage areas to prevent hunger.

They said the decision to stop, for the time being, the purchase of wheat was prompted by the fact that grain prices have advanced rather sharply during the last few days.

They indicated a belief that if the government stood on the sidelines for a few days, the grain price advance might be halted.

They did not disguise their belief the recent spurt in wheat prices was caused by earlier indications of a possibly short corn crop and speculative activity in the grain markets inspired by that possibility.

They hope that an official forecast on corn to be released by the Agriculture Department next Tuesday will show considerable improvement in corn prospects and a downturn in prices of both corn and wheat.

Would Re-Enter Market

In that event, the government would re-enter the wheat market. But whether prices go up or down, the government still plans to export about as much grain from this year's crop as it sent abroad from last year's, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, at a news conference Monday, made this plan.

Foreign shortage areas have asked for a third more grain for the year ahead than world export supplies will permit. Any reduction in American exports below last year's level would result, officials said is undue suffering and starvation abroad.

American wheat prices, despite recent advances, are considerably below those being asked by Argentina, one of the world's four major wheat exporting countries. All shortage areas would prefer, of course, to get their grain in this country even on the basis of present prices.

BRITAIN ADDS TO DEFICIT HERE

Washington, July 16 (A. P.).—Britain has withdrawn another $100,000,000 of the $3,750,000 advanced to her credit by this country just one year ago, Treasury records showed today.

The latest withdrawal came just before the July 15 deadline for payment of current trade debts to nations demanding dollars instead of pounds.

Although the United States granted Britain a two-month extension of time for making dollars available to fourteen nations under this plan, there still is a prospect of some drain on Britain's store of dollars from other countries.

The new withdrawal brought total funds used to $2,300,000,000 and left Britain only $1,450,000,000 to go. Officials on both sides of the Atlantic now expect this money to be exhausted by next spring.

The heavy use of the loan funds, originally expected to last Britain at least three years, also is pushing United States budget expenditures beyond original estimates, and in the first two weeks of July made the budget standing a deficit of $389,733,000 as against a deficit of only $46,957,000 for the same period of last fiscal year.

11 In Anti-Fascist Group Given Terms And Fines For Contempt

Washington, July 16 (AP)—Eleven members of the joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, including Howard Fast, novelist, were sentenced to jail terms and fines today on conviction for contempt of Congress.

Five other members of the group, described by the FBI as a Communist-front organization, received suspended sentences.

Simultaneously, the Government moved ahead in its prosecution of Gerhart Eisler, 50, alleged top liaison man between the Kremlin and the United States Communist party, after Justice James W. Morris rejected a defense plea for dismissal of Eisler's trial on passport fraud charges.

The stiffest sentence in the anti-Fascist case went to Dr. Edward K. Barsky, New York surgeon and chairman of the sixteen-man executive board, who drew six months in jail and a $500 fine.

Others Get 3 Months

The other ten, including Fast, author of historical novels, were each sentenced to three months in jail and a $300 fine.

Justice Raymond B. Keech suspended sentence on five after they said they had resigned from the anti-Fascist committee and wished to "purge" themselves of the contempt charge.

The five included Herman Shumlin, New York theatrical producer; Leverett Gleason, of Chappequa, N.Y., publisher of comic books; Dr. Jesse Tolmach, physician; Mrs. Robert Weinstein and Mrs. Louise Kamsly, housewives.

Besides Fast, those sentenced to three months in jail were Dr. Jacob Auslander, physician; Dr. Lyman R. Bradley, New York University professor; Ruth Leider and Harry M. Justiz, lawyers; James Lustig and Charlotte Stern, labor-union officials; Dr. Louis Miller, physician, and Manuel Magana, business man, all of New York city, and Marjorie Chodorob, Stamford (Conn.) housewife.

All Will Appeal

All of the eleven sentenced served notice of appeal. They were released on $500 bond each.

The case grew out of the anti-Fascist committee's refusal to submit organization records to the House Committee on Un-American Activities. During the trial, the Government cited State Department, FBI, Army and Navy records to show that the group was "honeycombed with Communists" and that Dr. Barsky was a member of the United States Communist party executive committee.

In the Eisler case, defense attorneys argued in vain for a dismissal on the ground that William Hitz, Assistant United States Attorney, had "inflamed" the jury and made a fair trial impossible.

Hitz had declared in his opening statement that the German-born Eisler came to this country "to disrupt the economy of the United States and further the ends of Moscow."

Justice Morris acknowledged that he was "frankly surprised" at Hitz's statement, but overruled the defense motion after declaring:

"This court is not the proper tribunal to try the purposes and objectives of the Communist party. . . . I am greatly concerned and anxious that we not let come into this case anything that could be considered inflammatory."

Eisler himself, a dumpy, bespectacled little man, said:

"I see that as a German-European Communist, I cannot get a fair trial in the hysterical reactionary atmosphere of this country. I expected it."

Eisler is accused of lying about his Communist background and making other false statements in applying for an exit permit to Mexico in 1945.

HOOVER APPOINTED ON STUDY GROUP

Washington, July 16 (A. P.).—Speaker Martin today announced appointment of former President Herbert Hoover as a member of a special commission to study the executive branch of the Government with a view to reorganizing it. Hoover, who is slated to head the twelve-member commission to be set up under a congressional act, is one of four appointments made by Martin.

The others are James Rowe of Montana, formerly an assistant to the late President Roosevelt; Representative Clarence J. Brown, Ohio Republican, and Representative Carter Manasco, Alabama Democrat. Appointment of Manasco and Rowe was on recommendation of House Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas.

The law provides for four appointees by the Speaker, four by the president pro tem of the Senate and four by the President. Two of the appointees of the Speaker and the Senate president pro tem must come from civilian life.

The commission will study the executive branch and report to Congress next year with recommendations for changes in the interest of efficiency and elimination of overlapping functions.

AMVETS BILL IS PASSED

It Is First Ex-GI Group to Have Charter Approved by Congress

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Amvets became today the first World War II veterans organization to receive Congressional approval for a perpetual charter.

The Senate unanimously voted for a House measure incorporating Amvets and sent it to President Truman for his expected signature.

Passage came after Senators Carl A. Hatch of New Mexico, Glen H. Taylor of Idaho, Democrats, and Raymond E. Baldwin, Republican of Conecticut, withdrew objections on being assured that the Senate Judiciary Committee would give prompt consideration to other charter requests.

The American Veterans Committee, Jewish War Veterans, Catholic War Veterans and Gold Star Mothers were named in debate as organizations which had charter applications pending.

Germans May Get Loan For Cotton

Washington, July 16 (AP)—Export-Import Bank officials have worked out a tentative agreement to loan $20,000,000 to the American and British zones of Germany for financing American cotton purchases.

Formal approval of the bank's board of directors, however, is being delayed until additional information is obtained from Germany.

The tentative proposal calls for $19,000,000 to be granted by the bank and an additional $1,000,000 by American cotton exporters.

The money would go to the American Credit Supply Corporation, an agency which will be set up in the two zones to handle cotton buying and distribution.

WEDEMEYER LEAVES

Washington, July 16 (A. P.).—Lieut.-Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer and the six members of his group, which will make a fact-finding survey in China and Korea for President Truman left ttoday in a special Army plane for Nanking. Their route was by way of San Francisco, Honolulu and Guam. They are due in the Chinese capital on Tuesday. The group is expected to complete its findings early in September.

BANK DATA FOR BRAZIL

World Institution Sending Two Men There to Explain It

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—The International Bank For Reconstruction and Development said today that a two-man mission is being sent to Brazil today to "review and amplify information on economic conditions in that country "and to explain details of the bank's operations to officials of Brazil's Central Bank.

An officer of the world bank said Brazil has not applied for a loan or made any overtures to an application. The mission is in keeping with the bank's policy of sending experts to study conditions in its member countries.

The members of the mission are loan officer Marcus H. Elliott and economist Jacques Torfs.

Washington, July 16 (AP)—The Senate tonight confirmed the nomination of Willard E. Thorp as this nation's representative on the United Nations Social and Economic Council. Thorp will continue as Assistant Secretary of State.

Filipino Soldier Pay Favored

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Payment of $67,000,000 to Filipino Army personnel who served in the United States armed forces during World War II was recommended to the Senate today by its Armed Services Committee, which asked for passage of an authorization approved by the House.

ACCUSED DENIES REMOVING A-BOMB DATA FROM FILES

CHICAGO, July 16 (AP)—Ernest Wallis, 34-year-old Chicago photographer charged by the government with removing top secret records from the Los Alamos, N. M., atom bomb project, declared today he was "sure that ultimately I will be completely vindicated" and said he intended to resume his business of operating a photographic studio.

Wallis, charged with removing photographs and photograhpic negatives, said in a statement released by his attorney that he "made thousands of photographs at the direction of my superiors, but I did not take or steal any negatives from anyone or anyplace. My personal belongings in the Army and in my home have always been available for inspection and scrutiny."

He added that "the various governmental agencies, with whom I cooperated fully, know that I am not guilty of wrongfully extracting records from public files, yet I am being prosecuted for that very crime of which I am completely innocent.x x x

"The fact is that I never had in my possession any photographic negatives which had been extracted or removed from official files. If among the personal negatives which I willingly turned over at the request of the FBI, there were any which they think I should not have had, my possession of these was accidental and without any knowledge or willful intent on my part."

Wallis' bond has been set at $10,000 by U. S. Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, who continued his case to July 28.

At Pittsburgh, Alexander Von Der Luft, 23, of Mt. Lebanon, Pa., was free on similar bond after being charged with taking handwritten notes and other documents from the atom bomb projects.

U. S. Envoy Returns Home

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16 (AP)—Avra M. Warren, United States Minister to New Zealand, arrived today by Pan American Clipper from Auckland. He will leave by plane tonight for Washington, D. C.

GOVERNORS ASK NON-PARTISAN FOREIGN POLICY

Express 'Faith' in Marshall, But Avoid Specific Backing His Aid Program.

URGE MILITARY TRAINING

Propose Facilities of National Guard Be Utilized to Fullest Extent.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 16—(AP)—The Governors' conference called tonight for a non-partisan, peace-seeking foreign policy and expresed "faith and confidence" in Secretary of State Marshall.

In a generalized statement on foreign policy, the governors of 44 states avoided any specific endorsement of Marshall's European rehabilitation program.

They adopted, however, a resolution which said:

"To the Secretary of State, Hon. George C. Marshall, we express our faith and confidence and our deep appreciation for his inspiring address to the conference."

Back Universal Training

Marshall had addressed the governors Monday night urging support of proposals to extend economic aid to European countries.

Before they closed a four-day session tonight the governors approved a resolution urging universal military training in which the facilities of the national guard would be utilized "to the greatest extent possible."

The foreign policy resolution noted that American strength in the world today "is largely dependent upon the solidarity of the citizens of our sovereign states, particularly in their relations with foreign countries."

"The foreign policy of this country is intimately related to, the support of our historic liberties," the resolution said, adding:

"Therefore, the governors conference hereby asserts its conviction that the foreign policy of this country transcends in importance all partisan, personal or political considerations and should be at all times an American foreign policy, representative of the best in America and representing the United States to the nations of the world as a country that seeks peace and is united in its determination to protect the inalienable rights and privileges that our citizens now enjoy."

Written by Gov. Driscoll

The foreign poicy resolution written by Gov. Alfred J. Driscoll, New Jersey Republican, originally had contained the expression of confidence in Marshall when it was approved earlier in the day by the conference's resolution committee.

This original resolution had declared for support of "all proper efforts 'by Marshall' to secure peace and freedom throughout the world."

Because objections were raised by some of the governors that this constituted an endorsement of the Marshall plan the following paragraph wes struck out of the resolution when it finally was adopted:

"Be it further resolved that we, the governors of the states that compose our federal union, affirm our faith and confidence in the Secretary of State, Gen. George C. Marshall, and recognize the arduous character of the burdens that he now carries and accordingly declare our support for all proper efforts on his part to secure peace and freedom throughout the world, and to preserve the liberties, privileges and obligations of our way of life, and to make the same available to all the people of the world."

It was emphasized by some of the governors later that the deletion of this paragraph from the committee-approved resolution did not constitute any reflection on Marshall's policies.

But it was made clear that the governors hesitated to endorse in advance any program with which they are not fully familiar in detail.

Some immediate conjecture that that resolution was limited in its terms brought prompt denial from a partisan group of governors that it could be interpreted as "isolationist" in any way.

Questioned on this point, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, New York Republican, W. Prescott Lane, Jr., Maryland Democrat, Robert D. Blue, Iowa Republican, and Ralph E. Gates, Indiana Republican, agreed that "there wasn't an isolationist word said at the meeting."

Lane said the resolution represents "complete endorsement of our non-partisan foreign policy."

Atomic Quota System Proposed By Gromyko

Russian Urges United Nations Delegates To Discuss Special Convention For Purpose

Lake Success, N.Y., July 16 (AP). Russia called today for a third atomic convention which would set up a quota system for ladling out atomic materials to countries taking part in a world-wide control plan.

In a surprise declaration to a closed meeting of the political committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, declared that a quota system should be established by a special convention. This convention, he said, should contain the points on which nations could assume their obligations in the quota setup.

Gromyko already has proposed two conventions to the United Nations, the first would ban atomic weapons immediately. The second would establish controls for atomic energy under an international control organ.

Would Cover Whole Process

Delegates and newsmen at first interpreted Gromyko to mean the quota system should apply to distribution among the nations of ores bearing atomic materials.

Asked whether his proposal included only the mining of ores, he replied:

"No. By the quota system I meant it as a general principle which could be extended to the whole atomic process."

He thus broadened the proposition to apply, in general effect, to atomic materials from the mine ore stage to the final stage of atomic fuel ready for use.

Declaring that the question of quotas is of the "utmost importance," Gromyko said he wished the delegates to discuss it thoroughly. Frederick H. Osborn, United States representative, said, however, he would not discuss quotas at this time.

Gromyko said Russia considered some kind of measure should be adopted to protect all nations and that an appropriate way would be to establish a system of quotas in accordance with which the nations would develop their atomic energy and occupy their power place in the atomic setup.

The Russian delegate, who has differed sharply with the United States, and the majority of the atomic commission on fundamental issues such as the veto and strict inspections, said that he viewed the quotas question as one which could bring the delegates more closely together to a greater degree than they have been to the present.

Too Important For Agency

Gromyko said he was opposed to letting the agency, working on a day-to-day basis, fix the quotas. He said Russia felt this was too important for the agency and should be handled by the special convention.

Gromyko also told the delegates that Russia remained opposed to the principle of ownership of atomic mines and materials by the agency. He has contended that the agency thus would interfere with the sovereignty of nations.

The United States has proposed a single convention wrapping up atomic control in one package with ample safeguards. The commission and its committees have debated atomic control for more than a year with no agreement between Russia and the United States in prospect in the near future.

The political committee will meet again Monday.

U.N. COUNCIL SET FOR FIGHT ON AID PLAN

Economic And Social Group Expect Session To Be Crucial One

Lake Success, N.Y., July 16 (AP)—Delegates to the United Nations Economic and Social Council began assembling tonight for the Council's fifth session, which many expected to develop into a major fight between Russia and the western powers over the Marshall plan.

Preliminary discussions will begin at 11 A.M. tomorrow when the agenda committee meets to consider the 36 items which have been placed on the provisional calendar. The Council itself will hold its first meeting Saturday morning.

Tomorrow's economic discussions will begin as the Security Council resumes debate on the Balkan question in which the United States is pressing for a showdown with Russia.

Greek Border Watch Suggested

Authoritative sources said some United Nations delegations were considering the possibility of setting up a Greek border watch outside the world organization if Russia blocked action on the Balkans.

Delegates to the Economic and Social Council were generally agreed that their forthcoming session would be the most critical in United Nations history as a result of the growing economic split between Russia and the Western powers.

The Russians, headed by Prof. Alexander P. Morozov, were silent about their plans, but there appeared to be little doubt that they would carry to the Council their fight against the British-French plans to implement the Marshall program.

Another Controversial Issue

Morozov already has indicated he would raise another highly controversial issue—a Soviet proposal to outlaw international loans for military purposes. This proposal, if adopted, would strike directly at the American program of aid to Greece and Turkey.

A member of the American delegation said it was highly possible that Russia might bring up Secretary of State Marshall's program of economic aid to Europe, even though this was not on the agenda as an item for debate.

Top members of the United States delegation still were in Washington, completing plans for the session.

The British will be represented by Hector McNeil, Minister of State, but he was not expected here until Sunday or Monday. France will be represented by Pierre Mendes-France and China by Dr. P. C. Chang.

Spain Barred at Parley On Telecommunications

ATLANTIC CITY, July 16 (AP).—Spain was denied admission to the International Telecommunications Conference today by a 14-to-2 vote of a special committee. The Union of South Africa and Sweden did not vote.

The entry of Spain was sponsored by Argentina, which was joined by Portugal in voting in favor of granting the membership.

The United States, the Soviet Union and Guatemala offered a counter-proposal to deny Spain membership. They were joined by Belgium, Canada, China, France, the United Kingdom, Greece, New Zealand, the Netherlands East Indies, Uruguay, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia were rejected for admission by identical votes of 9 to 4, and the People's Republic of Outer Mongolia was admitted by an 8-to-2 vote.

All seventy-two nations in the conference will meet Friday to decide final disposition of the cases.

WITH WASHINGTON (190)

BY JACK SMITH

LONDON, JULY 16-(AP)-AUTHORITATIVE BRITISH SOURCES VOICED QUALIFIED APPROVAL TODAY OF UNITED STATES PLANS FOR AN 11-NATION CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON AUG. 19 TO BEGIN WORK ON THE JAPANESE PEACE TREATY.

A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN EMPHASIZED, HOWEVER, THAT BRITAIN HAD NOT DRAFTED ITS REPLY TO THE AMERICAN INVITATION TO PARTICIPATE.

OTHER AUTHORITATIVE INFORMANTS SAID THE GOVERNMENT COULD BE EXPECTED TO APPROVE THE AMERICAN PLAN TO BEGIN WORK SOON, TO DO THE WORK IN AN 11-NATION RATHER THAN A BIG FOUR OR BIG FIVE CONFERENCE, AND TO ELIMINATE THE BIG NATIONS' "VETO" POWERS.

THESE INFORMANTS INDICATED THAT BRITAIN MIGHT CONSIDER RAISING SOME QUESTIONS ABOUT AMERICA'S CHOICE OF TIME FOR THE CONFERENCE. WHILE EMPHASIZING THAT NO DECISION ON THIS POINT HAS BEEN TAKEN, THE INFORMANTS COMMENTED THAT A CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON AUG. 19 MIGHT CONFLICT WITH A BRITISH EMPIRE CONFERENCE ON JAPANESE PROBLEMS, SCHEDULED FOR AUG. 26 IN CANBERRA.

FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN IS KNOWN TO FAVOR EARLY CONSIDERATION OF JAPANESE PEACE PROBLEMS. HE HAS WARNED REPEATEDLY IN PUBLIC ADDRESSES THAT BRITAIN MUST NOT BECOME SO PRE-OCCUPIED WITH EUROPEAN ISSUES AS TO LOSE SIGHT OF PROBLEMS IN THE FAR EAST.

LONDON, JULY 16-(AP)-A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN DECLINED TODAY TO EXCLUDE THE POSSIBILITY OF A JOINT BRITISH-AMERICAN COMPLAINT TO THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL REGARDING FIGHTING IN GREECE.

THERE HAD BEEN UNOFFICIAL SUGGESTIONS THAT A COMPLAINT MIGHT BE FILED ON THE GROUNDS A PURPORTED INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE WAS HELPING GREEK GUERRILLAS IN THEIR FIGHT AGAINST GOVERNMENT FORCES.

OPENING A DAILY NEWS CONFERENCE, THE SPOKESMAN SAID HE HAD BEEN TOLD CONFLICTING REPORTS HAD BEEN PUBLISHED IN AMERICA AS TO WHETHER A COMPLAINT MIGHT BE FILED.

"I WOULD LIKE TO MAKE IT CLEAR," THE SPOKESMAN SAID, "THAT WE HAVE NOT ESTABLISHED THE EXISTENCE OR NON-EXISTENCE OF AN INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE, AND THEREFORE THE QUESTION OF WHAT STEPS WILL BE TAKEN IS HYPOTHETICAL."

ASKED IF HE "EXCLUDED THE POSSIBILITY OF A COMPLAINT," HE REPLIED:

"NO POSSIBILITY IS EXCLUDED."

LONDON, JULY 16-(AP)-A WELL-INFORMED ARGENTINE SOURCE S[illegible]DAY THAT SENORA EVA PERON, WIFE OF THE ARGENTINE PRESIDENT, HA[illegible]NALLY DECIDED TO OMIT A VISIT TO ENGLAND DURING HER EUROPEAN TOUR.

THE LONDON TRADES COUNCIL, REPRESENTING 650,000 LONDON TRADE UNIONISTS, ADOPTED A RESOLUTION "EMPHATICALLY PROTESTING" AGAINST A POSSIBLE VISIT OF THE ARGENTINE FIRST LADY TO THIS COUNTRY.

THE RESOLUTION CALLED UPON THE GOVERNMENT "TO TAKE SUCH STEPS AS WILL PREVENT THIS FASCIST AMBASSADRESS FROM INSULTING THE ENGLISH WORKING CLASS BY LANDING ON HER SHORES" BECAUSE SUCH A VISIT MIGHT "LEAD TO STOPPAGES OF WORK AND DISLOCATION OF INDUSTRY AT A TIME WHEN PRODUCTION IS OF VITAL IMPORTANCE."

THE ARGENTINE SOURCE SAID SENORA PERON'S DECISION AGAINST COMING TO ENGLAND WAS TAKEN BEFORE ADOPTION OF THE RESOLUTION.

ADVICES FROM HOME INDICATED THAT SENORA PERON WOULD LEAVE THERE FOR LISBON TODAY AND WOULD ARRIVE IN PARIS NEXT MONDAY. #

JUL 1947

THE DAILY HERALD, LABOR PARTY ORGAN, REPORTED THAT "THE MINISTERS CONCERNED ARE WATCHING CLOSELY THE REACTION OF THE TRADE UNIONS" TO DEAKIN'S REVOLUTIONARY PROPOSALS, AND ADDED:

"IF THERE IS AN OVERWHELMING DEMAND FROM THE TRADE UNIONS FOR 'A LIMITED POLICY' OF DIRECTION OF LABOR, THE GOVERNMENT WOULD CONSIDER TAKING SUCH ACTION."

THE GOVERNMENT AS WELL AS THE UNIONS HERETOFORE HAS BEEN OPPOSED TO PEACETIME CONSCRIPTION OF WORKERS, REPEATEDLY TAKING PUBLIC STANDS AGAINST IT--THE LAST ONLY A MONTH OR TWO AGO.

THE COUNTRY'S ECONOMIC PLIGHT, HOWEVER, HAS BEEN PICTURED BY DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER HERBERT MORRISON AS LIKELY TO REACH A CRISIS IN THE AUTUMN, AND THE DIRE THRAT OF HUNGER OBVIOUSLY MAY BE ACTIVATING A CHANGE IN LABOR'S ATTITUDE.

THE NEW DEVELOPMENTS LENT STRENGTH TO REVIVED RUMORS THAT ERNEST BEVIN MIGHT GIVE UP HIS PORTFOLIO AS FOREIGN SECRETARY TO BECOME BRITAIN'S ECONOMIC CZAR.

BEVIN IS A FORMER BOSS OF THE TGWU--WHICH, WITH 1,300,000 MEMBERS CLAIMS TO BE THE LARGEST UNION IN THE WORLD. AS WARTIME MINISTER OF LABOR HE MOBILIZED BRITISH WORKERS UNDER BROAD POWERS TO DRAFT THEM FOR WHATEVER JOBS THEY WERE NEEDED.

A32

JUL 1947

THE UNIONS TRUSTED HIM IN THAT JOB AND HE WOULD BE A LOGICAL CHOICE TO ADMINISTER A RENEWAL OF LABOR CONSCRIPTION IF IT COMES.

DURING THE WAR WORKERS ALSO WERE FROZEN IN THEIR JOBS UNDER "ESSENTIAL WORK ORDERS" WHICH NOW HAVE BEEN LARGELY REPEALED, ALTHOUGH THEY STILL APPLY TO THE COAL MINES, WHERE YOUTHFUL CONSCRIPTS ARE KNOWN AS "BEVIN BOYS."

VOLUNTARY LABOR RECRUITING IN THE MINES--WITH THE FIVE-DAY WEEK AS A LURE--BOGGED DOWN AFTER PULLING ABOUT 20,000 MEN INTO THE PITS, AND THE GOVERNMENT'S COAL TARGET OF 200,000,000 TONS FOR THE CALENDAR YEAR SEEMS IN DANGER.

PRESS REACTION TO DEAKIN'S PROPOSALS WAS VARIED. WHILE THE LABORITE DAILY HERALD TERMED THEM "STERNLY REALISTIC" AND SAID THEY SHOULD BE PROMPTLY CONSIDERED BY THE CABINET, THE CONSERVATIVE DAILY MAIL PREDICTED THEY WOULD "SPLIT THE TRADE UNION MOVEMENT."

LORD BEAVERBROOK'S DAILY EXPRESS CALLED THE SUGGESTIONS "A MARCH TOWARD INDUSTRIAL SLAVERY" AND SAID THEY "BRING TO BRITAIN THE ALIEN CONCEPTION THAT THE STATE HAS THE RIGHT TO DO WHAT IT LIKES WITH ANY OR ALL ITS CITIZENS IN TIME OF PEACE."

THE CONSERVATIVE DAILY TELEGRAPH SAID ACIDLY: "WE CAN ONLY NOTE AN ADMISSION THAT SOCIALISM WILL NOT WORK WITHOUT A REPULSIVE SYSTEM OF CONSCRIPTIN OF LABOR."

THESE SOURCES DID NOT DISCOUNT THE POSSIBILITY THAT SUCH IMPORTS WILL BE REDUCED SOON IN ORDER TO CONSERVE DOLLARS FOR FOOD IMPORTS AFTER NEXT DECEMBER.

LONDON NEWSPAPERS BANNERLINED STORIES FORECASTING IMPORT REDUCTIONS, WHICH, IF THEY MATERIALIZE, MIGHT LOWER MATERIALLY THE STANDARD OF LIVING FOR THE BRITISH PEOPLE.

THE GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID THERE WAS SOME POSSIBILITY THAT INCREASED TRADE WITH EUROPE MAY EASE BRITAIN'S POSITION BEFORE CONGRESS MEETS TO CONSIDER IMPLEMENTING SECRETARY MARSHALL'S A 1947 EUROPE PROPOSALS.

LONDON, JULY 16-(AP)-SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, SECRETARY OF THE BOARD OF TRADE, URGED BRITISH COMPOSERS TODAY TO STRESS ROYALTY COLLECTIONS IN THE "HARD CURRENCY" AREAS AS PART OF BRITAIN'S EXPORT DRIVE.

AT THE SAME TIME HE APPEALED FOR A MINIMUM ROYALTY FEE IN BRITAIN TO ENCOURAGE WIDESPREAD PUBLIC PERFORMANCES OF BRITISH COMPOSITIONS.

"WE WANT TO MAKE EASILY AVAILABLE FOR EVERYONE OUR CULTURAL PRODUCTION, AND THAT MEANS THAT WE MUST NOT, BY THE PRICE FACTOR, UNREASONABLY RESTRAIN THE REPRODUCTION OF THE WORKS FOR WHICH YOU CARRY THE RESPONSIBILITY OF DISTRIBUTION," HE TOLD A LUNCHEON OF THE PERFORMING RIGHT SOCIETY -- THE BRITISH EQUIVALENT OF A. London, July 16--(AP)--A Foreign Office spokesman declined today to exclude the possibility of joint Anglo-American complaint to the United Nations Security Council regarding fighting in Greece.

JUL 1947

There had been unofficial suggestions that a complaint might be filed on the grounds a purported international brigade was helping Greek guerrillas in their fight against government forces.

Opening a daily news conference, the spokesman said he had been told conflicting reports had been published in America as to whether a complaint might be filed.

JUL 1947

"I would like to make it clear," the spokesman said, "that we have not established the existence or non existence of an international brigade, and therefore the question of what steps will be taken is hypothetical."

Asked if he "excluded the possibility of a complaint," he replied:

"No possibility is excluded."

JUL 1947

The Foreign Office had disclosed earlier it was investigating to determine whether an international brigade actually existed. When this disclosure was made, other Whitehall informants who would not permit themselves to be identified said that if existence of the brigade was proved, a joint Anglo-American protest was possible.

The Foreign Office said last night its diplomatic reports so far neither proved nor disproved the existence of a brigade. The spokesman said no new information had been received today to alter that statement.

The inquiry has not been completed.

Vienna, [redacted] July 16-(AP)-An informed government source said today that Chancellor Leopold Figl had told the Russian command in Vienna that Soviet objections to Austria's agreement with the U.S. providing economic aid were "completely unfounded."

Lt. Gen. L. V. Kurasov protested in a letter Monday to Figl that the [redacted] agreement was "not in accordance" with the Moscow declaration of 1943 and would not be binding or legal for Russian occupation troops. He asserted that some conditions infringed seriously on Austrian independence and that Austria should receive help "with no restrictions whatever."

JUL 1947

The informant said the chancellor's reply declared the agreement was not in violation of any allied council decision because the allied council required only that a pact between Austria and one of the occupying powers be reported after the pact was signed.

JUL 1947

Kurrasov [redacted]d asserted the agreement constituted "the assumption of unlimited control over the entire Austrian economy by one occupying power."

The reply was a personal letter to the general, who is Russian high commissioner in Austria, and was sent last night, the informant said. Chancellory press officials, however, denied all knowledge of the communication, the text of which was not expected to be published before July 22.

Figl was said to have told Kurrasov that the United States, in offering the agreement, had asked for assurance that relief supplies would be distributed equitably to Austrians of every class in every part of the republic.

Figl was reported to have declared that because of conditions beyond his control, he was unable to offer these assurances and that the U.S. therefore had insisted that guarantees be inserted in the agreement giving the U.S. the right to inspect the [redacted] distribution.

The chancellor was said to have pointed out that Austria had no control over distribution of goods manufactured in Russian-Managed factories which the Russians were holding as German assets--in itself a violation of the Moscow declaration.

JUL 1947

He was said to have told Kurrasov that the American aid agreement did not threaten [redacted] Austrian sovereignty, nor its political or economic freedom.

H. G. Giblin, of 72 Alicia Rd., Dorchester, Mass., was reported to have arrived to serve as relief attache to the U.S. legation. His work will be in connection with the aid program. Giblin formerly was director of the American Red Cross civilian war relief for western Europe.

State department and U.S. army officials withheld any opinion about whether Russia would allow American reporters in Austria to observe the distribution of relief supplies as provided in the Moscow agreement.

By FREDRIK KERSTING

PARIS, JULY 16-(AP)-FRANCE PROPOSED TODAY TO THE COMMITTEE OF EUROPEAN ECONOMIC COOPERATION THAT ITS 16 MEMBER NATIONS INCLUDE OVERSEAS PRODUCTION OF ESSENTIAL MATERIALS IN COMPILING THEIR NEEDS AND ASSETS UNDER THE MARSHALL PROGRAM FOR AID TO THE CONTINENT.

THE STEP, PROPOSED BY FRENCH DELEGATE HERVE ALPHAND TO THE OPENING SESSION OF THE NEW ECONOMIC ORGANIZATION'S STEERING COMMITTEE, WOULD BRING INTO RECOVERY PLANS THE FAR-FLUNG BRITISH EMPIRE, THE VAST COLONIAL TERRITORIES OF FRANCE AND THE COLONIAL POSSESSIONS OF OTHER MEMBERS IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

THE COMMITTEE WAS ASSIGNED THE JOB OF DRAFTING EUROPE'S BALANCE SHEET BY THE FULL ECONOMIC CONFERENCE WHICH CLOSED HERE YESTERDAY. COMMITTEE MEMBERS SETTLED DOWN TO WORK IMMEDIATELY AT THE FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTRY. THEY WILL LAY DOWN A WORKING PROGRAM FOR SUB-COMMITTEES ON FUEL AND POWER, TRANSPORT, FOOD AND AGRICULTURE AND IRON AND STEEL. THE SUBCOMMITTEES WILL BE UNDER A FIVE-NATION EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

DELEGATES OF WESTERN AND SOUTHERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES APPROVED THE COMMITTEE SETUP YESTERDAY IN THE THIRD PLENARY SESSION OF A FOUR-DAY CONFERENCE. THEY WILL NOT MEET AGAIN UNTIL THE COMMITTEES ARE READY TO REPORT, PROBABLY IN LATE AUGUST OR EARLY SEPTEMBER.

BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN, WHO WAS CONFERENCE CHAIRMAN; BELGIAN PREMIER AND FOREIGN MINISTER PAUL-HENRI SPAAK AND ITALIAN FOREIGN MINISTER CARLO SFORZA LEFT FOR HOME BY AIR TODAY.

MEANWHILE HEADS OF DELEGATIONS WERE COMPLETING LISTS OF EXPERTS FOR APPROVAL BY THEIR GOVERNMENT. MANY OF THESE EXPERTS ALREADY WERE IN PARIS. OTHERS WERE DUE IN TODAY OR TOMORROW, WHEN THE SUBCOMMITTEES ARE EXPECTED TO MEET FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THE GRAND PALAIS, EXPOSITION HALL.

THE CONFERENCE HAS SET SEPT. 1 AS A TARGET DATE FOR COMPLETION OF AN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORT TO BE PRESENTED TO THE UNITED STATES AS A PRELIMINARY TO GETTING AMERICAN AID, PLEDGED BY SECRETARY OF STATE GEORGE C. MARSHALL IN A HARVARD UNIVERSITY SPEECH JUNE 5.

THERE WAS SOME SPECULATION TODAY THAT A MOVE MIGHT BE MADE TO CHANGE THE TARGET DATE IN VIEW OF MARSHALL'S STATEMENT IN SALT LAKE CITY TUESDAY THAT HIS PROGRAM WOULD NOT GO BEFORE CONGRESS BEFORE JANUARY.

BUT DR. HANS M. HIRSCHFELD, DUTCH MEMBER OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE SAID THAT IF POSTPONEMENT OF THE TARGET DATE WAS PROPOSED, BELGIUM, THE NETHERLANDS AND LUXEMBOURG WOULD OPPOSE IT.

HE SAID THAT IN COMMITTEE HE WOULD URGE THAT THERE BE NO EXTENDED DISCUSSION OF TERMS OF REFERENCE BUT THAT "EVERYONE PUT HIS CARDS ON THE TABLE." DR. HIRSCHFELD DECLARED THAT TWO WEEKS SHOULD TELL WHETHER OR NOT THE WORK WAS GOING TO SUCCEED. HE SAID PARTICIPATING NATIONS MUST BE READY TO MAKE SACRIFICES.

"SHOULD ALL THE COUNTRIES STICK TO THEIR OWN NATIONAL ECONOMIC PLANS," HE SAID, "EUROPE WOULD BECOME A MESS SUCH AS WE NEVER SAW BEFORE."

THE SOVIET UNION AND EIGHT OTHER EASTERN NATIONS ARE NOT PARTICIPATING IN THE REHABILITATION PROGRAM. THE OTHERS ARE ALBANIA, BULGARIA, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, FINLAND, HUNGARY, POLAND, ROMANIA AND YUGOSLAVIA.

THE COUNTRIES TAKING PART ARE AUSTRIA, BELGIUM, DENMARK, GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE, GREECE, ICELAND, EIRE, ITALY, LUXEMBOURG, THE NETHERLANDS, NORWAY, PORTUGAL, SWEDEN, SWITZERLAND AND TURKEY.

By James M. Long

Prague, Czechoslovakia, July 16-(AP)-Economic experts estimated today that Czechoslovakia's tightened economic pacts with the east would divert at least half her foreign trade to the "planned economy states" of the Slav bloc, primarily Russia.

JUL 1947

Thus Czechoslovak exports to the east would be doubled.

The government heard Premier Klement Gottwald (communist) explain last night why he called Prague last week urgently requiring the cabinet to back out of the Paris conference on unified European economy (under the Marshall plan for U.S. aid.) Gottwald said he had just talked to Russian Prime Minister Stalin and made it clear that the conversation left no other course.

JUL 1947

After hearing the report, the government sent its thanks to Stalin.

The communist press and officials, meantime, had time to get together on their new position on the Marshall plan. Readers and audiences at several rallies were told that the Marshall plan has as its primary purpose the strengthening of the anti-soviet half of Germany and the creation of an American empire of dollar markets.

The Czech public still was noticeably depressed. Despite window dressing, it had been made clear to them, particularly by the non-communist in the first shock of the government's reversal on the that their country now was committed to the Soviet orbit.

JUL 1947

Newspapers here did not print the Washington story that C It was hardly necessary to print it.

JUL 1947

Most Czechs were fully aware that their country's refusal to participate in unified European economy undoubtedly would mean no further economic aid from the west.

INFORMATION DIRECTOR HOLLINGTON TANG ANNOUNCED THAT 18 DOMESTIC NEWSPAPERS FORMERLY OWNED BY THE KUOMINTANG (GOVERNMENT PARTY), AND INCLUDING SEVERAL OF CHINA'S LEADING PUBLICATIONS, HAVE BEEN CONVERTED TO COMMERCIAL ORGANS. THEY WILL OPERATE WITHOUT SUBSIDIES UNDER SHARE-HOLDER-ELECTED BOARDS OF DIRECTORS.

UNRRA RELUCTANTLY WITHDREW ITS EMPLOYES FROM YELLOW RIVER REPAIR PROJECTS AFTER THE GOVERNMENT SERVED NOTICE THAT IT COULD NOT BE RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR SAFETY IN AREAS WHERE CHINESE COMMUNISTS REMAIN ACTIVE.

A GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN DECLARED DISRUPTION OF THE REPAIR PROJECT WOULD ENDANGER THE SAFETY OF 3,000,000 PEOPLE ON THE SOUTH BANK OF CHINA'S MIGHTY RIVER.

NANKING, JULY 16-(AP)-A HIGH-RANKING GOVERNMENT ARMY OFFICIAL WAS REPORTED TODAY TO HAVE DEMANDED THAT UNRRA WITHDRAW PERSONNEL FROM DAM REPAIR PROJECTS IN TERRITORY WHERE CHINESE COMMUNISTS ARE OPERATING -- OR "ACCEPT RESPONSIBILITY FOR THEIR SAFETY."

THE OFFICIAL, CHIEF OF STAFF CHENG CHIEN, WAS QUOTED BY SEMI-OFFICIAL SOURCES AS HAVING ASKED NULLIFICATION OF A "CEASE FIRE" REQUEST BY UNRRA WITHIN REGIONS WHERE RIVER CONTROL PROJECTS ARE UNDER WAY. HE SAID THE REDS HAVE BROKEN THEIR PROMISE TO HALT MILITARY OPERATIONS IN SUCH ZONES AND ARE USING THE DAM REPAIRS AS A PRETEXT TO EXPAND THEIR REVOLT.

PRO-GOVERNMENT PRESS REPORTS TOLD OF NEW SUCCESSES IN THE NORTH PROVINCES OF HOPEI AND SHANTUNG FOR THE NATIONALIST TROOPS, INCLUDING CLEARANCE OF THE TIENTSIN-PUKOW RAILROAD FROM TSINAN SOUTHWARD. THE REPORTS SAID TROOPS HAD MOVED 15 MILES BELOW RECAPTURED TAIAN AND JOINED FORCES WITH ANOTHER MOVING UP FROM THE SOUTH.

IN HOPEI, GOVERNMENT TROOPS WERE REPORTED TO HAVE EXTENDED THEIR LINES 45 MILES SOUTH OF PAOTING TO SEIZE HOCHIEN (NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC MAPS LIST A HOKIEN IN THAT AREA), TINGHSIEN AND WANGTU.

WITH NIGHT LEAD JAPANESE (430)
BY RUSSELL BRINES
TOKYO, THURSDAY, JULY 17-(AP)-GENERAL MACARTHUR WAS DESCRIBED AS HIGHLY PLEASED AND JAPAN GENERALLY WAS JUBILANT OVER TODAY'S PROPOSAL FOR A PRELIMINARY JAPANESE PEACE CONFERENCE NEXT MONTH.
THE AMERICAN STATE DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCEMENT CAUGHT TOKYO BY SURPRISE. IF THE CONFERENCE IS BEGUN AUG.19 AS SUGGESTED, IT WOULD MEAN THE START OF ACTIVE WORK ON A TREATY WITH JAPAN MONTHS BEFORE MOST OFFICIALS HERE HAD EXPECTED IT.
NO COMMENT WAS AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY FROOM MACARTHUR. BUT THIS NEW PROPOSALS FOLLOWS HIS REPEATED INSISTENCE UPON AN EARLY TREATY. IT ALSO FOLLOWS THE TIME SCHEDULE THE SUPREME COMMANDER GAVE AN INTERVIEWER SOME TIME AGO, WHEN HE SAID PRELIMINARIES COULD AND SHOULD BE STARTED THIS FALL.
FOREIGN DIPLOMATIC OFFICIALS LIKEWISE DECLINED COMMENT PENDING FURTHER STUDY.
PREMIER TETSU KATAYAMA HAILED THE ANNOUNCEMENT AS "A GOOD THING," AND REPEATED HIS PREVIOUS COMMENT THAT AN EARLY PEACE WAS NECESSARY TO JAPAN'S REHABILITATION.
THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT HAS NOT YET BEEN INFORMED OF THE PROPOSAL, KATAYAMA TOLD NEWSMEN, ADDING THAT THE GOVERNMENT "DOES NOT HAVE ANY PROPOSALS TO MAKE."
KATAYAMA APPROVED, RATHER WARILY, THE PLAN TO CONDUCT AN 11-NATION CONFERENCE. "THERE IS A DESIRE TO HAVE A GREATER NUMBER OF NATIONS UNDERSTAND JAPAN," HE REMARKED. "I WOULD LIKE ALL NATIONS WHICH FOUGHT AGAINST JAPAN TO UNDERSTAND HER AND HER POSITION. I WOULD LIKE TO HAVE SUCH AN UNDERSTANDING STEM FROM THE BIG FOUR, WITH THE UNITED STATES AS THE CORE OF SUCH A GROUP."
THE UNITED STATES, HE POINTED OUT, HAS BEEN FURNISHING ECONOMIC AID TO JAPAN.
HE DECLINED ANY FURTHER COMMENT ON THE POSITION OF THE BIG FOUR (RUSSIA, BRITAIN, CHINA AND AMERICA), WHICH HE TERMED "A DELICATE QUESTION."
THERE IS CONSIDERABLE APPREHENSION IN THIS COUNTRY THAT RUSSIA MIGHT TRY TO BLOCK AN EARLY TREATY, DESPITE MACARTHUR'S STATEMENTS THAT HE FORESEES NO SUCH DIFFICULTY BECAUSE THE PEACE TREATY PROBLEMS, IN HIS VIEW, ARE MINOR.
IN MID-MORNING, THE JAPANESE HAD RECEIVED THEIR NEWS OF THIS VITAL DEVELOPMENT SOLELY THROUGH RADIO BROADCASTS; REGULAR AFTERNOON PAPERS HAD NOT YET APPEARED, AND NEWSPRINT SUPPLIES ARE SO SHORT NO EXTRAS HAVE BEEN ISSUED.
THE MAN IN THE STREET APPROVED, UNANIMOUSLY, AND ALL INTERVIEWED AGREED THAT AN 11-NATION CONFERENCE, RATHER THAN ONE BY THE BIG FOUR, "WOULD BE FAIRER."
ALTHOUGH THE WASHINGTON ANNOUNCEMENT CAME AS A SURPRISE, IT DID NOT CATCH ALLIED OFFICIALS SHORT. WORI HAS BEEN UNDER WAY HERE FOR SOME TIME ON EXPLORATION OF PRELIMINARY GROUNDS FOR A FORMAL TREATY.
OFFICIALLY, MOST FOREIGN MISSIONS HERE HAVE SUPPORTED MACARTHUR'S REQUESTS FOR AN EARLY PEACE. THEY ALSO SUPPORTED HIS MAJOR REASON: THAT JAPAN MUST BE MADE TO STAND ON HER OWN FEET. BUT THERE IS CONSIDERABLE PRIVATE DIVISION OF OPINION ON THE QUESTION OF POST-TREATY SUPERVISION. (more)

MOST FOREIGN REPRESENTATIVES HAVE EXPRESSED SKEPTICISM OVER THE PERMANENCE OF DEMOCRATIC REFORMS IN JAPAN, AND FAVOR EXTENSIVE, THOROUGH SUPERVISION FOR SOME TIME TO COME.

TOKYO, JULY 16-(AP)-BURLY KINOSUKE OTSU, ONE OF TOKYO'S MOST NOTORIOUS GANGSTERS, SOLEMNLY TOLD A CROWDED COURTROOM TODAY THAT HIS BLACK MARKET AND RACKETEERING GANG WAS "BASED ON DEMOCRACY."
AND, HE ADDED, HE DIDN'T "LIKE TO PART WITH SUCH A SYSTEM."
ON TRIAL CHARGED WITH THREATENING TWO PROCESS SERVERS, OTSU EXPLAINED, WITH GESTURES, THE BENEFITS OF BELONGING TO HIS ORGANIZATION.
WEARING THE KIMONO TRADITIONALLY RESERVED FOR MEN OF INFLUENCE, OTSU SAID LEADERS SUCH AS HIMSELF WATCHED OVER THEIR FOLLOWERS MORE SOLICITIOUSLY THAN PARENTS.
"WE EVEN WORRY ABOUT GETTING THEM WIVES AND HOLDING THEIR FUNERALS," HE TESTIFIED.
OTSU, TALL FOR A JAPANESE, ACKNOWLEDGED HE HAD SERVED THREE PRISON TERMS FOR MISDEEDS RANGING UP TO IMPLICATION IN MURDER BUT SAID AFTER THE LAST 10-YEAR TERM:
"I AWAKENED TO THE SOUL OF RIGHTEOUSNESS. SINCE MY RELEASE, I HAVE MADE IT MY MOTTO TO DO ONE GOOD DEED A DAY."
HE DENIED THE CHARGE THAT HE INTIMIDATED PROCESS SERVERS SENT TO ORDER HIM OFF A VACANT LOT WHERE, WITHOUT THE OWNER'S PERMISSION, HE ALLEGEDLY ESTABLISHED A FLOURISHING BLACK MARKET.
POLICE DESCRIBE HIM AS ONE OF THE CITY'S MAJOR RACKETEERS AND THE BIGGEST CRIMINAL THEY HAVE CAPTURED IN CURRENT RAIDS ON THE UNDERWORLD.

TOKYO, JULY 16-(AP)-A TOKYO NEWSPAPER COMMENTED TODAY THAT "TOO LENIENT A TREATMENT" OF JAPAN BY HER CONQUERORS MIGHT NOT BE GOOD FOR THE COUNTRY.
THE NIPPON TIMES, AFTER EXPRESSING HOPE OF AN EARLY PEACE TREATY AND APPROVING AN OCCUPATION PROGRAM WHICH AVOIDS "HARSH AND UNJUST TREATMENT," OBSERVED:
"TOO LENIENT A TREATMENT ON THE OTHER HAND MIGHT LEAVE UNREMOVED SOME OF THE INSTITUTIONS AND LEADERSHIP WHICH WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR EVILS OF THE OLD REGIME AND MAKE POSSIBLE REGROWTH OF THESE UNDEMOCRATIC FORCES. NOT ONLY WOULD SUCH A REACTIONARY DEVELOPMENT CAUSE A REVIVAL OF INTERNATIONAL DISTRUST AND SUSPICION BUT IT WOULD ALSO BE FARTHEST FROM DESIRES OF JAPANESE THEMSELVES WHO ALREADY HAVE SUFFERED TOO MUCH FROM THE MISTAKES OF THEIR FORMER LEADERS".

FIRST LEAD INDONESIAN

BY STANLEY SWINTON

BATAVIA, JAVA, JULY 16-(AP)-A DUTCH MONITOR HERE REPORTED TODAY THAT INDONESIAN PREMIER AMIR SJARIFOEDDIN IN A RADIO ADDRESS FROM JOGJAKARTA ANNOUNCED THAT THE REPUBLICAN CABINET HAD REJECTED DUTCH PROPOSALS FOR A COMPROMISE SETTLEMENT IN THE ISSUE OF INTERNAL POLICING UNDER AN INTERIM GOVERNMENT.

THE MONITOR QUOTED THE PREMIER AS SAYING THAT "BECAUSE THE DUTCH IN THEIR PROPOSALS ARE LAYING ALL THE BLAME ON THE INDONESIANS WE ARE NOT IN A POSITION TO ACCEPT THE DUTCH PROPOSALS."

THIS ISSUE HAD BEEN THE LAST MAJOR STUMBLINGBLOCK TO A NETHERLANDS-INDONESIAN AGREEMENT ON AN INTERIM NATIONAL GOVERNMENT FOR THE UNITED STATES OF INDONESIA PREPARATORY TO INDEPENDENCE IN 1949. A DEADLOCK IN THE NEGOTIATIONS RECENTLY THREATENED WAR.

SJARIFOEDDIN WAS REPORTED TO HAVE APPROVED THE COMPROMISE PERSONALLY YESTERDAY IN CONVERSATIONS WITH HUBERTUS J. VAN MOOK, ACTING GOVERNOR GENERAL, AND THE NETHERLANDS COMMISSION GENERAL.

HOWEVER, THE FINAL INDONESIAN DECISION MUST BE MADE BY THE REPUBLICAN CABINET AND PARLIAMENTARY WORKING COMMITTEE IN EMERGENCY SESSIONS AT THE REPUBLIC'S CAPITAL, JOGJAKARTA, TODAY. SJARIFOEDDIN FLEW TO JOGJAKARTA THIS MORNING. (more)

JUL 1947

THE FINAL INDONESIAN DECISION MUST BE MADE BY THE REPUBLICAN CABINET AND THE PARLIAMENTARY WORKING COMMITTEE NOW IN EMERGENCY SESSION AT JOGJAKARTA, THE REPUBLIC'S CAPITAL. DEPUTY PREMIER SETIADJIT SAID THE CABINET AND THE WORKING COMMITTEE THUS FAR HAD FAILED TO REACH A DECISION ON WHETHER TO SUPPORT THE TENTATIVE ACCEPTANCE OF THE DUTCH PLAN. HE ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT HE EXPECTED PREMIER SJARIFOEDDIN TO RETURN FROM JOGJAKARTA TOMORROW WITH A DECISION.

"EVERYTHING DEPENDS ON WHETHER SJARIFOEDDIN IS SUPPORTED IN JOGJAKARTA," A NEUTRAL INFORMANT SAID. "THE PROSPECTS LOOK BRIGHTER THAN EVER BEFORE."

THE RELIABLE AUTHORITY SAID THE COMPROMISE PLAN CALLED FOR AN ALL-INDONESIAN REPUBLICAN STATE POLICE FORCE TO HOLD INITIAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR MAINTENANCE OF LAW AND ORDER. HOWEVER, A JOINT DUTCH-INDONESIAN FEDERAL POLICE FORCE WOULD BE CREATED WITH AUTHORITY TO TAKE OVER POLICE DUTIES TEMPORARILY WHENEVER A LOCAL SITUATION GOT OUT OF HAND WITHIN THE REPUBLIC, WHICH INCLUDES JAVA, SUMATRA AND MADOERA.

INFORMANTS SAID THE FEDERAL AGENCY WOULD BE CALLED "EXTRAORDINARY POLICE," SINCE THE NAME, "JOINT GENDARMERIE," WAS POLITICALLY IMPOSSIBLE.

SJARIFOEDDIN ALSO WAS REPORTED ON HIGHEST AUTHORITY TO HAVE CONSENTED--SUBJECT TO CABINET APPROVAL--TO ISSUE BY ONE MINUTE BEFORE MIDNIGHT TONIGHT A PUBLIC ORDER FOR INDONESIAN FORCES IMMEDIATELY TO CEASE FIRE, HALT ANY DEMOLITIONS BEHIND THE FRONT AND SUSPEND THE FOOD BLOCKADE AGAINST DUTCH-OCCUPIED CITIES.

WASHINGTON, JULY 16-(AP)-REP. JACK Z. ANDERSON (R-CALIF) SAID TODAY HE IS ADVISED THE BRITISH WILL PERMIT IMPORTS OF GRAPES, PEARS AND PLUMS FROM AMERICAN SHIPPERS WHO CAN SHOW PROOF OF IRREVOCABLE LETTERS OF CREDIT ISSUED BEFORE JULY 1.
ANDERSON TOLD REPORTERS HE INTERPRETS THE INFORMATION FROM THE AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT AS A MODIFICATION OF A BRITISH EMBARGO ON FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES FROM THE UNITED STATES WHICH BECAME EFFECTIVE THE FIRST OF THIS MONTH.

PMS BUDGET (550)
GERMAN
BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, JULY 16-(AP)-IN ITS ROLE AS ONE OF GERMANY'S RULERS, THE UNITED STATES PROBABLY SOON WILL BEGIN WORKING WITH THE "MARSHALL PLAN" COMMITTEES SET UP AT PARIS TO CHART THE ECONOMIC RECOVERY OF EUROPE.

GEN. LUCIUS B. CLAY, AMERICAN COMMANDER IN GERMANY, IS UNDERSTOOD TO HAVE RECEIVED INSTRUCTIONS TO COOPERATE WITH THE PARIS GROUPS TO THE FULLEST EXTENT NECESSARY TO FIT THE AMERICAN OCCUPATION ZONE INTO THE PROPOSED NEW EUROPEAN ECONOMIC ORDER.

THIS MAY REQUIRE CLAY TO ASSIGN OFFICIALS TO PARIS TO SUPPLY INFORMATION ON GERMANY'S COAL PRODUCTION PROSPECTS, INDUSTRIAL OUTLOOK, TRADE POSSIBILITIES AND FOOD NEEDS. BUT ANY ACTION HE TAKES, AUTHORITIES HERE SAID, WILL AWAIT SOME INVITATION FROM THE PARIS ORGANIZATION ITSELF.

THE BROAD FRAMEWORK FOR AMERICAN COLLABORATION IN EUROPEAN RECOVERY IS SET FORTH IN THE NEW POLICY DIRECTIVE TO CLAY FORMALLY ANNOUNCED HERE AND IN BERLIN YESTERDAY.

THIS DISCLOSED A DRASTIC CHANGE IN THE DIRECTION OF AMERICAN POLICY IN GERMANY FROM THE TIME THE FIRST DIRECTIVE WAS ISSUED SHORTLY AFTER V-E DAY IN MAY, 1945.

AT THAT TIME THE WHOLE EMPHASIS WAS ON THE DENAZIFICATION AND DEMILITARIZATION OF GERMANY AND A SERIES OF MEASURES WHICH WOULD RENDER THE NATION INCAPABLE OF MAKING WAR AGAIN.

THAT ORDER ALSO STATED THAT THE STANDARD OF LIVING OF THE GERMAN PEOPLE WAS NOT TO EXCEED THAT OF THEIR NEIGHBORS AND THAT INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION WAS TO BE STRICTLY LIMITED.

THE NEW DECLARATION, THE FIRST GENERAL POLICY DIRECTIVE SINCE THE 1945 ORDER DECLARES:

"AN ORDERLY AND PROSPEROUS EUROPE REQUIRES THE ECONOMIC CONTRIBUTIONS OF A STABLE AND PRODUCTIVE GERMANY AS WELL AS THE NECESSARY RESTRAINTS TO INSURE THAT GERMANY IS NOT ALLOWED TO REVIVE ITS DESTRUCTIVE MILITARISM."

THE ORDER ADVISES CLAY THAT GERMANY CAN BE KEPT UNDER CONTROL BY MEANS OF THE PROPOSED FOUR POWER DISARMAMENT TREATY--WHICH RUSSIA INCIDENTALLY HAS CONSISTENTLY REFUSED TO ACCEPT IN THE MANNER THE UNITED STATES ADVOCATES--AND BY PROLONGED ALLIED OCCUPATION.

BUT IT MAKES CLEAR THAT CLAY'S MAIN TASK NOW IS TO BRING ABOUT A CONDITION OF ECONOMIC RECOVERY IN GERMANY WHICH WILL MAKE THE WESTERN ZONES SELF SUPPORTING AND CAPABLE OF CONTRIBUTING TO AN IMPROVED STANDARD OF LIVING FOR ALL EUROPE.

A17WX

IN RELEASING THE ORDER HERE THE STATE DEPARTMENT STRESSED THAT IT PROVIDES FOR MEASURES "WHICH WILL ENABLE GERMANY TO MAKE A MAXIMUM CONTRIBUTION TO EUROPEAN RECOVERY."

ACTUALLY, OFFICIALS SAID THAT CLAY ALREADY HAD RECEIVED INSTRUCTIONS TO COOPERATE WITH THE REST OF EUROPE WHENEVER AN APPROPRIATE OCCASION OPENED UP. IN THE INITIAL, ORGANIZATION STAGE OF THE PARIS CONFERENCE THE UNITED STATES MAINTAINED AN ATTITUDE OF COMPLETE ALOOFNESS.

THUS WHEN AND IF CLAY ACCEPTS AN INVITATION TO FIT WESTERN GERMANY'S ECONOMY INTO THAT OF EUROPE, AMERICAN OFFICIALS WILL FOR THE FIRST TIME TAKE A DIRECT, THOUGH STILL STRICTLY LIMITED, PART IN THE WORK AT PARIS.

SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL IS KNOWN TO BE VERY RELUCTANT TO TAKE ANY STEP WHICH MIGHT LAY THE UNITED STATES OPEN TO RUSSIAN PROPAGANDA CHARGES OF DICTATING TO EUROPE.

BUT IN HIS INITIAL PROPOSAL FOR A JOINT RECOVERY PROGRAM LAST MONTH MARSHALL DECLARED THIS GOVERNMENT'S WILLINGNESS TO PROVIDE "FRIENDLY AID" WHENEVER A SUITABLE OCCASION ARISES.

EUROPEAN LEADERS ARE UNDERSTOOD TO HAVE INQUIRED JUST WHAT MARSHALL MEANT BY "FRIENDLY AID." WHILE HE HAS NOT CLARIFIED THE POINT YET THERE IS A GROWING BELIEF AT THE STATE DEPARTMENT THAT HE WILL HAVE TO DO SO BEFORE THE WORK AT PARIS IS FINISHED.

ABX16AED

WASHINGTON, JULY 16-(AP)-THE WAR DEPARTMENT TODAY DISPUTED A CHARGE BY REP. SADOWSKI (D-MICH) THAT "KEY" AMERICAN OFFICIALS ARE BENT ON BUILDING UP GERMANY'S POWER, TO THE DETRIMENT OF U.S. SECURITY.

SADOWSKI YESTERDAY ASKED THE HOUSE TO INVESTIGATE "OUR ENTIRE GERMAN POLICY."

TWO OFFICIALS SINGLED OUT BY SADOWSKI BY NAME WERE ROBERT E. MURPHY, POLITICAL ADVISER TO THE AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT, AND MAJ. GEN. WILLIAM H. DRAPER, CHIEF ECONOMIC ADVISER TO GENERAL LUCIUS B. CLAY, AMERICAN COMMANDER IN GERMANY.

ASKED IF IT HAD ANY COMMENT, THE WAR DEPARTMENT SAID:

"THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT POLICY TOWARD GERMANY IS SET FORTH IN THE JULY 11, 1947, DIRECTIVE TO THE COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF U.S. FORCES OF OCCUPATION (ISSUED YESTERDAY BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT).

"THE CRUX OF MR. SADOWSKI'S ARGUMENT APPEARS TO BE HIS STATEMENT 'THEY HAVE X X X GIVEN PRIORITY TO THE REHABILITATION OF GERMANY'S POWER OVER OUR LONG-TERM SECURITY REQUIREMENTS.

"THIS IS NOT BORNE OUT BY THE OFFICIAL DIRECTIVE."

THE DIRECTIVE TO CLAY SETS FORTH THAT "AN ORDERLY AND PROSPEROUS EUROPE REQUIRES THE ECONOMIC CONTRIBUTION OF A STABLE AND PRODUCTIVE GERMANY AS WELL AS THE NECESSARY RESTRAINTS TO INSURE THAT GERMANY IS NOT ALLOWED TO REVIVE ITS DESTRUCTIVE MILITARISM."

SADOWSKI SAID HE WANTS CONGRESS TO APPOINT A STRONG INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE "AND TO SEE THAT DEMILITARIZATION, DENAZIFICATION AND DECARTELIZATION ARE CARRIED OUT, AND THAT GERMANY'S WAR POTENTIAL IS DESTROYED AND THAT SHE REMAIN POWERLESS TO WAGE ANOTHER WAR."

THE CONGRESSMAN SAID FORMER PRESIDENT HERBERT HOOVER "GAVE THE GERMAN CAMPAIGN OF 1919 THE HALO OF RESPECTABILITY. TODAY, MR. HOOVER IS BEING USED AGAIN FOR THE SAME PURPOSE."

SADOWSKI SAID THAT AFTER THE FIRST WORLD WAR THE GERMANS CARRIED ON A CAMPAIGN FOR AID LEADING TO EVASION OF PEACE TREATY TERMS AND OBTAINING ALLIED BILLIONS FOR REBUILDING THEIR WAR POTENTIAL. ONCE AGAIN, HE DECLARED, THE GERMANS AFTER WORLD WAR II LAUNCHED A CAMPAIGN "OF WHINING AND PITY, WHOSE ULTIMATE GOAL WAS THE REBUILDING OF A STRONG AND AGGRESSIVE GERMANY."

LOYALTY

WASHINGTON, JULY 16-(AP)-HOUSE-PASSED LEGISLATION SETTING UP A SYSTEM OF LOYALTY CHECKS ON FEDERAL EMPLOYES AND REQUIRING THEM TO BE FINGERPRINTED HEADED FOR A POSSIBLE SENATE PIGEONHOLE TODAY.

IT WAS A "MUST" BILL ON THE HOUSE DOCKET AND WON APPROVAL THERE 319 TO 61, BUT SENATE PLANS FOR THE LAST FEW DAYS OF THIS SESSION MAKE NO PROVISION FOR THE MEASURE.

HOUSE PASSAGE LATE YESTERDAY FOLLOWED BITTER COMPLAINTS BY OPPONENTS.

REP. KEFAUVER (D-TENN) DECLARED THE BILL, IF FINALLY ENACTED, MIGHT RESULT IN A GOVERNMENT ADMINISTERED BY "ROBOTS." AND REP. MARCANTONIO (AL-NY) CLAIMED IT WOULD MAKE MANY FEDERAL WORKERS AFRAID TO THINK ON "FUNDAMENTAL ISSUES."

CHAIRMAN REES (R-KAS) OF THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMITTEE CONTENDED, HOWEVER, THAT THE LEGISLATION PROVIDES "ADEQUATE SAFEGUARDS" FOR EMPLOYES AND AT THE SAME TIME PROPERLY PROTECTS THE GOVERNMENT FROM DISLOYAL PERSONS.

KEFAUVER SOUGHT UNSUCCESSFULLY TO MODIFY THE MEASURE TO ALLOW FEDERAL COURT APPEALS BY EMPLOYES WHOSE LOYALTY IS FOUND WANTING BY THE PROPOSED NEW FIVE-MAN REVIEW BOARD. HIS PROPOSAL LOST BY A VOTE OF 248 TO 133.

WRITTEN BY REES' CIVIL SERVICE COMMITTEE, THE LEGISLATION FOLLOWS GENERALLY THE PROVISIONS OF PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S ORDER LAST MARCH CALLING FOR A COMMISSION TO CHECK ON FEDERAL EMPLOYE LOYALTY.

APPLICABLE ONLY TO EMPLOYES AND OFFICERS OF THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH AND TO APPLICANTS FOR JOBS IN THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH, THE BILL WOULD DEFINE LOYALTY AND SET UP MACHINERY TO APPLY THE LOYALTY TEST. THE HOUSE REFUSED TO BROADEN ITS TERMS TO COVER CONGRESSIONAL AND COURT WORKERS.

IF IT BECOMES LAW, ALL EMPLOYES AND JOB APPLICANTS FIRST WOULD BE SCREENED BY THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION. IF THE SCREENING DISCLOSED "DEROGATORY INFORMATION," THE COMMISSION WOULD REFER THE CASE TO THE FBI, WHICH IN TURN WOULD MAKE AN INVESTIGATION OF ITS OWN.

THE RESULTS OF THE FBI CHECK WOULD BE TURNED OVER TO THE PRESIDENTIALLY-APPOINTED LOYALTY REVIEW BOARD AND, IF ADVERSE TO THE INDIVIDUAL INVESTIGATED, THE HEAD OF THE EMPLOYING AGENCY WOULD BE NOTIFIED. THE EMPLOYE WOULD HAVE THE RIGHT TO APPEAL TO THE BOARD, BUT NOT BEYOND THE BOARD.

A25WX

IN THE EVENT THE EMPLOYING AGENCY REFUSED TO DISCHARGE THE EMPLOYE, THE BOARD COULD REQUEST THE PRESIDENT TO TAKE ACTION.

REES TOLD HIS COLLEAGUES THE OBJECTIVES AND THE LOYALTY STANDARDS OF THE BILL ARE THE SAME AS THOSE SET FORTH IN THE PRESIDENT'S EXECUTIVE ORDER. THE MAJOR DIFFERENCE, THE KANSAN ADDED, IS THAT THE LEGISLATION PROPOSES (A) AN INDEPENDENT LOYALTY REVIEW BOARD RATHER THAN A BOARD WITHIN THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, AND (B) "A SINGLE STANDARD OF LOYALTY" RATHER THAN "AS MANY DIFFERENT APPLICATIONS OF A STANDARD OF LOYALTY AS THERE ARE GOVERNMENT AGENCIES."

SHORTLY AFTER MR. TRUMAN ISSUED HIS LOYALTY ORDER HE ASKED CONGRESS FOR A $24,900,000 APPROPRIATION TO CARRY IT OUT. THERE HAS BEEN NO ACTION ON THE FUND REQUEST AND NO FURTHER WHITE HOUSE MOVE TO CREATE THE LOYALTY BOARD.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSIONER ARTHUR S. FLEMMING TOLD REES' COMMITTEE LAST MONTH THAT IT WOULD COST $12,000,000 MORE TO FULFILL TERMS OF THE BILL THAN TO CARRY OUT THE ORDER.

(530) ALASKAN AIRFIELDS

BY CHARLES D.WATKINS

AP SPECIAL WASHINGTON SERVICE

WASHINGTON,JULY 16-(AP)-GOVERNMENT CONSTRUCTION OF TWO LARGE AIRPORTS IN ALASKA FOR USE OF PLANES ON INTERNATIONAL ROUTES WAS URGED UPON THE HOUSE INTERSTATE AND FOREIGN COMMERCE COMMITTEE TODAY.

ALASKANS, CIVIL AERONAUTICS OFFICIALS, INTERIOR DEPARTMENT SPOKESMEN AND COMMERCIAL AIRLINES TESTIFIED FOR TWO BILLS BEFORE THE COMMITTEE.

ONE WOULD APPROPRIATE $5,000,000 FOR A LARGE AIRPORT AT FAIRBANKS AND THE OTHER $8,000,000 FOR AN INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT WHICH WITNESSES SAID WOULD HAVE TO BE LOCATED AT ANCHORAGE.

WITNESSES TESTIFIED THAT ARMY AIRPORTS NEAR THE TWO CITIES HAD MADE USELESS THE EXISTING MUNICIPAL AIRPORTS BECAUSE THEY ARE IN THE PATTERN OF THE ARMY FIELDS. THEY SAID THAT BECAUSE OF THIS THE GOVERNMENT WAS OBLIGATED TO CONSTRUCT THE AIRPORTS AND ALASKAN WITNESSES SAID THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD MAINTAIN AND OPERATE THEM.

NEITHER CITY IS FINANCIALLY ABLE TO CONSTRUCT, OPERATE OR MAINTAIN SUCH EXPENSIVE AIRPORTS AS ARE NEEDED, THE ALASKANS SAID.

JAMES M.LANDIS, CHAIRMAN OF THE CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD AND CO-CHAIRMAN OF THE AIR COORDINATING COMMITTEE, SAID IN A LETTER TO THE COMMITTEE IT HAD BEEN ESTIMATED 75 PERCENT OF AIR TRAVEL TO THE ORIENT WILL PASS THROUGH ALASKA. HE SAID THE WAR DEPARTMENT, WHICH HAS PERMITTED CIVILIAN PLANES TO LAND AT LADD FIELD NEAR FAIRBANKS AND ELEMDORF FIELD NEAR ANCHORAGE, HAD RESTRICTED THAT PRIVILEGE FOR REASONS OF NATIONAL SECURITY.

"IT IS THE OPINION OF THE AIR COORDINATING COMMITTEE THAT THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT, WITH LEAST POSSIBLE DELAY," LANDIS SAID, "SHOULD PROVIDE THE SEPARATE AIRPORTS AT ANCHORAGE AND FAIRBANKS WHICH ARE ESSENTIAL TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE UNITED STATES INTERNATIONAL AVIATION IN THE NORTHWEST AND TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF THESE TWO VITAL CENTERS OF OUR ALASKAN TERRITORY."

LOUIS W.GOODKIND, ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF THE DOMESTIC ECONOMY BUREAU OF THE CAB URGED APPROVAL OF THE LEGISLATION, SAYING BOTH AIRPORTS MIGHT SOON BECOME IMPORTANT POINTS IN INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL.

S.G.TIPTON, COUNSEL FOR THE AIR TRANSPORT ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA, COMPOSED OF AMERICAN FLAG AIRLINES, URGED APPROVAL BECAUSE OF THE STRATEGIC POSITION OF ALASKA.

GEORGE BURGESS, DEPUTY ADMINISTRATOR OF THE CIVIL AERONAUTICS ADMINISTRATION, AND WALTER PLETT, ITS REGIONAL ADMINISTRATOR FOR ALASKA, ALSO ASKED SPEEDY ACTION ON THE BILLS AND ON CONSTRUCTION OF THE AIRPORTS.

BURGESS SAID IT WAS NECESSARY FROM A STANDPOINT OF SAFETY THAT THE FIELDS BE CONSTRUCTED AND THAT LADD AND ELEMDORF FIELDS HAD LARGELY DESTROYED THE USEFULNESS OF THE MUNICIPAL FIELDS AT THE TWO CITIES.

BURGESS TOLD THE COMMITTEE THE CAA WAS NOT DESIROUS OF OPERATING ANY AIRPORT EXCEPT THE NATIONAL AIRPORT HERE BUT UNDER THE CIRCUMSTANCES BELIEVED THAT FROM A SAFETY STANDPOINT THE AIRPORTS SHOULD BE BUILT BY THE GOVERNMENT.

H.R.LEE OF THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT SAID IT SUPPORTED THE LEGISLATION WHILE DELEGATE BARTLETT OF ALASKA URGED PROMPT ACTION.

ROBERT B.ATWOOD, EDITOR AND PUBLISHER OF THE ANCHORAGE TIMES, FRED W.AXFORD, PRESIDENT OF THE ANCHORAGE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, AND A.H. NORDALE, MAYOR OF FAIRBANKS, TOLD THE COMMITTEE THEY FAVORED GOVERNMENT CONSTRUCTION, OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE OF THE TWO FIELDS. THEY SAID THEIR CITIES DID NOT HAVE THE TAX REVENUE TO MEET THE EXPENSE.

GNERAL CARL SPAATZ, COMMANDER OF THE ARMY AIR FORCES TESTIFIED AT AN EXECUTIVE MEETING OF THE COMMITTEE. HIS TESTIMONY WAS NOT MADE PUBLIC.

WASHINGTON,JULY 16-(AP)-REPORTS THAT SECRETARY OF WAR PATTERSON WILL RESIGN WHEN THE ARMED FORCES UNIFICATION BECOMES EFFECTIVE BROUGHT FROM PATTERSON TODAY THIS COMMENT:

"I HAVE NOT, REPEAT NOT, SUBMITTED MY RESIGNATION TO THE PRESIDENT."

HE DECLINED TO DISCUSS WITH A REPORTER THE POSSIBILITY OF WHETHER HE WOULD STEP OUT OF OFFICE WHEN AND IF THE MERGER BILL, NOW HALF.WAY THROUGH CONGRESS, BECOMES LAW.

SPECULATION OVER THE EVENTUAL OFFICIAL SETUP UNDER THE MERGER PROGRAM HAS PRODUCED A NUMBER OF SUGGESTED NAMES OF MEN WHO MIGHT HEAD THE ARMED FORCES ORGANIZATION, INCLUDING SECRETARY OF NAVY JAMES FORRESTAL.

ON THE OTHER HAND, SOME PERSONS FAMILIAR WITH THE LONG BATTLE OVER UNIFICATION CONTEND THAT THE NAVY'S EARLY OPPOSITION TO THE PLAN MIGHT WEIGH AGAINST SELECTION OF THE NAVY CHIEF FOR THE POST.

UNDER THE BILL AS PASSED BY THE SENATE AND AWAITING HOUSE ACTION, THERE WOULD BE A SECRETARY OF NATIONAL SECURITY, WITH CABINET STATUS AND SECRETARIES (WITHOUT CABINET RANK) FOR THE THREE COMPONENTS OF THE ARMED FORCES ORGANIZATION - THE DEPARTMENTS OF WAR, NAVY AND AIR FORCE.

IF PATTERSON RESIGNS AND FORRESTAL IS SHIFTED TO BECOME HEAD OF THE ARMED FORCES, UNDER SECRETARY OF WAR KENNETH C.ROYALL AND UNDERSECRETARY OF THE NAVY JOHN L.SULLIVAN WOULD BE LEFT AS THE ACTING HEADS OF THOSE TWO DEPARTMENTS.

U.N.

BY JOHN A.PARRIS, JR.

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 16-(AP)-AN AUTHORITATIVE SOURCE SAID TODAY SOME UNITED NATIONS DELEGATES WERE CONSIDERING THE POSSIBILITY OF SETTING UP A GREEK BORDER WATCH OUTSIDE THE WORLD ORGANIZATION IF RUSSIA BLOCKS SECURITY COUNCIL ACTION ON THE BALKANS.

THE SOURCE SAID THIS WAS ONE POSSIBLE STEP SHOULD THE SECURITY COUNCIL TURN DOWN A U.S. PROPOSAL FOR ESTABLISHING A UNITED NATIONS SEMI-PERMANENT CMMI SION TO WATCH OVER TH

SEMI-PERMANENT COMMISSION TO WATCH OVER THE BALKAN BORDER AREAS.

IF RUSSIA VETOS THE U.S. COMMISSION PLAN, THIS INFORMANT SAID, GREECE COULD INVITE OTHER MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS TO FORM AN INDEPENDENT COMMISSION WHICH COULD MAKE ITS HEADQUARTERS ON GREEK SOIL AND WATCH OVER THE BORDER AREA.

SUCH A COMMISSION, HE EXPLAINED, WOULD HAVE NO POWERS BUT COULD GATHER INFORMATION. THE MEMBERS, THROUGH THEIR GOVERNMENTS, COULD PLACE THE INFORMATION AT THE DISPOSAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS WHEN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY MEETS IN SEPTEMBER.

THERE ALSO WERE SUGGESTIONS IN SOME QUARTERS THAT IF THE SECURITY COUNCIL FAILED TO ACT IN THE BALKAN CASE THEN THE U.S. OR BRITAIN MIGHT BRING THE CASE BEFORE THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

SUCH A COMPLAINT BEFORE THE 55-MEMBER ASSEMBLY WOULD BE BOLSTERED BY A REPORT FROM AN INDEPENDENT BORDER COMMISSION, SOME OBSERVERS FELT.

IT APPEARED, HOWEVER, THAT BOTH BRITAIN AND AMERICA WOULD EXHAUST ALL OTHER MEANS BEFORE JOINING IN AN INDEPENDENT WATCH OVER THE BALKAN BORDERS FROM GREEK SOIL. INFORMED QUARTERS SUGGESTED THAT IF RUSSIA USED HER POWER OF VETO TO BLOCK ACTION NOW, SERIOUS CONSIDERATION WOULD BE GIVEN TO THE POSSIBILITY OF SUBMITTING A NEW COMPLAINT TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

SOME SOURCES SAID THAT A NEW COMPLAINT MIGHT BE SUBMITTED UNDER CHAPTER SEVEN OF THE CHARTER WITH RESPECT TO THREATS TO THE PEACE AND BREACHES OF THE PEACE.

UNDER THIS CHAPTER THE COUNCIL WOULD BE ASKED TO CONSIDER MEASURES NOT INVOLVING ARMED FORCES WHICH COULD BE EMPLOYED AGAINST ACCUSED NATIONS.

THE COUNCIL COULD CALL UPON MEMBER NATIONS TO APPLY SUCH MEASURES AS ECONOMIC SANCTIONS AND THE SEVERANCE OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS. BUT HERE AGAIN THE VETO COULD BE USED JUST AS IT CAN BE USED IN THE PRESENT CASE.

THE ONLY ALTERNATIVE LEFT INSIDE THE UNITED NATIONS IN THAT EVENT WOULD BE TO BRING A COMPLAINT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND ASK THAT BODY TO ESTABLISH A COMMISSION SUCH AS THE PALESTINE INQUIRY COMMISSION.

Russia Rejects U. S. Plan For Balkans, Hints at Veto; Greece Fears New Invasion

JUL 1947

GROMYKO LASHES AT PROPOSAL FOR FRONTIER WATCH

Calls American Plan 'Sharp Breach' of United Nations Charter.

MAUCK

POLAND JOINS PROTEST

Blames Greece for Disorders, Demands Withdrawal of Foreign Troops.

LAKE SUCCESS, July 17—(AP) Russia late today said that the United States plan for settling Balkan border disorders was "unacceptable" and thus pointed directly to a possible Soviet veto.

Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told the Security Council in a special session that the United States proposal for creation of a semi-permanent frontier watch was a "sharp breach" of the United Nations charter.

He then added:

"The Soviet delegation cannot agree to creation of such a commission."

Modified Filibuster

Gromyko spoke 45 minutes as the climax to what some delegates called a modified filibuster which found Poland on the floor 40 minutes and Yugoslavia speaking 58 minutes. With the added time for translations, the three addresses kept the council busy from midmorning to near the evening adjournment.

Despite his slashing broadside at the American plan, some delegates held hopes that Gromyko would not use the veto. Some of these persons felt that Russia stil' was hoping for delays which might produce some type of compromise and open the way for Gromyko to abstain.

Backing up Russia, Poland blamed Greece for the disturbances and demanded immediate withdrawal of foreign troops from Greece, new elections and formation of a coalition government "representative of the whole nation."

Continuing to press for a council decision in the light of the reported invason of Greece from Albania, American Deputy Delegate Herschel V. Johnson again asked that the general debate be closed. Dr. Oscar Lange of Poland, council chairman ruled only at adjournment at 6:23 p.m. EDT that debate would be closed if there were no speaker upon resumption at 10:30 a.m. (EDT) tomorrow.

No Immediate Vote Likely

However, closure of debate still will not bring an immediate vote on the long-hanging case as delegates then will discuss point by point, in some cases, the opposing American and Russian resolutions.

On the basis of argument thus far, the United States will be supported by Britain, China, Belgium, Brazil, Syria and Australia which would provide the necessary seven votes for passage. Such a lineup would leave a Russian veto as the only stopper.

Poland is committed to back the Russian plan and France and Colombia were placed in the doubtful ranks due to their suggested compromises on the American proposal.

Gromyko again appealed for direct settlement of the border disputes and complained that Ambassador Vassili Dendramis, the Greek ambassador, "listens in cold blood" but does nothing contributing toward a solution.

The Soviet delegate warned the council that the American resolution might be described as an attempt "to create a screen behind which actions could be perpetrated by certain states in Greece which constitute real interference in the internal affairs of Greece."

"For the sake of the Greek people as well as for the sake of the peace of the world, it is imperative that Greece be extricated from the network of international power politics," Dr. Oscar Lange of Poland told the council.

Yugoslavia followed with a 58-minute speech to the council stressing the same points.

Like Russia, the two Soviet satellites rejected an American proposal for a semi-permanent U.N. Commission in the turbulent Balkans. In the next breath they hotly contested a report of an on-the-spot U.N. commission which held Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania responsible for the border troubles.

Neither made any direct mention of the invasion of Greece from Albania reported within the last week by Greek government officials, which has intensified the atmosphere surrounding the debate on a U.N. solution.

Foreign-Troop Withdrawal Called For

Ernest Bevin says Europe has "proper claim" on United States. [Page 3.]

Lake Success, July 17 (AP)—Poland joined Russia today in blaming Greece for the current Balkan disorders and demanded formation of a new coalition government in Greece, new elections and the immediate withdrawal of foreign military personnel.

Poland's views were stated by Dr. Oscar Lange, United Nations Security Council president, as the Council met in extraordinary session in an atmosphere made tense by the fighting in northern Greece.

"It is necessary that Greece be extricated from the network of international power politics," Lange said in demanding the withdrawal of foreign troops.

Lange said the primary trouble in the Balkans must be attributed to the internal situation in Greece, aggravated by the presence of foreign troops. The present Government is a coalition of the major parties, with the Communists and other Leftist groups excluded.

Lange vigorously opposed the American proposal for a semi-permanent United Nations commission in the Balkans on the ground that this seemed to be based on the assumption that the three Soviet satellites—Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia—were to blame for the Balkan trouble.

Followed By Slav

Poland's demands were supported by Dr. Joza Vilfan, former Attorney General of Yugoslavia, who followed him with a 23-page speech despite efforts of Herschel V. Johnson, deputy United States delegate, to cut off the general debate.

Vilfan criticized the United States for supporting the recommendations of the Balkan commission which he said were in "direct violation" of the United Nation Charter and "also include elements of intimidation."

Lange, blaming the Balkan trouble on Greece's internal conditions, said the problem could be solved only by "restoration of democratic freedom, cessation of civil war by means of a general amnesty, formation of a coalition government truly representative of the Greek nation, and finally new elections which will provide the people of Greece with the opportunity to choose the government they desire."

Within Jurisdiction

He said these were matters which were outside the jurisdiction of the Council, but added: "There is one thing strictly connected with the internal situation in Greece which the Security Council is competent to recommend."

"This is the withdrawal of foreign troops and foreign military personnel from Greece," he said.

Delay On Egypt

The Council plunged again into the Balkan question after postponing until August 5 any discussion on Egypt's demand for the withdrawal of British troops from Egyptian soil.

Dr. Lange said he must support Russia's conclusions that Greece was primarily to blame for the current Balkan disorders rather than her northern neighbors.

Reports Contradicted

As the session began, Johnson told newsmen the United States was standing firm on its proposal for a border watch in the troubled area, but was willing to accept amendments as long as they did not change the heart of the proposal.

Johnson thus knocked down reports that the United States would offer a revised resolution to meet objections of some delegations.

Lange attacked the majority report of the Balkan investigating commission, which found the three Soviet satellites primarily responsible for the Balkan trouble. He complained that the majority conclusions read "like a statement of opinion" and sounded as if they were drafted for "political purposes."

The big question was: "Will Russia veto the United States' proposal?"

American and British sources were confident that a majority of the Council members would support the United States plan.

There was a report that Alexandre Parodi, chief French delegate, who has suggested a compromise to reconcile opposed American and Russian proposals, had received instructions from Paris to support the United States plan.

CABINET IS TOLD OF NEW THREAT TO BORDER AREAS

Growing Indications Seen That 'Communist' State Will Be Proclaimed.

JUL 1947

GUERRILLAS ROUTED

Government Troops Smash Drives Against Konitsa and Ioannina.

CHAKALES

ATHENS, July 17 (AP)—War Minister George Stratos told the Greek cabinet tonight the army general staff believes guerrilla forces soon will launch an offensive in northern Greece greater than the twin attacks against Konitsa and Ioannina which the government crushed this week.

"We expect another invasion which will be even on a larger scale," Stratos said, indicating he believed the insurgent fighters would be organized and begin their drive over the Greek border in a foreign country. The government charges this week's attacks originated in Albania.

Fear Setting Up of Red State

The cabinet met amid growing indications that a "free Communist" state would be proclaimed in northern Greece.

Indicating the government was taking measures to prevent the establishment of another battle front, Stratos told the cabinet that military authorities at Florina, eight miles from the Yugoslav border, reported no invasion attempt was in evidence there. Earlier this week, government spokesmen said the guerrillas might begin offensives directed at Florina and Kastoria, 26 miles from Yugoslavia.

Summing up today's developments, Stratos said guerrilla troops were "panic stricken" as they retreated through the Zagoria region, 12 miles north of Ioannina.

Eleftheria Ellada, official organ of the Communist-dominated EAM (National Liberation Front), said the guerrilla radio had broadcast a statement from the guerrilla chieftain, Gen. Markos Vifiades, declaring it was absolutely necessary to create an independent Communist government in the "free regions" of northern Greece in order to "free Greece from (foreign) intervention whose aim is to turn Greece into the starting point for war in the Balkans."

A ranking allied diplomat said the proclamation of a Communist government might be advantageous to Soviet satellite governments because they could recognize the guerrillas as belligerents and openly give them aid.

The Communist newspaper Rizospastis declared a radio station had been established by "headquarters of the Greek democratic army" (the guerrillas) within Greece and was broadcasting two hours daily. Greek foreign ministry sources said they did not believe the station was in Greece but in Sofia or Belgrade, the capitals of Bulgaria and Yugoslavia. These sources said the station had been operating two days.

Scattered Clashes

Only minor scattered clashes were reported in the Mount Gamila area north of Ioannina, capital of Epirus, causing the belief to arise that the 2,500 leftists there had escaped a reported encirclement and were making good their retreat toward Mount Grammos, on the Albanian border to the northeast.

Military circles said they beleived the leftist rebels were trying to make contact with another guerrilla band of about 2,000 in the Mount Grammos area which also was being attacked by Greek army forces.

Retreat of the guerrillas was noted yesterday when Greek national forces attacked but failed to make contact with any considerable body of the rebels who were declared by government sources to have attacked from Albania last Sunday with the object of capturing Ioannina and making it the capital of their separate government.

Operations in the area of towering Mount Grammos, one of the most rugged regions in Greece, obliged both sides to adopt guerrilla tactics.

The area was believed the most likely place for establishment of a so-called "free Communist" government.

Greek military authorities were keeping a close watch for the development of any further invasions along the Albanaian and Yugoslav frontiers.

An official report said 210 guerrillas had been killed, 150 wounded, 14 taken prisoner and that 50 surrendered during scattered actions the first week of July.

Eight Guerrilla Battalions

Gen. Napoleon Zervas, Minister of Public Order, said depositions taken from prisoners showed the attack toward Ioannina was made by eight battalions equipped with heavy mortars, heavy machine guns and automatic rifles who were carried to the Albanian-Greek border in motor vehicles.

He said Ioannina was defended at the beginning only by two companies and a battalion, but military clerical help was pressed into service until reinforcements arrived.

Rebel Remnants Evade Pursuit, Athens Says 1947

Athens, July 17 (AP)—Military circles expressed belief today that survivors of the 2,500 guerrillas—who, the Government said, invaded Greece from Albania last Sunday—had withdrawn successfully eastward toward the towering Mount Grammos range near the frontier.

Only scattered minor clashes were reported in the Mount Gamila area.

The rebels' retreat was noted yesterday when Greek Army units attacked north of Ioannina but failed to find the main force. Military informants said they believed the insurgents were trying to reach their comrades on Mount Grammos, where national forces were harrying another group of 2,000. The larger party failed in an attempt to capture Ioannina, the capital of Epirus.

Rad Proclamation

Greek troops watched closely for developments along the Yugoslav and Albanian borders from Florina to Konitsa, an area pregnant with possibilities of new eruptions of border battle.

Despite their apparent reversal, the guerrilla chieftain, Markos Vifiades, was reported in the Communist-dominated newspaper Eleftheria Ellada to have issued a proclamation over a guerrilla radio asserting it was absolutely necessary to create an independent Communist government in what he termed the "free regions."

The purported broadcast was said to have proclaimed that the guerrillas were "willing" to come to an agreement, but that establishment of a free state was necessary. One of the aims of the "free state" was to "free Greece from intervention, whose aim is to turn Greece into the starting point for war in the Balkans."

Rebel Radio Station

The Communist newspaper Rizospastis said that "headquarters of the Greek Democratic Army" (guerrillas) had established the radio station within Greece and that it broadcast two hours a day.

Foreign Ministry sources said that the station had been heard for two days and that because of its power it was believed to be outside Greece, perhaps in either Belgrade or Sofia, Bulgaria, where facilities have been allocated for propaganda.

The broadcast contained no indication that the guerrillas intended to lay down their arms under conditions of current amnesty for political offenses. The proclamation was quoted as saying the guerrillas would abstain from activities and would recognize "free elections."

The Government said that during the first week of July, 210 guerrillas were killed, 150 wounded and 14 were captured, and that 50 surrendered.

The guerrilla retreat followed the launching of a full-scale assault late yesterday by reinforced Government troops, who had earlier halted the invasion thrust near the village of Negradhes, about 19 miles north of Ioannina.

The way for the attack was paved by a heavy artillery bombardment of guerrilla forces in an area including the villages of Kato, Pedina, Ano, Elatohori, Paleolouta and Asprangelos, scattered along the slopes of Mount Gamila.

Greek warplanes supported the attacking Government forces by strafing guerrilla positions.

Meanwhile, Napoleon Zervas, Minister of Public Order, declared in Athens that statements made by Leftist prisoners indicated that two of the eight battalions comprising the invading guerrilla forces were composed of "foreigners."

Zervas did not specify the nationality of the "foreigners." Government sources had previously charged, however, that the force said to have struck across the Albanian border contained elements of an "international brigade."

Full Epic Account Of Dunkerque Evacuation Is Told By British

London, July 17 (AP)—The British Admiralty released today, seven years after the event, the full epic story of the British and French evacuation from the bombed, bloody beaches of Dunkerque between May 26 and June 4, 1940.

Even the matter-of-fact language of the dispatch from Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay, who directed the operation, failed to hide the magnificence of the achievement.

Ramsay disclosed in his dispatch, written on June 18, 1940, that of the 176 British ships used in the operation, 35 were sunk and 42 others damaged.

700 Little Boats

Those ships, ranging from destroyers and hospital ships to trawlers and drifters, were supplemented by approximately 700 little boats which put out from British fishing points to rescue the battered troops.

Three hundred and thirty thousand of the British troops who had been driven out of Europe by the Germans were brought back to Britain.

The Admiralty, Ramsay wrote, had expected at the utmost to rescue 45,000.

French Used 196 Ships

The French Navy, too, suffered heavy losses among the 196 ships which it flung into the evacuating task. Nineteen of them were sunk and two others damaged, but they brought 20,525 French troops to Britain. In all, 123,095 French troops were transported across the Channel in British and French ships.

Through "intensive" air attack, minelaying by plane, action by motor torpedo boats, coast artillery gunfire and submarine operations the Germans tried to block the evacuation, Ramsay reported.

All their operations succeeded in part, but the air attacks were the worst, he said.

Started On May 29

"Heavy air attacks started on May 29," Ramsay wrote. "From then onward the scale and vigor of the air attacks increased and during June 1 all ships in Dunkerque, off the beaches or in the approach channels were subjected every two hours to an unprecedented scale of attack by aircraft in such numbers that the Royal Air Force was unable to deal with the situation."

A footnote reported that the RAF destroyed 262 German planes over the beaches between May 26 and June 4.

The actual evacuation started on May 26 with the signal: "Please send every available craft to beaches east of Dunkerque." German armor, it was noted, was then operating to the south of the beaches.

"Situation Was Desperate"

"From the signals received it appeared the situation was desperate, that little could be lifted direct from the port of Dunkerque and that the maximum effort must be made from the beaches," Ramsay wrote.

On May 28 a "moderate surf" reduced the rate of embarkation and "rendered the whole operation slow and difficult."

"The considerable alarm as to the immediate safety of the British expeditionary force felt during the evening and early night of May 28, which caused all available resources to be immediately concentrated on the French coast, eased during the 29th," Ramsay reported.

Destroyers Attacked

But he noted that the destroyer Wakeful, laden with troops, was torpedoed and all troops on board went down with the ship, and that later the destroyer Grafton was torpedoed. Other destroyers were attacked by dive bombers.

At about 4 P.M., on May 29, a two-hour dive-bombing attack on Dunkerque harbor forced the complete cessation of embarkations of troops, but the operation was resumed at dusk. That air attack, however, blocked the harbor and all troops thereafter were loaded from the beaches, wading out into the surf.

On May 30 "matters proceeded smoothly throughout the day owing to the mist and there being a big smoke cloud over Dunkerque which prevented the enemy bombers attacking the ships in large numbers."

Evacuation Rate Gained

Throughout May 31 "the rate of evacuation was steadily increasing."

"Heavy" air attacks by more than 100 bombers started soon after dawn on June 1 "and it became evident that a very serious threat to daylight evacuation again was in being. The toll of casualties among the ships during the day was mounting, particularly among the destroyers."

On June 2 this signal came from the beaches: "wounded situation acute and hospital ships should enter during day. Geneva convention will be honorably observed, it is felt, and that the enemy will refrain from attacking."

One Hospital Ship Sunk

So two hospital ships were started out and both, Ramsay reported, were attacked by Junkers planes. One, the Paris, was "badly damaged" and it subsequently sank "and the last attempt to evacuate the wounded by hospital carrier from Dunkerque was brought to nought."

On June 3 and 4 the small boats joined the evacuation fleet in increasing numbers despite "continuous bombing attacks." Ramsay wrote that "the number of soldiers taken off the beaches by motor boats cannot be estimated. One 35-foot motor launch, however, ferried off 600 men to transports and carried 420 direct to England.

"On the final night, after the last two destroyers had left at 3.40 A.M., a number of power boats continued to work in Dunkerque harbor and only left when they came under small arms fire from German troops who had penetrated into Dunkerque at certaon points," Ramsay said.

Ramsay was killed January 2, 1945, when his plane crashed on a trip to Belgium.

Dunkerque Reviewed

London, July 17 (AP)—The Admiralty said today it had expected to rescue only 45,000 British troops from Dunkerque seven years ago when France was about to fall, but in fact saved 330,000 from the onrushing Germans.

In addition, 123,095 French troops were taken across the Channel by French and British ships.

Winston Churchill, Prime Minister at the time, called it one of Great Britain's finest hours. It also was one of the empire's darkest, because the men returned virtually without arms, tired, dirty and hungry, many of them bleeding.

Intensive Air Attacks

The Admiralty's account was given in a dispatch by the late Sir Bertram Ramsey, who was killed in January, 1945, when his plane crashed on a trip to Belgium.

Admiral Ramsey, who directed the evacuation between May 26 and June 4, 1940, wrote that the achievement was made despite "intensive" air attack in "such numbers that the Royal Air Force were unable to deal with the situation."

There were the added perils of aerial mine laying, sea action by swift motor torpedo boats, coast artillery and submarine action. German armored divisions were charging up from the south. Ramsey said the planes inflicted the worst torture.

35 Navy Ships Sunk

The British navy used 176 ships and 35 were sunk and 42 were damaged. The French navy lost 19 ships sunk of the 196 vessels engaged. Casualties also were heavy among the 700 tiny boats which put out from British fishing points to save the British Expeditionary Force. Despite great German air superiority, the RAF destroyed 262 German planes during the evacuation.

Prosaically, the Admiralty had ordered Ramsey to the rescue with this message:

"Please send every available craft to beaches east of Dunkerque."

"From the signals received it appeared the situation was desperate, that little could be lifted direct from the port of Dunkerque and that the maximum effort must be made from the beaches," the Admiral wrote.

Surf Slowed Rescue

By May 28, a moderate surf slowed the rescue and added to difficulties. The next day, German dive bombers put the port out of operation until dusk, when the rescue was resumed. A mist aided the British on May 30, "preventing the enemy bombers attacking the ships in large numbers."

"The rate of evacuation was steadily increasing" throughout May 31, Ramsey said, but casualties were particularly heavy on June 1 from air attack. German bombers attacked two hospital ships on June 2, one of which sank.

On the final two days, small boats engaged in increasing numbers in the rescue despite "continuous bombing attacks."

'Proper Claim' On U.S. Seen By Bevin 1947

Hastings, England, July 17 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin declared today it was "right and proper" for Europe to make a claim upon American productive genius to aid in the reconstruction of the Continent's economy.

"Americans made a great contribution to the war, but it is right and proper that we have a claim upon them to assist now with their great production policy," the Foreign Secretary told Britain's Transport and General Workers Union.

His Slant On Marshall Plan

Bevin said Secretary of State George C. Marshall, in offering aid to Europe, had said in effect: "See what you can do for yourselves and we will supplement what you do."

"I think it is right they should supplement it," he added.

Bevin implied Europe was entitled to call upon the United States for help now because Americans had escaped damage at home in the war.

"The countries we are dealing with were devastated by war," he said.

On the domestic front, Bevin urged greater production in Britain's nationalized coal mines, declaring that more coal would help him "put this dollar business right and make us independent of the dollar grip."

"Nobody in this world wants war; neither us nor France nor Russia nor America," the Foreign Secretary said. "We have seen too much of that. I will not allow myself to have fears either of atomic bombs or anything else."

The Foreign Secretary said the people of the world needed to learn the desirability of surrendering national sovereignties in favor of "a greater sovereignty."

Addresses Union Conclave

Bevin spoke before the Transport and General Workers Union two weeks after Soviet Russia withdrew from the Marshall proposal talks in Paris on the ground that the plan, if implemented, would endanger the sovereignty of participating nations.

Bevin recalled that the TGWU was formed through a merger of many smaller unions.

"They surrendered their sovereignty to a greater sovereignty," he said. "That is a lesson that needs learning in the world today."

Wants Criticism Rightly Timed

The union, the world's largest, arranged to debate later today several resolutions critical of Bevin's policies in British relations with Greece and Spain.

The Foreign Secretary told critics he was "entitled to be judged at the end of the policy, and not in the middle."

"It is no use trying to unite the world if you place predominantly in your mind political unification," he said, adding that "the bitterness of the war has accentuated racial and national difficulties."

Ernest Bevin Calls U.S. Aid To Europe 'Right And Proper'

Hastings, England, July 17 (AP)—Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, declared today that the war-devastated nations of Europe "have a claim" on the United States for economic help—because, he implied, the United States escaped direct war damage.

Addressing Britain's Transport and General Workers Union, Bevin said Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Secreary of State, in offering aid to Europe, had said in effect: "See what you can do for yourselves and we will supplement what you do."

"I think it is right they (Americans) should supplement it," Bevin continued. "The countries we are dealing with were devastated by war.

What America "Owes" Europe

"The Americans made a great contribution to the war but it is right and proper that we have a claim on them to assist now with their great production policy."

In a private session after Bevin's speech, TGWU delegates adopted a resolution which Arthur Deakin, general secretary, described as "a complete indorsement of the Foreign Secretary's foreign policy."

The convention sidetracked resolutions critical of British policy in Greece and Spain and adopted a general resolution calling for support of the United Nations and friendship with countries whose governments are pledged to programs similar to that of Britain's Labor Government.

Bevin Disavows Russ View

With characteristic bluntness, Bevin disavowed the Russian view that Europe should limit itself to listing what it requires from the United States. In words directed at all Europe, he said:

"If you want Europe to be independent of the United States economically, and if you want Great Britain to be independent of the United States economically, the way to do it is to find out the maximum you can do for yourselves, and when you have found it, to find out the capital goods you require in order to make the machine work.

"That is what I am doing," he declared. "That is all I am doing. I was told I was leading the world to Munich, but that has been dropped since Czechoslovakia went to Moscow."

Laughter followed this remark, a reference to Czechslovakia's last-minute decision not to attend the Russia-boycotted Paris economic conference on the Marshall plan.

Trade-Unions' Lesson To World

Recalling that the TGWU was formed through a merger of many smaller unions, Bevin said: "They surrendered their sovereignty to a greater sovereignty. That is a lesson which needs learning in the world today."

Although he did not mention Russia by name, his remark was interpreted generally as a reference to the Soviet Union's stand on the Paris talks. Russia withdrew from these talks on the ground that the Marshall proposal, if implemented, would endanger the sovereignty of participating nations.

Discussing domestic affairs, Bevin said Britain's Labor Government "has ridden the storm" and "the dawn is shining for us a little bit now." He urged greater production in the nation's nationalized coal mines, declaring that more coal would help him "put this dollar business right and make us independent of the dollar grip."

Eden Denounces Newsprint Cut

London, July 17 (AP)—Anthony Eden, deputy Conservative leader, declared in the House of Commons tonight that British newspapers had been subjected to "unfair victimization" by the Government's order cutting their Canadian newsprint purchases by 96,000 tons yearly to save an estimated $8,000,000.

Clement Davies, Liberal, contended the cuts might imperil freedom of the press.

Before the war, British newspapers used 1,200,000 tons of newsprint annually. The consumption now is 420,000 tons, and after next Monday, it will be at the rate of 324,000 tons.

"Couldn't a similar saving in dollars be effected by a cut of one seventeenth in imports of American films?" Eden asked Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade.

Government Wins Vote

Sir Stafford replied it was doubtful whether that would save anything at all "as America would collect the same amount of money for half the number of films."

The opposition challenged the Government to a vote on the newsprint reduction plan and the Government won, 234 to 113.

Davies said, "This cut in newsprint is . . . going to deprive the public of their free access to all news, to comment."

Sir Stafford defended the reduction as an "unfortunate necessity."

He said, "The only other things we can cut from dollar sources, substantially, are machinery, food and films. And so far as films are concerned, the Government is taking power to deal with that."

New Anglo-Swedish Monetary Agreement

London, July 17 (AP)—Britain disclosed the details of a new Anglo-Swedish monetary agreement tonight under which Sweden agreed to the freezing of its £25,000,000 ($100,000,000) credit until 1950.

At the same time the agreement provided for free convertibility into dollars of any sterling Sweden acquires through current or future transactions, in line with the convertibility clause of the American loan to Britain.

The agreement was reached July 14 and became effective July 15, the Foreign Office announced in a white paper detailing its terms.

British Eye More Nations In Talks

London, July 17 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today that Britain might suggest to the United States and Russia that fourteen instead of eleven nations should participate in framing a peace settlement for Japan.

These sources said that South Africa and Burma, two commonwealth countries not now represented on the eleven-power Far Eastern Commission, had expressed a desire to take part in the peace conference.

The third additional power would be the embryo Moslem state of Pakistan in India.

Although South Africa did not play an active part in the war against Japan, these sources said, Prime Minister J. C. Smuts, in communications to Britain, has underlined his country's vital interest in the future security of the Indian and Pacific oceans.

Britain Is Buying Russian Lumber

London, July 17 (AP)—As the result of an agreement concluded in Moscow, Britain — suffering from an acute housing shortage—was reported to be in line today to obtain sufficient lumber from Soviet Russia for the construction of approximately 30,000 houses.

Signing of a contract for delivery of the lumber was disclosed last night by a member of the British trade delegation which has just returned from the Russian capital.

The spokesman acknowledged that the price to be paid for the lumber was high, but said it was "not out of proportion to present-day costs."

Other members of the British delegation are remaining in Moscow in an attempt to sign contracts for 1,000,000 tons of Russian grain in exchange for machinery and other manufactured articles.

The delegation spokesman said the Moscow talks had made "remarkable progress" and that there was every reason to hope for their successful conclusion. Russia's refusal to join in the Marshall plan for European recovery, he said, had not affected the talks to any appreciable extent.

PARLEY SCANS REICH OUTPUT

Dutch Say Increase For Germany Is Necessary To Plan

Paris, July 17 (AP)—Holland injected the German issue into the sixteen-nation European economic conference today, insisting that German productive capacity be increased along with that of the rest of the continent.

Dr. Hans M. Hirschfeld, acting chief of the Dutch delegation, told a steering committee session that German resources must necessarily be included in any general scheme for reviving the continent through economic co-ordination, French sources reported.

Must Attract Capital

Hirschfeld also declared that for long-term recovery, Europeans must attract foreign capital to return to Europe by making investment opportunities attractive.

French sources said his statement drew an immediate response from Herve Alphand, French delegate, who asserted that German's industrial production must be subordinated to the security of other European nations.

The steering committee, which was scheduled to draft a questionnaire to the participating governments on industrial, trade and agricultural needs and assets under the Marshall plan, decided to delegate this task to its executive committee which was instructed to finish it by Saturday morning.

Believes In Restrictions

Alphand, in replying to Hirschfeld, said France wants to raise the productive capacity of all Europe, including Germany, but believes this increase in Germany should be restricted to coal and food.

The European states, he added, must see that Germany's coal production is pushed to the utmost because all nations need fuel. Her agricultural production should also be pushed as high as possible, he said, in order to lighten the burden on occupation authorities.

But he added, "The French Government subordinates any increase in German industrial production to the imperatives of security, and must always think of this."

For American Reading

Sir Oliver Franks, the British delegate who was presiding, reminded the committee that its final report must be read by Americans, and Alphand retorted:

"Yes, but we must remember it is to be read by Europeans, too."

Diagnosing Europe's malady as due to insufficient employment of her productive capacities, Hirschfeld said this was in turn caused by three factors: Lack of enough trade among the sixteen nations as well as among the "absent nation," an apparent reference to Russia and countries of eastern Europe; lack of sufficient imports from colonial, areas, and liquidation of European investments abroad, much of which was forced by the war.

The steering committee instructed four technical committees on food, power, metal industries and transport to organize themselves as soon as possible and drafted a work schedule for them. The steering committee is to meet twice a week and when ever its advice is sought by one of the technical committees. The executive committee is to meet daily except Saturday and Sunday.

Man Makes FlyingDisk

Margate, England, July 17 (AP)—Town Councillor A. Lovell Really knows that flying disks exist—he made one, and it flew.

Lovell's revolving disk is rubber-propelled and 14 inches across. It has an 18-inch stabilizing rotor and a triangular stabilizing vane. In today's first tests it flew 100 feet.

Eva Peron Leaves Italian Riviera

Genoa, July 17 (AP)—Senora Eva Perón, wife of the Argentine President, ended her ten-day stay on the Italian Riviera today and left Genoa by plane for Rome en route to Lisbon and Paris.

Just before her departure a member of Senora Perón's suite said she would make her final decision about visiting England while in the French capital.

[In London yesterday an Argentine source said that Senora Perón had finally decided against making a visit to England.]

Police Close 11 Rome Restaurants

ROME, July 17 (AP)—Police last night closed eleven of Rome's luxury restaurants for five to eight days because they were serving white bread, meats and sweets in violation of the Government's recent "austerity" decrees.

Rival Forces Estimated

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, July 17 (AP)—A military spokesman said today that Netherland fighting forces on Java and Sumatra available for possible military operations totaled about 98,000 well-equipped troops.

In addition the spokesman said, 16,000 Netherland and Netherlands Indies troops are stationed on the other Indies islands for the maintenance of order.

The fighting strength of the Indonesian Republican army has been estimated unofficially at about 200,000, not including irregular guerrillas operating throughout the islands.

Netherlands Accepts

THE HAGUE, July 17 (AP).—The Netherlands government has accepted the American invitation to participate in the preparations for a peace treaty with Japan, it was announced officially today.

Spain, Sweden Sign Trade Pact

Madrid, July 17 (AP)—Spain and Sweden signed today a provisional trade agreement providing for the exchange of 40,000,000 crowns ($11,000,000) worth of goods in the year ending March 1, 1948. Spanish fruits, chemicals and textiles will be exchanged for Swedish wood pulp, machinery and electrical equipment.

Reich Industrial Plants And Ships Distributed

Brussels, July 17 (AP)—Two hundred and sixty-two German merchant ships, representing 750,995 gross tons, and valued at more than $48,000,000, have been distributed to eighteen Allied nations by the Interallied Reparations Agency, since it started its activities eighteen months ago, an agency communiqué stated today.

During the same period, ended June 30, German industrial capital equipment with a residual value of 138,275,378 reichsmarks (1938) was also allocated.

The 1938 reichsmark, the communiqué pointed out, was valued at four to the American dollar. Furthermore, it said, "the residual value of the equipment established by the Allied control authority in Berlin is normally less than the current market value which has been unofficially estimated to be on the average at least three times the residual value, and frequently much higher."

From three allocations to date the United States has received 13 ships (gross tons 44,779), 28 miscellaneous machine tools and 15 units of chemical equipment.

The United Kingdom received 95 ships (gross tons 373,407), 2 mechanical plants, 127 miscellaneous machine tools and 27 units of chemical equipment.

To France were allocated 7 ships (gross tons 60,162), 4 mechanical plants, 1 chemical plant, 1 electrical plant and 1,627 miscellaneous machine tools.

Denmark received 15 ships (gross tons 32,924).

Greece received 38 ships (gross tons 47,319); Norway, 45 ships (gross tons 85,680), and the Netherlands, 26 ships (gross tons 53,262).

Greece also received one electrical plant.

Schacht Appeal To Be Heard

STUTTGART, Germany, July 17 (AP).—German de-Nazification officials have granted to Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former Nazi Minister of Finance, a review on his appeal from an eight-year sentence as a major Nazi offender. The case probably will be pleaded next month.

Report in Berlin That Camps Held Russian Generals and Managers 'Infected With Western Civilization.'

Berlin, July 17 (A. P.).—German prisoners of war, recently returned from Russia and interrogated by official American sources, said that in the prison camps of the Soviet Union they had worked alongside Russians up to the rank of general and factory manager.

These Russians, they said, were being kept in political confinement because they had worked in Germany and there had "seen too much and had been infected with western civilization."

"Many worked in the area of Katharinenburg [Sverdlovsk], east of the Urals," the interrogators' report said, "some in factories, others in state domains with Russian prisoners who ranged from private to former general, from worker to former plant manager. The whole area was described as an enormous concentration camp the size of Germany."

The Germans questioned were former prisoners who were released by the Russians in such poor physicial condition that they had to be placed in hospitals or rehabilitation camps in the United States occupation zone before they could be repatriated in western Germany. They arrived, the official report said, "usually in rags worn for many years and absolutely filthy." With them they brought an "opposition toward the German Communist party that was more than outspoken."

FOOD MISSION TOUR SLATED

U. S. - British Group Starts Europe Swing Sunday

Berlin, July 17 (AP)—A British-American mission, leaving Sunday on a five-week swing through northern Europe, will explore the possibility of getting surplus food flown into western Germany from the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Iceland.

Dr. Edward C. Acheson, special representative of President Truman and American head of the mission, described the task today as a "preview of the Marshall plan."

Explaining at a news conference that the mission will try to get the northern countries to join Britain and the United States in supplying western Germany with food, mainly fish, on a deferred payment basis, Acheson said:

"The northern countries under this scheme would get paid when and if exports from the Anglo-American (occupation) zones exceed imports, just as Britain and America will."

Overcome Difficulties

The program, he continued, would be a start toward European countries "helping each other to overcome their difficulties, and whatever is started now eventually can be fitted into the Marshall plan."

Col. Hugh B. Hester, chief of the American Military Government's food and agriculture branch, told the German people in a broadcast that the United States and Britain, at their own expense, had shipped nearly $62,000,000 worth of food into Germany last month.

He urged the Germans to realize that "not Germany alone but most of Europe and Asia are also hungry."

Democracy Would Fail

Recalling that the United States and Britain were spending their own taxpayers' money to feed the 40,000,000 Germans in the two western zones, Hester said:

"It is not customary for nations victorious in battle to treat the vanquished so generously. But one of the paramount objectives of the occupation is to help the Germans turn to the path of peace [illegible] mocracy . . . (and) it is undeniably true that the seeds of democracy would surely fail amidst hunger and economic stagnation."

Meanwhile, the matter of German steel production occupied the attention of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, and of the Russians.

Seeking to fit the economy of western Germany into the Marshall aid-to-Europe plan, Clay told a news conference in Frankfurt that European recovery could not be attained without the revival of German industry.

Russian Demand For Plants Rejected

Berlin, July 17 (AP) — The Russians asked in the Allied Control Authority today that steel plants capable of producing 13,000,000 tons annually be allocated immediately for reparations.

The demand could be met only by stripping the Ruhr. United States and British representatives refused to entertain the Soviet proposal for discussion.

The Russians asserted that the steel capacity was "excess." The Americans and Britons replied that any new estimate on excess steel capacity could be calculated only on a basis of an economically unified Germany, which the Russians have opposed.

Informed Americans said privately that the Russian demand appeared to be an attempt to forestall the current American and British efforts to build western Germany's economy to a self-sustaining level and tie it in with co-operative plans for rehabilitation of western Europe.

Clay Stresses Industry.

Frankfurt, July 17 (A. P.).—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, seeking to fit the economy of western Germany into the Marshall plan, said today that European recovery could not be attained without the revival of German industry. Clay told a news conference that he and Lieut.-Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British zone commander, had agreed on a new level of steel production for western Germany, but refused to confirm reports that it had been set at between 10,000,000 and 12,000,000 tons yearly.

The American Military Governor told American and German newspaper men that he would be very interested in any proposals for American and British business men to underwrite western Germany's industrial recovery.

Comment on Directive.

Clay was asked to comment on the policy directive this week from Washington, which gave him fresh instructions on how to handle Germany's economy.

"The policy," he said, "permits the economy of Germany to be worked into the Marshall plan, without allowing the growth of a militant Germany. It is becoming increasingly clear that the problems of Germany cannot be dissociated from those of Europe as a whole. The recovery of Germany is so far behind the general recovery of Europe that it is dragging down the recovery of Europe as a whole."

Frick's Widow Called 'Major Nazi' In Court

Stanbegg, Germany, July 17 (AP). German attorneys asked a de-Nazification court today to judge Frau Margarite Frick, widow of Wilhelm Frick, Hitler's Minister of the Interior, a "major Nazi." Conviction would mean a 10-year jail sentence for her.

Frick was executed after conviction in the Nuernberg trials.

Land for Repatriated Germans

WIESBADEN (AP) — Under its land-reform program, the State of Hesse recently turned over 5,000 acres of arable land to 100,000 refugees from eastern Germany. The two-year land reform program calls for the distribution of 80,000 acres of arable land among 400,000 refugees, expelled persons and other landless Germans. The land will come from expropriated Nazis, from former Wehrmacht or community properties, or from very large estates.

'Arrest Maniu,' Romanians Cry

Bucharest, Romania, July 17 (AP). Premier Petru Grosza and members of the Romanian Government delegation returning today from conferences at Sofia were greeted by several hundred government supporters shouting "arrest Maniu" and "dissolve the National Peasant party."

The demonstration against the Peasant party and its president, Dr. Iulio Maniu, was staged at the Bucharest railway station.

The Premier and his Communist ministers addressed the crowd with promises that investigations of recent arrests of opponents of the Government were proceeding, that justice would "pursue its course," and "the people will receive satisfaction."

The demonstration was the first public indication since the end of the war of the possibility of banning an opposition party.

Some National Peasant party leaders who recently went into hiding had returned home today. Among them were Mihai Popovici, vice president of the party and close friend of Maniu, and Emil Hatieganu, a member of the Cabinet representing the Peasant party until last year's elections.

They and other party members were reported in conference tonight to consider Grosz's warning at the railway station that they abandon the party "before it is too late."

Leningrad Consulate

Moscow, July 17 (AP)—American informants indicated today that Frederick Reinhardt, first secretary of the United States Embassy in Moscow, is expected to go to Leningrad shortly to head the American consulate which is to be opened there.

International Fair In Gdansk Aug. 2

Gdansk, Poland, July 17 (AP)—Poland's second postwar international fair is scheduled to be opened here on August 2 with the United Kingdom among exhibitors.

Participants Named

Precision machines, new technical devices and samples of equipment to be supplied under a commercial agreement to the Ministry of Posts and Telegraphs are to be shown by the British.

A score of countries are arranging for exhibition stalls, with Sweden, Soviet Russia and Czechoslovakia expected to have some of the biggest displays.

France is slated to show fancy goods and motor cars; Finland "week-end" houses; Hungary wine, fruit, peasant art and fancy goods.

Other countries to be represented include Belgium, Bulgaria, Denmark, the Netherlands, Yugoslavia, Argentina, Uruguay, British colonies and dominions. No announcement has been made whether the United States would have an exhibit.

Ex-Baltimore Ship Reported Off Palestine With Refugees

Jerusalem, July 17 (AP)—A Jewish refugee ship carrying about 4,500 unauthorized Jewish immigrants to Palestine was reported by underground sources tonight to be just outside Holy Land waters "with five British destroyers hanging close."

The vessel, reported to be the [redacted] S.S. President Warfield, renamed the European Exodus, was the first refugee ship to approach the Palestine coast in two and one half months.

[Reuter reported the ship definitely was the President Warfield].

From Refugee Camps

Members of Hagana, underground Jewish organization, said the passengers, mostly recent residents of European displaced persons camps, would make a short-wave radio broadcast from shipboard tomorrow morning and that the broadcast would be relayed by Hagana's secret radio.

The passengers embarked at Marseille, France, a week ago tonight by slipping past harbor guards, the Hagana sources said.

British sources here said the ship's arrival might pose a problem. The usual procedure of boarding such intercepted vessels and conducting them to Haifa might be complicated by the fact that the port of Haifa has been quarantined because of an outbreak of Bubonic plague.

(After fourteen years of service between Baltimore and Norfolk, Va., the Old Bay Liner President Warfield was mustered into the service of the United States Navy, and had a part in the D-day invasion of the French coast.

After her war service, the President Warfield was returned to Baltimore, theoretically relegated to the scrap heap. However, she later was sold to the Weston Trading Company, a Panamanian corporation, ostensibly for duty in the rivers of China.

The ship, built in 1928, left Baltimore last February under circumstances described at the time as "mysterious," with rumors to the effect that she was to be used to move Jewish refugees from Europe to Palestine.

Under Hondorus Flag

She sailed under the flag of Honduras, with Marseille, France, her first announced port of call, and Chinese rivers her ultimate destination.

The report on the ship came as the diamond center of Natanya returned slowly to normal with the partial lifting of a curfew which had placed the Jewish city under military rule for three days. A search had been under way for two British sergeants kidnapped by Irgun Zvai Leumi, another Jewish underground group.

Newspapers in the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv reported receiving telephone calls saying: "This is Irgun Zvai Leumi. Please inform the British the two kidnapped sergeants are not in Natanya so they may quit looking. We have brought them to Tel Aviv."

Seized In Front Of Cafe

The two sergeants, Clifford Martin and Marvin Paice, were seized Saturday in front of a Natanya cafe. They have been held as hostages for three contemned Jewish underground members.

Work was resumed in some industries of Natanya, Palestine's diamond center with a population of 15,000. Searches still were going on in parts of the area, however.

During the first day of the search fifteen suspected Jewish underground agents—three of whom were described by police as high on the wanted list—were detained.

Camp Visits Urged

Meantime, Moshe Shertok, head of the political department of the Jewish Agency, made a new appeal to the United Nations Palestine Commission to visit at least a few Jewish displaced persons camps in Europe before writing its report.

In a personal appearance before the commission Shertok said there was urgent need to permit large-scale immigration of homeless European Jews.

U.N. Group Urged To Visit Camps Confining Jews

Jerusalem, July 17 (AP) — Moshe Shertok, head of the political department of the Jewish Agency, appealed anew to the United Nations Palestine Commission today to visit at least a few Jewish displaced-persons camps in Europe before writing its report.

"Please visit these camps," Shertok pleaded in a personal appearance before the commission. "They form an integral part of your inquiry, for the life led by Jews there touches the substance of the whole issue."

Shertok said there was urgent need to permit large-scale immigration of homeless European Jews to start at once.

Laid Mines, Irgun Says

The Jewish underground organization, Irgun Zvai Leumi, meanwhile, boasted of laying mines on highways near Jerusalem and Petah Tikvah which last night took the life of one British soldier and wounded fifteen or sixteen others—some seriously.

Irgun, in a statement delivered to Jerusalem newspapers, said the mines had been planted to "relieve Natanya from siege"—a reference to the military rule imposed on Natanya to facilitate a search for two British soldiers kidnapped by the underground and held as hostages for three condemned Jewish extremists.

Report On Kidnapped Men

Newspapers in the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv reported receiving telephone calls today saying: "This is Irgun Zvai Leumi. Please inform the British the two kidnapped sergeants are not in Natanya, so they may quit looking. We have now brought them to Tel Aviv."

The two sergeants, Clifford Martin and Marvin Paice, were seized Saturday in front of a Natanya cafe.

Chinese Battling Two New Attacks

Nanking, July 17 (AP)—New troubles on the Outer Mongolian border and attacks by "rebels" within the northwestern province of Sinkiang were reported today by the Chinese press and military authorities.

The newspaper Hsin Min Pao, quoting travelers newly arrived in Peiping, said outer Mongolian troops had crossed into Suiyuan province to a depth of 65 miles in the Tukenliken border region and established a headquarters at Wulanjenlohai, well within Suiyuan territory.

1,000 Miles Farther East

The location is about 1,000 miles east of a similar incursion into Sinkiang, which the Chinese reported a month ago and which has been made the basis of protests to Moscow. Chinese accounts having said that Soviet planes participated.

The long marches of the ill-defined border, which runs through a thinly settled desert area, are not usually covered by Chinese troops.

Chinese military authorities in Tihwa, capital of Sinkiang province, reported meanwhile that "rebels" inside the province had attacked road towns and merchant convoys on the Kashgar route and near Turfan.

120 Raiders Killed

They said 120 of the raiders were killed in a pitched battle last week near Turfan.

The attackers were described as members of a separatist group which demands removal of Chinese Govenment troops from the province, which, like Suiyuan, adjoins Sovietized Outer Mongolia.

On the home front, the Chinese Liberated (Communist) Areas Relief Association, demanded complete withdrawal of UNRRA from all China unless supplies were distributed impartially to Communist territory.

The organization charged that distribution of supplies at present was unfair, asserting that Chinese Government forces blockaded Communist ports and had demanded withdrawal of UNRRA personnel from Communist areas.

Important Chinese Battle Is Predicted

Peiping, China, July 17 (AP)—Gen. Chen Yu, chief of staff of Peiping garrison forces, says Chinese Communists have concentrated in Shantung province nearly 70 per cent of all the Red forces in North China, and that the battle for that coastal province will prove more important than the recent Manchurian campaign.

"At the present moment, there are no apparent Communist forces (left in North China) of sufficient size to launch an attack on Peiping," he told foreign newsmen yesterday.

Red Forces Reinforced

Tracing the course of Shantung fighting, he said Red Gen. Chen Yi started his campaign with 30 divisions, an overall total of 150,000 troops. Later these were reinforced by Gen. Liu Po-cheng, who brought 80,000 men across the Yellow River at Tungkou.

Chen Yi's main army has split into segments after it was penetrated by government armies July 3, the chief of staff continued, while Liu Po-cheng's main forces are now believed to be west of Tsinan, the Shantung capital. Mountainous terrain makes it comparatively easy for the Reds to escape government pursuit, he admitted.

China Reported Again Invaded By Mongols

Nanking, July 17 (AP)—A new border crossing by Outer Mongolian troops into China, this time into the Inner Mongolian province of Suiyuan, was reported today by the newspaper Hsi Min Pao.

The area of the reported new crossing is approximately 1,000 miles east of the first reported border crossings on the boundary between Outer Mongolia and Sinkiang, most northwesterly of the Chinese provinces.

A dispatch to the newspaper from Peiping quoted travelers as saying that Outer Mongolian troops had crossed into Suiyuan to a depth of about 65 miles from the Tukehlikeh border region, northwest of Peiping.

Establishing Headquarters

The dispatch said that Outer Mongolian forces were establishing border-defense headquarters at Wulanjenlohai, well within Chinese territory.

The area entered is a sparsely settled wasteland of many thousands of square miles of Government territory unprotected by Government garrisons.

Soviet Ship Violation Charged

SHANGHAI, July 17 (AP).—The Chinese government charged today that the Russian steamship Ilyitch had violated Chinese shipping regulations by transporting passengers between Chinese ports without permission, but permitted the vessel to leave on schedule for Vladivostok.

The Russian Consulate assured the Chinese that the question of irregularities would be taken up and satisfied when the Ilyitch returns to Shanghai late this month for repatriation of Russians from China in August.

The Ilyitch carried six Formosans and one American from Dairen to Shanghai, volating, the Chinese said, a law preventing foreign vessels from transporting passengers between Chinese ports without express permission. The Chinese hold that despite the Russian occupation, Dairen is a Chinese port and subject to Chinese law.

Chinese Dollar Rallies In Black Mart

Shanghai, July 17 (AP)—China's unstable dollar rallied sharply in the past 48 hours. One American dollar will now buy only 41,000, compared with 45,000 a few days ago. These are black-market figures.

Observers were puzzled by the change. Some said it was probably because of intensified Government efforts to halt illegal trading in United States dollars or gold bars. (The official, legal rate remains 12,000 to one). When people are afraid to buy or sell on the black market, the Chinese dollar always gains in value, they pointed out.

Other Possibilities

Others say a scarcity of Chinese currency is the cause; and still others credit news of the fact-finding mission of Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, which they regard as an augury of further United States financial help.

Chinese dollars have been fairly steady, at about 45,000 to one United States, since the last big drop in late June. It fell at that time from 32,000 to 45,000.

Relief Withdrawal From China Urged

Shanghai, July 17 (AP)—A demand for the complete withdrawal of United Nations relief from China unless UNRRA is able to effect distribution of supplies to the Communist areas was made today by the Chinese Liberated (Communist) Areas Relief Association.

The demand was contained in a communication addressed to Maj. Gen. Lowell Rooks, director general of UNRRA, to representatives of the UNRRA's Far Eastern Council and to Harlan Cleveland, China UNRRA director.

The association charged that the nationalist blockade of Communist ports and the request of the Nationalist Army chief of staff for the withdrawal of UNRRA personnel from Communst areas necessitated reconsideration of policy by UNRRA in China.

Year Believed Necessary To Write Jap Treaty

Tokyo, July 17 (AP)—[illegible] a mixture of optimism and pessimism in diplomatic circles here today as to the ability of the eleven allied nations to settle with relative speed what General MacArthur has termed the "minor" problems of a Japanese peace treaty.

The complicated territorial questions which have been such a handicap in Europe will be absent when work begins on the Pacific treaty. So will some of the political problems.

Lengthy Process Sure

Even so, diplomats believe it will take a minimum of one year to write a final treaty after negotiations are begun, probably some months after completion of the proposed preliminary conference.

As usual, the progress of the negotiations may well be determined by Russia's attitude, and the diplomats were split on their predictions of probable Russian co-operation. Some regard as an encouraging sign the fact that Moscow has approved the recent Far Eastern Commission policy statement.

The Leading Problems

Here are some of the main questions which diplomats expect to arise during the conference:

JAPAN'S FUTURE CONTROL — Peace delegates must decide what type of supervision is to be exercized over Japan after the treaty is signed and what if any restrictions are to be placed on her return to the family of nations. On this subject there long has been a basic cleavage between occupation headquarters and some of the Allies, notably Russia, Australia and New Zealand.

Reparations Tangle

REPARATIONS — Little progress has been made in solving this complex problem during prolonged discussions by the Far Eastern Commission, and the Western nations stil are divided among themselves on the amount of reparations to be taken from Japan as well as on the distribution.

JAPAN'S FUTURE ECONOMIC POSITION—Far Eastern Commission policy permits Japan an industrial potential equivalent to the years 1930-34, but to be effective this needs considerable clarification and the delegates may be called on to fill in the details. There is also a policy clash possible in this between the United States and some British Commonwealth nations and Russia.

Breaking Up The Empire

TERRITORIAL QUESTIONS — The Cairo, Yalta and Potsdam agreements stripped Japan of her overseas empire, but the peacemakers must formalize the status of Korea, Formosa, Manchuria, the Kurile Islands and Sakhalin. They also must decide which, if any of the small islands around Japan will be returned to the Japanese.

In addition to these major problems, the war left a host of time-consuming details to be untangled ranging from the overhaul or rewriting of prewar treaties to the clarification of patent rights.

Brzucki's Life Term Commuted

TOKYO, July 17 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Robert W. Crichlow, commander of the Kobe occupation base, has commuted to fifteen years at hard labor the life sentence imposed April 25 on Pvt. S. Brzucki of Jersey City for slaying a Japanese. Brzucki was convicted by a general court-martial of the slaying while on duty guarding freighters at Kobe.

CRISIS MOUNTS IN INDONESIA

Dutch Effort To Alter Stand On Demands Fails

Batavia, Java, [Friday] July 18 (AP)—A belated effort to alter the determined stand of the Indonesian Government against Dutch demands had come to nothing today, and Dutch sources said the Indonesian crisis was more dangerous than ever.

A Dutch information service spokesman said the next move was now up to the Netherlands Government, and that Hubertus J. Van Mook, acting governor general, sent his personal recommendations to The Hague last night. Earlier, Dutch sources had predicted that armed hostilities would almost certainly break out by the week end.

The official texts of documents exchanged by the two governments during the past 48 hours disclosed that the Netherlands had set ultimatum dates for Indonesian action —two of which already have passed.

Decision Not Altered

A. K. Gani, Deputy Indonesian Prime Minister, said the Republican Government had not altered the decision contained in a broadcast by Prime Minister Amir Sjarifoeddin which rejected the Dutch demands.

The latest Indonesian-Dutch differences arose over a proposed cease-fire order and police powers in the proposed interim government which would be set up to rule until January 1, 1949, when the United States of Indonesia would be given sovereignty.

The documents released by the Netherlands Government disclosed that the Indonesians insist that police powers must rest with the individual states in the United States of Indonesia. They insist that any cease-fire order must be issued together by the Indonesian and Netherlands Governments and not until conclusion of a full political agreement.

Dutch Police Units

The Netherlands insists that the police power is the primary responsibility of the individual states, but the regular police of each state must also have a special police corps into which Dutch police units would be incorporated at the discretion of the interim government.

The Netherlands further insists that the republic only must issue a cease-fire order and has set ultimatum dates.

Van Mook handed Sjarifoeddin a draft agreement Tuesday demanding the cessation by one minute before midnight Wednesday of all military action outside the boundaries of Dutch-held areas. A halt to all hostile propaganda against the Netherlands by July 17 also was demanded.

Withdrawal Demanded Yesterday

A third demand was that all Indonesian military organizations be withdrawn at least 6 miles from their present front lines, the withdrawal to begin at 6 P.M., Java time, tomorrow, and be completed by Monday.

The Dutch said Sjarifoeddin tentatively accepted these demands, but late last night Indonesian counterproposals were handed Van Mook which indicated the Prime Minister had been overridden by his Cabinet and the parliamentary working committee in Jogjakarta.

The Jogjakarta radio, arguing that the Dutch also should issue a cease-fire order, said Dutch troops had violated the truce 300 times in June.

Could Appeal To U.N.

Gani said early today that if The Hague decides to break off negotiations, the republic will ask international intervention to preserve peace. One course may be to appeal to the United Nations Security Council through a friendly power, he said.

Sjarifoeddin in his broadcast declared the situation was "critical" and "the Dutch attitude leaves no doubt they want to avert the road of peace."

Clear Indonesia Policy Sought

Batavia, Java, July 17 (AP)—Acting Foreign Minister Tamsil of the Indonesian republic flew to the republican capital of Jogjakarta today in an effort to resolve new differences between his Government and Netherlands authorities which threatened to precipitate war in Indonesia.

He left Batavia in a Dutch plane he had requested from Hubertus J. van Mook, acting governor general, in a conference earlier today in line with negotiations for a joint national government for the United States of Indonesia.

Tamsil indicated that he would ask republican Premier Amir Sjarifoeddin to clarify the policy connotations of a radio speech which the Dutch interpreted as meaning that Sjarifoeddin had rejected their compromise plan for the Government.

To Return To Batavia

The Minister intended to return here later today and meet again with van Mook.

A Jogjagarta dispatch said a republican parliamentary working committee had rejected unanimously a Dutch proposal for future policing of the republic, embodied in the plan.

Sobsie (the central Indonesian labor-union federation) ordered all Indonesian workers to prepare together with the whole people "to launch united action in defense of Indonesia's sover ignity and independence against Dutch aggression."

Earlier, one high-level Netherlands informant said the Dutch were expected to decide before nightfall whether to undertake military action against the republic. He indicated that such action was extremely likely.

New Crisis Reported

This informant declared that a new crisis of "extraordinary gravity" had grown out of Sjarifoeddin's refusal to issue a cease-fire order to Indonesian forces last midnight. He said this broke a pledge the Premier made yesterday.

In his radio speech from Jogjakarta, the Premier told Indonesians that the situation was critical. He said the Dutch attitude showed "they want to avoid the ways of peace."

"Let us be alert," he went on. "We must organize all forces and powers under our command. But never forget the ways of peace. However, we must be prepared should the Dutch choose another way."

Sjarifoeddin said he had sought a peaceful solution but had been "frustrated by Dutch demands."

CANBERRA, July 17 (AP)—Government sources said today that Australia planned to go ahead with preparations for the British Empire Conference here on Aug. 26 and expressed the hope that the United States would change the scheduled Aug. 19 date for a proposed eleven-nation preliminary meeting on the Japanese peace settlement.

World Market For Free Gold Seen in Manila

Republic Not Expected to Hinder Sales at Prices Over Rate Fixed by U. S.

MANILA, July 17 (AP).—A flourishing free world market for gold seemed assured in Manila today when a Philippine spokesman indicated that the republic would do nothing to hinder private gold sales to British, Chinese and other purchasers at prices higher than the United States-controlled rate of $35 an ounce.

It was recalled that President Manuel Roxas recently said he would like to see the establishment of a gold market in the Philippines to help speed the reconstruction of the islands' gold mines.

The statement today of John W. Snyder, United States Secretary of the Treasury, that the United States government would make no effort to prevent an American firm from buying Canadian gold ore, refining it in the United States and then exporting it for shipment abroad at prices higher than the $35 an ounce level seemed to indicate there would be no objection to similar sales in the Philippines. Some sales already have taken place in Manila.

The latest involved the purchase yesterday by a Chinese syndicate of bars of refined gold from the Big Wedge mine operated by Atok Gold Co. at $45.50 an ounce. The sale involved only about $20,000, but it was understood that Atok had disposed of a considerable amount of its production since April to Chinese buyers through London, at $42.50 an ounce.

Cairo Telegraphers Strike

Cairo, July 17 (AP)—Employés of the Egyptian state telegraph department started a general sitdown strike in their offices today to emphasize a demand for improved working conditions. No telegrams were received or sent in Cairo.

Hekmat Heads Iran Parliament

Tehran, July 17 (AP)—Reza Hekmat, former governor general of Fars province and a member of Premier Qavam's new Democratic party, was elected president of Parliament today at the opening of a session which will be asked to radify a controversial agreement granting Russia valuable oil concessions in northern Iran.

Hekmat's chief opponent was Seyed Hassan Taqizadeh, current Ambassador to London, who has frequently been critical of Russia.

One hundred and seven of the 136 deputies attended the session.

U.S. REFUSES BRITISH PLEA ON REICH TALK

Declines To Extend Parley To Include Finances And Food

Washington, July 17 (AP)—The United States Government has turned down a British request that proposed discussions on boosting Ruhr coal production be expanded to include German financial, food and industrial questions.

Government officials said tonight the State Department had also refused a British suggestion that the Washington conversations scheduled to begin next week be moved instead to Berlin in the event the American Government declined to enlarge the agenda.

A State Department spokesman told a news conference "we have replied we would prefer these talks take place in Washington."

Paris Conference Competition

Although no official reason was given by the State Department for the refusal to add to the talks, officials said the United States did not want to appear to be competing with the current sixteen-nation discussions in Paris on the "Marshall plan."

This plan calls for Europe to draw up its own rehabilitation program, with the United States standing ready to give any aid deemed practicable.

Acceptance Withheld

London, July 17 (AP)—Britain has withheld acceptance of a United States invitation to an Anglo-American conference on increasing Ruhr coal production and demanded that the scope of the talks be broadened to include German food, finance and new levels for industry, the Foreign Office disclosed tonight.

The United States asked Britain July 11, to send a mission to Washington for a conference next week, but the communiqué mentioned only the "urgent problems" of increasing German coal production as a subject of discussion.

A Foreign Office official said Britain's position should not be interpreted as meaning she has said she would refuse to go to a Washington conference if its scope is not broadened.

Delegates Appointed

This development came after British authorities already had announced the appointment of Lieut. Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, deputy military governor of the British zone in Germany, and Sir William Strang, his political advisor, to attend the Washington talks.

The importance with which Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Secretary of State, regards an increase in Ruhr coal production was indicated yesterday when he told a Washington news conference it was a fundamental requirement for the recovery of Europe.

However, the questions of financing and feeding are pressing ones for Britain's dollar-scarce economy. Authoritative informants said yesterday the British Government would ask the United States to carry more than its agreed 50 per cent share of the $1,000,000,000 cost of restoring the combined western zones to solvency in the next three years.

Production Estimates

United States sources have estimated that Ruhr coal production must be boosted from the present 216,000 tons daily to 350,000.

Concerning another conference proposed for Washington, a preliminary conference on a Japanese peace, authoritative British sources said Britain may suggest that fourteen instead of eleven nations be invited.

These informants said South Africa and Burma have formally expressed their desires to take part in the peace conference. The third additional power would be the Moslem State of Pakistan.

U.S. Hopes Russ Will Assent To No-Veto Talks

Washington, July 17 (AP)—Despite the widening split between Russia and the western allies in Europe, American officials voiced hope today that Moscow would agree to Japanese peace-treaty talks free of any big-power veto.

If the Kremlin rejects the United States proposal, which it now has under consideration, this Government will be faced with deciding whether to go ahead with a "separate" treaty with Japan—that is, one without Soviet participation.

Unlike her position in Germany, Russia has no occupation forces in Japan and controls no Japanese territory. Hence officials here contend such a separate peace with a functioning Japanese government could be made to work.

Two Big Innovations

The American proposal for a veto-free conference of eleven nations to begin work on the Japanese treaty was announced yesterday. It is in two respects a radical departure from European peacemaking procedure.

In the first place, the conference would make decisions by a two-thirds vote, with or without concurring votes of the big powers.

In the second place the treaty-drafting would be done not alone by the great powers but by seven other nations as well, each with a primary interest in the Japanese settlement.

Only The Big Four

The countries which the United States proposed for participation are the Big Four of the Far East—America, Britain, China and Russia—plus the Philippines, India, Australia, New Zealand, France, the Netherlands and Canada.

In the case of Europe, Russia flatly opposed any such wide participation and insisted that those treaties be written by the European Big Four—America, Britain, Russia and France.

Eventually, the American plan contemplates a full-dress general peace conference to be attended by all the 48 nations which were—and technically still are—at war with Japan.

Place, Date

But the first stage is the elevennation meeting, which the United States suggested should open either in Washington or San Francisco on August 19. The details are subject to change.

For one thing, British commonwealth countries have expressed tentative opposition to the date because it might conflict with a Far Eastern conference of their own in Australia starting August 26.

For another, objection may be raised to having this first meeting limited to "deputies and experts" rather than include foreign ministers themselves.

On these and similiar questions American compromises may be readily forthcoming.

Shouldn't Take Long

However, officials indicate that there is no thought of compromise at the moment on questions of principle, such as the Soviets might raise having to do with voting rules and participation by small as well as large nations.

Officials say there is no reason why it should take any longer than a matter of months to draft the Japanese treaty. They cite the fact that Japan has a going government now under the control of General MacArthur as Allied occupation commander. Hence, many of the political problems raised in connection with Germany do not arise in this case.

On another critical point of all peace treaties—the disposition of territory—a substantial measure of agreement has already been reached among the powers principally concerned.

The chances of the bill's passage at this session is slight in view of the drive for adjournment by the end of next week. The measure thus will probably lie over for action early next year.

Before approving the bill, the committee wrote in a clause to provide that execution of the program must be consistent with the "good neighbor" program of the United States, and another to require the President to terminate aid to any country found to be violating the terms of the program. The original measure proposed a ten - year program with an estimated expenditure of $10,000,000 a year.

The program is advocated by Secretary of State Marshall, Gen. Eisenhower, Admiral Nimitz and others as essential to the security of the Western Hemisphere. Under its terms, the United States, drawing upon its huge reservoir of military equipment, would supply the other Americas with modern weapons, ships and planes and send military missions to train them in modern warfare. In return, the military chiefs have said, the United States hopes to develop a network of modern, American-equipped air bases stretching from the Arctic to the tip of South America.

For Hemisphere Defense Bill

House Committee Approves It After Cutting Cost of Arms Plan to $50,000,000.

Washington, July 17 (A. P.).—The House Foreign Affairs Committee today approved a bill calling for arms standardization and military co-operation between the countries of the Western Hemisphere. At the same time the committee limited this country's expenditures to $50,000,000 for a five-year program.

Marshall Plea Saves Aid Plan From Budget Knife

Washington, July 17 (AP) — An eleventh-hour plea by Secretary of State Marshall was reported today to have rescued almost the entire $1,475,000,000 foreign aid program from the economy knife poised over it by the House Appropriations Committee.

Committee members said that as the result of a personal appeal by Marshall to Speaker Martin (R., Mass.) and other GOP leaders the group has agreed tentatively to:

1. Approve the full $400,000,000 asked by President Truman to carry out the Greek-Turkish aid program.

2. Grant "substantially all" of the $350,000,000 requested for relief in liberated nations.

3. Provide the Army with most of the $725,000,000 it has sought for relief and administrative work in occupied countries. One committee member said the committee will recommend "in the neighborhood of $500,000,000" with the understanding that the Army can return early next year for more if needed.

Fund Okay Lacking

Congress has already approved the Greece-Turkey aid and the relief program for liberated nations but funds to put them into full effect have yet to be appropriated.

The money is to be provided in a supplemental appropriation bill scheduled to be sent to the House floor tomorrow or Saturday. The same bill also carries the Army's relief funds.

Only recently, Republican committee members predicted that the funds would be reduced sharply because the State Department had failed to justify the expenditures. Publication of their predictions sent Marshall to the Capitol last Saturday for an off-the-record talk with House GOP leaders.

Great "Conversion"

"Secretary Marshall's visit brought about the greatest conversion since St. Paul went to Damascus," a Democratic committee member said. "The Secretary told them some of the facts of life, and his visit, coupled with Russia's boycott of the European economic conferences, changed the entire picture."

A Republican member said he agreed "reluctantly to the request, but I'm still not convinced. I am staking this on my faith in Secretary Marshall."

HOUSE VOTES REPEAL OF WARTIME STATUTES

WASHINGTON, July 17—(AP) The house, in less than half an hour, voted today to repeal 57 wartime statutes—ranging from the law empowering the president to censor communications with foreign countries, to his authority to employ $1-a-year men.

The repealer bill, approved by voice vote without opposition, also set termination dates for over 100 other wartime laws.

Rep. Springer (R-Ind) told the house the repealer legislation was worked out with the attorney general and affected wartime powers now "outmoded, obsolete and unnecessary."

The senate has passed similar repealer legislation in slightly different form. A house-senate conference committee now will iron out the differences.

Yemen Prince to Discuss Kingdom's Mineral Riches

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 17 — Prince Saif al-Islam Abdullah, son of the King of Yemen, will discuss the possibility of hiring American companies to survey the unexplored kingdom for the mineral riches believed to exist there.

Government officials, in disclosing this today, said the Prince will talk with representatives of private mineralogist corporations during a tour of the Middle West.

Foreigners who have visited Yemen believe the kingdom's 75,000 square miles may contain gold, silver, copper, coal, vanadium and oil.

The question of possible concessions to American companies has not been raised yet, these officials said, because the Prince is interested first in determining what minerals exist in Yemen.

During his three-day stay in the capital as an official American guest the Prince has mentioned his desire for a private loan to his country to facilitate development of some industries and agriculture. If the prospective survey turns up substantial quantities of valuable minerals, Yemen may ask for a loan to finance these developments.

House Unit Acts To Speed Aid To Italy

JUL 1947

Washington, July 17 (AP)—The House Commerce Committee today considered legislation to return to Italy $60,000,000 in wartime-seized property and provide 31 ships for the Italian merchant marine.

The measure, already passed by the Senate, is aimed at bolstering Italy's shaky economy and helping rebuild the Italian merchant marine, since that nation depends heavily on export-import trade.

Sponsors planned to rush the bill to President Truman before Congress adjourns, describing it as a step in a broad foreign policy goal of stemming Communist expansion.

"Aid Needed Urgently"

Representative Lodge (R., Conn.) told the committee the United States must do "all we can to help Italy become a bastion of liberty rather than communism," adding that aid is needed urgently to keep Italy from falling under Moscow's control. Lodge is a Foreign Affairs Committee member.

Under the terms of the measure this country would:

1. Return to Italy all of the $60,000,000 in Italian-seized property in excess of that necessary to meet the claims of American nationals for property losses in Italy during the war.

2. Restore thirteen Italian ships now in American hands which were seized during the war, including five taken over by Brazil and Venezuela and subsequently purchased by the United States.

3. Make good the loss, from surplus Liberty ships, of eighteen other vessels which also were seized but lost while in wartime service.

Lodge said Italy's merchant marine is one tenth of its prewar size, its tonnage having decreased from 3,000,000 to 300,000.

Representative Hinshaw (R., Cal.), a committee member, commented, however, that "it's the same old story that was told after World War I when we restored ships and property to Germany."

Assistant Secretary of State Willard L. Thorp, without mentioning Russia directly, said that "the political implications of such assistance to the Italian economy would clearly be most salutary and desirable from this Government's point of view."

U.S. 'Parasite' Fighter Test Now Expected In September

JUL 1947

Washington, July 17 (AP)—The first jet-propelled "Parasitic" fighter in history, designed to be carried in the belly of the mammoth B-36 Army bomber, is expected to make its initial flight in September, it was disclosed today.

The little bomber escort, known as the XP-85, is being built by McDonnell Aircraft Corporation, of St. Louis, which has produced two jet-fighter types for the Navy. Details of the new plane are classed as secret by the Army Air Force, which refuses to discuss it beyond admitting its existence.

20-Foot Wingspan

Persons familiar with the tiny craft give this general description:

Its wingspan is around 20 feet and length about 15 feet, giving it the apeparance of a bee. Gross weight is between 3,000 and 4,000 pounds. The engine is a small but powerful Westinghouse Turbojet, probably a 19-inch model, with a thrust of 1,500 pounds.

The wings fold, as on carrier-based Navy fighters, to permit the plane to be hauled into the bomber's belly. The plane has no landing gear. It is taken aboard the bomber, launched in flight when the mother ship is in danger of air attack, and taken back aboard by catching a hook swinging beneath the big plane.

During World War II, bombers frequently outranged the fighters under special circumstances.

Current thinking in terms of global ranging bombers, such as the B-36, calls for planning fighters which can accompany bombers beyond the limits of a single pilot or a single engine One answer has been the two-engine, two-pilot P-82, built by joining two P-51 Mustangs. Such a plane flew from Hawaii to New York nonstop recently.

Experiments Began 40 Years Ago

The other approach has been through the tiny "Parasite" type. Such experiments began 40 years ago when a Frenchman had his plane carried into the air by balloon before taking off. The Army Air Corps launched planes from balloons in 1924, and the Navy based a squadron aboard some of its giant dirigibles. It continued that type of operation until 1935.

During the last war some AAF fighters could operate 1,600 miles from base, but the strain on the pilot was heavy. With planes like the B-36 and the Northrop XB-35 flying wing, for which the AAF claims 10,000-mile range, it would be extremely difficult to design conventional fighter escorts.

U.S. May Bar Steel For Russia

Washington, July 17 (AP)—Government trade experts said today that Russia's own policy of secrecy behind the "iron curtain" may cut her off, along with satellite nations, from United States steel supplies.

Commerce Department officials said that under this country's newly toughened export controls, foreign nations must explain fully their available supply and demand in order to qualify for shipments from the United States.

But they said that Russia and her Soviet-dominated bloc have persistently refused to furnish details about their internal economy and hence may not qualify.

The disclosure of a possible boomerang in Moscow's policy came after Under Secretary of Commerce William C. Foster told a Senate steel subcommittee that export controls are becoming more and more important "in carrying out the foreign policy of the United States."

Foster said the Commerce Department recently assumed control over the destination and ultimate use of steel plate, steel pipe and tubing, and seamless pipe and tubing shipped abroad.

Francis E. McIntyre, the department's export control director for the Office of International Trade, said the list of steel products placed under this rigid export licensing examination is growing.

U.S. LOYALTY PROBES COST JOBS OF 223

Total Of Federal Employes Found Ineligible May Mount To 811

Washington, July 17 (AP)—The Civil Service Commission reported to Congress today that during the nine months ended last March 31 at least 241 and probably 811 Federal employés were found "ineligible for loyalty reasons" to hold their jobs.

In addition to that, the commission informed the House Civil Service Committee 29 applicants for jobs were found ineligible for the same reasons.

None of these applicants received jobs, 223 of the employés were discharged and eighteen resigned "before the action was completed."

The commission did not elaborate on why it held the employés and applicants "ineligible for loyalty reasons," nor did it give any names.

190 In War Department

In the War Department alone, it reported, 190 employés lost their jobs for loyalty reasons in one area. To be "representative of the entire department," it said, this figure should be multiplied by [illegible] which would mean that 760 army employés were dismissed for loyalty cases.

The commission said it was proper to assume that the other three areas, on which it did not have figures, fired as many as the one area did.

During the nine months, the commission said, there were these dismissals for loyalty reasons: Agriculture Department, 2; Navy, 23; Labor, 5; Veterans Administration, 3; War Department, 190.

In addition, there were three resignations from the Commerce Department and fifteen from the Navy.

14 Navy Applicants Barred

Applicants rejected for loyalty reasons included two in Commerce, fourteen in Navy, three in the Veterans Administration and ten in the one army area.

The commission obtained the data at the request of Representative Rees (R., Kan.), sponsor of House-passed legislation setting up a loyalty review board to screen all Federal employés and job applicants.

Of the 57 departments and agencies, the commission said 44 of them filed reports as of July 15, 1947, and 38 of them had no employés or applicants ineligible for loyalty reasons.

Eisler Hears Sister Call Him a Member of Ogpu

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP).—Gerhart Eisler, fifty, German-born Communist, stared in stony silence today as he heard his own sister call him "a member of the Ogpu—the Russian secret police—the greatest enemy of mankind." Eisler, described by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as the Kremlin's chief agent in this country, is on trial in Federal court on charges of passport fraud.

His sister, Ruth Fischer, who said her real name is Elfriede Eisler, told the jury that it was a "very painful experience to testify against one's own brother" Admittedly a former Communist herself, she denied under cross-examination that she had felt a deep enmity toward her brother ever since 1923.

"No," she said, "my antagonism is against Stalin, in whose service Mr. Eisler stands, and not against Mr. Eisler."

Another witness, Charles H. White, of New York, told the jury he saw Eisler at the Lenin Institute in Moscow in 1931 acting as a discussion leader of the American Negro problem.

SENATE APPROVES U. N. SITE COMPACT

Washington, July 17 (A. P.).—Legislation authorizing President Truman to make effective an agreement establishing United Nations headquarters in New York city was passed unanimously today by the Senate. It goes to the House.

The agreement, negotiated by the U. N., this country, and the State and City of New York, can be formally made effective by an exchange of notes between the President—subject to Congress's approval—and the U. N. Security Council.

President Truman had urged its approval by Congress before the Security Council's September meeting. The agreement extends the customary diplomatic inviolability from local laws to a headquarters area of six city blocks.

Bill Admitting 100,000 Refugees Being Pushed

Washington, July 17 (AP)—Representative Chelf (D., Ky.) today proposed passage before adjournment of a stop-gap bill to admit 100,000 European war refugees in the next year.

The measure—which Secretary of State Marshall has called "a lot better than nothing"—was offered as a compromise for one pending which would lower immigration bars for 400,000 displaced persons in four years.

Indications are that the original bill has no chance of approval at this session.

Chelf said he has talked over his proposal with other members of a five-man Judiciary subcommittee and has assurances a majority is willing to recommend it to the full committee.

Lauds Marshall's Judgment

"I've got a lot of faith in General Marshall," Chelf told newsmen.

"He says he needs this measure to help stabilize the world and bring peace. If he says he needs it, then I'm for it. If he wants it for diplomatic ammunition, then let's give it to him."

Chelf modified in his measure a clause in the original bill which would give priority to displaced persons who have relatives in this country. Under Chelf's proposal, priority would go only to those with relatives who served in the United States armed forces during either of the two world wars.

Criticized By Two

The original clause drew bitter protests from Chairman Fellows (R., Maine) and Representative Graham (R., Pa.) on the grounds that it would work in favor of displaced persons with large racial representation now in this country and against those from countries such as Esthonia and Latvia, with comparatively small representation.

"This will prove our good faith," said Chelf of his bill in general.

"If passed," Chelf said, "it will show the rest of the world that we intend to practice what we preach, and will start the resettlement program without all this bickering over who is going to get it under way first."

He said that even if Congress failed to complete action before adjournment, progress would give Marshall an answer to the query of other countries:

"What is the United States going to do?"

WITNESSES LISTED FOR RED INQUIRY

Washington, July 17 (A. P.).—Chairman Thomas (R.-N. J.).—Announced today that th e House Committee on un-American activities will hold hearings all next week in its investigation of communism.

Thomas announced this schedule of witnesses:

Monday—Walter Steele, chairman of the national security committee of the American Coalition of Patriotic Societies.

Tuesday—Victor Kravchenko, author of "I Chose Freedom," a former officer of the Red Army and an employee of the Soviet purchasing commission in the United States. Dr. Mladen Giunio-Zorkin, former member of the Yugoslav diplomatic service in London and former officer of the Uugoslav Army.

Wednesday — Ann Mathews, Gene Pratt, Spencer Long, Edward McCree, W. C. Sheppard and Robert C. Black of Winston-Salem, N. C., who will testify concerning "alleged Communist influences in Local 22 of the Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers, C. I. O."

Thursday—Joseph Julianelle of Bridgeport, Conn., business agent of Local 203 of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America; Michael Beresick of Bridgeport, president of Local 203 of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America.

Friday—James Joseph Conroy of New York, organizational representative of Local 1237 of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America; S. M. Vottis of Schenectady, a former union official of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America.

FOREIGN STUDY BOARD NAMED

War Surplus Sales to Pay U. S. Students' Expenses.

Washington, July 17 (A. P.).—President Truman today named a board of ten educators and officials to select American students who will study abroad with expenses paid by sales of war surplus. Congress approved the arrangement last year. The State Department said twenty-two countries—not including Soviet Russia—are presently eligible to take part. Approximately 12,000 students have applied for scholarships and the first is expected to leave in a year.

The board named by Mr. Truman includes Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Veterans Administrator; Dr. John W. Studebaker, United States Commissioner of Education; Miss Sarah G. Blanding, president of Vassar College; Dr. Walter Johnson, University of Chicago; Francis T. Spaulding, New York State Commissioner of Education; Ernest O. Lawrence, University of California; Charles S. Johnson, president of Fisk University; Helen C. White, University of Wisconsin; Dean Martin P. McGuire of Catholic University and Laurence Duggan, director of the Institute of International Education, New York city.

Establishment of the board was authorized by the Fulbright act under which $137,550,000 is currently available for educational exchanges during the next twenty years.

Expected to Exceed Rhodes Plan.

Senator Fulbright (D.-Ark.), the author, told reporters he estimated the new program would be "ten or eleven times" as large as the American share of the Rhodes Scholarship for study at Oxford University in England. Fulbright, a former Rhodes scholar, said about 1,100 Americans had studied at Oxford under the Rhodes plan.

Participation of foreign countries who have bought American war surplus is voluntary and Fulbright said he assumed some would be unwilling to accept students. He added that he saw no indication that Russia would join in the plan.

The act authorizes foreign governments to settle their debts for surplus goods by financing the study of Americans in their educational institutions. Funds also may be used to pay expenses of their own nationals in American schools abroad.

William Benton, Assistant Secretary of State, reported negotiations already have started with most of the twenty-two countries now eligible. He said they were in an advanced stage with the Philippines, China and Burma.

Others include Australia, Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Egypt, Finland, France, Greece, Hungary, Iran, Italy, Netherlands, Netherlands Indies, New Zealand, Poland, Siam, Turkey and the United Kingdom.

Truman's Rio Trip Still Open Question

Washington, July 17 (A. P.).—The White House reiterated today that President Truman has made no out-of-town travel plans for the summer or fall. Asked whether Mr. Truman might go to Brazil during the Inter-American Defense Conference next month, press secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters the question would have to remain open.

Secretary of State Marshall said yesterday that he expected to attend the conference in Rio de Janeiro, but cannot be certain yet. Secretary of Treasury Snyder plans to leave by plane July 21 for a ten-day "social basis" visit to Brazil at the invitation of Brazilian President Dutra.

EX-GI JOINS BRITISH WIFE IN NEW YORK

War Bride Hitchhiked From Ohio Because Of Homesickness

New York, July 17 (AP)—Ralph Crow, 8th Air Force veteran, and his 20-year-old British war bride, Mrs. Faye Ann Crow, were reunited here tonight—but their future plans apparently remained indefinite.

Crow, who married the girl while he was on duty in England in 1945, came here yesterday from Columbus to see his wife, who hitchhiked from Ohio to the Long Island residence of an aunt, giving homesickness as the reason for leaving her husband.

A member of the household of the aunt, Mrs. Violet Duncan, said the veteran and his bride were "out for the evening with friends" and that Crow was leaving "either tonight or tomorrow" for Columbus without his wife.

Returns To Columbus

The household member said Crow was returning to Columbus "to try to find a place where they can be together by themselves," and that his wife "definitely will stay here for at least two or three weeks."

The British girl was said to be "still nervous and confused about the whole thing," and the member of the Duncan household said "I still don't know whether Mrs. Crow is certain about what she wants to do."

The bride was the object of a search in Ohio after Crow had reported her disappearance to police. Later he received a telegram from his wife saying she was "safe and sound" at the aunt's home here.

The aunt then disclosed that Mrs. Crow had left Columbus with only $1.50 and that she had hitchhiked the distance to New York.

abouts can be obtained by the United States embassy. The woman is in failing health and may die before she regains her health."

He added that "my office in conjunction with the State department in Washington and her worried relatives are trying hard to secure her release. We have been blocked by Russian red tape and silence all along the line."

Press Officer Reginald Mitchell of the State department, told reporters in Washington that the department had known for some time that persons claiming American citizenship are in Russia.

Mitchell said the American embassy in Moscow "is making every effort to extend protection to these claimants," and help them file applications for American passports in order to verify their claims.

The American embassy in Moscow has unsuccessfully sought the help of the Russian foreign office, he added, in arranging for departure from Russia of an American-born woman and her five children.

Mitchell said he did not know whether the woman was the same as that referred to by Coolidge.

The State department official said the woman they were trying to help was born "in New England" but declined to give her name or any indication where she now was in Russia.

This woman married in 1927 a man "not of American citizenship," the department said, but declined to elaborate.

The five children were born prior to 1934, which means that the children under law are not American citizens.

U.S. Mother, Five Children Held Prisoners in Siberia, Is Charge

BOSTON, July 17—(AP) Lt. Gov. Arthur W. Coolidge today told Massachusetts Legionnaires that "the Soviet Union keeps as prisoner in Siberia a Massachusetts mother and her five children.

Coolidge, speaking at the annual convention of the Massachusetts Department of the American Legion, declined to name the woman to "protect" her and, for the same reason, did not elaborate.

He told the Legionnaires that "her husband was snatched away and taken to another concentration camp. No information of his where-

NIGHT LEAD RUHR (330)
BY WILLIAM L.PHILLIPS

LONDON, JULY 17-(AP)-BRITAIN HAS WITHHELD ACCEPTANCE OF A UNITED STATES INVITATION TO AN ANGLO-AMERICAN CONFERENCE ON INCREASING RUHR COAL PRODUCTION AND DEMANDED THAT THE SCOPE OF THE TALKS BE BROADENED TO INCLUDE GERMAN FOOD, FINANCE AND NEW LEVELS FOR INDUSTRY, THE FOREIGN OFFICE DISCLOSED TONIGHT.

THE UNITED STATES ASKED BRITAIN JULY 11 TO SEND A MISSION TO WASHINGTON FOR A CONFERENCE NEXT WEEK, BUT THE COMMUNIQUE MENTIONED ONLY THE "URGENT PROBLEMS" OF INCREASING GERMAN COAL PRODUCTION AS A SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION.

A FOREIGN OFFICE OFFICIAL SAID BRITAIN'S POSITION SHOULD NOT BE INTERPRETED AS MEANING SHE HAS SAID SHE WOULD REFUSE TO GO TO A WASHINGTON CONFERENCE IF ITS SCOPE IS NOT BROADENED.

"THE AGENDA IS UNDER DISCUSSION -ADD- AND DECISION HAS NOT BEEN REACHED," HE SAID.

THIS EXPLANATION WAS GIVEN AFTER A SPOKESMAN TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE THAT BRITAIN HAD NOT YET ACCEPTED THE INVITATION AND WAS NOT PREPARED TO ACCEPT ON THE BASIS OF THE LIMITED AGENDA.

THIS SURPRISE DEVELOPMENT CAME AFTER BRITISH AUTHORITIES ALREADY HAD ANNOUNCED THE APPOINTMENT OF LT.GEN.SIR BRIAN ROBERTSON, DEPUTY MILITARY GOVERNOR OF THE BRITISH ZONE IN GERMANY, AND SIR WILLIAM STRANG, HIS POLITICAL ADVISOR, TO ATTEND THE WASHINGTON TALKS.

THE IMPORTANCE WITH WHICH U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE GEORGE MARSHALL REGARDS AN INCREASE IN RUHR COAL PRODUCTION WAS INDICATED YESTERDAY WHEN HE TOLD A WASHINGTON NEWS CONFERENCE IT WAS A FUNDAMENTAL REQUIREMENT FOR THE RECOVERY OF EUROPE.

HOWEVER, THE QUESTIONS OF FINANCING AND FEEDING ARE PRESSING ONES FOR BRITAIN'S DOLLAR-SCARCE ECONOMY. AUTHORITATIVE INFORMANTS SAID YESTERDAY THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT WOULD ASK THE UNITED STATES TO CARRY MORE THAN ITS AGREED 50 PER CENT SHARE OF THE $1,000,000,000 COST OF RESTORING THE COMBINED WESTERN ZONES TO SOLVENCY IN THE NEXT THREE YEARS.

U.S. SOURCES HAVE ESTIMATED THAT RUHR COAL PRODUCTION MUST BE BOOSTED FROM THE PRESENT 216,000 TONS DAILY TO 350,000.

CONCERNING ANOTHER CONFERENCE PROPOSED FOR WASHINGTON, A PRELIMINARY CONFERENCE ON A JAPANESE PEACE, AUTHORITATIVE BRITISH SOURCES SAID BRITAIN MAY SUGGEST THAT 14 INSTEAD OF 11 NATIONS BE INVITED.

THESE INFORMANTS SAID SOUTH AFRICA AND BURMA HAVE FORMALLY EXPRESSED THEIR DESIRES TO TAKE PART IN THE PEACE CONFERENCE. THE THIRD ADDITIONAL POWER WOULD BE THE MOSLEM STATE OF PAKISTAN.

THE INFORMANTS SAID THIS CARRIED "ONE STAGE FURTHER" THE GRADUAL BRITISH-AMERICAN POLICY OF STANDARIZING MILITARY EQUIPMENT AND MUNITIONS.

A U.S.EMBASSY SPOKESMAN SAID HE COULD NEITHER CONFIRM NOR DENY THE REPORTED ATTENDANCE OFIAMERICAN OFFICERS "FOR SECURITY REASONS."

BRITISH REPRESENTATIVES WILL GO TO WASHINGTON ONLY IF THE SCOPE OF THE PROJECTED TALKS IS WIDENED TO INCLUDE SUCH MATTERS AS BI-ZONAL FOOD PROBLEMS, FINANCE, NEW LEVELS FOR INDUSTRY AND SO ON, HE SAID.

THE BRITISH COMMUNICATION TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT, DISPATCHED "A SHORT TIME AGO," EXPRESSED THIS COUNTRY'S VIEW THAT BERLIN WOULD BE A MORE SUITABLE PLACE FOR DISCUSSION ON BI-ZONAL COAL PRODUCTION, THE SPOKESMAN ADDED. -ADD-

THE UNITED STATES ASKED BRITAIN JULY 11 TO SEND A MISSION TO WASHINGTON TO DISCUSS WHAT A COMMUNIQUE AT THE TIME SAID WERE "URGENT PROBLEMS" CONNECTED WITH INCREASING RUHR COAL OUTPUT.

Paris, July 17-(AP) Holland insisted before the European economic conference steering committee today that Germany's productive capacity be increased along with that of the rest of Europe.

Dr. Hans Hirschfield of the Netherlands delegation said German resources as must be included in any general scheme for reviving western Europe, French informants said. He said Europeans also must attract foreign capital by making investment opportunities attraction.

Replied

French Delegate Herve Alphand ~~said in reply~~ that France also favored raising the productive ~~maximum~~ capacity of Europe, including Germany, to a maximum but held that the increase for Germany should be primarily in coal and food.

The French proposed also that colonial resources be taken into account in syrveying European resources.

PARIS, JULY 17-(AP)-ERIC JOHNSTON, PRESIDENT OF THE MOTION PICTURE ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA, SAID TODAY HOLLYWOOD WAS REFUSING TO SEND EUROPEAN EXHIBITORS "THE GRAPES OF WRATH" OR "TOBACCO ROAD" BECAUSE SOME HAD MADE PROPAGANDA FROM THESE FILMS.

IN AN INTERVIEW, HE DECLARED THAT THESE PICTURES--DEALING RESPECTIVELY WITH DUST-BOWL OKIES AND SOUTHERN POOR WHITES--WERE NOT BEING EXPORTED TO EUROPE BECAUSE OF EXPERIENCE WITH "THE GRAPES OF WRATH" IN YUGOSLAVIA. THERE, JOHNSTON SAID, AN OLD GERMAN-IMPORTED COPY OF THE FILM WAS FOUND BEING SHOWN, SEVERELY RE-EDITED, UNDER THE SARCASTIC TITLE, "THE PARADISE OF AMERICAN DEMOCRACY."

JOHNSTON, IN AN ECONOMIC SURVEY OF EUROPE, HAS VISITED THE LOW COUNTRIES, SCANDINAVIA, POLAND, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, GERMANY AND FRANCE. HE SAID ALL WERE TRYING TO ESTABLISH LOCAL FILM INDUSTRIES WITH GOVERNMENT PROTECTION, INCLUDING SUBSIDIES AND QUOTAS. BUT HE ADDED THAT UNITED STATES PRODUCERS "WELCOME COMPETITION."

HE SAID AMERICAN EXPORTERS WERE ALLOWING THEIR FILMS TO BE USED ON THE CONTINENT ONLY ON CONDITION THEY HAD CONTROL OF THE CONTENT, BUT WERE ANXIOUS TO DO BUSINESS. IN EASTERN EUROPE, HE POINTED OUT, "THE PEOPLE'S ONLY CONTACT WITH AMERICA" IS MOVIES. Y.T'

Berlin, July 17-(AP)-Col. Hugh B. Hester of the U.S. military government told Germans by radio tonight the United States and Great Britain imported nearly $62,000,000 worth of food at their own expense in June for Germans.

He reminded the Germans, who have been restive because sharp food shortages prevented fulfillment of the 1,550 calories daily diet, that "not only Germany alone but most of Europe and asia are also hungry."

Hester, chief of the military government food and agriculture branch, said the United States and Great Britain were spending an average of $50,000,000 a month of their taxpayers' money to feed the 40,000,000 Germans in the two western zones and that imports of 483,000 tons of

GENEVA, SWITZERLAND, JULY 17-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS ECONOMIC COMMISSION FOR EUROPE DRAFTED TODAY A EUROPEAN RECONSTRUCTION PLAN WHICH IS TO PICK UP WHERE THE MARSHALL PLAN PROGRAM LEAVES OFF.

A REPORT OF THE COMMISSION'S SESSIONS HERE IS TO BE SUBMITTED TO THE U.N. ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL AT ITS MEETING OPENING AT LAKE SUCCESS ON JULY 19.

DR.KARL GUNNAR MYRDAL, EXECUTIVE SECRETARY OF THE COMMISSION, PLANS TO GO TO LAKE SUCCESS NEXT WEEK, TAKING WITH HIM THE REPORT WHICH AIDES SAID WOULD BE BASED ON LONG RANGE PLANNING AS CONTRASTED TO THE EMERGENCY NATURE OF THE MARSHALL PROGRAM.

THE COMMISSION HAS NAMED COMMITTEES ON TRANSPORT, COAL, INDUSTRY AND MATERIALS AND ELECTRIC POWER, AND A PANEL ON HOUSING. THE THREE SUBCOMMITTEES ON TIMBER, FERTILIZERS AND ALKALIS.

AN EFFORT IS BEING MADE TO BRING ALL THESE GROUPS TO GENEVA IN SEPTEMBER FOR COORDINATION OF THEIR EFFORTS.

MEANWHILE, THE COMMISSION ALSO IS CONTINUING SHORT-TERM RECONSTRUCTION PROJECTS IN ABSORBING THREE EMERGENCY GROUPS, THE EUROPEAN CENTRAL INLAND TRANSPORT COMMITTEE, THE EUROPEAN COAL COMMITTEE AND THE EMERGENCY ECONOMIC COMMITTEE FOR EUROPE.

ABSORPTION OF THE EMERGENCY GROUPS AND LAUNCHING OF THE NEW COMMITTEES IS EXPECTED TO BE COMPLETED THIS YEAR AND BEFORE THE THIRD SESSION OF THE COMMISSION NEXT JANUARY.

DETAILS OF THE METHODS OF COORDINATING THE COMMISSION'S PROJECTS WITH THE MARSHALL PLAN ARE AS YET UNCLEAR, BUT BRITISH AND FRENCH DELEGATIONS AT PARIS HAVE INDICATED THEY WILL MAINTAIN CLOSE CONTACT WITH THE U.N. BODY.

ALTHOUGH EASTERN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES HAVE DECLINED TO JOIN THE MARSHALL PLAN, RUSSIA, POLAND, CZECHOSLOVAKIA AND YUGOSLAVIA ARE MEMBERS OF THE U.N. ECONOMIC COMMISSION.

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON,JULY 17-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN TODAY NAMED A BOARD OF 10 EDUCATORS AND OFFICIALS TO SELECT AMERICAN STUDENTS WHO WILL STUDY ABROAD WITH EXPENSES PAID BY SALES OF WAR SURPLUS.

CONGRESS APPROVED THE ARRANGEMENT LAST YEAR. THE STATE DEPARTMENT SAID 22 COUNTRIES--NOT INCLUDING SOVIET RUSSIA--ARE PRESENTLY ELIGIBLE TO TAKE PART.

JUL 1947

APPROXIMATELY 12,000 STUDENTS HAVE APPLIED FOR SCHOLARSHIPS AND THE FIRST IS EXPECTED TO LEAVE IN A YEAR.

THE BOARD NAMED BY MR.TRUMAN INCLUDES GEN.OMAR N.BRADLEY, VETERANS ADMINISTRATOR; DR.JOHN W.STUDEBAKER, U.S.COMMISSION OF EDUCATION; MISS SARAH G.BLANDING, PRESIDENT OF VASSAR COLLEGE; DR.WALTER JOHNSON, UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO; FRANCIS T.SPAULDING, NEW YORK STATE COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION; ERNEST O.LAWRENCE, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA; PRESIDENT CHARLES S.JOHNSON OF FISK UNIVERSITY; HELEN C.WHITE, UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN; DEAN MARTIN P.MCGUIRE OF CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY; AND LAURENCE DUGGAN, DIRECTOR OF THE INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION, NEW YORK CITY.

ESTABLISHMENT OF THE BOARD WAS AUTHORIZED BY THE FULBRIGHT ACT UNDER WHICH $137,550,000 IS CURRENTLY AVAILABLE FOR EDUCATIONAL EXCHANGES DURING THE NEXT 20 YEARS.

SENATOR FULBRIGHT (D-ARK), THE AUTHOR, TOLD REPORTERS HE ESTIMATED THE NEW PROGRAM WOULD "10 OR 11 TIMES" AS LARGE AS THE AMERICAN SHARE OF THE RHODES SCHOLARSHIP FOR STUDY AT OXFORD UNIVERSITY IN ENGLAND. FULBRIGHT, A FORMER RHODES SCHOLAR, SAID ABOUT 1,100 AMERICANS HAD STUDIED AT OXFORD UNDER THE RHODES PLAN.

PARTICIPATION OF FOREIGN COUNTRIES WHO HAVE BOUGHT AMERICAN WAR SURPLUS IS VOLUNTARY AND FULBRIGHT SAID HE ASSUMED SOME WOULD BE UNWILLING TO ACCEPT STUDENTS. HE ADDED THAT HE SAW NO INDICATION THAT RUSSIA WOULD JOIN IN THE PLAN.

THE ACT AUTHORIZES FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS TO SETTLE THEIR DEBTS FOR SURPLUS GOODS BY FINANCING THE STUDY OF AMERICANS IN THEIR EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS. FUNDS ALSO MAY BE USED TO PAY EXPENSES OF THEIR OWN NATIONALS IN AMERICAN SCHOOLS ABROAD.

WILLIAM BENTON, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE, REPORTED NEGOTIATIONS ALREADY HAVE STARTED WITH MOST OF THE 22 COUNTRIES NOW ELIGIBLE. HE SAID THEY WERE IN AN ADVANCED STAGE WITH THE PHILIPPINES, CHINA AND BURMA.

OTHERS INCLUDE AUSTRALIA, AUSTRIA, BELGIUM, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, DENMARK, EGYPT, FINLAND, FRANCE, GREECE, HUNGARY, IRAN, ITALY, NETHERLANDS, NETHERLANDS INDIES, NEW ZEALAND, POLAND, SIAM, TURKEY, AND THE UNITED KINGDOM.

WASHINGTON,JULY 17-(AP)-PRESIDENT TRUMAN PUT INTO EFFECT TODAY AN ARRANGEMENT BY WHICH SEVERAL THOUSAND AMERICANS ARE EXPECTED TO STUDY IN FOREIGN UNIVERSITIES WITH EXPENSES PAID BY THE SALE OF SURPLUS WAR MATERIALS.

MR.TRUMAN NAMED GEN.OMAR N.BRADLEY, VETERANS ADMINISTRATOR AND NINE OTHER OFFICIALS AND EDUCATORS TO SELECT THE STUDENTS AND SUPERVISE ADMINISTRATION OF THE FULBRIGHT ACT WHICH CONGRESS APPROVED LAST YEAR.

SOME 12,000 HAVE ALREADY APPLIED FOR SCHOLARSHIPS UNDER THE ACT AND THE STATE DEPARTMENT SAID THE FIRST WOULD BE SENT ABROAD PROBABLY IN THE FALL OF 1948. FIVE THOUSAND OF THE APPLICANTS ARE WORLD WAR II VETERANS WHO WOULD BE GIVEN PREFERENCE.

SOVIET RUSSIA AND YUGOSLAVIA ARE MISSING FROM THE LIST OF 22 COUNTRIES WHICH WILLIAM BENTON, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE, SAID ARE ELIGIBLE TO TAKE PART IN THE EDUCATIONAL EXCHANGE. IT INVOLVES AN OUTLAY, UNDER PRESENT PLANS, OF $137,550,000 OVER THE NEXT 20 YEARS.

FORMAL AGREEMENTS ARE NOW BEING NEGOTIATED WITH CHINA, THE PHILIPPINES, BURMA AND SEVERAL OTHERS.

SENATOR FULBRIGHT (D-ARK), WHO SPONSORED THE LEGISLATION, TOLD REPORTERS THAT "IF THE RUSSIANS WANTED TO, THEY COULD DISCHARGE SOME OF THEIR LEND LEASE OBLIGATION IN THIS MANNER, BUT THERE IS NO INDICATION THEY WANT TO."

THE SOVIETS ARE CURRENTLY NEGOTIATING A SETTLEMENT OF $11,200,000,000 LEND LEASE ACCOUNTS.

SENATOR FULBRIGHT, A FORMER RHODES SCHOLAR, ESTIMATED THAT THE NEW PROGRAM ULTIMATELY WOULD PROVIDE FOR "TEN OR ELEVEN TIMES" AS MANY AMERICAN STUDENTS AS THE 1,100 WHO HAVE BEEN SENT TO OXFORD UNIVERSITY IN ENGLAND BY FUNDS BEQUEATHED BY CECIL RHODES, BRITISH EMPIRE BUILDER.

ASIDE FROM GENERAL BRADLEY, THOSE NAMED TO THE NEW BOARD OF FOREIGN SCHOLARSHIPS INCLUDE DR.JOHN W.STUDEBAKER, U.S. COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION; SARAH G.BLANDING, VASSAR COLLEGE PRESIDENT; DR.WALTER JOHNSON, UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO; FRANCIS T.SPAULDING, NEW YORK STATE EDUCATION COMMISSIONER; ERNEST O.LAWRENCE, UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA; PRESIDENT CHARLES S.JOHNSON OF FISK UNIVERSITY; HELEN C.WHITE, UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN; DEAN MARTIN P.MCGUIRE OF CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY AND LAURENCE DUGGAN, DIRECTOR OF THE INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION, NEW YORK CITY.

IT LODGED A SPECIFIC PROTEST AGAINST THE ACTION OF A BRITISH MILITARY COURT IN HANDING DOWN DEATH SENTENCES JUNE 17 AGAINST THREE MEMBERS OF THE JEWISH UNDERGROUND CHARGED WITH AN ATTACK ON ACRE PRISON IN WHICH NO BRITISH LIVES WERE LOST.

THE RESOLUTION CALLS ON THE SECRETARY OF STATE TO INFORM THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT THAT THE BEHAVIOR OF THE BRITISH ARMY IN PALESTINE IS THAT OF AN ARMY OF OCCUPATION, "IN FLAGRANT DISREGARD" OF A 1924 AMERICAN-BRITISH CONVENTION.

IT ALSO ASKS THE BRITISH TO ABOLISH IMMEDIATELY THE EMERGENCY REGULATIONS NOW IN EFFECT IN PALESTINE AND TO REESTABLISH A CIVILIAN ADMINISTRATION AFFORDING CIVIL LIBERTIES.

LANGER TOLD THE SENATE "THE EXPOSURE OF THE TRUTH IN PALESTINE INTERFERES WITH THE BRITISH CAMPAIGN WHICH SEEKS TO PROVE THAT ANY JEW WHO STANDS UP ON HIS HIND LEGS AND INSISTS ON LIVING, IS A "'TERROORIST'," LANGER ADDED.

MORSE DECLARED THAT THE JEWS IN PALESTINE ARE SUSTAINING SOME OF THE MAJOR GRIEVANCES WHICH IMPELLED COLONIAL AMERICANS TO TAKE UP ARMS.

IN ANOTHER SPEECH, MURRAY DECLARED "IT IS TIME TO QUIT DILLY-DALLYING ABOUT PALESTINE AND PRETENDING THAT IT IS A BRITISH PROVINCE AND A BRITISH PROBLEM."

TAYLOR SAID:

"IF THE BRITISH PERSIST IN THEIR INTENTION OF HANGING MAYER NAKAR, JACOB WEISS, AND ABSALOM HABIB, MORE ACRE PRISONS WILL BE BLOWN UP, HEBREWS AND ARABS WILL BECOME INCREASINGLY BITTER, AND ENGLAND WILL GIVE MORE OF HER YOUNG MEN, OF HER HONOR AND HER PRESTIGE--AND ALL IN THE NAME OF WHAT.

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON,JULY 17-(AP)-AN URGENT NEED FOR ECONOMIC REVIVAL IN JAPAN WAS REPORTED TODAY BY A SPECIAL AMERICAN STATISTICAL MISSION.

THE MISSION, HEADED BY DR.STUART A.RICE, ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF THE BUDGET BUREAU, RECOMMENDED TO GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR A SERIES OF MEASURES FOR DEVELOPING A "MODERN AND RELIABLE" STATISTICAL SYSTEM IN JAPAN.

THE REPORT WAS DISCUSSED BY RICE AND OTHER MEMBERS OF THE SEVEN-MAN MISSION AT A NEWS CONFERENCE TODAY.

PEYTON STAPP, ASSISTANT DIVISION CHIEF UNDER RICE SAID THAT "UNLESS THE JAPANESE DO GET PRODUCTION GOING, PARTICULARLY IN SUCH INDUSTRIES AS CLOTHING AND OTHER CONSUMER GOODS, THE ALLIED SUPREME COMMAND AUTHORITIES THERE ARE GOING TO FACE A TERRIFIC PROBLEM IN THE NEXT FEW YEARS BECAUSE OBVIOUSLY WE WON'T JUST STAY THERE AND LET THE PEOPLE STARVE AND FREEZE."

RICE SAID THAT JAPANESE STATISTICS ARE SO INADEQUATE THAT FROM THE GOVERNMENT'S BUDGET DOWN TO SMALL BUSINESS ENTERPRISES IT IS ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE TO TELL WHAT THE RESOURCES, FINANCIAL CONDITION AND BUSINESS OPERATIONS OF THE COUNTRY ARE LIKE. THE MOST IMPORTANT STATISTICS REQUIRED NOW ARE THOSE CONCERNED WITH PRICES AND PRODUCTION, HE SAID, TO COMBAT THE TERRIFIC INFLATION AND THE FACT THAT THE JAPANESE ARE GENERALLY SPEAKING LIVING OFF THE RESOURCES LEFT TO THEM WHEN THE WAR ENDED.

RICE SAID THAT THE WILLINGNESS OF THE JAPANESE TO IMITATE AMERICAN WAYS OF DOING THINGS WITHOUT UNDERSTANDING WHY THOSE THINGS ARE DONE IS ONE OF THE WEAKNESSES IN THEIR STATISTICAL SYSTEM.

NIGHT LEAD HEMISPHERE ARMS

WASHINGTON,JULY 17-(AP)-A MEASURE LAYING THE GROUNDWORK FOR MILITARY COOPERATION BETWEEN THE NATIONS OF THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE GAINED TODAY THE APPROVAL OF THE HOUSE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE. HOWEVER, THERE IS SCANT CHANCE OF FINAL PASSAGE BEFORE NEXT YEAR.

IN THE DRIVE FOR ADJOURNMENT, THE LEGISLATIVE LEADERSHIP TENTATIVELY PLANNED TO PIGEONHOLE THE BILL UNTIL CONGRESS RETURNS--PARTLY TO AWAIT THE OUTCOME OF THIS FALL'S INTER-AMERICAN CONFERENCE AT RIO DE JANEIRO TO STRENGTHEN HEMISPHERIC SOLIDARITY.

THE MEASURE WOULD AUTHORIZE THE ADMINISTRATION TO SEND MILITARY MISSIONS TO THE OTHER AMERICAS AND TO SUPPLY THEM WITH MODERN ARMS, SHIPS AND PLANES AS PART OF A LONG-RANGE PROGRAM OF COOPERATION FOR SELF PROTECTION.

=ADD=

INTO THE BILL, THE COMMITTEE WROTE THESE PROVISIONS:

1. LIMITATION OF THE PROGRAM TO FIVE YEARS INSTEAD OF THE TEN SOUGHT BY THE ADMINISTRATION.
2. RESTRICTION ON EXPENDITURES TO A MAXIMUM OF $50,000,000 FOR THE ENTIRE PERIOD.
3. A STIPULATION THAT THE PROGRAM MUST CONFORM WITH THE "GOOD NEIGHBOR" POLICY.
4. POWER FOR THE PRESIDENT TO HALT OPERATION OF THE PROGRAM IN ANY COUNTRY VIOLATING ITS TERMS.
5. AUTHORITY FOR CONGRESS TO END THE PROGRAM ABRUPTLY BY PASSAGE OF A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

THE PROGRAM WAS ADVOCATED BY SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL, SECRETARY OF WAR PATTERSON, SECRETARY OF THE NAVY FORRESTAL, GENERAL DWIGHT EISENHOWER, ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF, AND ADMIRAL CHESTER NIMITZ, CHIEF OF NAVAL OPERATIONS, AS ESSENTIAL TO THE HEMISPHERE'S SECURITY.

THE MILITARY CHIEFS TOLD CONGRESS THAT, AS PART OF THE DIVIDENDS FROM THE PROGRAM, THIS COUNTRY HOPES FOR DEVELOPMENT OF A NETWORK OF AMERICAN-EQUIPPED AIRBASES, STRETCHING FROM THE ARCTIC DOWN THROUGH SOUTH AMERICA, WHICH COULD BE USED MUTUALLY IN THE EVENT OF AN EMERGENCY.

THESE AIRBASES WOULD REMAIN UNDER THE EXCLUSIVE CONTROL OF THE COUNTRIES IN WHICH THEY WERE LOCATED.

VALDEMARAS CARNECKIS, 55, WIFE OF A FORMER LITHUANIAN PREMIER.

MRS. CARNECKIS, FORMERLY ELEANORA SCHULTZ OF WORCESTER, MET HER HUSBAND WHILE WORKING IN THE LITHUANIAN LEGATION IN WASHINGTON WHILE HE WAS THE CHARGE D'AFFAIRES, THE NEWSPAPER SAID.

THEY WERE MARRIED IN 1923 AND THEN WENT TO LONDON AND ROME.

CARNECKIS WAS PREMIER WHEN THE WAR BROKE OUT AND THEY WERE TAKEN INTO CUSTODY BY THE RUSSIANS, THE TELEGRAM SAID.

ALL OF THEIR FIVE CHILDREN WERE SAID TO HAVE BEEN BORN OVERSEAS.

MRS. MAE MANNIX OF WORCESTER, A SISTER, TOLD THE TELEGRAM THAT MRS. CARNECKIS REGISTERED ALL OF THE CHILDREN AS AMERICAN CITIZENS IN 1938 IN WASHINGTON.

MRS. MANNIX ADDED SHE HAD NOT HEARD FROM HER SISTER SINCE 1941.

MRS. CARNECKIS HAS A BROTHER, JOSEPH SCHULTZ IN WORCESTER, AND ANOTHER, JOHN, IN PROVIDENCE, R.I.

U.S. SEN. SALTONSTALL (R-MASS.) SAID IN BOSTON THAT THE AMERICAN EMBASSY IN MOSCOW WROTE THE MASSACHUSETTS MOTHER LAST NOVEMBER THAT IT WAS PREPARED TO ISSUE NECESSARY DOCUMENTS TO ALLOW HER TO RETURN TO THE UNITED STATES IF SHE COULD APPEAR AT THE EMBASSY.

SALTONSTALL SAID IT WAS HIS UNDERSTANDING THAT LOCAL SOVIET AUTHORITIES REFUSED TO LET THE WOMAN COME TO THE EMBASSY.

HE ADDED HE WAS INFORMED THAT THE STATE DEPARTMENT HAS MADE NO FEWER THAN FOUR ATTEMPTS TO GET LOCAL SOVIET AUTHORITIES TO PERMIT HER TO APPEAR AT THE EMBASSY, ALL UNSUCCESSFUL.

SALTONSTALL DID NOT IDENTIFY THE WOMAN BY NAME.

COOLIDGE TOLD THE LEGION THAT "THE SOVIET UNION KEEPS AS PRISONERS IN SIBERIA A MASSACHUSETTS MOTHER AND HER FIVE CHILDREN."

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 17-(AP)-THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE OF THE UNITED NATIONS ECONOMIC COMMISSION FOR ASIA AND THE FAR EAST DECIDED UNANIMOUSLY TODAY TO RECOMMEND THAT THE COMMISSION'S NEXT SESSION BE HELD IN THE PHILIPPINE REPUBLIC.

THE COMMITTEE LEFT IT TO THE SECRETARY-GENERAL, IN CONSULTATION WITH THE PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT, TO DECIDE WHETHER THE COMMISSION SHOULD MEET IN MANILA OR ELSEWHERE.

THE FIRST SESSION WAS HELD IN SHANGHAI.

THE NEXT SESSION WILL BE HELD IN NOVEMBER, THE EXACT DATE TO BE DECIDED BY THE U.N. SECRETARIAT.

THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE CONCLUDED ITS SESSION BY REFERRING NEW ZEALAND'S MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION TO THE COMMISSION FOR DECISION AT ITS NEXT SESSION.

THE COMMISSION WAS ESTABLISHED BY THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL TO STUDY WAYS OF ECONOMIC RECONSTRUCTION IN ASIA AND THE FAR EAST.

AFTER THE MEETING BRIG. GEN. CARLOS P.ROMULO ISSUED THIS STATEMENT:

"THE PHILIPPINES WAS TODAY CHOSEN UNANIMOUSLY BY THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE OF THE ECONOMIC COMMISSION FOR ASIA AND THE FAR EAST AS THE SITE OF THE COMMISSION'S NEXT SESSION IN NOVEMBER. THOUGH SIAM PUT FORWARD A STRONG BID FOR THE HONOR, THE SIAMESE DELEGATE LATER WAS PERSUADED TO WITHDRAW THE INVITATION WHEN CHINA, UNITED STATES, UNITED KINGDOM, AND FRANCE EXPRESSED A PREFERENCE FOR THE PHILIPPINES, WHOSE INVITATION WAS PLACED BY ME BEFORE THE COMMITTEE ON THE FIRST DAY OF THE MEETING.

"AFTER THE DECISION, I EXPRESSED GRATITUDE FOR THE HONOR CONFERRED ON MY COUNTRY. I ASSURED THE DELEGATES THAT PRESIDENT MANUEL ROXAS WAS DEEPLY INTERESTED IN THE WORK OF THE COMMISSION AND THAT HE HAS PLEDGED TO PLACE ALLAVAILABLE FACILITIES AT THE DISPOSAL OF THE COMMISSION AND THE DELEGATIONS.

"THE DELEGATES, IN EXPRESSING PREFERENCE FOR THE PHILIPPINES, AGREED WITH ME THAT THE COMMISSION MIGHT FIND SOMETHING INSTRUCTIVE IN THE PRESENT RECONSTRUCTION EFFORTS OF A COUNTRY SO BADLY DEVASTATED BY WAR AS THE PHILIPPINES.

"WHETHER THE COMMISSION WILL MEET IN MANILA OR BAGNIO WILL BE DECIDED AFTER CONSULTATIONS BETWEEN THE SECRETARIAT AND THE PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT."

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 17-(AP)-AMERICAN AND ᴮRITISH SOURCES SAID TODAY THAT RUSSIA HOLDS THE POWER TO MAKE OR ᴮREAK UNITED NATIONS ATTEMPTS AT SOLVING THE EXPLOSIVE ᴮALKAN PROᴮLEM.

AS THE SECURITY COUNCIL PREPARED TO RESUME DISCUSSION OF THE PROᴮLEM AT 10:30 A.M. (EDT) IN THE FIRST OF TWO SESSIONS SCHEDULED TODAY, THE ᴮIG QUESTION WAS:

"WILL RUSSIA VETO THE U.S. PROPOSAL TO ESTAᴮLISH A SEMI-PERMANENT ᴮORDER WATCH OVER THE ᴮALKANS?"

AMERICAN AND ᴮRITISH SOURCES WERE CONFIDENT THAT A MAJORITY OF THE COUNCIL MEMᴮERS WOULD SUPPORT THE U.S. PLAN.

THERE WAS A REPORT THAT CHIEF FRENCH DELEGATE ALEXANDRE PARODI, WHO HAS SUGGESTED A COMPROMISE TO RECONCILE OPPOSED AMERICAN AND RUSSIAN PROPOSALS, HAD RECEIVED INSTRUCTIONS FROM PARIS TO SUPPORT THE U.S. PLAN. JUL 1947

SOME DELEGATES ᴮELIEVED THAT OSCAR LANGE, POLISH DELEGATE, WHO WAS EXPECTED TO SPEAK TODAY, MIGHT GIVE AN INDICATION OF THE POSITION RUSSIA WILL TAKE.

AMERICAN AND ᴮRITISH SOURCES SAID THEY EXPECTED LANGE TO OFFER AMENDMENTS TO THE U.S. PROPOSAL WHICH MIGHT PROLONG THE ᴮALKAN DEᴮATE AND DELAY A VOTE THIS WEEK ON THE AMERICAN PLAN.

AMERICAN SOURCES SAID THE U.S. DELEGATION HAD MADE IT CLEAR IT WOULD SETTLE FOR NOTHING LESS THAN A COMMISSION WITH STRONG POWER TO KEEP VIGIL OVER THE ᴮALKANS.

AS THE COUNCIL NEARED A SHOWDOWN ON THE PROᴮLEM, THESE WERE THE PRINCIPAL POSITIONS:

1. THE UNITED STATES HAS PROPOSED A COMMISSION COMPOSED OF A REPRESENTATIVE OF EACH OF THE NATIONS WHICH ARE MEMᴮERS OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL, WITH POWER TO INVESTIGATE INCIDENTS IN ANY OF THE ᴮALKAN COUNTRIES AND MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR PEACEFUL SETTLEMENTS.

2. RUSSIA SUᴮMITTED A RESOLUTION TURNING DOWN THE COMMISSION IDEA. INSTEAD, SHE DEMANDED THAT GREECE TAKE MEASURES TO STOP INCIDENTS ON HER ᴮORDERS WITH YUGOSLAVIA, ᴮULGARIA AND ALᴮANIA. SHE FURTHER PROPOSED THAT THE FOUR ᴮALKAN COUNTRIES RENEW OLD OR ENTER NEW ᴮILATERAL FRONTIER CONVENTIONS PROVIDING FOR A SETTLEMENT OF FRONTIER INCIDENTS.

3. FRANCE PUT FORWARD A SUGGESTION THAT THE SECURITY COUNCIL ESTAᴮLISH A SMALL COMMISSION OF FROM THREE TO FIVE MEMᴮERS, PREFERAᴮLY REPRESENTATIVES OF SMALL COUNTRIES WHO HAVE THE LEAST INTEREST AT STAKE IN THE ᴮALKAN AREA. THE COMMISSION WOULD HAVE ITS HEADQUARTERS OUTSIDE THE TROUᴮLED AREA.

4. COLOMᴮIA ALSO SUGGESTED A SMALL COMMISSION--THREE PERMANENT MEMᴮERS AND FOUR NON-PERMANENT MEMᴮERS OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL, WITH HEADQUARTERS IN A NEUTRAL COUNTRY, PREFERAᴮLY AT GENEVA.

ELSEWHERE ON THE U.N. FRONT SOVIET RUSSIA CALLED FOR A THIRD ATOMIC CONVENTION WHICH WOULD SET UP A QUOTA SYSTEM FOR LADLING OUT ATOMIC MATERIALS TO COUNTRIES TAKING PART IN A WORLD-WIDE CONTROL PLAN.

IN A SURPRISE DECLARATION TO A CLOSED MEETING OF THE POLITICAL COMMITTEE OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION, SOVIET DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER ANDREI A. GROMYKO DECLARED YESTERDAY THAT A QUOTA SYSTEM SHOULD ᴮE ESTAᴮLISHED ᴮY A SPECIAL CONVENTION.

THE RUSSIAN DELEGATE, WHO HAS DIFFERED SHARPLY WITH THE UNITED STATES AND THE MAJORITY OF THE ATOMIC COMMISSION ON FUNDAMENTAL ISSUES SUCH AS THE VETO AND STRICT INSPECTIONS, SAID HE VIEWED THE QUOTA QUESTION AS ONE WHICH COULD ᴮRING THE DELEGATES MORE CLOSELY TOGETHER TO A GREATER DEGREE THAN THEY HAVE ᴮEEN TO THE PRESENT.

THE UNITED STATES HAS PROPOSED A SINGLE CONVENTION WRAPPING UP ATOMIC CONTROL IN ONE PACKAGE WITH AMPLE SAFEGUARDS.

LANGE, COUNCIL PRESIDENT, SAID THE INTERNAL SITUATION IN GREECE WAS AGGRAVATED BY THE PRESENCE OF FOREIGN TROOPS. HE DEMANDED THAT THE COUNCIL ORDER "ALL FOREIGN ARMED FORCES AND FOREIGN MILITARY ADVISERS WITHDRAWN IMMEDIATELY."

CALLING FOR RESTORATION OF NATIONAL UNITY AMONG THE GREEK PEOPLE, LANGE SAID THESE STEPS WERE NECESSARY:

"RESTORATION OF DEMOCRATIC FREEDOM, CESSATION OF CIVIL WAR BY MEANS OF A GENERAL AMNESTY, FORMATION OF A COALITION GOVERNMENT TRULY REPRESENTATIVE OF THE GREEK NATION, NEW ELECTIONS, AND CESSATION OF PERSECUTION OF NATIONAL MINORITIES."

AN ELECTION WAS HELD IN GREECE IN MARCH, 1946, AND LAST SEPTEMBER THE GREEKS VOTED THREE TO ONE IN A PLEBISCITE FOR THE RETURN OF THE KING.

BRITAIN STILL HAS SOME TROOPS IN GREECE AND THE UNITED STATES HAS MILITARY ADVISERS THERE IN CONNECTION WITH THE TRUMAN AID PROGRAM

THE LENGTHY SPEECH OF DR. JOZA VILFAN, OF YUGOSLAVIA, WAS GENERALLY A REPETITION OF ALL PREVIOUS ARGUMENTS PUT FORWARD BY THE SOVIET-SUPPORTED NATIONS.

HE SHARPLY CRITICIZED THE UNITED STATES FOR SUPPORTING THE COMMISSION RECOMMENDATIONS, WHICH HE SAID VIOLATED THE CHARTER, AND SAID THE UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVES USED "ELEMENTS OF INTIMIDATION."

HERSCHEL V.JOHNSON, DEPUTY AMERICAN DELEGATE, SOUGHT UNSUCCESSFULLY TO BLOCK THE YUGOSLAV SPEECH ON THE GROUNDS THAT THE GENERAL DEBATE HAD ENDED.

LANGE REFUSED TO CLOSE DEBATE AT ANY STAGE AND INDICATIONS WERE THAT THE DISCUSSIONS MIGHT DRONE ON FOR SEVERAL MORE SESSIONS.

DELEGATES STILL MUST DISCUSS OPPOSING AMERICAN AND RUSSIAN RESOLUTIONS, FURTHER COMPLICATED NOW BY ELEMENTS OF COMPROMISE INJECTED BY FRANCE AND COLOMBIA.

PRIOR TO OPENING OF THE BALKAN DEBATE, THE COUNCIL QUICKLY AGREED TO TAKE UP EGYPT'S COMPLAINT AGAINST BRITAIN IN WHICH CAIRO ASKED FOR IMMEDIATE WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS AND THE TERMINATION OF THE BRITISH REGIME IN THE SUDAN.

SIR ALEXANDER CADOGAN, BRITISH DELEGATE, ASKED FOR TIME TO SUMMON EXPERTS AND COLLECT EVIDENCE. THE COUNCIL DECIDED NOT TO START DEBATE BEFORE AUG. 5.

HANFSTAENGL, KNOWN AS "PUTZI," A PIANO-PLAYING, ONE-TIME FAVORITE OF THE FUEHRER, WAS USED BY THE FORMER PRESIDENT TO INFORM HIM ON THE PERSONALITIES, METHODS AND MOTIVES OF THE MEN AROUND HITLER, THE PAPER SAID.

THE HERALD TRIBUNE SAID IT LEARNED THE DETAILS OF HANFSTAENGL'S STAY IN THIS COUNTRY FROM JOHN FRANKLIN CARTER, AUTHOR, WHO TOLD THE PAPER BY TELEPHONE FROM WASHINGTON THAT HE OPERATED A "POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE SERVICE" FOR ROOSEVELT DURING THE WAR.

CARTER WAS QUOTED AS SAYING HANFSTAENGL, A HARVARD GRADUATE, WAS INSTALLED SECRETLY IN A RAMSHACKLE HOUSE NEAR ALEXANDRIA, VA., SIX MILES FROM WASHINGTON. HE DID NOT TALK TO THE LATE PRESIDENT IN PERSON BUT SUBMITTED HIS REPORTS IN WRITING.

CARTER TOLD THE PAPER THE FORMER NAZI WAS A PRISONER AND NOT AN "ADVISER" TO ROOSEVELT. HE LISTENED TO RADIO BROADCASTS FROM GERMANY AND PREPARED REPORTS ON THEM, CARTER SAID.

HANFSTAENGL REMAINED AT THE HOUSE FROM JULY, 1942, TO SEPTEMBER, 1944, WHEN THE PRESIDENT DECIDED HIS USEFULNESS WAS ENDED, THE PAPER SAID. HE THEN WAS RETURNED TO CANADA.

NEW YORK, JULY 17-(AP)-JAMES A.MOFFETT, FORMER VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY (NEW JERSEY), SUGGESTED TO KING IBN SAUD OF SAUDI-ARABIA IN 1946 THAT HE EXPROPRIATE THE HOLDINGS OF THE ARABIAN-AMERICAN OIL COMPANY IN THAT COUNTRY, IT WAS CONTENDED TODAY IN PAPERS FILED IN FEDERAL COURT.

MOFFETT'S PURPORTED SUGGESTION WAS CONTAINED IN PAPERS SUBMITTED BY THE ARABIAN-AMERICAN OIL COMPANY TO JUDGE FRANCIS G.CAFFEY ASKING THE QUASHING OF A SUBPOENA REQUIRING THE COMPANY TO PRODUCE THE TEXT OF THE ORIGINAL OIL CONCESSION FROM KING IBN SAUD. THE SUBPOENA WAS QUASHED.

JUDGE EDWARD A.CONGER ISSUED THE SUBPOENA JUNE 19 ON THE APPLICATION OF MOFFETT IN HIS SUIT AGAINST ARABIAN-AMERICAN FOR $6,000,000 WHICH HE CLAIMS IS DUE HIM FOR HIS SERVICES IN WORKING OUT A PLAN WHEREBY AMERICA AND GREAT BRITAIN SUPPLIED FINANCIAL AID DURING THE WAR YEARS TO THE SAUDI ARABIAN KING.

MOFFETT CONTENDED THAT THE KING HAD ASKED THE COMPANY TO ADVANCE HIM $6,000,000 ANNUALLY DURING THE WAR ON PAIN OF CANCELLING THE CONCESSION. HE SAID HIS ARRANGEMENT SAVED THE COMPANY $30,000,000.

JUDGE CAFFEY GRANTED THE MOTION TO QUASH THE SUBPOENA AFTER JAMES TERRY DUCE, VICE-PRESIDENT OF ARABIAN-AMERICAN, SAID PUBLICATION OF THE CONCESSION "WOULD BE CONTRARY TO THE WISHES OF THE SAUDI ARABIAN GOVERNMENT."

IN ADDITION, DUCE SAID ARABIAN-AMERICAN WAS "APPREHENSIVE" BECAUSE OF MOFFETT'S ALLEGED EFFORTS "TO INDUCE THE GOVERNMENT OF SAUDI ARABIA TO EXPROPRIATE THE DEFENDANT'S CONCESSION."

WILLIAM POWER MALONEY, COUNSEL FOR MOFFETT, TOLD REPORTERS THE OIL CONCESSIONS ARE WORTH FROM $600,000,000 TO $10,000,000,000.

DUCE SUBMITTED COPIES OF WHAT HE SAID WERE LETTERS WRITTEN BY MOFFETT IN FEBRUARY, 1946, TO THE SAUDI ARABIAN EMBASSY IN WASHINGTON. IN ONE LETTER, ACCORDING TO THE PAPERS, MOFFETT WROTE KING IBN SAUD THAT "YOU HAVE, UNDER INTERNATIONAL LAW, THE RIGHT OF CONDEMNATION OR EXAPPROPRIATION OF THE OIL PROPERTIES ON THE BASIS OF THEIR BOOK VALUE.Z

MOFFETT, ACCORDING TO THE PAPERS, SAID HE ASSUMED THE ARABIAN AMERICAN PROPERTIES AT THE PRESENT TIME HAD A BOOK VALUE OF $60,000,000 (CORRECT). MOFFETT'S LETTER ADDED, IT WAS FURTHER CLAIMED, THAT "IT WOULD BE MY IDEA TO RAISE $100,000,000 TO $200,000,000, YOU TO HAVE A 49 PERCENT INTEREST IN THE COMPANY." X X X

ACCORDING TO THE PAPERS, MOFFETT SAID IT WOULD BE "EASY" TO EXPAND THE OPERATION TO 200,000,000 BARRELS DAILY WHICH, HE SAID, WOULD RESULT IN ANNUAL EARNINGS OF $72,000,000 OR A PROFIT TO THE KING OF FROM $18,000,000 TO $36,000,000 YEARLY, PLUS AN EXPORT TAX. HE ADDED, "TODAY, THEY ARE PRODUCING 65,000 BARRLES DAILY AND YOUR ROYALTY IS ROUGHLY $1,800,000," SAID THE PAPERS.

IN ANOTHER PURPORTED LETTER TO THE EMBASSY, MOFFETT WARNED, ACCORDING TO THE PAPERS, THAT STANDARD OIL OF CALIFORNIA AND THE TEXAS COMPANY, WHICH OPERATE ARABIAN-AMERICAN, HAD RECENTLY DISCOVERED A LARGE OIL FIELD IN SUMATRA AND THAT IT WOULD BE NECESSARY FOR THEM TO HOLD BACK ARABIAN PRODUCTION, THUS LIMITING THE KING'S REVENUE.

MOFFETT'S OFFER WAS DECLINED, SAID THE PAPERS.

GUERRILLAS (N) ON THE RUN, SAYS ATHENS

Heavy Losses Reported Inflicted From Air On 'Fleeing Bandits'

Athens, July 18 (AP)—Communist-led guerrillas have been cut up into small bands, scattered over a wide area and are suffering severe losses at the hands of the national air force while racing to escape pursuing ground forces following the abortive thrust at Ioannina in Epirus, a Greek communiqué said today.

In the first news conference since the beginning of the fighting in northern Greece, a spokesman for the Greek general staff said today there were no elements of an international brigade in the attack by guerrillas and no evidence of attempted creation of a Communist free state as reportedly planned by the "invaders."

The spokesman, Brig. Stylianos Manidakis, said he was "absolutely certain" the "invasion" was from Albania.

Scattered In Timfi Foothills

Part of the guerrilla force, originally estimated at 2,000 when it began its drive from the Albanian border region last Sunday, was said to be trying to escape to the northeast. Other bands fled to the south.

Units dislodge from 7,000-foot-high Mount Camila, 19 miles north of Ioannina, were described as scattered over an arc of 16 miles in the foothills of Mount Timfi.

Farther north, press dispatches said, Greek Spitfires caught a band of 800 fleeing through a ravine in the southern foothills of Mount Smolikas and killed at least 245 while 300 more were captured by ground troops.

Remnants fled south toward Metsovo, a stronghold of the ELAS, miltary branch of the EAM (National Liberation Front) during the German occupation, and northeast toward the heights of Mount Smolikas.

"Brutality" Of "Fleeing Bandits"

Military sources said the army was in position to cut off both lines of retreat.

The communiqué said fleeing "bandits, passing through villages, committed crimes of unimaginable brutality. Villages were pillaged and many inhabitants killed."

George Stratos, War Minister, told a Cabinet meeting last night that the general staff expected a second and more serious invasion by guerrillas. The Government said the thrust at Ioannina came from across the Albanian border.

[A dispatch by Tass, official Soviet news agency declared 15,000 persons had been arrested in a roundup of Communists in Greece, and said a huge concentration camp was being erected on the island of Nikaria, near the coast of Turkey.]

Greeks Brace For Biggest (N) Attack Yet

Athens, July 18 (AP)—A Greek communiqué said today nationalist planes were inflicting severe losses on guerrillas who were fleeing northeast of Ioannina before pursuing ground forces and who were ravaging villages on the way.

War Minister George Stratos said another and larger guerrilla offensive was expected along the northwest frontier. The Greek Government said the first guerrilla band "invaded" Greece from Albania, with the aim of setting up a separate Communist government.

"Bandits passing through villages have committed crimes of unimaginable brutality," the communiqué from the Greek 8th Division said. "Villages have been pillaged and many inhabitants killed."

Scattered In Arc

Dislodged from the 7,000-foot heights of Mt. Gamila, 18 miles north of Ioannina, the bulk of the 2,000-man guerrilla force started a march on lightly-defended Ioannina five days ago.

Loyalists asserted the irregulars had been cut into small units that were scattered in an arc over a wide, rugged area 16 miles northeast of Ioannina near the villages of Frandgadhes, Elatokhori and Dholianin in the foothills of Mt. Timfi.

Farther north, Spitfire fighter planes caught two more battalions in ravines along the southern foothills of Mount Smolikas and were said to have inflicted crushing losses.

An unconfirmed report said that 245 bodies were found in the ravine and that army units captured 300 more of the estimated 800 rebels under fire.

Old Stronghold

An earlier official report said that 60 were killed and 90 captured in the first phase of the attack and that remnants of the band were running in two directions, south toward Metsovo, an Elas stronghold during the German occupation, and northeast toward the heights of Mount Smolikas. The report said that the Army was in a position to cut off the lines of retreat and that escape was impossible.

The Balkan subcommission of the United Nations was to leave Salonika during the day for Ioannina for another investigation. Both the Russian and Polish delegates opposed holding the inquiry at Ioannina, although G. P. Casparov, of Russia, had accompanied the board on a preliminary inquiry Tuesday.

[The full United Nations commission reported to the United Nations that Greek civil strife was largely due to intervention by Yugoslavia and, to a lesser degree, by Albania and Bulgaria.]

[The sub-commission's team already in Ioannina has reported that its preliminary investigation showed little first hand evidence to support the government charge that detachments of an international brigade from Albania had invaded Greek territory, according to a cable received from Salonika at the U. N. headquarters at Lake Success.]

Stratos told the Cabinet last night the general staff looked for "another invasion which will be even on a larger scale" than insurgent drives stopped earlier this week before Konitsa and Ioannina, near the Albanian border.

Slav Border Quiet

He said, however, that army officers 100 to 140 miles northeast of that zone at Phlorina, 8 miles from Yugoslavia, and Kastoria, 26 miles behind that frontier, reported no evidence of invasion preparations there, where the Government at one time had feared a new push.

The Cabinet meeting followed newspaper reports that Gen. Markos Vifiades, guerrilla leader, had declared on an insurgent radio broadcast that an independent Communist Government must be set up in the north to "free Greece from intervention" from abroad.

The broadcast was quoted yesterday in Eleftheria Ellada, published by the Communist-dominated E.A.M. (National Liberation Front).

"Promise" Of U.S. Troops

Meanwhile, the Soviet news agency Tass, on a Moscow radio broadcast heard in London today, quoted an Athens newspaper as saying that Greek Foreign Minister Constantin Tsaldaris had reportedly cabled his Government that the United States would "send American troops to Greece to fight the guerrillas." Tsaldaris is now in the United States for the United Nations hearings on the Balkan problem.

The Right-wing paper, Ellenikon Aima, which carried the report, said, however, that the Greek Government had denied getting such a message, Tass declared.

Tass added that the paper said the Government would try to get enough supplies from Dwight P. Griswold, chief of United States aid to Greece, to build the Greek Army up to 200,000. The army's present strength is about 130,000.

Sofia Charges Greek Invasion

Sofia, Bulgaria, July 18 (AP)—Official sources said today 200 Greek regular troops penetrated Bulgarian territory on July 13 southeast of the town of Svilengrad, near the Greek-Bulgarian-Turkish border.

The first group of Greek soldiers was followed by a second contingent of 60 and a third numbering about 30. All three fired at Bulgarian guards of a frontier post, the official sources said.

They said the first 200 Greeks advanced into Bulgaria about a mile and kidnapped Peter Angelov, a Bulgarian civilian, before returning to Greek territory.

A Bulgarian major protested to a Greek captain against the border violations and the kidnapping, but the Greeks refused to return Angelov, the sources reported.

The Bulgarian Government has notified the Allied Control Commission and the Russian, United States and British Legations of this reported violation of Bulgarian territory, the sources said.

Tass Says Greeks Exile 15,000

London, July 18 (AP)—Tass, official Russian news agency, reported from Athens today that press dispatches published there said the Greek Government had arrested 15,000 persons and exiled them to islands, "mostly to Ikaria."

The Tass story, broadcast by the Moscow radio, reported Athens rumors that "a big concentration camp will be set up" on Ikaria, near the coast of Turkey. Tass said "it is known that a large quantity of barbed wire and tents has been dispatched" to the island.

The Greek Government last week announced that more than 3,000 persons had been arrested in various cities to foil what it said was a Communist revolutionary plot.

"Before their deportation, prisoners are not being subjected even to a formal interrogation," Tass said. "This proves once more that the so-called 'Communist plot' was a pure invention for foreign consumption."

BRIGADE CRY (N) DISCOUNTED

U.N. Team Finds Little To Support Greek Charges

E.U. CARPENTER

Lake Success, N.Y., July 18 (AP)—A United Nations team reported today it had found "little first-hand evidence" to support Greek charges that detachments of an "international brigade" had invaded Greece from Albanian territory.

The report was received at United Nations headquarters as the Security Council wound up general debate on the Balkans issue and cleared the way for a showdown, possibly late next week, on a United States proposal to establish an international watch on Greece's northern borders.

Dr. Oscar Lange, of Poland, Council president, announced a schedule of five meetings for next week, beginning with two Tuesday. He said the case would be kept before the delegates until final action is taken.

Report From Fighting Zone

Shortly after Alexandre Parodi, of France, had complained in the Council that the delegates had not received reports from their subsidiary commission left in the Balkans area, the United Nations said the group had received a report from a team sent to the zone of fighting in Greece.

The team, this report said, telegraphed from Ioannina July 16 that it had made a preliminary investigation of Greek charges that an "international brigade" was involved in the invasion and had found little evidence to back them up.

On the basis of the team's report the subsidiary commission decided to leave today for Ioannina, focal point of the fighting. The full group plans to study documents gathered at Ioannina by the investigating team.

In the closing moments of the general debate in the Council, Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia protested once more against a majority report of the United Nations Balkans Commission which charged them with supporting guerrilla activities in Greece. They assured the Council of their good will, however.

Lange said a resolution offered by the United States would be taken up first. The United States has proposed creation of a semi-permanent Balkans commission to remain in the area, but Russia, Poland, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania have expressed strong opposition to any commission.

The Soviet delegation has thrown in a resolution turning down the commission idea and demanding that the Greek Government take measures to end the strife.

Bulgaria Joins In Action To Delay U.N. Balkan Plan

M. HARRISON

Lake Success, July 18 (AP)—Bulgaria today joined Russia and the other "Slav bloc" states in what appeared to be a planned attempt to delay action in the United Nations Security Council on the explosive Balkan problem.

Dr. M. Mevorah, Bulgarian representative, took the floor at the opening of this morning's session to continue the attack on the United States plan for a semi-permanent border watch along Greece's northern border.

He followed closely the line laid down yesterday when Poland, Yugoslavia and Russia took up more than six hours of the Council's two sessions opposing the United States proposal and blaming Greece for the Balkan troubles.

Debates's End Believe Near

It appeared, however, that the general debate was nearing its end. Dr. Oscar Lange, of Poland, Council president, indicated that he had no more speakers on his list. The next move was for the Council to begin a detailed discussion of the American and Soviet resolutions now awaiting action.

Meanwhile, the United States was reported ready to introduce a revised version of its original resolution, bringing it into line with suggestions offered by France and other delegates during the general debate. It was emphasized, however, that no changes in the substance of the resolution were contemplated.

New Draft Considered

The new draft was considered at length in a presession conference of the British, French and American delegations in the delegates' lounge this morning, but the actual changes were not made public immediately. (N SERT

Most delegates were reluctant to anticipate what Russia would do when the Council came to a vote on the American proposal for the commission to stand guard over the Balkans and settle disputes.

Russia May Not Vote

The general feeling, however, after the speech yesterday by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was that Russia might abstain from voting and thus permit the establishment of the commission.

American sources said, however, that the United States delegation would not budge in its position and would not accept any compromise that would weaken its proposal.

Gromyko told the Security Council that the American plan for settling the Balkan border disorders was "unacceptable" and a "sharp breach" of the United Nations Charter. He then appealed for "direct settlement" by the states involved.

U.S. Refuses Soviet Demand To Destroy A-Bomb Supply

LAKE SUCCESS, July 18—(AP) The United States refused tonight to accept a Russian proposal to destroy the atomic bomb stockpile and insisted again on adequate controls before it will dispose of the weapon.

In one of his strongest statements to the working committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, Frederick H. Osborn, United States deputy on the commission, declared the Soviet proposal "only confuses the issue", and stood flatly on the original United States position outlined by Bernard M. Baruch.

Tense Session

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, precipitated a tense session by tossing in a resolution saying the committee agreed that an atomic convention "should provide for the destruction of stocks of manufactured atomic weapons and of unfinished atomic weapons and for the use of the nuclear fuel contained therein for peaceful purposes only."

The resolution also said that the time for this action would be discussed at a later date.

Osborn immediately said the United States stood on its original position that the treaty should provide for the disposal of atomic weapons at a certain stage, that the veto would have no relation to the work of an international control agency, and that the veto could not be used to punish violators.

Osborn said the real question was the nuclear fuel, which "is the dynamite of the atomic weapons," and that the bomb must not be made to seem so important to the public.

In quick succession the delegates of Australia, Canada, China, Brazil, France, Britain, and Syria agreed that no atomic weapons must exist after a treaty is concluded but demanded that stages or a proper time for their elimination must be set up in a convention. Poland stands with Russia for destruction of the atomic weapon.

'Battle Of Ruhr,' Briton Calls It

London, July 18 (AP)—A British official said today the disagreement between Britain and the United States over the agenda for discussions of Ruhr coal production was a public sign that a British-American "battle of the Ruhr" was under way.

American Government officials said last night the United States State Department had turned down a British request to expand the Ruhr talks to include financial, food and industrial questions of the merged British and American zones of Germany. The State Department also declined to change the scene of the meeting from Washington to Berlin.

"Deeper Division"

One British official summed up Whitehall reaction by saying, "We're all wondering what kind of brick is being thrown at us." He said the difference of opinion on the site for an apparently routine conference was "clearly symptomatic of a deeper division."

"This story has become world news not merely because London and Washington find themselves in disagreement or because of the venue itself, but because the whole future of the Ruhr is at stake," he said.

British officials generally expressed mystification at the reasons that prompted the United States to reject the suggestion to hold the talks in Germany, where such talks have been held in the past.

British May Skip Ruhr Coal Parley

Washington, July 18 (AP)—British diplomatic officials, plainly disappointed over the rejection of two counterproposals, expressed uncertainty today whether next week's scheduled Anglo-American conference on German coal will materialize.

Officials who explained the reason for the unyielding American attitude against broadening the conference said the United States wants to guard against creating any impression that it is taking an indirect hand in the Paris "Marshall plan" discussions.

Some of Germany's neighbors, they said, might believe the United States was seeking to build up Germany industrially and preparing a place for her in the unified revival program which the European nations are trying to draw up under the self-help idea.

Cost Another Factor

These officials indicated a secondary factor was a desire to avoid reopening the question of how much Britain and the United States each should pay in running the merged zone.

A 50-50 division of cost was decided upon late last year, but the British recently have indicated they would like to see the United States assume a larger share of the financial burden.

British diplomatic sources, in outlining their position, have maintained that to discuss coal production alone without taking into account factors like food and industrial output would be to "discuss the problem in a vacuum."

King's Assent Given India Independence

London, July 18 (AP)—A royal commission gave King George's assent today to the India independence bill, completing the lengthy parliamentary process to free the subcontinent.

The assent was a formality. It marks the end of British sovereignty in August over more than 400,000,000 Indians who will be divided into the Hindu-dominated dominion of India and the Moslem dominion of Pakistan.

Montgomery To Visit Mexico

London, July 18 (AP)—Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, chief of the imperial staff, will visit Mexico as a guest of the Mexican Army from September 15 to 20, the War Office said tonight. He has been invited by the Mexican Government and the visit has been timed to coincide with commemoration of the anniversary of Mexican independence.

U. S. Midshipmen Start Home

PORTSMOUTH, England, July 18 (AP)—United States warships carrying Annapolis midshipmen on a training cruise sailed homeward from Portsmouth today while crowds waved farewells from the docks. A United States Fleet band played as the battleships Wisconsin and New Jersey and the carrier Randolph departed after a ten-day visit.

HESS, 6 OTHERS TRANSFERRED TO (N) SPANDAU PRISON

R. KASISCHKE

BERLIN, July 18 — (AP) The surviving "big seven" of Hitler's hierarchy, led by Rudolf Hess, finally were brought from Nuernberg and marched into gloomy, red-brick Spandau Prison today after seven months argument among four occupying powers over how they should be treated during their confinement.

Hardly had the prison gates clanged, when new differences arose. All four powers share administration of Spandau Prison which is in the British sector.

Heavily Guarded

Brought secretly to Gatow Airfield at 8.30 a.m., bundled into a bus under heavy guard and rushed to prison with an escort of armored cars and truckloads of soldiers were Hess, one-time deputy fuehrer, Walther Funk, former economics minister, former Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, all sentenced to life terms by the Nuernberg international military tribunal; Baldur Von Schirach, ex-youth leader, and Albert Speer, former arms production chief, who received 20 years each; Baron Constantin Von Neurath, former "protector" of Bohemia and Moravia, who is to serve 15 years, and former Admiral Karl Doenitz who bears a 10 year sentence.

Newspaper correspondents, eager to get details of the return of the "big seven" to the capital where they once had strutted, rushed to the prison in time to find that American, British, French and Soviet officials already were in disagreement over the wording of the communique which would announce the transfer.

The Russians did not want anything told except the bare fact that the seven had arrived. The others wanted to be more liberal with details.

The Russians won, and the result was a one-sentence communique, issued seven hours after the Nazis reached Berlin.

"The Russians even refused to mention the Nazis by name in the communique," an American official said. "We'll let it go at that."

Once through the prison gates, the prisoners were given thorough strip-downs and baths.

Have U. S. Tobacco

Then French prison personnel found the prisoners' baggage contained quantities of American cigars and cigarettes, obtained at Nuernberg as regular prisoner of war rations. Another row arose.

Said a Frenchman, "Why we never get any decent import tobacco, so why should these Nazis have it."

The Russians supported the French. The Americans said, they assumed the Nazis and their tobacco would be permanently parted.

In the quarters of the four prison governors where the correspondents tried to pry out details, other snarls developed. The French governor deserted the conference early. The Russian governor never showed up. The American governor said he would talk to the press if authorized to do so by his superior at the Allied kommandanture. But before he could start speaking the British governor said this constituted "unilateral action" and "you had better move over into the American sector so I don't even hear it."

One American member of the prison finally threw up his hands. "Everytime somebody sneezes around here it requires a four-power conference," he exclaimde.

Played Down In Press

The upshot was that the Americans told their story to the reporters, the British issued a press release describing the prison regimen, while Russians and French said nothing.

The story received a total of three paragraphs in five Berlin afternoon newspapers. The Russian-controlled press ignored it.

The seven Nazis were sentenced last October. Spandau Prison finally was agreed upon as the place where they would serve their sentences. The big prison was cleared of all other inmates and cells made ready. Then an argument broke out over the strictness of the prison regime, with the British arguing for "humane" treatment of the prisoners and the Russians demanding Spartan measures.

It finally was agreed that the seven Nazis will serve out their terms under the German prison code.

The prisoners were settling down tonight in sparsely furnished cells stripped of glass and other potential suicide instruments. Their only privilege will be that of working nine hours a day except Sundays and holidays if they are judged physically fit by physicians. Work, religious services and walks will be communal. The rest of the time they will sit in their solitary cells dressed in drab gray uniforms.

The work will include regular prison cleaning. The food will be normal German prison fare.

The prison administration is by the four governors and a staff divided equally among the four occupying powers.

Hess, Six Others Begin Terms In Prison

Berlin, July 18 (AP)—Rudolf Hess and the other six high Nazis who escaped the gallows in the Nuernberg war-crimes trial were transferred secretly today to Spandau prison, where they will serve terms of from ten years to life.

For Hess, Walther Funk and Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, it was apparently their final appearance outside confinement. All received life terms.

They arrived by plane at Gatow Airfield at 8.30 A.M., from Nuernberg, where they had been confined since October following the trial in which such Nazi bigwigs as Hermann Goering, Joachim von Ribbentrop, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel and Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, were sentenced to be hanged. Goering, however, committed suicide.

Under Heavy Guard

The seven survivors of Adolf Hitler's ruling clique stepped from their plane and into a bus under heavy guard. Guards patrolled the airfield while the bus rolled on to Spandau, accompanied by four armored cars and four truckloads of soldiers.

It was the first time since 1945 that the Nazis had been in the capital.

Spandau Prison, in a suburb of Berlin, is a joint place of confinement operated by the four occupying powers: the United States, Russia, Great Britain and France.

Diamond Deal in Germany

U. S. Freighter Captain Fined for Cigarete Smuggling

BREMEN, Germany, July 18 (AP).—An American Military Government court announced today that it had fined the captain of an American freighter $3,000 for trying to smuggle 475 cartons of cigarettes into Germany to barter them for diamonds.

J. A. Teston, of New Orleans, master of the Topa-Topa, received the choice of paying the fine or serving eighteen months in jail. The Topa-Topa's second mate, Arthur Weber, of Staten Island, N. Y., a co-defendant, was fined $300.

Two Germans who were apprehended by military police while attempting to barter with the defendants were sentenced to prison terms of eighteen months and two years.

Franco, 54, Pledges Rest Of Life To Spain

Madrid, July 18 (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco in an interview today pledged "what remains of my life" to the service of Spain. He is 54.

He attacked what he called "Frenchified" Monarchists and a "bad neighbor" which he did not name. The interview was published in Arriba, the Falange party newspaper, on the eleventh anniversary of the uprising in which he overthrew the Leftist republic.

The Cabinet announced in a communiqué last night pardons would be granted an unspecified number of persons convicted of "common crimes and special offenses in certain cases."

Aid Plan Demands Obedience: Russia

Moscow, July 18 (AP)—Izvestia declared today it was evident that "only those who, like Greece, obediently and humiliatingly assure the American uncle and prove their unconditional obedience can count on aid" from the United States.

The Soviet Government newspaper termed the Paris Economic Conference a failure and said "the record speed at which the conference was conducted was needed by Bevin and Bidault so that the participants . . . could not gain their senses."

"Thus it was easier," the paper went on, "to enforce on them an elaborated scheme. . . ."

"Answers Questions"

[British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister George Bidault called the conference to take advantage of the aid plan of United States Secretary of State George C. Marshall.]

Izvestia said the document of the $100,000,000 United States-Turkish assistance agreement "answers at once the perplexing questions on what aim the Marshall proposal pursues—economical or political, charitable or in narrow self-interest."

British Bring Ex-Bay Liner (N) Into Haifa After Long Fight

C.L. DAVIDSON

Haifa, Palestine, July 18 (AP)—Five British destroyers brought 4,550 Jewish immigrants into Haifa aboard their battered old excursion steamer today after a violent hours-long sea battle in which the Jews said two boarding parties were defeated.

A British officer said two Jews were killed in the battle and that Walter Bernstein, 24, of Los Angeles, Cal., a former United States merchant seaman who served as first mate of the immigrant ship, died later of head injuries received when one boarding party invaded the deckhouse. The other two victims were passengers.

Seventeen Jews, all with club and gunshot wounds, were seriously injured and taken to a Haifa hospital.

3 Boarders Injured

A British announcement said three members of the 50-man boarding party were injured in the battle—in which smoke bombs, steam jets, fuel oil and even fireworks were used, and tear gas and small arms employed by both sides.

At the height of the fight heavy life rafts were cut loose by the refugee ship and sent plunging onto destroyer decks. Her "evasive" maneuvering caused repeated collisions with the destroyers, some of which were damaged.

As soon as the ship, a former Chesapeake Bay excursion vessel, docked British troops began the trans-shipment of the 4,550 visaless immigrants to troop transports for deportation to Cyprus.

Dirty and disheveled, the refugees left their ship—the former President Warfield, renamed European Exodus of 1947—and walked across 30 feet of their Promised Land to the British deportation vessels. The Jews came into the harbor singing.

Some of the refugees and the British marines of the boarding party wore bloodstained bandages. The march of the Jews across the dock was witnessed by Emil Sandstroem, chairman of the United Nations Special Commission on Palestine, and Vladimir Simitch, the Yugoslav delegate on the commission.

The Jewish Agency for Palestine and Hagana, the Jewish underground defense organization, both had appealed to the commission to witness the trans-shipment.

Woman Died During Journey

The British officer who reported the deaths was a member of the boarding party. Three bodies were found aboard, he said, explaining that one was a woman who died in childbirth during the journey. He said the other two were killed when the marines resorted to gunfire to counter tear gas and revolvers used by the refugees.

A broadcast purportedly emanating from the ship at the time of the battle said one Jew was killed and 25 wounded seriously, including five who were dying.

The bodies were seen on the jetty, covered by bloodstained blankets.

'This Is Your Enemy'

When photographers arrived there was a scramble aboard the 1,814-ton refugee ship to put babies and women with bandaged heads at portholes closest to the cameras. A sign lashed to the stack of the steamer said: "England, this is your enemy."

Heeding a loud-speaker plea in Hebrew to "peacefully come off your ship," some of the refugees were laughing and joking when they reached the dock.

Haifa was quiet and there was no talk of a demonstration or strike.

The harbor area earlier was placed under a curfew.

Taken Aboard At Sete

[Authoritative British sources in London said the refugee ship took aboard between 4,000 and 5,000 Jews July 10 at Sete, France, near Marseille, and sailed with the declaration that she was heading for Colombia. She had sailed from Baltimore May 30 for La Spezia, Italy, and from La Spezia for Sete June 12, the informants added.]

The British announcement gave this account of the sea engagement which was concluded when the British destroyers began escorting the Exodus toward Haifa:

Approaching Palestine off Rafah, a short distance from the Egyptian border, the immigrant ship "adopted evasive tactics which made it impossible for destroyers to remain alongside for more than a brief period."

During this time the British ships suffered damage when the refugee ship released life rafts which plunged onto the upper decks of the destroyers.

"Small-arms fire was used by one of his Majesty's ships against one man who was threatening to decapitate one of the boarding party with an axe and against another man who was about to use a rifle," adding:

"It is believed the fire missed in both cases, but it was effective; the two men took fright and dropped their weapons."

The Jewish broadcast quoted the captain of the immigrant ship as saying the resistance continued for three hours, persisting even after the British were aboard because of a reserve wheel which had been built below. The broadcast also charged that the British, in boarding the ship outside territorial waters, had committed an "act of piracy."

According to the broadcast, the British made two boarding attempts. The first one at 2 A.M. failed, the broadcast continued, when the passengers aboard the Exodus took the Britons prisoners. Another party of marines came aboard again at dawn.

In Normandy Invasion

[Under the name President Warfield, the ship once carried thousands of vacationists between Baltimore and Norfolk as queen of the Old Bay Line fleet. She participated in the Normandy invasion in 1944 after crossing the Atlantic under her own power, and later was used on the Seine between Le Havre and Rouen as a troopship.]

There was tension in other areas of Palestine. Shops closed in the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv and young Jews patrolled the streets there halting traffic.

In Jerusalem, two general alarms were set off in less than two hours, the second one coming when two "Molotov cocktails" of flaming gasoline were thrown at a police armored car. Police said there were no casualties.

Two Soldiers Injured

Earlier, two soldiers were seriously injured and a Jewish civilian was wounded by automatic weapons fire directed at a military vehicle on the Jaffa road.

One British soldier was killed and three others were seriously injured when the truck in which they were riding struck a mine planted on the highway at Kfar Belu, a small Jewish town near Natanya.

The incident brought to two killed and nineteen injured the casualty toll resulting from road mines since the army imposed military rule on Natanya early this week. The military clamped down to facilitate a search for two British sergeants kidnapped by Irgun Zvai Leumi and held as hostages for three condemned members of the Jewish underground.

police armored car, setting off a general alarm. The police said that two men threw the missiles at the car as it drew abreast of the Imperial Cafe at King George avenue. Authorities said that there were no casualties. The area was cordoned off and buildings were searched.

Less than two hours before alarm sirens sounded throughout the city—usually the signal of an attack by the Jewish underground. However, the all clear signal sounded a half hour later. Unofficial reports said that a hand-grenade was thrown at a gate of the British security zone, injuring a soldier.

British Kill 2 Jews on Ship

4500 Refugees Captured in Battle at Sea Will Be Interned at Cyprus. (D)

Jerusalem, July 18 (A. P.).—Some 4,500 Jewish immigrants aboard a refugee ship engaged a fifty-man British boarding party in a fierce battle today. A British officer at Haifa reported that two persons were killed.

British authorities said that the refugees attacked the boarding party with smoke bombs, steam jets and other weapons, and that both sides used tear gas in the affray.

An officer in the boarding party said that three bodies were found aboard, one of them that of a woman who died in childbirth during the journey. The other two, he said, were killed when the boarding marines resorted to gunfire to resist tear gas and revolver attacks by the passengers.

Refugees to Go to Cyprus.

The ship was the former American excursion vessel President Warfield, renamed European Exodus of 1947 by the Refugees.

She was escorted by five destroyers to Haifa harbor late today. There British troops promptly began transferring the immigrants to troopships for deportation to Cyprus.

In Jerusalem, two flaming gasoline bombs were hurled at a

No Fatalities

The announcement said no fatalities were suffered by either side, but that three members of the boarding party were injured.

A broadcast, purportedly emanating from the ship, had reported earlier that one Jew was killed and 25 were wounded seriously. The broadcast, which ended at about the time the boarding party took over, said five of the wounded were dying.

The British announcement said: "Small arms fire was used by one of His Majesty's ships against one man who was threatening to decapitate one of the boarding party with an axe, and against another man who was about to use a rifle."

"It is believed the fire missed in both cases, but it was effective; the two men took fright and dropped their weapons," the announcement said.

Appeal To U.N.

Hagana, Jewish underground defense organization, was reported to have appealed to the United Nations Special Commission on Palestine to intervene in behalf of the immigrants. A reliable Jewish source said the appeal was delivered to the commission by the Hagana high command. The commission, which is investigating the Palestine problem, is scheduled to leave for Lebanon Sunday.

British officials said the immigrant ship approached Palestine off Rafah, a short distance from the Egyptian border.

"She adopted evasive tactics which made it impossible for destroyers to remain alongside for more than a brief period," the announcement said. "These tactics also resulted in damage to his Majesty's ships."

Life Rafts Released

The damage was caused, the announcement continued, when the refugee ship released life-saving rafts which fell on the upper decks of the destroyers.

The captain of the immigrant ship was quoted in the broadcast as saying the resistance continued for three hours, persisting even after the British were aboard because of a reserve wheel which had been built below.

"Piracy" Charged

The broadcast charged that the British, in boarding the ship outside territorial waters, had committed an "act of piracy." It said the first 25 men and officers who stepped on deck were taken prisoner.

A Jewish informant said that full text of the broadcast was transmitted by Hagana to Emil Sandstroem, chairman of the United Nations Commission. INSERT

News of the interception of the ship caused great excitement in Jewish quarters in Palestine.

Action In Tel Aviv

In the Jewish city of Tel Aviv, all shops closed their doors and the populace thronged into the streets in response to a broadcast appeal fro mthe refugee ship to demonstrate against what her captain termed "an unlawful attack on my ship endangering the lives of the passengers and vessel."

Young Jews patrolled Tel Aviv streets, halting traffic.

Broadcasts from the ship ceased about midmorning, indicating that the boarding party had taken over at about that time. Previously the vessel's radio had reported that five of those wounded in the clash with the British were dying. It said that the ship had been leaking badly but that the crew had succeeded in stopping the leaks.

Heard In Tel Aviv

The broadcast purporting to come from the Warfield was monitored by the Associated Press in Tel Aviv.

The broadcaster, who read his announcement in both English and Hebrew, indicated the boarding party had been frustrated in its first attempts to board the refugee ship and ended by declaring:

"Our ship is leaking and we urgently need help in order to reach Haifa."

Appeal To U.N.

He appealed to the United Nations special commission in Palestine to meet the vessel at Haifa "and see just how we are treated by the British."

The broadcast said the British first to board the vessel at 2 A.M., "but we managed to take them prisoner."

"Again at dawn," it continued," they tried to board us and there was fierce fighting, with the British attackers using guns and tear gas.

"One of our number was killed and five other are dying. Twenty others are in a serious condition and 100 slightly wounded.

Shadowed From Marseille

The broadcaster said the ship had been shadowed all the way across the Mediterranean from Marseille and added:

"We are now surrounded by five destroyers."

Jewish sources in Palestine said the refugee ship was purchased in America and sailed from Baltimore last February for Europe. She left Marseille a week ago, slipping through a blockade.

Three British soldiers and a Jewish civilian were injured by gunfire in a Jewish quarter of Jerusalem today, it was officially announced.

Two of the soldiers and the civilian were hit while they were riding in a military vehicle. The third soldier was injured by a shot when the area was cordoned off for a search.

Road Mine Incident

Tension in British quarters was heightened by a new road-mining incident which killed one British soldier and seriously injured three others. The victims were riding in a truck that struck a mine planted on the highway at Kfar Belu, small Jewish town near Natanya.

The incident brought to two killed and nineteen injured the casualty toll resulting from road mines since the Army imposed military rule on Natanya early this week to facilitate the search for two British sergeants kidnapped by Irgun Zvai Leumi and held as hostages for three condemned members of the Jewish underground.

Lone Christian On Jewish Ship

Haifa, Palestine, July 18 (AP)—One American Christian was found aboard the President Warfield today when the battered old ship carrying 4,550 Jewish immigrants was brought into Haifa harbor.

He identified himself as John Stanley Grauel, 30, of Worcester, Mass., and said he was an Episcopal minister who joined the Jewish immigration project on behalf of the American Christian-Palestine Committee.

Grauel's films and documents, including his United States passport, were taken from him, but he was released pending deportation.

Grauel said Bernard Marks, 25, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and formerly of the United States merchant marine, had commanded the ship from France into Palestine waters and that he had been jailed.

BALTIMORE, July 18 (AP).—The 1,814-ton steamship President Warfield, boarded by British naval authorities after a battle off the Palestine coast this morning, once carried thousands of vacationists between Baltimore and Norfolk as queen of the old Bay Line fleet.

She participated in the Normandy invasion in 1944 and later turned up as a troopship plying the shallow Seine River between Le Havre and Rouen. She was mustered into war service in 1942, made an Atlantic crossing under her own power and participated in pre-invasion amphibious maneuvers off Barnstable and the North Devon coast of England.

The Warfield came back to the United States battered and destined for the scrap heap, but the Weston Trading Company, of New York, bid her in for $50,000 at a surplus sale. A later announcement said she had been bought by the Chinese-American Industrial Company, of New York, and would go into service as a Chinese river boat.

But she started for China by way of Marseille. Most of her cargo when she set out was life preservers and messkits. There was little doubt she really was headed for a job of running illegal Jewish immigrants to Palestine through the British blockade.

On Feb. 27 she ran into sixty-mile gales off the Virginia coast and had to call for help. A Coast Guard cutter hauled her leaking back into Hampton Roads. She tried it again April 1.

She was launched at Wilmington, Del., in 1928, and in Chesapeake Bay service carried 650 passengers in 200 staterooms. These accommodations were ripped out when she went into war service.

British Give Inquiry History of Palestine

Jerusalem, July 18 (A. P.).—Britain submitted to the United Nations Special Commission on Palestine today a memorandum giving the political history of Palestine under British administration. It contained no recommendations concerning the future of the Holy Land.

The memorandum recounts Palestine's history from the time the British troops occupied it in the first world war, when it was part of the Ottoman Empire, through last February, when Britain asked the United Nations to recommend a settlement.

Hope Wanes For China Liberals

Peiping, China, July 18 (AP)—China's "splendid group of liberals" on which General Marshall said the hope of the nation depended, have thus far had no success in ending civil war or halting the country's swift economic decline.

North China observers today, noting full-scale mobilization plans and the continued concentration of armies in battle zones, say there is no chance left of taking Marshall's implied advice—to let the liberals try to bring about a solution.

Two Choices Now

It has been seven months since Marshall bestowed his praise on the liberals, as he departed for Washington to become Secretary of State. And the Chinese people, whose inclinations generally seem toward moderation, now have only a choice of extremes—the Kuomintang (Government party) on the right, and the Communists on the left.

An intelligent, middle-class Peiping Chinese remarked the other day, "It is terrible to have China's political picture so unalterably black and white, without a middle-of-the-road choice."

Election In October

The Chinese elections scheduled for next October, he said, could do nothing but continue the Kuomintang in power, because under present conditions "there could be virtually no opposition."

Communists, of course, are outlawed, and the Democratic League, the next strongest opposition party in China, may remain completely aloof.

He said he could see no hope of the liberals strengthening their voice or their influence through the ballot.

New Fight Hinted At Szepingkai

Nanking, July 18 (AP)—A new, large-scale battle between Nationalist and Chinese Communist troops is brewing in the area southeast of battered Szepingkai, scene of one of the bitterest conflicts of the Chinese civil war, reports from Mukden indicated today.

The reports, filed by the Chinese press, said the Communists are mustering strong forces near three major towns—Meihokow, Sian and Hsifeng—between 40 and 80 miles to the south of Szepingkai.

Increased military activity on both sides also was reported from Hopei province. Press dispatches reported the Nationalists had recaptured Lihsien, about 25 miles south of Paoting, the provincial capital.

Mass To Block Drive

The Communists, however, are reported massing southwest of Paoting, apparently in an attempt to stop the Nationalists' southward drive.

Meanwhile, the State Council approved the general mobilization orders under which China is to gird for a finish fight against the Communists. The council forwarded the measures to the Government for promulgation.

The council made but slight changes in the draft which previously had been approved by the Executive Yuan. The council added a provision that violations of mobilization measures would be punishable "by law."

Asked By Chiang

The changes, it was announced, were initiated by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who said he wanted everything done "in conformity with the spirit of the constitution."

The council also reported abandoning all hopes that the Communists would join with the Kuomintang in a coalition government and that seats would not be reserved henceforth for the Red delegates at council meetings, the next National Assembly or the People's Political Council.

Despite the refusal of the Communists to recognize the session, seats were saved for Communists last year.

Chinese Urges Full Blockade Of Red Ports

Tsingtao, China, July 18 (AP)—A high Chinese naval officer said today that he favored a nationalist blockade of Communist-held ports which would prohibit all shipping, irrespective of nationality.

He complained that the Government blockade against Chefoo and Weihaiwei, major Chinese Communist ports in Shantung province, applied only to Chinese ships. Foreign ships, he said, continued to arrive and depart freely.

[The officer did not mention the ships of any specific nation, but Chinese in the past have asserted that Russian help was strengthening the Chinese Communists.]

He said the Government's failure to apply a blockade against all shipping was due to its desire to avoid international incidents.

China Acquits 14 Japs; Fetes Them

Tsingtao, China, July 18 (AP)—A Chinese press dispatch from Tsinan, Shantung province capital, said today that a Chinese military tribunal acquitted fourteen Japanese officers charged with war crimes, and then gave all fourteen a banquet.

Included was a Colonel Yamaoka, commander of Japanese gendarmerie at Tsinan during the war.

The dispatch said that after the fourteen were acquitted, officers of the tribunal entertained their former prisoners at a sumptuous dinner, during which the guests were lectured on the "magnanimity" of Chinese.

The guests reportedly agreed; they enthusiastically shouted "Banzai!" three times.

Admiral Cooke Plans Trip

Tsingtao, China, July 18 (AP)—Admiral Charles M. Cooke will leave Tsingtao Monday aboard his flagship, the El Dorado, to visit Shanghai. He is expected also to go to Nanking to confer with Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, President Truman's emissary, who is scheduled to arrive there Tuesday.

50,000 Japs Said To Hold Out In Asia

Tokyo, July 18 (AP)—The newspaper Mainichi today quoted a Japanese repatriate as saying a holdout force of 50,000 Japanese troops—most of them from the Kwangtung Army—and civilians was living in the rugged Changpaishan mountains along the Korea-Manchuria border.

The newspaper said Fukiiiro Kuki, an official of the Manchurian Japanese Residents Association, newly repatriated, told this story:

Forty thousand Japanese troops fled to the mountains shortly before Japan surrendered. They carried sufficient food for two years, along with ammunition, 5,000 horses and radio equipment.

Picked Up Civilians

They "rescued and incorporated into an organization" an estimated 10,000 civilian refugees as they streamed southward from other Manchurian areas.

Chinese troops, after capturing Tunghwa in October, 1946, from Chinese Communists, discovered the Japanese force. The Nationalist troops demanded by radio that it surrender, but the Japanese did not reply. The Nationalists withdrew from Tunghwa last April, and have had no further contact with the Japanese holdouts.

The Japanese were living in groups of 1,000 to 2,000, in a series of villages. Communications were maintained by radio and cavalry couriers. The mountain area was fortified with tunnels and other installations.

Contact In Winter

The sector is snowbound between October and May, but contacts with the outside world were maintained via short-wave radio. One message, intercepted in April, 1947 (presumably Kuki meant it was intercepted by Chinese) indicated the garrison's food problem was beginning to grow critical.

The Japanese troops had been members of the Kwantung Army in Manchuria; they had been concentrated at a point north of the Korean border when hostilities ended, and eluded Chinese troops to reach the mountain refuge in August, 1945.

[A demobilization official in Tokyo, commenting on the Mainichi story, pointed out that many Japanese units in isolated areas had continued resistance after the war was ended. Some surrendered later, he added, and gave the first stories of their activities upon being repatriated.]

Suribachi Flag Poses A Problem

Tokyo, July 18 (AP)—The American flag that fighting Marines planted atop Iwo Jima's Mount Suribachi "will not be hauled down now" despite the savage erosion of rain and wind that is making the twice-daily trip to that volcanic summit almost impossible.

Lieut. Col. Elmer M. Gould, commanding officer of the Iwo Jima air base, told Managing Editor James J. Packman of the Milwaukee Sentinel a few days ago that "soon we won't be able to get a man up here in a jeep to raise and lower the flag, and keep the monument in shape."

The steep road that Seabee bulldozers chewed out after the battle is fast crumbling, and has already been closed to tourists. But headquarters here said the flag "will not be hauled down now." It is trying to work out some method of maintaining the memorial—and flag—without the necessity of costly road rebuilding.

The wartime raising of the flag on Suribachi—caught by the news camera of Joe Rosenthal, then an Associated Press photographer—made a Pulitzer Prize picture. It was memoralized in war-bond posters and statuary and on postage stamps.

26 Million Yards Cotton Are Shipped From Japan

TOKYO, July 18 (AP).—Headquarters announced today that 26,300,000 linear yards of Japanese cotton fabrics left Kobe yesterday for British Commonwealth points, the Philippines and Siam. Additional shipments totaling roughly 45,300,000 yards are scheduled to be shipped within the next four months.

The British shipment of 10,000,000 yards, which was carried by the S. S. Glanapp, included 6,500,000 yards for the United Kingdom and the balance for the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Aden and West Africa. The shipment was the fourth installment of the recent sale of 64,000,000 yards to Britain.

The coastal ship Champion sailed with 13,800,000 yards for Siam and 2,500,000 yards for the Philippines.

Export plans call for shipment of 20,000,000 yards of piece goods for India by the end of the month. Also in July 126,000 yards will be shipped to Iran and 15,000,000 yards to the Belgian Congo.

10,000 Japanese Export Items

TOKYO, July 18 (AP).—More than 10,000 items—including goldfish and canaries—have been submitted by the Japanese as prospective foreign-trade commodities. The government Board of Trade will select the best of the lot—on a basis of quality as well as production possibilities—for presentation to foreign business men next month.

Hiroshima Receives Penicillin

HIROSHIMA, Japan July 18 (AP)—Fifteen million units of surplus Australian penicillin have been turned over to the Hiroshima Japanese Red Cross Hospital, where many atom bomb victims still are being treated, it was announced today. Japanese and United States medical officers had reported insufficient medicines available for treatment of the victims.

Senate Upholds Tax Veto By 5 Vote Margin, Killing Second G.O.P. Bid for Cut

3 Japanese Generals Up In Execution of 2 Flyers

YOKOHAMA, Japan, July 18 (AP).—Three Japanese generals charged with complicity in the illegal trial of two Americans who were executed for violation of Japan's war-time 'enemy airmen" act went on trial today before an 8th Army commission.

Lieutenant Robert W. Nelson, of Minneapolis, and Staff Sergeant Algy Stanley Augunas, of 86 Belford Avenue, Bayshore, L. I., were tried, convicted and executed on the same day, under provisions of the act passed to punish airmen for "indiscriminate bombing" of Japanese areas. The two had survived the crash of their B-29 Superfortress, which was shot down over Kobe, site of an arsenal, shipyards and other naval facilities.

On trial are Lieutenant General Eitaro Uchiyama, former commander of the 15th Army Area and central army headquarters at Osaka; Lieutenant General Michio Kunitake, who was chief of staff to General Uchiyama, and Major General Kiyotomi Otahara, chief of the 15th Army judicial section.

Indonesians (N) Favor Peace

Batavia, Java, Saturday, July 19 (AP)—Indonesians were making strenuous efforts today to avert an outbreak of hostilities between almost 100,000 Dutch troops and twice as many armed Indonesians.

Responsibility for the next move had been passed to the Netherlands Government at The Hague by Acting Governor General Hubertus J. Van Mook who had cabled his recommendations.

A. K. Gani, Deputy Prime Minister of the Indonesian Republic, said early today his Government had informally requested the British, French and Chinese consul generals to ask their governments to use their good offices and influence at The Hague to prevent an outbreak of war.

"We Want Peace"

"We want peace. War in Indonesia is absolutely unnecessary," he declared.

He said each consul general also had been asked to inquire of his Government how the republic could formally ask arbitration by a third power in event The Hague decides to break off political negotiations.

Earlier, the Indonesian Prime Minister, Amir Sjarifoeddin, declared in a radio speech that the republic was ready to issue a cease-fire order on several conditions.

"The republic has decided the time has come to place its trust in the good intentions of the Dutch, and declare this not only to the Dutch people, but to the world," he declared.

Wants Similar Dutch Action

He said the Indonesians would order a cessation of all hostilities and unfriendly actions provided the "Dutch show an eagerness to reach a peaceful solution too."

He said the Republic would withdraw its troops from the front lines if the Dutch would do likewise, cancel their ultimatums, and take all possible measures to "restore confidence in Dutch intentions."

This broadcast, described by Indonesians as a major effort to relieve the tension, met with a cool reception from a Dutch spokesman, however, who said it "consisted of words and not affirmative action."

"If Sjarifoeddin had actually issued a cease-fire order instead of promising to do so under various conditions, the speech might have been very important," he said.

Breaking Point Looms

Negotiations have approached a breaking point because of a dispute over police powers in a proposed interim government which would rule until January, 1949, and because of Dutch demands that the Indonesians issue a cease-fire order. The Dutch have issued an ultimatum that the Indonesians begin withdrawing their troops from present front lines by 6 P.M. today.

Each side continued to accuse the other of violating a truce in effect since last February. The Indonesian news agency said the Dutch fired 210 shells into a village 10 miles south of Bandoeng in a three-hour bombardment which inflicted heavy casualties.

A Dutch communiqué said Indonesians had committed more than 121 truce violations in the last two weeks.

Plane Banned At Tokyo

Manila, July 18 (AP)—An informed source said tonight that the Northwest Airlines plane Shanghai had been denied privileges for landing passengers and materials in Tokyo on orders of General MacArthur's headquarters.

The Shanghai, in its inaugural Great Circle flight to the Orient via Tokyo, was scheduled to arrive in Manila tomorrow morning. No reason for the denial of privileges in Japan was given, the informant said.

Ruling In Quinine Disposal Is Approved

Manila, July 18 (AP)—Secretary of Justice Ramon Ozaeta today approved the action of the Philippine collector of customs in awarding to its Indonesian consignee here a shipment of quinine from Java.

The Dutch had protested, contending the 29 cases of quinine had been illegally exported from the Netherlands East Indies, and Ozaeta acknowledged that only the courts could determine final ownership. He pointed out, however, that the Indonesian importer here had presented a valid delivery order.

TRUMAN'S STAND SHARPLY SCORED BY REPUBLICANS

Blow to 'Millions of Hard Working, Thrifty Americans,' Martin Says.

TO BE CAMPAIGN ISSUE

Earlier House Had Voted to Override Veto by Vote of 229-108.

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP) Warned that Russia's behavior may lead to a "blow-up" in Europe, the Senate today upheld President Truman's second veto and killed the Republican backed bill to cut taxes by $4,000,000,000 for 49,000,000 taxpayers.

A powerful Republican-Democratic Senate coalition rolled up a 57 to 36 vote to override the veto, but this fell five votes short of the two-thirds majority required by the constitution to upset a presidential objection to legislation.

Earlier, a similar House coalition amassed a thumping 299 to 108—28 more than two-thirds—to overturn the veto in that body. But this saved the tax bill from the scrap heap only long enough for the Senate to vote.

Now Becomes Campaign Issue

But as Mr. Truman won his veto battle, Republicans promptly tossed the tax issue into the 1948 presidential campaign. Senate Democratic Leader Barkley, of Kentucky, responded: "If that be so, so be it."

The President, in his veto message, pleaded that Congress kill the bill because recent international developments have exposed this country to greater international "risk." He declared:

"I regard the present bill as unsound and unsafe. I also regard it as unfair."

Barkley, just before the Senate voted, declared if the situation "blows up" in Europe, the American people will be reluctant to buy bonds to support this country in another emergency if the government's credit is destroyed.

The Democratic leader declared Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia had "sabotaged" the Paris conference on European rehabilitation, and pleaded that the President's veto be supported in the interest of "our own domestic economy and our obligations to mankind."

Against Republican claims that taxes can be cut $4,000,000,000 in 1948, and $5,000,000,000 paid on the debt at the same time, Barkley said he doubted that any debt payment can be made next year if taxes are cut now.

Switch of 3 Votes

The five-vote margin by which the presidential veto was sustained represented a switch of three votes from the Senate tally when it passed the bill last Monday 60 to 32.

Senators Tydings (D-Md.), Umstead (D-N.C.) and Aiken (R-Vt.), who had voted for the tax reduction then, switched to uphold the presidential veto. The other vote to sustain came from Senator Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) who was in Europe when the last vote was taken.

Voting to override the veto today were 47 Republicans and 10 Democrats. For sustaining were 33 Democrats and three Republicans.

Aiken was the only Republican to switch his vote today; Senators Morse (R-Ore.) and Langer (R-N.D.) previously had opposed the bill and continued to oppose it today.

Tydings said he had decided to uphold the veto because of what he termed a dangerous international situation.

The tall Marylander in a lengthy speech said the United States "ought to keep a gun behind the door for the next 12 months." He said the way to do this was to keep any surplus tax funds in the treasury.

Martin Hits "Political Veto"

Martin issued a statement saying:

"Millions of hard working, thrifty Americans will be sorely disappointed at the second veto by President Truman of the tax bill. This veto means the take-home pay of millions of workers will be smaller than it would otherwise have been. Many people will be deprived of things they would like to secure.

"There will be less food for one million aged people with incomes of less than $1,000, who are sorely pressed by the high cost of living. It may mean the loss of hundreds of thousands of jobs for the American workers and it stifles the incentive needed for business expansion.

"It is unfortunate this all comes about because of a political veto.

"The American people now must realize that while the spending policies of the present administration continue there will be no chance for relief from the strangling war taxes."

The 1948 presidential campaign entered the House debate when Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the ways and means committee, tax cut author, shouted: "This probably is the end of hopes for tax relief in 1948. We will let the great tribunal, the American people, decide whether they want tax reduction."

House Speaker Martin charged the President had sent Congress "a political veto."

The President, in terse veto message, branded the bill "unsound, unsafe and unfair."

"This is still the wrong kind of tax reduction and this is still the wrong time to provide for tax reduction," he said.

Repeats Denunciation

Thus he echoed the language he used in his successful veto of the first tax cut bill June 16. The measure at issue today was identical with the earlier one, except that the effective date of the tax reduction for 19,000,000 tax payers was changed from July 1, 1947 to January 1, 1948.

The measures called for cuts ranging from 30 per cent in the lowest brackets to 10.5 per cent on incomes over $302,000.

No sooner had the veto message been read in the House than a powerful Republican-Democratic coalition rode roughshod over it, piling up 28 votes more than the necessary two-thirds.

Then the scene changed to the Senate, where the bill's foes were confident of enough votes to sustain the veto.

But first the senators had their say. Senator Millikin (R-Colo.) jumped on the President's contention that the bill unfairly favors the well-to-do.

"Under the President's theory nobody gets any relief," Millikin said. "He gives the American people nothing but sympathy, excepting perhaps to inculcate class warfare."

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) interrupted to remark that the bill gives comparatively little relief to persons with incomes of less than $10,000.

Sentor George (D-Ga.) went to Millikin's support by asking whether the President or the treasury had ever submitted a plan for relief of the low income taxpayers.

Senators Clash

"No schedule, no program, no hint," Millikin replied.

Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) reminded Millikin that the President had said tax reduction would come "at the proper time," whereupon the Colorado senator relied "the people can't eat proper time."

"The proper time is when there is a surplus in the treasury," he said.

"They are eating better than in 1928," Taylor came back.

"They will eat better if they are given greater take-home pay in the form of tax relief," Millikin said.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic leader, pleaded with the Senate to sustain the President in the interest of "our domestic economy and obligations to mankind."

He said Foreign Minister Molotov had "sabotaged" the Paris conference on European rehabilitation, creating a situation that could involve the whole world.

"If the situation blows up in Europe," he said, "and the people are called upon again to invest in our cause through purchase of government bonds, how many people are going to respond if we destroy or injure the credit of our government."

To Be Campaign Issue

Anticipating a Senate death sentence for the tax measure, Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the House Ways and Means committee announced to the House the tax issue will be thrown into the 1948 presidential campaign. The idea, he said, will be "to let that great tribunal, the American people, decide whether they want tax reduction."

House Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana accused the President of abusing the veto power, and said it seems the country must have a Republican president before it gets tax relief.

30. 24- 10995

On the first veto test, in June, the House sustained the President on a 268 to 137 vote—two short of the two-thirds needed to override. But with the change in the effective date, to delay the tax reduction six months, many Democrats broke ranks today to support the bill.

In today's House vote, 236 Republicans were joined by 68 Democrats on the overriding motion. The President's position was supported by 105 Democrats, two Republicans—Hull of Wisconsin and H. Carl Andersen of Minnnesota—and the one American Labor member, Marcantonio of New York.

Truman Presents Arguments

On today's veto message, Mr. Truman pleaded that the measure be put aside because, he said:

1. America's international obligations are heavy and the risk increased.

"Our responsibilities for international rehabilitation have an important bearing on our efforts to secure lasting peace," the message said. "The recent refusal of certain nations to join in common endeavors to establish conditions of world stability increases the difficulty of our task and exposes us to greater risk."

The President apparently referred to the refusal of Russia and Eastern European nations under her influence to participate in the Paris conference on economic rehabilitation.

2. This measure is "a premature and faulty tax reduction bill" which would inject into the tax system "inequities which would greatly increase the difficulty of making desirable revisions." When taxes are reduced, he said, it should be "on a basis that is fair to low income groups as well as to high income groups."

3. Since his first veto, "there has been no lessening of the need to make substantial payments on the public debt."

4. The present bill represents not only "unsound fiscal policy" but also would contribute "to inflationary pressures which we have made progress in combatting but have by no means overcome."

Mr. Truman told Congress "I am unequivocally committed to the right kind of tax reduction at the right time."

But Knutson told reporters later, in effect, that if the President will not accept a measure written by the Republican Congress, then Congress will shelve his proposal and take the issue to the voters.

"We have a big ice box up here," he commented on the possibly the President may propose his own kind of tax cut later.

Text Of Truman Message Vetoing New Tax Cut Bill

JUL 19

Washington, July 18 (AP)—The text of President Truman's message vetoing the income-tax reduction bill:

To the House of Representatives:

I return herewith, without my approval, H.R. 3950, entitled "An Act to Reduce Individual Income-Tax Payments."

Provisions Identical

The provisions of this bill are identical with those of H.R. 1 except that this bill would not become effective until January 1, 1948, whereas, H.R. 1 would have become effective on July 1, 1947.

I returned H.R. 1 to the House of Representatives on June 16, 1947, without my approval, stating that it represented the wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time.

This is still the wrong kind of tax reduction and this is still the wrong time to provide for tax reduction.

Not Sound Fiscal Policy

The present bill is not consistent with sound fiscal policy. As I have stated to the Congress on previous occasions, while business, employment and national income continue high, we should maintain tax revenues at levels that will meet current expenditures and also leave a surplus for retirement of the public debt.

No other course is consistent with realistic and conservative management of the fiscal affairs of the Government.

Since H.R. 1 was disapproved, there has been no lessening of the need to make substantial payments on the public debt. Maintaining the integrity of this debt is one of the primary obligations of the Government.

Debt Reduction First

I repeat that, if we do not reduce the public debt by substantial amounts during a prosperous period, such as the present, there is little prospect of material reduction at any time.

I also pointed out in my message on H.R. 1 that necessary Government expenditures are still high. We are meeting tremendous obligations growing out of the war. The national defense establishment still requires large sums. Our responsibilities for international rehabilitation have an important bearing on our efforts to secure lasting peace.

The recent refusal of certain nations to join in common endeavors to establish conditions of world stability increases the difficulty of our task and exposes us to greater risk. Until we are better able to estimate the cost of our investment in world peace and collective security, it is unwise to make so large a cut in our Government's future income that our ability to meet our needs would be impaired.

Expenditures Still High

As far as can be determined at present, it is not likely that expenditures in the fiscal year 1948 will be substantially less than I estimated in the January budget message.

A careful appraisal of the outlook for both receipts and expenditures indicates that it is not possible, under present conditions, to make a major tax reduction and an adequate payment on the public debt at the same time.

Not only does this bill represent an unsound fiscal policy, but it would also contribute to inflationary pressures which we have made progress in combating but have by no means overcome.

Prices Not Stabilized

As I stated in the message on H.R. 1, there is no justification for tax reduction so long as price stability at sound levels has not been secured and business, employment, and national income continue at peak levels.

Since the veto of H.R. 1, income payments to individuals have continued to rise, and the general level of business activity is establishing new high records.

The total number of civilians gainfully employed has also continued to rise. Total employment in June increased by 1,725,000 over May, and the total number now employed is over 60,000,000—the highest in our history. There is still no convincing evidence that a recession is imminent.

Would Delay Readjustments

Tax reduction now would delay the readjustments of prices and wages necessary to maintain this high prosperity. It would lead to an even higher level of prices for consumer goods. It would increase the danger of a recession.

For all these reasons, which are more compelling now than they were one month ago, I regard the present bill as unsound and unsafe.

I also regard it as unfair.

Inequitable Reduction

In my message of disapproval of June 16, I pointed out that H.R. 1 was inequitable in that it would reduce taxes in the high-income brackets to a grossly disproportionate extent as compared with the reduction in the low-income brackets. I stated that a good tax-reduction bill should give a greater proportion of relief to low income groups.

Since the present bill is identical except as to its effective date, it is, of course, subject to the same criticism.

It is important to remember that, during the war, Federal income taxes were extended to millions of low-income families who had never before paid them, and taxes on moderate incomes were increased by a far greater proportion than those on higher incomes.

Special Wartime Burden

The amount by which present income taxes exceed those payable under the Revenue Act of 1940 represents a special wartime tax burden.

When the time comes to lessen this wartime tax burden, it is only fair that we should follow a pattern which is the reverse of that under which the burden was imposed. That is to say, this wartime-tax burden should be reduced on a basis that is fair to low-income groups as well as to high-income groups.

The failure of H.R. 3950 to follow this equitable principle is strikingly demonstrated by the following examples:

The bill would remove 21 per cent of this wartime-tax burden for a married couple with an income of $2,500.

The bill would remove 64 per cent of this wartime-tax burden for a couple with an income of $100,000.

The bill would remove 85 per cent of this wartime-tax burden for a couple with an income of $1,000,000.

Committed To Right Kind

I am unequivocally committed to the right kind of tax reduction at the right time. The right kind of tax reduction must be based upon a careful consideration of all elements of our tax structure.

A premature and faulty tax-reduction bill such as H.R. 3950 would inject into our tax system inequities which would greatly increase the difficulty of making desirable revisions.

A fair and proper revision of our tax structure should result in an equitable distribution of tax reductions. It should be designed, also, to assure a balanced budget, adequate debt retirement, and an adequate reserve for meeting our international commitments and carrying out our foreign policy.

Provide Stability

It should be designed to provide stability rather than instability in our economy, and should be properly timed for that purpose.

Because H.R. 3950 is at complete variance with the fundamental requirements of a good tax bill, I am compelled to return it without my approval. HARRY S. TRUMAN.

HOUSE APPROVES FUNDS TO SPEED U.S. AID PROGRAM

Few Major Reductions as $1,353,000,000 Measure Is Quickly Passed.

COVERS WIDE FIELD

Move to Deny Assistance to Reds, Satellite Nations Is Defeated.

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP) The house swiftly passed tonight an omnibus appropriations measure, bundling up $1,353,020,900 in funds to carry out the United States' tri-pronged program to speed Europe's recovery, help the hungry and homeless and stem the spread of Communism.

The action came on voice vote just an hour after its consideration began—perhaps a peacetime record for disposing of a measure of its magnitude and international implications. It goes now to the senate.

Amendment Defeated

The final action came after the house shouted down a motion by Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill) to attach an amendment denying any aid to countries which fail to "cooperate" in the Marshall Plan for Europe's recovery.

Rep. Keefe (R-Wis) protested that the amendment would "commit" congress in support of the Marshall Plan at a time when it knows nothing of its details, and before the Paris conference on its operation has been completed.

Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the house appropriations committee asked:

"What is the Marshall Plan and is there a Marshall Plan?"

(Secretary of State Marshall has proposed that Europe draw up a recovery program of its own, with the United States standing by to give any aid it deems practicable. A conference is being held at Paris now on this "Marshall Plan.")

Taber declared that countries under Russian domination will be denied American relief "unless they turn over a new leaf."

Against the background of testimony—some secret, some public—he spoke particularly of Poland, but said that other countries, too, in the Soviet bloc "must show that they are willing to cooperate with nations which believe in freedom."

Few Major Reductions

The foreign spending program had emerged from Taber's committee with few major reductions from amounts sought by army and diplomatic chiefs—and the house ratified the committee's decisions.

Taber said the committee specifically had eliminated $18,000,000 from the previously-authorized $350,000,000 for foreign relief to cut out money originally intended for countries economically and ideologically associated with Russia.

This apparently would apply to Hungary, since its recent change in government, as well as to Poland. Both had been named in the relief bill as potential recipients of the American aid.

The biggest barrier to passage of the measure was removed early in the evening when Rep. Case (R-SD) dropped plans to attempt to attach a rider calling for a flood control program. He said he had been assured hearings on the control plans would be held next week.

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), ranking Democrat on the committee, took the floor to declare that "other nation's across the sea look with covetous eyes" at America's wealth.

"The only reason they don't come over here and take it away, put us in concentration camps, hang us to the nearest telephone pole is that they lack the power to do it," he said.

Cannon contended that if war could be prevented by "dollars instead of men, then let's make that investment."

In sending the omnibus aid bill to the house floor, however, the committee cautioned the world against counting upon "limitless" relief from the United States.

All told, the measure contained $1,353,024,900 for the program, technically representing a 12.6 per cent committee reduction—far less than had been threatened—in the $1,548,331,400 outlay sought by the administration.

Curb for Occupied Areas

But a big chunk of this slash came in the committee's decision to put the army's government and relief program in the occupied areas of Germany, Japan and Korea on a 12 month rather than a 15 month basis.

The measure bundled up:

1. The full $400,000,000 previously authorized to bolster Greece and Turkey against Communism with supplies, arms and limited military missions.

2. All but $18,000,000 of the $350,000,000 for foreign relief which was earmarked under rigid conditions for Greece, Italy, Trieste, Hungary, Austria, Poland and China. The committee said the $18,000,000 cut represented the sum intended to go to certain countries which have not shown a disposition to comply with the requirements of the act authorizing the appropriation."

3. $550,000,000 to pay the costs for 12 months of the army's occupation program. The administration had sought $725,000,000 for a 15 month program.

4. $71,024,000 as the United States share in the international refugee organization's costs during the next 12 months in caring for approximately 850,000 European war refugees. The committee pruned out $2,336,500 of the original request on the ground it represented obligations "not mandatory x x xunder the international agreement."

These constituted the major share of the appropriation bill, which carried a total of $1,603,199,094, including late-session allocations for a number of domestic programs.

Along with the measure itself, Congress received an official $4,091,200,000 estimate of this country's foreign program for the next 12 months. This includes direct aid in the pending bill, loans, and disposition of surplus military equipment.

It does not, however, include any funds for carrying out the Marshall Plan if and when the western European nations get together on a coordinated program on what they can do for themselves and what they will need from this country.

No More Calls This Year

The law makers received assurance that they would not be called upon again this year for more money for relief. It came from Dean Acheson, testifying before his July 1 resignation as undersecretary of state.

He put it this way:

"If you ask are we coming back this year for more money, the answer to that is: 'No, we are not.'"

The bill eliminated $24,900,000 sought by President Truman to carry out the federal employes' loyalty program set up by executive order. The committee noted that Congress is setting up a loyalty screening program of its own.

Other Allocations

Other major allocations included:

$140,000 for liquidation of the office of Defense Transportation at the end of this month. It had asked $644,000.

$500,000 for liquidation expenses of lend lease.

$1,900,000 for liquidation of UNNRA's expenses.

The full $12,026,000 for state grants for unemployment compensation administration.

$9,460,000 for grants to states for public employment offices.

$1,320,000 for operation of the new mediation and conciliation service and $90,000 for boards of inquiry provided by the Taft-Hartley labor law. The President had requested $2,500,000 and $90,000 respectively.

In a separate bill, the committee recommended an additional $35,500,000 for construction of temporary housing for war veterans and their families, estimating that it would provide 8,026 additional units.

HOUSE GROUP OK'S PLAN FOR SURVEY OF FOREIGN POLICY

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—A worldwide study of United States foreign policy was approved today by the house rules committee after it heard Rep. Eeaton (R-NJ) declare, "we are in sight of a shooting war at this minute—in Greece."

The committee cleared for house debate two resolutions asked by Eaton, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, to send members of congress abroad during the summer recess to get their own information on the nation's policies in action.

Eaton In Warning

The white-haired Eaton, a former clergyman, flushed and rose half out of his chair to pound on the table as he told the rules committee in measured tones:

"The Russians, as a result of the Marshall Plan, have taken off their masks. There are alien armed forces now in Greece.

"Either America will stand and hold the fort, or Russia will take over. If Russia takes over, the destiny of mankind is once more at stake."

One resolution would authorize foreign affairs subcommittees to investigate areas of the world under their jurisdiction. They could take with them sufficient staff help to assemble information on United States operations in those areas. There would be no limit on their activities.

The other would create a special 19-member house committee, which would include representatives of other house standing committees, such as appropriations and public works, as well as foreign affairs.

This group would study specifically "the actual and progressive needs of foreign nations and peoples, both for relief in terms of food, clothing, and of economic rehabilitation." It also would assess this country's resources for meeting those needs.

To Study Marshall Plan

The committee would, in effect, look into development of the Marshall plan of European recovery on a self-help basis with U. S. aid. Russia has spurned participation.

"I think we should have every possible member of congress overseas this summer," Eaton told the committee. "I would like to see 100 or more over there."

"We have to know as much about the foreign situation as the state department knows in order to act intelligently."

The rules committee did not set a day for house confirmation of the two measures, but a member said he does not believe they will come up before the first of next week.

GOP SENATORS SEEK JULY 26 ADJOURNMENT

JUL 1947

Leaders Agree On Day And Night Sessions As Date Nears

Washington, July 18 (AP)—Day and night sessions of the Senate next week were agreed upon by Republican leaders today as they clung to plans for adjournment of Congress on July 26—a week from Saturday.

Biggest change in previous Senate plans, made at a strategy session of the Senate Republican policy committee, was addition of a number of vetreans' bills to the "must list" of legislation.

Among these is the House-approved plan to permit immediate payment of some $1,800,000,000 of terminal pay bonds now held by veterans of World War II.

Windup Next Week Foreseen

"I see no reason why we should not finish next week," Senator Taft (R., Ohio) said after the policy committee closed-door session. Taft heads the committee.

He left a possible loophole if plans go awry.

"We are not going to let somebody hold a gun at our heads," Taft said in an apparent threat against any last-minute filibuster or similar delaying tactics possible under the Senate's unlimited debate rules.

Taft smiled at suggestions that Senate-House disputes over a group of appropriations bills might prevent adjournment. These are the measures that supply funds for Government agencies for the fiscal year that began July 1.

"The end of the session is a hot time," Taft said. "There are at least 100 bills and each one is urgent."

Taft said Senate leaders will meet with House Republican heads on Monday and try to shape schedules for what they hope will be the final busy week of this session.

Taft Lists Program

Taft listed this program for the Senate:

First, the test upon overriding the presidential veto on the income tax reduction bill.

Second, continued pressure on the Senate to approve a probe of actions by the Justice Department in its investigation of the Kansas City Democratic primary election last year.

Third, approval of the veterans' pay bill and a "number of other veterans' measures."

Fourth, action on a series of so-called "noncontroversial" measures previously listed.

Taft said the Senate strategy group had decided to sift through a growing list of proposals for special investigations and probes.

"Too Many Of Them"

"There are too many of them," he said.

Senator Wherry (R., Neb.), the Republican whip, won support of the policy group today for a one-year extension of the Senate's Small Business subcommittee. It had been extended earlier this year for the period that Congress was in session.

Taft said President Truman's new request for $250,000,000 additional for flood control was discussed, but the actual decision left to the Appropriations Committee.

He said that at any time the Senate may take up President Truman's reorganization plan No. 3. It proposes unification of Federal housing and home finance agencies. The House already has voted disapproval, but the Senate must also reject it or the plan becomes effective.

Veterans' Bills Added

Among the veterans' bills added to the Senate list are:

One granting Spanish-American War veterans a twenty-per-cent boost in present monthly pensions.

A bill raising monthly allowances for veterans now attending schools under the GI Bill of Rights. Single veterans would get $75 monthly instead of the present $60; married veterans $105 instead of $90, and married veterans with children $120 instead of $90.

A measure authorizing purchase of automobiles for veterans who are blind or permanently disabled.

NEW 'DRAFT' SETUP FOR EX-GI'S ASKED

Proposal Calls for All Under 45 to Register with Boards.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Every ex-GI under 45 years of age could be compelled to sign up again with his selective service board under bills which have been introduced into both houses of congress.

The object, the Army Times will say in a copyrighted story tomorrow, "is to have 100,000 men available at reception centers within 72 hours and 1,000,000 men in these centers within 30 days in the event the nation must ever mobilize again."

The identical bills were introduced by the heads of the armed services committees, Senator Gurney (R-SD) and Rep. Andrews (R-NY).

The Army Times, unofficial publication for service men, said that, in effect, this is the administration's "only interim alternative to a program of universal military training."

Under the bill selective service would be required to prepare and keep up a card index on all those who served for "any period of time between Sept. 16, 1940, and March 31, 1947.

Anyone who would be 45 on or before Dec. 31, 1947, would be exempt from the requirement.

Anyone who failed to give the desired information, when requested, would be liable to five years' imprisonment or a 10,000 fine or both.

Since congress is hustling to wind up its business by the end of next week there's little likelihood of any action of the bills at this session.

EXTRA FUNDS VOTED FOR VETS HOUSING

JUL 1947

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—In less time than it takes to tell about it, the house passed by unanimous voice vote and sent to the senate tonight a bill appropriating an additional $35,500,000 for veterans' temporary housing.

By actual count, passage at the end of a weary ten-hour session came in less than a minute. The bill was not even read, nor was it explained. It was simply passed.

Approved this morning by the appropriations committee, it would provide for construction of an estimated 8,026 units of housing. The new funds supplement $438,432,818 appropriated to date for the program of conversion of surplus military and other war housing to temporary veterans' dwelling units.

The bill carries also provisions for the Reconstruction Finance corporation to use $38,754,700 of its available funds for administrative expenses during the current fiscal year.

The RFC, not having been officially continued when its original supply bill came before the house, had received no money to date.

HOUSE STANDS PAT ON FARM BILL SLASHES

Compromises With Senate Only On Soil Conservation Program

Washington, July 18 (AP)—The House spent seven hours and went through seven roll-call votes today without breaking its deadlock with the Senate over the near-billion dollar Agriculture Department appropriation bill for the fiscal year which started July 1.

It compromised to the extent of almost $100,000,000 on soil conservation payments but stood pat on other major items in dispute as it returned the measure to the Senate to see if that body would yield.

Meat Inspection Fund

The House refused to go along with these Senate amendments to the bill originally passed by the House in May:

1. Providing $11,140,000 for Federal meat inspection by the Agriculture Department. Instead it insisted that the meat industry foot the bill for inspections by paying fees to Federal inspectors.

2. Providing $75,000,000 for the Federal school lunch program instead of $45,000,000 voted by the House.

3. Appropriating $20,000,000 for farm tenant loans after the House had refused to appropriate anything.

The House agreed to Senate limitations on the crop insurance program for the 1948 crop.

Compromises On $265,000,000

It compromised the soil conservation controversy after a long and bitter struggle, finally agreeing to provide $265,000,000 for this purpose instead of the $295,000,000 demanded by the Senate and the $165,614,290 originally voted by the House.

But the House refused to accept a Senate amendment authorizing the obligation of $150,000,000 for conservation payments for the 1948 program and applied to this year's program a limit of $500 that may be paid to any individual. The Senate had voted that limitation on the 1948 program only.

'Pressure' Charged

Representative Taber (R., N.Y.), chairman of the Appropriations Committee, claimed "pressure" for larger conservation payments had been exercised by "the limestone trust and the fertilizer trust," which he said were the largest beneficiaries.

Representative Rayburn, Democratic leader from Texas, called Taber's argument "a straw man" to "cover up" deep cuts in the farm program.

As the bill originally went through the House it provided approximately $847,600,000 for the department, including contract authority reappropriations and permanent appropriations. It came from the Senate with a total of approximately $1,048,000,000, compared with the President's overall request for $1,274,000,000.

PRESIDENT SIGNS SUCCESSION BILL

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP) President Truman today signed a bill changing the 60-year-old law of succession for the presidency and in effect designating House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., (R-Mass) as the No. 1 replacement for the White House.

Under the new law, Martin would become president in the event Mr. Truman does not finish his term—something Martin says he hopes will not happen.

A member of congress since 1924, Martin is 62—six months younger than Mr. Truman—and a bachelor. He is publisher of the North Attleboro, Mass., Evening Chronicle.

A "Truman Measure"

In signing the measure, Mr. Truman achieved a goal he has sought almost since he succeeded to the presidency upon the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt, April 12, 1945.

Two months after entering the White House, Mr. Truman asked congress to break the old tradition of succession, declaring that "so far as possible, the office of the president should be filled by an elective officer."

Under the old law of succession, Secretary of State Marshall would have taken over the White House in case Mr. Truman did not finish his term. Since Marshall, like all cabinet officers, is a presidential appointee, he would not be an elective officer.

The new law, shifting the line of succession from the cabinet to congress, makes the speaker of the house the government's No. 2 man when, as now, there is no vice president.

When the vice presidency is filled, the speaker drops down to No. 3, followed by the president pro tempore of the senate (now Senator Vandenberg of Michigan) and cabinet officers starting with the secretary of state.

Objections to Old System

In persistently advocating a change in the law, Mr. Truman noted two paramount objections to the old system. His appeal to congress last Feb. 5, asking for the legislation, cited these reasons:

1. "The present law gives me the power to nominate my immediate successor. In a democracy, this power should not rest with the chief executive."

30. 24- 10997

2. "The office of the president should be filled by an officer who holds his position as a result of the expression of the will of the voters of this country."

Mr. Truman expressed preference that the succession should fall to a house member, rather than a senator. He said he felt that the representatives who are elected every two years are closer to the will of the people than the six-year senate members. Also, the speaker is elected by the house membership.

Mr. Truman signed the bill into law with little or none of the ceremony which usually marks the signing of important or historical measures.

The secret service normally protects the vice president as well as the president and his family. However, Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, told reporters he knows of no plans to assign a secret service agent to Martin.

Martin was elected speaker last Jan. 3 when the Republicans took over control of congress.

Bill To Screen U.S. Workers Pushed After Disloyalty Data

Washington, July 18 (AP)—Representative Rees (R., Kan.) said today a nine-month survey indicating that some 1,200 persons had been forced off Federal pay rolls as disloyal showed a "pressing need" for enactment of his bill to set up a screening system for Government workers.

The report, by the Civil Service Commission, said that 241 employes—190 in the War Department—were known to have been found "ineligible for loyalty reasons" during the nine months ending last April 1. It estimated that complete figures might boost the total by as much as 1,000.

The report was made public by the House Civil Service Committee, of which Rees is chairman.

Would Screen All

Rees said he would call it to the attention of the Senate Civil Service Committee when he appears at a hearing next Tuesday in support of his screening bill, which has already passed the House, 319 to 61.

"I am confident the Senate committee will approve the bill," Rees said.

The Rees measure would require the Civil Service Commission to investigate all employés and applicants for work in executive departments. "Derogatory information" would be passed on to the FBI for a further check and a report to a board of five appointed by the President.

Navy Dept. Second

The loyalty board would then rule whether the persons were eligible to be Federal employés.

The Civil Service Commission survey yesterday said known dismissals or resignations for loyalty reasons during the period covered all came in six departments: Agriculture, 2; Navy, 38; Labor, 5; Veterans Administration, 3; Commerce, 3, and War, 190.

However, the War Department figures were for only one of the four army areas and the report said it could be assumed that it should be multiplied by four, to a total of 760, to get a fair picture of the whole department.

State Dept. Total Awaited

A total of 38 Government agencies reported no disloyalty firings and thirteen failed to meet the deadline for the survey.

Among those not heard from was the State Department, where Secretary Marshall recently disclosed that ten persons had been dropped as "bad risks" from the standpoint of security.

The commission survey did not define its test of loyalty and it named no names.

PATTERSON QUITS, ROYALL IS NAMED WAR SECRETARY

Retiring Official Has Served in Department for Seven Years.

LAUDED BY TRUMAN

Delayed Resignation Until He Was Sure Unification Plan Would Win.

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP) Grizzled "Judge" Robert P. Patterson quit his job of secretary of war today, ending a seven-year government service which President Truman called "magnificent."

In a letter to the President, Patterson asked that the resignation become effective not later than next Thursday. Mr. Truman, accepting, immediately nominated Undersercetary of War Kenneth C. Royall of North Carolina to succeed the New Yorker.

Goal Reached, He Says

Patterson, a leading advocate of armed forces unification in the long argument over that proposal, told Mr. Truman that he had waited to resign until it appeared the unification bill would become law.

With that, he added, "the time has come to lay down the duties I have borne for seven years as assistant secretary, undersecretary and secretary of war."

Mr. Truman, who once headed the senate's war investigating committee, remembered Patterson's zeal as undersecretary in equipping the army with the tools to fight World War II. He wrote Patterson that "how well you acquitted yourself in that vital task is attested by the results." And, said the President, when Henry L. Stimson resigned (in September 1945) and he appointed Patterson to succeed him "I was comfortable in the knowledge that the administration of the War department would be carried on with the same zeal and efficiency that he demonstrated."

Patterson in recent months has shown some of the strain of his war-time service and the problems of demobilization and unification. New lines have appeared in his already craggy countenance and he chews his ever-present gum with nervous energy.

Patterson's is the second resignation from top levels of the War department within the week. On Monday, Assistant Secretary Howard C. Petersen, in charge of the army's occupation and civil affairs problems overseas, sent his resignation to the White House, effective July 31.

Royall said in a statement after announcement of Patterson's resignation by the White House:

Praised By Royall

"My appreciation to the President for sending my name to the Senate as Secretary of War is mixed with deep regret at the War department and the government losing the services of Judge Patterson."

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal issued a statement on Patterson's departure, saying:

"Everyone in government, whether in the executive or legislative branches, will share the President's expression of profound regret at the resignation of Robert C. Patterson as Secretary of War. He has been a great public servant."

Forrestal's name has been mentioned in speculation for the post of secretary of national defense which would be created under unification. This official would have cabinet status and there would be three secretaries, without cabinet rank, for the departments of War, Navy and Air.

The name of W. Stuart Symington, assistant secretary of War for air, also has been mentioned in speculation on a head for the unified service setup.

Addressing Patterson as "Dear Bob," Mr. Truman wrote:

"I want to add, Bob, that I value, more than words can tell the friendship that has grown up between us. The official loss of your services is also to me a deep personal loss.

"I want to feel free to call on you from time to time for counsel."

TEXT OF TRUMAN LETTER

The text of the President's letter accepting Mr. Patterson's resignation, which was addressed to "Dear Bob," was as follows:

"Your letter this date leaves me no choice but to accept your resignation as Secretary of War, effective at the close of business July 24. Never have I accepted a resignation from the Government service with more poignant regret. I yield to your desire only because I can no longer in good conscience ask you to stay on.

"It is hard for me to find the proper words with which to describe the character of your service to our country. It has been magnificent. It has been utterly selfless. I saw a great deal of your work when I was head of the Senate Committee to Investigate the National Defense program and you were Under-Secretary of War.

"You then had charge of procurement of supplies for the Army. How well you acquitted yourself in that vital task is attested by the results. When Secretary (Henry L.) Stimson resigned I was comfortable in the knowledge that the administration of the War Department would be carried on with the same zeal and efficiency that he had demonstrated. Again, the results prove the truth of this conviction.

"I want to add, Bob, that I value, more than words can tell, the friendship that has grown up between us. The official loss of your services is also to me a deep personal loss.

"I want to feel free to call on you from time to time for counsel."

MR. PATTERSON'S LETTER

The text of Mr. Patterson's letter was as follows:

"I am submitting my resignation as Secretary of War, to take effect not later than July 24.

"As you know, I could not see my way clear to leave until the issue of reorganization of the military establishment was resolved. I have done everything in my power to promote the unity of the armed forces.

"Now that it appears that the organization law is about to be enacted in final form, the time has come to lay down the duties I have borne for seven years as Assistant Secretary, Under-Secretary and Secretary of War.

"I cannot leave without expressing my deep gratitude for the trust and confidence you have always given me, as well as my appreciation for the inspiring leadership you have furnished."

Mr. Royall, whose nomination to be Secretary was sent to the Senate late today, served in the War Department early in the war as a colonel and brigadier general before he was appointed Under-Secretary on Nov. 9, 1945.

Mr. Forrestal said that "everyone in government, whether in the executive or legislative branches, will share the President's expression of profound regret at the resignation" of Mr. Patterson, who has been "a great public servant."

Mr. Royall said that "my appreciation to the President for sending my name to the Senate as Secretary of War is mixed with deep regret at the War Department and the Government losing the services of Judge Patterson."

FRENCH VIEW SUBMITTED BY BONNET

Ambassador Says Decision Now Would Imperil Marshall Plan

Washington, July 18 (AP)—France served notice through her Ambassador today that a British-American decision now to revive German industry might "greatly endanger" Europe's efforts to put the Marshall aid plan into effect.

The envoy, Henri Bonnet, submitted the French Government's views in an hour-long conference with Robert Lovett, under secretary, at the State Department.

Referring plainly to the tentative agreement already reached by the United States and Britain virtually to double the present ceiling on western Germany steel production, he said afterward that:

"The Paris conference on the Marshall plan is going very well and is likely to produce results in something like six weeks. But if in the meantime France is faced with decisions she cannot approve, the conference could be greatly endangered."

Expense Of Neighbors

He advised particularly that "no decision should be made which would create a fait accompli" on German's future during the conference which would be "at the expense of the security of France and the other neighbors of Germany."

Bonnet made his demarche, as he termed it, in the midst of a continuing stalemate between the United States and Britain over subjects to be considered at a conference called by Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, on means to increase the Ruhr's coal production. If held, it is expected to open next week in Washington. Bonnet emphasized, however, that France was not opposing such a meeting.

"We're all out for digging the coal," he said, "but not for using it in Germany to make German steel."

Called 'Battle Of Ruhr'

The French statement added confusion to an already involved situation over German production which a London official termed today the "Battle of the Ruhr." Developments included:

1. The State Department still looked to Britain for a firm decision whether to go ahead with the coal conference in view of yesterday's American rejection of British proposals to widen its scope. These were that German financial, food and industrial questions be considered, or failing this, that the talks be shifted to Berlin.

2. Bonnet's words lent weight to suggestions that French objections are blocking announcement of the new level of industry plans for the British-American combined zones, drafted by Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Lieutenant General Sir Brian Robertson.

BRADLEY GOING TO EUROPE FOR 6-WEEKS TOUR

Visit Bolsters Speculation That He Will Succeed Gen. Eisenhower

Washington, July 18 (AP)—A White House announcement bolstered speculation today that Gen. Omar N. Bradley, wartime commander of American ground forces in Europe, may succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as army chief of staff.

The announcement said Bradley, now serving as chief of the Veterans Administration, will leave next month on a six-week tour to inspect United States Army troops and installations in Europe and the Mediterranean area.

The trip was seen as a possible "refresher course" for Bradley to brush up on current army problems in preparation for the chief-of-staff post. Eisenhower announced last June 24 that he will leave the top army job to accept the presidency of Columbia University (N.Y.) effective next year.

Was Eisenhower's Subordinate

Bradley, now 54, served as Eisenhower's immediate subordinate in directing American troops in the Normandy invasion and the subsequent drive into Germany. He took over the huge and complex task of guiding the Veterans Administration on August 9, 1945.

The White House announcement said Bradley will make the trip at the invitation of Secretary of War Patterson and that he will "resume his duties in the Veterans Administration" upon his return.

At the War Department, officials said:

"General Bradley is still one of the senior officers of the Army of the United States. Both he and the War Department are anxious to have him keep abreast of developments in the Army.

Wants Active Duty

"General Bradley has been unable to see anything of our troops since he became administrator of the Veterans Administration. He was willing to use his leave this summer for a visit to the European theater."

Bradley has frequently voiced a desire to return to active army duty, remaining in the tough and controversy-ridden VA post only to see the job through. It will be his first trip back to Germany since the end of the war.

Nations Refusing To Help Solve Problems Assailed By Truman

Washington, July 18 (AP)—Without naming Russia and her satellites, President Truman said in a message today that nations "which have refused to join in solving the fundamental economic problems resulting from the war must bear a heavy responsibility before the world."

[Russia and eight of the so-called "Soviet-bloc" nations refused to join in the Paris conference to discuss the proposal of Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, for European economic recovery.]

Mr. Truman's criticism of the stand-off countries was made in a message thanking the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration for its world relief job.

Message To Stalin

Premier Stalin, of Russia also sent a message to Maj. Gen. Lowell W. Rooks, UNRRA director general, expressing his "gratitude" for UNRRA aid to the Ukraine and Byelorussia, both Soviet republics.

Noting UNRRA had shipped almost 25,000,000 tons of relief supplies to war-stricken countries Mr. Truman wrote:

"There can be no quetion that the program of UNRRA has prevented starvation and economic collapse in many countries during the past three years.

"It was hoped that this help would contribute to the establishment of a foundation on which these countries could achieve a permanent recovery.

UNRRA Being Liquidated

"It is a source of great regret to men of good will throughout the world that the vast resources which this country and others have so freely poured forth have not brought a far greater degree of lasting recovery."

Then Mr. Truman criticized "those governments and groups which sought political advantage at the expense of economic and social recovery, which have added to internal and international tensions" and which refused to join in solving postwar economic problems.

Secretary Marshall also sent a message of appreciation to UNRRA, which has finished its relief task and is now in liquidation.

Group Would Force Russia Out of U. N.

Army-Navy Union Wants U.S. to Resign Otherwise

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 18 (AP).—The Army and Navy Union urged today that the United States resign from the United Nations unless Russia and her satellites are compelled to leave the world organization.

At the same time, in a resolution adopted over strong opposition, the Union's thirty-second state convention advocated the admission to the United States of 100,000 displaced persons a year for four years.

Opponents in the prolonged floor debate asserted admission of the Europeans would aggravate housing and economic crises in the United States. The resolution was adopted by a 3-to-1 vote.

Other resolutions recommended that Communists be barred from holding public office in the United States and that active members of the armed forces be prohibited from participating in "Communist May Day parades."

In urging that Russia be forced out of the U. N., the Army-Navy group declared that Russia had exhibited "bad faith" in boycotting the European economic conference in Paris and in opposing the Baruch plan for control of the atomic bomb.

Should Russia be allowed to remain in the U. N., she will be in a position to "sabotage the purposes" of the world organization, it was asserted in the resolution introduced by Chester S. Mandel, of New York City, the Union's judge advocate.

The convention also indorsed universal military training, declaring that "it does not appear likely that agreements of a satisfactory nature to give reasonable assurance of future peace are likely to ensue within the next few years."

Bulk of Germany's Scientists Snared by Reds, Bridges Charges

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP) Senator Bridges (R-NH) said tonight that Russia has been able to secure hundreds of German scientists while this country has not secured its share.

Bridges, a member of the armed services committee, said on a radio broadcast tonight that the scientists have been taken by the Russians to work "on rockets, jet propulsion and germ warfare development."

"I am especially disturbed by the fact that Russia has taken German scientists who are known to have developed germ warfare to a very high degree," Bridges added.

The New Hampshire senator said Russia has been able to get hundreds of the scientists, adding, "getting some of them by force, others through fear and others by money."

Bridges said a subcommittee during confidential hearings recently has been looking into State Department policies responsible for the "apparent road block" in this country not getting more of the German scientists.

All-America Pact Called Vital

Washington, July 18 (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee today advocated military co-operation between all American nations because "both our material power and our political way of life are vulnerable to attack anywhere in the hemisphere."

"In the world as it is, military security is not yet a consideration that can be abandoned," the committee said in a report accompanying a bill to lay the groundwork for a $50,000,000 five-year program to equip other nations of North and South America with modern arms, ships and planes.

The committee added:

Aggression Matter Of Concern

"The defense of American nations against each other is a matter, it is hoped, made nearly, if not quite, obsolete. Defense against aggression, whether originating from inside or from outside the hemisphere is made a matter of common concern by the Act of Chapultepec."

Chances of the bill's passage before next year are slight, however, in view of the Congressional drive for adjournment by the end of next week and heavy legislative calandar.

In its report, the committee said, "the most economical means of insuring the defense of the hemisphere must have a concrete relation of the nature of armies, navies and air forces. . . . Only a handful of major powers possess the industrial base sufficient to supply a full variety of modern armaments and to maintain such armaments in combat."

3 Countries Seek Delay In Japan Treaty Session

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—Three of four countries replying to an American invitation favor postponing the preliminary Japanese peace conference suggested for Aug. 19.

Great Britain, New Zealand and Australia have told the State Department they would prefer a later date, presumably because the suggested time conflicts with the British Commonwealth conference scheduled for Canberra, Australia, Aug. 16.

Among the ten countries invited, the Netherlands thus far has expressed readiness to attend the Aug. 19 meeting without objection.

State Department officials said Britain, in addition, had suggested the possibility of a prior meeting of Foreign Ministers from all eleven countries in the Far Eastern Commission.

No indication of the Russian attitude has been received by State Department officials, it was said.

Export Bank Acts To Aid Italy Trade

It Will Consider Credits to Specific Industries

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—The government's Export-Import Bank formally committed itself today to consider applications for separate credits to specific sectors of Italian industry to promote Italy's foreign trade.

"The terms and conditions of each credit will depend on the circumstances of the respective case," William McChesney Martin jr., bank chairman, advised Alberto Tarchiani, Italian Ambassador to the United States, in a letter.

The letter pointed out that the bank had earmarked $100,000,000 on Jan. 14 for possible loans to help "specific segments of Italian industry to restore and expand their export markets."

Mr. Martin wrote that the bank's formal decision to consider the applications was made after review of the financial situation of Italy with two of its officials who carried out a survey of industrial conditions in Italy during May.

Approves Ships for Italy

House Group Votes to Make Good 31 Seized or Lost in War

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—The House Commerce Committee today approved legislation to give Italy thirty-one merchant ships as compensation for an equal number of vessels lost or seized in the war.

The bill, already approved by the Senate, also provides for return of $60,000,000 in seized Italian property after deductions of amounts necessary to meet claims of United States citizens who suffered loses in Italy during the war.

Backed by the Administration as part of a program to stabilize Italy against Communist pressures, the legislation restores thirteen Italian ships now in American hands. It also makes good the loss, from surplus Liberty ships, of eighteen other vesesls which were seized but sunk while in war-time service.

U.S.-BORN WOMEN HELD BY SOVIETS

WORCESTER, Mass., July 18—(AP) The fate of two American-born wives of former high Lithuanian diplomatic officials—both reported "prisoners" of the Russians in Siberia by relatives here—was under investigation tonight by the State Department.

Moscow has ignored U. S. embassy suggestions to produce one of them—Mrs. Valdemaras Carneckis, 49, Worcester-born wife of a pre-war foreign minister of Lithuania.

She was seized with her husband and five children when Lithuania was overrun by the Russians in 1940, State Department records show, and has not been heard from since.

The other American reported in Soviet custody was identified by relatives here as Mrs. Stanley Kairukstis, wife of a former Lithuanian Minister of Education.

Washington reported making known its willingness to grant Mrs. Carneckis and her five children passports to the United States—but officials in the capital said their efforts to talk with her were blocked in Moscow.

State Department officials said the Russians presumably considered her a Soviet citizen—though she was issued an American passport in 1940.

Her children, born before 1934, never attained American citizenship, they said.

Relatives of Mrs. Kairukstis, who lived in Worcester until 1926, said they learned of her fate in a letter from an unidentified French woman.

U.S. Urged To Quit Sending Steel To Russ

Washington, July 18 (AP)—Representative Vursell (R., Ill.) called on the Government today to "stop or limit" export of petroleum "and steel tubing which is needed for the production of oil in this country."

"We should stop at once the exportation of steel tubular goods, and petroleum products to Communist Russia, all of which are needed for our own economy and for national defense," he declared in a speech to the House.

Vursell said this country shipped 82,250 tons of pipe abroad during the first three months of this year.

HOUSE SIDETRACKS PLAN TO ADMIT DP'S

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Legislation to admit 400,000 homeless Europeans to America was sidetracked today by a house subcommittee, with Rep. Fellows (R-Me) saying more investigation is needed.

"There is no yardstick in this bill, Fellows told a reporter after the judiciary subcommittee of which he is chairman heard Attorney General Clark urge quick action.

Fellows said he would push his resolution, introduced yesterday, to "investigate the whole problem" of admitting refugees. Unless definite standards are set up, he expressed fear administration of immigration laws would break down.

More hearings may be held when congress reconvenes in January, Fellows said.

NEHRU REPLIES TO CELLER

Says Rahman Was Ordered to Be Impartial on Palestine

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru informed Representative Emanuel Celler of New York by cable today that Sir Abdur Rahman, Indian representative on the United Nations special committee on Palestine has been instructed to serve with "complete impartiality."

Mr. Celler had charged that the Indian had shown "his prejudice and hostility, almost to the point of insult, to the Jewish point of view," creating "a bad impression in the United States," and added, "his conduct does not help India."

Mr. Nehru replied that "our instructions to Sir Abdur Rahman emphasize the quasi-judicial character of the inquiry and lay special stress on complete impartiality."

British Loan Dwindling Fast

Washington, July 18 (AP)—Treasury records disclosed today that Great Britain had drawn another $150,000,000 from the fast-dwindling loan of $3,750,000,000 granted her by this country one year ago.

Withdrawals now total $400,000,000 in the first half of this month alone. Britain has taken $2,450,000,000 of the money in a single year and has left $1,300,000,000—which will barely last through 1947, at the present rate of use.

Originally, the British loan was expected to last three to five years, and perhaps longer. Officials of both countries now say they expect the loan to be exhausted in less than two years and possibly within eighteen months.

NURSE APPOINTED REGULAR OFFICER

Head Of Army's Corps Given Colonel's Commission

Washington, July 18 (AP)—A soft-spoken, modest little redhead stood at attention today before Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and became the first woman in history to receive a full commission in the regular army.

Col. Florence A. Blanchfield, superintendent of army nurses, drew herself up to her full height—5 feet 1½ inches—and heard Eisenhower say:

"I have seen them under every condition of service. No one displayed greater courage than the nurses."

Serial Is N-1

And he handed a commission—authorized when Congress recently made the Nurses Corps part of the regular army—to the woman whose serial number is N-1.

This business of commissioning women in the regular army is so new the Government Printing Office apparently hasn't heard of it yet. Her commission, which will be exchanged later, reads "commission him."

A native of Shepherdstown, W.Va., Colonel Blanchfield entered the Nurses Corps in 1917. She was overseas in World War I, and between wars had assignments that took her to the Philippines and China.

Retires August 31

She has been boss of all army nurses since June 1, 1943, and will hold that post until she retires August 31.

Incidentally, the Army's feminine big shots all seem to be little women.

Congress is expected to make the WAC's part of the regular army, too. And when it does, Col. Mary Hallaren, as head WAC, will be first in line for her commission.

When she "stands tall" she's 5 feet even.

CITY FIRM GETS ATOM JOB

Walsh Company Will Construct $20,000,000 Plant Up-State

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—The Walsh Construction Company of New York City will build the $20,000,000 Knolls Laboratory for the Atomic Energy Commission.

L. E. Johnston, Schenectady area manager for the commission, announced the contract award today, and said the excavation probably would be started within two weeks at near-by Niskayuna.

The $20,000,000 is the proposed total outlay for buildings and equipment, Mr. Johnston said. Mr. Walsh's contract is on a cost-plus basis.

The laboratory, one of the commission's four principal research centers, will be concerned chiefly with applications of atomic power. It will be operated by the General Electric Company, which now is building a research laboratory on an adjacent site. Scientists from various industrial firms and universities will participate in the work.

The Knolls staff, temporarily quartered in Schenectady, will move into the new laboratory before the end of 1948, Mr. Johnston predicted.

'Gray Mart' In Newsprint

New York, July 18 (AP)—Some United States newspaper publishers are paying sky-high prices for newsprint in an international free market that stretches from New York to the Orient.

Paper from Canada, Sweden, France and Poland is being sold and offered at prices from around $200 a ton up—with the accent on the "up." At least one publisher has paid $290 a ton.

This $290 charge is 219 per cent above the so-called contract price of $91 a ton delivered in New York, the price at which the great bulk of newsprint, mostly from Canada, is sold in the United States.

Publishers of metropolitan dailies as well as small-town papers are paying fancy prices to pad out dangerously low supplies. Newsprint stocks held by all United States publishers at the end of May were at the lowest level on record and only slightly higher at the end of June, according to the latest report of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

End of Controls Spurs Buying in Wool Markets

Bigelow Reports Greatest Upsurge in Years; Mills' Stocks Are Much Depleted

BOSTON, July 18 (AP).—The return of the "free market" in the wool industry through the removal of government controls has opened up one of the greatest upsurges in buying in recent years, a spokesman for the industry said today.

C. Willard Bigelow, secretary-treasurer of the Boston Wool Trade Association, said that, with the government now on the outside and with foreign wool clips unavailable until possibly September, the demand for domestic wool had caused widespread activity.

Further, he added, the worsted mills had become heavy buyers of the domestic clips because their stockpiles of both domestic and foreign wools had been depleted almost to the vanishing point.

During the war the government took over control of the domestic clip, but relinquished the control last April 15. The future of government buying now is contained in bills before Congress.

"Growers can do better selling to dealers than to the government," Mr. Bigelow said, adding that the latter sales entailed heavier expenses, which came out of the growers' pockets.

Mr. Bigelow said that the current wave of buying and selling "looks good" for some time to come. France and Belgium, he pointed out, were without wool at the end of the war. Clips from Australia, South America and other foreign points may not be as plentiful as in the past.

Prior to World War II, he said, Australia exported most of its wool to the United States and England. Today she is exporting to about sixty countries. "And the price of foreign wools is advancing," he added.

The demand, he declared, is for the fine wools.

Wool Measure Advances

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP).—A measure extending the government's price support program for domestic wool through 1948 was cleared today by the House Rules Committee for action next week. It has been passed by the Senate.

The decision followed a statement by Secretary of State Marshall, in effect, that he cannot say whether the tariff on wool imports will be lowered at the Geneva trade conference.

"Tariff concessions are, in fact, made only if the United States is able to obtain adequate reciprocal concessions," Secretary Marshall wrote in reply to a letter from Republican House Leader Charles A. Halleck, of Indiana.

"Consequently, it is never possible to know in advance of the conclusion of negotiations the exact concessions that will finally be granted."

The measure awaiting House attention was advanced after President Truman vetoed a previous wool support bill, which authorized imposition of increased tariffs or import quotas if foreign wool threatened prices of domestic wool.

Mr. Halleck asked the Secretary how much the "wool subsidy plan" would cost American taxpayers.

Mr. Marshall replied that this original measure, with the tariff-quota provisions, would have cost American users at least $50,000,000. On the other hand, he said that extension of the government support program, as provided in the new bill, would be $15,000,000.

NIGHT LEAD RUHR (200)

BY ARTHUR GAVSHON

JUL 1947

LONDON, JULY 18-(AP)-A BRITISH OFFICIAL TODAY DESCRIBED BRITISH-AMERICAN DIFFERENCES OVER A PROPOSED CONFERENCE ON SOME PHASES OF THE GERMAN PROBLEM AS A "BATTLE OF THE RUHR."

THE OFFICIAL SAID THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT STILL BELIEVED THERE WAS NEED FOR "FULL, FRANK" TALKS WITH THE UNITED STATES ON OVER-ALL ECONOMIC ADMINISTRATION AND FINANCIAL POLICY IN THE MERGED BRITISH-AMERICAN ZONES. GENERAL MYSTIFICATION AND CONCERN WAS EXPRESSED BY BRITISH OFFICIALS ALSO AT THE REASONS WHICH HAD PROMPTED THE UNITED STATES TO REJECT BRITAIN'S SUGGESTION THAT THE CONFERENCE BE HELD IN GERMANY.

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS IN WASHINGTON SAID LAST NIGHT THE U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT HAD TURNED DOWN A BRITISH REQUEST TO EXPAND A PROPOSED CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON ON INCREASING RUHR COAL PRODUCTION. THE BRITISH SAID YESTERDAY THEY WANTED ALSO TO DISCUSS SUCH PROBLEMS AS FOOD, FINANCE AND LEVEL OF INDUSTRY.

ONE BRITISH OFFICIAL SUMMED UP HIS REACTION BY SAYING, "WE ARE ALL WONDERING WHAT KIND OF BRUCK IS BEING THROWN AT US."

BRITISH-AMERICAN DIFFERENCES OVER THE SCENE OF THE CONFERENCE, HE SAID, WAS "CLEARLY SYMPTOMATIC OF A DEEPER DIVISION," AND "THE WHOLE FUTURE OF THE RUHR IS AT STAKE."

A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID BRITAIN WANTED THE SCOPE OF THE RUHR TALKS BROADENED BECAUSE INCREASED COAL PRODUCTION DEPENDED ON INCREASED FOOD SUPPLIES FOR MINERS AND ULTIMATELY ON GENERAL FINANCIAL AND OTHER ECONOMIC CONSIDERATIONS.

CONSIDERABLE DELAY ALSO HAS DEVELOPED OVER RAISING THE LEVEL OF INDUSTRY IN GERMANY. ALTHOUGH GEN. CLAY HAS STATED THERE WAS GENERAL BRITISH-AMERICAN AGREEMENT ON PERMITTING A HIGHER LEVEL ON GERMAN STEEL PRODUCTION, NO DETAILED ANNOUNCEMENT HAS BEEN FORTHCOMING.

THE FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN SAID THE QUESTION OF THE UNITED STATES TAKING ON A GREATER SHARE OF THE FINANCIAL COST OF RUNNING GERMANY "MAY HAVE BEEN" THE SUBJECT OF EXCHANGES BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES, ALSO. AUTHORITATIVE SOURCES SAID EARLIER THIS WEEK THAT BRITAIN WOULD ASK THE UNITED STATES TO TAKE ON AT LEAST 75 PERCENT OF THE COST OF FEEDING AND OCCUPYING THE TWO ZONES UNTIL THE COUNTRY IS RESTORED TO SOLVENCY. UNDER AN AGREEMENT OF EIGHT MONTHS AGO, BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES SHARE THE COST EQUALLY. BUT MOST OF GERMANY'S IMPORTS ARE GOODS AND FOOD FOR WHICH DOLLAR PAYMENT IS REQUIRED AND BRITAIN'S DOLLAR RESOURCES ARE RUNNING LOW.

EGYPTIAN BORDER, STILL WERE NOT OFFICIALLY REPORTED.

ONE OFFICER OF THE BOARDING PARTY SAID THREE BODIES WERE FOUND ABOARD AND THAT ONE WAS A WOMAN WHO DIED IN CHILDBIRTH DURING THE JOURNEY. HE SAID THE OTHER TWO WERE KILLED WHEN BOARDING MARINES RESORTED TO GUNFIRE TO COUNTER TEAR GAS AND REVOLVERS USED BY THE REFUGEES.

JUL 1947

TWO BODIES WERE SEEN ON THE JETTY, COVERED BY BLOOD STAINED BLANKETS.

SWEDISH JUSTICE EMIL SANDSTROEM AND YUGOSLAV DELEGATE VLADIMIR KONSTANTIN SIMITCH OF THE UNITED NATIONS SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON PALESTINE WERE AT THE HAIFA DOCKS WHEN THE REFUGEES LEFT THEIR BATTERED SHIP, WHICH HAD BEEN BOUGHT IN AMERICA, AND MARCHED ONTO A BRITISH DEPORTATION TRANSPORT.

TROOPS OF THE BRITISH SIXTH AIRBORNE DIVISION MOVED INTO HAIFA. THE DOCK AREA WAS PLACED UNDER CURFEW.

THE REFUGEE SHIP WAS ESCORTED INTO HARBOR BY FIVE BRITISH DESTROYERS.

THE CITY WAS QUIET. NONE OF THE STREET BARRICADES, USUALLY ERECTED TO PREVENT MASS MARCHES ON THE HARBOR AREA, WERE IN EVIDENCE AS THE RED-BERETED TROOPS ENTERED AT NOON FROM THEIR MOUNT CARMEL HEADQUARTERS.

JEWISH COMMUNITY LEADERS SAID THEY EXPECTED NO PROTEST STRIKE OR DEMONSTRATION AGAINST THE DEPORTATION OF THE IMMIGRANTS TO CYPRUS. THE TRANSFER OF THE REFUGEES TO TROOPSHIPS FOR THE OPERATION WAS EXPECTED TO BE UNDERTAKEN AT ONCE, ARMY SOURCES SAID.

SOME TALK OF A GENERAL STRIKE IN THE ALL-JEWISH CITY OF TEL AVIV WAS HEARD, BUT OFFICIALS HERE SAID THEY DOUBTED IT WOULD MATERIALIZE.

A BRITISH BOARDING PARTY WAS IN CONTROL OF THE IMMIGRANT SHIP, IDENTIFIED AS THE PRESIDENT WARFIELD, RENAMED EXODUS, 1947 BY THE IMMIGRANTS. FIVE DESTROYERS ESCORTED HER INTO THE HARBOR.

NANKING,JULY 18-(AP)-THE STATE COUNCIL, TOP GOVERNING BODY OF CHINA, TODAY APPROVED THE NEW TOTAL MOBILIZATION AGAINST THE COMMUNISTS AND WITHDREW THE VACANT SEATS IF HAD RESERVED FOR COMMUNISTS IN THE STATE COUNCIL ITSELF, THE PEOPLE'S POLITICAL COUNCIL AND THE NEXT NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.

THESE PLACES HAD BEEN KEPT OPEN IN CASE COMMUNISTS WANTED TO JOIN IN A COALITION GOVERNMENT. WITHDRAWAL INDICATES ABANDONMENT OF ALL HOPES THAT THE COMMUNISTS WOULD DO SO.

(THE STATE COUNCIL IS SUPPOSED TO CONSIST OF 40 MEMBERS, BUT GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK, WHO IS CHAIRMAN, HAS THUS FAR APPOINTED ONLY 29, INCLUDING 17 FROM HIS GOVERNING KUOMINTANG PARTY AND 12 IDENTIFIED AS INDEPENDENTS OR REPRESENTATIVES OF MINORITY PARTIES.)

THE GENERAL MOBILIZATION MEASURES, ALREADY APPROVED BY THE EXECUTIVE YUAN, WERE ADOPTED WITH ONLY MINOR CHANGES, THE CHIEF ONE BEING INSERTION OF THE PHRASE "BY LAW" IN THE SECTION ON PUNISHMENT OF VIOLATORS.

MEANWHILE CHINESE PRESS REPORTS FROM MUKDEN SAID THAT A NEW LARGE-SCALE BATTLE WAS BREWING SOUTHEAST OF SZEPINGKAI, MANCHURIAN RAILWAY JUNCTION THAT HAS BEEN THE SCENE OF THE TWO GREATEST BATTLES OF THE CIVIL WAR TO DATE.

THESE ACCOUNTS SAID THE COMMUNISTS WERE MUSTERING STRONG FORCES 40TO 80 MILES SOUTHEAST OF SZEPINGKAI.

OTHER REPORTS SAID GOVERNMENT TROOPS IN CHINA PROPER HAD RECAPTURED LIHSIEN, 25 MILES SOUTH OF PAOTING IN HOPEH PROVINCES BUT THAT THE COMMUNISTS WERE MASING TO TRY TO HALT SOUTHWARD PROGRESS OF THIS DRIVE, WHICH IS AIMED AT CLEARING THE PEIPING-HANKOW RAILWAY.

TOKYO, JULY 18-(AP)-AMERICANS ON IWO JIMA ARE BATTLING EROSION AND ECONOMY TO KEEP THE STARS AND STRIPES FLYING ATOP HISTORIC MOUNT SURIBACHI.

THE FAMOUS FLAGPOLE ON THAT VOLCANIC SUMMIT OF A DEARLY-BOUGHT ISLAND IS REACHED BY A STEEP ROAD WINDING OVER SOFT ASH. WIND AND RAIN HAVE SO DAMAGED THE ROAD THAT IT HAS BECOME DANGEROUS TO SEND A JEEP UP FOR THE DAILY RAISING AND LOWERING OF THE FLAG.

MAJ.GEN.E.M.ALMOND, DEPUTY CHIEF OF STAFF OF SUPREME OCCUPATION HEADQUARTERS ESTIMATED TODAY THAT ROAD REPAIRS WOULD COST $100,000, A SUM ENTIRELY UNAVAILABLE UNDER PEACETIME ECONOMY CONDITIONS, BUT HE ADDED:

"WE ARE GOING TO WORK OUT SOME WAY TO KEEP THAT FLAG FLYING;AT LEAST, WE ARE NOT GOING TO TAKE IT DOWN UNTIL THERE IS A CHANCE TO REPLACE IT WITH A SUITABLE MEMORIAL."

A SMALL TEMPORARY MEMORIAL ALREADY IS THERE.

THE FLAGSTAFF, ALMOND SAID, IS THE IDENTICAL ONE THAT WAS MADE INTERNATIONALLY FAMOUS WHEN JOE ROSENTHAL, THEN AN AP WAR PHOTOGRAPHER, PICTURED THE MARINES AS THEY RAISED IT UNDER FIRE FEB.23, 1945.

TOKYO, JULY 18-(AP)-JAPAN LOOKED TODAY WITH INCREASED CONFIDENCE TO THE UNITED STATES AND TO GENERAL MACARTHUR PERSONALLY TO DEFINE HER POSITION AT THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

MOST JAPANESE REGARDED THE AMERICAN CALL FOR EARLY NEGOTIATIONS AS A PERSONAL TRIUMPH FOR MACARTHUR--THE LATEST IN A SERIES OF ENDORSEMENTS OF HIS VIEWS ON JAPAN AND THE OCCUPATION. ACCORDINGLY, THEY TOOK FRESH HOPE THAT HIS EXPRESSED OPINIONS ON SUCH CONTROVERSIAL PROBLEMS AS REPARATIONS AND JAPAN'S FUTURE STATUS ALSO WILL PREVAIL AT THE FINAL CONFERENCE.

JAPANESE OFFICIALDOM HAS BEEN QUICK TO NOTE INTERNATIONAL TRENDS PARTICULARLY THOSE TENDING TO CONFIRM THEIR REPEATED DECLARATIONS THAT "THE AIMS OF THE UNITED STATES AND JAPAN ARE IDENTICAL NOW."

A GREAT MAJORITY OF JAPANESE CONSISTENTLY HAS APPLAUDED GENERAL MAC ARTHUR'S UNWAVERING OPPOSITION TO COMMUNISM. JAPANESE OFFICIALS HAVE WATCHED WITH EQUAL INTEREST THE MORE HIDDEN AND LESS FREQUENT DISAGREEMENTS BETWEEN ALLIED HEADQUARTERS AND SOME OF THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH NATIONS OVER OCCUPATION METHODS.

MACARTHUR PRESUMABLY WILL STAND ON THE OCCUPATION RECORD TO DATE. SOME COMMONWEALTH SPOKESMEN, HOWEVER, HAVE VOICED A DESIRE FOR FURTHER, MORE THOROUGH SOCIAL AND POLITICAL REFORM, AND HARSHER ECONOMIC TERMS IN THE PEACE TREATY. NATURALLY, THE JAPANESE SIDE WITH MACARTHUR.

JUL 1947

MACARTHUR'S AGGRESSIVE ACTION IN MAKING THIS PRIMARILY AN AMERICAN OCCUPATION, UNDER PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S POLICY OF 1945, WAS APPROVED BY ALL ELEVEN INTERESTED NATIONS IN A RECENT FAR EASTERN COMMISSION POLICY STATEMENT. AND THIS, IN EFFECT, DEFLATED INTERNATIONAL CRITICS WHO HAVE CONDEMNED THE GENERAL'S "HIGH HANDEDNESS," AMONG OTHER THINGS.

THE SUPREME COMMANDER WAS THE FIRST TO VOICE THE REQUEST FOR AN EARLY PEACE TREATY, AND TO URGE THAT WORK BEGIN THIS FALL EVEN IF THE GERMAN TREATY REMAINED UNSIGNED. OTHER NATIONS FELL INTO LINE, AND THE AMERICAN STATE DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCEMENT CAME THROUGH ON SCHEDULE.

TO THE JAPANESE, MACARTHUR--WHOM THEY BELIEVE TO BE ON THEIR SIDE--LOOKS LIKE A SURE WINNER.

BATAVIA, JAVA, SATURDAY, JULY 19-(AP)-THE NETHERLANDS CABINET'S CRUCIAL DECISION ON FUTURE DUTCH POLICY TOWARD THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC WAS REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN RECEIVED FROM THE HAGUE TODAY BY HUBERTUS J.VAN MOOK, ACTING DUTCH GOVERNOR GENERAL OF THE INDIES. THE ISSUE HAS THREATENED WAR BETWEEN THE DUTCH AND INDONESIANS.

OFFICIALS DID NOT DISCLOSE THE DECISION, BUT THE DUTCH NEWSPAPER NIEUWSGIER, WHICH HAS CLOSE CONTACTS WITHIN THE NETHERLANDS EAST INDIES GOVERNMENT, SAID, "WE BELIEVE THE HAGUE SHARES NEI AUTHORITIES' OPINION THAT THERE IS NO POINT OF CONTACT LEFT FOR CONTINUATION OF DISCUSSIONS."

VAN MOOK IMMEDIATELY WENT INTO CONFERENCE WITH DR.J.E. HOOGSTRATEN, TEMPORARY DIRECTOR OF ECONOMIC AFFAIRS, AND COMMISSIONERS GENERAL WHO HAVE BEEN NEGOTIATING WITH THE REPUBLIC. THE SPEECH, BROADCAST OVER ALL INDONESIAN STATIONS, OFFERED ALSO TO LIFT THE FOOD BLOCKADE AGAINST CITIES OCCUPIED BY THE DUTCH.

IT CAME AT A MOMENT WHEN DUTCH-INDONESIAN NEGOTIATIONS APPEARED TO HAVE BROKEN DOWN OVER A PROPOSED CEASE-FIRE ORDER AND POLICE POWERS IN A PROJECTED INTERIM GOVERNMENT. THE DUTCH HAD PREDICTED ARMED HOSPILITIES WOULD START THIS WEEKEND BECAUSE SJARIFOEDDIN HAD REJECTED ALL DUTCH DEMANDS.

FAILING OF COMPLETE DECONTROL THE DEALERS ASKED THAT THE ISLANDS HAVE FREE DISPOSAL OF 100,000 TONS OR ABOUT 10 PER CENT OF THIS YEAR'S ESTIMATED PRODUCTION AND THAT A SHORTER TIME LIMIT THAN ONE YEAR BE PLACED ON QUOTA COUNTRIES TO LIFT ALLOCATION.

WASHINGTON, JULY 18-(AP)-A GOVERNMENT WITNESS TESTIFIED TODAY THAT GERHART EISLER, 50, ALLEGED KREMLIN AGENT IN THIS COUNTRY, TOLD THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF THE U.S.COMMUNIST PARTY IN 1933 THAT COMMUNISM MUST "SINK ITS ROOTS" INTO BASIC AMERICAN INDUSTRIES AS A PRELUDE TO "THE SEIZURE OF POWER."

THE WITNESS, MANNING JOHNSON, OAKLAND, CALIF., NEGRO, TESTIFIED THAT EISLER INSTRUCTED THE COMMITTEE TO "WORK WITH THE AFL AND ORGANIZE THE RAILROAD, MINING, MARINE AND STEEL INDUSTRIES."

JOHNSON IDENTIFIED HIMSELF AS A FORMER COMMUNIST PARTY ORGANIZER IN BUFFALO, N.Y.

EISLER IS ON TRIAL IN FEDERAL COURT ON CHARGES OF PASSPORT FRAUD. HE IS SPECIFICALLY ACCUSED OF DENYING FALSELY TO THE GOVERNMENT THAT HE HAD COMMUNIST AFFILIATIONS OR HAD USED ALIASES.

JOHNSON ALSO TESTIFIED THAT HE ARRANGED A SECRET MEETING IN 1933 AT WHICH EISLER CONFERRED WITH EARL BROWDER, FORMER SECRETARY OF THE U.S. COMMUNIST PARTY, AND TWO LEADERS OF THE CANADIAN COMMUNIST PARTY.

THE WITNESS SAID HE RECEIVED A CODE MESSAGE TO ARRANGE THE MEETING THROUGH UNDERGROUND PARTY CHANNELS FROM NATIONAL PARTY HEADQUARTERS IN NEW YORK CITY. HE SAID THE MESSAGE INFORMED HIM THAT "AN IMPORTANT PERSON BY THE NAME OF BROWN" WOULD ATTEND THE MEETING "WITH LEADING COMRADES."

THEN, POINTING DRAMATICALLY TO EISLER IN THE CROWDED COURTROOM, JOHNSON SAID:

NEW YORK, JULY 18(AP)-UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE FRANCIS G. GAFFEY QUASHED LATE YESTERDAY A SUBPOENA REQUIRING THE ARABIAN-AMERICAN OIL COMPANY TO PRODUCE IN COURT THE TEXT OF ITS OIL CONCESSION FROM KING IBN SAUD OF SAUDI ARABIA.

JUDGE EDWARD A. CONGER HAD ISSUED THE SUBPOENA JUNE 17 ON THE APPLICATION OF JAMES A. MOFFETT, FORMER VICE PRESIDENT OF THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW JERSEY AND ONETIME FEDERAL HOUSING ADMINISTRATOR, IN HIS $6,000,000 SUIT AGAINST ARABIAN-AMERICAN. MOFFEET CLAIMS THE SUM IS DUE HIM FOR WORKING OUT A PLAN BY WHICH GREAT BRITAIN AND THIS COUNTRY AIDED KING IBN SAUD FINANCIALLY DURING THE WAR, RELIEVING THE COMPANY OF DEMANDS FOR $6,000,000 A YEAR.

"SAUDI ARABIA HAS OIL INTERESTS ON WHICH THE UNITED STATES IS INCREASINGLY DEPENDENT," JAMES TERRY DUCE, VICE PRESIDENT OF ARABIAN-AMERICAN, TESTIFIED IN THE ACTION YESTERDAY.

"IT IS AN AREA IN WHICH THE INTERNATIONAL SITUATION IS DELICATE. ITS VIEWS WITH RESPECT TO AN AGREEMENT WHICH PROVIDES A MAJOR SOURCE OF ITS INCOME ARE ENTITLED TO RESPECT, AND THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES HAS AN INTEREST IN WHETHER ANY ACTION SHOULD BE TAKEN WHICH WOULD BE CONTRARY TO THE WISHES OF THE SAUDI-ARABIAN GOVERNMENT."

WILLIAM POWER MALONEY, COUNSEL FOR MOFFETT, ARGUED THAT THE U.S. GOVERNMENT "HAS NO INTEREST WHATEVER IN THE CONCESSIONS" AND SAID IT WAS NOT CLEAR HOW SHOWING THE DOCUMENT COULD EMBARRASS THE ARABIAN GOVERNMENT.

PAPERS SUBMITTED BY THE OIL COMPANY CONTENDED THAT MOFFETT, IN 1946, HAD SUGGESTED TO KING IBN SAUD THAT HE EXPROPRIATE THE COMPANY'S HOLDINGS IN SAUDI ARABIA.

MALONEY TOLD REPORTERS THE CONCESSIONS WERE WORTH FROM $600,000,000 TO $10,000,000,000.

Bevin Hopes To Bring U.S. And Russia Together

Morpeth, England, July 19 (AP)—Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, said today he saw no danger of another war "in this generation," and expressed the hope that Britain would find a way to "unite the United States and Russia in a common endeavor for the uplift of humanity as a whole."

Speaking extemporaneously at a coal miners' picnic in this northern England town, Bevin took a sober view of Britain's economic difficulties. He said the British policy would be to keep dollar-borrowing to a minimum.

"It is very hard to negotiate with the people to whom you are in debt," he added. "When you cannot pay up they feel a bit superior."

Signs Of Deep Conviction

The Secretary spoke with signs of deep conviction as he said "there is no danger of another war in this generation, as far as I can see.

"But in every act you perform, you must keep in mind the children of 30 or 40 years from now.

"Not a day passes—not a moment passes—in the job in which I am now engaged without my being fully conscious that a wrong decision, wrong judgment or petulant answer may now condemn a generation."

Bevin referred several times to the role of the United States in the world of the future.

Cites Marshall Stand

"I hope that the United States will never withdraw from Europe again," he said.

Bevin said Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, had "laid it down" that if Britain wanted more money "we must not see how much we wanted, but how little."

"I think that is a sound basis and I am going to try it," he added.

The Secretary addressed a reassuring word to France about Germany's future strength.

"I have seen it said in the press that the work I have been doing at Paris (at the sixteen-nation economic conference) in trying to take advantage of the Marshall proposals is intended to recreate Germany. It is nothing of the kind. German restoration must take its place in the queue of the general economic recuperation of Europe.

Britain For Security

"France looked at the Ruhr with horror and said: 'Are you going to rebuild it again for a third attack on us?'

"We in this country, too, must look at our security. We cannot face another Germany of that kind, and we are not going to. There must be a standard set and maintained. At what point is security safe, and at what level can we allow German production to be maintained?"

Aneurin Bevan, Minister of Health, told the miners that if the House of Lords tried to obstruct the Labor Government's program to nationalize industry, the Lords would be stripped of their last remaining powers.

Sound Decisions Urged By Bevin

Morpeth, England, July 19 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin warned today that a wrong decision in the relations among nations now might condemn the children of the next generation to war.

"There is no danger of another war in this generation as far as I can see," the Foreign Secretary said in an extemporaneous address to a coal miners' picnic here. He added, however:

"I feel conscious that a wrong decision, a wrong judgment, or a petulant word now might condemn the children of 30 or 40 years' time."

Hopes U.S. Will Stay

Expressing hope that the United States never again would withdraw from Europe, Bevin declared:

"I sincerely trust that even yet differences and suspicions might be removed with Soviet Russia and that we, a powerful nation in the central areh of the bridge in international affairs, will find a way to unite the United States and Russia in a common endeavor for the uplift of humanity as a whole."

Apparently referring to France's protest against an agreement to raise the level of production in the British and American zones of Germany, Bevin said the French, in effect, were asking: "'Are you going to rebuild it (the Ruhr) for a third attack against us?'"

Opposes Strong Germany

"We in this country, too, must look to our security," he added. "We cannot face another Germany of that character and we are not going to."

Speaking of British-American financial relations, Bevin said:

"You have heard it said that I am tying up to the United States. I do not like being tied up to money lenders at all. I want to get out of dollar borrowing because it is unnatural for them and unnatural for us.

Calls For Full Production

"I want to keep the borrowing as low as I can, and I call on every workman, by your energy, to turn the stuff out to keep us as far as you can out of the money lenders' hands for years and years.

"It is hard negotiating with the people to whom are you are in debt."

Bevin said that every bit of food grown in backyard gardens in Britain this year "saved us dollars overseas and kept us out of the money lenders' grip."

Bevan Warns Lords

Minister of Health Aneurin Bevan told the miners that it fhe House of Lords, which he described as "the last refuge of ignorant reaction" in Britain, persisted in obstructing the Labor Government's Socialist program, it would be stripped of its last remaining powers.

The Lords in recent weeks have deefated the Government on several minor amendments to a bill to a bill to nationalize the railroads, long-distance trucking and other inland transport.

Referring to the Government's bill to nationalize the steel industry, to be introduced at the autumn session of Parliament, Bevin said:

"It is a great monopoly, and we cannot trust the manufacture of steel to the steel lords. If the Houes of Lords, as the last refuge of ignorant reaction in Great Britain stands in the way, we shall take whatever steps are necessary to set aside this power."

Will Lawther, president of the powerful Nnational Union of Mine Workers, repected suggestions that the Labor Government draft labor for key industries. He said the wartime direction of labor was a failure in the mining industry and that the best way to solve manpower problems was to improve working conditions.

British Mine Chief Opposes Labor Draft

Morpeth, England, July 19 (A. P.).—Will Lawther, president of Great Britain's powerful National Union of Mine Workers, rejected today suggestions that the Labor Government draft labor for key industries needing more man power, including the mines. The wartime direction of labor was a failure in the mining industry, Lawther said in an address at a miners' picnic. The best way to solve man power problems is to improve working conditions, he declared.

British Explain Loan 'Draws'

London, July 19 (AP)—A Treasury spokesman said today the sudden new withdrawals from Britain's dollar loan in Washington were due "partly" to the Anglo-American currency convertibility agreement which went into effect Tuesday.

Under the agreement, which is one of the terms of the loan itself, nations to which Britain becomes indebted through current trading may demand dollars as payment. Several nations, with which Britain signed separate agreements, also may demand dollars in payment for the small released portions of debts which Britain piled up during the war.

Heavy Run Doubted

British officials had insisted in recent months they expected no unduly heavy run by creditor nations on Britain's dollar resources when the agreement became effective.

Spokesman said today that it is "utterly impossible" to say yet exactly how much the money withdrawn recently from loan would be used for payments to other nations.

"Lot Of Bills Due"

Stepping up the rate of withdrawals, Britain took $150,000,000 shortly before the convertibility date, another $100,000,000 on the date itself, and another $150,000,000 yesterday.

Treasury spokesmen said one reason was that "a lot of bills seem to be coming due at this time."

Other authoritative Whitehall informants suggested price rises in America and heavy expenditures in the British zone of Germany may have been contributing causes.

Griswold Wants 'To See End Of Greek Revolt'

Athens, July 19 (AP)—Dwight P. Griswold, administrator of the United States program of assistance to Greece, said today "I want to see the rebellion stopped" to open the way for Greek reconstruction.

The Greek Ministry of Public Order announced meanwhile that 11,500 persons were under arrest and were to be imprisoned or deported, all charged with political offenses. And meantime Greek Government troops and planes were harrying guerrillas seeking escape east and northeast of Ioannina.

Griswold, speaking at his first news conference since arriving from the United States, said: "Rebel fighting is holding back the reconstruction of Greece. I want to see the rebellion stopped. If it were, we could then reconstruct."

Answers Leftist

Replying to a reporter for a Left-wing paper who had asked whether Griswold expected activities to come to a halt by the waving of a "magic wand," the United States administrator said:

"I am certain that you have more influence in that respect than I."

He said the United States mission, after administrative orientation was completed, planned to launch a reconstruction program for railroads, roads, port work and the Corinth canal.

"Reconstruction will be carried out as soon as possible," Griswold said, "and in as many areas as possible. The sooner the people stop fighting the faster things can be accomplished."

Mostly Up To Greeks

He declared that he did not know what the mission would be able to do to brink Greek political parties together, but added that "most of that must be done by the people of Greece themselves."

The Ministry of Public Order said that some 7,000 persons had been arrested since the Government started raids to counteract the purported Communist-inspired uprising scheduled for July 10.

It was added that 5,000 of this group were recently taken from the Athens-Piraeus area, and more than 1,600 from the 3d Army Corps area in northern Greece, which includes Salonika. The remainder were scattered through Volos, Lamia, Missolonghi and Patrai.

7,000 Deported

The Ministry said about 7,000 had been deported and most had been sent to the island of Nikaria, west of Samos Island in the Aegean Sea.

Approximately 2,000 soldiers regarded as "unreliable" have been billeted on the island of Macronisi.

Brig. Gen. Stylianos Manidakis, speaking for the Greek general staff, said last night that no elements of an international brigade were fighting with guerrillas engaged against Government forces in northwestern Greece.

"Certain" On Invasion

He added he was "absolutely certain," however, that a guerrilla "invasion" had come from Albania. He said no evidence existed of an effort to set up a free Communist state in Greece.

Last Tuesday the Greek War Minister, George Stratos, said twenty prisoners taken by Greek troops had told interrogators units of an international brigade were in the enemy forces. Stratos has pictured the guerrilla offensive as an effort to establish a Communist state. Communist sources have hinted at the same motive.

British Cruisers Arrive

A Greek Army communiqué yesterday reported that guerrillas driven off 7,000-foot Mount Gamila, north of Ioannina and near the Albanian frontier, were fleeing to the northeast and south.

The British cruisers Liverpool, Leander, Phoebe and Mauritius and the destroyer Chevron arrived in Phaleron Bay near Athens last night for a visit.

Meantime, a Belgrade dispatch said Yugoslava papers there today front-paged denials by the Governments of Yugoslavia and Albania that an international brigade existed on Greek territory.

Retreat Into Albania?

Greek troops, meanwhile, were reported maneuvering east and northeast of Ioannina in the fighting zone to prevent the escape of the main body of guerrillas, while the air force sought out rebel groups to pound them from the air.

The insurgents, reported driven onto 7,000-foot Mount Gamila after failing to reach Ioannina earlier in the week, apparently were trying to escape to Metsovon, some 15 miles northeast of Ioannina, or to Mount Grammos, upward of 50 miles to the northeast.

One report said two battalions on the slopes of Mount Gamila were attempting to retreat into Albania, whence the Government has charged the "invasions" have come.

An English correspondent who went to Ioannina yesterday reported that a force of 2,000 which had launched a vain attack on Konitsa early this week now was reduced to 1,000. Apparently most of the casualties were being inflicted by the Air Force. Diplomats continued to express the belief today that a free state would be proclaimed by the guerrillas.

Back Total Disarmament

NEWCASTLE, England, July 19 (AP).—The annual Methodist Conference of Great Britain indorsed a report today declaring that the "way to security and peace" was complete disarmament, destruction of all atomic bombs and plants, and inspection to guard against secret manufacture of weapons.

POLITICAL ARRESTS 11,500, GREECE SAYS

Government Reveals Extent of Arrests to Counteract Communist Plotting.

Athens, July 19 (A. P.).—The Ministry of Public Order reported today that 11,500 persons from all over Greece now were under arrest and were to be detained or deported—all charged with political offenses.

The Ministry said that some 7,000 persons had been arrested since the Government started raids to counteract the purported Communist - inspired uprising scheduled for July 10. It was added that 5,000 of this group recently were taken from the Athens-Piraeus area and more than 1,600 from the Third Army Corps in northern Greece, which includes Salonika, and the remainder were scattered through Volos, Lamia, Missonlonghi and Patrai.

The Ministry said that about 7,000 had been deported and most had been sent to the Island of Nikaria west of Samos Island in the Aegean Sea. Approximately 2,000 soldiers regarded as "unreliable" have been billeted on the Island of Macronisi.

Meanwhile today Greek troops were reported maneuvering east and northeast of Ioannina in the fighting zone to prevent the escape of the main body of guerrillas, while the air force sought out rebel groups to pound them from the air. The insurgents, reported driven onto 7,000-foot Mount Gamila after failing to reach Ioannina earlier in the week, apparently were trying to escape to Metsovon, some fifteen miles northeast of Ioannina, or to Mount Grammos, upward of fifty miles to the northeast. One report was that two battalions on the slopes of Mount Gamila were attempting to retreat into Albania, whence the Government has charged, the "invasions" were launched.

Officials at Second Army Headquarters at Larisa said that more than half the men and animals in a pack of 350 men and 150 animals had been killed by strafing near Frangades, in the foothills of the Timfi Mountains, some eighteen miles northeast of Ioannina. Yesterday press dispatches said that another 250 had been killed south of Mount Smolikas in four strafing and bombardment runs by the Air Force.

ATHENS EXPECTS LARGER ARMY BID

180,000-Man Force To Be Asked, Greece Hears

Athens, July 19 (AP)—The Greek military council, anxious to secure the kingdom's borders against Leftist irregulars, has decided to ask that the size of the army be increased from its present 130,000 to 180,000 or 200,000, informants said today.

The sources said additional military classes probably would be called to active duty.

Greek army spokesmen reported that strafing planes and battle-toughened infantry veterans were continuing to harry retreating guerrillas, and indicated that troops were deploying for a large-scale mop-up battle northeast of Ionnina.

EAM Denies Retreat

The Communist-directed EAM (National Liberation Front) Press Bulletin denied that the "democratic army"—as it called the irregulars—was retreating.

The Bulletin said the Leftists were pushing forward in two directions, to the rear of the Government forces on Mount Grammos and south toward Khasia, where the National forces routed the guerrillas during the first phase of the offensive.

The EAM organ added that the irregulars apparently control the 25-mile highway from Konitsa to Ioannina and that Mount Gamila, Mount Grammos and other localities northeast of Ioannina were "constantly occupied by geurrillas." The Greek Army has claimed control of the Ioannina-Konitsa highway.

11,500 Under Arrest

The Ministry of Public Order, disclosing the extent of the Government's crackdown against opposition elements, reported that 11,500 persons from all over Greece were now under arrest on political charges.

The Ministry said some 7,000 of the total had been arrested in connection with a purported Communist-inspired plot to overthrow the Government. Most of those seized have been deported. Many were sent to the Island of Nikaria west of Samos Island in the Aegean Sea, and approximately 2,000 soliders regarded as "unreliable" were billeted on the island of Macronisi.

Griswold Cites Delay

Dwight P. Griswold, administrator of the United States program of assistance to Greece, said at his first news conference since arriving from the United States that "rebel fighting is holding back the reconstruction of Greece."

"I want to see the rebellion stopped," he asserted.

Griswold said he knew nothing about the arrest of the Communists, and that this was outside the scope of his duties.

In reply to a question by a reporter from a Left-wing paper, who asked whether Griswold expected strife to come to a halt by the waving of a "magic wand," the United States administrator said:

"I am certain that you have more influence in that respect than I."

Griswold said the American mission planned to launch a reconstruction program for railroads, roads, ports and the Corinth Canal.

Government reports from the fighting front close to the Albanian border indicated 1,300 guerrillas might be forced to give battle west of Vovoussa, 20 miles northeast of Ioannina, capital of Epirus.

General Kalageropoules, commander of the 2d Army Corps, said strafing planes killed more than 100 men in one ravine, and ground forces had killed, captured or wounded more than 300.

The predominance of casualties inflicted by planes was attributed to the reluctance of the rebels to stage frontal battles.

LOVETT EMPHASIZES URGENCY IN GREECE

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—The State Department today urged the Senate speedily to approve aid funds for Greece and Turkey, reporting that a guerrilla army was trying to "set up a stooge Government by force" in Greece.

Robert A. Lovett, Under-Secretary of State, told a Senate appropriations subcommittee that the situation has become more urgent since President Truman first proposed in March to help Greece and Turkey.

In addition to asking the committee to provide the $400,000,000 needed to carry out the Greek-Turkish aid programs on which this country has already embarked, Mr. Lovett also urged action on a $332,000,000 foreign relief fund. Both items already have been approved by the House.

In his unusual Saturday afternoon appearance before the committee Mr. Lovett reflected growing concern in high official quarters here over the situation in Greece.

"I think it is clear," Mr. Lovett said, "that the urgency of this program, as stated by the President in his message, has been greatly increased by subsequent events in Greece and in the rest of the world.

"As you know from the daily papers, the Greek Army is fighting an open battle with large numbers of well-trained and well-equipped guerrillas on the northern front.

"Guerrilla leaders have openly stated their purpose to try to set up a stooge government by force and the Greek Government is faced with a much more critical security problem than that which existed at the time of the President's message."

Bulgaria Reports Greek Border Raid

Sofia, Bulgaria, July 19 (AP)—The Bulgarian Government is reported to have notified the Allied Control Commission that 290 Greek loyalist troops penetrated Bulgarian territory July 13 southeast of Svilengrad near the Greek-Bulgarian-Turkish boundary.

Official sources said the Greek soldiers—moving in three contingents—fired at Bulgarian frontier guards and kidnapped Peter Angelov, a Bulgarian civilian.

[Last night a delegation of members of the Bulgarian Parliament arrived in Moscow as guests of the Soviet Government.]

Twenty Flying To Athens

New York, July 19 (AP)—Twenty members of the United States mission for aid to Greece left by plane today for Athens.

The group was headed by John Brigham Howard, counsellor in charge, of Washington, D.C., and included Earl Luther Myer, of Alliance, Neb., a judge of the Sixteenth District of Nebraska, who is on a one-year leave.

French Form Group To Plan United Europe

Paris, July 19 (AP)—A French Committee for a United Europe was formed today under the presidency of Edouard Herriot, president (speaker) of the National Assembly.

It plans to get in touch with other similar groups in other European countries and "launch a program of propaganda and action." Members include Paul Reynaud, prewar premier, and Paul Coste-Floret, present war minister.

Weds French Mayor's Daughter

Cannes, France, July 19 (AP)—Donald H. Elliott, American infantry captain during the war, and Miss Simone Marthe Alix Picaud, daughter of the Mayor of Cannes, were married today by the bride's father in the Cannes city hall.

4,980 Germans Executed for Plot on Hitler

British Admiralty Tells of Terror Reign Which Followed July '44 Bomb

LONDON, Sunday, July 20 (AP)—More than 4,980 Germans were shot, hanged or tortured to death in a reign of terror which followed the unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Adolf Hitler on July 20, 1944, the British Admiralty announced today.

"The terror which followed was one of the worst that Hitler ever organized against his own people," the Admiralty said in a report based on German naval documents captured during the war by British and American intelligence officers.

"The revolt was essentially a revolt from the top," the report stated. "It was impossible under the regime of Heinrich Himmler's Gestapo for ordinary people to take part."

The report traced the beginning of the revolt, led by Colonel General Ludwig Beck, back to 1938, when General Beck resigned as chief of staff in protest against the intended invasion of Czechoslovakia.

General Beck's movement later was joined by Count Von Moltke: Dr. Karl Goerdeler, ex-Mayor of Leipzig; Count Friedrich Werner von der Schulenberg, former Ambassador to Moscow; Field Marshall Edwin von Witzleben; Colonel General Erich Hoepner; General Freidrich Olbricht and Admiral Walter Wilhelm Canaris, chief of the intelligence division.

Oath Was Obstacle

The report said it was necessary to gain the co-operation of most of the army commanders who were capable of seizing power, "but the one great obstacle to obtaining the sympathy of the army was the personal oath of loyalty which all officers had taken to Hitler."

"Hitler's crimes alone would seem to have been sufficient reason for breaking such an oath, but to the German officer nothing less than the death of Hitler could absolve them from their obligations," the report continued.

"For the success of Beck's movement, therefore, the assassination of Hitler was a sine qua non (necessity)."

Colonel Count Claus von Stauffenberg became a supporter of the movement when the defeat of Germany became certain, and his "vigorous and dashing personality gave an added impetus to the movement," the Admiralty reported.

The report explained that the motives behind the plan were hatred of Hitler and a belief that rather than surrender he would "drag the whole nation to destruction with him."

Count Stauffenberg was to assassinate Hitler at Rastenburg, Field Marshal Witzleben was to assume command of the army and General Fromm, as head of the home army, was to seize Berlin. All communications with the German high command were to be cut.

Planned Peace Move

"As soon as order had been established Goerdeler and Beck were to form a government and sue for peace with the Allies," the report said. "They realized that the Allies would only accept unconditional surrender, but they believed that however harsh the terms they would still have saved many lives and prevented the further destruction of Germany.

"The plan miscarried, firstly because Von Stauffenberg did not wait to make sure that Hitler was dead, secondly because the communications were not secured and, thirdly because Fromm, uncertain of Hitler's death, betrayed the movement."

[Witnesses at the attempted assassination said that Count Stauffenberg, a one-armed and one-legged hero of the first world war, placed a bomb under Hitler's chair at a staff meeting. Count Stauffenberg then left the room, and there was a terrific explosion. The Count, looking through a door which had been blown open, saw Hitler covered with blood and lying on the floor, and took it for granted that he was dead.]

Nevertheless, part of General Beck's plan was put into effect. Orders to the army and proclamations were issued by the revolutionaries, but were countermanded by generals loyal to Hitler. Confusion reigned for two days, although Hitler himself had spoken over the radio.

The revolt ended officially on Aug. 8, "when amid the blare of Goebbels's propaganda those leaders who had not yet been shot or tortured to death were brought before the people's court and tried for high treason," the report said.

"The verdict and sentence were previously ordered by Hitler, and Goerdeler, Witzleben, Hoepner, Von Schulenberg and Von Moltke were either hanged or shot —Von Moltke in spite of the fact that alone among the revolutionaries he had refused to countenance the death of Hitler because of his religious scruples against the taking of life.

"For the rest, Beck, Von Stauffenberg and Olbricht were shot by Fromm, who was himself later court martialed and shot by the Nazis. Admiral Canaris, after suffering some months at the hands of the Gestapo, was either murdered or committed suicide, while the many other members of the movement were gradually hunted down and eliminated by Himmler.

"Terror raged for the next six months, and guilty and innocent alike were tortured and massacred in this, the last and worst outburst of the Nazis against their own people."

Death For Black Marketeers

Berlin, July 19 (AP)—Soviet-controled newspapers reported today that German authorities of Russian-occupied Saxony had announced heavy penalties, including death, for black marketing, hoarding or theft of food or damaging of field and garden crops.

Three-Way Ruhr Split Beclouds Aid Outlook

Washington, July 19 (AP)—A three-sided disagreement among the western allies over increasing Ruhr coal and industrial production today clouded prospects of success for the Marshall plan to revive Europe's economy.

It was the first time since the recovery proposal was laid down by Secretary of State Marshall on June 5 that major disagreement had appeared in the ranks of the western nations.

They have stood firm otherwise in their determination to make the plan succeed despite vigorous Russian opposition.

"Battle Of The Ruhr"

The disagreements were these:

1. Britain has rejected, after first accepting, an American invitation to a conference here beginning next week on increasing Ruhr coal production as one of the essential steps in European recovery.

The British do not object to this, but want the conference to take up a wider variety of subjects, including food, level of industry and how to continue payment for running the western zone, now divided equally between the British and the United States. The British have indicated they may ask this country to assume a greater part of the burden.

If only coal was to be discussed, the British said, the conference should be held at Berlin, where their experts are.

Meanwhile, the American experts have already come here from Berlin and the State Department has rejected the British alternative. This put the next move up to London, where a Foreign Office spokesman said yesterday that the "Battle of the Ruhr" between America and Britain had begun.

30. 24- 11009

French Objection

2. The other disagreement arises from French objection to any kind of increase in the general level of German industry now. The French do not oppose greater coal production but argue that if steel output is to be boosted it should be accomplished by removing the Ruhr plants to France and thus avoiding what the French consider a build-up of German war potentials again.

Meantime the British and Americans at Berlin are reported to have agreed already on a large increase in the western German level of industry, although the terms of the new agreement have not yet been announced.

The French thus appear to be protesting against something that has in fact already happened.

American officials were puzzled by the British comment about a "battle of the Ruhr." In general, they said, the two occupying powers have been getting along fairly well.

It is felt that what the British really want is for the United States to assume a larger share of the occupation cost.

Officials here say this is out of the question because the State Department's appropriation requests have already been made to Congress, and Secretary Marshall has said that he would not ask for additional funds for European purposes at this session.

thus applied against Germany's bill for food imports, which now is being shouldered by American and British taxpayers.

The American Express Company has proposed a ten-day tour at a price not yet fixed. It would proceed from Paris by train to Frankfurt and then by bus to Wiesbaden, Wuerzburg, Rothenburg, Nuernberg, Munich, Oberammergau and Heidelberg. Tourists would not be permitted shopping facilities.

Paper Exchange Permitted

An Allied control authority directive now permits the exchange of German newspapers, books, magazines and films for the first time throughout the four zones of Germany, but with certain restrictions.

Col. Gordon E. Textor, director of the AMG's information central division, announces that, in agreeing to the exchange, the control authority "laid down certain specific limitations," of which the requirements of military security and the needs of the occupation rank foremost.

The directive added that the exchange of publications, through normal German channels, "shall not be limited by zone commanders except by the necessities of ensuring that Germany carrier out her obligations to the Allies and the necessity of preventing a resurgence of national socialism and militarism."

Each zone commander retains the right "to take such measures as he may deem necessary against any publications or persons who violate" any of the provisions laid down by the control authority.

Tours In U.S. Zone Now Permitted

Berlin, July 19 (AP)—The American Military Government announced today that it had given foreign travel bureaus permission to conduct a limited number of guided tours in the three southern laender (states) of the United States occupation zone—Bavaria, Wurtemberg-Baden and Hesse.

Under the plan, announced by John S. Power, special assistant for policy in the AMG's trade and commerce branch, the tours will probably be inaugurated next month by the American Express Company.

Any Allied and neutral nationals would be eligible and would be required to pay in United States dollars.

Applied To Food Bill

About half the total dollar selling price of the tours would be credited to the German economy through the joint United States and British export-import agency and

Permits to Visit Germany

U. S. and Britain to Let Civilians Visit Aged or Ill Kin

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP).—The War Department said today that civilians will soon be permitted to visit aged or ailing relatives in Germany. This easing of restrictions to permit travel to the American and British occupation zones of Germany for "compassionate reasons" will be ordered as soon as conditions permit, it was said.

A quota of 400 persons for the American zone and fifty for the British zone will be set for each three-month period. The visitors will not be permitted to use military facilities. They will be issued a ration card and must provide their own food and utilize German civilian transportation and shelter.

CLAY REPRIMANDS GENERAL BEVANS

Criticizes Officer For Part In Hesse Jewel Case

Jul 1947

Frankfurt, Germany, July 19 (AP). Gen. Lucius D. Clay publicly criticized one of his highest-ranking generals in Germany tonight for the officer's connection with the Hesse (Kronberg) jewel-theft trials.

An Army announcement said Clay had reviewed the report of the inspector general "concerning the connection of Maj. Gen. James M. Bevans with the Kronberg jewel case."

Bevans, who is the Army's personnel chief in Germany, was named in the Kronberg trials as having "accepted" a silver pitcher from Kronberg Castle just like one Major David F. Watson sent to his home in Burlingame, Cal., before he was apprehended and sentenced to three years in jail.

To Delay Final Action

"General Clay believes that the evidence presented by the inspector general shows General Bevans to have displayed extremely poor judgment," the Army announcement said.

"General Clay has decided that he will take no further action in the case against General Bevans until final action against the principals in the case has been taken by the United States Government."

The allegation that Bevans had "accepted" a pitcher from the Kronberg Castle, which the Army ran as an officers' club, was made by Col. Jack W. Durant, who was sentenced by a court-martial to fifteen years' imprisonment for his part in the $1,500,000 theft.

The prison sentences against Durant, Watson and Durant's wife, the former Capt. Kathleen Nash Durant, have still to be reviewed by the War Department and the President.

Germans To Edit Own Newspapers

Hamburg, Germany, July 19 (AP). Germans in the British zone of occupied Germany have been handed full responsibility for gathering news for their newspapers, an official of the British Control Commission says.

All 49 British-licensed newspapers in the zone and in the British sector of Berlin will be members of a co-operative to run the German News Service which has operated for the past two years under supervision of the control commission.

There would be no direct British control or any pre-publication censorship, the British military government promised.

Austrian Paper Blames Russia for Blocking Help

VIENNA, July 19 (AP).—The American-sponsored "Wiener Kurier" charged editorially today that Russia objected to the $100,000,000 Austrian relief agreement because it meant infringement upon what the Soviet Union considered its colonial prerogatives.

The newspaper, which reflects official American opinion in Austria, said, "It is obvious that the Soviet Union's real concern has been that American help in eastern Europe would somehow extend American influence in areas where the Soviet Union is determined to exclude it."

"It is obvious, too," the editorial continued, "that while the Russians and their Communist hand servants were shrieking most loudly about the creation of a Western bloc, they were themselves busy setting up an Eastern bloc." The paper said that, although there are no political commitments in either the Marshall proposal or the relief agreement, "the Russians have chosen to invent them or at least to assume that they are there by implication."

6 Romanians Lose Immunity From Arrest

Bucharest, Romania, July 19 (AP). Dr. Iuliu Maniu, president of the National Peasant party, and five other legislators belonging to that opposition group were without parliamentary immunity to arrest today by action of their colleagues in Parliament.

The Romanian legislature, controlled by parties of the Leftist Government coalition, voted to deprive them of this privilege yesterday.

Maniu has been reported under guard in a sanitarium where he went for his rheumatism nine days ago. Of the other five, ex-Foreign Minister Grigori Buziski is in Switzerland. The others who lost their immunity were Basile Service, Emil Gilescu, Aurel Neukutsia and Maria Lazar.

U. S. Envoy Asserts Poles Ask Aid, 'Crack Us in Nose'

By The Associated Press.

WARSAW, Poland, July 19—Polish newspapermen questioned United States Ambassador Stanton Griffis sharply today about United States plans for the reconstruction of Germany, but the envoy replied that the way for the United States and Poland to understand each other "is not in the prize ring."

Mr. Griffis told the Polish journalists at his first news conference since assuming his Warsaw post that their press was attacking the United States continuously.

"While you appeal for help, you give us a crack in the nose," the envoy said.

The Polish newsmen insisted that Poland should have priority in the rebuilding of Europe, as one of the victims of German aggression.

"There is no question of priority," the Ambassador said, "All Europe must be reconstructed together."

Poles To Negotiate French Trade Pact

Warsaw, July 19 (AP)—A Polish delegation will go to Paris next week to negotiate a new commercial agreement with France.

A Government spokesman, making this announcement yesterday, said that Poland—anxious to prevent the split of Europe into Eastern and Western economic blocs—was prepared to foster broad economic relations with Western powers.

Allen Arrives In Rome

Rome, July 19 (AP)—Richard F. Allen, European administrator of the United States foreign relief program for Europe, and Richard W. Bohnevalle, foreign relief attache at the United States Embassy, arrived here yesterday to open the head office for the program. They were presented today to Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza by United States Ambassador James C. Dunn.

Moscow, July 19 (A. P.).—Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, featured two cartoons today ridiculing the Marshall proposal for American-backed aid to Europe. The cartoons were by Boris Efimov, who won international attention with his wartime cartoons of Nazi leaders.

The first drawing showed British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Bidault leading a chase for a distant bag of dollars labeled "the Marshall Plan." Behind them were seven frock-coated figures, hats in hand, labeled Eire, Belgium, Portugal, Greece, Turkey, Italy and Luxembourg.

The second drawing showed Bevin and Bidault slumped before a cashier's window which bore a sign: "Cashier. Closed until July, 1948. After that we'll see." Standing in the cashier's cage was a caricature of Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) labeled "Dollar Diplomacy." The other nations were depicted as shedding tears.

Over the cartoons, which took up a quarter page, was the caption, "Before and after the Paris conference."

Kin Fear U.S. Women In Soviet May Be Killed

Worcester, Mass., July 19 (AP)—Relatives expressed fear today that publicity concerning reports that three former Worcester women and their children were held prisoners in Russia might lead to their deaths.

The three are Mrs. Vadermaras Carneckis, wife of a former Lithuanian Premier; Mrs. Stanley Kairukstis, wife of a former Lithuanian Minister of Education, and Mrs. Isabel Gustainis, wife of a former Lithuanian newspaperman.

Mrs. Mae Aldrich, a sister of Mrs. Carneckis, said she was "afraid of what all this publicity will do."

"May Be Dead Already"

"Maybe the Russians will murder them all—the whole family," she said in expressing her alarm. "After all, what would prevent them from saying they died during the war. Perhaps they may be already dead."

Similar sentiments were expressed by Mrs. Philip H. Breen, a sister of Mrs. Kairukstis, and relatives of Mrs. Gustainis.

The statements were made in interviews. Relatives confirmed reports that all disappeared at about the time the Russians overran Lithuania in 1940. At least two—Mrs. Carneckis and Mrs. Kairukstis—have been heard from directly or indirectly since they were supposedly imprisoned in Siberia.

U.S. Action

The State Department disclosed that it had made representations to the Soviet Government in behalf of Mrs. Carneckis and her five children, without success.

The disappearance of Mrs. Carneckis and her children came to light as a result of a speech by Lieut. Gov. Arthur W. Coolidge who told a State Legion convention that the Russians had imprisoned a Massachusetts woman and her children.

The Worcester Telegram later identified the woman as Mrs. Carneckis.

Reports that Mrs. Kairukstis and Mrs. Gustainis were also being held came from relatives and a lawyer representing the latter's family.

How They Heard

Relatives of Mrs. Kairukstis said they learned of her fate in a letter from an unidentified French woman.

State Department officials said the Russians presumably considered Mrs. Carneckis a Soviet citizen—though she was issued an American passport in 1940. Her children, born prior to 1934, never attained American citizenship, they said.

Attorney Anthony O. Shalina, Lithuanian consul, reported the disappearance of Mrs. Gustainis. The State Department said she had renounced her American citizenship after her marriage and that "she has no claim to American citizenship."

Reginald Mitchell, State Department press officer, said a United States foreign service officer once received a garbled letter indicating she might be in Siberia.

None of the women has been heard from in recent years.

Egypt to Send Envoy to Pope

VATICAN CITY, July 19 (AP).—Establishment of diplomatic relations between the Vatican and Egypt is expected here. Egypt would be the first Moslem country in history to have such a connection with the Holy See. Cordial relations between the two states go back 130 years to the days of Mehemet Ali. They have been intensified under King Farouk.

Famed Riff Visits Palace In Cairo

Cairo, July 19 (AP)—Abd El Krim, famed Lord of the Riff, arrived in Cairo from Alexandria last night and visited Abdin Royal Palace, where he signed his name in the visitors' book.

The old warrior, who fought the French and Spaniards as leaders of the Moroccan revolt of 1921-26, will share a private house here with 40 members of his family.

TEN WOUNDED IN JERUSALEM MINE BLAST

Haifa Policeman Slain In Terrorist Attack That Injured Two

Jerusalem, July 19 (AP)—A rivet mine planted by terrorists blasted a British military truck in the Jewish quarter of eastern Jerusalem tonight, wounding five British soldiers, four civilians and one young Jewish boy.

A few hours earlier, a terrorist attack in Haifa had killed one policeman and wounded a second policeman and a Jewish civilian.

The civilian casualties from the mine explosion included a Jewish couple walking near by when the explosive was detonated by a plunger 50 yards away and two Jews hurt when the roof of their house collapsed from concussion.

Ingenious Weapon

The rivet mine was an ingenious homemade weapon of gelignite. The wire attached to it led to the plunger in the rear of a row of houses facing the Jerusalem zoo.

Troops began a search of the neighborhood immediately, rousing residents by banging their rifle butts on doors.

Earlier tonight two bombs, one a dud, were thrown at a military armored car, but there were no casualties.

Shortly after the mine explosion, at least three other blasts were heard, followed by recurrent gunfire, but no explanation could be obtained from authorities.

City Gates Closed

All traffic in the city halted and security zones and gates of the old walled city were closed at the first sound of alarm sirens after the blast.

The violence in Jerusalem and Haifa came after announcement by Palestine Jews that they would stage a two-hour general strike tomorrow afternoon, starting at 4 P.M., in protest against the deportation of 4,550 uncertified immigrants who arrived in the ship European Exodus of 1947 yesterday. A Jewish Agency statement called British interception of the immigrant vessel a "piratical attack."

In Haifa, eight shots fired from an ambush felled the two policemen and the Jewish civilian. No alarm was sounded in Haifa however.

Aim To Impress U.N.

Police called tonight's outbreaks and the mining of roads around Jerusalem and on the coastal plain "efforts to impress the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine just before the delegates leave and to impress the Palestine Government with the resistance power against the British if we execute the three boys in Acre Prison."

The prisoners at Acre are admitted members of Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground fighters, who were condemned to death for participating in a prison break last May 4. Two British sergeants kidnapped a week ago still are being held as hostages for the condemned prisoners by Irgun Zvai Leumi.

Leave For Lebanon Today

The United Nations delegates, scheduled to depart tomorrow for Lebanon, were dining at Government House, residence of the British governor, when the night's disturbances began.

The Jewish Agency statement on the interception of the immigrant ship yesterday was issued by one of its spokesmen at the same time the Government issued a communiqué "in order to remove any doubts which may have been raised by inaccurate broadcasts from the ship."

The Jewish spokesman said the "ramming of the ship was a heedless and wanton act fraught with grave peril for 4,500 refugees aboard, most of whom were women and children. The armed attack was an act of senseless cruelty."

Navy Ships Damaged

The Government communiqué said the ship, to avoid being boarded, "took violent evasive action which, in the ensuing boarding operation, resulted in damage to herself as well as to ships of the Royal Navy."

It said the British Navy men were forced to fire one single shot and one burst of machine-gun fire, both of which missed, but frightened the immigrants, who dropped their own arms.

The Government said all three deaths which resulted from the boarding were caused by skull fractures, that 37 immigrants were being treated for injuries and three navy enlisted men had been seriously hurt.

Coincides With Funerals

The strike announced for tomorrow will coincide with the funerals of those who were killed on the ship, the 1,814-ton former Chesapeake Bay liner President Warfield.

Meanwhile, the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine, winding up its on-the-spot investigation, heard charges by the Palestine Government that Holy Land Jews had supported an "organized campaign of lawlessness, murder and sabotage" in an attempt to gain their political aims.

The accusations were contained in a supplementary memorandum submitted by the Government, Sir Henry Gurney, chief secretary for Palestine, also took a stand in rebuttal to the multiplicity of charges leveled at the Government by Jewish witnesses who have testified during the committee's five weeks here.

Six Arab States

The United Nations delegates will hold hearings for three days at the mountain retreat of Sofar in Lebanon. Representatives of six Arab states—Egypt, Syria, Lebanon, Trans-Jordan, Iraq and Yemen—who declined to testify in Palestine, will appear before the committee.

The committee will leave by plane toward the end of the week for Geneva, Switzerland, where it will start drafting its report.

During their stay in the Holy Land, the United Nations delegates heard 34 witnesses in formal sessions. Twenty-nine of those were Jews. The committee has traveled 2,000 miles within Palestine and has talked informally with many thousands of Arabs and Jews.

One highly placed committee source said "two tendencies can be noted so far among the committee members. They are deeply impressed by the Jewish case and they feel strongly that Britain has muddled matters on many occasions."

Jerusalem Alerted 3d Time In Day

Jerusalem, July 19 (AP)—Jittery Jerusalem was alerted by sirens today for the third time in sixteen hours because of a report of an explosion in Mahne Yehuda, Oriental Jewish quarter.

Police, however, said they were unable to find any evidence of the explosion after the blast had been reported by a motor patrol. The alert lasted fifteen minutes.

The series of alarms, putting troops at emergency stations and halting all except military traffic, came as the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine completed an on-the-spot inquiry into the Holy Land problem.

Exodus' Captain Reported Held In Palestine

Haifa, Palestine, July 19 (AP)—The American captain of the refugee ship Exodus 1947, was reported in jail today as a result of a shipboard battle between more than 4,500 Jewish immigrants and 50 British Marines, which left three dead and more than 30 injured.

One of the dead was identified by a British officer as an American, First Mate Walter Bernstein, of Los Angeles. The officer said Bernstein died in a Haifa hospital of head wounds. The other victims were Jewish immigrants.

John Stanley Grauel, 30, of Worcester, Mass., who sailed with the immigrants, said the skipper, Capt. Bernard Marks, 25, of Cincinnati, Ohio, was imprisoned as the Jews were moved to troopships for deportation to Cyprus. There was no immediate confirmation from British sources.

Deported To Cyprus

The uninjured immigrants already have reached Cyprus detention camps, joining some 15,000 others who lacked certificates.

Latest reports said 28 refugees, including 17 women and a child and 3 British marines were injured in the shipboard fight. The ship, formerly the 1,814-ton Chesapeake Bay excursion vessel President Warfield, was intercepted off the southwest coast of Palestine yesterday by five British warships.

The refugee vessel was badly damaged by ramming during the boarding operation, and several British craft were damaged, but the Exodus steamed into Palestine under her own power.

Old Bay Liner

The Haifa hospital reported seventeen Jews in serious condition from club and gunshot injuries.

Smoke bombs, steam jets, fuel oil, tear gas, small arms and even fireworks were brought into play aboard the 27-year-old one-time excursion vessel, the British said, and life rafts dropped from the ship damaged the destroyers. A Jewish broadcast from the ship reported the fight lasted two hours and two boarding parties were beaten.

Minister On Board

Grauel said he was making the voyage for the American Christian-Palestine Committee.

He indicated that at least four Americans were in the crew. Besides Bernstein, these were the master; Cyril Weinstein, of New York, and the cook, whose name Grauel did not know.

Grauel said Marks had brought the ship from France into Palestine waters. Grauel himself was freed after his passport and other documents had been confiscated.

[Authoritative London sources said yesterday the vessel left Sete, France, near Marseille, July 10 with 4,000 to 5,000 Jews, supposedly bound for Colombia.]

Palestine Jews Hit In Paper To Probe

Jerusalem, July 19 (AP)—The Palestine Government declared today that Jews had supported an "organized campaign of lawlessness, murder and sabotage" in an attempt to gain their political aims in the Holy Land.

In a supplementary memorandum submitted to the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine, the British-dominated Government asserted that Jews had "implicitly claimed the right" since 1945 to use force to back their political contentions.

The first memorandum was submitted yesterday.

Jews have used violence repeatedly to carry out their contention that "nothing should be allowed to stand in the way of a Jewish state and free immigration into Palestine," the memorandum charged.

Damage Is Cited

"It is true that large numbers of Jews do not today attempt to defend the crimes that have been committed in the name of these political aspirations," it continued. "They recognize the damage caused to their good name by these methods in the court of world opinion.

"Nevertheless, the Jewish community of Palestine still publicly refuses its help to the administration's policy in suppressing terrorism, on the ground that the administration's policy is opposed to Jewish interests.

"The converse of this attitude is clear, and its result, however much the Jewish leaders themselves may not wish it, has been to give active encouragement to dissidents and freer scope to their activities."

Damage Estimated

The document said that since 1945 "Jewish reaction" had cost 270 lives and material damage of about £1,500,000 ($6,000,000)."

Speaking of testimony given earlier by Jewish leaders, the memorandum said that statements by David Ben-Gurion, chairman of the Jewish Agency, were an "attack on Britain and a charge of failing to fulfill international pledges."

The memorandum was submitted as Palestine Government officials appeared before the committee at a closed hearing. The committee planned, at the conclusion of the session, to go to Lebanon to hear testimony from Arab states.

All Jewish journalists with the committee except one American have been granted permission to enter Lebanon to cover the hearing, committee officials said.

Denied Visas Earlier

The Lebanese consulate here at first refused to admit these newsmen because it said "no visas are being granted to Jews."

Jewish journalists appealed to Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary general, to intervene and the Lebanese agreed to issue visas to all except Gerold Frank, of the Overseas News Agency. The Lebanese said Frank visited the country a year ago and wrote an article entitled "Police State."

Leaflets Blame Arabs For Ship Explosion

Rome, July 19 (AP)—Unsigned leaflets delivered to the heads of Italian Jewish organizations today declared that the "defenders of Arabic Palestine" were responsible for the time-bomb sinking of the Panamanian ship Vrisso July 12 at Genoa.

Genoa police reported at the time that their investigation indicated the ship was loaded with explosives to be delivered to Palestine. No lives were lost.

Ruler Of Khairpur Deposed As Insane

New Delhi, India, July 19 (AP)—The Government of India announced tonight that his highness Mir Faiz Muhammad Khan Talpur, ruler of the northwestern Indian state of Khairpur, had been deposed on the grounds he was insane.

The announcement said the Mir's 14-year-old son, George Ali Murad Khan Talpur, was chosen to succeed to the throne of the little state, which lies between Sind province and Rajputana.

Mir is a theocratic princely title. The deposed ruler, who is 34, succeeded to the Khairpur throne in 1935.

Dutch Ultimatum To Expire Tuesday

Indonesians Face Attack if Demands Are Not Met

THE HAGUE, July 19 (AP).—A Netherlands government spokesman said today a Dutch ultimatum to the Indonesian Republic would expire Tuesday, and he implied that military action would be started if the Dutch terms were not met. Such action is not expected before Tuesday, he added.

The spokesman said the government, after secret Cabinet sessions during the last two days, informed Dr. Hubertus J. van Mook, acting Governor General of the East Indies, that it supported fully his ultimatum to the Indonesian Republic.

When asked whether this meant that the government authorized Dr. Van Mook to give Dutch troops the signal to attack, the spokesman declared: "I have nothing to add. You only have to read the proposals handed by Dr. Van Mook to the republican government on July 15 to draw your conclusions."

Dr. Van Mook's proposal set July 21 as the final date when all Dutch demands had to be fulfilled. It also provided that the republic had to order cease fire July 16, stop its anti-Dutch propaganda the next day and, on July 19, start withdrawing its troops beyond the demarcation frontiers.

The first two dates expired without the republicans complying with the demands.

HOLLAND ENDS JAVA PARLEYS

Indonesian Cabinet Determined On No Concessions

Batavia, Java, July 19 (AP)—The Netherlands Government at the Hague was authoritatively reported today to have ordered the breaking off of the two-year negotiations with the Indonesian republic. The Indonesian Cabinet, in an emergency session at the republican capital of Jogjakarta, announced its determination to make no further concessions.

The stage thus appeared set for an outbreak of war, barring unexpected last minute developments, at the outset of the Moslem holy month of Ramadam which began today.

A Government spokesman at the Hague announced that the Cabinet after two days of discussion had given its full support to the ultimatums of Hubertus J. Van Mook, acting governor general, and implied that military action would start Tuesday after the last of the ultimatums expires.

Six-Mile Withdrawal

[Van Mook's ultimatums to the Indonesians set July 21 as the date for completion of a 6-mile withdrawal of Indonesian forces from the present front lines. Other ultimatums for an Indonesian ceasefire order by July 16 and the beginning of the withdrawal by 6 P.M. Java time, July 19, already have passed without the Indonesians complying.

[Dutch press reports received at the Hague indicated that it had been left to Van Mook to decide when military action would begin. Dutch forces in Indonesia number about 98,000 men with modern equipment. The Indonesian Army is estimated at 200,000, not counting irregulars.

[Cancellation of furloughs for police in the Netherlands was reported. Communist-affiliated unions have urged a protest strike against military action.]

"Holy-War" Threat

Indonesian spokesmen declared overt hostilities by the Dutch during the month of fasting, when no devout Moslem takes food or drink between sunrise and sunset, would precipitate a declaration of "holy war" by Indonesia's 70,000,000 Moslems. But Dutch informants said they did not believe the holy month would have any bearing on the situation in Java.

Qualified sources said a military resolution of the Indonesian deadlock was inevitable unless some unexpected development, such as the strongest foreign intervention, eased the tension.

The Dutch Army information service said the army probably will begin issuing daily communiqués next week, instead of its weekly summaries, but declined to elaborate.

The crucial Netherlands Cabinet decision governing future policy in Indonesia was known to have been received from the Hague by Van Mook.

The Dutch newspaper Nieuwsgier, which has close contacts with the Netherlands East Indies Government, said this decision was that there is "no point of contact left for the continuation of discussions" with the Indonesian republic.

WAR LOOMS IN INDIES

Batavia, July 19 (A. P.).—Qualified informants said today that conflict between the Netherlands and the Indonesian Republic was virtually inevitable unless some unexpected development eased the tension in negotiations over a joint national government. They said that the Netherlands Government at the Hague had notified Netherlands East Indies authorities here today that there was no basis for further contacts with the republic.

A dispatch from the Republican capital of Jogjakarta said that the Cabinet had been called into emergency session. The Dutch have given the Republic until 6 P. M. today to start withdrawing their troops from frontline positions.

An Indonesian spokesman warned that if the Dutch started hostilities within the next month, Indonesia's 70,000,000 Moslem population would begin a "holy war."

ANTI-COMMUNIST BURMA LEADER, 5 AIDES SLAIN BY RANGOON ASSASSINS

Nine-Man Government Nearly Wiped Out In Council Attack

London, July 19 (AP)—The British Government announced that five "terrorists" almost wiped out the nine-man Government of Burma today with a spray of machine-gun fire which swept the council chamber in Rangoon.

Maj. Gen. U Aung San, 32-year-old anti-Communist "strong man" who was in line to become the first prime minister of the prospective independent nation, and five of his colleagues in the Cabinet were killed and two others wounded. A guard also was wounded, and the attackers fled unscathed in a jeep.

The British Government's Burma office called it a "murderous attack."

Censorship Blanket

Burma apparently was under a censorship blanket following the incident, as no news came directly from Rangoon concerning the incident except as relayed through the British Governor, Sir Hugert Rance.

But the official British statement said, "there is nothing in the reports so far received to suggest that the situation is not fully under control. Further information will be made available."

Aung San was leader of Burma's strongest political party, the anti-Fascist Peoples Freedom League which has come into frequent collision with Burmese Communist party members and other Burmese who contended it was "working with the British" to make Burma a dominion within the empire.

Sten Guns And Rifles

The official account of the attack said:

"When the executive council was in session, a jeep drew up to the main entrance. One man stayed in the jeep, and five men armed with Sten guns and two rifles went upstairs to the council chambers.

"An armed guard outside the door tried to stop them and was shot. He was badly wounded and could not give any details. The three men armed with Sten guns entered the council chamber and sprayed the occupants with bullets. They then made good their escape in the jeep.

"The following casualties are now confirmed. Dead:

"U Aung San, deputy chairman of the council.

"U Ba Win, member for Commerce and Supplies.

"Abdul Bazak, member for Education and Planning.

"Mahn Ba Khaing, member for Industry and Labor.

"Thakin Mya, member for Finance.

"Ohn Maung, deputy secretary, Transport and Communications department.

"U Ba Choe, member for Information.

"The Sawbwa of Mong Pawn, counsellor for the frontier areas.

"The casualties were sent to the General Hospital without delay and the situation is reported to have been efficiently handled by the police."

Messages Of Sympathy

Messages of sympathy were sent by King George and Prime Minister Attlee to Governor Rance to be delivered to the relatives of the victims.

In a broadcast, Sir Hugert deplored the assassinations as a "dastardly act" and announced the formation of a new executive council.

"I am glad to inform you," he told the Burma people "that President Thankin Nu has agreed to form a new council and that he will have in this task the assistance of Pyaw Bwe Umya, U Aung San Wai and U Ba Cyan."

He said he deplored the loss of "a statesman and a leader and of ministers who can ill be spared. I call upon the people of Burma to remain calm and to continue to follow the wide course toward independence set by their leader."

Aung San was commander of the Burma Independence Army during which he fought underground against the Japanese occupation.

He was Defense Minister in the Ba Maw Government set up under Japanese sponsorship. He later took to the hills and organized the resistance movement which took the name of the Anti-Fascist Peoples Freedom League and began a campaign for Burmese independence.

Agreement With Attlee

He was leader of the delegation which went to London last December and reached agreement with Prime Minister Attlee that Burmese self-government, either within or without the British Empire, would be expedited. The agreement provided for a constituent assembly, an interim government and other steps toward independence expected to be achieved by October of this year.

Aung San said in Rangoon on June 17 that Burma's constitution would provide for an independent, sovereign republic.

But Ba Maw, former Premier, charged that Thakin Nu, assembly president and Freedom League vice president, was in London negotiating with the British for dominion status within the empire.

COMMUNISM FOE SLAIN IN KOREA

Leftist Leader Assassinated In Seoul Street

Seoul, Korea, July 19 (AP)—Lyuh Woon-hyung, Korean Leftist but anti-Communist political leader, was assassinated today by a Korean gunman who escaped.

Korean police said the assassin, who appeared to be about 26 years old, fired three shots from a .45-caliber pistol at the moving automobile of the 62-year-old Lyuh. Two struck the victim, who died two hours later in a hospital.

Police said the Lyuh's bodyguard returned the fire and that a police lieutenant, who was on duty near Lyuh's home, grappled with the bodyguard in the mistaken belief he was the attacker. Meanwhile, the gunman fled.

American Invitations

Lyuh, possibly the most prominent non-Communist Leftist in Korea, had been repeatedly invited by American authorities to join in attempts to form a coalition government. The Americans said today, however, that he always had declined to participate, although lending his name to such movements.

Lyuh had pursued a hectic career in which he was frequently beaten by unknown attackers. Last year he reported he was seized, bound and hurled over a cliff, but Korean police expressed skepticism.

Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge, American commandant of southern Korea, told a press conference that only a few days ago Lyuh had informed him of receiving anonymous threats by mail after trying to purge his following of Communists.

Provisional Regime Role

Lyuh once was vice minister of foreign affairs in the unrecognized Korean provisional government which was formed in China during the war.

In September, 1945, at the invitation of apprehensive Japanese residents of Korea, he founded a so-called "People's Republic" which proclaimed itself the government of the country. American troops arrived in Korea two days later and dissolved his organization.

Anti-Red Korean Politician Slain

Seoul, Korea, July 19 (AP)—Korean police said today that Lyuh Woon Hyung, 62-year-old Korean political leader classified by American authorities as Leftist but anti-Communist, was killed when a young Korean fired into the rear of Lyuh's moving automobile.

Police said the assailant escaped while a police lieutenant struggled with Lyuh's bodyguard, believing him to be the attacker. American intelligence said the gun used undoubtedly was a stolen American Army .45.

Had Been Threatened

Lieut. Gen. John R. Hodge, American commander in South Korea, said Lyuh informed him recently he had received threatening letters after attempting to purge pro-Communists from the Korean Laboring Peoples party, founded by Lyuh May 3.

Lyuh formerly was Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Korean provisional government in Shanghai. At Japanese invitation, he helped found the Peoples Republic which proclaimed itself the Government of Korea, September 6, 1945, two days before the American landing. The organization was outlawed by the Americans December 12, 1945.

REDS PREPARE CHINA ATTACKS

Massing Against Tsingtao and Szepingkai.

Nanking, July 19 (A. P.).—Chinese Communists were reported today to be massing for attacks on Szepingkai, Manchuria, and the North China port of Tsingtao, but other dispatches told of Government victories on several fronts.

Government dispatches said 20,000 Communists were massed thirty to forty miles southeast of Szepingkai, important rail town, awaiting a chance to destroy additional stretches of the Mukden - Changchun Railway, which already has been heavily damaged.

Nationalist reports declared that Gen. Chen Yi, commander of the Communists' crack new Fourth Army, was conferring with other Red commanders at Kaomi, in eastern Shantung, preparatory to launching a drive against Tsingtao, sixty - two railroad miles to the southeast.

Government Reports Success.

In western Shantung the Government reported important successes against invading forces of Communist Gen. Liu Po-cheng. The Central News Agency said Nationalists driving northward had routed five Red divisional columns at Yangshantsi.

Government troops were on the march in neighboring Topen province, thrusting southeast and southwest of Paoting, provincial capital. A press dispatch said the Nationalists had advanced beyond recently recaptured Lihsien.

twenty-five miles southeast of Paoting.

In Peiping, an important military conference was held last night, presumably to lay plans for wresting the initiative from the Reds. Gen. Chen Cheng, Chief of Staff, presided, and Gen. Hsiung Shih-hui, head of Chiang Kai-shek's Manchurian headquarters, was among the participants.

Meanwhile, Peiping's city defense committee announced plans to raise 75,000,000,000 Chinese dollars to build defense works. Five billion had been collected previously.

Rebel Makes Claim.

To the northwest, in restive Sinkiang province, the rebel leader, Achmadjan Kasimov, asserted today that he controlled three-tenths of the vast but sparsely populated province. The rebels occupy three zones centering around the towns of Ili, Tacheng and Anshan, all rich in mineral resources and food.

Achmadjan insists the rebels are not separatists, but merely seeking reforms. Once these are effected, he has said, the rebels will have full respect for Chinese administration. The Chinese authorities, however, assert that he is seeking to establish a separatist pro-Soviet provincial government to replace Chinese administration.

In Nanking, Central News Agency reported the appointment of Lieut.-Gen. Sun Li-jen, American-trained former commander of China's new First Army, as vice commander of all Chinese ground forces. The agency said he would retain his post as vice commander of Nationalist forces in Manchuria.

Meanwhile, newspaper reports said ailing Gen. Tu Li-ming, top Government commander in Manchuria, would fly from Mukden to Shanghai today and then go to the United States for medical treatment.

China To Map Reports For Gen. Wedemeyer

Nanking, July 19 (AP)—Government ministries and commissions were instructed today to prepare detailed reports on their work in the past year for presentation to Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, who will head an American fact-finding mission to China.

Informed sources said the reports would include one by the Foreign Office on the current situation in Manchuria and that prevailing immediately after V-J. day.

These sources said the National Resources Commission would make a report on "the large-scale removal of industrial equipment by the Russians from Manchuria" and damage to China's iron and coal industries through "the destructive policy of the Chinese Reds."

CHINA OPENS TRAINING PLAN

JUL 1947

V.M.I. Graduate Named Ground Force Vice Commander

Nanking, July 19 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Sun Li-Jen was appointed vice commander of all Chinese government ground forces today and placed in charge of a new training program as first fruits of the recent total mobilization order against the Communists.

The semi-official Central Daily News announced appointment of the American-trained Sun and said he also would retain his post as vice commandant of government forces in Manchuria.

Highly-informed military sources said his job would be to take green recruits and turn out modern combat division and that the training center probably would be located on the big island of Formosa to avoid possible interruption by the Communists.

Graduate Of V.M.I.

Sun, a graduate of Virginia Military Institute, formerly commanded the American-equipped New 1st Army, which fought brilliantly against the Japanese in Burma and against the communists in Manchuria.

On the actual battlefronts, the official Chinese Central News Agency said government forces had routed five Communist divisions in western Shantung province and had recaptured Yangshantsi, a village 78 miles northwest of the big government base of Suchow.

Diversion Believed Broken

It said the victory was believed to have shattered the effort of Communist Gen. Lieu Po-cheng to relieve the main Communist body in central Shantung by his diversionary invasion across the Yellow river into western Shantung.

Communist casualties were listed as totaling 12,000, a figure probably exaggerated.

The same agency repeated reports of the past few days that large Communist forces were massing again southeast of Szepingkai in Manchuria, but that heavy rains had stopped fighting both in Manchuria and on the approaches to Tsinan, capital of Shantung province.

Mongols Reported Using Russ Guns

Tihwa, Northwest China, July 17 [AP—Delayed]—Outer Mongolian troops attacking Peitashan in Sinkiang province July 5 used German and Soviet weapons, and some had gold medals embossed with Stalin's profile, a 22-year-old defending cavalryman said today.

The cavalryman gave his name as Cherezina and said he was the son of a Kazak chief in the Peitashan area. He gave this version of what Chinese military authorities termed a typical skirmish:

July 5, three outer Mongolian planes, supporting a ground force of 200 troops, dropped thirteen bombs on Peitashan, killing one Kazak and a dozen horses.

One of the aircraft, a biplane bearing a Red Star insignia, was downed by machine-gun fire.

During the ground fighting in the area, near the disputed Sinkiang-Outer Mongolia border, a Mongol commanding officer was wounded, captured and executed. He wore a Soviet decoration for action against the Japanese.

Booty taken by the 100 defending Kazaks included 15 Soviet and German light machine guns, 30,000 rounds of ammunition, 70 grenades, 4 gold medals with Stalin's profile and photographs of Stalin and of Marshal Cholbaisan, head of the Mongolian Republic.

By PEGGE PARKER

Tihwa, Sinkiang Province, China, July 19 (AP)—Three tenths of this vast but sparsely-populated hinterland province is under control of rebel forces headed by Achmadjan Kasimov.

Sinkiang has only about 1,200,000 population scattered over an estimated area of more than 600,000 square miles.

The rebels occupy three zones centering a round the towns of Ili, Tancheng and Anshan, all with good food supplies and said to be rich in mineral resources.

Achmadjan insists that his followers are not separatists but are merely seeking reforms in the administration and that, once these are effected, they will show full respect for Chinese sovereignty.

Pro-Soviet Aim Alleged

Chinese officials, however, allege that Achmadjan is seeking to establish a pro-Soviet provincial government to replace the Chinese and accuse him of ignoring a "peace pact" he made with the Chinese one year ago.

[In the past week Chinese newspapers have reported the dissidents were attacking traders' convoys and outlying settlements along the primitive roads of Sinkiang, but all accounts have been vague.]

Differences with the bordering Soviet-dominated Outer Mongolian People's Republic also continue to plague the Sinkiang administration.

A young Kazak cavalryman two days ago gave this correspondent an account of a border clash in which he participated against an Outer Mongolian force. Chinese military authorities said it was a typical skirmish.

The Kazab said his name was Cherezima and that he was the son of a chief in the Peitashan area. Peitashan, which means "White Pagoda Mountain," is claimed by both China and Outer Mongolia.

Cherezima said that on July 5 three Outer Mongolian planes, supporting 200 Mongolian ground troops, dropped thirteen bombs on Peitashan, killing one Kazak and a dozen horses. One plane, he said, was shot dowa by rifle fire from 100 Kaazk defenders and was found to bear Red Star insignia.

Russian Medals Reported

The Kazak said the leader of the Outer Mongolians, a Colonel Sagmet, was wounded, captured and then shot.

He said the Colonel wore a Soviet decoration for action against the Japanese and that booty taken from other invaders included four gold medals bearing the profile of Premier Stalin.

There also were photographs of Stalin and Marshal Cholbaisan, head of the Outer Mongolian republic, and orders in Cholbaisan's name that Peitashan be seized, the cavalryman asserted.

Arms seized from the Mongolians, he added, included fifteen light machine guns of German and Soviet manufacture, plus 30,000 rounds of ammunition.

Gen. Chang Chih-chung, director of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's headquarters for the Northwest, said that the situation in Peitashan now was quiet.

Chinese Battle Sinkiang Rebels And Outer Mongolia Neighbors

Says Arms Are American.

Moscow, July 19 (A. P.).—Izvestia quoted radio reports from Communist-controlled areas in China today as saying that enough American weapons had fallen into their hands from captured Chinese Nationalist troops "to equip ten divisions." The Soviet Government newspaper quoted these reports in reply to the recent statement of a Chinese Government commander in Manchuria, who said the Communists were receiving arms from Russians and northern Koreans.

"The hypocritical complaints of defeated Kuomintang generals obviously are directed to the wrong address," the editorial said.

Foot Trail To Be Used For Iwo Flag Care

Tokyo, July 19 (AP)—The Army said today that the American flag will continue to fly atop Mount Suribachi, on Iwa Jima.

Officers of the Marianas-Bonin command explained, "It will be possible to maintain the flag on Mount Suribachi through use of a foot trail."

Rapid deterioration of the lone road to the historic mountain flagpole had made the customary jeep trip dangerous. Army officials had estimated necessary repair to the roadway would cost $100,000, which wasn't available.

In reporting that maintenance of a foot trail would permit continued care of the flag, command officials pointed out that an aerial beacon light on Suribachi also needed periodic attention.

Australia To Attend Talks On Jap Peace

Hobart, Tasmania, July 18 [AP—Delayed]—Prime Minister J. B. Chifley said today that Australia would be represented at Japanese talks with the United States, but that the representation would depend largely on when the talks were held and what Minister was available.

Chifley said Herbert V. Evatt, Minister for External Affairs, who is now in Japan, would possibly attend.

[The United States State Department announced Wednesday it had proposed an eleven-nation conference to begin work on a Japanese peace treaty in Washington or San Francisco starting August 19. Britain has objected to the date because of a later empire conference on the subject.]

Envoy Hits Closing Of Office In Australia

Sydney, July 19 (AP)—United States Ambassador Robert Butler said last night he had cabled Senators Taft (R., Ohio), Vandenberg (R., Mich.) and Hickenlooper (R., Iowa) "strongly protesting" instructions to close the State Department's United States Information Service in Australia on July 31.

"Australians are bewildered and hurt that the United States is withdrawing this service from them while continuing it in other parts of the world," he declared.

Sydney newspapers have published a quantity of letters to the editors protesting the closing of the service's libraries in Sydney and Melbourne.

U.N. Uneasy Over Greece

Lake Success, N.Y., July 19 (AP)—A rising uneasiness among some United Nations delegates over the possibility of new developments in the Balkans this week end was reflected today in reports from Greece.

Both American and British officials were understood to feel there might be a sudden turn of affairs in Greece at this moment that would have a direct and critical effect on a United States proposal to establish a United Nations border watch over the Balkans.

Authoritative sources said these officials were concerned over reports that the Communists may be attempting to establish a Communist state in northern Greece.

Described By Stratos

George Stratos, Greek War Minister, last Tuesday pictured the reported guerrilla offensive along the Greek-Albanian frontier as an effort to establish a Communist state. Communist sources have hinted at the same motive.

But Brig. Stylianos Manidakis, speaking for the Greek general staff at a news conference in Athens Friday night, declared there was no evidence of an effort to set up a free Communist state in Greece and said no elements of an "international brigade" were fighting on the side of guerrillas engaged against Government forces in the northwest.

Manidakis's statement came immediately after a United Nations field team flew to the battle zone and returned to report it had "heard little first-hand evidence" of an international brigade invading from Albania.

Contradictions Confusing

But apparently not satisfied with the team's report, the full United Nations' subsidiary commission moved into northwestern Greece today to carry out a further investigation of the Greek charges.

Apparent contradictions among various Greek officials over the existence of an international brigade from Albania caused confusion among United Nations delegates.

Some sources here said on the basis of this it appeared there might be a division of opinion within the Greek Government. They said if there was such a split it might do harm to the Greek case in the Security Council.

Hope For Information

American and British officials said they were convinced that something was going on in northwestern Greece. They said they hoped to have information over the week end from their own representatives which would clarify the situation.

American and British sources said they hoped that present developments in Greece would not divert the attention of the Security Council from taking decisive action on the United States proposal to set up a semi-permanent commission to watch over the Balkan frontiers.

General debate on the Balkan problem in the Council was closed yesterday, thus apparently clearing the way for a showdown—possibly late next week—on the United States proposal.

Five Sessions Scheduled

In an attempt to speed up action, the Council scheduled five sessions

30. 24- 11013

next week on the Balkan problem.

Also before the Council is a Russian resolution turning down the commission idea and demanding that the Greek Government take measures to end the strife.

There was still some behind-the-scenes maneuvering by some delegates to reconcile the opposed American and Russian proposals, but the United States officials repeated that they would not budge from their position if it meant "watering down" their commission plan.

Division On Russian Move

Council delegates remained divided in speculating what Russia will do when the United States proposal comes up for a vote. Some delegates were convinced that Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, would veto the plan. Others were just as convinced that he would abstain and then lead the three Soviet satellites—Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania—in boycotting the commission.

Gromyko contends that under the United Nations Charter chapter on which the Greek case is based only a recommendation—and not decisive action—can be taken by the Council. He told the Council that the Balkan countries were not bound to co-operate with the commission if it is established.

American sources admitted that Gromyko has a legal argument but said they were certain it would not hold up. They pointed out that both Bulgaria and Albania as nonmembers of United Nations had given their pledges to abide by any decisions the Council might take when they accepted an invitation to participate in the case.

Czech Warns Council

Meanwhile today the United Nations Economic and Social Council was warned today by its acting president, Dr. Jan Papanek, of Czechoslovakia, that it faced many "formidable" problems as it opened its fifth session.

Apparently referring to the growing economic split between Russia and the Western powers, Papanek said:

"I feel that we all clearly understand the great responsibilities that the council faces in this session and that we fully realize the necessity for meeting them squarely."

Although Papanek made no direct reference to the collapse of the three power conference in Paris early this month or the subsequent controversy over implementation of the Marshall plan, it was clear from the solemn tone of his speech that these developments were upper-most in his mind.

U.N. Balkan Probe Group At Border

JUL 1947

Lake Success, July 19 (AP)—The United Nations Balkan subsidiary commission moved into northwestern Greece today for an on-the-spot investigation of Greek charges that an "international brigade" had invaded from Albania.

The move was reported to United Nations headquarters yesterday as the Security Council recessed hearings on the Balkan problem until next Tuesday, when the United States will attempt to force a showdown with Russia on establishing a watch over Greece's northern borders.

The subsidiary commission's decision to move into northern Greece came after its investigating team reported from the field that it had "heard little first-hand evidence" that detachments of an "international brigade" coming from Albania had invaded Greek territory.

Flew To Border

The field team flew to the border area from Salonika upon receiving a message from the Greek Government of a new border incident on July 13. The Greek liaison officer with the subsidiary group said his Government had received information that detachments of an "international brigade" had invaded from Albania July 13 in the region of Konitsa.

The field team was composed of representatives of Australia, the States, Russia, Brazil and Syria.

Information thus far received here did not make it clear whether the team was able to make an "eye-witness" investigation of the area where the fighting was reported.

The team's report only said that it had talked with Greek officers who had described the movement of large groups of guerrillas—some uniformed, others in civilian clothes.

Reports On Fighting

Meanwhile, both the United States and British governments were understood to be getting a few reports from their officials in Greece on the guerrilla fighting. American and British sources said they expected to have information over the week end that might clarify the situation.

General debate on the Balkan problem in the Security Council was closed yesterday, thus clearing the way for a showdown—possibly late next week—on a United States proposal to establish an international watch on Greece's northern borders.

Dr. Oscar Lange of Poland, president of the Security Council, told delegates that the United States resolution would be taken up first when the members meet Tuesday in the first of five sessions scheduled for next week.

Russ-West Rift Shadow Over UNESCO

Lake Success, July 19 (AP)—The United Nations Economic and Social Council was called into session today in an atmosphere of deep concern over the growing economic split between Russia and the Western powers.

As the eighteen delegations assembled for the meeting, they were generally agreed that this fifth session of the Council was likely to be the most critical in United Nations history.

Some delegates privately expressed fears that the long-smoldering differences between Russia and the Western powers would develop into a major clash as a result of recent developments on the Marshall program for economic aid to Europe.

Officia More Optimistic

David Owen, assistant secretary general in charge of economic affairs, took a more optimistic view. He told a news conference yesterday the split over the Marshall plan would not necessarily complicate the session.

He added, however, that any member of the Council would be able to raise the question even though it was not on the Council's lengthy agenda of 39 items.

Soviet Delegate Alexander P. Morozov has already indicated he will renew Russia's fight on the $400,000,000 American program of military and economic aid to Greece and Turkey. Morozov was expected to demand approval of a Soviet resolution prohibiting international financial aid for military purposes.

Noncontroversial Issues

The Council's schedule called for consideration of noncontroversial items in the initial meetings, with the more explosive questions held back for a week or so. The latter items would then be grouped for a general debate.

These items included:

1. The report of the Economic Commission for Europe.
2. The report of the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East.
3. The report of the United Nations Economic and Employment Commission.
4. A Chilean proposal for creation of an economic commission for Latin America.
5. A proposal for creation of an international authority to administer the rich oil resources of the Middle East.

Other important problems before the Council included an urgent request from Secretary General Trygve Lie to take immediate steps to provide relief for European nations facing serious food shortages as a result of UNRRA's expiration.

Senate Approves Measure Giving Vets Cash for Bonds; House Backs Arms Merger

JUL 1947

New Legislation Calls for Cashing of Bonds at Local Banks After Sept. 1.

WASHINGTON, July 19. — (AP) By a vote of 85 to 0, the Senate today passed and dispatched to President Truman legislation authorizing 9,000,000 veterans to cash $1,800,000,000 in terminal leave bonds.

The Senate earlier had passed by a voice vote another bill which would increase living allowances to veterans going to school under the GI Bill of Rights. The bill now goes to the House.

The terminal leave bond measure got unanimous House approval two weeks ago. It would permit but not require former enlisted men to cash bonds issued to them starting last year in lieu of cash terminal pay.

Banks Will Cash Bonds

The bonds could be turned in for cash at local banks after Sept. 1. Under the present law the maturity date is five years after the date of issue.

The bill also extends for one year beyond Sept. 1 the deadline for application for terminal bonds by veterans.

The Senate deferred action on a bill to increase pay ceilings applicable to the veterans on-the-job training program after Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told his colleagues it is "subject to tremendous abuse" and should be "thoroughly studied."

Taft said that as the program now is set up, "at any time during the next 10 years any one of 15,000,000 veterans may start out to learn some new occupation and put himself on the roll to draw cash from Uncle Sam."

Truman's Stand Unknown

There was no immediate indication what President Truman might do about the terminal leave bond measure.

The measure adjusting benefits to veterans attending school would increase subsistence grants from the present $65 a month to $75 in the case of single veterans, from $90 to $105 for married veterans without children, and from $90 to $120 for those who have children.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said these 15 per cent increases are designed to compensate for higher living costs.

In urging adoption of the terminal leave bond measure, Taft told his colleages it would give World War II veterans an average of approximately $180 each. But Senator Baldwin (R-Conn) estimated the average at about $214.

Sees Cut in National Debt

Referring to authorization of the terminal leave payment program by Congress last year, Taft said:

"If the x x x payment was justified at all, I don't see why it was not justified in cash." He added:

"We all agree that the government should reduce its debt, and by failing to pass the tax reduction bill we have left in the Treasury for payment of the debt, according to my calculation, over $6,000,000,000."

The Ohioan observed that the terminal leave bonds are counted as part of the $256,000,000,000 national debt, and said payment of them "will reduce the debt just as much as payment of any other bonds."

Apparently replying to Treasury department contentions that cashing the bonds would be inflationary, Taft declared:

"It is true that it is slightly more inflationary than the payment of bonds and notes held by banks, but in my opinion the payment of $6,000,000,000 of debt in a single year out of taxes collected from the people is too deflationary, and it will be advantageous to have part of this money, at least, paid back into the channels of trade."

Chamber Told Measure Will Cut Costs, Curtail Service 'Back-Biting'; Diplomatic-Military Policy Co-Ordination Also Involved

Washington, July 19 (AP)—The House passed today a measure to unify the Army and Navy and co-ordinate American diplomatic-military policies. It acted after hearing assertions the plan will help prevent future "Pearl Harbor" disasters, cut military costs and curtail interservice "back-biting."

The action came on a voice vote after nearly eight hours of debate and months of consideration. The measure now goes back to the Senate, and, in probability, ultimately to a joint committee to work out differences between the Senate and House versions.

As now drafted, the measure would merge the present War and Navy Cabinet posts into a single Secretary of Defense, create a powerful, new, policy-making defense council and set up a new Department of Air.

Co-Ordination Emphasized

As Representative Wilson (D., Texas) put it: "The bill more properly could be termed a co-ordination instead of unification measure." Representative Latham (R., N.Y.) agreed, saying it provided for "unity at the top, but disunification, multiplication and complexities at the bottom."

Before final passage, the House accepted an amendment to guarantee in ironclad language, Navy retention of its air arm—the eyes and advance striking arm of the fleet—both carrier planes and land-

...re scheduled into their base," the witness replied.

Corrective Actions Cited

Ambrose L. Chabot, superintendent of maintenance for the airline, read into the record a series of corrective actions taken as a result of the pilots' complaints of American people were worried over possibility of a military "super" government.

Pearl Harbor Cited

Repeated references to the Japanese surprise attack upon Pearl Harbor were made during the debate. Representative Keefe (R., Wis.) said the success of this raid underscored the "inadequacy of command by mutual co-operation."

Representative Short (R., Mo.), member of the Armed Services Committee, said that with co-ordination under the bill's program for material procurement "we won't have the Army on Okinawa selling to China the things the Navy needs."

Representative Taber (R., N.Y.), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, successfully led a move to eliminate a provision which would allow the War, Navy and Air departments to submit their budget requests directly to Congress.

He said it would eliminate present screening by the Budget Bureau, throw the whole burden of checking estimates upon Congress, and allow "things to run wild." He maintained the estimates should be channeled through the Secretary of Defense and the Budget Bureau before reaching Congress.

Protests "Back-Biting'

"What's needed," said Representative Manasco (D., Ala.) "is teamwork." He protested "jealousies, bickering and back-biting" among officers in the armed services, and said the measure should help curtail the rivalry.

Aside from the amendments adopted during the debate, the major difference between the House and Senate bills is specific House stipulation to exclude internal security functions from the intelligence agency's operations.

Representative Hoffman (R., Mich.) said this was designed to prevent development of a Gestapo.

Scant numerical opposition developed to the measure as a whole. However, some specific provisions in the measure drew sharp criticism, particularly those setting up a central office of intelligence to search out and weigh the military plans of other nations.

In sending the measure to the floor the Armed Services Committee asserted that modern warfare demands a balanced armed-forces structure with integrated, strategic plans for obtaining full use of manpower, materials, scientific research and new developments.

Wadsworth Opens Debate

Representative Wadsworth (R., N.Y.), in opening debate, said the bill setting up a powerful central defense council on which will sit the Secretary of State as well as the new Secretary of Defense would co-ordinate the country's military and diplomatic program for the first time in history.

Representative Sikes (D., Fla.) agreed: "We never have been fully informed of the capabilities, potential, or intent of likely enemies, nor did we have effective plans for use in time of war of the nation's natural and industrial resources for military and civilian needs."

"This is another time when we can well say, 'Remember Pearl Harbor.'"

Representative Busbey (R., Ill.) protested that the new intelligence office would have the power to scrutinize FBI files and thus open them up to records which would have nothing to do with national defense.

Economies Discussed

There was a broad difference of opinion on what economies, if any, the unification measure will produce. Representative Hoffman expressed doubt any could be accomplished.

Wadsworth acknowledged they may be slow in coming. "You can't expect the new secretary to save millions of dollars in a week or two, or even in a year," he said.

"But, step by step, as the co-ordination develops, large sums will be saved. . . . It will eliminate competition between the Army and the Navy in procurement of material."

Hoffman, expressing fear the legislation might lead to a dictatorship, said it represented "the culmination of over 25 years of effort by military elements to gain greater power within the Government."

Measure's Provisions

Much of the fight over the measure was removed by agreements within the committee before the measure was sent to the floor spelling out preservation of the Marine Corps' separate identity and assurance that the Navy shall retain its own aviation arm.

In only a few instances different in form from the unification plan previously passed by, the Senate, the measure would:

1. Place all the armed forces—Army, Navy and Air Corps—under a single Cabinet officer. The House would call him Secretary of Defense; the Senate prefers Secretary of National Security.

National Security Council

2. Set up a separate Department of Air.

3. Provide for Secretaries of War, Navy and Air subordinate to the Secretary of Defense and without Cabinet status.

4. Create a national security council charged with keeping the President posted on the nation's strength and with recommending security measures after analyzing potential dangers. On this council would sit the Secretaries of State, Defense, War, Navy, Air and the chairman of the National Security Resources Board.

5. Set up a central intelligence agency for collecting and co-ordinating information on the military strength, developments and moves in other countries. The House wrote in a restriction—not included in the Senate bill—to prevent the agency from exercising domestic police or espionage functions.

6. Establish a National Security Resources Board to advise the President on co-ordination of civilian, industrial and military mobilization in time of emergency and to keep a continuous balance account of the nation's "resources, capabilities and risks in relation to our domestic, foreign and military policies."

Procurement Of Material

7. Put procurement of material for the armed services under a permanent munitions board.

8. Place the present wartime-created Research and Development Board on a permanent basis in a move to take full advantage of the Army's and Navy's scientists.

TRAINING PLAN RECEIVES O.K.

House Subcommittee Favors Military Instruction

Washington, July 19 (AP)—Compulsory military training of all American males upon reaching the age of 18, or after their graduation from high school, was recommended today by a House armed services subcommittee.

The twelve-member group sent to the full Armed Services Committee of 33 members for action next Tuesday a bill closely following the plan recommended June 1 by President Truman's advisory commission on universal training.

The President's nine-man commission had advocated the program as indispensable to national security at this time.

O.K. Taken For Granted

Approval by the full Armed Services Committee at next week's meeting was taken for granted, since even opponents concede that at least twenty members favor it.

However, the bill will not be acted on by Congress at this session unless there is an unexpected change in plans between now and adjournment scheduled for next Saturday. Hearings have not been held in the Senate.

Educators, churchmen, and labor groups generally have fought it with the arguments that it is the entering wedge for militarism in this country and is an unnecessary and undemocratic proposal in time of peace.

Backed By Administration

Principal support has come from the Truman Administration, with the Army and Navy carrying the fight, and from veterans' groups contending that the United States must maintain an adequate reserve of trained forces until world conditions are more settled.

The subcommittee that approved the bill by a vote of 7 to 1, with three members absent, and another not voting, is composed of Representatives Towe (R., N.J.), chairman; Short (R., Mo.), Arends (R., Ill.), Thomas (R., N.J.), Norblad (R., Ore.), Van Zandt (R., Pa.), Thomason (D., Texas), Sasscer (D., Md.), Sikes (D., Fla.), and Winstead (D., Miss.). In addition, Representative Andrews (R., N.Y.), chairman of the full committee, and Representative Vinson (D., Ga.), top Democrat, are ex-officio members.

While the committee did not disclose the vote, members reported that Short voted against the bill. Arends voted "present," and Sasscer, Vinson and Van Zandt were absent.

The subcommittee bill, bearing Towe's name, calls for six months of basic military training for qualified male youths between their eighteenth and twentieth birthdays, followed by six months of membership in an ROTC, National Guard or other reserve organization. Youths still in high school when they become 18 would be allowed to have their induction deferred, but not beyond the age of 20.

850,000 Trainees Estimated

The Army has estimated that 850,000 youths would be trained annually under the plan, with the Army training about 618,000 and the Navy the remaining 232,000. So far as possible, youths would be allowed to choose their branch of the service. While in training, they would be under army or navy direction, but not subject to regular disciplinary regulations.

They would be paid $30 a month for their basic training period and would receive additional allowances of $50 monthly for one dependent and $65 monthly for more than one.

Not Subject To Service

They would wear regular service uniforms with distinctive insignia and would not be subject to actual military service except in time of national emergency.

The legislation specifically prohibits the operation of places of public nuisance within a reasonable distance of a training camp and would make it illegal to sell or give intoxicating liquor to any youth in training.

HOUSE GROUP VOTES MILITARY TRAINING

Washington, July 19 (A. P.).—A House Armed Services subcommittee today approved a universal military training bill following closely the plan advocated by President Truman's special commission.

The committee is headed by Representative Towe (R.-N. J.). Its action is subject to review by the full Armed Services Committee at a meeting next Tuesday. Subcommittee members reported the vote as seven for the bill, one against it, one not voting and one absent.

The full thirty-three-member committee reportedly is top-heavy in favor of the bill, although House Republican leaders said it will not be acted on by this session of Congress.

The bill approved by the subcommittee calls for six months of basic training for qualified male youths between their eighteenth and twentieth birthdays, followed by six months of membership in an R. O. T. C., National Guard, or other reserve component. A youth would be allowed to have his injunction deferred until he becomes 20 or completes his high school education. The bill provides for dependency allowances of $50 monthly for one dependent and $65 for two or more.

The training program would be administered by a three-member commission appointed by the President.

Trainees would receive $30 monthly during their basic training period, regardless of their dependency situation. They would wear uniforms bearing a distinctive insignia and would not be subject to military service except in cases of national emergency.

Pacific Island Trusteeship Taken Over By United States

Washington, July 19 (AP)—The United States today took over administration, under a United Nations trusteeship, of the central Pacific islands captured from Japan.

President Truman signed legislation putting into immediate effect the trusteeship agreement covering the Marianas, Marshalls and Carolines. He named Admiral Louis E. Denfeld United States high commissioner of the trust territory.

To Set Up Interim Regime

Admiral Denfeld, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, will serve as administrator under an executive order terminating military government in the islands and setting up an interim civil administration under the Navy pending enactment of a permanent organic law.

The President in a statement said suggestions for such a law will be presented to Congress next year. He asked the State Department to draw up a permanent plan transferring administration to a civilian agency of the Government "at the earliest practicable date."

The United States officially took over the island administration yesterday, but announcement of the President's signature of the enabling act and his executive order was not made until today.

Held No League Mandates

Thus, for the first time in its history, this country becomes a trusteeship power. Following the first World War, the League of Nations set up mandates for conquered territory, but the United States did not become a mandate power. The United Nations Security Council approved the trusteeship system—proposed by the United States—last April.

Admiral Denfeld will continue as Pacific Fleet commander while serving as high commissioner. The 56-year-old Westboro (Mass.) officer is a veteran of the Pacific war, having commanded a battleship division in the Okinawa and Japanese home islands campaigns.

Recalls Recommendations

He became Pacific Fleet chief last January. Prior to that he headed the Bureau of Navy Personnel and directed demobilization of such personnel after the war.

In his statement the President recalled that he had approved last month recommendations agreed upon by the secretaries of State, War, Navy and Interior for future administration of Guam, American Samoa and the trust territory.

"Accordingly," he said, "I have issued an executive order terminating military government in the trust territory and delegating responsibility for civil administration on an interim basis to the Navy Department, pending transfer to a civilian department or ageney of the Government at the earliest practicable date."

To Carry Out Obligations

He said it is this Government's intention to "carry out in full" the obligations toward the island natives and toward the United Nations as called for in the agreement between the United States and the Security Council.

While the Navy is given interim control of the islands, the President's order provides that the authority granted the United States to close any areas for security reasons shall be exercised jointly by the Secretary of the Navy and Secretary of State.

Truman Signs Pacific Isles Rule Bill

Washington, July 19 (AP)—The White House announced today that President Truman has signed the agreement for United States administration of former Japanese islands in the Pacific.

Admiral Louis E. Denfeld was appointed temporary administrator of the trust territory.

Denfeld is commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet. He will serve as United States High Commissioner of the territory pending its transfer for permanent administration by a civilian agency of the Government.

Interim Government

30, 24- 11015

The trusteeship agreement was approved in April by the United Nations Security Council and Congress then gave its sanction.

In addition to signing this Government's approval of the trusteeship agreement, the President issued an executive order providing for an "interim administration" for the trust territory, the presidential statement said.

The interim administration began July 18, the date the President signed the joint resolution passed by Congress.

The islands—the Marshalls, Carolines and Marianas—were captured by United States forces from the Japanese in the last war. They were German islands and were mandated to Japan after World War I.

The President's executive order, while authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to carry out the administering authority for the time being, provides that the authority granted to the United States in the agreement to "close any areas for security reasons" shall be exercised jointly by the Secretary of the Navy and the Secretary of State.

Legislation Needed

It further provides that all relations between Federal agencies and appropriate units of the United Nations with respect to the trust territory shall be conducted through the Secretary of State.

The order terminated military government in the trust area.

The trusteeship agreement requires the United States to enact legislation to place the plan into effect. Mr. Truman said he had directed the State Department to compile suggestions "for organic legislation" which are expected to be ready for the next session of Congress.

Mr. Truman also recalled he had submitted to Congress recommendations as to administration of the terirtory together with Guam and American Samoa.

HOUSE PUTS BAR ON GIVING AID TO RED PUPPETS

$1,603,199,094 Bill Sent to Senate Following Speedy Approval.

TABER ASSURES ON CURB

Says U. S. Cash Will Be Denied Soviet-sphere Nations Unless They Turn Over New Leaf.

JUL 1947

Washington, July 19 (AP).—Spurred by alarm over strife in Greece and a widening split between Russia and the Western Powers, the House shoved along to the Senate today a $1,603,199,094 appropriations measure carrying $1,353,024,900 to finance this nation's foreign policy.

House passage came last night by voice vote in just an hour's time—perhaps a peacetime record for a measure of its magnitude and international implication—amid cries for halting all aid to countries under Russian domination.

Assurance that such a ban is intended came from Representative Taber (R.-N. Y.), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, speaking against the background of testimony—some secret, some public—from high-ranking Army and diplomatic chiefs.

Must Turn Over New Leaf.

He told the House that aid will be denied to countries ideologically and economically associated with the Soviet Union "unless they turn over a new leaf and show that they are willing to cooperate with nations which believe in freedom."

The foreign funds included the full $400,000,000 previously authorized to bolster Greece and Turkey against communism, $332,000,000 for foreign relief, $550,000,000 to pay the costs of the Army's relief-government occupation program in Germany, Korea and Japan, and $71,024,000 for the United States' share in the International Refugees Organization.

Consideration of the omnibus aid measure came in the midst of several developments bearing directly on the administration's present foreign policy program and upon future diplomatic moves in which Congress will have a powerful voice.

Other Developments.

They include:

1. A decision by a House Judiciary subcommittee to pigeonhole until next year a measure which would authorize immigration of 400,000 European war refugees over a four-year period. Instead, House and Senate committees will study the problem this fall.

2. Approval by the House Rules Committee of two congressional inquiries into long range American foreign policy and its impact upon the nation's economy—one by a special nineteen-member committee, the other by the standing committee on foreign affairs.

3. An assertion by Representative Eaton (R.-N. J.), chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, that "we are in sight of a shooting war at this minute" in Greece. "The Russians, as a result of the Marshall plan, have taken off their masks," Eaton declared. "There are alien forces now in Greece. Either America will stand firm and hold the fort, or Russia will take over. If Russia takes over, the destiny of mankind is once more at stake."

4. A decision by ranking Republican leaders to put over until next session a measure laying the groundwork for military cooperation and arms standardization between the Western Hemisphere nations. The measure was approved by the Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday.

5. Plans by the House leadership to push along to President Truman's desk a measure to bolster Italy's economy against Communist presure by releasing control of a large part of $60,000,000 in war-seized Italian assets. The bill also would return thirteen Italian ships now in American hands; and make good from surplus Liberty ships eighteen other vessels which were sunk after being taken over by the United States.

Foreign Aid Requests

Washington, July 19 (AP)—Fast action on an over-all foreign aid appropriation bill is necessary, the State and War Departments told the Senate today, if this country is to halt the spread of communism and start the world toward reconstruction.

Most House cuts in the measure should be restored, top officials of the two departments counselled.

In addition to haste on the $400,000,000 scheduled to be provided for the Greek-Turkish aid program already under way, the Senate was told conditions in Germany also are grave and warrant prompt action.

Testimony was heard that there is "already semi-starvation" in the British-American occupied zones in Germany.

Foreign Policy Fund

In passing a $1,603,199,094 bill yesterday, the House provided $1,353,024,000 to finance this nation's foreign policy. It trimmed budget estimates by 12.6 per cent, but allowed the full amount of $400,000,000 requested for the Greek-Turkish aid program.

Robert A. Lovett, Under Secretary of State, appearing before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, not only urged the Greek-Turkish item, but also stressed the need for prompt approval of the previously authorized item for relief in war-devastated regions. The House had cut it by $18,000,000 down to $332,000,000.

Since the authorization, he said, the need for such help has become more evident. Recovery, he added, has been retared by war devastation, food and coal shortages, drought, lack of fertilizers and seeds, and "political instability."

Survival Not Guaranteed

He said the fund would not guarantee surival of the beneficiary countries, but it would tide them over until an over-all program is worked out.

He compared the United States share of $350,000,000 for relief and another indicated $100,000,000 to come from other countries with the $665,000,000 estimated as the total need in these countries for the calendar year 1947.

Even the total, if met, would not allow for rehabilitation or reconstruction requirements, he said, but "may prevent economic collapse and will provide food to keep millions of people from starving."

Relief Agreements

He said relief agreements have already been signed with Italy, Austria and Greece and procurement and shipment is under way. In the case of Greece, it covers $50,000,000 of basic relief supplies apart from the Greek-Turkish act.

Maj. Gen. William H. Draper, economic advisor to Gen. Lucius D. Clay, administartor of the American occupied zone in Germany, backed up a request by Royal Kenneth C., Under Secretary of War, for increased funds for relief and occupation expenses in the occupied areas of Germany, Japan and Korea.

The Administration request for $725,000,000 for this was cut by the House by $175,000,000.

General Draper said the civilian ration in th eBritish-American occupied zones in Germany of only 1,100 calories a day is "semi-starvation" and added:

"Both the capacity to work and hope for the future are gradually disappearing in Germany. . . . We cannot successfully combat Communism in Europe if we let Germany starve."

BRIDGES SHORT WITH PLEA FOR RUSSIAN DEAL

JUL 1947

State Department Seeks Authority To Complete Deliveries On Sale

Washington, July 19 (AP)—Senator Bridges (R., N.H.) said today he was "amazed" at a State Department request for renewed authority to complete deliveries of oil-refinery equipment to Russia under a postwar purchase agreement.

The House eliminated the authority in passing a general foreign-aid appropriations bill last night. It stipulated that such agreements could be carried out only with ten countries, not including Russia. It also cut the Administration request for the item by $200,000 down to $500,000.

Control Obligation Asserted

C. Tyler Wood, deputy Assistant Secretary of State, asked a Senate Appropriations subcommittee to restore the authority to include Russia.

He said the United States had a moral obligation to complete the contract under which Russia agreed to purchase $25,000,000 worth of lend-lease supplies after the war and said most of the supplies have already been delivered.

Bridges told Wood he was "wasting his time."

"Water On Both Shoulders"

"This country can't carry water on two shoulders," he said, hotly. "Either we have got a definite policy to stop the spread of communism or we haven't."

He asserted this country could not justify asking $400,000,000 to prevent the spread of communism to Greece and Turkey and in the same breath furnish oil machinery to Russia.

He said he didn't want to hear Wood, but the latter continued anyway.

"I, as an American citizen, hate to see the United States convicted of not carrying out its contracts," Wood said.

Word "Gullible" Withdrawn

Bridges told Wood he was "gullible," but later withdrew this lest he reflect on Wood personally. Wood had testified he merely was carrying out a request of George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, and was convinced his chief was right.

Bridges said the United States had furnished $11,000,000,000 of lend-lease to Russia during the war "and all we got was repudiation." The Administration, he added, should decide whether it is going to continue the "appeasement" program he said it followed before the United States got into war with Japan or come out with a "definite" program to stop the spread of Communism.

Oil Sent Russ Held No Factor In U.S. Lack

Chicago, July 19 (AP)—Standard Oil Company (Indiana) said today that the oil industry "should not allow the impression to exist that oil shipments to Russia are responsible for current supply difficulties in the United States."

In a letter to employés, the company stated that for the last several months the United States had been importing more oil than it had exported, and that United States shipments to Russia had been at a rate of less than 1,500 barrels a day this year as compared with an average rate of 6,889 barrels daily for 1946.

"The oil shortage in the Middle West would not have been lessened if no oil had been shipped to Russia," the company said. "The main difficulty here is lack of transportation facilities to bring oil in from other areas."

Senate Unanimously Approves Royall As Secretary Of War

Washington, July 19 (AP)—The Senate unanimously confirmed tonight the appointment of Kenneth C. Royall to be Secretary of War.

Confirmation was by voice vote.

Royall, Under Secretary of War since November, 1945, was named by President Truman yesterday to take the place of Secretary Robert P. Patterson, who resigned.

Confirmation took little more than 24 hours. The Armed Services Committee unanimously approved the nomination this morning, and the Senate waived its rule requiring nominations to lie on the desk for one day.

More than half a dozen senators paid tribute to both Patterson and Royall.

Royall, 53, a native of North Carolina, is a veteran of both wars and a former brigadier general.

Patterson, 56, will leave his post next Thursday and return to private law practice in New York.

Served Seven Years

The resignation leaves James V. Forrestal, Secretary of the Navy, as the only wartime Cabinet member still at his post. Speculation has increased that Forrestal might be named the new secretary of national defense to head the Army, Navy and Air Forces under the pending armed forces unification bill.

Patterson, who had served seven years with the War Department variously as Assistant Secretary, Under Secretary, and then Secretary, announced his resignation only after he was satisfied the merger program would succeed.

A former Federal judge, Patterson joined the War Department in July, 1940. He succeeded Henry L. Stimson as Secretary in September, 1945.

Almost simultaneously with the Armed Services Committee action, the War Department issued a statement "in answer to queries from the press," saying that Royall is a brother-in-law of Johannes Steel, radio news commentator.

Steel, running on the American Labor Party ticket, was defeated for a Congress seat last fall by Representative Klein (D., N.Y.). Steel had the backing of the CIO Political Action Committee, Henry Wallace and the Communist Daily Worker.

Relationship Discussed

The War Department statement said that Maj. Gen. Floyd L. Parks, chief of the Public information Division, had discussed with Royall his relationship with Steel. Without further elaboration, the statement continued:

"Mr. Steel married Mr. Royall's half-sister several years ago. Mr.

Royall's relations with Mr. Steel have been exclusively family contacts. He has not discussed governmental, political, or national policies with him.

"The last time that he recalls seeing Mr. Steel was at the eightieth birthday dinner of Mr. Royall's mother last year, and at Christmas dinner, also at his mothers. The fact that Mr. Steel is a brother-in-law of Mr. Royall is well known and has been commented on in the press previously."

TRUMAN NAMES 5-MAN BOARD TO BOLSTER AVIATION

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—President Truman selected a five-man air policy board today and gave it the job of finding what course of action will bring "the greatest possible benefits from aviation."

The aviation industry has dwindled since the war and Mr. Truman wrote the five appointees that "there exists grave danger that our national security bay be jeopardized and our economic welfare diminished through a lowered aircraft production and a failure of the aircraft industry to keep abreast of modern methods."

The five members, who are to cover the whole aviation field, are independent of military, manufacturing or transport aviation interests.

Urgency of Need Cited

Mr. Truman said there is an "urgent need at this time for an evaluation of the course which the United States should follow in order to obtain, for itself and the world, the greatest possible benefits from aviation."

The members of the board assigned to the job of making recommendations before the end of the year are:

Thomas K. Finletter, New York attorney who will be chairman.

George P. Baker, Harvard University transportation professor who will be vice chairman.

Henry Ford II, president of Ford Motor company.

Palmer Hoyt, publisher of the Denver Post.

Arthur Dare Whiteside of New York, president of Dun and Bradstreet.

Mr. Truman told the board specifically to study:

1. Current and future needs of American aviation, including commercial flying and utilization of transport planes by the military.

2. The nature, type and extent of aircraft and air transportation industries desirable or essential to national security and welfare.

3. Methods of encouraging needed aviation developments.

4. Improved organization and procedures for government handling of aviation matter.

To Cover Wide Field

The president thus appears to have opened the entire field of flying for the board. He offered it the full cooperation of all government agencies, and told them their final recommendations:

"Must go beyond the limits of any one phase of aviation. They should be so broad in scope and purpose that they will assist in revising old policies and in framing new ones, and will serve as a guide for formulating a carefully considered national air policy."

The manufacturing industry, faced with a tremendous telescoping effect from the post-war cutbacks, has urged the appointment of such a board for at least two years.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19—(AP) The battleship Iowa sailed for Hawaii today, carrying 600 naval reserve midshipmen on a training cruise, and a party of governors from many states and territories on an inspection and pleasure trip.

The governors, who recently attended a national conference at Salt Lake City, are guests of Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal. They will observe training procedures, and in Hawaiian waters will see the surface ships combat a simulated submarine attack.

The ship is scheduled to arrive at Pearl Harbor July 25 and the governors to leave for the mainland again three days later.

The guests include Gov. James L. McConaughy, of Connecticut. AP

(L.S.CHAKALES, WHO HAS COVERED GREECE FOR THE AP SINCE 1944, SUMMARIZES IN THE FOLLOWING DISPATCH THE GRIM SITUATION OF GREECE -- EUROPEAN FOCAL POINT IN THE STRUGGLE BETWEEN COMMUNISM AND THE WEST. THIS IS ONE OF A SERIES OF WEEK-END SITUATION STORIES DESIGNED TO MAKE THE BIG NEWS MORE UNDERSTANDABLE TO AMERICANS.)

BY L.S.CHAKALES

ATHENS, JULY 19-(AP)-GREECE IS A BATTLEGROUND, CURRENTLY AT LEAST, WITH NO IMMEDIATE PROSPECT OF PEACE ON HER BORDERS.

GREEK OFFICIALS ONCE HOPED THAT THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL WOULD EFFECTIVELY DISPOSE OF WHAT THEY CONSIDER FLAGRANT BORDER VIOLATIONS. NOW, THEY FEEL THE LIKELIHOOD OF A SOVIET VETO HAS DISPELLED HOPE OF CREATING A PERMANENT U.N. COMMISSION TO WATCH THE FRONTIER.

THERE IS TOO MUCH FRONTIER--NEARLY 400 MILES--THERE ARE TOO FEW SOLDIERS WITH TOO LITTLE EQUIPMENT FOR GREECE HERSELF TO KEEP LEFTIST GUERRILLAS FROM SPILLING THROUGH THE SIEVE-LIKE FRONTIERS TO THE NORTH.

THERE IS TOO MUCH MOUNTAINOUS TERRITORY MADE TO ORDER FOR GUERRILLA WARFARE WITHIN GREECE FOR THE GENDARMERIE AND MILITARY TO MAINTAIN ORDER AS LONG AS REBEL REINFORCEMENTS MAY FILTER BACK AND FORTH ACROSS THE BORDERS.

ONE MEMBER OF THE GREEK GENERAL STAFF PUT IT THIS WAY: "THE BORDERS EXIST FOR US, BUT NOT FOR THEM. WE CAN'T CHASE THEM ACROSS THE FRONTIERS WHERE THEY ARE RE-EQUIPPED, RE-ARMED, REORGANIZED AND COME BACK."

THE GENERAL ATTITUDE OF GREEKS IS THAT THE $300,000,000 AMERICAN PROGRAM OF AID--HALF OF WHICH IS TENTATIVELY ALLOCATED TO RESTORATION OF ORDER--WILL NOT BE ENOUGH IF REBELLION CONTINUES.

SOME IMPROVEMENT IS EXPECTED FROM THE PROGRAM, BUT THE REALISTIC OBSERVERS RECALL THAT THE BRITISH ALREADY HAVE SPENT 100,000,000 POUNDS ($400,000,000) AND THAT UNRRA SPENT $350,000,000 SINCE THE LIBERATION IN 1944 WITHOUT APPRECIABLY IMPROVING THE SITUATION IN ANY PERMANENT OR SUBSTANTIAL FORM.

RAIL, ROAD, MOTOR AND TELEGRAPH STILL ARE WORKING ON A SKELETON BASIS. WHAT LITTLE RECONSTRUCTION HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED HAS BEEN OF A PURELY PRIVATE NATURE AND ON A LIMITED SCALE.

NOR DOES THERE APPEAR TO BE MUCH HOPE OF INTERNAL PEACE IN THE LATEST COMMUNIST EFFORT AT SO-CALLED RECONCILIATION WITH THE GOVERNMENT. THIS LINE IS MUCH THE SAME AS THAT IN THE WEEKS PRECEDING THE REVOLT OF 1944. THE COMMUNIST PROGRAM APPEARS TO BE DESIGNED TO CREATE CHAOTIC CONDITIONS UNDER WHICH THE GOVERNMENT MIGHT BE SEIZED.

THE LATEST PROCLAMATION OF GUERRILLA CHIEFTAIN, GEN. MARKOS VIFIADES, PROPOSES ORGANIZATION OF A NEW PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT AND OFFERS TO ABSTAIN FROM ACTIVITY UNTIL "FREE ELECTIONS" ARE HELD.

BUT THE GUERRILLAS WOULD RETAIN THEIR ARMS, WOULD NOT AGREE TO SURRENDER AND WOULD REFUSE TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE AMNESTY WHICH THE GOVERNMENT HAS OFFERED. THE GOVERNMENT HAS CONSENTED TO THE SUPERVIS-

JUL 194

BY A NEUTRAL INTERNATIONAL BODY.
ION OF SUCH AN AMNESTY PRESUMABLY, TOO, THE GUERRILLAS WOULD RETAIN THE RIGHT TO DECIDE FOR THEMSELVES WHETHER SUCH ELECTIONS WERE "FREE" SINCE THEY HERETOFORE HAVE OBJECTED TO ANY INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS SETTING SUCH QUESTIONS.
COMMUNIST NEWSPAPERS TAKE THE VIEW THAT THE GUERRILLA WAFARE IS A PURELY INTERNAL GREEK AFFAIR AND THAT THE BORDER COUNTRIES OF ALBANIA, BULGARIA AND YUGOSLAVIA ARE NOT RESPONSIBLE. THE COMMUNIST NEWSPAPERS REFER TO BRITISH AND AMERICAN AID AS "INTERVENTION" AND CALL DWIGHT P.GRISWOLD, ADMINISTRATOR OF THE U.S. AID PROGRAM, A "GAULEITER."
COMMUNIST VOTING STRENGTH IN GREECE IS ESTIMATED BY WELL-INFORMED OBSERVERS AT ABOUT 15 PER CENT OF THE TOTAL VOTING POPULATION. WITH "FELLOW TRAVELLERS" AND SYMPATHIZERS ELIMINATED, THE HARD CORE WHICH WOULD GO ALL THE WAY WITH THE PARTY LINE IS FIGURED BY THE SAME OBSERVERS AT BETWEEN FIVE AND 10 PER CENT.
COMMUNISTS CLAIM THEY REPRESENT 80 PER CENT OF THE PEOPLE, BUT THEY

30. 24- 11017

AB STAINED FROM THE 1946 ELECTIONS, POSSIBLY BECAUSE THEY FEARED THE LEFTIST EAM (NATIONAL LIBERATION FRONT) COALITION COULD NOT GARNER A MAJORITY.

JUL 1947

CONSEQUENTLY THE COMMUNISTS ARE NOT REPRESENTED IN PARLIAMENT.

GREEKS ARE INDEPENDENT AND INDIVIDUALISTIC BY TRADITION AND NATURE. THEY ARE OPPOSED TO ANY LOSS OF TERRITORY AND THEY STILL WANT NORTHERN EPIRUS, THE SOUTHERN PART OF ALBANIA.

COMMUNIST HINTS THAT A "FREE" COMMUNIST STATE MIGHT BE PROCLAIMED IN THE NORTH HAVE STRENGTHENED THE PRESENT COALITION GOVERNMENT WHICH INCLUDES ALL PARLIAMENTARY PARTIES EXCEPT THE LIBERALS, WHO ARE HEADED BY 86-YEAR-OLD THEMISTOCLES SOPHOULIS. THE COMMUNISTS HAVE TRIED TO STEER SOPHOULIS INTO THE POSITION OF MEDIATOR, BUT THE VETERAN FORMER PREMIER HAS CONSISTENTLY TAKEN THE POSITION THAT THE GUERRILLAS SHOULD LAY DOWN THEIR ARMS AS A FIRST STEP TO PEACE.

THE IDEA OF A COMMUNIST STATE IN NORTHERN GREECE HAS GONE AGAINST THE NATIONAL PRIDE OF SOME LEFTISTS, TOO. CONSEQUENTLY THE PROPOSAL HAS BEEN TONED DOWN.

BUT DIPLOMATIC SOURCES CONTINUE TO SPECULATE THAT "FREE" STATE WILL BE PROCLAIMED SHORTLY FOR TWO REASONS. ONE REASON IS THAT THE COMMUNISTS MAY BELIEVE AMERICAN AID WILL SECURE AN ECONOMIC BALANCE LONG ENOUGH TO PREVENT THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT FROM MAKING ANY CONCESSIONS.

THE OTHER REASON, ACCORDING TO DIPLOMATIC SPECULATION, IS THAT PROCLAMATION OF A "FREE" STATE WOULD OPEN THE POSSIBILITY OF ITS BEING RECOGNIZED BY SOVIET SATELLITES WHO THEN COULD OPENLY OFFER ARMS AND PERHAPS EVEN TROOPS TO A "BELLIGERENT" STATE.

GREEK MILITARY LEADERS DECLARE ANY SUCH STATE WOULD BE "DESTROYED."

THE SITUATION WOULD THEN BE DANGEROUSLY PARALLEL TO THE CIVIL WAR IN SPAIN.

SOFIA, BULGARIA, JULY 19-(AP)-THE BULGARIAN GOVERNMENT IS REPORTED TO HAVE NOTIFIED THE ALLIED CONTROL COMMISSION THAT 200 GREEK LOYALIST TROOPS PENETRATED BULGARIAN TERRITORY JULY 13 SOUTHEAST OF SVILENGRAD NEAR THE GREEK-BULGARIAN-TURKISH BOUNDARY.

OFFICIAL SOURCES SAID THE GREEK SOLDIERS--MOVING IN THREE CONTINGENTS--FIRED AT BULGARIAN FRONTIER GUARDS AND KIDNAPPED PETER ANGELOV, A BULGARIAN CIVILIAN.

(LAST NIGHT A DELEGATION OF MEMBERS OF THE BULGARIAN PARLIAMENT ARRIVED IN MOSCOW AS GUESTS OF THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT.)

BELFAST, NORTHERN IRELAND, JULY 19-(AP)-MURIEL KIELTY, 22, OF PORTADOWN, HAS LEFT FOR ROCHESTER, N.Y., TO MARRY A FORMER GI WITH WHOM SHE BECAME ACQUAINTED THROUGH "PEN PAL" CORRESPONDENCE.

HE IS LOUIS KNOEPFLER, 25, A SHIPPING CLERK AT LAUER'S FURNITURE CO. AFTER A LONG CORRESPONDENCE THEY MET DURING THE WAR WHILE HE WAS A MEDICAL CORPSMAN STATIONED AT SOUTHAMPTON, ENG., AND MURIEL WAS WORKING IN A WAR PLANT AT WINCHESTER, 35 MILES AWAY. JUL 1947

PARIS, JULY 19-(AP)-THE 16-NATION COMMITTEE FOR EUROPEAN ECONOMIC COOPERATION TOOK UP FOR FINAL ACTION TODAY A FRENCH QUESTIONNAIRE PROPOSED FOR DRAWING UP A BLUEPRINT OF THE NATION'S ASSETS AND NEEDS UNDER THE MARSHALL PROPOSAL.

IF THE FORM AND SCOPE IF THE QUESTIONS ARE APPROVED, FRENCH SOURCES SAID, THEY WILL BE SENT OUT TO THE PARTICIPATING NATIONS IMMEDIATELY.

DR. HANS HIRSCHFELD, DUTCH ECONOMIC EXPERT, DECLARED IN AN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE SESSION EARLIER THE QUESTIONNAIRE SHOULD DEFINITELY DISTINGUISH BETWEEN INVESTMENT NEEDS FOR RECONSTRUCTION AND NEEDS FOR GENERAL ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT SO AS TO ATTRACT PRIVATE CAPITAL TO THE CONTINENT, BUT HIS PROPOSAL WAS VOTED DOWN.

PARIS, JULY 19-(AP)-MEMBERS OFA FRENCH RESISTANCE GROUP WHICH WORKED DURING THE WAR WITH AMERICAN UNDERCOVER AGENTS SAID TODAY THREE AMERICANS HAD BEEN NAMED TO THE FRENCH LEGION OF HONOR FOR THEIR WAR WORK.

THEY NAMED THE THREE AS SCOTT ALEXANDER LOCKWOOD, OF SAN DIEGO, CALIF., WHO ALSO WAS AWARDED THE WAR CROSS WITH PALM; JACK PRATT, OF WESTPORT, CONN.; AND W. HOMER WHITE, OF IPSWICH, MASS., BOTH OF WHOM RECEIVED THE LEGION OF HONOR.

THE AWARDS HAVE NOT YET BEEN PUBLISHED IN THE OFFICIAL JOURNAL.

FRANKFURT, GERMANY, JULY 19--(AP)--LT. ALTON M. C. TRULL OF ROUTE 2, WILSON, TEX., WAS IDENTIFIED TONIGHT AS THE PILOT OF AN ARMY PLANE WHO WAS KILLED JULY 14 IN A COLLISION WITH ANOTHER FIGHTER CRAFT OVER GERMANY.

BERLIN, JULY 19-(AP)-AN ALLIED CONTROL AUTHORITY DIRECTIVE NOW PERMITS THE EXCHANGE OF GERMAN NEWSPAPERS, BOOKS, MAGAZINES AND FILMS FOR THE FIRST TIME THROUGHOUT THE FOUR ZONES OF GERMANY, BUT WITH CERTAIN RESTRICTIONS.

COL.GORDON E.TEXTOR, DIRECTOR OF THE AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT'S INFORMATION CENTRAL DIVISION, ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT, IN AGREEING TO THE EXCHANGE, THE CONTROL AUTHORITY "LAID DOWN CERTAIN SPECIFIC LIMITATIONS, OF WHICH THE REQUIREMENTS OF MILITARY SECURITY AND THE NEEDS OF THE OCCUPATION RANK FOREMOST.

THE DIRECTIVE ADDED THAT THE EXCHANGE OF PUBLICATIONS, THROUGH NORMAL GERMAN CHANNELS, "SHALL NOT BE LIMITED BY ZONE COMMANDERS EXCEPT BY THE NECESSITIES OF ENSURING THAT GERMANY CARRIES OUT HER OBLIGATIONS TO THE ALLIES AND THE NECESSITY OF PREVENTING UL 1947 RESURGENCE OF NATIONAL SOCIALISM AND MILITARISM."

EACH ZONE COMMANDER RETAINS THE RIGHT "TO TAKE SUCH MEASURES AS HE MAY DEEM NECESSARY AGAINST ANY PUBLICATIONS OR PERSONS WHO VIOLATE" ANY OF THE PROVISIONS LAID DOWN BY THE CONTROL AUTHORITY.

MOSCOW, JULY 19-(AP)-THE MAGAZINE BOLSHEVIK TODAY ATTACKED THE CATHOLIC CHURCH FOR WHAT IT CALLED "TIES WITH REACTIONARIES" AND "SUPPORT FOR REACTIONARY POLITICAL PARTIES."

THE WRITER EUGENE VARGA PICTURED THE POPE AND THE CATHOLIC LEADERSHIP AS "TOOLS" OF REACTIONARY GROUPS IN A BATTLE AGAINST WHAT VARGA TERMED "DEMOCRATIC FORCES."

MOSCOW, JULY 19-(AP)-I.A.BENEDI, SOVIET MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE, TODAY DEMANDED THAT FARMERS STOP TAKING TWO HOURS FOR LUNCH AND WORK HARDER IN GETTING IN THE GRAIN CROP.

IN A NEWSPAPER APPEAL FOR UTMOST HARVEST EFFORTS, BENEDI CRITICIZED SOME COLLECTIVE FARMS WHERE HE SAID THE FARMERS HAD BEEN LOAFING, SHOWING UP FOR WORK AT 8 A.M., AND TAKING A LONG LUNCH.

MOSCOW, JULY 19--(AP)--ERNEST SIMMONS, PROFESSOR OF COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY, ARRIVED HERE TODAY FROM PRAGUE FOR A STAY OF THREE WEEKS TO A MONTH. HE IS THE EXECUTIVE OFFICER OF THE SLAVIV LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT AND PROFESSOR OF RUSSIAN LITERATURE AT COLUMBIA.

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA, JULY 19-(AP)-FREIDRICH REINER, FORMER GERMAN COMMANDER OF THE ADRIATIC ZONE, INCLUDING VENEZIA GUILIA AND SLOVENIA, WAS SENTENCED BY A MILITARY COURT AT LJUBLJANA TODAY TO BE HANGED.

SEVEN OTHER FORMER NAZI OCCUPATION MILITARY COMMANDERS ALSO WERE SENTENCED TO BE HANGED AFTER THEIR CONVICTION OF WAR CRIMES AND FOUR WERE SENTENCED TO BE SHOT.

THEY WERE CONVICTED OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR BURNING VILLAGES, KILLING HOSTAGES AND DEPORTING YUGOSLAVS TO GERMAN SLAVE LABOR CAMPS.

BY FRANK O'BRIEN

ROME, JULY 19-(AP)-DIPLOMATIC SOURCES SAID TODAY BRITAIN, AT THE URGING OF WASHINGTON, HAD ABANDONED HER INSISTENCE UPON ITALY'S IMMEDIATE RATIFICATION OF THE ITALIAN PEACE TREATY.

THE INFORMANTS SAID THAT JUST BEFORE THE OPENING OF THE PARIS ECONOMIC CONFERENCE ON JULY 12, BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN HAD URGED ~~IMMEDIATE RATIFICATION UPON ITALIAN FOREIGN~~ MINISTER CARLO SFORZA. HOWEVER, THE INFORMANTS ADDED, WASHINGTON INFORMED LONDON OF ITS BELIEF THAT SUCH AN APPROACH WOULD PUT THE ALLIES IN A BAD LIGHT IN ITALY. JUL 1947

THE UNITED STATES NEVER HAD URGED QUICK ITALIAN RATIFICATION, A U.S.EMBASSY SPOKESMAN SAID.

IN DIPLOMATIC QUARTERS OBSERVERS SAID THEY BELIEVED BEVIN HAD BEEN ANXIOUS TO SWING ITALY DEFINITELY INTO THE WESTERN EUROPEAN GROUP, WHICH DEVELOPED UPON RUSSIAN REJECTION OF THE MARSHALL AID-TO-EUROPE PROPOSAL. THEY ADDED THAT WASHINGTON FEARED POSSIBLE EFFECTS INSIDE ITALY, WHERE THE COMMUNIST PARTY IS THE SECOND STRONGEST AND IS SEARCHING FOR AN ISSUE TO FORCE ITS WAY BACK INTO THE GOVERNMENT, FROM WHICH IT WAS EXCLUDED SEVEN WEEKS AGO BY THE CHRISTIAN DEMOCRATIC PREMIER, ALCIDE DE GASPERI.

BY BOWING TO THE AMERICAN SUGGESTION, THESE SOURCES SAID, BRITAIN WAS JOINING THE UNITED STATES IN AVOIDING ANY SUGGESTION OF PUSHING THE TREATY DOWN ITALY'S THROAT. THE ITALIANS HAVE OBJECTED TO PROVISIONS OF THE TREATY CEDING TERRITORY TO YUGOSLAVIA, CREATING A FREE INTERNATIONAL ZONE IN TRIESTE, AND VIRTUALLY ELIMINATING THE ITALIAN NAVY. THEY ALSO HAVE OBJECTED TO THE $300,800,000 RUSSIAN REPARATIONS BILL.

"IT WAS POINTED OUT," ONE OBSERVER SAID, "THAT WESTERN INSISTENCE ON IMMEDIATE RATIFICATION WOULD GIVE RUSSIA AND ITALIAN COMMUNISTS, PREVIOUSLY THE ONLY TREATY SUPPORTERS IN ITALY, AN OPPORTUNITY TO SAY IT WAS THE WEST, NOT RUSSIA, WHICH WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE TREATY AND THAT IT WOULD BE FAR BETTER TO LET ITALY ACCEPT THE TREATY IN HER OWN GOOD TIME."

THE TREATY HAS BEEN RATIFIED BY BRITAIN, FRANCE AND THE UNITED STATES, BUT NOT BY RUSSIA.

THE INFORMANTS EMPHASIZED THAT UNTIL NOW THE COMMUNISTS HAVE HAD THE UNPOPULAR ROLE OF SUPPORTING THE TREATY BUT THAT SINCE SOVIET RATIFICATION HAS FAILED TO MATERIALIZE, THEY HAVE SWUNG OVER TO A STRONG STAND AGAINST ITALIAN RATIFICATION UNTIL RUSSIA TAKES ACTION.

"INSISTENCE AT THIS POINT BY THE WEST ON ITALIAN RATIFICATION WOULD GIVE THE COMMUNISTS A POPULAR ISSUE WITH WHICH TO OPPOSE THE GOVERNMENT," ONE INFORMANT SAID.

A GOVERNMENT DEFEAT ON THE TREATY COULD OPEN THE WAY TO A COMMUNIST MANEUVER FOR A VOTE OF "NO CONFIDENCE," WHICH, IF CARRIED, WOULD MEAN THE FALL OF THE DE GASPERI CABINET.

JERUSALEM, JULY 19-(AP)-PALESTINE JEWS PLAN TO STAGE A TWO-HOUR GENERAL STRIKE STARTING AT 4 P.M. TOMORROW, IN PROTEST AGAINST THE DEPORTATION OF UNCERTIFIED IMMIGRANTS WHO ARRIVED HERE ABOARD THE SHIP EUROPEAN EXODUS OF 1947.

THE STRIKE WILL COINCIDE WITH FUNERALS FOR TWO OF THREE JEWS KILLED WHILE RESISTING A BRITISH NAVAL BOARDING PARTY, WHICH TOOK OVER THE SHIP IN A BITTER SEA BATTLE YESTERDAY OFF THE SOUTHERN PALESTINE COAST. THE 1,814-TON VESSEL, FORMERLY THE AMERICAN SHIP PRESIDENT WARFIELD, CARRIED 4,550 JEWISH REFUGEES.

MEANWHILE, THE UNITED NATIONS SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON PALESTINE, WINDING UP ITS ON-THE-SPOT INVESTIGATION, HEARD CHARGES BY THE PALESTINE GOVERNMENT THAT HOLY LAND JEWS HAD SUPPORTED AN "ORGANIZED CAMPAIGN OF LAWLESSNESS, MURDER AND SABOTAGE" IN AN ATTEMPT TO GAIN THEIR POLITICAL AIMS.

THE ACCUSATIONS WERE CONTAINED IN A SUPPLEMENTARY MEMORANDUM SUBMITTED BY THE GOVERNMENT. SIR HENRY GURNEY, CHIEF SECRETARY FOR PALESTINE, ALSO TOOK THE STAND IN REBUTTAL TO THE MULTIPLICITY OF CHARGES LEVELED AT THE GOVERNMENT BY JEWISH WITNESSES WHO HAVE TESTIFIED DURING THE COMMITTEE'S FIVE WEEKS HERE.

THE U.N. DELEGATES WILL DRIVE TOMORROW TO LEBANON, WHERE THEY WILL HOLD HEARINGS FOR THREE DAYS AT THE MOUNTAIN RETREAT OF SOFAR. REPRESENTATIVES OF SIX ARAB STATES--EGYPT, SYRIA, LEBANON, TRANSJORDAN, IRAQ AND YEMEN--WHO DECLINED TO TESTIFY IN PALESTINE, WILL APPEAR BEFORE THE COMMITTEE.

THE COMMITTEE WILL LEAVE BY PLANE TOWARD THE END OF THE WEEK FOR GENEVA, WHERE IT WILL START DRAFTING ITS REPORT.

DURING THEIR STAY IN THE HOLY LAND, THE U.N. DELEGATES HEARD 34 WITNESSES IN FORMAL SESSIONS. TWENTY-NINE OF THOSE WERE JEWS. THE COMMITTEE HAS TRAVELED 2,000 MILES WITHIN PALESTINE AND HAS TALKED INFORMALLY WITH MANY THOUSANDS OF ARABS AND JEWS.

ONE HIGHLY PLACED COMMITTEE SOURCE SAID "TWO TENDENCIES CAN BE NOTED SO FAR AMONG THE COMMITTEE MEMBERS. THEY ARE DEEPLY IMPRESSED BY THE JEWISH CASE AND THEY FEEL STRONGLY THAT BRITAIN HAS MUDDLED MATTERS ON MANY OCCASIONS."

KING GEORGE VI AND PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE SENT MESSAGES OF SYMPATHY TO THE BURMA COUNCIL. Burma (Insert)

THE KING'S MESSAGE SAID:

"THE KING, WHO REMEMBERS WITH PLEASURE HIS MEETING WITH AUNG SAN AND THAKIN MYA IN JANUARY IS DEEPLY DISTRESSED AT THE NEWS OF THE ATTACK ON THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL. HE WISHES HIS DEEP SYMPATHY TO BE CONVEYED TO THE RELATIONS OF THE VICTIMS AND THAT HE MAY BE KEPT FULLY INFORMED OF THE CONDITION OF THE WOUNDED. HE TRUSTS THEY ARE MAKING GOOD PROGRESS TO COMPLETE RECOVERY."

AUNG SAN AND THAKIN MYA WERE IN LONDON IN JANUARY AS MEMBERS OF THE DELEGATION WHICH DISCUSSED PLANS FOR BURMESE INDEPENDENCE WITH THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT.

--DASH--

THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA WAS PROCLAIMED IN AUGUST, 1945, SHORTLY AFTER THE JAPANESE SURRENDER AND BEFORE BRITISH FORCES OF THE SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND REACHED THE EAST INDIES TO DISARM THE JAPANESE. ITS GOVERNMENT WAS HEADED BY PRESIDENT SOERKARNO, A NATIONALIST LEADER FOR MANY YEARS WHO HAD BEEN IMPRISONED AND EXILED BY THE DUTCH COLONIAL ADMINISTRATION BUT WHO RETURNED TO LEADERSHIP DURING THE JAPANESE OCCUPATION.

JUL 1947

THE REPUBLIC DECLARED ITS INTENTION OF PREVENTING THE RETURN OF DUTCH RULE TO THE INDIES BUT FOUND ITSELF CONFRONTING BRITISH INSTEAD OF DUTCH AUTHORITY AT THE END OF THE WAR.

THERE WERE NO DUTCH FORCES AVAILABLE FOR REOCCUPATION OF THE INDIES AND THE TASK WAS ASSIGNED TO THE BRITISH, USING UNITS OF THE INDIAN ARMY. ALTHOUGH THE BRITISH MILITARY ANNOUNCED THEIR ONLY AIM WAS THE ROUNDING UP, DISARMING AND REPATRIATION OF THE JAPANESE, THEIR PENETRATION OF THE ISLANDS WAS BITTERLY RESISTED BY THE INDONESIANS AND FIGHTING RAGED AT SURABAYA, EAST JAVANESE PORT.

FOR ALMOST TWO YEARS THE BRITISH AND, SUBSEQUENTLY DUTCH FORCES, HAVE BEEN CONFINED TO FOOTHOLDS AROUND PORTS OF NORTHERN AND EASTERN JAVA AND A FEW COASTAL POINTS OF SUMATRA.

THE REMOVAL OF JAPANESE FROM THE OTHER ISLANDS OF THE INDIES, BALI, MADOERA, THE CELIBES, ETC., WAS DELAYED BY THE RESISTANCE ON JAVA AND SUMATRA, ALTHOUGH THE NATIVES OF THE OTHER ISLANDS WERE NOT SO MILITANT IN THEIR REJECTION OF A REIMPOSED DUTCH RULE.

DUTCH ACCUSATIONS THAT SOERKARNO AND OTHER MEMBERS OF HIS FIRST CABINET HAD COLLABORATED WITH THE JAPANESE WERE COUNTERED BY REORGANIZATION OF THE REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT WITH SUTAN SJAHRIR, ANOTHER NATIONALIST LEADER WHO WAS WIDELY KNOWN AS AN OPPONENT OF JAPANESE RULE, AS PRIME MINISTER AND SEVERAL OTHER MINISTERS KNOWN AS MODERATES WILLING TO NEGOTIATE A SETTLEMENT WITH THE DUTCH.

THIS GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN THE DE FACTO AUTHORITY OVER MOST OF JAVA AND SUMATRA SINCE THE WINTER OF 1945, WITH JOGJAKARTA, INTERIOR CITY AND ANCIENT CAPITAL, AS ITS SEAT OF AUTHORITY.

WITH BRITISH DIPLOMATS, FIRST SIR ARCHIBALD CLARK-KERR (NOW LORD INVERCHAPEL, AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES) AND THEN LORD KILLEARN, ACTING AS MEDIATORS, SJAHRIR CONDUCTED LENGTHY NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE DUTCH, HEADED BY VAN MOOK, WHICH CULMINATED IN THE SIGNING OF THE CHERIBON AGREEMENT.

THIS AGREEMENT DESIGNATED THE ISLANDS OF JAVA, SUMATRA AND MADOERA AS THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA, THE ISLANDS EAST OF JAVA AND SOUTH OF BORNEO AS THE STATE OF EAST INDONESIA AND DESIGNATED WEST BORNEO AS A THIRD STATE. THESE EVENTUALLY WERE TO BE JOINED IN THE UNITED STATES OF INDONESIA, AN INDEPENDENT STATE.

THROUGHOUT THE NEGOTIATIONS THERE WERE INSTANCES OF ARMED CLASHES AND, FOR MANY MONTHS, THE INDONESIANS REFUSED TO RELEASE OR PERMIT THE BRITISH AND DUTCH TO CONTACT JAPANESE PERSONNEL AND DUTCH CIVILIANS INTERNED DURING THE WAR WHO REMAINED IN THE INTERIOR OF JAVA AND SUMATRA.

UNDER SPECIAL TRUCE ARRANGEMENTS WITH THE REPUBLIC, THE JAPANESE AND INTERNEES FINALLY WERE EVACUATED AND THE BRITISH FORCES RETIRED

FROM THE INDIES.

MEANWHILE, THE DUTCH HAD BEEN POURING MORE AND MORE OF THEIR OWN FORCES, MEN RECRUITED IN THE NETHERLANDS AND PRE-WAR SERVICEMEN RELEASED FROM JAPANESE CAMPS IN SIAM AND MALAYA, INTO THE ISLANDS. IT IS ESTIMATED, HOWEVER, THAT THE REPUBLIC STILL HAS TWICE AS MANY ARMED TROOPS AS THE DUTCH, ALTHOUGH THEY ARE POORLY EQUIPPED AND THE QUANTITY OF THEIR SUPPLIES IS INFERIOR TO THE DUTCH. DUTCH TROOPS ARE EQUIPPED AND ARMED LARGELY WITH U.S. LEND LEASE MATERIAL AND SURPLUS MATERIAL PURCHASES FROM THE AMERICAN FORCES AT THE END OF THE WAR.

THROUGHOUT THE NEGOTIATIONS, BOTH SJAHRIR AND VAN MOOK CONFRONTED NOT ONLY EACH OTHER, BUT ALSO THE EXTREMISTS ON BOTH SIDES WHO DEMANDED THAT THE ISSUE BE FOUGHT OUT.

AFTER THE SIGNING OF THE CHERIBON AGREEMENT, DISPUTES AROSE IMMEDIATELY AS TO ITS DETAILS AND THE METHODS OF PUTTING IT IN FORCE.

IN THE PAST SEVERAL MONTHS, THESE DISPUTES LED TO A SERIES OF CRISES AND BROUGHT THE RESIGNATION OF SJAHRIR. HE WAS SUCCEEDED BY AMIR SJARIFOEDIN, WHO HAD BEEN HIS CLOSE ASSOCIATE IN THE CABINET AND CONSIDERED A LEADER OF THE MODERATES.

FOR ALMOST SIX YEARS THE IMMENSELY WEALTHY INDIES HAVE BEEN LARGELY NON-PRODUCTIVE AND THE DUTCH HAVE REALIZED LITTLE OF THEIR ESSENTIAL INTEREST IN THE ISLANDS--THE OIL, RUBBER, QUININE, SPICES, RICE, TOBACCO, COPRA, SUGAR AND COUNTLESS OTHER PRODUCTS OF WHICH THE INDIES ARE THE RICHEST SOURCE.

THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN HAVE TAKEN LIVELY INTEREST IN THE INDONESIAN-DUTCH DISPUTE BECAUSE OF THE IMPORTANCE OF THE ISLANDS' COMMERCE TO WORLD ECONOMY AND HAVE ENDEAVORED--THE UNITED STATES LESS DIRECTLY THAN BRITAIN--TO BRING A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT IN ORDER THAT THE ECONOMIC REHABILITATION OF THE INDIES MIGHT BE STARTED.

OBSERVERS IN BATAVIA DOUBT THAT A MILITARY CAMPAIGN BY THE DUTCH WOULD BRING A QUICK SETTLEMENT. THEY POINT OUT THAT THE INDONESIANS DOUBTLESS COULD CARRY ON GUERRILLA WARFARE IN THE INTERIOR FOR YEARS PERMITTING THE EUROPEANS ONLY HEAVILY ARMED AND ECONOMICALLY UNPRODUCTIVE GARRISONS AT WIDELY SEPARATED SPOTS.

Seoul

POLITICAL OBSERVERS SAID LYUH SEVERAL TIMES TRIED TO DIVEST HIMSELF OF COMMUNIST SUPPORT BUT THAT THE COMMUNISTS REFUSED TO QUIT HIM.

FINALLY HE ANNOUNCED HE WAS WITHDRAWING FROM POLITICS AND RETIRING TO THE COUNTRYSIDE, BUT HE RETURNED AND FORMED THE KOREAN LABORING EOPLE'S PARTY LAST MAY 3.

SHANGHAI,JULY 19-(AP)-CHINESE POLICE TODAY ORDERDED 32 SOVIET CITIZENS AND THEIR EIGHT CHILDREN TO LEAVE A STEAMER BOUND FOR TSINGTAO AND, WHEN THEY REFUSED, SEIZED THE PASSPORTS OF ALL OF THEM.

A SOVIET CONSULAR OFFICIAL WENT ABOARD THE STEAMER, THE CHINESE-OWNED HWA LIEN, TO INTERCEDE. HE WAS UNSUCCESFUL.

THE MATTER WAS REFERRED TO NANKING.

THE POLICE CONTENDED SOVIET CITIZENS WITH PASSPORTS BUT WITHOUT ENTRY VISAS INTO CHINA STILL WERE REGARDED AS EMIGRANTS. (MANY WHITE RUSSIANS RESIDING IN CHINA RECENTLY HAVE ACCEPTED PROFERRED SOVIET CITIZENSHIP.)

A REPORTER FOR THE SOVIET-OWNED DAILY "NEW LIFE" SAID FOREIGN OFFICE OFFICIALS HAD TOLD HIM THE CHINESE WERE AFRAID THE SOVIET GROUP INTENDED TO SAIL TO TSINGTAO TO "ESCAPE" REPATRIATION TO THEIR MOTHERLAND.

THE HWA LIEN, SCHEDULED TO SAIL TODAY, POSTPONED ITS DEPARTURE UNTIL TOMORROW BECAUSE THE RUSSIANS REFUSED TO DISEMBARK.

MISSION MEMBERS INCLUDE DR.ROGER ADAMS, HEAD OF THE ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT; DR.MERRILL KELLEY BENNETT, DEAN OF THE SCHOOL OF SOCIAL SCIENCE AND DIRECTOR OF THE FORD RESEARCH INSTITUTE AT STANFORD UNIVERSITY; DR.WILLIAM D.COOLIDGE, RETIRED DIRECTOR OF THE RESEARCH DEPARTMENT OF GENERAL ELECTRIC; DR.WILLIAM V.HOUSTON, PHYSICIST AND PRESIDENT OF RICE INSTITUTE; DR.WILLIAM J.ROBBINS, DIRECTOR OF THE NEW YORK BOTANICAL GARDENS, AND DR.ROYAL W.SORENSEN, HEAD OF THE CALIFORNIA INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY'S DEPARTMENT OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING.

HONOLULU,JULY 19-(AP)-FORMER U.S. REPARATIONS COMMISSIONER EDWIN W. PAULEY SAID TODAY HE WOULD LEAVE TOMORROW FOR WASHINGTON WITH A REPARATIONS PLAN FOR GERMANY GEARED TO THE MARSHALL PLAN FOR THE ECONOMIC RECOVERY OF EUROPE.

PAULEY, WHO HAS BEEN VACATIONING ON COCONUT ISLAND, SAID HE WOULD SUBMIT A REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS RESULTING FROM STUDIES MADE WHILE A MEMBER OF THE ALLIED COMMISSION.

HE DID NOT DISCLOSE THE NATURE OF THE PLAN, BUT SAID HE WAS ALSO WRITING A BOOK ON REPARATIONS WHICH WILL "COVER THE WORLD OF PEACE" AND INCLUDE BOTH GERMANY AND JAPAN.

ALSO BEFORE THE COUNCIL IS A RUSSIAN RESOLUTION TURNING DOWN THE COMMISSION IDEA AND DEMANDING THAT THE GREEK GOVERNMENT TAKE MEASURES TO END THE STRIFE. THE SOVIET DELEGATION DEMANDED THAT ALL FOREIGN TROOPS BE REMOVED FROM GREEK SOIL.

THERE WAS STILL TALK AMONG DELEGATES OF TRYING TO RECONCILE THE AMERICAN AND RUSSIAN PROPOSALS, BUT U.S.OFFICIALS REPEATED THAT THEY WOULD NOT BUDGE FROM THEIR POSITION IF IT MEANT "WATERING DOWN" THEIR COMMISSION PLAN.

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 19-(AP)-DR.JAN PAPANEK OF CZECHOSLOVAKIA, ACTING PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED NATION ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL, WARNED THE COUNCIL TODAY THAT IT WAS FACED BY GRAVE RESPONSIBILITIES AS IT OPENED ITS FIFTH SESSION.

~~WITHOUT REFERRING DIRECTLY TO THE GROWING ECONOMIC SPLIT BETWEEN~~ RUSSIA AND THE WESTERN POWERS, PAPANEK TOLD THE DELEGATES THEY MUST ACCEPT THESE RESPONSIBILITIES OR THE COUNCIL "WILL DETERIORATE INTO A TOTALLY INEFFECTIVE ORGAN."

"TODAY MORE THAN EVER BEFORE," HE SAID. "THE PEOPLE OF ALL THE WORLD WHO HAVE FAITH IN THE UNITED NATIONS LOOK TO US FOR A CONFIRMATION OF THIS FAITH.

"IT IS A CHALLENGE WE MUST TAKE UP. WE MUST PROVE WE ARE CAPABLE OF DECISIONS AS WELL AS DISCUSSIONS."

WASHINGTON, JULY 19-(AP)-AN APPARENT RUSSIAN BOYCOTT OF THE VERY FIRST INTERNATIONAL MEETING CALLED BY THE UNITED STATES ON A JAPANESE PEACE TREATY WAS REVEALED TODAY BY THE SOVIET EMBASSY AND ADMITTED BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

NINE OTHER COUNTRIES WERE REPRESENTED IN THE MEETING WHICH WAS HELD IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT ON JULY 11 BUT NO RUSSIAN ENVOY EVER SHOWED UP. THERE IS SPECULATION WHETHER THIS IS A SIGNIFICANT INDICATION OF THE WAY IN WHICH THE SOVIET UNION WILL REACT TO AMERICAN PLANS FOR A VETO-FREE JAPANESE PEACE CONFERENCE SYSTEM.

THE SOVIETS HAVE NOT DIRECTLY RESPONDED TO THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL FOR AN ELEVEN-NATION CONFERENCE TO BEGIN WORK ON JAPANESE PEACE SETTLEMENT AUGUST 19 IN WASHINGTON OR SAN FRANCISCO. SEVERAL OTHER NATIONS IN THE BRITISH BLOC HAVE SAID THE DATE CONFLICTS WITH SOME OF THEIR OWN ARRANGEMENTS AND SHOULD BE DELAYED.

WHAT THE SOVIET EMBASSY DID DO AFTER A WEEK OF SILENCE WAS THIS: IT ISSUED A STATEMENT TODAY DENYING A STATE DEPARTMENT PRESS RELEASE OF LAST WEDNESDAY SAYING THAT A SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE HAD BEEN PRESENT AT THE JULY 11 SESSION CALLED BY ASSISTANT SECRETARY JOHN H.HILLDRING FOR THE PURPOSE OF PRESENTING THE AMERICAN PROPOSALS.

THE SOVIET STATEMENT REVIEWED THE PERTINENT SECTIONS OF THE PRESS RELEASE WITH RESPECT TO ATTENDANCE AND THEN SAID THAT "THE SOVIET EMBASSY CONSIDERS IT NECESSARY TO ELIMINATE THE INACCURRACY CONTAINED IN THE ABOVE MENTIONED PRESS RELEASE" BECAUSE THERE WAS NO SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE PRESENT AT THE HILLDRING CONFERENCE.

THIS SPURRED THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S PRESS SECTION TO ISSUE A COMMENT TO THIS EFFECT:

A SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE WAS INVITED ALONG WITH ENVOYS OF THE OTHER NINE GOVERNMENTS TO ATTEND THE HILLDRING CONFERENCE "BUT A SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE DID NOT ACTUALLY APPEAR."

WHEN HIS ABSENCE BECAME APPARENT, THE DEPARTMENT RUSHED OUT TO THE RUSSIAN EMBASSY A COPY OF THE SAME PROPOSAL BEING GIVEN TO THE REPRESENTATIVES WHO HAD APPEARED.

AT THE SAME TIME THIS WAS HAPPENING AMBASSADOR W.B.SMITH WAS CALLING ON SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV IN MOSCOW TO PRESENT THE PROPOSALS DIRECTLY TO HIM.

JUL 1947

SAID THE STATE DEPARTMENT: "IT IS THUS CLEAR THAT ALL TEN GOVERNMENTS WERE CONSULTED SIMULTANEOUSLY."

WHAT WAS NOT CLEAR FROM ANY OF THE STATEMENTS WAS WHY THE SOVIETS HAD NOT ATTENDED THE MEETING WHEN EVERYBODY ELSE HAD TIME TO GET THERE. SOME EMBASSIES WERE REPRESENTED BY AMBASSADORS, SOME BY COUNSELLORS.

NO EXPLANATION ON THIS POINT WAS FORTHCOMING EITHER FROM THE SOVIET HEADQUARTERS HERE OR FROM THE STATE DEPARTMENT. HOWEVER, FROM ALL THE EVIDENCE AND TIMING IT APPEARED THAT THE SOVIETS SIMPLY PREFERRED TO STAY AWAY. #

WASHINGTON, JULY 19-(AP)-THE SOVIET EMBASSY TODAY DESCRIBED AS AN "INACCURACY" A STATE DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCEMENT JULY 16 THAT A SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE WAS PRESENT WHEN DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS PROPOSED TO OTHER NATIONS PLANS FOR AN EARLY START ON A JAPANESE PEACE TREATY.

THE SOVIET STATEMENT, WHICH WAS THE FIRST RUSSIAN RESPONSE TO THE AMERICAN PEACE TREATY PLAN, CAUSED SPECULATION THAT RUSSIA MAY BE MOVING TOWARD AT LEAST A PARTIAL REJECTION OF THE PLAN.

SUCH A DEVELOPMENT HAS BEEN EXPECTED HERE BY MANY OFFICIALS BECAUSE UNDER THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL THE BIG POWERS WOULD ABANDON THEIR VETO PRIVILEGE IN DRAWING UP THE JAPANESE

PRIVILEGE IN DRAWING UP THE JAPANESE PEACE TREATY, THUS GIVING SMALL NATIONS A MUCH GREATER ROLE THAN THEY HAVE HAD IN DRAFTING EUROPEAN PEACE SETTLEMENTS.

STATE DEPARTMENT SOURCES SAID THE SOVIET STATEMENT WAS QUITE CORRECT IN CLAIMING THE DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCEMENT CONTAINED AN "INACCURACY."

THESE OFFICIALS TOLD A REPORTER HOWEVER, THE SOVIETS DID NOT POINT OUT THAT ALTHOUGH A RUSSIAN REPRESENTATIVE DID NOT ATTEND THE MEETING A COPY OF THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL WAS SUPPLIED THEM OR THAT AMERICAN AMBASSADOR W.B.SMITH PERSONALLY PRESENTED THE JAPANESE TREATY PROPOSALS TO FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV IN MOSCOW.

THE DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCED JULY 16 THAT THE PROPOSALS HAD BEEN PRESENTED JULY 11 BY ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE JOHN H.HILLDRING AND BY JOHN CARTER VINCENT, DIRECTOR OF THE OFFICE OF FAR EASTERN AFFAIRS, TO EMBASSY REPRESENTATIVES OF 10 COUNTRIES, INCLUDING A REPRESENTATIVE FROM THE SOVIET EMBASSY.

THE EMBASSY STATEMENT TODAY SAID:

"THE SOVIET EMBASSY CONSIDERS IT NECESSARY TO ELIMINATE THE INACCURACY CONTAINED IN THE ABOVE MENTIONED PRESS RELEASE SINCE A REPRESENTATIVE FROM THE EMBASSY OF THE UNION OF SOVIET SOCIALIST REPUBLIC S WAS NOT PRESENT AMONG THOSE SUMMONED TO THE MEETING HELD BY GENERAL HILLDRING."

STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS SAID THE PRESS RELEASE WAS PREPARED BE-

FORE THE MEETING WAS HELD. THEY SAID THAT WHEN A SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE FAILED TO SHOW UP A COPY OF THE PROPOSAL WAS FURNISHED THE EMBASSY, AND THAT SMITH WAS PRESENTING THE PROPOSAL TO MOLOTOV AT THE SAME TIME.

THE PRESS RELEASE WAS ISSUED AND ALLOWED TO STAND WITHOUT CORRECTION BECAUSE IT WAS CONSIDERED THAT THE SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE WAS ABSENT ONLY IN A "TECHNICAL" SENSE, THE OFFICIALS ADDED. #

(ADVANCE)...WASHINGTON, JULY 19-(AP)-AN IMMEDIATE $5,000,000,000 INCREASE IN EXPORT-IMPORT BANK LENDING AUTHORITY TO HELP SET THE MARSHALL PLAN FOR EUROPEAN SELF-HELP IN MOTION WAS PROPOSED TODAY BY THE ORGANIZATION AMERICANS FOR DEMOCRATIC ACTION.

A NUMBER OF PROMINENT INDIVIDUALS JOINED THE ADA IN THE PROPOSAL.

IN CALLING UPON CONGRESS TO AUGMENT THE EXPORT-IMPORT BANK'S FINANCIAL POWERS, THE GROUP SAID "WE CANNOT BUY A CUT-RATE PEACE."

URGING "ALL PROGRESSIVES" TO SUPPORT THE EUROPEAN PLAN ADVANCED BY SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL, THE GROUP SAID "THE GREATEST ADVERSARY OF THIS NEW HOPE FOR MANKIND IS ISOLATIONISM, WHETHER THE OLD ISOLATIONISM OF AMERICA FIRST OR THE NEW ISOLATIONISM OF THESE NATIONS WHICH HAVE WITHDRAWN FROM THE EUROPEAN COUNCILS AND THEIR AMERICAN APOLOGISTS."

THE ADMINISTRATION SHOULD MAKE CLEAR, THE STATEMENT SAID, THAT THE UNITED STATES DOES NOT INTEND TO USE ITS AID "AS A MEANS OF FORCING UPON EUROPEAN COUNTRIES AN ECONOMIC SYSTEM CONTRARY TO THEIR FREELY-EXPRESSED DESIRES."

IT CONTINUED:

"WE MUST REPUDIATE THOSE CONFUSED VOICES WHO WOULD WITHHOLD AMERICAN AID FROM NATIONS ENGAGED IN EXPANDING THE AREAS OF PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OR PUBLIC CONTROL; WE MUST MAKE IT ABUNDANTLY CLEAR THAT WE REGARD THE FREE GOVERNMENTS OF WESTERN EUROPE, WITH THEIR VARYING DEGREES OF STATE CONTROL, AS AMONG THE MOST HONORED CHAMPIONS OF DEMOCRACY."

THE DOOR SHOULD BE KEPT OPEN AT ALL TIMES, THE GROUP ADDED, FOR THE PARTICIPATION OF RUSSIA AND THE COUNTRIES OF EASTERN EUROPE IN THE MARSHALL PLAN "EQUALLY WITH THE COUNTRIES OF THE WEST, ON THE SOLE CONDITION THAT OUR AID BE USED IN THE INTERESTS OF THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITY AS A WHOLE."

CREATION OF A PEACE RESOURCES BOARD TO ADMINISTER THE FOREIGN AID PROGRAM ALSO WAS PROPOSED BY THE ADA AND ITS SUPPORTERS. IT WOULD SERVE AS A PROCUREMENT AGENCY.

THE ADA SAID SIGNERS OF THE STATEMENT, BESIDES WILSON W.WYATT, NATIONAL CHAIRMAN OF THE ADA, INCLUDED:

LEON HENDERSON, CHAIRMAN OF THE ADA EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE; FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT, JR., VICE-CHAIRMAN OF ADA; PAUL A.PORTER, FORMERLY THE PRESIDENT'S SPECIAL ENVOY TO GREECE; ROBERT SHERWOOD, PLAYWRIGHT; DAVID DUBINSKY, PRESIDENT OF THE INTERNATIONAL LADIES GARMENT WORKERS UNION (AFL); BARRY BINGHAM, PUBLISHER OF THE LOUISVILLE COURIER JOURNAL; GEORGE EDWARDS, PRESIDENT, DETROIT CITY COUNCIL; ARTHUR M.SCHLESINGER, JR., PULITIZER PRIZE AUTHOR; EMIL RIEVE, PRESIDENT, TEXTILE WORKERS UNION OF AMERICA (CIO); WILLARD TOWNSEND, PRESIDENT, UNITED TRANSPORT SERVICE EMPLOYEES, (CIO); JOHN GREEN, PRESIDENT, INTERNATIONAL UNION OF MARINE AND SHIPBUILDING WORKERS, (CIO); AND HARVEY BROWN, PRESIDENT, INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MACHINISTS.

(ADVANCE)...WASHINGTON, JULY 19-(AP)-SENATOR CONNALLY (D-TEX) TONIGHT EXPRESSED "GRAVE DOUBTS AS TO WHETHER THE NATIONS OF EUROPE CAN BE MADE TO COOPERATE SUFFICIENTLY" TO MAKE A JOINT RECONSTRUCTION PLAN WORK.

CONNALLY'S COMMENT WAS MADE DURING A (NBC) RADIO ANALYSIS WITH SENATOR HATCH (D-NM) OF THE EUROPEAN ECONOMIC SITUATION AND THE STEPS BEING TAKEN BY THE UNITED STATES TO HELP IMPROVE CONDITIONS THERE. BOTH SENATORS ARE MEMBERS OF THE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE AND CONNALLY FORMERLY HEADED IT.

JUL

ASKED WHETHER HE WOULD INCLUDE RUSSIA IN ANY PLAN--SUCH AS THE MARSHALL PROGRAM--FOR SELF HELP BY EUROPE, CONNALLY REPLIED:

"RUSSIA'S ATTITUDE IS SUCH AS TO OFFER NO HOPE OF HER JOINING ANY SUCH ASSOCIATION OF EUROPEAN NATIONS."

THE MEASURES ALREADY TAKEN BY THIS COUNTRY TO HELP EUROPE GET BACK ON ITS FEET, CONNALLY SAID, CANNOT BE JUSTLY CALLED PIECEMEAL EFFORTS, BUT HE ADDED:

"EUROPE MUST NOT DEPEND UPON THE UNITED STATES TO SOLVE ALL OF THEIR PROBLEMS, OR FEED ALL OF THEIR HUNGRY AND GRANT MONEY TO REBUILD THEIR ECONOMY. THEY MUST EXERT THEMSELVES TO THE LIMIT."

BUT THE SCOPE OF AMERICAN AID TO EUROPE MAY CALL FOR SOME SELF-SACRIFICES HERE, SENATOR HATCH COMMENTED, SAYING:

"WITHOUT QUESTION, IF THE ENTIRE PROGRAM NOW UNDER PROCESS OF FORMATION EVOLVES, IT WILL CALL FOR CONSIDERABLE SACRIFICES ON THE PART OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

"IT WILL MEAN NOT ONLY FURTHER ADVANCES OF MONEY BUT MORE IMPORTANT PERHAPS, IT WILL CALL FOR CONTINUED EXPORTS OF COMMODITIES ESSENTIAL TO OUR OWN LIFE AND ESPECIALLY OUR OWN ECONOMY. THIS MAY MEAN SHORTAGES BUT I DO NOT THINK THEY WILL BE TOO SEVERE."

IT WAS CONNALLY'S VIEW, HOWEVER THAT THE AMOUNT IN GOODS AND MONEY INVOLVED IN ANY RELIEF MEASURES "WILL BE GOVERNED BY CIRCUMSTANCES AND CONDITIONS WHICH WE CANNOT PREDICT AS YET.

"WE CERTAINLY CANNOT ABUSE OUR OWN RESOURCES AND DISLOCATE OUR ECONOMY BY EXTRAVAGANT RELIEF PLANS," THE TEXAN ADDED.

HATCH SAID THAT WHILE THERE IS SOME MUDDLED THINKING BOTH AT HOME AND ABROAD, "ALL OF US AT HOME I THINK ARE CONVINCED THAT THE REHABILITATION OF EUROPE FROM AN ECONOMIC STANDPOINT IS ESSENTIAL TO THE PEACE OF THE WORLD AND IS ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY TO PREVENT THE COMPLETE COLLAPSE OF WHATEVER FREE GOVERNMENTS MAY EXIST."

STERLING FISHER, DIRECTOR OF THE NBC UNIVERSITY OF THE AIR NOTED THAT "EUROPE IS BEING URGED TO TURN TO COMMUNISM AS THE SOLUTION OF HER PROBLEMS" AND COMMENTED THAT SOME EUROPEAN GOVERNMENTS SEEM TO BE "FALSELY BRANDED AS DEMOCRATIC."

"THE SO-CALLED DEMOCRACY OF TOTALITARIAN STATES IS NOT DEMOCRACY AT ALL," CONNALLY SAID.

"IT IS MOB-OCRACY, DIRECTED BY AN INDIVIDUAL OR A SMALL GROUP WHO DOMINATE OR CONTROL THE MASSES." #

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, JULY 19-(AP)-THE STATE DEPARTMENT TODAY URGED THE SENATE TO SPEEDILY APPROVE AID FUNDS FOR GREECE AND TURKEY, REPORTING THAT A GUERRILLA ARMY IS TRYING TO "SET UP A STOOGE GOVERNMENT BY FORCE" IN GREECE.

ROBERT A. LOVETT, UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE, TOLD A SENATE APPROPRIATIONS SUBCOMMITTEE, THAT THE SITUATION HAS BECOME MORE URGENT SINCE PRESIDENT TRUMAN FIRST PROPOSED IN MARCH TO HELP GREECE AND TURKEY.

IN ADDITION TO ASKING THE COMMITTEE TO PROVIDE THE $400,000,000 NEEDED TO CARRY OUT THE GREEK-TURKISH AID PROGRAMS ON WHICH THIS COUNTRY HAS ALREADY EMBARKED, LOVETT ALSO URGED ACTION ON A $332,-000,000 FOREIGN RELIEF FUND. BOTH ITEMS ALREADY HAVE BEEN APPROVED BY THE HOUSE.

IN HIS UNUSUAL SATURDAY AFTERNOON APPEARANCE BEFORE THE COMMITTEE LOVETT REFLECTED GROWING CONCERN IN HIGH OFFICIAL QUARTERS HERE OVER THE SITUATION IN GREECE, WHICH UNDER COMMUNIST PRESSURE APPEARS TO BE BUILDING UP MORE AND MORE AS A CRUCIAL TEST OF BOTH THE TRUMAN DOCTRINE AND THE PEACE-KEEPING POWERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

INDICATING THAT CONDITIONS IN GREECE ARE MORE INSTEAD OF LESS DIFFICULT SINCE THE TRUMAN DOCTRINE WAS DECLARED MARCH 12, LOVETT SAID THAT THE "URGENCY" HAS INCREASED SINCE PRESIDENT TRUMAN FIRST LAID HIS PROGRAM BEFORE CONGRESS. SUBSEQUENTLY CONGRESS APPROVED THE PROGRAM AND THE STATE DEPARTMENT STARTED IT ON FUNDS BORROWED FROM THE RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION, PENDING AN APPROPRIATION FROM CONGRESS.

"I THINK IT IS CLEAR," LOVETT SAID, "THAT THE URGENCY OF THIS PROGRAM, AS STATED BY THE PRESIDENT IN HIS MESSAGE, HAS BEEN GREATLY INCREASED BY SUBSEQUENT EVENTS IN GREECE AND IN THE REST OF THE WORLD.

"AS YOU KNOW FROM THE DAILY PAPERS, THE GREEK ARMY IS FIGHTING AN OPEN BATTLE WITH LARGE NUMBERS OF WELL-TRAINED AND WELL-EQUIPPED GUERILLAS ON THE NORTHERN FRONT.

"GUERILLA LEADERS HAVE OPENLY STATED THEIR PURPOSE TO TRY TO SET UP A STOOGE GOVERNMENT BY FORCE AND THE GREEK GOVERNMENT IS FACED WITH A MUCH MORE CRITICAL SECURITY PROBLEM THAN THAT WHICH EXISTED AT THE TIME OF THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE."

SOME OF THE AMERICAN FUNDS WOULD GO DIRECTLY FOR MILITARY ASSISTANCE TO THE GREEKS IN THEIR FIGHT AGAINST THE COMMUNISTS. COL. CARL T.TISCHBEIN OF THE ARMY GENERAL STAFF SAID $135,000,000 OF THE $300,-000,000 FOR GREECE WOULD BE SPENT ON MILITARY SUPPLIES AND FOOD. HE ESTIMATED $90,000,000 OF THE $100,000,000 FOR TURKEY WOULD BE USED ON MILITARY SUPPLIES.

A27WX

ACTUALLY WHILE MOST CONCERN HERE AT THE MOMENT IS CENTERED ON THE CRITICAL SITUATION IN GREECE, THERE IS ALSO SOME APPREHENSION OVER THE NEXT STEPS IN DEVELOPMENT OF THE MARSHALL PLAN FOR EUROPEAN RECOVERY BECAUSE OF DIFFERENCES AMONG THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND FRANCE OVER INDUSTRIAL REVIVAL OF WESTERN GERMANY.

THUS THREE MAJOR WASHINGTON POLICIES--THE TRUMAN DOCTRINE, MARSHALL PLAN AND RELIANCE ON THE UNITED NATIONS TO KEEP THE PEACE--ARE UNDER FIRE THIS WEEKEND. TOGETHER THEY FORM AN INTEGRATED PATTERN OF AMERICAN RESISTANCE TO THE GROWTH OF DISORDER AND THE SPREAD OF COMMUNISM AS AN EXTENSION OF SOVIET POWER IN EUROPE.

HOW THEY WILL COME THROUGH THE TESTS WHICH THEY NOW FACE MAY BE KNOWN, AT LEAST PARTIALLY, WITHIN A WEEK. THESE ARE THE DIFFICULTIES IN WHICH THEY ARE INVOLVED:

TRUMAN -- WHILE TURKEY IS FOR THE MOMENT A QUIET SECTOR, THE UNITED STATES IS COMMITTED IN GREECE TO DO EVERYTHING IT CAN IN TERMS OF ECONOMIC HELP AND MILITARY SUPPLIES TO PREVENT THE COMMUNISTS FROM OVERTHROWING THE GREEK GOVERNMENT.

THERE IS NO PUBLIC EVIDENCE THAT THIS AMERICAN POSITION HAS IN ANY WAY UNDERMINED WHAT IS BELIEVED HERE TO BE THE SOVIET DETERMINATION TO BACK THROUGH THEIR SATELLITE COUNTRIES THE FORCES TRYING TO OVERTHROW THE GREEK GOVERNMENT. ON THE CONTRARY SOME AUTHORITIES BELIEVE THE SOVIETS EITHER ARE TRYING DESPERATELY TO WIN SUCCESS BEFORE THE FULL EFFECT OF AMERICAN HELP IS FELT IN GREECE OR AT LEAST TO TEST CRITICALLY THE EXTENT OF AMERICAN WILLINGNESS TO BACK THE GREEK AUTHORITIES.

UNITED NATIONS -- TO TRY TO PREVENT YUGOSLAVIA AND ALBANIA AND TO A LESSER DEGREE BULGARIA FROM AIDING THE COMMUNISTS IN GREECE, THE UNITED STATES IS PRESSING IN THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL A PROPOSAL TO CREATE A MORE OR LESS PERMANENT GREEK BORDER COMMISSION. RUSSIA OPPOSES THIS, POSSIBLY TO THE EXTENT OF VETOING IT WHEN IT COMES TO A VOTE IN THE NEAR FUTURE.

SINCE COUNTRIES SUPPORTING THE AMERICAN POSITION IN THE COUNCIL CONTEND THAT THE BORDER SITUATION CLEARLY DEMANDS ACTION, AND SINCE BOTH SIDES AGREE THE SITUATION IS BAD, THE SECURITY COUNCIL IS ON THE SPOT. DIPLOMATIC AUTHORITIES HERE BELIEVE THAT IF IT PROVES UNABLE TO DO SOMETHING EFFECTIVE, ITS TOTAL USEFULNESS WILL BE GREATLY IMPAIRED.

MARSHALL PLAN -- THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN ARE IN DISAGREEMENT OVER HOLDING A PROPOSED CONFERENCE HERE TO FIND WAYS OF BOOSTING RUHR COAL PRODUCTION, WHICH SECRETARY MARSHALL HAS SAID IS ESSENTIAL TO THE RECOVERY OF EUROPE. THE UNITED STATES HAS REJECTED A BRITISH PROPOSAL EITHER TO BROADEN THE CONFERENCE TO INCLUDE OTHER WESTERN GERMAN ECONOMIC PROBLEMS OR ELSE HOLD A STRICTLY COAL CONFERENCE IN BERLIN. BRITAIN HAS NOT ANSWERED THE REJECTION YET BUT BOTH BRITISH AND AMERICAN SOURCES SAID SOME COMPROMISE MIGHT BE WORKED OUT. IF IT IS NOT, PLANS FOR EUROPEAN RECOVERY MAY SUFFER A BASIC SETBACK.

A28WX

THE PICTURE HAS BEEN FURTHER COMPLICATED BY A FRENCH PROTEST TO THE UNITED STATES AGAINST ANY ACTION AT THIS TIME TO BOOST THE GENERAL LEVEL OF INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION IN WESTERN GERMANY. THE FRENCH CLAIM SUCH ACTION WOULD UPSET THE PARIS CONFERENCE COMMITTEES NOW TRYING TO WORK OUT DETAILS OF A EUROPEAN SELF-HELP PROGRAM UNDER THE MARSHALL PLAN. THE DIFFICULTY IS THAT THE BRITISH AND AMERICANS ARE REPORTED TO HAVE AGREED ALREADY ON AN INCREASE IN THE LEVEL OF INDUSTRY. HOWEVER, NO OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF THIS INCREASE HAS YET BEEN MADE, PRESUMABLY BECAUSE OF FRENCH OPPOSITION.

HERE, TOO, OFFICIALS REPORT ATTEMPTS TO FIND A WAY OUT BUT DO NOT DISGUISE THE FACT THAT THE TASK IS EXTREMELY DIFFICULT.

WASHINGTON,JULY 19-(AP)-SENATOR HICKENLOOPER (R-IOWA), CHAIRMAN OF THE JOINT CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE ON ATOMIC ENERGY, SAID TODAY HE BELIEVES THE SCHEDULING OF ATOMIC BOMB PRODUCTION IS "PROCEEDING IN A SATISFACTORY MANNER."

THE IOWA SENATOR MADE THIS STATEMENT TO REPORTERS IN REPLY TO QUESTIONS AFTER THE COMMITTEE HAD MET FOR TWO HOURS BEHIND CLOSED DOORS WITH THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF, THE MILITARY HIGH COMMAND.

ASKED WHETHER IT IS THE JOB OF THE JOINT CHIEFS TO DETERMINE THE EXTENT OF ATOMIC BOMB PRODUCTION, HICKENLOOPER REPLIED:

"THEY UNDOUBTEDLY ARE THE SOURCE OF RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE PRESIDENT ON REQUIREMENTS (FOR A-BOMBS)."

HICKENLOOPER ADDED THAT PRESIDENT TRUMAN IN TURN TRANSMITS THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE JOINT CHIEFS TO THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION, THE CIVILIAN PANEL WHICH HAS COMPLETE JURISDICTION OVER ATOMIC ENERGY DEVELOPMENT.

IN REPLY TO FURTHER QUESTIONS, HICKENLOOPER SAID COOPERATION BETWEEN THE COMMISSION AND THE JOINT CHIEFS "IS GOING ALONG VERY WELL" AND THAT HE UNDERSTANDS PRODUCTION SCHEDULING OF ATOMIC BOMBS IS "PROCEEDING IN A SATISFACTORY MANNER."

HICKENLOOPER DESCRIBED TODAY'S SESSION WITH THE JOINT CHIEFS AS "A ROUTINE MEETING SCHEDULED SOME TIME AGO." HE SAID THE GROUP "CANVASSED" THE GENERAL FITTING INTO THE PICTURE OF THE MILITARY END OF THIS THING, ALONG WITH OTHER PROBLEMS OF THE ATOMIC ENERGY PROGRAM." HE SAID THERE WERE NO DEVELOPMENTS AT THE MEETING "OF ANY DEEP SIGNIFICANCE."

WASHINGTON,JULY 19-(AP)-REP.PLOESER (R-MO) SAID TODAY HE HAS LITTLE HOPE THAT HIS PROPOSAL FOR STOCKPILING LEAD, ZINC AND COPPER FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE PURPOSES WILL PASS DURING THIS SESSION OF CONGRESS, SCHEDULED TO END NEXT WEEK.

BUT HE SAID HE THINKS THAT THE HOUSE ARMED SERVICES COMMITTEE WILL BY TUESDAY RECOMMEND THE LEGISLATION.

IT WOULD AMEND THE NATIONAL STOCKPILING ACT, DECLARE IT THE POLICY OF CONGRESS THAT LEAD, ZINC AND COPPER SHOULD BE STOCKPILED, AND AUTHORIZE THE ARMY-NAVY MUNITIONS BOARD TO MAKE CONTRACTS FOR ALL OR PART OF THE OUTPUT OF MARGINAL MINES.

"I THINK THE LEGISLATION HAS A CHANCE TO GET THROUGH THE HOUSE BUT I DOUBT IF IT WILL HAVE TIME TO GO THROUGH THE SENATE," HE TOLD A REPORTER. "BUT IT WILL BE HALF WAY THROUGH IF IT PASSES THE HOUSE AND CAN BE TAKEN UP WHEN THE NEXT SESSION CONVENES."

MEANWHILE, PLOESER SAID, REP.LEO ALLEN (R-ILL) HAS INDICATED HE WILL ACCEPT AN AMENDMENT TO HIS PENDING BILL WHICH WOULD EXTEND PREMIUM PAYMENTS ON MARGINAL LEAD, ZINC AND COPPER PRODUCTION FOR ANOTHER YEAR.

NOW THE ALLEN BILL PROVIDES FOR THE MAKING OF PREMIUM PAYMENTS FOR TWO YEARS AT THE RATE OF $35,000,000 A YEAR THROUGH THE RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION. PLOESER IS OPPOSED TO THE RFC SECTION AND WANTS THE PAYMENTS MADE DIRECTLY FROM THE TREASURY.

IF THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT IS ADOPTED, IT WILL BE VIRTUALLY THE LEGISLATION INTRODUCED EARLIER BY REP.HILL (R-COLO), CHAIRMAN OF A HOUSE SMALL BUSINESS SUBCOMMITTEE, WHO WANTS A ONE-YEAR EXTENSION TO ALLOW HIS COMMITTEE TO COMPLETE STUDIES OF A PERMANENT PROGRAM FOR OPERATION OF SMALL MINES.

DEBATE ON THE ALLEN MEASURE BEGAN IN THE HOUSE YESTERDAY BUT WAS INTERRUPTED UNTIL TUESDAY.

AUSTIN,TEX.,JULY 19-(AP)-DR.ROBERT H.MONTGOMERY, UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS PROFESSOR WHO HELPED THE ARMY PICK WARTIME A-BOMB TARGETS, SAID LAST NIGHT THAT RUSSIA ISN'T THINKING ABOUT WAR.

"THEY ARE NOT COMPLETELY CRAZY," THE ECONOMICS PROFESSOR TOLD A DINNER OF THE TEXAS POWER RESERVE, AN ORGANIZATION OF RURAL COOPERATIVES. "IN 24 HOURS WE COULD WIPE OUT 75,000,000 RUSSIANS AND NOT LOSE 100 MEN. THEY KNOW IT.

"I'M NOT WORRIED ABOUT THE RUSSIANS. I'M WORRIED ABOUT US. IF WE'RE GOING TO KILL THEM, LET'S DO IT NOW, NOT WAIT THREE YEARS. RATHER THAN THAT, LET'S LEARN WHAT TO DO ABOUT THIS POWER FOR THE GOOD OF MAN. THE NEXT WAR WON'T LEAVE ANYTHING HERE, OR THERE."

WASHINGTON,JULY 18-(AP)-ONE OUTCOME OF THE BIKINI ATOMIC BOMB TEST MAY BE TO PROVE WHETHER THE CHARLES DARWIN THEORY OF THE ORIGIN OF AN ATOLL IS RIGHT.

DISPATCHES RECEIVED BY THE NAVY TODAY FROM A SCIENTIFIC PARTY MAKING A ONE-YEAR-LATER SURVEY TOLD OF DRILLING OPERATIONS BY THE U.S. GEOLOGICAL SURVEY AND THE NAVY DESIGNED TO ESTABLISH DEFINITELY HOW THE ATOLLS DEVELOP.

THE ACTUAL DRILLING IS BEING DONE BY EXPERTS FROM OKLAHOMA OIL FIELDS, UNDER THE DIRECTION OF V.C.MICKLE OF ENID,OKLA., SUPERINTENDENT OF A CONTRACT DRILLERS FIRM. HE HOPES TO HAVE A FOUR AND A QUARTER INCH HOLE DRILLED DOWN 300 FEET IN FOUR OR FIVE DAYS.

DARWIN ADVANCED THE THEORY THAT CORAL ATOLLS ARE FORMED BY CORAL GROWING UPON REEFS AROUND A SLOWLY SINKING ISLAND. SINCE HIS TIME GEOLOGISTS HAVE ARGUED PRO AND CON.

SOME OF AMERICA'S LEADING GEOLOGISTS, HEADED BY DR.HARRY S.LADD OF THE U.S. GEOLOGICAL SURVEY ARE COOPERATING WITH THE SCIENTIFIC ATOLL STUDY. THEY ARE DR.JOHN W.WELLS OF OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY; DR.J.HARLAN JOHNSON, SCHOOL OF MINES; DR.R.DANA RUSSELL, FORMERLY OF THE LOUISIANA STATE UNIVERSITY AND NOW A CONSULTANT TO THE U.S. NAVY ELECTRONICS LABORATORY, SAN DIEGO,CALIF.

WASHINGTON, JULY 19-(AP)-THE NAVY ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT FOUR LARGE WAR VESSELS BEARING AMERICAN MIDSHIPMENT ON THEIR SUMMER PRACTICE CRUISE LEFT SOUGHT ENGLAND YESTERDAY FOR GUANTANAMO BAY, CUBA, AND EXERCISES IN THAT AREA.

THE SQUADRON INCLUDES THE CARRIERS RANDOLPH AND KEARSARGE AND THE BATTLESHIPS NEW JERSEY AND WISCONSIN.

THE GROUP WILL RETURN TO CHESAPEAKE BAY ABOUT AUG. 12, THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID. THEN MIDDIES OF THE SECOND CLASS WILL LEAVE THE CARRIERS FOR JOINT AMPHIBIOUS TRAINING WITH WEST POINT CADETS. THE FIRST AND THIRD CLASSES WILL HOLD GUNNERY PRACTICE IN THE BATTLESHIPS.

THE NAVY ALSO ANNOUNCED THESE OTHER SHIP MOVEMENTS:

THE CARRIER LEYTE IS SCHEDULED TO LEAVE THE EAST COAST ABOUT JULY 30 FOR A EUROPEAN CRUISE.

THE CRUISERS MANCHESTER, DAYTON AND FRESNO ARE TO LEAVE THE EAST COAST THE LAST WEEK IN JULY TO RELIEVE THE CRUISERS FARGO, HUNTINGTON AND HOUSTON IN EUROPEAN WATERS.

ABOUT THE SAME TIME, DESTROYER SQUADRON 2 WILL RELIEVE DESTROYER SQUADRON 12 THERE.

ABOARD THE BATTLESHIP IOWA EN ROUTE TO HAWAII, JULY 19-(AP)-FIFTY YEARS TO THE DAY AFTER THE STATE OF IOWA PRESENTED A SILVER SERVICE TO THE SHIP BEARING ITS NAME, GOV. ROBERT D. BLUE OF THE HAWKEYE STATE TODAY PRESENTED THE SAME SILVER TO THE NEWEST AND MIGHTIEST IOWA.

IN A FORMAL CEREMONY BEFORE THE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE ENTIRE SHIP'S COMPANY AND SEAMEN FROM THE STATE OF IOWA, BLUE ASKED CAPTAIN THOMAS STOKES, THE BATTLESHIP'S SKIPPER, TO ACCEPT THE GIFT WITH "THE BEST WISHES OF TWO AND A HALF MILLION OF THE FINEST PEOPLE TO BE FOUND ANY PLACE ON EARTH."

STOKES REPLIED, "WE SHALL ALWAYS BE PROUD TO SHOW IT."

THE IOWA SAILED FOR PEARL HARBOR FROM SAN FRANCISCO AT 2 P.M., PST, TODAY WITH 600 NAVAL RESERVE MIDSHIPMEN ON A TRAINING CRJISE AND A PARTY OF GOVERNORS FROM SEVERAL STATES AND TERRITORIES ON AN INSPECTION AND PLEASURE TRIP.

IN 1943, THE STATE LEGISLATURE JOINTLY RESOLVED TO RE-PRESENT THE SERVICE TO THE FOURTH IOWA--THE PRESENT MIGHTY BATTLESHIP. THE SILVER ARRIVED ABOARD EARLIER, BUT THIS WAS THE FIRST OCCASION ON WHICH A STATE DIGNITARY HAS BEEN ON THE SHIP TO MAKE THE FORMAL PRESENTATION.

THE SILVER WAS ENGRAVED WITH THE MOTTO, "OF ALL THAT IS GOOD, IOWA AFFORDS THE BEST." BLUE SAID THIS WAS SYMBOLIC "NOT ONLY OF THE STATE BUT OF ITS PEOPLE."

"ALTHOUGH INLAND," BLUE CONTINUED, "IOWA IS VITALLY CONCERNED WITH THE NAVY AND THROUGHOUT THE YEARS HAS SENT GENEROUSLY OF OUR YOUNG MEN INTO NAVAL SERVICE. THIS SHIP AND THE MEN ON IT X X X REPRESENT OUR DETERMINATION TO REMAIN A FREE PEOPLE AND PASS ON TO OUR SONS AND DAUGHTERS OUR HERITAGE OF LIBERTY AND FREEDOM TO ALL."

STOKES RECALLED THAT THE FIRST IOWA WHICH RECEIVED THE SERVICE WAS ADMIRAL SAMPSON'S FLAGSHIP OFF SAN JUAN, WHICH FIRED THE FIRST SHOT IN THE BATTLE OF SANTIAGO IN THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR.

IOWA STATE MEN WHO PARTICIPATED IN THE CEREMONY WERE: SEAMAN 2/C ROBERT H. BROWN, COLESBURG; SEAMAN 1/C BERNARD A. DAVIS, SAC CITY; COXSWAIN CLIFFORD HAYES, MUSCATINE; WATERTENDER 1/C CARL A. NEW YORK, JULY 19-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES MUST HELP GERMANY STABILIZE HER CURRENCY AND GET ON HER FEET AND CANNOT ALLOW RUSSIA TO "CONTROL WESTERN EUROPE," HARRY A.BULLIS, OF MINNEAPOLIS, PRESIDENT OF GENERALS MILLS, INC., SAID LATE TODAY UPON HIS RETURN BY PLANE FROM A SIX-WEEK TOUR OF EUROPE.

"THE BIG PROBLEM IN EUROPE IS THE QUESTION OF COMMUNISM AND SOCIALISM AS OPPOSED TO THE FREE ENTERPRISE SYSTEM," BULLIS SAID. "IT IS A BATTLE BETWEEN BOTH FORCES, AND I THINK IT WILL BE SOME BATTLE. I DON'T THINK WE CAN ALLOW RUSSIA TO CONTROL WESTERN EUROPE.

"THE PRICE IS HIGH AND THE RISK IS GREAT, BUT WE HAVE TO PAY THE PRICE."

BULLIS WAS ACCOMPANIED BY HENRY S.KINGMAN, MINNEAPOLIS BANKER AND A DIRECTOR OF THE COMPANY. THEY SAID THAT ON THE WHOLE THEY WERE OPTIMISTIC ABOUT EUROPE, AND THAT WHILE RECOVERY MIGHT BE SLOW, IT WILL BE ACHIEVED.

BULLIS SAID HE WAS DEPRESSED BY WHAT HE SAW IN GERMANY. HE SAID THE PEOPLE THERE NEED FOOD, STABILIZATION OF CURRENCY, AND MORE COAL FROM THE RUHR TO RAISE PRODUCTION.

"AFTER WE STABILIZE THEIR CURRENCY," HE SAID, "WE ARE GOING TO HAVE TO LET GERMANY MANAGE HER OWN ECONOMY. THE GREAT PROBLEM IS TO GET GERMANY BACK AND TO GET PRODUCTION GOING IN GERMANY. IF WE DON'T, GERMANY WILL PULL DOWN THE REST OF THE CONTINENT AND PUT BRITAIN AND AMERICA ON THE SPOT."

BULLIS AND KINGMAN VISITED SWEDEN, DENMARK, THE NETHERLANDS, BELGIUM, FRANCE, SWITZERLAND, AND ENGLAND. BULLIS WENT TO GERMANY ALONE, VISITING BERLIN, FRANKFORT, AND STUTTGART. HE SAID THAT WAR DESTRUCTION HAD NOT YET BEEN CLEANED UP AND THAT "THEY NEED FOOD."

AS PART OF THE EFFORT TO KEEP THE AMERICAN FREE ENTERPRISE SYSTEM OUTSTANDING IN THE BATTLE AGAINST COMMUNISM, BULLIS SAID, THE UNITED STATES MUST MAINTAIN A GOOD OPERATING DOMESTIC ECONOMY.

"WE IN AMERICA CANNOT HAVE A MAJOR DEPRESSION," HE SAID. "INDUSTRY MUST KEEP OUR HOUSE IN ORDER."

DUTCH ARMY OPENS INDONESIAN DRIVE, BUILDINGS SEIZED

Republic's Leaders Rounded Up; Scope of Attack Not Disclosed.

JUL 1947

LITTLE RESISTANCE

Scattered Gunfire Reveals Minor Clashes in Parts of Batavia.

STANLEY S SWINTON

BATAVIA, Java, Monday, July 21—(AP) Dutch military operations against the Republic of Indonesia were launched with startling abruptness at midnight last night, but not until daylight neared was any sound of gunfire heard in Batavia.

Acting Governor-General Hubertus Van Mook, announcing the failure of months of negotiation, said Dutch troops had begun "police action" on undisclosed fronts.

Gunfire in the direction of the Bekassi perimeter indicated there was a clash about eight miles east of the city and there were two flurries of shooting near the British Cricket Club on the south edge of Batavia. A Dutch officer reported the first casualty, an Indonesian who tried to escape from a Dutch patrol in the the Pensanggsaan district.

NIGHT

Establishments Seized

Indonesian republic establishments in Batavia were seized without bloodshed and without a shot being fired. They were under heavy guard and sentries were posted at numerous spots throughout the city, but there was no disorder.

"Everything has gone remarkably smoothly," another Dutch officer said.

An Indonesian leader said last night before the Dutch operations began that the Republic had no intention of contesting complete Dutch military control of Batavia.

Van Mook announced that special Dutch units had struck unexpectedly at key points where sabotage under the promised Indonesian scorched earth policy had been feared.

Gives Hint on Action

In an island-wide radio broadcast, Van Mook gave the first indication of the scope of intended Dutch military operations by saying the army would have to establish law and order in "certain parts" of both Java and Sumatra.

No communique is to be issued from the headquarters of Lt. Gen. Simon H. Spoor until late today and there was no confirmation of speculation that a Dutch amphibious landing in western Java might have been a part of the operation, which was started a day before expiration of a Dutch ultimatum to the republic.

Van Mook charged that three factors on the Indonesian side were responsible for the breakdown of negotiations for peaceful settlement:

1. Financial and monetary confusion within the republic led to a situation in which an increasing number of the Republican armed forces obtained by force the greater part of the republic's income and of state requisitions. This produced, Van Mook said, a conflict between Indonesian military authorities and civil authorities, with consequent lack of government control over the military.

2. Increasing corruption caused by smuggling trade between the Indies and foreign ports, particularly Singapore. Those benefitting, Van Mook declared, did not want the present situation altered by settlement.

3. A hangover of Japanese propaganda and isolation of the Republican capital, Jogjakarta, from the world, making it impossible for the central Republican government to "obtain a true picture of this postwar world."

"The action can be localized if events do not force otherwise," Van Mook said.

"In view of the almost constant Republican violations, the Netherlands government cannot further be bound by the truce and (Linggadjati) agreement and retake their freedom of action," he announced.

"After months of patient negotiations and a restrained defensive against almost continuous aggression, the Netherlands government, with the utmost reluctance and regret, have come to the conclusion that the present government of the Republic of Indonesia is either unwilling or unable to implement both the truce agreement concluded on Oct. 14, 1946, and the Linggadjati (Cheribon) agreement signed on March 25, 1947."

Asked whether the Republican government, whose capital is at Jogjakarta in the interior of Java, could still arrange a peace, Van Mook replied:

"If they change their attitude, it may make a difference."

Strike Swiftly

Dutch troops struck with lightning swiftness in taking the Indonesian establishments in Batavia.

Deputy Prime Minister A. K. Gani, Acting Foreign Minister Tamsil and Ali Boediardjo, former secretary of the Indonesian commission negotiating with Dutch authorities, were under house arrest after a seizure of the former home of President Soekarno which had remained headquarters of the Republican units in Batavia.

Dutch guards were placed at a statue on the lawn of this home commemorating the proclamation of the republic on Aug. 17, 1945. Indonesian guards at the house had been overcome by the Dutch soldiers.

"We are all right," Gani called from a window of the house to correspondents.

Hundreds of other Indonesians were rounded up in the midnight strike, but Van Mook said only 200 would be held.

He claimed these were "smaller fry" sent to Batavia to carry out special missions against the Dutch.

The governor-general said that Indonesian leaders, with a few exceptions and not including any top-ranking officials of the republic in Batavia, would remain free. There was no indication, however, that Gani and Tamsil would be released from house arrest.

Correspondents Move Freely

Republican establishments were heavily guarded and sentries halted automobiles at frequent intervals, but news correspondents were permitted to move freely after showing their passes.

"Everything has gone remarkably smoothly," a dutch officer said.

There was speculation that an amphibious landing in western Java was a part of the operations, but there was no authoritative confirmation.

Denies Warring On People

Lieut. Gen. Simon H. Spoor, commander-in-chief of Dutch forces in the East Indies, told his troops in an order of the day to "never forget we are not entering a war against the Indonesian people."

"Our enemies," he declared, "are those elements which try to sabotage sincere implementation of the agreement reached, to hinder restoration of law and establishment of security for all men of good will in this country and to obstruct the rehabilitation and reconstruction of Indonesia."

Van Mook said that special Dutch units had struck unexpectedly at key points where demolitions had been feared under the promised Indonesian scorched earth policy.

"The action can be localized if events do not force otherwise," van Mook said.

Charges Violations

"In view of the almost constant Republican violations, the Netherlands Government cannot further be bound by the truce and (Linggadjati) agreement and retake their freedom of action," he announced.

"We did not come to this grave decision without much patience and effort to solve it in another way," Van Mook declared. "However, no other solution is possible which does not involve a certain amount of action."

"The truce never has been observed by the Republican forces. Aggression on the perimeters, violence against the people under Netherlands protection, armed action against territories outside the republic (Java, Sumatra and Madoera) and provocative propaganda have continued almost without pause.

Cites Medan Food Blockade

"The food blockade on Medan bringing part of the population to the verge of famine was not lifted although the Republican Government declared it had issued orders to that effect more than ten days ago."

Asked whether the Republican Government, whose capital is at Jogjakarta in the interior of Java, could still arrange a peace, van Mook replied:

"If they change their attitude, it may make a difference."

Among the first Indonesian establishments taken was the Republic radio station. Troops also moved into the cable office, operated by a Dutch commercial firm, and van Mook announced that "limited censorship" applying to military operations only was being imposed. However, all outgoing messages were scrutinized by Dutch censors.

Under Dual Government

The Indonesian establishments seized were numerous, as since almost the beginning of the Indonesian-Dutch dispute following the Japanese surrender in 1945, Batavia has been under a dual municipal government and the Republic maintained branches of its ministries in the city, the largest being the Foreign Office and Information Office.

Van Mook's announcements were made at an early morning press conference in the ornate Netherlands governor general's palace.

He said the Republican officials in Batavia had been handed a note declaring the Netherlands considered itself no longer bound by either the truce or the Linggadjati agreement as a result of "persistent Republican truce violators."

United Nations Plea Forecast

The beginning of Dutch military operations came shortly before expiration of the Netherlands' ultimatum to President Soekarno's Government to end the two-year stalemate over the future of the immensely wealthy East Indies.

Republican sources said it was believed in Jogjakarta that India was preparing to submit the Indonesian case to the United Nations Security Council.

The Dutch East Indies army, which has been equipped with American and British material, is estimated by neutral observers at 120,000 men, although the Dutch officially have acknowledged a force of only 98,000. It is equipped with tanks and heavy artillery, American fighter planes and some British bombers.

Indonesians Lightly Armed

The Indonesian forces are estimated to number approximately 200,000, or eleven divisions, lightly armed. Most of its equipment was taken from Japanese forces at the time of their surrender or captured from British forces who attempted to re-occupy the Indies, but succeeded against Republican opposition only in evacuating the Japanese and releasing wartime civilan internees who had been caught in Republican territory in 1945.

The Indonesians have long been expected, in the event of full scale hostilities, to use scorched earth tactics and reportedly were prepared to blow up factories, tunnels, and bridges and employ any demolition likely to slow a Dutch advance into the interior of Java and Sumatra.

U. S., Britain Consult On Indonesian Crisis

LONDON, Monday, July 21—(AP) The foreign office announced early today that Great Britain had consulted with the United States and then notified the Netherlands government last night both powers were ready to use their "good offices" toward the settlement of the Dutch-Indonesian hostilities.

The statement said the British government felt "the keenest disappointment" over "the breakdown of their ceaseless efforts during the last 18 months to promote a peaceful settlement."

NIGHT

(In Washington reachable State department officials had no immediate comment on the London report.)

Dutch Premier on Radio

THE HAGUE, July 20 (AP).—Premier L. J. M. Bell said tonight the Dutch government had authorized Acting Governor General Hubertus J. Van Mook at Batavia to use the Dutch armed forces for police action in Indonesia and to start operations at midnight Sunday Java time.

Addressing the Netherlands people by radio he said the present uncertain situation in Indonesia could no longer be continued. Endless attempts had been made by the Dutch, he continued, to create a peaceful solution. He said they had demonstrated their sincere wish to do right.

The fact is, he said, that the Republicans did not want to recognize Netherlands sovereignty for the sake of order and peace during the interim period until the United States of Indonesia was established.

U SAW AND 19 AIDES SEIZED

JUL 1947

3 Killed In Raid, Sequel To Burma Council Massacre

Rangoon, Burma, July 20 (AP)—Burmese police have killed three followers of former Premier U Saw and arrested him and nineteen lieutenants in a raid in connection with the machine-gun massacre of seven Burmese Council ministers, the Government announced today.

The police struck at U Saw's home last night.

NIGHT

A barrage of gunfire marked the arrests.

U Saw, impassive, thick-set leader of the Myochit party who was once detained by the British as a Japanese collaborator, was brought under heavy escort to the Rangoon central jail.

Curfew 7 P.M. Until 5 A.M.

A curfew was imposed on this ancient city from 7 P.M. until 5 A.M. nightly, until further notice.

Burmese newspapers said nearly 50 persons had been arrested as an aftermath of assassinations. Those reported held include Thakin Ba Sein, leader of the Dobama Asiayone party.

Ba Sein and U Saw were the only members of a six-man Burmese delegation to London who had refused to sign the British-Burma agreement on Burmese independence, on grounds that it did not go far enough.

A new ministry was sworn swiftly into office to succeed the nine-man Executive Council, which was virtually wiped out in a spray of bullets yesterday morning while meeting in the Government House.

Six Die Instantly

Six of the ministers died instantly or succumbed within a few hours in hospitals. A seventh, Sao Sam Htun Sawbwa, of Mong Pawn, died this morning. Two attachés also were shot to death by the gang of five gunmen, who later fled unscathed in a jeep.

Thousands of weeping Burmese filed past the biers of the assassinated ministers—Maj. Gen. U Aung San, 32-year-old "strong man" of the anti-fascist People's Freedom League who was in line to become the premier of the independent Burma which is in the making, and other members of the council.

A communiqué said the police raid on U Saw's home was led by Ba Maung, Inspector general of Burma police. A fierce gun battle was fought between the officers and the Myochit leaders, before the 46-year-old U Saw and his surviving followers surrendered.

All the three killed were Myochit party members, the announcement said.

[This dispatch made no mention of injuries or of any police casualties.]

A subsequent search of U Saw's residence resulted in the discovery of a cache of arms and a "considerable quantity" of ammunition, the communiqué added.

The Myochit party broke away early this year from Aung San's majority political organization, the Freedom League, in a dispute over terms of Burma's independence. Prior to the break, U Saw was mentioned as the possible president of Burma.

Rangoon Shocked By Massacre

Rangoon, shocked and dazed by the announcement of the Cabinet massacre, closed its shops and bazaars as a mark of respect. Busses stopped running. A hush descended over the city.

The British Governor, Maj. Gen. Sir Rubert Rance, urged the people in a broadcast address to remain calm and follow the "wise course toward independence, set by your late leaders."

A later Government announcement said Thakin Nu, leader of the constituent assembly and one of Aung San's aides in the People's Freedom League, took the oath as deputy chairman of the Executive Council.

Other members of the new ministry, all AFPFL leaders, are U Mya, U Win, Thakin Ton, Bo Po Kun, Thakin Lu Baw and Pe Kin, the Government said.

Assembly Session Postponed

A Burmese official said that a session of the constituent assembly, which was to meet July 24 to write the constitution for an independent Burma, would be postponed.

The embalmed bodies of Aung San and five other ministers, all Buddhists, were brought to Rangoon's historic Jubilee Hall, where they will lie in state for a month before being accorded a state funeral. Crowds wept openly as they gazed on the faces of the dead men.

The seventh assassinated Minister, Abdul Razak, a Moslem, was buried this afternoon in a funeral attended by vast throngs. Under Moslem rites, immediate interment is necessary.

Burmese reporters who witnessed the assassinations said the attackers wore military uniforms with 12th Army insignia, and walked brusquely into the council chamber. There was a rattle of machinegun fire, and the men ran from the room, firing wildly. They climbed into the jeep, which drove away rapidly.

U Saw's Background

U Saw was premier of Burma in 1940, and visited London in 1941 to demand dominion status. Winston Churchill, then Britain's Prime Minister, turned him down.

U Saw was arrested by the British in 1942, shortly after he returned to Burma, on charges of being a Japanese collaborator. He was detained in Uganda, Africa, through the remainder of the war.

Returning to Rangoon in 1946, he became head of the powerful Myochit party and renewed his demands for dominion status. When Britain refused to set any definite date, he withdrew his party's three members of the Executive Council and five members of the Legislative Council.

Formed "United Front"

In January of this year, U Saw was a member of a six-man Burmese delegation headed by Aung San which conferred in London on Burma's status. It was then that he and Ba Sein refused to sign the British-Burma agreement virtually granting Burmese independence within a year.

Back in Rangon, he linked the Myochit party with Dobama Asiay-one in a "united front" against the agreement, and resigned from the new Executive Council, to which he had been appointed.

He described the agreement as "falling short of national demands," and declared his United Front was determined to carry on "a mass struggle against British imperialism and its puppets."

Escaped Assassination

An unsuccessful attempt to assassinate U Saw was made last September, by unidentified persons. A rifle bullet, fired from a jeep, smashed the windows of his car and sprayed him with glass.

He is not the type easily forgotten or overlooked. He has a variety of interests, a partiality for a good table. Whether wearing the Burmese national costume or a European lounge suit, he always wears English shoes and striped socks.

He was born Maung Saw, but replaced his first name with the letter "U," a title given in Burma to people of standing.

PAPERS IN BRITAIN CUT TO FOUR PAGES

Editors Charge Rule Seeks To Stifle Criticism

London, July 20 (AP)—British newspapers will reduce their size and staffs beginning tomorrow as the result of a Government-ordered cut in newsprint imports which a large section of the press interprets as a move to stifle criticism of the Labor Government.

Most daily newspapers now will be, as during the war, limited to four pages—they have been publishing six-page editions every other day—and the circulation of all papers will be "frozen" at last month's level.

"Unemployment, part-time employment, cuts in every direction threaten to strike newspaperland like a beam swung by a giant," said Frank Owen, editor of the Daily Mail, and printers' unions joined newspaper publishers in opposing the new cut.

To Save Dollar Exchange

But the Government held firm on the ground, as the Board of Trade President, Sir Stafford Cripps, put it in a House of Commons debate earlier this week, that newsprint economies are necessary to save some £2,000,000 ($8,000,000) in dollar exchange during the next year.

Almost unanimously, the press replied that this was only a fraction of the £400,000,000 ($1,600,000,000) trade deficit that Britain faces and suggested pointedly that the Government must have some reason to "victimize" the press alone.

Unless Government ministers can produce better justification for the cut, said the Times, "they can scarcely be surprised to hear the suspicion formulated that their care for the freedom of a critical press is not more than rhetorical."

Object To "Rubbish" Comment

Other newspapers objected to a comment by Aneurin Bevan, Health Minister, that the press could take a newsprint cut and still maintain a higher level than in the past by cutting out "a great deal of the rubbish that has been printed."

Most editors judged the newsprint cut in the light of frequent denunciations of the far-right Conservative press by Bevan, Emanuel Shinwell, Fuel Minister; John Strachey, Food Minister, and at times, Herbert Morrison, Deputy Prime Minister.

Proposed Code Of Conduct

Morrison was largely instrumental for setting up a royal commission to investigate press ownership and control—a step that the newspaper proprietors almost unanimously called arbitrary and unnecessary.

This commission recently made public, without comment, the National Union of Journalists' recommendation that a council be established to draw up a newspaper code of conduct, with power to impose penalties for violations.

It was the present Government also which ordered all weekly periodicals—including the widely respected journals of opinion such as the Economist and the Spectator—to suspend publication during last winter's fuel crisis.

ed that questionnaires covering a wide variety of economic subjects had been sent to the 16 nations participating.

The answers will form the basis of reports by the four technical committees which will be used in drafting a blueprint of European reconstruction preliminary to asking aid from the United States.

FRANCE TO GREET EVA PERON TODAY

PARIS, July 20—(AP) Paris and the French government completed its preparations today for receiving Senora Eva Durate Peron, wife of President Juan D. Peron of Argentina, who is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow on her European tour.

Senora Peron will travel by plane from Lisbon, Portugal, and is expected to arrive at Orly Airport at 2:30 p.m. (9:30 a.m., E.S.T.). The Argentine embassy here announced it had been informed officially that French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault would welcome her at the airport.

3 Albanians Ask For Free Elections

Rome, July 20 (AP)—Three Albanian refugees, claiming to speak for "80 per cent of the Albanians," made public here today an appeal they addressed to President Truman through United States Ambassador James C. Dunn for free elections in Albania supervised by the United Nations.

The three, Dr. Eduard Lico, Nosi Qiriako and Alberto Akshija, said they could safely sign it because they had no relatives still in Albania and hence did not fear reprisals.

They accused Premier Enver Hoxha's government of using unrestrained terror to submit Albania to Russia's drive for dominance in Eastern Europe.

Listing scores of anti-Hoxha leaders they charged had been slain and asserting "tens of thousands" of others were in jail, the three said the regime's "extreme anti-democratic bent" and "hatred of the Anglo-Saxon powers" had gone so far that just recently all Albanians who could speak English were jailed.

PARIS PARLEY GROUPS NAME OFFICERS TODAY

PARIS, July 20—(AP) The European economic conference took a Sunday recess today, but will swing back into action tomorrow with the meeting of four technical committees.

The food and transport committees will meet at 9 A.M. (4 A.M., EST) and the industries and fuel and power groups at 1:30 P.M. (8:30 A.M., EST). They are scheduled to elect presiding officers.

The conference, called to implement the Marshall proposal for European reconstruction, announc-

SAXONY ORES SPEED SOVIET ATOM QUEST

Super-Guarded Uranium Mines in Germany Send Mineral to Russia by Plane

The following story on the uranium mines of Saxony, which the Russians are exploiting, was written by a German correspondent of The Associated Press. It is based on a visit the correspondent made to the region and on talks with one of the mine workers.

By The Associated Press.

CHEMNITZ, Germany, July 20—The Russians are flying pitchblende, a source of uranium and radium, into the Soviet Union from a "forbidden area" in Saxony. It is being mined by tens of thousands of German men and women.

The pitchblende area around Annaburg and Bad-Oberschlema in the districts of Schneeberg and Schwarzenberg, once a popular vacation and spa center in the Erz (ore) Mountains, has been effectively sealed off by the Soviet military administration. It contains the only known large deposit of uranium in Europe, according to Dr. Walter Lutz, German geophysicist.

A Russian military cordon has been thrown around the area, which measures some twelve miles across. Sentries and barriers prevent normal traffic into or out of the forbidden region.

The inhabitants of the zone may not leave. Outsiders may not enter without credentials. Guards at most of the railway stations in the closed district control the identification papers of travelers. Persons who do not have a prescribed stamp may not leave the station.

Old Ore Dumps Reworked

Russian engineers, geologists and mining specialists are on hand to superintend the work. To exploit the mines to the extreme, the Russians have directed that the old mine dumps must be reworked to salvage the uranium-containing pitchblende.

As fast as the pitchblende rock is brought to the surface in buckets by windlass and is sorted, it is carted to Aue and Leipzig. There it is packed in huge cases and shipped east.

The Russians keep secret the total number of workers, as well as the daily yield.

The Leipzig labor office, however, is supposed to have drafted approximately 35,000 workers for the mines. Many of them, particularly salesmen, office workers and others unused to heavy work, are considering flight to the West to escape the draft. On the other hand, there are cases of men who have declared themselves ready to work in the mines because of the good food. Some have even reported voluntarily.

The first registration of workers between the ages of 18 and 45 to mine the uranium-pitchblende began in Saxony last March. The district labor offices in Dresden and Leipzig were directed to draft workers from non-essential factories and professions, supposedly for a six-month period. Prisoners of war were not to be recruited until six months after their return to their homes.

The drafted men first received a physical examination by German doctors to determine whether they were in condition to work in the mines, then a Russian medical commission examined them a second time.

Food Attracts Workers

A functionary of the Socialist Unity party, whose job is to watch over working conditions, said that the mine labor—both volunteers and draftees—received much better food than the normal worker. In addition to the top ration of the heaviest worker, he said, they obtain extra rations of vegetables, spirits, cigarettes and soap. Special protective clothing and rubber boots are issued because the radium in the uranium-pitchblende can damage the health of the workers. As a result of the extra rations, the SED officials maintained that some volunteers, including women, had reported to the mines.

The workmen, laboring in three shifts, get paid mostly according to the amount they mine rather than by the hour. Women work only by the day.

Saturday, Sunday and Monday of every third week are rest days, when the workers may receive visitors but may not leave the district to which they are assigned.

Because the mines have not been worked for years, the technical equipment still is very inadequate. The pitchblende rock, for example, has to be transported to the surface by buckets attached to winches. In one shaft near Schneeberg, the workers must clamber up and down a ladder running more than 500 feet into the earth.

Deposits of uranium-pitchblende are found up to eight inches thick, sometimes in veins of gold and silver.

Similar deposits were worked before the war at Joachimsthal in Czechoslovakia, about twelve miles south of the field the Russians are exploiting, Dr. Lutz wrote recently in the Stuttgarter Zeitung.

Pierre and Marie Curie, joint discoverers of radium in 1898, are said to have obtained their material for experimental purposes from Joachimsthal.

Lack Of Coal Cuts Reich Production

Berlin, July 20 (AP)—Factory output in the United States zone, which was making a quick comeback in late spring, has been retarded by the coal shortage, Gen. Lucius D. Clay reported today to Washington, where an Anglo-American conference on boosting Ruhr coal production has been projected for this week.

United States zone industries are receiving smaller coal supplies than last year, the American Military Governor said in his latest bi-weekly report, and the lack of coal and electric power already has begun to affect factory output generally. The chemical and newsprint industries were named as hardest hit.

Restrictions Foreseen

At the same time, the report warned that deterioration of hydropower production and the unfavorable hard coal stock situation "may force imposition of severe restrictions."

The supply of coal for manufacturing has been reduced by low Ruhr coal output, allocation of fuel for domestic space heating, and stock piling for public utilities and the railways, the report said.

Hard coal production in the British zone during June totaled 5,464,760 metric tons, a five per cent increase over May. The daily average output in June, however, was only one per cent above May, which had one less working day.

Coal Stock Piles Drop

Simultaneously, hydro-generation dropped 12.5 per cent in June because of unusually hot and dry weather. This was tied in with the dwindling stock piles at power plants which at the end of June had only 138,000 metric tons of coal on hand, a 15 per cent drop under June a year ago.

More miners is one of the keys to increased coal output. The United States zone so far has sent 2,550 recruits to the Ruhr mines as a result of a zone-wide recruiting campaign. The target is 50,000 new miners, but the program is handicapped by a housing shortage.

Germans In Russ Festival

Berlin, July 20 (AP)—The Soviet military administration yesterday transported five representatives of the Soviet authorized Free German Youth Movement to Moscow to participate in the annual sport festival for Soviet youth.

The Russian-licensed newspaper Nacht Express said German youth leaders had requested an invitation to Moscow because "such a gesture would give us valuable support in our fight against anti-Soviet propaganda, which at the present time is again very active among the German youth."

Jailed Bavarian Stricken

MUNICH, Germany, July 20 (AP)—Alfred Loritz, Bavarian political leader arrested by the Bavarian Government yesterday, suffered a heart attack in jail and was taken to a Munich prison hospital today. He is former Bavarian Denazification Minister and leader of the Economic Reconstruction party. He was seized on black-market charges.

Romania Chief Is Said to Admit Attempt to Flee

Agency Quotes Mihalache as Saying He Planned to Organize Against Regime

BUCHAREST, July 20 (AP).—The government-owned Romanian news agency Agerpress said today that Ion Mihalache, vice-president of the National Peasant party, who was arrested with seven other leaders of the party at an airport last Monday, had admitted he wanted to leave the country.

Agerpress quoted him as saying he had been preparing his flight since last November. He also was reported to have said he intended to get in contact with former members of the Romanian diplomatic service now abroad and former Cabinet members now living outside the country, with the aim of organizing a campaign outside Romanian borders against the present government.

Police announced that the National Peasant party leaders apprehended at the airport all were attempting to flee from the country because they had been involved in a plot against the government and feared punishment.

The party has opposed the policies of the six-party Leftist bloc which controls the government of Premier Petru Groza.

Mass meetings of government supporters in Bucharest in the last several days have passed resolutions demanding that Dr. Juliu Maniu, president of the National Peasant party, Mr. Mihalache and the others arrested at the airport be tried by people's courts for plotting against the security of the "democratic popular regime in Romania."

Mr. Maniu, who had been held incommunicado at a Bucharest sanatorium for several weeks, has been moved to the home of his nephew, Dr. Zamaria Boila, apparently to guard him more securely. Mr. Maniu still is not officially under arrest, although the immunity he had as a member of Parliament was removed by a secret vote of Parliament two days ago.

With the leaders of the National Peasant party under arrest or threat of arrest, leadership of the opposition to the government in Parliament has passed to the smaller National Liberal party, headed by Constantin Bratianu. The National Liberals have not protested or commented on the arrest of the National Peasant leaders, but are to meet next week to determine their policy.

GREEK FREE STATE PROGRAM DELAYED

Athens Surprised That Communists Have Not Acted

Athens, July 20 (AP)—Greek Government circles expressed surprise today that the Greek guerrillas who were defeated last week by Government troops in northwestern Greece had not proclaimed a "Communist free state" in the area where the armed hostilities occurred.

A high official of the Foreign Ministry said "we cannot understand the delay. We have been expecting it any day. The only reason probably is because the Communists have not been able to induce any non-Communist leftists to participate in such a government."

Says Number Declined

"We have information," he added, "that a number of respectable leftists have been contacted, but they declined. The Communists want to camouflage the operation behind some respectable name."

The statement came one week after the guerrillas launched their first big attack last Sunday against the town of Konitsa. In a subsequent operation later in the week another guerrilla army was defeated north of Ioannina. Remnants of the Ioannina group were reported today filtering in retreat through the rugged mountains east and northeast of Ioannina. There were no reports of fighting anywhere in Greece.

Meanwhile, the United Nations subcomission investigating Greek border disorders met in Ioannina during the week end to investigate the fighting and Government charges that the guerrillas were organized and launched their attacks from across the Albanian border.

NIGHT

Told By Guerrilla Captain

Two guerrillas told the subcommission that fighters of their group were told by guerrilla Captain Ypsilanti they were making the attack to establish a free government in Greece.

They also quoted the captain as saying that if the guerrillas met with difficulty they would be aided by an "international brigade." There have been conflicting reports that an "international brigade" participated in last week's battles and that such a brigade was poised on the Albanian border ready to strike.

Armed In Albania

The two guerrillas, Dimitrios Vlakas and Theoharis Koukis, said they both had been armed and equipped in Albania and had crossed the border into Greece to participate in the attack on Konitsa. Vlakas said his fighting unit suffered 150 casualties.

The subcommission announced it soon would go to Konitsa for a spot border investigation in that area. It revealed also it had asked the Albanian Government for permission to carry its investigation into that country, but had received no reply.

General Penzopoulos, commander of the Greek army in Epirus, told the subcommission the guerrillas at Konitsa wore Albanian uniforms and launched the attack to set up a free government at Konitsa.

STALIN AT STADIUM IN SPORT FESTIVAL

He Appears in Good Health—The Russians May Enter World Athletic Contests

MOSCOW, July 20 (AP)—Prime Minister Stalin appeared in public for the first time this summer at a massive sports exhibition today and received an ovation from the audience of approximately 70,000 in Moscow's Dynamo Stadium.

The sports display lasted for five hours, and 30,000 Soviet athletes participated. Although many younger men ducked for cover during an untimely shower, Stalin, who will be 68 years old next December, remained in his seat with other Soviet leaders until the program was finished.

Dressed in his military uniform, Stalin appeared to be in good health and high spirits when he entered the special box reserved for him with Marshal Klementy Voroshilov and Foreign Minister Molotov.

NIGHT

The twenty-two athletic displays of the program staged by young athletes of Moscow's elementary schools and Soviet labor reserves, physical training institutes and trade union sports societies of sixteen Soviet republics ended with the display of Stalin's portrait and a mass cheer of "praise to Stalin."

Violence Sweeps Palestine As UN Commission Leaves

1 Killed, 18 Wounded in Outbreak of Gun Battles, Bombings

JERUSALEM, July 20. — (AP) The holy city of Jerusalem blazed with gunfire and shook from the blasts of high explosives tonight as terrorist attackers and the Palestine police and military clashed in a climax of Holy Land disorders that left one man dead and at least 18 other persons wounded during the day.

During a half-hour period of terror in Jerusalem tonight, police reported four British policemen, four soldiers, two Arab policemen and four civilians were wounded in the blasting of two armored cars by street mines and in a running gun battle between the attackers and police.

NIGHT

Police Station Attacked

An ancient Moslem cemetery was turned into a battlefield at one time and a Jerusalem police station was embattled when attackers raked it with a small arms barrage from a vacant lot. A grenade blast occurred when a group of men, protected by a curtain of gunfire, attacked the Pustashpha police billet in the city.

The Sunday disorders began a few hours after a special United Nations investigation commission left Palestine, and before the night disorders started one soldier had been killed and four wounded in 10 separate outbreaks across the Holy Land.

The violence, police said, apparently was an aftermath to the deportation of unauthorized immigrants who arrived in Palestine aboard the refugee ship "Exodus of 1947."

Soldier Killed by Mine

The lone fatality was a soldier killed by a road mine which blasted a military truck at Raanana, according to unofficial reports. Two others were wounded by the mine.

The Jerusalem disorders began in the darkness, but the city soon was alight with the blaze of tracer bullets and parachute flares. The building housing the cable and public information offices, where this correspondent was writing, apparently was used as a protecting shield by attackers and police and for a period was surrounded by gunfire.

Headquarters of the First Infantry Division at Tel Litwinsky, east of Tel Aviv, was attacked with mortar bombs and small arms fire. Only one bomb landed within the camp, however, and there were no casualties.

Bullets shattered the windshield of a car containing high ranking officers, near a road junction leading to the martial law area of Natanya. The occupants miraculously escaped unscathed.

Railways were attacked in various parts of the country.

A British policeman was wounded in the side and arm by bullets fired from a roof in the eastern outskirts of Jerusalem, officials said. Three men and two women were detained for questioning.

Jews held mass meetings at Haifa, Tel Aviv and Jerusalem, demonstrating against the deportations. Jews throughout Palestine held a protest general strike from 4, p.m. until 6 p.m.

May Be Sent to France

A reliable source said that 4,500 or more visaless Jews who arrived at Haifa Friday aboard the battle-damaged Exodus of 1947 were being shipped back to France and not, as previously, to Cyprus detention camps.

Some 15,000 persons turned out in Haifa for the funerals of three Jews, including First Mate William Bernstein of Los Angeles, Calif., killed in fighting off the Palestine coast between the immigrants and a British boarding party.

Mrs. Golda Myerson, head of the Jewish agency political department in Palestine, said in a funeral address that "we do not know where they (the immigrants) have been taken, but we do know that immigration will go on."

Approximately 15,000 attended the Tel Aviv demonstration, and 5,000 the Jerusalem protest meetings.

The attacks came on the day the U.N. committee wound up its on-the-spot study of Holy Land problems and motored to Lebanon to Hear Arab witnesses.

Curfew Ordered

The army ordered most of Haifa's 60,000 Jews under house curfew from dusk to dawn, starting at 7 P.M. tonight, and directed military contingents in northern Palestine to stay at action stations.

The report that deportation ships were carrying the Exodus' passengers back to France spread through Palestine's major cities.

Official confirmation was lacking.

A Jewish agency spokesman said he had "sent a formal request to the government as to their whereabouts."

The deportation ships, the Ocean Vigour, Runnymede Park and Empire Rival, sailed from Haifa Saturday morning according to a reliable source. The informant, who cannot be identified by name, pointed out the trip from Haifa is only a 16-hour journey.

Other observers said the number of refugees aboard the Exodus, the American-built former President Warfield, would have jammed Cyprus camps to the capacity of 20,000 and complicated the already difficult tasks of feeding and hospitalization.

Three Americans Held For Trial

A Haifa court today ordered three other Americans held under $4,000 bond each for trial within fifteen days on two charges, "abetting persons to illegally immigrate to Palestine" and "being members of the crew of a Hagana (Jewish defense organization) ship which carried 4,700 illegal immigrants into Palestine waters."

[The basis of the court's 4,700 estimate was not explained.]

Defendants are Capt. Bernard Marks, of Cincinnati, the ship's captain; Arthur Ritzer, of Brooklyn, cook, and Cyril Weinstein, of New York, seaman. A Haifa attorney supplied the bonds.

Dr. Israel Goldstein of New York, chairman of the United States Palestine Appeal and chairman of the World Confederation of General Zionists, who arrived in Jerusalem today by plane, said "American Jews are heartsick and resentful at such episodes as the British navy's interception of and attack on the Hagana ship Exodus 1947."

He added "such outrages against fundamental human decencies" increase the determination of American Jews "to support the effort of every Jew who wants and needs Palestine to get to its shores despite all obstacles."

Referring to the three Jews killed during the British boarding of the ship, Dr. Goldstein said:

"I trust that my government, the United States, will not permit the death of these young martyrs to go unmarked."

HIROSHIMA TO MARK DATE

City Plans 'Peace Festival' On Bombing Anniversary

FRANK WHITE

Hiroshima, Japan, July 20 (AP). Reconstruction of the scorched and shattered ruins of this first atom-bombed city in the world will halt Tuesday August 5 for a three-day "peace festival." Citizens of Hiroshima then will voice prayers that the world will renounce war.

The observance embraces August 6, the second anniversary of the bomb burst which, with a crushing blast and unseen but deadly radio-activity, rained destruction indiscriminately.

The anti-war sincerity of the survivors of Hiroshima scarcely can be doubted. They are convinced that in the event of another war there can be no escape for masses of civilian populations, for they themselves count 78,150 dead and 13,983 missing from that single explosion.

They know the desolation of atomic destruction to inanimate things as well, because two years of unremitting toil have accomplished little more than a superficial hiding of the scars.

Most of the rebulding has been done along main roads traveled by visitors. It gives an appearance of more progress than actually has been accomplished.

To the observer on the ground, the sun shines deceptively on the unpainted boards of 20,000 reconstructed homes and shops. From the roof of the four-story concrete municipal building—one of the few structures remaining in the heart of Hiroshima—Mayor Shinso Hamai sadly pointed out that most of the rebuilt structures were tiny, makeshift affairs. There were wide gaps between the clusters.

No Trace Of Freaks

The people still are building slowly. They have no special priority on scarce materials. The mayor said the Central Government had advanced only 60,000,000 yen—a minute amount considering inflation—towards reconstruction.

None of the atomic casualties remains in Hiroshima hospitals. Despite wild rumors and speculation, there is no trace of freak human, animal or vegetable developments as a result of the bombing.

A super-secret pictorial record of the Hiroshima disaster was assembled by the Japanese military and rushed to the high command in Tokyo immediately after the bomb burst.

An Allied source which recently permitted the examination of these photographs said it was the only such record known to exist. Several other copies were destroyed before the Americans landed.

Photograph Of Explosion

If the Tokyo war lords had any lingering doubts about surrender, this batch of pictures must have dissipated them.

The first item is the only known Japanese photograph of the explosion, apparently made within seconds after the blinding glare of light.

Said to have been made by a Japanese civilian near Yoshiura, a fishing village fifteen miles away across the bay, it shows a white cloud boiling up over the city. It has a sort of splashy raindrop effect which must have given scientists a clue to the nature of the weapon.

Other photographs must have been equally illuminating to scientists and military men alike.

Some of them apparently were made for the purpose of calculating the height of the explosion and the radius of effect. They show clearly the angles and distances at which heat and concussion seared and smashed objects of all sorts.

Was Assistant Mayor

Viewing these pictures, the war lords must have known even before the second atomic bomb struck Nagasaki on August 10 that a last-ditch fight in the home islands would be futile.

The people of Hiroshima needed no photographers or scientists to tell them the import of the bomb. They knew from personal experience.

Hamai, who was assistant mayor at the time and who was elected mayor at last year's first municipal elections in Japan, has recovered from radiation sickness. As a lucky bomb victim, he said he was most proud that none of the survivors ever had shown any resentment toward the thousands of Allied nationals who have visited Hiroshima since the surrender.

Seeks Object Lesson

"We are looking forward, not back," he said. Actually, Hiroshima will look back, officially, for exactly one minute, standing in silence while bells toll at 8:14 A. M. on Aug. 6. The Mayor is the moving force behind the "peace festival," saying he hoped to keep the eyes of the world centered on Hiroshima as a powerful object lesson for future peace.

He has prepared a proclamation for issuance when the "festival" starts. After briefly reviewing the history of the city's past two years and calling for necessary future years o feffort, it concludes:

"On the occasion of this second anniversary, we citizens of Hiroshima wish to inform the people of the world that we are sponsoring a peace festival with the object of humbly praying for permanent peace and wish to advocate the need for the renunciation of war by all the peoples of the world."

Captain Of Wrecked Ship Blames Loss On Russians

Yokosuka, Japan, July 20 (AP)—The captain of the wrecked Philippine freighter Dona Trinidad blamed the Russians today for loss of his ship on a rock off Sakhalin Island and bitterly complained of their treatment of his rescued crew.

The captain, Honario M. Barios, of Manila, arrived here today aboard the United States destroyer Ozbourn with his crew of 37 Filipinos and John E. Brown, American citizen who is Shanghai agent for the De la Rama Shipping Company and was a passenger aboard the lost ship.

NIGHT

Lighthouse Not Operating

Captain Barios said the Dona Trinidad, en route to Sakhalin for a cargo of paper, struck Nijogan Rock off the southern tip of the island June 24. He said fog had prevented him from determining his position and a lighthouse of the rock was not operating. (United States charts list navigational aids off Sakhalin as unreliable.)

Barios said the ship was in no immediate danger, and he radioed at once to Japan for salvage tugs but was informed that neither United States nor Japanese vessels could come to his rescue because he was in Russian waters.

Four days later, he reported, he made a deal with the Russian Navy to salvage his ship and, on June 29, the Russian merchantman, Toboa, tried to get a line aboard but also piled up on the rock.

Russian Tugs Too Small

Then two Russian tugs arrived, but Barios said they were too small to be effective. They tried until July 10, however, while the Russian merchant ship, Irkutsk, and a Russian destroyer stood by, he related.

On that date the sea rose and the Dona Trinadad suddenly broke in two. He said the crew barely had time to pile into lifeboats and lost all their belongings.

Barios said powerful Japanese tugs were nearby and could have saved the ship readily but the Russians would not let them attempt it.

He said the castaways were picked up by the Irkutsk but were not allowed to send any communications and were forbidden to land. They finally were transferred from the Irkutsk to the Ozbourn on July 18.

Both Barios and Brown said that throughout the stay in Russian hands they were fed only black bread, tea, soup and some sort of cereal doused with gravy.

Hokkaido Reports Food Crisis Near

Governor Urges Tokyo to Send Supplies Soon

TOKYO, July 20 (AP).—The Kyodo News Agency reported today that Governor Toshifumi Tanaka, of the northern island of Hokkaido, had informed the central government he could not "assume responsibility for peace and order" unless more food was made quickly available.

NIGHT

The agency said the governor declared that shortages and delays in the official rationing program had brought Hokkaido "one step short of violence."

The government rationing distribution was said to be sixty days behind in the city of Hakodate and substantially late in all other towns, many of which sent mass petitions to the governor.

Mr. Tanaka's urgent plea to the government for relief was believed to be responsible for rumors that suddenly swept Tokyo to the effect that disorders had broken out on Hokkaido. American administrative officers on the island said no violence had occurred.

STAY IN JAPAN GRANTED

8 Plane Passengers Get Special Washington Permits

TOKYO, July 20 (AP)—By last-minute special authority from Washington, eight Northwest Airlines passengers remained in Japan today, but the dispensation did not apply to a dozen others bound for China.

NIGHT

Eight of the dozen had to stay in temporary billets at Haneda airport ten miles from Tokyo, while four Chinese officials were allowed to spend the layover time in the Chinese Mission's quarters.

The plane, inaugurating the company's regular commercial service to the Orient, arrived shortly after noon and was due to go on to Shanghai Monday.

D. J. King, Northwest Vice President for the Orient Division, said final authority to carry passengers and cargo to and from Japan still was being held up in Washington.

Japan Abolishes War Stamps

TOKYO, July 20 (AP)—The Japanese Government got around today to abolishing wartime postage stamps. The communications Ministry announced that nineteen stamps with militaristic or shinto themes would be banned after Sept. 1 and that letters bearing them would be returned to senders.

Nanking Throngs Back Mobilization

Several Thousand in Parade of Loyalty to Chiang

NANKING, July 20 (AP).—Several thousand persons, the majority of them government employees, paraded in this Chinese capital today in a demonstration supporting the government's new total mobilization orders for war against the Communists.

NIGHT

In Shantung Province heavy fighting was reported in the outskirts of Kiaohsien, with government reinforcements moving up from Tsingtao, forty-five miles southeast. In Hopeh Province government troops continued to recover small towns in sporadic clashes west of Paoting, provincial capital.

The newspaper "Social Welfare" said that under the mobilization program General Tang En-po, a favorite of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, would head all combat forces. Training forces have been placed under Lieutenant General Sun Li-jen. The paper said both branches would be under General Kú Chu-tung as commander-in-chief.

Barbers' Film Feud

Shanghai, July 20 (AP)—The Barbers' Guild of Shanghai appealed to companion bodies throughout China today to join in a campaign to prevent exhibition of a new Chinese film comedy titled "The False Phoenix."

The barbers at a mass meeting objected to numerous items in the movie, contending they were derogatory to the profession.

Barbers' Objections Listed

These included:

1. A barber wears a diamond ring which the guild contends looks like a fake.

2. A barber who tries to borrow 200,000 Chinese dollars (less than $5 United States) manages to raise only one thousand (about 2 cents United States).

3. A barber who attempts suicide over an unrequited love strops his razor on his necktie.

4. A barber picks up a cigarette butt discarded by a customer.

5. A barber has to disrobe and use his clothes to pay his bill in a cafe.

6. Barbers act too fresh toward women patrons.

Babies Rushed To Barber

Manila, July 20 (AP)—An old woman storyteller was credited today by the barbers of Pampanga province with bringing them a capacity business in at least five towns in the San Fernando vicinity.

Her story: A bird and a snake quarreled over which should rule over all newly born children. The bird won, but the snake vowed to kill all babies with hair on their heads.

Credulous mothers, taking no chances, rushed their youngsters to the barber, and today there is hardly a baby in the region without a shaven pate.

U. N.'S COMMITTEE REACHES LEBANON

BEIRUT, Lebanon, July 20 (AP)—The United Nations' special committee on Palestine arrived today to hear the Arab states' testimony against the Zionists' claim for a national state.

NIGHT

The committee's secretariat and accompanying reporters were billeted in a hotel in Sofar, near here, where the committee was expected to rceive the first Arab representatives. The committee's entrance into Lebanon, the only predominantly Christian Arab country in the Middle East, was received quietly. Small groups along the highway clapped as the convoy passed, shouting: "Hurrah United Nations. Hurrah Americans."

Egyptian Premier on Way Here

CAIRO, Egypt, July 20 (AP)—Prime Minister Mahmoud Fhahmy Nokrashi Pasha departed by plane tonight for the United States, where he will lead the Egyptian delegation presenting a complaint against Britain to the United Nations Security Council. Approximately 2,000 Egyptians saw him off. Gathered at the airfield, they chanted "One Nile—one people—one King!" to indicate their support of demands that the Sudan be joined with Egypt under the Egyptian Crown.

Egypt to Seek U. S. Weapons

CAIRO, July 20 (AP).—Lewa Ahmed Attia Pasha, Minister of National Defense, told reporters today he had "asked the Prime Minister (Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha) to try and obtain weapons and equipment for the Egyptian Army from America during his visit to the United States to present Egypt's case to Security Council."

CONGRESS DRAFTS PLANS FOR SURVEY OF FOREIGN NEEDS

JUL 1947

Independent Studies Sought on Fight to Halt Spread of Communism.

MARSHALL FACES QUIZ

Will Appear Today at Closed Session of House Foreign Affairs Committee.

NIGHT

WASHINGTON, July 20 — (AP) Independent congressional surveys of what the United States can and should do to help the recovery of friendly powers while bucking the spread of Communism abroad are due to be ordered this week. The action is scheduled after Secretary of State Marshall reviews once again the dynamite-laden foreign policy situation.

Definite assurance of the studies came from high-ranking Republican leaders, reflecting legislative concern over the situation in Greece and the widening rift between Russia and the western world.

Marshall to Be Quizzed

Marshall will appear before the House Foreign Affairs committee tomorrow in a closed door session to present—as he did while army chief of staff during the war—an up-to-date evaluation of the foreign policy problems, calculated risks and dangers ahead.

Members of the committee said privately that they would ask him for the administration's estimate—even if it is necessarily a "rough" estimate before conclusion of the European recovery conference—on the cost and duration of the foreign aid program.

Rep. Mundt (R.-S. D.), a committee member, told a reporter he would ask Marshall pointblank whether he favors a resolution, jointly introduced by a number of lawmakers in both the House and senate, calling upon President Truman to convene a world conference to make the United Nations more effective.

"It's obvious that some basic changes have become necessary," said Mundt. "A nod of approval from Marshall and Congress would rush the resolution to passage before adjournment. Otherwise, it will have to lie over until Congress reconvenes when the situation is likely to be worse."

He said that Marshall would be asked whether the administration, in using American dollars to implement any coordinated plan for European economic recovery, would insist upon "continuing terms and conditions" as a prerequisite to the aid.

Mundt Raises Issues

Mundt said he wanted to make sure that self-help cooperation between the participating countries is not based upon "life or good behavior just so long as American dollars hold out," and said he would inquire about the possibility of establishing a permanent European customs union, a federation of state, or a United States of Europe.

In discussing the proposed world conference, Mundt declared that the inadequacies of the UN at present have been underscored by failure to reach agreement on control of atomic energy, lack of progress in creating a world police organization, and continued strife in various parts of the world.

"Here we are," he said, "three years after the war, and we find ourself unable to stop a little family brawl in Greece."

The House will act next week on measures giving two groups power to undertake global surveys of foreign policy—one a special 19-member committee, the other regular foreign affairs committee.

Rep. Herter (R.-Mass.), who served under former President Herbert Hoover in post-World War I relief work, is expected to head the special committee.

POLES OPPOSE REICH PLANS

Envoys Present Arguments Against Production Rise

NIGHT

Washington, July 20 (AP)—Poland, which refused to take part in the Paris talks on the Marshall plan, is attempting to persuade the participating powers individually that no stable peace can be expected if German industry is revived.

Poland's Ambassador here, Jozef Winiewicz, said in an interview today that Poland's diplomatic corps is approaching the various governments to protest any plan which would either give priority to German needs over World War II Allies or give Germany the chance to become again the industrial giant of Europe.

Recalls First War Era

Winiewicz said his Government "feels great alarm that Germany may be helped to modernize her factories at the expense of her neighbors." He recalled that this happened after World War I with the help of American credits.

Since the occupation German industry has been limited through a Big Four agreement which either forbids or severely limits those sections of industry which could be useful in war. Now, at the Paris talks, it has been suggested that no western Europe reconstruction can be considered without the inclusion of western German industry.

France also is eyeing the German situation worriedly. Ambassador Henri Bonnet said Friday that any British-American decision now to revive German industry might "greatly endanger" Europe's efforts to put into effect the Marshall plan for European recovery on a self-help basis.

Favors Booming Coal

Bonnet asserted after a State Department visit that France favors booming coal production in Germany's Ruhr, "but not for using it in Germany to make German steel."

Winiewicz said he "doesn't see" that the recent flurry of trade pacts signed among middle and eastern European nations can lead to the "pan Slav economic alliance" which European rumors have foreseen.

But he said he wonders if the Marshal plan could lead western European nations to "go overseas" for the products they used to buy in eastern Europe. He said no European reconstruction program can work that diminishes or closes off the old east-west exchange of goods.

Bauxite As Example

He asked, for instance, how French factories can get along without bauxite from Yugoslavia and Hungary. He said importing coal from overseas could be much more costly than buying it from Polish mines. And, in the long run, when middle European agriculture is back to an export basis, he said he wonders whether the western Europeans will have to buy much of their food from overseas.

He reiterated Poland's determination to equalize its trade relations with the East and West, and pointed out that Polish coal is now going to Finland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark and France, in return for a variety of products, from p efabricated houses to horses and catti

The Swedish-Polish agreement calls for an exchange of $111,000,000 worth of goods in the next four years.

Poland is in the unique position, among the Russian orbit nations, of having a commodity which is greatly needed everywhere: coal. Together with Czechoslovakia, Poland is now dealing with more western Europe than any of the other Russian satellites.

Extended Occupation Of Hungary Foreseen

Washington, July 20 (AP)—H. F. Arthur Schoenfeld, former United States Minister to Hungary, said today the Russians may occupy that country throughout 1947 or longer.

NIGHT

Schoenfeld observed that the treaty calling for withdrawal of occupation forces within 90 days has been ratified here, in London and in Hungary, but Moscow has announced that Soviet approval must wait until next September.

The retired diplomat recalled in a broadcast the "flat refusal on the part of the Sovet Union" when this Government sought to enlist co-operation in a program of rehabilitation for Hungarian economy.

Backers Fighting For Refugee Bill

Washington, July 20 (AP)—Supporters of the bill to admit 400,000 displaced European persons to the United States kept up their fight today, in the face of a lessening in their already slight chances.

Dean Earl G. Harrison of the University of Pennsylvania law school, former commissioner of immigration and naturalization, said in a statement:

"Crying For Action"

"It is a problem crying for action. If we are going to co-operate with other nations, if we are going to do our share to keep peace in the world, we must take affirmative steps to help settle the problems of the war refugees."

Harrison's statement was presented for the files of a House judiciary subcommittee which has been holding hearings on the admission bill written by Representative Stratton (R., Ill.).

However, after a White House meeting last Monday, Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) said it had been mutually agreed that the legislative situation, with Congress due to adjourn Saturday, makes it impossible to enact the bill this session.

Predicts Persecution

Harrison's statement said that "persecution awaits any DP's forced to return to homelands now ruled by Communist-dominated Government."

He argued from his background as immigration commissioner that "throughout our history, additions to our populations have produced new jobs, new consumers, and new forms of industrial expansion."

U. S. TAKES OVER TRUSTEESHIP OF FORMER JAP ISLES

NIGHT

WASHINGTON, July 10—(AP) The United States made history Saturday by taking over administration, under a United Nations trusteeship, of the centeral Pacific islands captured from Japan.

President Truman signed legislation putting into immediate effect the trusteeship agreement covering the Marianas, Marshalls and Carolines. He named Admiral Louis E. Denfeld U. S. high commissioner to the trust territory.

Denfeld, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, will serve as administrator under an executive order terminating military government in the islands and seting up an interim civil administration under the Navy pending enactment of a permanent organic law.

The President in a statement said suggestions for such a law will be presented to Congress next year. He asked the State department to draw up a permanent plan transferring administration to a civilian agency of the government "at the earliest practicable date."

The United States officially took over the island administration yesterday, but announcement of the President's signature of the enabling act and his executive order was not made until today.

This, for the first time in its history this country becomes a trusteeship power.

Mrs. Roosevelt for Europe Aid

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today wired Washington officials of Americans for Democratic Action that she concurred in its proposal that $5,000,000,000 be granted the Export-Import Bank for loans so that the Marshall Plan for European self-aid can be set in motion. She sent a telegram from Campobello, N. B.

ELBERT THOMAS IS OPTIMISTIC ABOUT SOVIET

JUL 1947

Senator Counsels That 'We Appreciate Russia's Problem A Bit'

Washington, July 20 (AP)—Senator Elbert Thomas (D., Utah) today told Americans not to be "discouraged" about Russia and said "we are making a proper approach" in dealing with that country.

"You can't force Russia any more than Russia can force us," the Senator asserted. "If it is going to be a matter of force and propaganda, we both lose."

Thomas, just back from Europe where he attended international labor conferences, counseled that "we appreciate Russia's problem a bit, instead of thinking about the fact that she is always out of harmony." He said that when the Russian people get "true education, things will come out of Russia all right."

NIGHT

Russia's 135 Languages

Education in Russia presents problems that we do not have, Thomas said. He noted that an elementary textbook written for all Soviet elementary pupils would have to be in 135 different languages.

We should realize "how new the Russian Revolution is," and remember for example the spirit of the world toward us 25 years after our Revolution, he said.

At that time, Thomas noted, "we had a concert of Europe organized against us, against democracy and against popular sovereignty."

"Think of these things, and you are not going to be discouraged," Thomas said.

World Accepting U.S. Ideas

The world is "accepting these ideas and ideals" of the American people, Thomas asserted, "and Europe and Asia cannot be saved in any other way."

Thomas said the idea has been put across, "as far as dependent territories are concerned," that governments exist not for their own benefit but for the benefit of the people.

"The American Revolution has not reached its culmination in any sense at all," the Senator declared. "We have hardly pierced Asia with that idea, but look what had happened in Japan. See that great constitution which the Japanese are now attempting to live under. . . .

"They have an ideal to work to, and the world is going to see the greatest revolution in the history of man; the change of Asia.

"It is coming, and if it comes under American auspices with American ideals . . . then the world will see the way out."

"Regrettable" To Kilgore

In another speech, Senator Kilgore (D., W.Va.) asserted it is "regrettable that Russia has turned down" the Marshall plan for European economic recovery.

Kilgore noted that Russia had a right to refuse to participate in the European conferences mapping a rehabilitation program at Marshall's suggestion, but he added:

"Any country taking such action must accept the grave responsibilities that go with such a position, and the possibility of being regarded as an obstructionist to the plan of European reconstruction and peace."

Marshall Plan As Investment

Kilgore declared that success of the Marshall plan "should prove a sound investment rather than an endless drain of American dollars into Europe."

He counseled that "the United States can win the admiration of the world by supporting the Marshall plan of European self-help plus United States financial aid.

"If the United States adopts an indifferent attitude toward the ill, hungry nations, we may awaken one day in the not-too-distant future to find the whole world against us," Kilgore said.

Thomas, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, spoke off-the-cuff in a radio interview. Kilgore's address was broadcast by West Virginia stations.

Debate On Marshall Plan

In a radio debate, Representative Boggs (D., La.) said Russia made "the greatest mistake of her life when she refused to become a part of the Marshall plan."

But Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) replied that Russia would not have refused "if we had proceeded through the United Nations, and the European Economic Commission which functions under the United Nations."

"I am for the Marshall plan," Pepper went on, "but this invitation was not issued by the United States. It was issued by Bevin of Britain and Bidault of France."

Boggs said Russia should realize she has more to gain than lose by being part of the economic unit of Europe.

Lubin's Argument

Isadore Lubin, United States representative of the United Nations Economic and Employment Commission, said that an economic union "need not in any way interfere with the political and cultural integrity of any European country." Its immediate work, he said, would be integration of transportation and electric power systems and eliminating "artificial barriers" that prevent free movement of goods.

The three discussed whether there should be a United States of Europe. Pepper said this would "simply make permanent the division that now exists."

"Working through the United Nations is the best way to promote the peace of the world," the Senator said.

Pepper observed that "there is a new balance of power in Europe, and the strongest power is the Soviet Union."

U. S. IS UNSWAYED BY RED UN THREAT

May Push Stronger Charges if Soviet Uses Veto in Balkans Case.

HAUCK

LAKE SUCCESS, July 20—(AP) Stronger charges aimed at three Soviet satellites may be presented to the United Nations Security Council if Russia kills the present Greek complaint with a veto, an authoritative source said today.

This source, declining to permit identification, said the United States would refuse to be swayed by Russian veto threats in the Balkans case, due to come to a vote in the council late this week. This confirmed previous assertions that the American delegation would not waterdown its demands in efforts to persuade Russia merely to abstain.

The United States thus would stand firm for a semi-permanent border commission of 11 nations and allow Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to veto if he chooses.

The next step then probably would be filing expanded and tougher charges covering the reported invasion of Greece from Albania and other recent border incidents. Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria might be directly accused of fomenting frontier disturbances, in such a case.

NIGHT

Whether Greece or some other nation would submit such a complaint still was undecided.

With general debate closed and delegates ready to begin a point by point discussion of the American resolution, Gromyko continued to turn aside all questions regarding a veto with the terse admonition: "Wait and see."

Possible Soviet Courses

On the basis of his outright rejections of the United States plan, other delegates felt he could only veto or abstain. In the case of the latter, the Soviet ace in the hole was expected to be a legal claim that the council could only recommend action and that thus the three satellites would be free to ignore any verdict setting up a border watch and giving U.N. investigators access to their frontiers.

In this connection some delegates were quick to point out that Albania and Bulgaria, as non-members of the U.N., had agreed in advance to accept any council decision.

Resumption of the council debate was set for Tuesday, and with five meetings scheduled for the week, observers felt delegates would reach a ballot soon.

The council meanwhile awaited a full report from its subsidiary investigating group which has gone to the scene of the reported invasion. The original Balkan commission—which brought in the report blaming Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria for the disturbances and thus paved the way for the American resolution—scheduled a meeting here tomorrow to discuss the latest developments.

GENEVA, SWITZERLAND, JULY 20-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS ECONOMIC COMMISSION FOR EUROPE ENDED ITS SECOND SESSION HERE YESTERDAY AFTER 10 DAYS OF DISCUSSIONS WHICH RE-EMPHASIZED THE GROWING RIFT BETWEEN EAST AND WEST, BUT, AT THE SAME TIME, ACHIEVED SOME POSITIVE RESULTS WHICH MAY DO MUCH TO FURTHER EUROPE'S SELF-HELP IN ITS ECONOMIC RECOVERY.

THE COMMISSION, COMPRISING THE 17 EUROPEAN UNITED NATIONS AND THE UNITED STATES, ESTABLISHED A NUMBER OF SPECIALIZED COMMITTEES TO CONSIDER MEANS OF SOLVING EUROPE'S POST-WAR ECONOMIC PROBLEMS.

THE DEEP-ROOTED CLEAVAGE OF OPINION BETWEEN EAST AND WEST ON THESE PROBLEMS WAS UNDERLINED BY SEVERAL OF THE COMMISSION'S DECISIONS, WHICH WERE TAKEN AGAINST SOLID OPPOSITION FROM THE "SOVIET BLOC" DELEGATIONS AND DESPITE GRIM WARNINGS OF "SERIOUS POLITICAL CONSEQUENCES".

THE CONTROVERSIAL DECISIONS, WHICH WERE SUPPORTED BY ALL THE NON-COMMUNIST DELEGATIONS, AND REPEATEDLY SPLIT THE COMMISSION, INCLUDED A RESOLUTION WHICH DESPITE VIGOROUS SOVIET OBJECTIONS LEFT THE DOOR OPEN FOR RECOMMENDATIONS BY THE COMMISSION'S NEW TRANSPORT COMMITTEE ON MATTERS AFFECTING THE INLAND WATERWAYS OF EUROPE.

THE RUSSIANS, PRESUMABLY THINKING OF THE DANUBE BASIN, WANTED TO PRECLUDE ANY POSSIBILITY OF "INTERFERENCE" BY THE COMMISSION IN AN AREA GENERALLY REGARDED AS THEIR SPHERE OF INFLUENCE.

ANOTHER RESOLUTION, BITTERLY CONTESTED BY THE SOVIET UNION AND ITS FRIENDS, AUTHORIZED DIRECT CONTACT BETWEEN THE COMMISSION'S EXECUTIVE SECRETARY, KARL GUNNAR MYRDAL OF SWEDEN, AND THE VARIOUS ZONAL OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES IN GERMANY IN ORDER TO HELP THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE NEW COMMITTEES AS FAR AS THEIR WORK CONCERNED GERMANY.

BATAVIA, JAVA, MONDAY, JULY 21-(AP)-THE INDONESIAN NEWS AGENCY REPORTED TODAY THAT DUTCH AIRCRAFT HAD BOMBED AND STRAFED INDONESIAN REPUBLICAN AIRPORTS THROUGHOUT JAVA THIS MORNING SIMULTANEOUS WITH THE LAUNCHING OF LAND OPERATIONS ON A BROAD FRONT.

THE AGENCY SAID THE AERIAL ATTACKS APPARENTLY WERE DESIGNED TO NEUTRALIZE THE REPUBLIC'S SMALL AIR FORCE OF ABOUT 40 FORMER JAPANESE PLANES, MOST OF WHICH WERE BELIEVED TO BE IN POOR CONDITION.

A166

FIRST REPORTS OF LARGE SCALE LAND FIGHTING, MEANWHILE, CAME FROM THE BANDOENG AREA, WHERE THE INDONESIAN NEWS AGENCY SAID THE DUTCH HAD LAUNCHED A HEAVY ATTACK ON PREPARED REPUBLICAN POSITIONS.

THE AGENCY SAID THE DUTCH, ATTEMPTING TO STRIKE WESTWARD TOWARD THE RICH, SUNDANESE LANDS, HAD ENCOUNTERED STIFF OPPOSITION AND HAD CALLED IN AERIAL SUPPORT.

THE DUTCH ALSO WERE REPORTED HAMMERING THE INDONESIAN POSITIONS WITH MORTAR FIRE.

THE DUTCH COMMENCED MILITARY OPERATIONS AT MIDNIGHT LAST NIGHT WITH THE SEIZURE OF KEY POINTS THROUGHOUT BATAVIA, BUT NO SOUND OF GUNFIRE WAS HEARD HERE UNTIL DAWN.

"SOME OF THE ULTIMATE PROPOSALS WHICH WERE HANDED BY THE (NETHERLANDS) COMMISSION GENERAL TO THE INDONESIAN DELEGATION ON MAY 27 WERE ACCEPTED ON PAPER AFTER PROTRACTED AND TIRESOME DISCUSSIONS.

"THE FIRST, CONCERNING THE SO-CALLED INTERIM GOVERNMENT FOR THE TRANSITION PERIOD (BEFORE COMPLETE INDEPENDENCE OF THE PROJECTED UNITED STATES OF INDONESIA IN 1949), WAS IN REALITY AN ACCELERATED AND LIBERAL IMPLEMENTATION ON THE NETHERLANDS SIDE OF ARTICLE 15 OF THE (LANGGADJATI) AGREEMENT.

"THE SECOND--TO BRING BACK FOREIGN RELATIONS FOR THAT PERIOD WITHIN CLEARLY UNDERSTOOD LIMITS OF THE AGREEMENT--WAS VIOLATED EVEN AFTER THIS ACCEPTANCE BY CONTINUED NEGOTIATIONS OF THE REPUBLICAN FOREIGN MINISTER IN THE MIDDLE EAST AND CONTINUATION IN OFFICE OF ILLEGALLY APPOINTED REPUBLICAN REPRESENTATIVES.

"THE THREE OTHERS, COVERING ECONOMIC REHABILITATION, RESTORATION OF NON-INDONESIAN PROPERTY AND INTERNAL SECURITY, HAVE TO BE CONSIDERED AS A WHOLE BECAUSE WITHOUT SUCH SECURITY REHABILITATION WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE. REJECTION BY THE REPUBLIC OF ACTUAL COOPERATION IN THIS RESPECT INVALIDATES ACCEPTANCE OF THE OTHER TWO PROPOSALS, AS IT WOULD LEAVE THE ULTIMATELY RESPONSIBLE INTERIM GOVERNMENT WITHOUT EFFECTIVE MEANS OF CONTROL.

A116

(VAN MOOK HERE WAS REFERRING APPARENTLY TO THE DUTCH DEMANDS THAT "INTERNAL SECURITY" BE GUARANTEED BY A POLICE FORCE COMPOSED OF BOTH DUTCH AND INDONESIANS. THE INDONESIANS OPPOSED THIS ON THE GROUND THAT THEY WERE FULLY CAPABLE OF MAINTAINING ORDER AND POLICING THE TERRITORY BY THEMSELVES. VAN MOOK'S STATEMENT IMPLIED A DUTCH BELIEF THAT EUROPEAN PROPERTY OWNERS COULD NOT SAFELY RETURN TO THEIR ESTATES AND FACTORIES IN JAVA AND SUMATRA WITHOUT PROTECTION OF DUTCH POLICE.)

THE INDONESIANS BOAST SOME ARTILLERY, ESPECIALLY IN THE SURABAYA REGION OF EAST JAVA, AND THEY ARE KNOWN TO HAVE SOME ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS. HOWEVER, THEIR SMALL ARMS ARE A MOTLEY COLLECTION OF JAPANESE AND BRITISH GUNS AND EXPERTS BELIEVE IT WOULD BE VIRTUALLY IMPOSSIBLE FOR THEM TO GET NEEDED SUPPLIES OF AMMUNITION, STOCKPILES OF WHICH ARE LIKELY TO HAVE DEGENERATED FROM TROPICAL WEATHER.

QUALIFIED SOURCES BELIEVE THE DUTCH CAPABLE OF STRIKING THROUGH TO ANY OBJECTIVE IN THE ISLANDS IN A MATTER OF DAYS, BUT THEY PREDICT SERIOUS DIFFICULTY IN MAINTAINING LINES OF COMMUNICATION AFTERWARDS. THE BIG QUESTION IS WHETHER THE INDONESIANS COULD MAINTAIN GUERRILLA ACTION OVER A LONG PERIOD.

THE DUTCH AUTHORITIES BELIEVE THE INDONESIAN PEOPLE WOULD NOT SUPPORT SUCH GUERRILLA ACTION AND WOULD BE GLAD TO SEE THE DUTCH RETURN TO THE INTERIOR. IF THAT HOPE PROVED OPTIMISTIC, THE DUTCH WOULD FACE EXHAUSTIVE HARASSING ACTION WHICH THEY PROBABLY WOULD BE UNABLE ECONOMICALLY TO MAINTAIN FOR A LONG PERIOD.

BATAVIA, JAVA, MONDAY, JULY 21-(AP)-AN INDONESIAN WHO ESCAPED THEIR NOTICE REPORTED TODAY THAT DUTCH TROOPS SURROUNDED HIS KAMPONG (CLUSTER OF NATIVE DWELLINGS) LAST NIGHT AND TOOK AWAY VIRTUALLY EVERY ABLE BODIED MAN AT THE START OF MILITARY OPERATIONS AGAINST THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC.

A DUTCH SOURCE SAID MEN ROUNDED UP IN THE MIDNIGHT RAID THE INDONESIAN REPORTED WOULD UNDERGO SECURITY SCREENING AND THAT A MAJORITY WOULD BE RELEASED LATER.

THE INDONESIAN INFORMANT WAS UNABLE TO SAY WHETHER SIMILAR RAIDS HAD BEEN MADE ON OTHER KAMPONGS, BUT ACTING GOVERNOR-GENERAL HUBERTUS VAN MOOK HAD ANNOUNCED EARLIER THAT HUNDREDS OF INDONESIANS HAD BEEN TAKEN INTO CUSTODY.

THE INDONESIAN SAID THE TROOPS WHO CAME TO HIS KAMPONG SHOT AT TWO MEN WHO ATTEMPTED TO FLEE, BUT HE HAD NOT LEARNED WHETHER THEY WERE HIT.

DOZENS OF NATIVE WOMEN WALKED THROUGH A TORRENTIAL RAIN THIS MORNING TO ASK THE RELEASE OF THEIR HUSBANDS. THEY RETURNED IN PATHETIC GROKPS, SAYING THE MEN WERE HELD AT POLICE STATIONS.

A NUMBER OF INDONESIANS IN THE EMPLOY OF THE DUTCH INTELLIGENCE SERVICE FILTERED INTO BATAVIA BEFORE DAWN. THEY COULD BE DISTINGUISHED READILY BY ORANGE ARM BANDS. A DUTCH OFFICER SAID THEY HAD BEEN GIVEN PASSES PERMITTING THEM TO MOVE FREELY INSIDE DUTCH LINES.

HE SAID MANY MEMBERS OF THE SUNDANESE PEOPLE'S PARTY, A PRO-DUTCH SEPARATIST MOVEMENT WHICH SEEKS CREATION OF A SEPARATE STATE OF WEST SUNDA IN JAVA, ALSO ARE WORKING WITH THE DUTCH.

THE EXISTENCE OF A FIFTH COLUMN DIRECTED BY THE DUTCH INSIDE REPUBLIC TERRITORY HAS LONG BEEN KNOWN TO INDONESIAN REPUBLICAN OFFICIALS.

SN1OPED JUL 1947

INDONESIAN BACKGROUND (900)

BATAVIA, MONDAY, JULY 21-(AP)-WHEN THE NETHERLANDS GOVERNMENT OF THE EAST INDIES BEGAN MILITARY OPERATIONS AGAINST THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA EARLY TODAY, THEY SNAPPED OFF NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE INSURGENT NATIVE NATIONALIST REGIME WHICH HAVE BEEN IN PROGRESS FOR ALMOST TWO YEARS.

SINCE THE RETURN OF DUTCH ADMINISTRATORS, ACCOMPANIED BY BRITISH FORCES OF THE SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND, TO JAVA IN 1945, THERE HAVE BEEN REPEATED EFFORTS TO SETTLE THE INDONESIAN PROBLEM WITHOUT A DUTCH-INDONESIAN WAR.

THE REPUBLICAN LEADERS DEALT FIRST WITH BRITISH MILITARY AUTHORITIES, THEN WITH THE DUTCH AND BRITISH JOINTLY, THEN WITH THE DUTCH WITH THE BRITISH ACTING AS MEDIATORS AND FINALLY DIRECTLY WITH THE DUTCH.

THESE PROTRACTED NEGOTIATIONS BROUGHT AGREEMENT ON A PLAN FOR A UNITED STATES OF INDONESIA TO BECOME COMPLETELY INDEPENDENT IN 1949.

BUT THE CURRENT CRISIS WAS PROVOKED ON DISAGREEMENT OVER THE MANNER OF PUTTING THAT PLAN INTO EFFECT.

THROUGHOUT THE NEGOTIATIONS, THERE HAVE BEEN SPORADIC OUTBREAKS OF FIGHTING, BUT NEVER BEFORE HAVE THE DUTCH EMBARKED ON AN OVER-ALL AGRESSIVE CAMPAIGN AGAINST REPUBLICAN-HELD TERRITORY FROM THE SCATTERED COASTAL REGIONS AND ISOLATED INTERIOR BASES WHICH WERE WON FROM THE INDONESIANS BEFORE THE WITHDRAWAL OF THE BRITISH-INDIAN FORCES.

THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA WAS PROCLAIMED IN AUGUST, 1945, SHORTLY AFTER THE JAPANESE SURRENDER AND BEFORE BRITISH FORCES REACHED THE EAST INDIES TO DISARM THE JAPANESE. ITS GOVERNMENT IS HEADED BY PRESIDENT SOEKARNO, A NATIONALIST LEADER FOR MANY YEARS WHO HAD BEEN IMPRISONED AND EXILED BY THE DUTCH COLONIAL ADMINISTRATION BUT WHO RETURNED TO LEADERSHIP DURING THE JAPANESE OCCUPATION.

THE REPUBLIC DECLARED ITS INTENTION OF PREVENTING THE RETURN OF DUTCH RULE TO THE INDIES BUT FOUND ITSELF CONFRONTING BRITISH INSTEAD OF DUTCH AUTHORITY AT THE END OF THE WAR.

A155

THERE WERE NO DUTCH FORCES AVAILABLE FOR REOCCUPATION OF THE INDIES AND THE TASK WAS ASSIGNED TO THE BRITISH, USING UNITS OF THE INDIAN ARMY. THE BRITISH MILITARY ANNOUNCED THEIR ONLY AIM WAS THE ROUNDING UP, DISARMING AND REPATRIATION OF THE JAPANESE, BUT THEIR PENETRATION OF THE ISLANDS WAS BITTERLY RESISTED BY THE INDONESIANS AND BITTER FIGHTING RAGED AT SURABAYA, EAST JAVANESE PORT.

FOR ALMOST TWO YEARS THE BRITISH AND, SUBSEQUENTLY DUTCH FORCES, HAVE BEEN CONFINED TO MERE FOOTHOLDS IN NORTHERN AND EASTERN JAVA AND A FEW COASTAL POINTS OF SUMATRA.

THE REMOVAL OF JAPANESE FROM THE OTHER ISLANDS OF THE INDIES, BALI, MADOERA, THE CELIBES, ETC., WAS DELAYED BY THE RESISTANCE ON JAVA AND SUMATRA, ALTHOUGH THE NATIVES OF THE OTHER ISLANDS WERE NOT SO MILITANT IN THEIR REJECTION OF A REIMPOSED DUTCH RULE.

DUTCH ACCUSATIONS THAT SOEKARNO AND OTHER MEMBERS OF HIS FIRST CABINET HAD COLLABORATED WITH THE JAPANESE WERE COUNTERED BY REORGANIZATION OF THE REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT WITH SUTAN SJAHRIR, ANOTHER NATIONALIST LEADER WHO WAS WIDELY KNOWN AS AN OPPONENT OF JAPANESE RULE, AS PRIME MINISTER AND SEVERAL OTHER MINISTERS KNOWN AS MODERATES WILLING TO NEGOTIATE A SETTLEMENT WITH THE DUTCH.

THIS GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN THE DE FACTO AUTHORITY OVER MOST OF JAVA AND SUMATRA SINCE THE WINTER OF 1945, WITH JOGJAKARTA, INTERIOR CITY AND ANCIENT CAPITAL, AS ITS SEAT OF AUTHORITY.

WITH BRITISH DIPLOMATS, FIRST SIR ARCHIBALD CLARK-KERR (NOW LORD INVERCHAPEL, AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES) AND THEN LORD KILLEARN, SPECIAL COMMISSIONER TO SOUTHEAST ASIA, ACTING AS MEDIATORS, SJAHRIR CONDUCTED LENGTHY NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE DUTCH, HEADED BY ACTING DUTCH GOVERNOR-GENERAL HUBERTUS VAN MOOK, WHICH CULMINATED IN THE SIGNING OF THE LANGGADJATI (CHERIBON) AGREEMENT.

THIS AGREEMENT DESIGNATED THE ISLANDS OF JAVA, SUMATRA AND MADOERA AS THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA, THE ISLANDS EAST OF JAVA AND SOUTH OF BORNEO AS THE STATE OF EAST INDONESIA AND DESIGNATED WEST BORNEO AS A THIRD STATE. THESE EVENTUALLY WERE TO BE JOINED IN THE UNITED STATES OF INDONESIA, AN INDEPENDENT STATE.

THROUGHOUT THE NEGOTIATIONS THERE WERE INSTANCES OF ARMED CLASHES AND, FOR MANY MONTHS, THE INDONESIANS REFUSED TO RELEASE OR PERMIT THE BRITISH AND DUTCH TO CONTACT JAPANESE PERSONNEL AND DUTCH CIVILIANS INTERNED DURING THE WAR WHO REMAINED IN THE INTERIOR OF JAVA AND SUMATRA.

30.24-11037

UNDER SPECIAL TRUCE ARRANGEMENTS WITH THE REPUBLIC, THE JAPANESE AND INTERNEES FINALLY WERE EVACUATED AND THE BRITISH FORCES RETIRED FROM THE INDIES.

MEANWHILE, THE DUTCH HAD BEEN POURING MORE AND MORE OF THEIR OWN FORCES, MEN RECRUITED IN THE NETHERLANDS AND PRE-WAR SERVICEMEN RELEASED FROM JAPANESE CAMPS IN SIAM AND MALAYA, INTO THE ISLANDS. IT IS ESTIMATED, HOWEVER, THAT THE REPUBLIC STILL HAS TWICE AS MANY ARMED TROOPS AS THE DUTCH, ALTHOUGH THEY ARE POORLY EQUIPPED AND THE QUANTITY AND QUALITY OF THEIR SUPPLIES IS INFERIOR TO THAT OF THE DUTCH. DUTCH TROOPS ARE EQUIPPED AND ARMED LARGELY WITH U.S. LEND LEASE MATERIAL AND SURPLUS MATERIAL PURCHASES FROM THE AMERICAN FORCES AT THE END OF THE WAR.

THROUGHOUT THE NEGOTIATIONS, BOTH SJAHRIR AND VAN MOOK JUL 1947 NOT ONLY CONFRONTED EACH OTHER, BUT ALSO EACH HAD TO DEAL WITH EXTREMISTS ON HIS OWN SIDE WHO DEMANDED THAT THE ISSUE BE FOUGHT OUT.

AFTER THE SIGNING OF THE LANGGADJATI AGREEMENT, BISPUTES AROSE IMMEDIATELY AS TO ITS DETAILS AND THE METHODS OF PUTTING IT IN FORCE.

IN THE PAST SEVERAL MONTHS, THESE DISPUTES LED TO A SERIES OF CRISES AND BROUGHT THE RESIGNATION OF SJAHRIR. HE WAS SUCCEEDED BY AMIR SJARIFOEDIN, WHO HAD BEEN HIS CLOSE ASSOCIATE IN THE CABINET AND CONSIDERED A LEADER OF THE MODERATES.

FOR ALMOST SIX YEARS THE IMMENSELY WEALTHY INDIES HAVE BEEN LARGELY NON-PRODUCTIVE AND THE DUTCH HAVE REALIZED LITTLE OF THEIR ESSENTIAL INTEREST IN THE ISLANDS--THE RUBBER, OIL, QUININE, SPICES, RICE, TOBACCO, COPRA, SUGAR AND COUNTLESS OTHER PRODUCTS OF WHICH THE INDIES ARE THE SOURCE.

THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN HAVE TAKEN LIVELY INTEREST IN THE INDONESIAN-DUTCH DISPUTE BECAUSE OF THE IMPORTANCE OF THE ISLANDS' COMMERCE TO WORLD ECONOMY AND HAVE ENDEAVORED--THE UNITED STATES LESS DIRECTLY THAN BRITAIN--TO BRING A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT IN ORDER THAT THE ECONOMIC REHABILITATION OF THE INDIES MIGHT BE STARTED.

(ADVANCE)-WASHINGTON, JULY 20-(AP)-THREE B-29 SUPERFORTRESSES WITH SPECIAL BOMB BAYS TO CARRY THE GIANT MISSILES HAVE ARRIVED IN GERMANY TO BEGIN TESTS WITH 25,000-POUND, DEEP-PENETRATION BOMBS ON A FORMER "BOMB-PROOF" SUBMARINE FACTORY.

ARRIVAL OF THE B-29S AT GIEBELSTADT, THE UNITED STATES ARMY AIR FORCES VERY HEAVY BOMBER BASE IN GERMANY, WAS ANNOUNCED TONIGHT BY THE AAF WHICH SAID THE EXPERIMENTS, EXPECTED TO COVER AT LEAST THREE MONTHS, WOULD BE CONDUCTED JOINTLY WITH BRITAIN'S ROYAL AIR FORCE.

THE RESULTS OF THESE JOINT EXPERIMENTS BY THE AIR FORCES OF THE TWO FRIENDLY WORLD POWERS ARE EXPECTED TO SHOW:

1--THE TYPE OF BOMB BEST SUITED FOR BORING INTO AND EXPLODING IN DEEP UNDERGROUND PLANTS.

2--THE POINTS OF WEAKNESS OR STRENGTH IN THE UNDERGROUND THEORY OF STATIC DEFENSE.

THE TARGET: THE SUBMARINE ASSEMBLY FACTORY AT FARGE, NEAR BREMEN, 300 MILES FROM THE TAKEOFF POINT AT GIEBELSTADT.

THE BOMBS: AMERICAN--"AMAZON" AND "SAMOSON," EACH 25,000-POUNDERS, DEVELOPED SINCE THE END OF THE WAR AND NOW BEING SPECIALLY PRODUCED FOR THE FORTHCOMING TEST. BRITISH--NEW VERSIONS OF THE "TALL BOY" DEEP PENETRATION BOMB USED BY THE RAF ON GERMAN TARGETS DURING THE WAR. BECAUSE OF THE PROXIMITY OF VILLAGES AND DWELLINGS, NO HIGH EXPLOSIVES WILL BE USED IN THE EXPERIMENTS. THE AAF WILL DECIDE, FROM ITS TEST, WHICH OF THE TWO BOMBS IS BEST AND THEN USE THAT AS A STANDARD PRODUCTION BOMB THEREAFTER. THE AAF WILL DROP 30 BOMBS, THE RAF 13.

THE AAF ANNOUNCEMENT SAID ONLY THAT THE THREE B-29S REQUIRED "SPECIAL MODIFICATION OF THEIR BOMB BAYS IN ORDER TO CARRY THE LONG AMAZON AND SAMSON BOMBS." IT WAS LEARNED, HOWEVER, THAT IN THE LATTER MONTHS OF THE WAR THE AAF TOOK AT LEAST ONE B-29 TO EGLIN FIELD,FLA., WHERE THE FORWARD AND AFTER BOMB BAYS WERE JOINED BY CUTTING OUT THE CENTER PARTITION AND SPAN, THUS PROVIDING A BAY CAPABLE OF HANDLING ENORMOUS BOMBS. SUBSEQUENTLY ONE OR TWO OTHER SUPERFORTRESSES WERE CHANGED IN THE SAME MANNER, SO THAT THE AAF PRESUMABLY NOW HAS ABOUT A HALF DOZEN OF THESE SPECIALLY EQUIPPED BOMBERS AVAILABLE.

A117WX

THE B-29S AND THE PICKED CREW FOR THE "OPERATION HARKEN" TEST IN GERMANY COME FROM THE STRATEGIC AIR COMMAND. BECAUSE OF THE HIGH ALTITUDE DROPS PLANNED FOR THE DEEP PENETRATION TESTS, PILOTS AND BOMBARDIERS OF THE SUPERFORTRESSES RECEIVED ADDITIONAL TRAINING AT THE MUROC,CALIF., AAF BASE BEFORE LEAVING FOR GERMANY. STANDARD NORDEN BOMBSIGHTS WILL BE USED.

THE TESTS ACTUALLY WILL BE A CONTINUATION OF EXPERIMENTS IN 1945 AND 1946 WHEN AAF AIRMEN, USING BOTH B-29S AND B-17S, DROPPED LIVE BOMBS ON THE RECENTLY DEMOLISHED GERMAN BASE OF HELIGOLAND AND NON-EXPLOSIVE BOMBS ON THE FARGE INSTALLATIONS.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THE FARGE SUBMARINE PLANT HAS REINFORCED CONCRETE WALLS AND CEILINGS 24 FEET THICK. (OTHER INFORMATION SHOWS THE FARGE PLANT IS AN ABOVE-GROUND STRUCTURE WHICH, AS ORIGINALLY BUILT BY THE GERMANS, HAD A ROOF THICKNESS OF 14 FEET, NINE INCHES, WITH PLANS TO INCREASE THE THICKNESS TO 23 FEET AND LATER TO 32 FEET, NINE INCHES IF THE INTENSITY OF ALLIED AIR ATTACK REQUIRED.)

THE THREE BOEING BOMBERS JUST ARRIVED IN GERMANY ARE IN ADDITION TO A GROUP OF ALMOST 30 B-29S NOW OPERATING IN EUROPE UNDER A ROTATIONAL TRAINING PROGRAM. THE GROUP IS THE SECOND SIZEABLE UNIT OF B-29S TO VISIT THE AMERICAN ZONE OF GERMANY FOR OVERSEAS TRAINING EXPERIENCE IN THE LAST TWO MONTHS.

AAF OFFICIALS SAID IN THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT EXPERIMENTS ON THE FARGE FACTORY "WILL EVALUATE THE EFFECTIVENESS OF THE NEWLY DESIGNED BOMBS AGAINST UNDERGROUND, REINFORCED TARGETS" AND THEY ADDED THAT "WITH THE INTRODUCTION OF ATOMIC WARFARE IN WORLD WAR II, IT IS LOGICAL THAT THE NEED FOR THESE SPECIALIZED TYPES OF BOMBS MAY BE EVEN GREATER FOR FUTURE DEFENSE."

NEW YORK, JULY 20-(AP)-AN INDIANA PUBLISHER AND HIS WIFE, TRAVELING AS A REPORTORIAL TEAM, LEAVE HERE TUESDAY ON THE FIRST LEG OF A WORLD TOUR DURING WHICH THEY HOPE TO FIND OUT JUST WHAT AVERAGE PEOPLE IN MANY NATIONS THINK OF THEIR COUNTERPARTS ON THE FARMS AND IN THE COMMUNITIES OF THE UNITED STATES.

THE HUSBAND-WIFE TEAM ARE EUGENE C. PULLIAM, PUBLISHER OF THE INDIANAPOLIS STAR AND SEVEN OTHER DAILY NEWSPAPERS IN INDIANA AND ARIZONA, AND HIS WIFE, NINA.

THEY PLAN TO GO FIRST TO ENGLAND BY PLANE THEN MOVE ON TO EUROPE, THE NEAR EAST, AFRICA AND SOUTH AMERICA, VISITING 28 COUNTRIES BEFORE RETURNING OCT. 5. THE SECOND LEG OF THE TRIP, TO BEGIN NOV. 17, WILL TAKE THEM TO CHINA, JAPAN AND THE PHILIPPINES.

PULLIAM AND HIS WIFE HOPE TO GET ANSWERS TO SOME QUESTIONS THEY BELIEVE HAVE NOT BEEN FULLY DEVELOPED. FOR INSTANCE:

"WHAT DO THEY THINK OF AMERICA AND EXPECT OF AMERICA FOR THE NEXT DECADE?"

IN AN INTERVIEW TODAY AT THEIR HOTEL SUITE, THE COUPLE EXPLAINED THE PURPOSE OF THEIR TRIP, SAYING, "MAYBE WE WON'T GET THE ANSWERS--BUT WE'RE GOING TO DO SOME DIGGING."

Dutch Army Strikes Java, Sumatra Cities In Indonesian 'War'

REPUBLIC'S HEAD APPEALS TO UN TO HALT ATTACK

Calls Upon World to Force Action to End Spreading Hostilities.

CENSORSHIP STRICT

No Indication of Extent of Casualties; Planes Join in Assaults.

BATAVIA, Java, Tuesday, July 22—(AP) Dutch ground forces struck against the Indonesian army and guerrilla forces at several undisclosed points on Java and Sumatra today as the second day of Dutch "police" action opened under weather conditions ideal for aircraft and armored units.

Dutch military planes, singly and in pairs, began flying from Batavia toward the forward areas shortly after dawn.

Yesterday, Netherlands planes blasted Indonesian airfields on Java and Sumatra, but a tropical deluge of rain hampered ground and armored activities and, to an extent, air operations.

Attack at Several Points

The Netherlands army command continued to withhold official information as to where contact between the opposing forces was established, but Indonesian republic reports indicated the Dutch were attacking in the Bandoeng, Buitenzorg, Semarang and Soerabaja areas of Java.

Although there has been no indication of the extent of the casualties suffered by either side since the hostilities began shortly before midnight Sunday, a semi-official Dutch dispatch from Bandoeng said five Dutch soldiers were killed and 10 wounded by Indonesian booby traps early Monday.

The Dutch, claiming their military forces were taking "police action" against the republic, urged Indonesians to lay down their arms.

Republican officials accused the Dutch of starting a full-scale "Colonial war." Indonesian troops were ordered to "counterattack" wherever they were attacked.

Capital Blacked Out

Jogjakarta, the Indonesian capital situated near the center of rich Java, was blacked out following a raid by four Dutch planes on its airport.

The Republican ministery of information at Jogjakarta said 80 Dutch soldiers had landed from the sea at Ketapang, just north of Banjoewangi, the principal rice harbor on the east Java coast. Banjoewangi is more than 500 miles from the western tip of Java.

Other Indonesian sources reported heavy land fighting underway at Bandoeng and Semarang, in western and centeral Java, respectively.

Dutch pamphlets dropped over Republican territory said the Netherlands army was advancing to guarantee terms of the Cheribon agreement, under which the independence of the United States of Indonesia was to become effective Jan. 1, 1949.

Although the Dutch imposed only a light censorship on military news, correspondents were able to obtain little detailed information from Dutch sources. The Netherlands army took over the Batavia office of the Indonesian news service Antara and ordered the agency to stop isuing news bulletins to correspondents.

Dutch officials said there would be no censorship of political news, and that Republican newspapers here would be allowed to continue to publish.

Dutch military sources said torrential downpours slowed their armor and infantry, and the first communique told only of aerial activity, adding that operations were hindered by "very bad weather."

U. S. Type Planes Used

The communique stated that the planes which had gone into action against Republican airdromes were American types. Squadrons of Mustang fighters (P-51s) made the initial attacks, the announcement said, and these were followed by Mitchell reconnaissance bombers (B-25s).

President Soekarno, in a radio appeal from the Indonesian capital of Jogjakarta, urged the nations of the world to bring the Indonesian question before the United Nations Security Council.

Soekarno said "I am convinced that justice is on our side and we are prepared to put the question before the UN, which was formed to secure peace for the world."

"We shall win; we must win," he added. "This attack by the Dutch means a colonial war."

Gen. Soedirman, commander-in-chief of the Indonesian army, announced over the radio that Dutch infantrymen, supported by planes, had launched a heavy attack from the important city of Bandoeng, in western Java, toward the rich, rice paddies of the Sundanese.

He declared heavy fighting was underway near Dutch-held Semarang, the most important city in central Java, and that the Dutch were attacking "at random" not only along front lines "but also in the interior"—a possible indication of air-borne operations.

The Jogjakarta radio said Indonesian underground elements had arisen within Semarang, and heavy fighting was underway at Gunung Pati, 10 miles from that city.

Dutch artillery has gone into action south of Bandoeng, the Republican radio declared, and Dutch planes launched a rocket attack on Tasik Malaya in western Java.

Other Dutch aircraft, besides blasting Indonesian fields, strafed a railway train on the Soerakarta-Sraden line, strafed the east Java coastal town of Banjoewangi, and bombed Madoen, the radio added.

An informant who had just returned to Batavia from Buitenzorg, 30 miles south of here, said the Dutch were encountering stiff opposition and had called in air support to strafe Indonesian positions.

Aircraft Set Afire

The Dutch, who seized all Republican facilities in Batavia yesterday following a breakdown in negotiations for Indonesian independence, asserted the air attacks were necessary to immobilize Indonesian fighter planes.

Authoritative sources estimated the Indonesian air force at about 40 old Japanese planes, many in poor repair.

The Dutch communiqué said Japanese-type aircraft were set afire and hangars damaged at Kalidjati, and gasoline tanks and workshops destroyed at Parigi airfield near Serang and at Taskimalaya airfield.

"During all these actions, machine guns, rockets and some light bombs were used," the communiqué continued. ". . . There was little ground activity to be observed as, at the approach of our aircraft, the ground forces had evidently departed in good time.

Flights Over Sumatra

"Reconnaissance flights are reported to have been carried out in Sumatra by Mitchell reconnaissance aircraft. . . . No news has come in yet of the operations against other airfields."

Indonesian sources said the Dutch planes had attacked a supply depot at Magelang, in central Java; airports at Tjibeureum, Maospati, Panasan, Jogjakarta, Kedoeng and Banteng, and the famed resort center of Malang in eastern Java.

There were some casualties, these sources said, and the Indonesians replied with anti-aircraft fire.

Looks To "Friends Abroad"

Amir Sjarifoeddin, Indonesian Premier, speaking on the Jogjakarta radio, urged Indonesians to stand firm against "the Dutch colonial war."

"Do not forget we have many friends abroad who will look after our struggle," he said. "It is our immediate duty to protect our freedom, so that we may be forever free."

Hubertus J. Van Mook, Dutch Acting Governor General, said in a radio address that the Dutch welcomed the assistance of all Indonesians who "are disgusted with the present situation and who realize its continuation would render impossible the creation of a really free United States of Indonesia."

Indicating the scope of Dutch operations, he said Netherlands troops would have to establish law and order in "certain parts" of both Java and Sumatra.

Calls Rejection Mistake

Van Mook said the Republican Government made a "last and irreparable" mistake when it rejected Dutch demands last week for the withdrawal of Republican forces from front lines, and for the acceptance of a Dutch plan for the joint Dutch-Indonesian policing of Republican areas.

Dutch pamphlets dropped from airplanes warned Indonesians not to resist.

"Do not leave your villages or your work," the pamphlets said.

Saekarno Seeks U.N. Aid

"Prevent all demolitions or scorched earth tactics. Whoever destroys anything will be punished without fail."

Lieut. Gen. S. B. Spoor, Dutch military commander, said in a radio

INDIES LEADER ASKS U. N. AID AS WAR BEGINS

President Soekarno Says Dutch Are Attacking by Land, Sea and Air.

URGES WORLD TO AID REPUBLIC

Netherlands Flyers Attempt to Knock Out Native Planes and Anti-aircraft Guns.

Batavia, July 21 (A. P.).—President Soekarno said by radio tonight that the Dutch were attacking his Indonesian Republic by land, air and sea. He appealed to the world to force the United Nations Security Council to take up the issue.

A Dutch communique said that Dutch warplanes had attacked Republican airfields in Java and Sumatra because Indonesian fighter planes were ready for action. The Dutch, declaring that they would not attack either the civil population or nonmilitary objectives, were attempting to immobilize harassing anti-aircraft guns at the fields and the Republican Air Force, believed to number about forty obsolescent Japanese planes.

[A dispatch from Jogjakarta said four Dutch planes bombed the outskirts of that Republican capital, starting fires and injuring a number of persons. The attack appeared to have been on the airdrome and sirens wailed for twenty-five minutes.]

The Republican radio, over which Soekarno appealed, said that Dutch artillery had opened fire south of Bandoeng, 100 miles southeast of Batavia. The report said that two Dutch planes using rockets attacked Tasik Malaya, in West Java, and that other Dutch aircraft had strafed a Soerakarta-Sraden railway train.

Indonesian broadcasts and other sources said the finely equipped Dutch Army of about 120,000 men, using mostly United States lend-lease and surplus military equipment, was striking simultaneously at numerous points.

Dr. H. J. van Mook, acting Dutch Governor General, called the skirmishing "police action."

Months Of Haggling

Lieut. Gen. Simon H. Spoor, Dutch commander, said in an order of the day that "our enemies are those elements which try to sabotage the sincere implementation of the agreements reached, to hinder the restoration of law and establishment of security for all men of good will in this country and to obstruct the rehabilitation and reconstruction of Indonesia."

The shooting came after months of haggling over the implementation of the Cheribon agreement, promising the wealthy Dutch East Indies independence under the Netherlands crown as "the United States of Indonesia."

Censorship Imposed

The Dutch closed down the Indonesian news agency Antara and started military censorship, light now but nonetheless real.

Premier Amir Sjarifoedin broadcast an appeal from his ancient, interior capital of Jogjakarta for the "whole population, men and women of all organizations, to defend our freedom and our Government against Dutch colonial war."

The Republican radio reported heavy fighting at Gunung Pati, 10 miles outside the north coast city of Semarang. Within Semarang itself, the radio said, the Republican underground had risen against the Dutch.

"In Reality, War"

General Soedirman, commander of the Indonesian Army, which is estimated at 200,000 troops believed to be poorly armed and trained, warned Republicans by the radio to beware of false reports which he said the Dutch were issuing to confuse his forces.

Mortar Fire Reported

An Associated Press report from Jogjakarta quoted Antara as saying the Dutch had attacked Bandoeng and several points to the west with mortar fire. Reports from various points said the initial Dutch attacks had been absorbed by Republican Army forces in a "quiet and disciplined manner."

The report said Republican Government leaders and generals met in special session in President Soekarno's palace a few hours after four Dutch planes appeared over Jogjakarta, apparently scouting.

The Dutch Army said in Batavia that six Republican army men attacked a mixed Dutch and Indonesian party at Padang in Sumatra and shot to death the Republican mayor, Aziz Chain, and wounded two Dutch officers sligthtly. The Army said the party had been inspecting infiltrations made by the Republican Army.

Pamphlets Dropped

The Dutch Army published pamphlets signed by Spoor and dropped by planes before advancing Dutch troops. The message said:

"The Army came in with the aim of guaranteeing the agreement reached at Langgadjati (Cheribon) between the Netherlands and the Indonesian Republican governments, guaranteeing safety and a permanent state of justice and peace. Therefore, do not run away. Do not leave your villages or your work. Prevent all demolitions or scorched-earth tactics. All that will be destroyed will be needed by you."

Soedirman was quoted as saying the Dutch were attacking in the interior as well as along the front lines, suggesting that parachute troops might be in action.

Woman Killed

Dutch control has been confined to relative footholds in northern and eastern Java and a few coastal points of the large neighboring island of Sumatra. The republicans have controlled the great bulk of the country since proclaiming the republic at the exit of the Japanese occupation forces.

The Jogjakarta radio said Dutch planes had strafed the east Java coastal town of Banjoewangi, where 4,000 tons of rice were stored awaiting shipment to India. The same report said a woman was killed in a bombing of Madoen.

Antara, before it was closed, reported heavy fighting at Buitenzorg and near Bandoeng, 30 and 100 miles southeast of Batavia. Batavia, itself, was placed under a dawn-to-dusk curfew.

Antara said Dutch columns were moving on the west Java rice fields and meeting stiff resistance.. Malang, 400 miles east of Batavia, and Mageland, in central Java, were among Indonesian places reported bombed.

"Friends Abroad"

Sjarifoedin in his broadcast said:

"We have many friends abroad who will look after our struggle. It is our immediate duty to protect our freedom and be forever free!"

The Republicans previously had asserted that a renewal of warfare in the East Indies would signal uprisings of colonial peoples throughout the East.

Harris Jackson, of the Associated Press, only non-Asiatic passenger on the last train from Batavia to Jogjakarta before hostilities were resumed, reported from the Indonesian capital that the people there were unaware that fighting had broken out.

No Sign Of Preparations

He said that no announcement had been made to the people by mid-morning and that morning newspapers carried nothing about the combat.

He reported that on the train trip, through terraced and well-cultivated fields, he saw no evidence of large-scale Republican troop concentrations or unusual military activity. The usual Sunday crowds and hawkers crowded the stations. In contrast, there was intense military activity in the Dutch capital of Batavia.

The Republican Information Ministry said Dutch planes strafed a passenger train 65 miles northeast of Jogjakarta, wounding two persons.

Steadily Reinforcing

Jackson said official circles would not confirm press reports that Vice President Mohammed Hatta was in India preparing an appeal for United Nations intervention by India and Arab League states on behalf of the republic. Hatta left five weeks ago for Sumatra.

Sjarifoedin, in his speech, asserted that the Dutch never made an effort to return occupied cities to Indonesian control, as pledged in the Cheribon accord. He said the Dutch consistently reinforced troops on the pretext of preserving law and order.

"Should it take the Dutch 130 per cent of the number of troops it took the Japanese?" he asked.

Police Force At Issue

The Premier said the main point of difference was not a cease-fire order or food blockakes, but the failure to agree on a joint Dutch-republican police force for the interim government.

He asserted that the Dutch renewed negotiations last year only because of the intervention of Lord Killearn, special commissioner to Southeast Asia. He charged that the Netherlands forced the republic to accept Dutch interpretations of the agreement after it had been signed, but said the Indonesians, nevertheless, had been prepared to carry out the accord.

"Although there has been no official declaration of war, it is, however, clear that the Dutch in reality have declared war upon the Republic," Soedirman was quoted as saying.

He added that "the inital Dutch attacks were received with calmness and discipline" and appealed to Indonesians to rally to the defense of the Republic.

Batavia, meanwhile, remained outwardly calm following the flurry of excitement last night when Dutch troops seized republican communications and buildings.

TEXT OF COMMUNIQUE

The text of the first Dutch communique:

In order to prevent Republican aircraft from carrying out actions against objects in Netherlands-controlled areas, this morning some squadrons of P-51 Mustang fighters took preventive measures against the aircraft and ground equipment.

These actions included the following airfields:

At Kalijati a Republican Japanese aircraft was shot up and set on fire and the hangars were damaged.

On the Parigi airfield near Serang a number of petrol tanks and workshops were destroyed. Workshops and installations on the Tasikimalaja airfield were also put out of action.

During all these actions machine guns, rockets and some light bombs were used. Both during and after these operations reconnaissance flights were carried out by Mitchell reconnaissance planes.

There was little ground activity to be observed as at the approach of our aircraft the ground forces had evidently departed in good time.

Reconnaissance flights are reported to have been carried out in Sumatra by Mitchell reconnaissance aircraft.

This morning's operations were hindered by very bad weather.

No news has yet come in of the operations against other airfields.

Gani Asks Powers To Hear Plan

Batavia, Java, July 21 (AP)—Indonesian Deputy Premier A. K. Gani—guarded by armed Dutch soldiers—asked in an interview today that the consuls of Britain, the United States and other foreign powers assemble to hear an Indonesian protest against the alleged commencement of hostilities by the Dutch.

Gani spoke in the house where on August 17, 1945, the Indonesian Republic proclaimed its independence.

Today Dutch soldiers patrolled the grounds. The red and white Indonesian flag had been hauled down from over the spot where President Soekarno proclaimed the birth of the Indonesian Republic.

"Soldiers Burst In"

Gani asserted that Dr. P. J. Koets, chief of Acting Governor General Hubertus J. van Mook's Cabinet, had handed him a note announcing the Dutch Government's decision to start action at 10.50 P.M. Java time yesterday.

"Before I could telephone my Government at Jogjakarta to see what move they might make to avoid this, armed soldiers burst in upon us," Gani declared. Gani and other Indonesian officials are now under "house arrest."

"We stayed behind to make a last effort for peace, knowing this might happen," Gani said. "We have done our best. We will try for peace if foreign consuls visit us, or the Dutch allow us to communicate with Jogjakarta."

"Never Showed Up"

"I was writing for (United States Consul General) Walter Foote when the soldiers burst in," Gani said. "He phoned early in the afternoon that he would be over immediately with a message from the American State Department. He never showed up, although I waited nearly ten hours until the Dutch struck."

The interview was granted through the intervention of the Dutch Information Service, after sentries had previously refused newsmen entry.

Took Java Step Reluctantly, Dutch Say

The Hague, July 21 (AP)—The Netherlands Government said today it was using its armed forces in Indonesia reluctantly to establish conditions "more favorable" to implementation of the agreement under which the islands would gain independence.

The Foreign Office charged that the regime of President Soekarno was "totalitarian in inspiration," lacking in full support of the islands' people, and continued the practice of keeping hostages.

The note, copies of which were handed yesterday to the United States Embassy at The Hague and to the British charge d'affaires, concluded that the Dutch Government "has, with the utmost reluctance, come to the conclusion that measures must now be taken to create conditions more favorable to the implementation of the Linggadjati (Cheribon) agreement."

Tactics Assailed

"It should not be supposed," the memorandum continued, "that the Netherlands Government has lost patience or is lacking therein. . . . The decisive consideration is that dilatory tactics so obviously pursued by the republic can only result in the aggravation of an untenable economic position without there being any prospect of a form of compensation in the shape of a speedy political settlement.

"The Netherlands Government has no designs on the integrity of the republic, and it remains prepared as before to come to terms with the republic, assuming the republic is supported by a majority of the population and by the ethnical elements composing it.

Plan Rejected, Dutch Say

"They have, however, no choice but to resort to police measures of a strictly limited character, designed to create conditions in the republic under which the common man can once again hope to follow in freedom his lawful pursuits for his own benefit and for the good of the world at large, creating at the same time conditions which must enable the principle embodies in the Linggadjati agreement to come to full fruition."

The memorandum said proposals made by the Netherlands Government had been rejected by the Government of the republic of Indonesia.

Indonesians who disagree with the tactivs of their government are numerous, but "they have difficulty in making themselves heard under the present regime, which is totalitarian in its inspiration, as evidenced by the repeated assumption of all power by President Soekarno," it said.

Says World Needs Products

"This regime," the memorandum said, "continues to follow the practice of keeping hostages, a practice which stands condemned by the whole world and is unworthy of a government claiming to be civilized. Wanton devastation wrought largely by guerrillas, who in part are beyond control of the government of the republic, must result in considerable delay in securing for all nations many products of Java and Mumatra, of which the whole world stands in need."

The memorandum said further that since Premier Sutan Sjahrir had been repudiated there was no responsible authority in the republic with whom the Netherlands Government coul dnegotiate with any degree of confidence, while the "friendly advice rendered repeatedly on behalf of the American and British Governments has not been heeded by the republic."

Amsterdam, July 21 (AP)—L. N. Palar, Indonesian Labor party member of Parliament, resigned today from the Legislature and the party in what he termed a protest against development in Indonesia.

TORY-BURMA LINK CHARGED

Driberg Says Slayers Were Incited; Draws Rebuke

London, July 21 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons today that planning for early independence for Burma would continue despite the mass assassination of more than half the Burmese cabinet. He said the cause of the bloody outbreak was "not yet clear."

Tom Driberg, Laborite, then startled the sedate Commons with a charge that the "Conservative gentlemen" in Britain "incited" U Saw, the chief Burmese Nationlist leader thus far arrested in connection with the killings.

Draws Speaker's Rebuke

Driberg drew a sharp rebuke from the Speaker of the House after stating "the moral guilt for the assassination attached less to the brutal gunmen in Rangoon than to comfortable Conservative gentlemen here who incited U Saw to treachery and sabotage."

"After all, we do expect reasonable parliamentary manners here and I must say that I think Mr. Driberg went quite outside the usual," snapped the Speaker, D. Clifton Brown, in an unusual reprimand from the chair.

Conservatives, who had been strongly opposed to the announced Labor Government policy to Burmese independence, joined Laborites in shouting at Driberg to "withdraw!"

To Reinforce Troops

Attlee said in his statement that "every step has been taken" to provide reinforcements of British troops, if needed, confirming earlier Whitehall reports that such precautions had been taken.

"The underlying causes of the plot are not yet clear," Attlee said. "Everything is being done to trace the culprits and to fix responsibility.

However, Attlee said, Britain's attitude "remains unchanged" toward the independence she agreed last winter to give the Asiatic country.

Burma Policy Is Unchanged, Britain Says

London, July 21 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons today the Burmese Government Council assassinations Saturday would "in no way deflect the British Government from their settled policy" offering Burma her independence.

"Our attitude toward Burma and Burmas aspirations and our anxiety to see her progress to her goal remain unchanged," Attlee said.

Britain has offered Burma freedom either inside or outside the British Commonwealth.

Authoritative Whitehall sources reported imperial troops based in India "were available to meet any emergency" that might develop in Burma.

Anti-Semitism Laid To Aide By Strachey

London, July 21 (AP)—Food Minister John Strachey announced today he had accepted the resignation of a high-ranking British Food Ministry official accused of making an anti-Semetic statement before a party of visiting German journalists.

JUL 1947 JUL 1947 30.24-11043

The House of Commons cheered Starchey's report.

The British press and a Labor Member of Parliament, C. R. Hobson, said the official, Brigadier V. T. R. Ford, made a statement "to the effect that black market offenses are chiefly committed by Jews." Strachey said only that an inquiry showed Ford had made a statement that "could be construed" as anti-Semitic.

Comment Declined

Ford, 62-year-old World War I officer and former aide to King George VI, has denied saying that offenses were committed "chiefly by Jews," adding, according to the British Press Association, that "I did say that some offenses had been attributed to the very low type of Jew."

Ford declined to comment on the case today.

Offense Denied In Bevin Speech

London, July 21 (AP)—An authoritative British source said today there was "definitely no offensive connotation intended" in the speech at Morpeth last Saturday when Ernest Bevin, Foreign Minister, referred to "money lenders" in discussing Great Britain's relations with the United States.

Speaking at a coal miners' picnic, Bevin had declared:

"You have heard it said that I am tying you up to the United States. I do not like being tied up to money lenders at all . . . and I call on every workman, by your energy, to turn the stuff out to keep us as far as you can out of the money lenders' hands for years and years."

The source said Bevin "simply was talking to miners in the language miners understand. Anyway, a money lender is a man who lends money and one very often borrows money off a best friend."

A Bevin reference to getting Britain out of the "dollar grip," the source said, meant he felt the country should borrow as little as possible and stand on its own legs.

Bevin Sees Douglas

LONDON, July 21 (AP).—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin conferred for an hour today with American Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas on conflicting policies on the future of Germany. Neither would comment.

The dispute emerged into the open last week when Great Britain refused to attend a Washington conference on methods to increase Ruhr coal production unless other economic matters also were discussed. The British were reported to have wanted to include bizonal finance, food, economic organization, supply and industrial policy.

A government source said the United Kingdom would ask the United States to assume 80 per cent of the cost of running and feeding the Anglo-American zones if and when a full-scale conference took place.

Strachey Denies Wheat Dispute

LONDON, July 21 (AP)—Food Minister John Strachey denied today reported differences in interpretation with Argentina of wheat prices as listed in an Anglo-Argentine wheat contract. London newspapers last week reported disagreement whether the specified price was for the wheat actually loaded aboard ships, or whether it was only for pierhead delivery with additional loading charges.

British Visit By Eva Now Definitely Off

London, July 21 (AP)—A British Foreign Office spokesman said today that Senora Eva Perón, wife of the Argentine President, had definitely canceled her plans for a visit to England.

"The Argentine Ministry of Foreign Affairs," the spokesman said, "has informed the British Embassy in Buenos Aires that Senora Perón will not be visiting England during her present European tour."

The spokesman said that no reasons were given for Señora Perón's decision and that he had no comment to make.

The spokesman's announcement came less than ten days after he had disclosed that Queen Elizabeth had "intimated" she would be glad to receive Señora Perón if she did come to Britain.

Trade unions here had signified their intention to demonstrate against Señora Perón if she visited Britain, and referred to her as "a Fascist ambassadress."

Business Women Honor Dead

PARIS, July 21 (AP).—Thirty American delegates to the fourth congress of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club participated in a ceremony today at the American military cemetery at Solers, twenty-seven miles southeast of Paris. Miss Sally Butler, of Indianapolis, federation president, placed a wreath on the grave of the unknown soldier in the ceremony.

Italy To Get U.S. War Surplus Property There

Rome, July 21 (AP)—An accord providing for the transfer to the Italian Government of all United States "available surplus war property in Italy" was signed tonight by United States and Italian representatives.

The property involved represents an initial cost of $184,000,000 and includes United States Army supplies and equipment, 50 airplanes, 16 minesweepers, fixed installations and scrap.

ZONAL ACCORD ON INDUSTRY PUSHED ASIDE

British - American Plan Appears To Be Due For Scrap Heap

Berlin, July 21 (AP)—Authoritative quarters said today the long-awaited British-American agreement on a new and higher bizonal level for German industry appeared to be headed for the rubbish heap.

The agreement was signed, sealed and ready for announcement by the British and American Military governments. But the announcement never came, and these sources said there is a prospect it never will.

The French objected to the industry level set at between 10,000,000 and 12,000,000 of German steel yearly because they saw in it a threat to their security if German industry in the Ruhr is revived. At the same time the French and others pointed out that the new level of industry might or might not fit into the Marshall plan for the recovery of Europe.

Why It Was Never Released

Authoritative sources said the agreement was never released because sudden orders were received from Washington and London, although 300 copies had been mimeographed.

The Paris conference on the Marshall plan is not due to report until September. Congress is not expected to act until next year. The chances, therefore, are that western Germany will be without an economic blueprint for another year.

What factories shall or shall not stay in Germany again is left in doubt.

One purpose of the higher level of industry was to set goals for an export-import program which would make Germany self-sufficient in 1950 or 1951. But the prospect of carrying out that original program now appears nil.

Up To British And U.S. Taxpayer

This means the American and British taxpayer probably will have to contribute to the German economy that much longer.

American and British sources point out that if German economy is to depend entirely on the Paris conference over the Marshall plan, that conference in large measure will write the "economic peace" for western Germany.

France is expected to oppose any substantial increase in western German industry, as she has thus far in four-power councils.

Veteran American economic officials say one of the features of the British-American economic zonal merger was that it got around French opposition since the French zone never joined in the merger.

A. P. Gets British License

BERLIN, July 21 (AP)—The Associated Press received British Military Government License No. 1 today to operate a news service for German newspapers in the British zone. It started the immediate delivery of news to German newspapers and radio stations in the British sector of Berlin and will expand the service into the British zone as soon as communication facilities become available.

JEWS IN MOURNING MARCH TO BELSEN

Belsen, Germany, July 21 (A. P.).—A long procession of Jews conducted a "march of mourning" Sunday to this former concentration camp site, where 30,000 of their brothers lie in mass graves, and protested that anti-Semitism still flourishes in Germany.

Increased protection for Jews and Jewish property was demanded by Joseph Rosensaft, chairman of the second Congress of Liberated Jews in the British zone which opened following the march. He cited as recent examples the desecration of a Jewish burial ground in Hamburg and the murder of a Jew traveling from Frankfurt to Belsen to attend a wedding. Rosensaft also declared that anti-Semitic Germans gradually were returning to responsible positions.

The solemn procession, which moved on foot from Belsen to the former concentration camp, site on its outskirts, included some wartime inmates of the camp who still live in Belsen among 11,000 displaced Jews. These D. P. S., mostly Polish and Hungarian Jews, are housed in a former German Army barracks.

The Congress reiterated Jewish appeals for early admittance to Palestine. Among those attending were Sam Dollab of New York.

WEATHER DELAYS TEST RUN

Superfortresses' Bombing Rehearsal Near Bremen Put Off

WIESBADEN, Germany, July 21 (AP)—An initial practice flight of three Superfortresses that will test the penetration power of new American twelve-and-one-half-ton bombs against a "bombproof" German submarine factory was postponed today by bad weather.

The planes, equipped with special bomb-bays, were scheduled to fly over the Farge underground submarine plant near Bremen today to familiarize pilots and bombardiers with the lay-out. An Army Air Forces spokesman said the tests would cover three months. Thirty "Amazon" and "Samson" bombs, with their high explosives extracted, will be loosed on the target from around 20,000 feet.

Hungarian Parliament Gets Election Law Today

BUDAPEST, July 21 (AP).—Hungary's new election law is scheduled to be submitted to Parliament tomorrow.

A reliable Hungarian source said President Zoltan Tildy, working under Communist pressure, had threatened that if the bill was not passed he would dissolve Parliament and put the law into effect by government decree. Elections are tentatively set for the end of August.

The few members of Parliament who still count themselves as members of the opposition to the Communist-directed regime indicated a general feeling of despair.

Vince Nagy, vice-president of Dezso Sulyok's Freedom party, said he planned to tell Parliament tomorrow the party would boycott Parliament and the elections. He said possibly the party would dissolve. This would prevent the Communist Minister of the Interior, Laszlo Rajk, from declaring it "Fascist" and arresting its members.

GUERRILLA BAND ROUTED IN GREEK FRONTIER RAIDS

ATHENS, July 21—(AP) Press dispatches said today that more than 700 guerrillas had retreated across the Yugoslav border after weekend attacks on three villages in northern Greece.

Advices from Salonika said 400 leftists attacked Mouries, 25 miles north of Salonika, and had been repulsed by the 38th company of mountain commandos. Ten guerrillas were killed, as against army losses of two killed and two wounded, the dispatches said. They added that the guerrillas had fled across the Yugoslav frontier, only two miles away.

Police Station Raided

Three hundred guerrillas raided a police station at Mesahori, also two miles from the frontier, the dispatches said, and, simultaneously, a band armed with mortars and machineguns set fire to nine houses in the nearby village of Mesokambos.

One account said more than 30 mortar and anti-tank shells were lobbed into Mesokambos, and that the attackers were supported by machinegun fire from the 58th Yugoslav frontier post.

Armed peasants finally drove off the leftists, who crossed into Yugoslavia with 15 Communist families, the dispatch said. Mesahori and Mesokambos are about 11 miles northeast of Phlorina, where Greek authorities said they feared a possible "invasion" from Yugoslavia.

Greek troops also were reported harassing leftist forces in the hills near the Albanian border, where an attack on Konitsa was beaten off last week.

U.N. To Make Konitsa Study

Athens, July 21 (AP)—The United Nations subcommission investigating Greek Border disorders announced today that it planned to go to Konitsa today to inspect the area where guerrilla forces launched their first big attack eight days ago.

A government military leader told the subcommission the guerrillas at Konitsa wore Albanian uniforms and launched the offensive to set up a free government at Konitsa.

Government circles, meanwhile, expressed surprise that the guerrillas who were routed last week by Loyalist forces in northwestern Greece had not proclaimed the area a "Communist-free state."

Red Failure Seen

"We cannot understand the delay," a Foreign Ministry spokesman said. "We have been expecting it any day. The only reason probably is because the Communists have not been able to induce any non-Communist Leftists to participate in such a government.

"We have information," he said, "that a number of respectable Leftists have been contacted, but they declined. The Communists want to camouflage the operation behind some respectable name."

Morocco Suspends Paper For Six Months

Tangier, July 21 (AP)—The International Control Committee today decreed a six-month suspension for the native Moroccan newspaper Marrakuch for violation of a statute prohibiting propaganda against any power holding a protectorate over Morocco and for "endangering the established order of both Moroccan zones."

The French language newspaper La Voix du Maroc was similarly banned last May because of attacks on French colonial policy.

British Reject Russian Call For 'Attack' Probe

Moscow, July 21 (AP)—A Tass dispatch from London today said that British authorities had "officially refused" to satisfy a Soviet Embassy demand for a thorough investigation of an alleged attack last October on a group of Russian officers visiting a repatriation camp at Blumberg in the British zone of Germany.

Tass said that after the attack, in which the agency asserted that stones and a grenade were thrown at the Russian officers, the Soviet Embassy in London protested, only to be told that the incident was provoked by the officers and that the perpetrators could not be located.

"It has now become known," Tass added, "that British authorities have officially refused to satisfy the lawful demands of the Soviet Embassy. They obviously are afraid that a more careful investigation will reveal the real character of the attack, responsibility for which lies not only on war criminals who were left free in the camp, but on representatives of the British authorities as well."

London, July 21 (A. P.).—A Foreign Office spokesman said today that he could not comment immediately on a Tass report that Britain had refused to investigate an attack on Soviet officers visiting a repatriation camp in the British zone of Germany. "I will have to make inquiries," he said.

New Curfew Ordered In Jerusalem

Jerusalem, July 21 (AP)—A dusk-to-dawn curfew was ordered today for 90,000 Jerusalem Jews, bringing to 155,000 the number of Jews under curfew restrictions here, in Haifa and in the Natanya area.

Violence which had left four dead and twenty - six wounded in the last forty - eight hours continued tonight. A land mine blew up a jeep on Hadar Hacarmel, near the port city of Haifa, just thirty minutes before the area was scheduled to go under curfew. Four soldiers were injured.

The death toll had been increased to four a short time before by the death of a soldier injured by a mine blast under his truck in Jerusalem.

The British Army was ordered to lock in the Jewish quarters here from 7 P.M. to 5 A.M. daily "until further notice."

65,000 Already Restricted

Some 50,000 Jews in Haifa already were under a similar curfew. About 15,000 at Natanya have been under martial law for a week as a result of the kidnapping of two British Army sergeants.

Fear of reprecussions for the deporation from Haifa of 4,500 or more uncertified Jewish refugees of the Exodus of 1947 was reported to be the reason for the extended curfew.

Hebrew newspapers this morning headlined in heavy black type a dispatch that the refugees were being sent back to France.

Policeman Ambushed

The death toll in the last 48 hours included a British policeman ambushed in Haifa Saturday night, a British soldier blasted to death New Natanya Sunday afternoon, and a Jewish civilian fatally wounded while participating in an attack early today on the Stella Maris army signals camp near Haifa.

An official Government announcement said two British soldiers and one British policeman an dan Arab civilian were seriously injured during the two-day period.

The announcement said the civilian was hurt just before dawn today when he accidentally stepped on a mine planted on the perimeter of a radar installation south of Haifa. Four Palestine policemen were slightly injured by gunfire in resisting an attack on the radar station.

[Reuter reported that the radar stations were used in the interception of visaless immigrant ships.]

Headquarters Attacked

The outburst of violence—climaxed by an attack on a British Army division headquarters—came within a few hours after a special United Nations Investigation Committee left the country.

Authorities said that during one half-hour period last night four British policemen, four soldiers, two Arab policemen and four civilians were wounded when two armored cars were blasted by street mines and a running gun battle developed between extremists and police.

At another point attackers raked a Jerusalem police station with small-arms fire and a pitched battle took place in an ancient Moslem cemetery.

Soldier Killed By Mine

According to unofficial reports the lone fatality was a soldier killed when a road mine blasted a military truck at Raanana, wounding two others.

Virtually all British troops in Palestine were alerted after the headquarters of the 1st Infantry Division at Tel Litwinsky, east of Tel Aviv, was attacked by mortar bombs and small arms fire. Only one bomb hit the camp and no casualties were reported.

Attacks were made against railroads in various parts of the Holy Land.

Dr. Isreal Goldstein, of New York, chairman of the United States Palestine Appeal and chairman of the World Confederation of General Zionists, who arrived by plane in Jerusalem yesterday, said "American Jews are heartsick and resentful at such episodes as the British Navy's interception of and attack on the Hagana ship Exodus 1947."

Haifa Blast Touches Off Terror Wave

JERUSALEM, July 21. — (AP) A mine blast in Haifa that killed one person and wounded seven others touched off the third straight night of terror in the Holy Land tonight as the British placed 90,000 Jews in most parts of Jerusalem under dusk to dawn house arrest in an effort to curb extremist violence of the past 48 hours.

The Haifa explosion occurred shortly after it was announced officially that the 4,500 unauthorized Jewish immigrants who landed here last week had been deported to France, where they began their exodus to the Holy Land.

During the night the Jewish underground resistance group Irgun Zvai Leumi appealed to members of Palestine's two other extremist organizations, the Stern Gang and Hagana, to join in its offensive against British rule.

Palestine casualties in the last 48 hours rose to five dead and 29 wounded with the road mine detonation in Haifa which blew up an army jeep as soldiers were announcing curfew hours to Haifa's 50,000 Jews. A 10-year-old Jewish boy was killed by a splinter from the mine and three soldiers, a Jewish interpreter, a woman and two children were wounded.

Other terrorists in the Haifa region blasted the Iraq Petroleum company's pipeline in three places, once at Haifa and twice at Tiberius, but caused slight damage. At least eight Jews were arrested in connection with the sabotage.

Another explosion in Haifa, believed at first to have been another attack, proved to be the detonation by the army of a quantity of ammunition found near a military camp on Mount Carmel.

With a quarter of its Jewish population under nightly curfew in Haifa, Jerusalem and Natanya, the Holy Land was more tense than in many months.

New Outbreaks Feared

Fears of more violent actions grew in army circles.

Explaining the new and greater security precautions, authorities said the Jewish underground had three separate "excuses" for new acts of violence.

Foremost among these was the mystery, so far as Jews are concerned, of the whereabouts of three deportation ships bearing the 4,500 passengers of the former Chesapeake Bay ferry, President Warfield, intercepted near the Egyptian coast Friday.

Other reasons for Jewish retaliation were the hanging sentences still pending against three Irgun men who were convicted in the Acre Prison raid of May 7, and the disappearance and presumed death two months ago of the Stern Gang member, Alexander Rubowitz. Rubowitz may have met his end at the hands of a special police group which took revenge on its own initiative.

Authorities said Hagana, the big illegal Jewish militia which has been organizing immigration but opposing the violent tactics of Irgun and the Stern Gang, may return to operations of violence as a protest against deportation of the Warfield refugees, especially if it is confirmed that they are being hauled back to France instead of to Cyprus.

Fatalities from terrorist acts in the last two days included a British soldier killed by a road mine near Nathanya, a British policeman ambushed in Haifa, a Jewish terrorist shot during an attack on an army installation at Haifa, and a British soldier who died late today of injuries received when his truck was mined in Jerusalem Saturday night.

Exodus's Jews Being Returned To France, London Reports

London, July 21 (AP)—Authoritative Whitehall informants said today that the Jews without visas seized Friday aboard the refugee ship Exodus of 1947 were being shipped back to France in a "new and tougher" approach to the handling of such blockade runners.

These informants, who cannot be identified by name, said the 4,500 or more aboard the craft—the former American President Warfield—were being transported in three British deporation ships to their port of embarkation, Sete near Marseille.

Agreement Reported

However, British Foreign and Colonial office spokesmen refused to comment.

The informants said the Jews returned to France presumably would be accommodated in displaced-persons camps.

Britain has been in touch with "certain" European countries on the whole question of Jewish immigration to the Holy Land, they said, and arrangements have been made with at least Italy and France to halt the flow of European Jews without immigration certificates by returning them to their embarkation ports.

This course long has been advocated by the Arab leadership of Palestine.

Tension Over Delay

In recent months, Jews arriving in Palestine above the quota have been sent to detention camps on Cyprus.

This generally was supposed to have been the destination of the deportation ships Ocean Vigour, Runnymede Park and Empire Rival when they sailed from Haifa with the Exodus of 1947 immigrants Saturday morning.

The fact the Haifa-Cyprus run is only a sixteen-hour voyage, however, combined with the fact there was no official announcement later Saturday of the arrival at Haifa, created tension among Jews in Palestine.

A Jewish Agency spokesman in Jerusalem said today the "mystery" of the case was "a cause for new disquiet and concern and can only serve to deepen the anguish and resentment of Palestine Jewry."

10,000 In Camps

A British Colonial Office spokesman said the Cyprus camps certainly were not full. He said probably about 10,000 were in the camps, but many more could be accommodated. (Jewish sources in Palestine have estimated the number held on Cyprus at 15,000.)

The Whitehall informants suggested that this could mean that any Jews seized by the British off the Palestine coast would continue to be sent to Cyprus if no arrangements had been made with the particular European country from which they sailed for the return of such immigrants.

The return of Jews without visas, the informants said, would cause future immigrants to "think twice" before boarding the crowded blockade runners.

'Warfield' Refugees On Way To France, Maybe Colombia

London, July 21 (AP)—The British Foreign Office announced tonight that 4,500 Jews, intercepted in a dash for Palestine on the irregular immigration ship President Warfield, were being returned to France but left their future in doubt.

One French official source in Paris said the three British deportation ships would be permitted to enter the port of Villefrance, but did not say the 4,500 visa-less immigrants would be allowed to land. He indicated the 4,500 immigrants—first to be sent back from where they came since detention camps were established in Cyprus last year—might go on to Colombia in South America.

Nothing Settled, Others Say

Other French sources said negotiations with the British were continuing and that nothing was settled yet.

What would happen to the Jews after their arrival in France probably tomorrow or Wednesday was not mentioned in the British statement. The brief declaration merely said the passengers of the former Chesapeake Bay steamer were being returned to France "in accordance with normal international procedure and in agreement with the French Government."

Major Change In British Policy

The disclosure cleared up a mystery concerning whereabouts of the Warfield's passengers since they were transhipped at Haifa to three British deportation ships early Saturday.

Decision to send the shipload of refugees back to France, from where they embarked, appeared to be the first major change in British policy for discouraging unscheduled immigration into the Holy Land since establishment of the Cyprus camps last August. A Colonial Office spokesman said 10,000 Jews are now detained at Cyprus awaiting admission to Palestine under regular monthly immigration quotas.

Accord With France and Italy

LONDON, July 21 (AP).—An authoritative source said today that the return of the Exodus refugees to France resulted from British consultations with "certain" European powers that had brought agreements so far with two countries, France and Italy.

This source hinted, however, that both France and Italy had reservations about taking immigrants back and might change their policies, and that other countries may have refused to accept Britain's viewpoint on halting immigration to Palestine. He therefore warned against accepting the Exodus case as a precedent in a new policy.

New Woes Loom For Wedemeyer In China Job

Nanking, July 21 (AP) — Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, expected to arrive tomorrow on his fact-finding mission, will encounter few on-the-surface changes from the China he left fifteen months ago—but underneath he will find a nation gravely hurt by civil strife.

On the military fronts, President Truman's emissary will find the Communists holding the initiative generally.

On the economic front, he will find that the American dollar, which brought him less than 2,500

30.24- 11045

Chinese dollars when he left China, is now worth about 40,000 on the open market. A Chinese meal costs more than ten times what it did during the days when the General commanded the American forces in the China theater.

Problem Of Communication

He will find restoration of China's vital communication lines, upon which the nation leans heavily for future stability, further away than when he went home last year.

From Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's officials he will hear tales of increasing Communist strength, alleged Soviet interference in the Government's taking over control of Manchuria, and reports of a series of border incidents which China officially charged were Soviet-promoted.

Neutral observers in Nanking expressed belief that Wedemeyer would have a difficult time getting first-hand information on the other side of the picture. Apart from a few Communist relief officials in Shanghai, there are no official Communist sources for such information in Government-held areas.

The bitterness of Communist radio broadcast attacks on Wedemeyer indicates that he would be an unwelcome guest anywhere within what the Reds term "liberated areas."

Although the Government this week is embarking upon a new training program under its "total mobilization" plan, the General will find thousands of troops cooped up within city walls while Communist regulars and guerrillas operate freely outside.

Hiroshima Plans Peace Festival

Hiroshima, Japan, July 21 (AP)—Citizens of this atomic bomb-devastated city are preparing for a three-day festival starting August 5, dedicated to world peace.

Convinced that another war would bring mass slaughter of civilians, they will stand in humble silence for a minute at 8.14 A.M., August 6—the second anniversary of the bomb burst which all but destroyed the city and left 78,150 dead and 13,983 missing.

Hiroshima's Mayor Shinso Hamai, in a proclamation, observed:

"This epoch-making weapon of the century has taught us the great lesson that mankind must forsake war forever."

No Resentment

The Mayor, a victim of the bomb's radiation, said he was proud that none of the survivors had shown resentment against the thousands of Allied nationals who have visited Hiroshima.

Reconstruction has proceeded slowly. Two years of toil have resulted in 20,000 rebuilt homes and shops—most of them makeshift structures which hide the scars only superficially.

Hamai said Hiroshima's population had increased from 130,000 after the bomb blast to more than 210,000. Children are attending school in temporary buildings. Water, telephone, electricity and transportation services have been restored.

Jap Picture Revealed

With the approach of Hiroshima's second anniversary of disaster, a hitherto secret picture of the bomb burst which Japanese military leaders studied shortly after that fateful day was recalled. An Allied source said it was the only existing pictorial record of the explosion.

It shows a white cloud boiling up over the city. Its splashy, raindrop effect probably gave Japanese scientists an inkling of the weapon. The picture was said to have been taken by a civilian 15 miles away and across the bay.

Russian Denies Using Veto on Korean Parleys

Representative There Says Stalemate Can Be Broken, Criticizes U. S. Attitude

SEOUL, Korea, July 21 (AP).—Colonel General Terenty F. Shtikov denied at a press conference today an American assertion that the Russians were attempting to use the veto to prevent consultation with some Korean groups in the current conferences on establishment of a provisional Korean government.

The veto allegation had been made on July 15 by Major General Albert E. Brown, chief American delegate on the joint American-Soviet Commission.

General Shtikov, chief Russian delegate, when asked about it by American correspondents, replied, "There is no question of the veto."

Asked if the United Nations might be able to solve the apparent deadlock over the interpretation of the Moscow agreement of 1945 on forming a Korean government, General Shtikov said, "There does not exist such a stalemate which may not be broken."

He read a long prepared statement alleging that the American commissioners were taking an attitude contrary to the Moscow decision and the recent Marshall-Molotov agreement to consult democratic Korean political parties and social organizations in deciding on a government.

The Americans, General Shtikov said, wished to consult "indiscriminately" with commercial and industrial companies, institutions of learning and other "non-social" organizations and "even fictitious organizations."

He said the Americans had rejected a Soviet proposal to begin consultations with groups to which neither side objected and which had memberships of more than 10,000 each.

Japs' Socialist Cabinet Urges Labor's Aid

Nagoya, Japan, July 21 (AP)—A member of Socialist Tetsu Katayama's harassed Cabinet appealed to labor today for support to enable the Cabinet to forestall what he said might be "resignation or complete reorganization."

Mitsusuke Yonekubo, Socialist minister without portfolio, told a group of union leaders in Nagoya that success of the Government's policies, now under labor attack, would determine the Cabinet's life.

His appeal apparently spearheaded a drive by Katayama to regain the labor backing which made him Japan's first Socialist Premier. Influential unions turned sharply from the Government when it recommended an average wage scale of 1,800 yen ($36) monthly instead of 2,600 ($52).

Yonekubo, who is expected to head a prospective new labor ministry, told a pro-Government rally that failure of wage-and-price measures would mean "the Katayama Cabinet will have to resign en bloc or be completely reorganized."

MacArthur To Greet Evatt Personally

Tokyo, July 21 (AP)—General MacArthur will greet H. V. Evatt personally when the Australian Deputy Premier and Minister for External Affairs arrives at Haneda airport aboard MacArthur's private plane this week end for talks on occupational policies and the peace settlement.

The Australian mission in Japan said Evatt was scheduled to arrive at Kure, British Commonwealth headquarters, next Friday or Saturday aboard the Australian troopship Kanimbla. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Evatt; J. Plimsoll, Australian representative on the Far Eastern Commission, and members of the External Affairs Ministry.

It was rumored in British circles that Evatt would ask MacArthur that Kobe be designated a trading port for British interests. The two are expected to have several conferences before Evatt departs August 2 on the Australian cruiser Hobart.

U.S. Corporal Drowns in Japan

TOKYO, July 21 (AP).—The 5th Air Force announced today the drowning of Corporal Fred Polson jr., of Lancaster, Pa., while swimming near Nagano last Wednesday. He was on a seven-day recreation leave.

Trial Hears Laurel's Speech On East Asia

Manila, July 21 (AP)—Records made by the Japanese during a greater East Asia conference in Tokyo were played today at the trial of Dr. Jose P. Laurel, puppet President of the Philippines who is charged with 142 counts of treason.

A witness, Kazuma Nakayama, Canadian-born official of the Greater East Asia Ministry during the war, said five of the records played contained a speech delivered by Laurel before the Imperial Diet advocating acceptance of Japan's Asia-for-the-Asiatics policy.

Natives Of New Guinea, Papua Get Bonus Too

Canberra, Australia, July 21 (AP). Citing natives of New Guinea and Papua for their war services, Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley said that those serving with the Australian military forces would be paid a war gratuity.

The payment, he said, would be on a monthly basis for services after Pearl Harbor, and would include men in the auxiliary services.

Japan's Puppet Reported Seized In Burma Raid

Rangoon Papers Assert 50 Have Now Been Taken in Murder of 7 Ministers

RANGOON, Burma, July 21 (AP).—Burmese newspapers reported today that Bandoola U Sein, Propaganda Minister in Burma's Japanese-puppet government during the war, had been arrested in a roundup following Saturday's massacre of seven Council ministers. The government refused to reveal any information about the roundup.

Former Premier U Saw and nineteen of his Myochit party lieutenants were taken into custody Saturday night, following a police raid in which three other Myochit members were killed. Local newspapers said yesterday fifty persons in all had been arrested.

The seven Council ministers, including Major General U Aung San, were assassinated by machine-gun bullets while meeting at Government House. Aung San, leader of the anti-Fascist People's Freedom League, was in line to become Premier of an independent Burma, soon to be established.

Mob Gathers at Jail

An authoritative source said a lynch-bent mob of 5,000 persons gathered at the Rangoon central jail last night and demanded that U Saw be turned over to them. The crowd dispersed when prison officials said U Saw was not there but was being held in Insein central jail, according to the informant. The government information department declined to confirm or deny the story.

Sources within the anti-Fascist People's Freedom League said the massacre was carefully planned, and possibly executed by "one-time guerrillas."

Crowds continued to pass through Jubilee Hall, where the bodies of Aung San and five other Buddhist members of the Council will lie in state for a month. The seventh slain minister, a Moslem, was buried yesterday.

Ex-Premier Held In Slayings Of 6 In Burma

Rangoon, Burma, July 21 (AP)—Burmese police held former Premier U Saw and nineteen of his lieutenants today after killing three of the opposition leader's followers in a gun fight at his home yesterday when they arrested the group in connection with the Saturday massacre of seven Council Ministers.

U Saw—leader of the Myochit party—was held under heavy guard in the Rangoon central jail while authorities imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew on the city.

Authorities said the raid on the former Premier's home was led by Ba Maung, inspector general of Burma police. A violent gun fight ensued before U Saw and his followers surrendered. During the battle three Myochit Party members were killed.

Arms Cache Unearthed

Officials said a search of U Saw's house unearthed a cache of arms and ammunition.

The Burmese press said nearly 50 persons all told had been arrested as a result of the assassinations of Maj. Gen. U Aung San and six fellow ministers.

Among those reported held was Thakin Ba Sein, leader of the Dobama Asiayone party.

A new Ministry was sworn in to replace the slain members. The Government announced that Thakin Nu, leader of the Constituent Assembly and one of Aung San's aides in the Anti-Fascist People's Freedom League, took the oath as deputy chairman of the Executive Council.

"Strong Man" Of Party

U Aung San, 32-year-old "strong man" of the anti-Facist People's Freedom League, was in line to become the Premier of the incipient Burmese Republic.

U Saw—Premier of Burma in 1940—was arrested by the British in 1942 on charges of being a Japanese collaborator. He was detained in Uganda, Africa, throughout the remainder of the war.

India Adopts Province Charters

NEW DELHI, July 21 (AP).—The Indian Constitutent Assembly adopted today constitutions for the provinces modeled along the lines of the states of the United States, then began the big task of writing a national constitution for a sovereign Indian republic (Hindustan). The republic is scheduled to follow dominion status for India.

TRUMAN FINDS PROSPERITY OF U. S. AT RECORD HIGH

But Tells Congress Four Factors Contain Germs of Inflation Crisis.

SEES PERIL IN CORN OUTLOOK

Also Coal, Housing and Export Situations—Expects No Return to Pre-war Prices.

Washington, July 21 (A. P.).—President Truman said today that the nation has surged to a pinnacle of "unprecedented prosperity" but must strengthen its defenses against inflation.

In a special mid-year economic report to Congress, the Chief Executive declared that production now is running at a rate of $225,000,000,000 a year, far surpassing anything in history, and added:

"We can place the high production and the high employment that we have today on a firm foundation of enduring prosperity and peace."

But threaded through the 30,000-word document were four C's—corn, coal, construction and commerce overseas—named by Mr. Truman as developments which mean that "inflationary problems may become stronger."

Terming price reductions still necessary in many areas, the President said they must not be swamped in a wave of speculation caused by the forecast of a short corn crop or by a wave of new wage and price increases pegged to John L. Lewis's coal contract settlement.

Warning on Corn Prospects.

Mr. Truman said there are as yet "no grounds for real alarm nor for general speculative increases in food prices" arising from the forecast of a corn harvest 20 per cent below last year's. But in the event real shortages should develop, the report recommended:

1. Full publicity as to the true farm outlook, perhaps including a campaign for "strict economy" in the use of some foods.

2. Quick planning for conservation, through export controls and possibly by renewing the Government's recently lapsed power to control the amount of grain used by distillers and other processors.

Mr. Truman renewed his plea of ten days ago that coal, steel and other industries forgo immediate price increases until they test the real costs of the wage increase won by Lewis's miners.

"Stability in steel prices would be a wise economic policy for this industry as well as for the country," the President declared, whereas increases based on guesses and an "exaggerated interpretation" could "start another price-wage spiral in motion."

"Another general surge of price inflation would have only one result—the sharp recession which it is to every one's interest to prevent," Mr. Truman said.

Reports Record High Profits.

He added that price cuts and increases in substandard pay rates are still needed as he said they were when the first economic report was made in January but that meanwhile corporation profits have gone on to new record heights.

"It is evident," he asserted, "that in many cases business profits are more than adequate to permit price reductions or wage increases, or some combination of both."

Mr. Truman reassured industry, however, that he does not seek or expect a return to pre-war price levels.

"We do not propose to slump back to low productivity and underemployment," the report declared.

"At present we are in the process of seeking to find a workable pattern of income and price relationships on a new price level but with continuing high production and employment. It is generally conceded that this new price level will be higher than pre-war.

"A large part of the increase in prices since 1940 has become inbedded in the cost and income structure of the economy. Hence decline to the pre-war level could be expected only as an accompaniment of a depression. That we are all determined to prevent."

Construction the 'No. 1 Problem.'

Construction — and especially housing — remains in some respect "our domestic problem No. 1," Mr. Truman said. The general health of the economy so far has concealed the dangers in high building costs and lagging construction, he said, adding:

"But it is none too early to be concerned about a possible relapse of housing into its prewar state of chronic ill-health and instability."

As for foreign commerce, exports have skyrocketed to an annual rate of $20,700,000,000, creating "some strain" of shortages at home. But foreign nations are running out of gold and dollars and exports "must be expected to decline before the end of the year," even if new foreign aid is granted, Mr. Truman asserted. He added:

"The immediate and sole objective of our foreign aid programs should be to restore a vigorous, stable and peaceful world economy. For the purposes of our foreign policy it is worth enduring temporary shortages of a few commodities within the United States. This will bring lasting benefits in the long run."

Production at All-Time Top.

In a capsule summary of national well-being, the President told Congress:

"At midpoint in the year 1947, we have surpassed previous high records of civilian production, and are now producing goods and services at a rate of $225,000,000,000 annually.

"Month by month there has been talk of recession; month by month recession has failed to materialize.

"In June we reached a level of 60,000,000 jobs, regarded by many as impossible of attainment. Our standard of living is exceptionally high, and purchasing power has thus far been adequate to absorb completely the enormous production of American farms, mines and factories.

"Farm income has attained a record level. The financial position of business is strong.

". . . management and labor have co-operated in maintaining industrial peace. . . . Productivity is on the increase."

But then Mr. Truman added this warning: That full employment at high prices is being sustained by the pent-up wartime demand, by extensive use of credit and savings, and by the huge excess of exports over imports.

"These are temporary props to our economic system. As they weaken we shall need to make many basic readjustments to complete the transition to a permanently stable and maximum-level peacetime economy," he declared.

Recalls Legislative Requests.

Mr. Truman decided to send his special report to Congress after Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of his council of economic advisers, presented current economic developments—including the coal contract settlement—at a Cabinet meeting on July 11.

The 1946 law creating the economic council called for only one report a year, but a White House spokesman said that after the July 11 meeting the President and members of the Cabinet agreed that Congress and the public should be brought up to date.

With Congress aiming at adjournment for the year this Saturday, Mr. Truman laid little stress on his legislative recommendations of six months ago beyond noting that they have not yet met with adequate response."

He repeated some of them, however: Enactment of a "comprehensive" housing program and the continuance of rent controls; an increase in the minimum wage from 40 to 65 cents an hour, with coverage extended to farm and other workers, and an increase in old-age pensions and other social security benefits.

PRESIDENT URGES INFLATION CURBS

Cites Nation's Unprecedented Prosperity' but Warns of Dangers.

WASHINGTON, July 21—(AP) President Truman told the nation today that its "unprecedented prosperity" now is based largely on "temporary props."

"As they weaken," he declared, "we shall need to make many basic readjustments"—wage and salary increases "in some cases," lower prices "in the numerous instances were profit margins permit or where future profits would be better protected by assuring larger volume through lower prices," new social legislation, and restoration of some wartime government controls.

The President cautioned that the adjustments "must be made before the lack of them produces serious unemployment and business decline." He added that "adjustment through recession or depression is tragic, costly, and wasteful."

Midyear Economic Report

The Chief Executive's statement was sent to Congress in the form of a midyear economic report under the 1946 Employment act but it was addressed to the general public too. It was drafted with the help of the Council of Economic Advisers, members of the cabinet and heads of government agencies.

Mr. Truman reported civilian production now at a record rate of $225,000,000,000 a year and civilian employment at an all-time peak of more than 60,000,000.

He said that structure could be put "on a firm foundation of enduring prosperity and peace." But he listed three "temporary props" holding it up now:

1. "The reconversion demands of business and the backlog demands of consumers." He termed these "extraordinary demands."

2. "Extensive use of savings and credit." The report showed that consumers now are spending more than 93 percent of their income after taxes and saving less than seven percent, while during the war they spent only 75 percent. It cited a Federal Reserve Board survey showing that nearly one-fourth of the families in this country had no government bonds nor bank accounts in February.

3. "An extraordinary excess of exports over imports." This is due to the food, machinery and other relief and rehabilitation goods sent abroad.

New Foreign Aid Programs

The President noted that "new foreign aid programs" are in the making. And he said that the United State will have to provide "additional credits, governmental or private."

But he declared that "we did not and should not embark upon foreign aid program as a device for supporting maximum production and employment at home."

"To be sure," he continued, "restoration of world trade, when achieved, will facilitate our own efforts in maintaining a prosperous domestic economy. The immediate and sole objective of our foreign aid programs should be to restore a vigorous, stable, and peaceful world economy. It is our goal to contribute to the restoration of conditions under which other countries will be able to pay their way by mutual exchange of goods and services, under such economic institutions as they freely determine and adapt to their peculiar circumstances."

The report said that "the farm price support policy has not been a major factor in current farm prices" because "the market has made a price well above the support price for all but a few products."

Mr. Truman declared that "unfavorable spring weather over large areas of the country makes it necessary to evaluate the probable consequences of some crop shortage," particularly corn. But he said that "the total agricultural situation will remain highly uncertain until the date and severity of killing frosts this fall has been revealed."

Two Lines of Action

Meanwhile he proposed that "two lines of action should be considered:"

"1. The public should at all times be kept informed as to the true agricultural outlook, so that unfounded rumors may not lead to speculative developments in the commodity markets, to undue advances in food prices, to panicky hoarding x x x.

"2. In case the situation should take on really serious proportions x x x plans should be readied well in advance of actual need to conserve supplies and to make certain that they are used as wisely as possible."

There was no specific suggestion for consumer rationing, either compulsory or voluntary. But. the President mentioned the possibility of restoring restrictions on grain used by processors and said that "in any case the government should seek the voluntary cooperation of the grain trade."

In addition to the possible crop shortage, the report cited the new wage contract which John L. Lewis won from the coal operators as "a second development which requires careful consideration at this time."

Mr. Truman asserted that "it does not provide a guide or pattern for wage settlements in other fields." The coal contract, he said, "is a recognition of the need to maintain an adequate supply of productive labor in this key industry" and it should not be taken "out of context" to inspire other wage demands.

Mr. Truman also renewed his plea that the coal wage boost not be "used as an excuse for raising prices above the level actually necessitated" in the coal and steel industries.

Truman's Economic Report Summary

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—The text of the foreword and summary of President Truman's mid-year economic report to Congress:

To the Congress of the United States:

When my first economic report was presented to the Congress on Jan. 8, 1947, the nation was turning from the economic controls of war time to a free economy. Now, six months later, it is appropriate that we consider carefully what success we have had in meeting the problems of that process, what difficulties lie ahead and what action should now be taken. It is for this reason that I transmit to the Congress this mid-year economic report.

Americans today live in a richer and more productive economy, and are enjoying its benefits more equitably than ever before in peace-time history.

At mid-point in the year 1947 we have surpassed previous high records of civilian production, and are now producing goods and services at a rate of 225 billion dollars annually. Month by month there has been talk of recession; month by month recession has failed to materialize. In June we reached a level of 60 million civilian jobs, regarded by many as impossible of attainment. Our standard of living is exceptionally high, and purchasing power has thus far been adequate to absorb completely the enormous production of American farms, mines and factories. Farm income has attained a record level. The financial position of business is strong. A healthy slowing down in inventory accumulation has taken place. Business investment in plants and equipment has increased this year, even above the record highs of last year. Management and labor have co-operated in maintaining industrial peace, and a wide range of important collective-bargaining agreements have been signed without widespread strikes. With a slight reduction in the work week, productivity is on the increase.

The credit for this magnificent record is shared by American farmers, who exerted great efforts to plant and reap bumper crops; by workers, who stayed on the job and increased their productivity; by business men, who overcame many shortages and established new records in the production of more and better goods, and by leaders of industry and labor who strove for industrial peace in the face of serious difficulties.

Readjustments Needed

The unprecedented prosperity of our nation must not be a cause for idle self-congratulation. We must remember that full employment at a high price level is being sustained at present by the reconversion demands of business and the backlog demands of consumers, by extensive use of savings and credit and by an extraordinary excess of exports over imports. These are temporary props to our economic system. As they weaken we shall need to make many basic readjustments to complete the transition to a permanently stable and maximum-level peace-time economy.

These adjustments take time to accomplish in our free, enormous and complex economic system. They must be made before the lack of them produces serious unemployment and business decline. Adjustment through recession or depression is tragic, costly and wasteful. Moderate adjustments, made in time, can accomplish more than drastic measures in a crisis produced by delay or neglect.

Price and income adjustments stand foremost in need of attention.

INDUSTRIAL AND AGRICULTURAL PRICES. — Prices increased sharply in the second half of 1946, increased more slowly in the first quarter of 1947, and then leveled off in the second quarter. This leveling off reflected some catching up of supply with immediate demand, an increase of consumer resistance and the encouraging response of many business men to the government's price advice, which they recognized to be in their own long-range interest.

This improvement in the price situation should not blind us to further need for price reductions in some cases. In other cases there is need to hold the price line in the face of recent developments which revive some fears of another upswing of inflation.

There are many areas where price reductions still are necessary to check current or prospective declines in demand and to provide outlets for increased production. In the numerous instances where profit margins permit or where future profits would be better protected by assuring larger volume through lower prices business should make these adjustments now.

Food Prices Up

At the beginning of this year the prospect for abundant crops gave promise that the price increases in farm and food products would be checked. Although there was a leveling off in food prices in the second quarter of this year, bad weather, extensive floods and unexpectedly urgent foreign need have caused some further price increase in food and farm products in recent weeks. There are fears of a short corn crop but no general or present scarcity of farm and food products as a whole.

Although most farmers cannot voluntarily reduce their prices because they do not make price decisions, we are not entirely without recourse in the farm situation. We may still obtain a total agricultural output as large as last year. But, in view of the existing uncertainty in the farm outlook, it is the duty of food growers, processors and the government to keep the public currently informed of the real facts concerning our food supply. Unfounded fear of food shortages should not be allowed to lead to speculation, hoarding and unnecessary buying. We should all realize, too, that any slight inconveniences or momentary shortages that may develop are the consequence primarily of the high incomes and standard of living most of us are enjoying today.

WAGES AND SALARIES.—Although the moderate and peaceful wage adjustments during the first half of the year improved the position of many earners, the majority of consumers were not directly benefited. Because of increases in the cost of living, the purchasing power of total consumers' incomes is no higher than at the beginning of the year.

Urges Some Wage Rises

In some cases wage increases are still needed to attain workable relations in the wage and salary structure, and to alleviate hardship due to wages which are substandard or which have risen substantially less than the increase in the cost of living.

Except for such special circumstances, wage increases should be related to general trends in productivity and not made on a basis which forces price increases or prevents price reductions needed to assure sale of increasing supplies.

With the wage adjustments already made and those still needed in special wage areas, it follows that the patterns of workable price relations ultimately arrived at will be on a somewhat higher price level than would otherwise have come about. However, this is not a justification for pyramiding wage-price increases or failing to make price reductions whenever and wherever possible.

In the interest of those whose income has remained substandard, it is imperative that legislation be enacted to extend the coverage of the fair labor standards act, to increase the minimum wage level to at least 65 cents an hour, and to enlarge social-security benefit payments in view of the higher cost of living.

Under the recent wage settlement in the coal mining industry the wages of coal miners occupy a place near the top of the wage structure. The earnings of the coal miners under the new contract must be judged in the light of the character of their work and the labor needs of the industry. There has been exaggeration of the size of this adjustment compared with the adjustments previously made in many other industries. Every effort should be made to absorb the cost increases in the coal mining industry and the industries indirectly affected, through increased productivity and through reduction in profit margins.

The increases that have already been made in coal prices are contributing to inflationary pressures. We have a right to expect that, as operating adjustments toward maximum efficiency are made and present shortages are overcome, the price of coal will be restored to a lower level, thus easing the cost situation for industrial, railway and domestic users. Meanwhile, pyramiding of price advances by coal distributors is wholly unjustified.

Recommends Caution

Similarly, increases in the price of steel would have a widespread inflationary effect. Steel companies should exercise extraordinary caution at this stage of our reconversion effort to see that increases in coal prices or other costs are offset as fully as possible through the savings of continuous and high-level operation. Recent favorable earnings should permit the absorption of an extraordinary cost over a short period in order to stabilize prosperity for the longer run.

In no case should the particular wage increases in the mining industry be made the basis for wage demands in other fields governed by different circumstances.

It is in the interest of steady expansion of the economy that, with the aid of collective bargaining, prices and wages be brought in line with general productivity trends.

HOUSING AND OTHER CONSTRUCTION — Although housing construction has been higher in 1947 than in 1946, it lags far behind the real needs of our people for homes. A much higher volume of housing output will be needed to help sustain maximum employment when temporarily sustaining forces—such as the huge net export balance, high investments in reconversion and an abnormal rate of inventory accumulation—begin to decline further.

The needed stimulus to more housing construction, and also to industrial and commercial construction, depends largely upon lower prices. Housing costs can and should be substantially lowered through the efforts of material suppliers, builders and workers.

Of utmost importance is immediate enactment of the comprehensive housing program which I have previously recommended to the present Congress. Without such a law, housing is seriously handicapped.

Public construction for the time being should be held to moderate amounts consistent with essential needs.

Effect of Expects

THE FOREIGN AID PROGRAM—The United States has indicated its readiness to consider further aid toward reconstruction in Europe if the foreign countries themselves present a plan that makes such help truly effective. We must continue to help other countries help themselves, until the reconstruction of their own economies reaches the point where they are able to pay their way by exchange of goods and services. The possibility of additional foreign aid programs makes it all the more necessary to appraise the impact of exports on the domestic economy during the last six months. A large excess of exports over imports occurring at a time of inflationary pressure has created some strain on the economy. But this strain is of moderate proportions and will be of temporary duration. Our exportts have not necessitated undue denial at home, where our standards of living are much higher than before the war.

These exports for the aid of other countries are directed toward the winning of the peace —they are at the core of this nation's foreign policy.

THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF GOVERNMENT.—Economic adjustment to changing conditions is, in a free enterprise economy, accomplished largely through a multitude of voluntary decisions by business management, farmers and labor. Wise and farsighted policy by these groups is necessary to assure the satisfactory operation of our economic system. Government must, however, at all times exert its complementary influence.

Legislative action on minimum wages, on social security and on housing, as already indicated, forms part of the immediate responsibility of government.

Against Tax Cuts

In addition, the recent uncertainties arising in four fields—uncertainties as to the effect of the crop situation upon food prices, the effect of the coal-mine settlement upon industrial prices, the trend of housing costs and house production, and the whole matter of foreign economic policy—have a vital bearing upon the immediate fiscal policies of the government. The developments in these areas mean that the inflationry factors in the economy may become stronger.

Tax reduction now would add to inflationary pressures and would also prevent the debt reduction which should be carried out in prosperous times to strengthen the nation's financial position against future contingencies. A policy of restraint at the present time will enable the government to use fiscal measures effectively should the time come when they might be needed to lend support to the economy.

The sound financial policies that the government has been following have been vindicated by every test of experience. These policies should not be abandoned or weakened.

The employment act of 1946 contemplated that prompt attention would be given to the maintenance of maximum prosperity in all its phases—employment, production and purchasing power.

This mid-year report, unlike the first economic report in January, deals only with problems requiring immediate attention. It is a check-up on the extent to which we have thus far achieved the goals we set in January.

Warns Against Delay

Many of the short-range recommendations made in January have not yet been adopted—especially those requiring legislation. The fact that this delay has not yet produced bad results is no reason for further delay. Waiting until bad results appear means that action is too late to be fully effective.

Long-range economic programs will also be required. They embrace resource and regional development, health and welfare, anti-monopoly programs, stabilization devices and many other undertakings essential to the full realization of our superb economic potential. The first economic report indicated the range of these programs, and studies are now under way to make them ready for presentation by next year.

We must adjust our minds to the fact that we are living in a 225-billion-dollar economy; that our free system has become today, and tomorrow must continue to be, the richest and most powerful productive machine ever devised by the minds and hands of man. Our task is to create for the functioning of this great productive force an environment in which it can operate smoothly at capacity. Thus far we have avoided the economic misfortunes which followed World War I and then culminated in a disastrous depression in 1929. Today we are wiser, more experienced, infinitely more blessed with material riches, more united as a people, stronger as a nation. If, calmly and realistically, we assess our strong points and our weaknesses and boldly take necessary steps in time, we can place the high production and the high employment that we have today on a firm foundation of enduring prosperity and peace.

'BEN' COHEN, LAST OF 'BRAIN TRUST' QUITS STATE DEPT.

WASHINGTON, July 21 — (AP) "Ben" Cohen, last of the original "brain trust" of early Roosevelt administration days, bowed out today when President Truman accepted his resignation as counselor of the State Department.

To succeed him the President nominated Charles E. Bohlen, veteran foreign service officer and the State Department's Russian expert.

The shift enables Secretary of State Marshall to keep indefinitely at his side his closest adviser on Soviet matters. Bohlen would have been due for a foreign assignment next January under a law limiting foreign service officers to tours of four years in the United States. The rule does not apply to posts requiring senate confirmation, such as the position of counsellor.

Vincent Named Envoy

Also sent to the Senate along with the Bohlen nomination was that of John Carter Vincent, another career diplomat, to be minister to Switzerland.

The 52-year-old Cohen—his signature reads "Benjamin V.", but the government top level all knows him as "Ben"—steps out July 31. He wrote that after 14 years he wished "to take a rest free from all official responsibilities."

Mr. Truman said he accepted the resignation "regretfully" after consultation with Secretary Marshall.

Cohen had proposed to step out when James F. Byrnes left the office of Secretary of State, and said in his letter to Mr. Truman that he had agreed only "to stay on until after the Moscow conference" last spring.

Cohen's identification with the upper stratum of officialdom had its beginning back in 1933 in the formation of an unofficial partnership with Thomas G. Corcoran—widely publicized as "Tommy the Cork," President Roosevelt's emissary extraordinary to the rest of government.

The two were called together that year for long day-and-night sessions on one of the early "New Deal" regulatory laws, governing stock markets.

Team Breaks Up

They worked as a team until 1940 when Corcoran married and left the government. Their imprint, always unofficially, was on much of the subsequent "New Deal" legislation.

Cohen was special assistant to four attorneys general between 1933 and 1941, then went to London as legal adviser to Ambassador John G. Winant.

Returning to Washington in 1942, he became general counsel for Byrnes in the Office of Economic Stabilization and later in the office of War Mobilization and Reconversion. He shifted to the State Department in July, 1945, as special assistant to Byrnes.

Bohlen has seen three periods of service at the Moscow embassy and has attended virtually all the wartime and postwar international conferences beginning with the Tehran meeting in 1943.

His home is in Ipswich, Mass., and he is a native of Clinton, N. Y.

The White House said that State Department functions will be realigned so that the counselor will serve with the rank of assistant Secretary of State.

Bohlen will be responsible for advising and assisting the Secretary on major problems of foreign relations.

U.S., British Weigh Role As Intermediary In Java

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The United States and Britain were reported today to be considering new efforts to effect a settlement in Indonesia, where open warfare has broken out between forces of the Netherlands and the Indonesian Republic.

State Department officials said the American Embassy in London had been asked by the British Government if the United States had any objections to an offer of "good offices" by Britain to try to effect a settlement. The State Department advised that the United States had no objection.

Conferences on any new moves were delayed by the absence of immediate reports on developments from Walter Foote, American consul general at Batavia.

Blow To U.S. Hopes

But officials said that this Government was following developments very closely.

The launching of military operations by Netherlands forces was a hard blow to American official hopes that the dispute could be settled amicably.

Herman Baruch, American Ambassador at the Hague, was handed a memorandum yesterday by the Foreign Office saying that the Netherlands Government was embarking upon "police measures of a strictly limited character in certain Indonesian Republican areas, beginning at once."

Baruch conferred by telephone with State Department officials on the development.

Replacement Named

Reports from Foote presumably were delayed by communication difficulties.

Foote, a veteran diplomatic official, is the top American representative in Indonesia. He is to be replaced shortly, but is expected to remain on the scene for some weeks after the arrival of his successor.

Charles A. Livengood, who has been named to succeed Foote, is in Washington for conferences before his departure.

Livengood has been counselor for economic affairs to the American embassy in Rome. He is scheduled to leave with his wife on Friday by plane for the Hague for conferences there before flying to Batavia.

U. S. Regrets Indonesia War; Aid Plan Stands

Washington Backs British Mediation Offer, Awaits Batavia Envoy's Report

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—The United States expressed "profound regret today over the new flare-up of fighting in Indonesia and said this government still stands ready to discuss American economic aid when an interim regime can be agreed upon.

The American official position was given in a formal State Department announcement after telephoned consultations with the American Embassies in the The Hague and London.

Earlier it was disclosed that the department gave its blessing to an offer by Great Britain of her "good offices" in trying to wind up the hostilities which broke out with a resort to force by the Netherlands.

Both actions made it plain that the State Department is determined to press its efforts of the last two years to contribute to a settlement in an area where American diplomatic and trade interests are substantial.

Envoy's Reports Awaited

Belated reports, meanwhile were being awaited from Walter A. Foote, Consul General in Batavia, who is the ranking American representative in Indonesia. He is being replaced by Charles A. Livengood, former economic counselor in Rome, who is scheduled to depart Friday by plane for Batavia by way of The Hague.

The American offer to discuss economic aid for the rehabilitation of Indonesia was made last month in a communication urging the Dutch and Indonesians to get together on an interim government, to run the country until the projected United States of Indonesia takes over by the end of next year.

Today's statement said that when the American Embassy at The Hague was informed yesterday of the Dutch decision to use force, Ambassador Herman B. Baruch was authorized to restate the American position.

Text of Statement

Following is the text of the State Department's statement:

"The United States government was informed on July 20 of the decision of the Netherlands government to resort to a military action in Indonesia beginning on July 21. The Netherlands government stated that this is a police measure of a strictly limited character; that it has no designs on the integrity of the Republic of Indonesia; and that as soon as Netherlands authority is re-established it is prepared to put into force the Linggadjati (Cheribon) agreement of March 25, which provides for establishment by Jan. 1, 1949, of a United States of Indonesia as an equal partner with the Netherlands in a Netherlands-Indonesian union. The United States of Indonesia would comprise the Republic of Indonesia and the states of East Indonesia and Borneo. The hope for a peaceful settlement of Dutch-Indonesian differences which the United States government had publicly expressed, as early as Dec. 19, 1945, seemed to have been realized in the signing of the Linggadjati agreement. Unfortunately, serious differences as to the implementation of that agreement arose during the subsequent negotiations. When it appeared that recourse might be had to military action to resolve these differences, the United States government again urged on both sides a peaceful settlement.

Offer Economic Aid

"On May 27 the Dutch proposed a specific program for implementing the Linggadjati agreement. The United States considered that these proposals furnished a reasonable basis for negotiation and urged both sides to make every effort to reach a settlement in a spirit of good faith and compromise. The United States subsequently sent an aide-memoire to the Indonesians, urging their prompt co-operation for establishment of an interim central government, and informed both the Indonesians and the Dutch of our willingness to discuss economic aid for the rehabilitation of Indonesia as soon as an interim government had been established.

"Both the Dutch and the Indonesians expressed their appreciation of this action and the Indonesians announced their acceptance of all points in the May 27 proposals, except that relating to police procedure. When, however, on July 17 it seemed that discussion on this point had reached an impasse, the United States government once more expressed its concern to the Netherlands government, and on July 20, when our Embassy at The Hague was informed of the Dutch decision to use force, our ambassador was authorized to restate to the Netherlands government our position.

"The United States government profoundly regrets that the negotiation has been discarded as the means of achieving the voluntary association between the Netherlands and Indonesian peoples contemplated by the Linggadjati agreement.

Bonnet Complains

Occupation authorities of the two powers reached agreement at Berlin several days ago on a big increase in the German industrial level, pegged to an annual steel production of about 11,000,000 tons.

French protests were quickly registered at the State Department by Ambassador Henri Bonnet, who said the agreement would jeopardize the Marshall plan. It was evident that he had two points in mind:

1. The agreement would greatly strengthen the propaganda appeal of the Communists in France by enabling them to attack the United States and Britain on a point on which the French appear to be in absolute agreement, namely that Germany must be kept weak.

2. It would jeopardize France's leadership in organizing the western European self-help program as proposed by Secretary of State Marshall by embarrassing the Paris Government at a critical time.

Bonnet said France wants to get as much coal as possible out of the Ruhr mines, but for the benefit of all European countries and not for the advancement of German industry.

U.S. And Britain Accede To France's Ruhr Views

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The United States and Britain, striving to compromise their differences over boosting Ruhr coal output, appear today to have yielded to French protests against an immediate increase in the level of industry for western Germany.

While no official announcement had been made, authorities here indicated that rather than antagonize the French and thereby possibly jeopardize the Marshall plan, the two Western powers would seek to relate the entire German industrial problem directly to European recovery planning now under way at Paris.

Washington and London thus seem to be determined to skirt, rather than meet head on, the grave political and economic issues involved in moves already made to revive industries in western Germany. The objective of those moves is to try to make the defeated and dismembered nation self-supporting and a contributor to general European reconstruction.

Talks Continuing

The problem of coal production actually is due for a showdown this week between the United States and Britain.

The American Government invited the British to send their German experts here to discuss means of increasing the coal output. The British countered with proposals either to hold the coal talks in Berlin or else to broaden the scope of the Washington conference to include financing levels of industry and several other problems.

The United States rejected the counterproposal and that apparently put the next move up to the British. Officials on both sides say only that negotiations are continuing and that they expect a solution rather than a breakdown to result.

REDS BACK DRIVE FOR THIRD PARTY, PROBERS ARE TOLD

Wallace's Name Injected as Mundt Quizzes House Committee Witness.

MAGAZINE DATA SOUGHT

New Republic Financed by Foreign Capital, Steele Testifies.

WASHINGTON, July 21 — (AP) The House Committee on Un-American Activities took to the warpath against Henry A. Wallace anew today after testimony that the Communists are "pushing" for a third party which he might ehad.

The testimony came from Walter S. Steele, chairman of the National Security Committee of the American Coalition of Patriotic, Civic and Fraternal Societies.

After hearing his story, the committee asked for records he said he has on the ownership of the New Republic, weekly magazine of which Wallace is editor. Steele repled he would be glad to furnish them.

The Committee on Un-American Activities had previously been critical of Wallace, especially on his European speaking tour. Just prior to his recent talk here sponsored by the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, a committee report called the organization a Communist front. Both Wallace and the conference have denied any connection with Communism.

Wallace Discussed

Steele, the first of 14 witnesses slated for a week of hearings on Communist activities, testified that American Reds have used wartime atomic experts on the faculties of their schools.

It was when he told of Communists working for a major third party of "leftists" that he turned to a discussion of Wallace, prompted by pointed questions from Rep. Mundt (R.-S. D.).

The national committee of the Communist party issued a call at a meeting in New York City on Feb. 23, 1946, Steele said, for "the immediate formation of a coalition of left wing elements into a third party" early in 1947.

"Immediately thereafter," he continued, "a reorganizing of political Red fronts was begun. This resulted in the forming of the Progressive Citizens of America x x x."

He said this organization is the machinery through which other parties will be pentrated or a third party launched.

"Is that the organization," Mundt inquired, "of which one Henry A. Wallace is a spokesman and member?

"He is," Steele responded.

Under futher questioning, Steele said the Progressive Citizens is linked with a California group headed by Robert Kenny which has sounded a Wallace-for-president call. Steele said Kenny has "headed some other fronts."

New Republic Charges

"Do you know anything about the ownership of the New Republic Magazine?" Mundt asked.

"I have the records in my office," the witness replied.

"Isn't it financed almost excusively by foreign capital?"

"Almost 98 percent," Steele answered.

He said it was incorporated originally in England and now is incorporated in Canada.

Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) then asked Steele whether he could supply his records on the magazine. The witness quickly assented.

Michael Straight, publisher of the New Republic, commented in New York that "these are stale charges which have been brought up repeatedly and which have been repeatedly disaproved." He added that Thomas "must have heard that the New Republic is about to print an article about him."

At a New Jersey meeting of the Progressive Citizens of America, Steele testified, the headline speaker said that if Wallace is not accepted by the Democrats as their presidential candidate, there will be a third party, known as the people's party.

A people's party already has been incorporated with headquarters in Washington, Steele said. He listed Brig. Gen. H. C. Holdridge, retired, as national chairman. He said the incorporators include a former Communist leader of Columbus, Ohio, and a number of fronters. He did not name them.

Tried to Smear Truman

The official party organ, Steele said, follows the Communist party line. He said it tried to smear President Truman as a Hitlerite by referring to him as "Adolph Truman."

Communists cooperate wholeheartedly," Steele said, "in keeping the Progressive Citizens of America in the limelight, and the latter utilizes considerable space in announcing scheduled gatherings in Communist organs.

"Henry Wallace appears to be its mouthpiece. The political action committee of the CIO likewise cooperates with Progressive Citizens."

Steele also reported that Communists have developed new techniques in establishing radio outlets and using recordings for propaganda.

For one reason or another, he said, several radio commentators he described as "Red-Fronters" have left the air. He included Robert St. John, Johannes Steel, Selden Menefee and Frank Kingdon.

In the same category, but still broadcasting, he listed Sidney Rogers and Norman Corwin.

Steele also told the committee:

5,000,000 Reds, He Says

1. There are about 5,000,000 Communists or members of Communist front organizations in the United States; 4,800,000 in the fronts.

2. Two months ago he gave the War Department a list of 2,000 soldiers who were members of the party or of fronts. The committee decided against making the list public without a further check.

3. Many Communist sympathizers are in the reserves, subject to service in another war, although their "loyalty is to the Soviet Union."

Steele, who said he has held his present position since 1924, declared his organization represents 84 societies devoted to patriotism.

He said the Communist party is "camouflaged" as a political party in order to agitate and propagandize.

"They are now pushing for a coalition of leftists," he said, "with the expectation of forming a major third party."

Steele testified the Communists have established party schools at New York, San Francisco, Hollywood, Boston and Cleveland and use them for propaganda purposes.

Oppenheimer Denies Claim

He said Dr. Frank Oppenheimer, who now is "at Minnesota," taught "atomic energy" at the San Francisco school. Dr. Oppenheimer denied in a statement June 12 published reports that he had been a Communist party member.

Oppenheimer's statement said he had worked on atomic developments at Berkeley, Calif., Los Alamos, N. M., and Oak Ridge, Tenn. He is not to be confused with his brother, Robert, one of the nation's chief wartime atomic scientists.

Steele said that Dr. Lewis Balamuth was connected with the Manhattan atomic project during the war and has taught rudiments of atomic power at the New York Communist school.

Also on the faculty of the New York school, Steele said, was Vladimir D. Kazakewski, whom he described as a member of the army special training faculty at Cornell in 1943.

The witness said the catalog of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, which he described as a "legitimate" rather than a Communist school, lists Arthur S. Steinberg and Lewis Corey as faculty members.

He said Steinberg, under the name of Berger, was listed among 140 persons connected with the Canadian spy ring in a document in the possession of the American government.

Steele said he has information that Corey's real name is Lewis Corey Fraini and that he is a charter member of the Communist party.

Names On Papers

The Government did get in an explanation that the papers referred to the travels of one "Samuel Liptzin." The prosecution said he was Eisler, and that the name "Blake" appeared in brackets beside Liptzin's name.

Then counsel went into a huddle with the Court. William Hitz, United States Attorney, explained that the Government contended that whenever the names "Blake" or "Weiner" appeared on the travel agency's records, it meant that the Communist party would pay for passage.

Records Subpoenaed

Hitz told Justice James W. Morris that Welwel Warszower, a vice president of World Tourist, Inc., also was financial secretary of the Communist party and that "Blake" and "Weiner" accounts were paid through him.

Nicholas, who was a special assistant to the United States Attorney in New York in 1939, testified that the records were bubpoenaed at that time. He said 30 or 40 of the "Blake" and "Weiner" entries appeared among several thousand records examined.

Eisler is accused specifically of making false statements in an effort to get a permit to leave the country for a trip to Mexico.

published reports that he has been a Communist party member.

Steele said Balamuth, formerly connected with the Manhattan Atomic Project, has been teaching the rudiments of atomic power at the Jefferson School of Social Science in New York.

The Communists, the witness said, maintains schools in America as tools of propaganda and agitation. He said the New York and San Francisco schools are the two largest.

Lists 5,000,000 in U. S.

There are some 5,000,000 Communists or members of Communist bunds in the United States.

The Communists are "pushing" for creation of a major, third political party.

The Communists have established schools in Hollywood, Boston and Cleveland, in addition to those at San Francisco and New York.

The San Francisco and New York schools are on the Government's approved list for G. I. educational benefits, as a result of State certification.

Steele said that on the faculty of the Jefferson School in New York is Vladimir D. Kazakewski, whom he described as a member of the Army's special training faculty at Cornell in 1943.

and that Fraini is a charter member of the Communist party.

Not a Communist School.

Both Steele and Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R.-N. J.) of the House committee took pains to point out that Antioch is a "legitimate" school, not a "Communist college."

Steele described the organization he spoke for as a coalition of eighty-four societies promoting patriotism.

He gave this breakdown of Communists and their sympathizers in this country:

1. Upwards of 100,000 card-carrying members of the Communist party.

2. Another 100,000 candidates for party membership.

3. Approximately 4,800,000 members of Communist front organizations.

Calls Fronts Dangerous.

Steele called the front organizations far more dangerous than the party. He explained: "The leaders are publicized as authors, professors, scientists and professional men. Ever increasing members are joining them. All are gradually veering to the party line through the pulling of the strings of the tireless workers among these forces who have affiliations."

Steele was the first of fourteen witnesses scheduled for a week's hearings on Communist activity. He testified additionally:

Steele said he submitted to the War Department two months ago a list of 2,000 Army officers or men who are members of the Communist party or of fronts.

When Representative Nixon (R.-Cal.) commented that all people belonging to "fronts" may not be deliberately sympathetic with the Communist party, Steele agreed. But he estimated that 60 per cent of the 2,000 are active party members.

Before taking the stand, Steele gave reporters a statement saying many of these men are now in the Army reserve.

EISLER'S TRIPS ABROAD CITED

Government Seeks To Show Communists Paid His Fare

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The Government today sought, over strenuous defense objections, to show that the Communist party paid for trips Gerhart Eisler made to Europe in 1935 and 1936.

The effort brought a protracted wrangle, out of eharing of the jury, in the passport fraud trial of Eisler, named by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as the chief American agent of Russian communism.

The jury was cut out of the Nicholas, assistant chief of the State Department's passport division, introduced papers which the Government said were records of a travel organization known as World Tourist, Inc.

Witness Tells House Committee a Major Third Party Is Aim of 5,000,000 in U. S.

Washington, July 21 (A. P.).—Walter S. Steele told the House Committee on un-American Activities today that Dr. Frank Oppenheimer and Dr. Lewis Balamuth, wartime experts on atomic power, have taught since at Communist schools.

Steele, who testified as chairman of the National Security Committee of the American Coalition of Patriotic, Civic and Fraternal Societies, said Oppenheimer recently instructed in "atomic energy" at the California Workers School in San Francisco. He said Oppenheimer now is "at Minnesota."

On July 12 Dr. Oppenheimer denied as "complete fabrication"

On the faculty at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, is Arthur G. Steinberg, who was listed, Steele said, as "Berger" on a roll of 140 names given the Government as linked with the Canadian spy ring.

Another instructor at Antioch, Steele said, is listed in the catalogue as Lewis Corey. Steele said he has been told the man's real name is Lewis Corey Fraini

A. A. F. to Test 42,000-pound Bomb

Giant Missile to Be Ready in a Few Months—Atom Scientists Hint at Quake Bomb.

Washington, July 21 (A. P.).—The Army Air Forces are developing and probably will test in the next few months a 42,000-pound super-size bomb. As far as it is known, this will be the largest standard-explosive—that is, non-atomic—missile ever made.

The weight of the bomb suggests that it is intended for use in such aircraft as the B-36, which is capable of carrying thirty-six tons of explosives and is equipped with a bomb bay of enormous dimensions.

There was a hint over the week end, meanwhile, that the military may be looking into the future for an even more fearful weapon—an atomic bomb which when dropped from a high altitude might sink deep into the earth and produce a man-made quake.

An A. A. F. announcement of forthcoming tests with deep-penetration bombs on a submarine assembly factory at Farge, Germany, referred specifically only to two standard explosive bombs developed since the war's end. They are the 25,000-pound Amazon and Samson. But the announcement concluded with this cryptic statement: "With the introduction of atomic warfare in world war II, it is logical that the need for these specialized types of bombs may be even greater for future defense."

The experiment is a joint A. A. F.-R. A. F. test of bombs developed by the two nations since the war. The bombs, however, will not contain high explosives, lest nearby villages and dwellings suffer.

GROVES DENIES HE DISCREDITS ATOMIC GROUP

Says Insinuations That He Opposes the Lilienthal Body Are Untrue.

FAVORS CIVILIAN CONTROL

Declares That War Department Has Co-operated Fully With Commission.

Washington, July 21 (A. P.).—Major-Gen. Leslie R. Groves denied officially and angrily today what he called insinuations that he has sought to "discredit" the civilian-controlled Atomic Energy Commission headed by David E. Lilienthal.

In an unusual statement released through the War Department, the officer who directed the development and production of atomic bombs until the Army's Manhattan Project was taken over by the commission last January 1, said that Secretary of War Patterson had "expressed the desire that I issue a statement with respect to some matters recently discussed in the press."

[Groves presumably referred to the recent revelation by The New York Sun that important data had been stolen from the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic-bomb installation and to the repercussions following that disclosure. For several days after publication of its first article, The Sun offered further evidence, despite official denials or minimizing of the disclosure, that data of top-secret nature were missing from Oak Ridge and that many persons familiar with atomic-energy matters were alarmed over the apparent laxity of security measures. The Sun's stories evoked an official admission that numerous secret documents and photographs had been removed unlawfully from the files of the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic-bomb plant.]

Groves asserted that (A) "Erroneous reports have been widely circulated the last few days concerning my position on atomic energy matters"; (B) Several of these "insinuated that I have encouraged a campaign to discredit the administration" of the commission, and (C) "All such reports and innuendoes are absolutely untrue."

To this the general added the flat statement: "I am not nor have I ever been a party to any effort calculated to place the Atomic Energy Commission in an unfavorable light in the eyes of the American public."

For Civilian Control.

Groves also appended two further assertions:

1. Before the first bomb was used in the summer of 1945 he advised former Secretary of War Stimson and Gen. George C. Marshall, then Chief of Staff, that he favored prompt legislation "which would remove atomic energy from the control of the War Department."

2. In testimony before a Congressional committee in February, 1946, "I stated that I had never sought or aspired to any appointment on or under any proposed Atomic Energy Commission" and in later hearings said "I would no longer willingly serve in any such capacity." Those, Groves said today, "are still my views."

Groves's statement today said: "I feel that the War Department has co-operated wholeheartedly with the Atomic Energy Commission since its appointment, and I personally, as well as the organization of which I am a member, (the Armed Forces Special Weapons Project) stand ready at any time to lend assistance to the members of the Atomic Energy Commission, if such assistance is desired by them."

Says Bomb Saved Lives.

Groves concluded his statement with these words:

"There is something I would like to make clear. I was brought up in the Army and since 1916 I have been a member of the Army.

"In 1942 I was ordered by my superiors to take over development of the atomic bomb. The verdict as to my performance can be left to history. Regardless of any present interpretations of that verdict, I am proud of the American lives we saved by our accomplishment. After V-J day, I did my best to maintain an efficient organization to turn over to the Atomic Energy Commission.

"This turnover was made on January 1, 1947. Since that time, I cannot qualify as an expert on the operation of this project.

"As to the future, I will always be ready to serve the United States as I have been in the past.

"Every effort must be made to promote and protect this final weapon upon which the security of the United States, in fact the whole world, depends—and, in addition, we must promote and protect the development of the social use of the basic energy which will mean as much to peace as it does to war."

Two former Army sergeants are awaiting grand jury action on charges of unlawful removal of documents from the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic bomb plant.

"With the introduction of atomic warfare in World War II, it is logical that the need for these specialized types of bombs may be even greater in future defense."

One possibility suggested was that the language might refer to development of measures against installations put underground as protection against atomic bombs.

Some atomic scientists, however, are understood to go further in speculation. They are reported to want a test of the theory that shock waves set off by an underground atomic blast would act like an earthquake and destroy structures much farther away than a bomb above ground would affect.

The power of non-atomic explosives smashing their way deep into the earth before detonation was demonstrated by the British late in World War II. Deep penetration bombs set off shock waves that smashed a tunnel 135 feet below the surface, far below the point of the blast.

The purpose of the coming tests is to see how far the 25,000-pound bombs will drive into reinforced concrete structures.

Along with announcement of the "Samson" and "Amazon" tests, the AAF disclosed that it is developing and probably will test a 42,000-pounder in the next few months.

That reportedly is the heaviest standard-explosive weapon ever developed but the AAF recently had an even bigger super-bomb—a 100,000-pounder—in the blueprint stage. Designers said, however, that the project had been shelved in a curtailment of research.

Man-Made Earthquakes Hinted In U.S. Bombing Tests in Reich

WASHINGTON, July 21 — (AP) The Army Air Forces set off speculation on the possibility of man-made earthquakes as a war weapon today. It coupled an announcement of deep-penetration bombing tests with mention of a connection with atomic warfare.

The announcement concerned principally the arrival of three B-29s at Giebelstadt, Germany, for experiments with the biggest post-war standard-explosive bombs—the 25,000 pound "Samson" and "Amazon." They will be used on the heavily-protected submarine assembly factory at Farge, Germany.

The AAF closed its statement thus:

Gems on Way Back To House of Hesse

Army Turns Stolen Jewels Over to Customs Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—In the first step toward eventual return to the German House of Hesse, more than $1,500,000 of recovered royal jewels and heirlooms today were turned over by the Army to the Customs Bureau.

The Army said the jewels were no longer needed in connection with the court-martial proceedings which followed theft of the jewels from Kronberg Castle in Frankfurt am Main in 1945.

Former WAC Captain Kathleen Nash Durant now is in a Federal reformatory in West Virginia, awaiting a decision on her habeas corpus plea from a court-martial sentence of five years in the theft. Her husband, Colonel Jack Durant, was sentenced to fifteen years.

Customs regulations require that the House of Hesse must go through the formality of proving rightful ownership before the jewels can be returned.

RUSSIANS REFUSE TO PAY FOR SEIZED U.S. OIL EQUIPMENT

WASHINGTON, July 21 — (AP) The United States has protested Russia's failure to pay for 7,000 tons of oil equipment owned by a Romanian subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey and removed from Romania by Soviet forces.

This was disclosed late today by the State department. It announced the American embassy in Moscow has presented a note to the Russian foreign office, protesting the refusal of Russian members of a joint American-Soviet commission to agree on a settlement of the case.

The department said the property, valued at about $1,000,000, was taken from Romania late in 1944. It belonged to Romano-Americana, Standard's subsidiary, it said.

Reds Refuse to Cooperate

The State department announcement disclosed that the American members of the Soviet-American commission, set up to iron out the question, withdrew last June 12, "after it became obvious there was no hope of securing any cooperation from Soviet members in carrying out the commission's responsibilities."

The State department set forth in detail the futile efforts of American negotiators to get Soviet cooperation during nine meetings over a 23 months period. The commission was organized Aug. 20, 1945, by big three agreement at Potsdam.

The protest contained a "factual summary" of the commission's operation and in addition asked the Russian government for a statement of its "views and intentions with respect to the matter," the department said.

In its document, the United States maintained it had proven the American ownership of the equipment. The Russians argued, it indicated, that they were not convinced the equipment did not belong to the Germans, and thus presumably was to be considered as war booty.

The Russians insisted that they could not reveal data concerning equipment taken by Soviet forces as long as the Americans did not prove that all equipment held or received by Romano-Americana during 1942 to 1944 was American property.

The American members flatly rejected this argument.

"Feeling that the continued existence of the commission would serve no useful purpose," the State department said, "the American members in accordance with the instructions of their government announced that they would consider the commission terminated as of that date, June 12, 1947."

Fact-Finding Jaunts Abroad Planned By House Groups

Washington, July 21 (AP)—A wave of curiosity is sweeping the House side of Capitol Hill, with indications that late summer may find the world's airways, seaways and roadways teeming with congressional investigators.

Upwards of a dozen trips, some to faraway lands, are being considered by House committees whose members want to find out for themselves what's going on in the world.

Formerly "Junkets"

The trips used to be called junkets, but since the dictionaries define a junket as "an outing or pleasure excursion" at public expense, there have been congressional complaints in the past that the word does not fit all trips.

House Armed Services Committee members are trying to decide whether they want to visit the Orient or Europe. The committee plans two official trips, but they will overlap.

30.24-11051

Several subcommittees of the Foreign Affairs Committee are projecting visits to various parts of the world, while the proposed new special nineteen-member House group to study foreign aid has several foreign investigations in mind.

Hollywood On The List

Three Labor subcommittees may go to California to investigate labor activities in the movie, building and food industries. Each has Hollywood as one of their tentative goals.

A Public Lands subcommittee plans to visit Alaska as part of its study to determine whether the territory should become a state. Another group from the same committee has an investigation of the Hawaiian situation in mind.

Alaska also may be visited by a Commerce subcommittee studying airport development.

Film Reds, Canal Zone

The Committee on Un-American Activities had planned to go to Hollywood to determine whether Communists are active in the movies, as some members contend. But it may conduct the investigation here instead and have the movie-colony witnesses come to the Capital.

Members of the Merchant Marine Committee are undecided whether to return to the Panama Canal Zone—they went there earlier this year with their wives—to see how the canal is operating and investigate the situation generally.

U. S. Delegation Named to Assembly

Vandenberg and Connally Off at Own Request

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—President Truman today named the American delegation to the September session of the United Nations General Assembly, and left off the list members of Congress who served at previous regular sessions.

State Department officials told reporters that Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican, of Michigan, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee; Senator Tom Connally, Democrat, of Tex., and others who served at the Assembly's first two sessions had been omitted at their own request.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall is expected to head the delegation to the next session, opening in New York Sept. 16. Mr. Truman sent to the Senate the nominations of these other members:

Delegates—Warren R. Austin, senior United States Representative on the U. N. Security Council; Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Herschel V. Johnson and John Foster Dulles.

Alternates—Charles Fahy, recently State Department legal advisor; Willard Thorp, Assistant Secretary of State for Economic Affairs; Francis B. Sayre, Adlai Stevenson and Dr. Virginia C. Gildersleeve.

Secretary Marshall's name was not submitted with the others, as he does not require Senate confirmation.

Mr. Austin and Mrs. Roosevelt are the only holdovers among the full delegates from the first regular session, although Mr. Dulles was an alternate then. Mrs. Roosevelt, in addition, is American member of the U. N. Human Rights Commission.

Mr. Stevenson, former representative on the U. N. Preparatory Commission, was included among the alternates last year, but the others are new.

Mr. Sayre, former Ambassador to the Philippines, is currently United States representative on the U. N. Trusteeship Council. Dr. Gildersleeve, a United States alternate at the United Nations San Francisco organization meeting, is former dean of Barnard College, New York City.

SNYDER TAKES OFF ON TRIP TO BRAZIL

Washington, July 21 (A. P.).—John W. Snyder, Secretary of the Treasury, took off today for Brazil, where he may arrange for President Truman to visit Rio de Janeiro later in the summer. Snyder flew in President Truman's private plane, the "Independence."

Snyder himself has described the purpose of his ten-day trip as "social," but other Government officials say he probably will discuss final arrangements for a flying trip to Brazil by President Truman in August or early September.

Similarly, Snyder is expected to confer with Brazilian monetary authorities regarding the possibility of a new currency stabilization agreement with the United States.

Accompanying Snyder was William D. Pawley, United States Ambassador to Brazil, who is returning to his post to aid this country's delegation attending the Rio conference next month.

The party also included Major-Gen. Harry Vaughan, Mr. Truman's military aid, and Brazilian Ambassador Carlos Martins, who is returning to Rio de Janeiro to participate in the Rio de Janeiro conference.

Diplomatic officials in a position to know, speculated that President Truman might fly to Brazil in time to attend the final session of the Foreign Ministers' meeting.

Senate Rejects House Version Of Unification

Names 7 for Conference; Andrews Urges Delay on Draft to Poll Constituents

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—The Senate refused today to accept the House's version of legislation to unify the armed services and appointed a committee to seek a compromise.

The Senate conferees are Senators Chan Gurney, Republican, of South Dakota; Leverett Saltonstall, Republican, of Massachusetts; Wayne Morse, Republican, of Oregon; Raymond E. Baldwin, Republican, of Connecticut; Millard Tydings, Democrat, of Maryland; Richard B. Russell, Democrat, of Georgia, and Harry F. Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia.

CHINESE CALL ON TRUMAN

Legislative Yuan Mission Discusses Countries' Friendship

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—President Truman conferred today with members of the Chinese Legislative Yuan mission here to study operation of the United States legislative system.

S. Y. Wu, Secretary General of the Legislative Yuan, said the group was "very pleased" to talk with the President about Chinese-American friendship.

Mr. Wu explained to reporters that the group desired to learn everything it could about Congressional procedure. A new Chinese Constitution becomes effective Dec. 25.

"We came to America to see how democracy is practiced in this cradle of democratic institutions," Mr. Wu added.

Senate Group Restores Occupation Cost Funds

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP).—A Senate appropriations subcommittee voted today to restore to a pending appropriation bill the full $725,000,000 asked by President Truman to finance American occupation costs abroad. The House had approved only $550,000,000 for these operations.

The Senate committee left at the $332,000,000 which had been approved by the House the appropriation for foreign relief. President Truman asked $350,000,000 but the House cut off $18,000,000 which had been allocated to countries not now co-operating in the relief program.

Eaton Disputes Connally

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Representative Eaton took sharp exception to a statement by Senator Tom Connally of Texas, ranking Democrat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who recently expressed doubt that the sixteen-nation Marshall plan conference in Paris could formulate a joint recovery plan.

"I haven't the information that Senator Connally had," Mr. Eaton said tartly.

"In my opinion, this (Paris conference) is one of the most hopeful things that has happened since the end of the shooting war. I am hopeful that a real, workable policy will be established."

Representative Clarence Lea, Democrat, of California, ranking minority member of the House Interstate Commerce Committee, told reporters he was "very impressed" by Secretary Marshall's recital. But he said all he could reveal was that the situation was "grave."

Meanwhile, Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman said at a press conference that experts from his department would be sent to Germany shortly to help United States military authorities in their efforts to boost the production of exportable German goods.

Mr. Harriman, who has just returned from a tour of Germany, said Germany's biggest need right now was to increase coal production in the Ruhr, where the mines are turning out only half their prewar volume.

Mr. Harriman predicted success for the Marshall plan, provided the European nations agreed on what they could do for themselves and made an estimate of what they would need from this country.

ROOSEVELT FILES ARE GIFT TO U. S., SURROGATE RULES

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 21—(AP) The papers and files of Franklin D. Roosevelt were held today to be a "valid and effective" gift of the late president of the United States to be kept in the library which he established at his Hyde Park home.

Dutchess County Surrogate Frederick S. Quinterro made the ruling in an action brought by Roosevelt's executors to get legal determination on the question whether the papers should go to the library or were a part of the estate.

Effect of Ruling Studied

It was not made clear immediately whether the ruling automatically made the documents available to all branches of the Federal government.

Earle R. Koons, attorney for the Roosevelt estate, said in New York he did not believe this question figured in the surrogate's decision.

Several months ago Fred W. Shipman, in charge of the Franklin D. Roosevelt library at Hyde Park, said "if the Roosevelt papers are turned over to the government by court order, the United States archivist would face no insurmountable problem in making the papers available to a Senate committee or any other government body for official use."

He could not be reached today.

In Washington, Dr. Solon J. Buck, archivist of the United States, declined comment on the surrogate's decision until he had learned of it officially. The Hyde Park library is under his jurisdiction.

One official, who asked that his name not be used, said "not all government property is accessible to all government officials. But I don't know what rule might apply to the Roosevelt papers."

The special Senate War Investigating committee several weeks ago unsuccessfully sought permission to go through the late president's papers in search of data on Navy purchases of Arabian oil.

Last Saturday the same committee issued a subpoena to the Roosevelt executors for papers dealing with war contracts of the Hughes Tool Co. and the Kaiser-Hughes Corp.

The committee is checking planes which these firms signed contracts to manufacture. The tool company is headed by Howard Hughes, the aviator. He and Henry J. Kaiser, the industrialist, were associated in the other concern.

Koons said the executors would make "every effort" to furnish the subpoenaed papers, but that it was not known at once if they were included in the documents now stored at the Hyde Park library.

Not Part of Estate

Surrogate Quinterro said "the fact Mr. Roosevelt makes no mention of papers in the will executed by him Nov. 12, 1941, which date was several months after the opening and dedication of the library, gives rise to a fair inference that he already had effectively disposed of those papers and that they were not to be regarded as part of his estate.

"In view of Mr. Roosevelt's declaration of his plan for the final disposition of his paper the consisten course of conduct followed by him to consummate this plan and a principle of law applicable thereto, the decision of this court is that Franklin D Roosevelt, during his lifetime, made a valid and effective gift x x x."

The surrogate noted his ruling that Roosevelt had expressed a wish that three persons examine his papers to determine which should never be made public and which should remain sealed for a prescribed period. The three named by the late president in his memorandum were Harry L. Hopkins, now dead, Samuel Rosenman and Grace G. Tully, his White House secretary.

CHANDLER TO RECEIVE SENTENCE ON JULY 30

BOSTON, July 21—(AP) Federal Judge Francis J. W. Ford today set July 30 for the sentencing of Douglas Chandler, 58, former Baltimore writer, who was convicted of treason for serving as a radio mouthpiece for Nazi propaganda during the war.

The date was announced shortly after the court had denied defense motions to arrest judgment and for a new trial. The sentence, which is entirely at the discretion of Judge Ford who presided at the 18-day trial, may be death or as little as five years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000.

Denton School Principal Returning From Vienna

Denton, Md., July 21 (AP)—T. Wilson Cahill is ready to return as principal of the Hagerstown High School from which he has been absent for nearly one year as instructor for the children of United States Army officers in Vienna, Austria.

Cahill flew back to America last week. He started his teaching career at Caroline High School in Denton.

POWERS CLASH ON ADMITTING ALBANIA TO UN

LAKE SUCCESS, July 21—(AP) Four great powers, disagreeing sharply with Russia, expressed "grave" doubts today about admitting Soviet-sponsored Albania to the United Nations.

Principles laid down by delegates at the membership committee of the United Nations Security Council indicated that the applications of Albania and eight other countries would have rough sledding, with no present assurance that any would be accepted.

Reds Win Hungary Fight

Other U.N. developments:

1. In the economic and social council, Soviet Russia successfully defended Hungary against a Cuban attempt to put the present Communist-dominated government of Hungary into the "undemocratic" class in which the U.N. has put Franco Spain. The council by 10 to 1 vote, with the United States abstaining, approved Hungary's application for membership in the U.N. educational, scientific and cultural organization (UNESCO).

2. Frederick H. Osborn, United States deputy on the Atomic Energy Commission, said in the commission's political committee that an overall plan for quotas for source material, nuclear fuel and dangerous facilities should be written into an atomic control treaty. He thus agreed partly with Soviet Russia on a quota system but the U. S. and Russia still do not see eye-to-eye on international or national ownership of atomic facilities and materials.

Hayden Raynor, United States, drafted two questions for Albania. He asked whether Albania intended to comply with the April recommendation by the security council that Britain and Albania take their Corfu mine dispute to the International Court of Justice and, if so, when.

France Reverses Stand

A major shift in the council lineup from last year came when Pierre Ordonneau, of France, reversed his country's approval of Albania and said the council should ask Albania about her intentions. He said France's opinion of Albania had been seriously damaged by her attitude in the Corfu case and the attitude of the Albanian delegations before the security council.

Brazil, which voted with Russia, Poland, Mexico and France for Albania last August, endorsed the U. S. questions, as did Belgium. Britain, China and Australia voiced their "doubts" about Albania's "peace-loving character."

Alexei N. Krasilnikov, Russia, defended Albania against what he caled "slanders."

At the start of the session, Krasilnikov said that the delegates could not ignore the actions of an applicant country in World War II. He insisted the country's behavior should be one of the standards by which it is judged for membership.

He also said that the Soviet government attaches "profound meaning" to the point of diplomatic relations between applicant countries and the Soviet Union. Russia vetoed the applications of Ireland, Portugal and Transjordan last August because they had no diplomatic relations with Moscow. They still do not have—and Russia has not changed her mind on that score.

Delegates of the United States, Britain, Australia and Brazil promptly declared that behavior in the war must not be a criterion for membership.

Col. W. R. Hodgson, Australia, also charged that exclusion of a country on grounds of no diplomatic relations is a "violation of the United Nations charter."

The membership committee adjourned until Wednesday without acting on the questions proposed for Albania.

Effort Of 2 Russ Allies To Join U.N. Is Stalled

Lake Success, July 21 (AP)—Russian hopes of piling up additional voting strength in the United Nations appeared doomed today on the basis of unsettled incidents involving two of her satellites now seeking membership.

As the Security Council's eleven-nation membership committee was called to meet, the other big powers adopted a cautious attitude toward applications from Albania and Outer Mongolia.

Still unsettled are British charges that Albania mined the Corfu Channel, damaging two Royal Navy ships with a loss of 44 lives, and border skirmishes between Outer Mongolia and China.

Won't Go To Court

Britain holds a move to settle the Corfu case a necessary condition to approval of Albania's request for admission.

So far Albania has refused to comply with a Council decision that the case be taken to the International Court of Justice. The Council took this action after Russia prevented a guilty verdict with a veto.

Both applications were originally rejected in 1946 by a majority vote. Then China supported Outer Mongolia. Indications now were that the Chinese want a border settlement first.

Action on the other three considered applications, from Ireland, Portugal and Trans-Jordan, depends entirely on Russia. Last year, Russia vetoed the three on the ground that they had no diplomatic relations with Moscow. They still don't.

At present Russia can count on Poland, White Russia, Soviet Ukraine, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakai. Romania and Hungary recently applied for admission and Finland and Bulgaria are expected to follow. These four, plus Albania and Outer Mongolia, would give the Soviets twelve probable votes.

Albania is also involved in the Balkan case now being debated by the Council. Discussions will be resumed tomorrow; a vote may come by the end of the week on an American proposal to set up a semi-permanent border commission on Greece's frontiers with Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria.

Unafraid Of Veto

A authoritative source said that the American delegation would refuse to be swayed by Russian veto threats in this matter. This source said stronger charges aimed at the Soviet satellites might be presented to the Council if Russia vetoes the present Greek complaint.

The new and tougher charges would cover the incidents surrounding the reported invasion of Greece from Albania.

Navy Man Accused of Mistreating Fellow Prisoners at Jap Camps

NEW YORK, July 21 — (AP) Charged with mistreating fellow prisoners of war at Japanese camps in the Philippine Islands, Chief Signalman Harry E. Hirshberg, 29, of Brooklyn, went on trial today before a Navy court martial.

Specific charges were not immediately revealed.

Lt. Cmdr. John J. O'Neil, defense counsel, told the court, "Now it is easy to say how this man should have acted. But while a prisoner he had one main interest, survival. The court must acknowledge that survival is a dominant trait of man."

Lt. Cmdr. Fred H. Frey, prosecuting the case as judge advocate, said in his presentment that Hirshberg had struck other prisoners.

Hirshberg enlisted in the Navy in 1936. Captured at Corregidor in May, 1942, he was held in various prisoner of war camps in the Philippines and was transferred to Japan in August, 1944.

LUSTIG LOSES APPEAL

NEW YORK, July 21—(AP) The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today unanimously affirmed conviction of Henry Lustig, head of the Longchamps Restaurant chain, and two others under a 23-count indictment charging wilful evasion of $2,872,766 income tax liabilities and conspiracy.

Lustig was sentenced July 10, 1946, to four years imprisonment and fined $115,000 by Federal Judge Harold Kennedy. E. Allan Lustig, his nephew and general manager of the restaurant chain, was sentenced to three years imprisonment, and Joseph Sobel, certified public accountant for the the chain, to two years. All were convicted by a jury after a lengthy trial.

FIRST LEAD BURMESE (230)

BY JACK SMITH

LONDON, JULY 21-(AP)-TOM DRIBERG, LABOR MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT, CHARGED TODAY THAT "COMFORTABLE, CONSERVATIVE GENTLEMEN" IN ENGLAND BORE MORAL GUILT FOR THE BURMESE COUNCIL MASSACRE.

DRIBERG ASKED PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS IF HE WOULD KEEP IN KIND THAT "THE MORAL GUILT FOR THE ASSASSINATION ATTACHED LESS TO THE BRUTAL GUNMEN IN RANGOON THAN TO COMFORTABLE, CONSERVATIVE GENTLEMEN HERE WHO INCITED U SAW TO TREACHERY AND SABOTAGE."

U SAW, FORMER BURMESE PREMIER, AND MORE THAN 200 OTHER BURMESE HAVE BEEN DETAINED IN CONNECTION WITH THE SHOOTINGS, IN WHICH U SAW'S POLITICAL FOE, U AUNG SAN, DEPUTY CHAIRMAN OF THE BURMA EXECUTIVE COUNCIL, AND HIS ASSOCIATES WERE SLAIN.

ATTLEE DID NOT ANSWER DRIBERG'S QUESTION.

MANY CONSERVATIVE MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT HAVE OPPOSED THE LABOR GOVERNMENT'S PLANS FOR GRANTING BURMA QUICK INDEPENDENCE.

BEFORE DRIBERG SPOKE, ATTLEE TOLD THE HOUSE THE ASSASSINATIONS WOULD "IN NO WAY DEFLECT THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT FROM THEIR SETTLED POLICY" TOWARD BURMA, AN OFFER OF FREEDOM INSIDE OR OUTSIDE OF THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH.

THE PRIME MINISTER ADDED THAT "THE PLOT" AGAINST U AUNG SAN "ARE NOT YET CLEAR." HE SAID THE HOUSE WOULD JOIN HIM IN "DEPLORING THIS BRUTAL OUTRAGE."

ANTHONY EDEN, FOR THE CONSERVATIVE OPPOSITION, ASKED ATTLEE ABOUT THE RESPONSIBILITY OF BRITISH TROOPS IN BURMA, "IN VIEW OF THE GRAVE SITUATION."

"THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR MAINTAINING INTERNAL SECURITY RESTS WITH THE GOVERNOR OF BURMA, AND TROOPS ARE AVAILABLE TO HIM FOR THIS PURPOSE," ATTLEE REPLIED.

LONDON--FIRST ADD MIGHT LEAD IMMIGRATION XXX IMMIGRATION QUOTAS. PALESTINE JEWS ESTIMATED THAT 15,000 WERE IN CYPRUS DETENTION CAMPS.

BELIEF THAT THE IMMIGRANTS MIGHT BE SENT ON TO COLOMBIA APPEARED BASED ON REPORTS THAT LARGE NUMBERS OF THE REFUGEES HAD COLOMBIAN PASSPORTS WHEN THEY EMBARKED. THE COLOMBIAN EMBASSY IN PARIS SAID IT WAS INVESTIGATING WHETHER THIS WAS TRUE AND IF SO HOW IT HAD COME ABOUT.

ONE FRENCH SOURCE SAID THE DEPORTATION SHIPS WOULD BE ALLOWED TO STAY IN VILLEFRANCE ONLY LONG ENOUGH TO TAKE ON FUEL "FOR THE TRIP TO COLOMBIA."

AN AUTHORITATIVE SOURCE SAID THE RETURN OF THE REFUGEES TO FRANCE RESULTED FROM CONSULTATIONS WITH "CERTAIN" EUROPEAN POWERS THAT HAD BROUGHT AGREEMENTS SO FAR WITH TWO COUNTRIES, FRANCE AND ITALY.

HE HINTED, HOWEVER, THAT BOTH COUNTRIES HAD RESERVATIONS ABOUT TAKING IMMIGRANTS BACK AND MIGHT CHANGE THEIR POLICIES, AND THAT OTHER COUNTRIES MAY HAVE REFUSED TO ACCEPT BRITAIN'S VIEWPOINT ON HALTING IMMIGRATION TO PALESTINE. HE THEREFORE WARNED AGAINST ACCEPTING THE WARFIELD CASE AS THE PRECEDENT IN A NEW POLICY.

Berlin, July 21-(ap)-Seven Germans arrested last month in a pre-dawn raid led by orazio r. carlucci of Bloomfield, N.J., will go on trial soon before an american military government court on charges of counterfeiting with huge piles of allied military marks.

1947 JUL

Carlucci, director of criminal investigation for the u.s.army here, headed a squad of nine german and american agents which swept down on a counterfeit plant in suburban dahlem, near the residence of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the american military governor.

JUL 1947

Bills in the amount of 2,894,000 reichsmarks ($289,000) were confiscated, together with a nearly finished engraving of an american $100 bill, printing presses and stocks of paper.

The counterfeit marks all were in 1,000-mark denominations, which are valid only in the russian occupation zone of germany.

Among the defendants was baron carl xx von karstenn, described by the agents as the "brains" of the ring.

JUL 1947

Carlucci, 37, has been head of the army 's criminal investigation division since xx october, 1945, and heads a department of 30 agents. Now in civilian status, he was personnel director in the naval supply depot at bayonne, n.j., before coming to europe as an army officer.

BERLIN, JULY 21-(AP)-GEN.LUCIUS D.CLAY REPORTED TODAY THAT A COAL SHORTAGE WAS HAMPERING FACTORY PRODUCTION IN THE U.S.ZONE, WHICH HAD AN INDUSTRIAL RESURGENCE IN LATE SPRING.

THE AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNOR, IN A REPORT TO WASHINGTON, WHERE A BRITISH-AMERICAN CONFERENCE ON BOOSTING RUHR COAL PRODUCTION HAS BEEN SCHEDULED FOR THIS WEEK, SAID THE LACK OF COAL AND ELECTRIC POWER WAS HAVING A PARTICULAR EFFECT ON THE CHEMICAL AND NEWSPRINT INDUSTRIES.

CLAY SAID THE U.S.ZONE HAD SENT 2,550 NEW MINERS INTO THE RUHR REGION AND HOPED TO BOOST THE NUMBER TO 50,000, BUT ADDED THAT THE PROGRAM WAS HANDICAPPED BY A HOUSING SHORTAGE.

THE REPORT STATED THAT ABSENTEEISM AMONG FACTORY WORKERS, FORAGING IN THE COUNTRYSIDE FOR FOOD, WAS ANOTHER REASON FOR THE SET-BACK IN PRODUCTION.

ATHENS, JULY 21-(AP)-PRESS DISPATCHES REPORTED TODAY THAT GUERRILLA BANDS HAD ATTACKED TWO POINTS IN NORTHERN GREECE NEAR THE YUGOSLAV BORDER, AND THAT IN EACH CASE THEY WITHDREW AFTER BATTLE TO YUGOSLAV TERRITORY.

GREEK TROOPS PURSUED HARASSING ACTION AGAINST LEFTIST FORCES IN THE MOUNTAINS NEAR THE FRONTIER OF ALBANIA, YUGOSLAVIA'S WESTERN NEIGHBOR, AFTER REPELLING THE OFFENSIVE AGAINST KONITSA LAST WEEK.

DISPATCHES TODAY FROM SALONIKA SAID 400 GUERRILLAS HAD ATTACKED MOURIES, 25 MILES NORTH OF SALONIKA, AT DAWN YESTERDAY BUT WERE REPELLED BY GREEK COMMANDOS WHO KILLED 10 BEFORE THE REMAINING GUERRILLAS FLED ACROSS THE YUGOSLAVP BORDER TWO MILES AWAY.

ARMY CASUALTIES WERE TWO KILLED AND TWO WOUNDED.

OTHER DISPATCHES SAID 300 GUERRILLAS RAIDED A POLICE STATION AT MESAHORI, ABOUT TWO MILES SOUTH OF THE YUGOSLAV BORDER AND 11 MILES NORTHEAST OF PHLORINA, WHERE GREEK AUTHORITIES SAID THEY HAVE FEARED A POSSIBLE "INVASION." SIMULTANEOUSLY A BAND ARMED WITH HEAVY MACHINEGUNS AND MORTARS WAS REPORTED TO HAVE ATTACKED THE NEARBY VILLAGE OF MESOKAMBOS, SETTING FIRE TO NINE HOUSES, DESPITE STRONG OPPOSITION BY ARMED PEASANTS.

ONE NEWSPAPER ACCOUNT DECLARED THE ATTACK WAS SUPPORTED BY MACHINEGUN FIRE FROM THE 58TH YUGOSLAV FRONTIER POST.

MEANWHILE, THE UNITED NATIONS SUBCOMMISSION INVESTIGATING GREEK BORDER DISORDERS ANNOUNCED THAT IT PLANNED TO VISIT KONITSA TO INSPECT THE AREA WHERE GUERRILLA FORCES LAUNCHED THEIR FIRST BIG ATTACK AGAINST GOVERNMENT FORCES EIGHT DAYS AGO.

BATAVIA, JAVA, JULY 21-(AP)-THE DUTCH WARNED THE 42,000,000 PEOPLE OF JAVA TODAY THAT PUNISHMENT "WITHOUT FAIL" WAS IN STORE FOR PERPETRATORS OF A SCORCHED EARTH POLICY AND THOSE CREATING CONFUSION.

MESSAGES SIGNED BY LT.GEN.SIMON H.SPOOR, DUTCH COMMANDER, IN THE ADVANCE OF DUTCH ARMY UNITS SAID:

"THE ARMY CAME IN WITH THE AIM OF GUARANTEEING THE AGREEMENT REACHED AT LANGGADJATI (CHERIBON) BETWEEN THE NETHERLANDS AND THE INDONESIAN REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT, GUARANTEEING SAFETY AND A PERMANENT STATE OF JUSTICE AND PEACE. THEREFORE, DO NOT RUN AWAY. DO NOT LEAVE YOUR VILLAGES OR YOUR WORK. PREVENT ALL DEMOLITIONS OR SCORCHED EARTH TACTICS. ALL THAT WILL BE DESTROYED WILL BE NEEDED BY YOU.

"WHOEVER DESTROYS ANYTHING WILL BE PUNISHED WITHOUT FAIL.

"SO WILL ALL PERPETRATORS OF TROUBLE AND ALL THOSE WHO TRY TO CREATE CONFUSION AND THOSE WHO THREATEN OR INTIMIDATE THE POPULATION.

"TO ALL REPUBLICAN ARMED UNITS: HAND OVER TO THE DUTCH EVERYTHING YOU HAVE TO GUARD OR HAVE BEEN ORDERED TO DESTROY. TAKE CARE: DESTRUCTION WILL NOT GO UNPUNISHED. LAY DOWN YOUR ARMS. DO NOT THROW YOUR LIVES AWAY FOR NOTHING. YOUR COUNTRY NEEDS THE STRENGTH OF ITS YOUNG PEOPLE.

"HADJIS (ISLAMIC RELIGIOUS LEADERS): CONTINUE YOUR SACRED DUTIES TO THE PEOPLE. PUT FAITH IN THE DUTCH ARMY."

GEN.SPOOR SPOKE TO HOLLAND IN A RADIO ADDRESS LATE IN THE DAY, ASSERTING THAT "WE ARE NOT WAGING WAR, BUT COME ONLY TO ENFORCE LAW AND ORDER AND MAKE GOOD THE FAITHLESS PROMISES OF THOSE WE BELIEVED IN FAR TOO LONG."

"I WILL NOT BE RECKLESS WITH THE 100,000 LIVES ENTRUSTED TO ME," HE ASSEURED THE MOTHERS AND FRIENDS OF HIS SOLDIERS.

HE SAID THE DUTCH HAD RESORTED TO ARMS IN THE INTEREST OF PEACE. HE CHARGED THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC HAD VIOLATED A TRUCE AGREEMENT MORE THAN 1,000 TIMES.

JUL 1947

BY STANLEY SWINTON
BATAVIA,JAVA,JULY 21-(AP)-LONG-STANDING DIFFERENCS BETWEEN THE NETHERLANDS AND THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC BLAZED INTO OPEN WARFARE TODAY AS DUTCH FORCES PRESSED OPERATIONS AGAINST THE REPUBLIC ON THE LAND AND IN THE AIR AFTER SEIZING INDONESIAN KEY POINTS HERE IN A SERIES OF LIGHTNING MOVES LAST NIGHT.
ACTING GOVERNOR-GENERAL HUBERTUS J.VAN MOOK DESCRIBED THE DUTCH OPERATIONS AS "POLICE ACTION," BUT THE INDONESIAN NEWS AGENCY ANTARA REPORTED -- BEFORE IT WAS CLOSED DOWN -- THAT DUTCH PLANES HAD BOMBED AND STRAFED REPUBLICAN AIRPORTS THROUGHOUT JAVA AND THAT DUTCH TROOPS WERE ATTACKING SIMULTANEOUSLY AT SEVERAL POINTS.

ANTARA QUOTED GEN. SOEDIRMAN, INDONESIAN ARMY COMMANDER IN JOGJAKARTA, AS SAYING THAT SHARP FIGHTING WAS UNDER WAY AT SEMARANG, NORTH COAST CITY 250 MILES EAST OF BATAVIA, AND THAT THE DUTCH WERE ATTACKING NOT ONLY ALONG FRONT LINES "BUT ALSO IN THE INTERIOR" -- A STATEMENT THAT SUGGESTED THE POSSIBLE USE OF AIRBORNE TROOPS OR PARACHUTISTS.

"ALTHOUGH THERE HAS BEEN NO OFFICIAL DECLARATION OF WAR, IT IS, HOWEVER, CLEAR THAT THE DUTCH IN REALTY HAVE DECLARED WAR UPON THE REPUBLIC," SOEDIRMAN WAS QUOTED AS SAYING.
HE ADDED THAT "THE INITIAL DUTCH ATTACKS WERE RECEIVED WITH CALMNESS AND DISCIPLINE" AND APPEALED TO INDONESIANS TO RALLY TO DEFENSE OF THE REPUBLIC.

CLOSING DOWN OF THE ANTARA OFFICES IN BATAVIA CUT OFF THE PRINCIPAL SOURCE OF NEWS HERE AND LEFT A CONFUSED PICTURE OF THE GENERAL SITUATION, FOR THE DUTCH REFRAINED FOR THE MOMENT FROM ISSUING ANY COMMUNIQUE ON THE PROGRESS OR SCOPE OF THEIR OPERATIONS.
THE SITUATION WAS FURTHER CONFUSED WHEN THE RADIO AT JOGJAKARTA, REPUBLICAN CAPITAL, WENT OFF THE AIR SUDDENLY IN MID-MORNING WITHOUT GIVING ANY EXPLANATION. ITS SILENCE IMMEDIATELY ROUSED SPECULATION THAT IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN THE TARGET OF AIR ATTACK.

BEFORE IT WAS SHUT DOWN, ANTARA REPORTED HEAVY FIGHTING UNDER WAY AT BUITENZORG, WHICH IS ABOUT 30 MILES SOUTHEAST OF BATAVIA, AND NEAR BANDOENG, SOME 70 MILES FURTHER EAST.
THE AGENCY ALSO INDICATED THAT DUTCH COLUMNS WERE STRIKING OUT IN AN EFFORT TO SECURE THE RICH SUDANESE RICE COUNTRY OF WESTERN JAVA, BUT SAID THEY WERE MEETING STIFF RESISTANCE.
ANTARA SAID THE AERIAL ATTACKS UPON INDONESIAN AIRFIELDS APPARENTLY WERE LAUNCHED WITH THE INTENTION OF KNOCKING OUT THE SMALL REPUBLICAN AIR FORCE, WHICH CONSISTS OF ABOUT 40 FORMER JAPANESE PLANES -- MOSTLY IN A POOR STATE OF REPAIR. INDONESIAN ANTI-AIRCRAFT WAS REPORTED TO HAVE REPLIED TO THE ATTACKS WITH UNDETERMINED RESULTS.
THE NEWS AGENCY SAID THAT DUTCH AIR ATTACKS HAD EXTENDED AS FAR EASTWARD AS MALANG, RESORT CENTER APPROXIMATELY 400 MILES FROM BATAVIA, WHERE DUTCH FIGHTER PLANES WERE REPORTED TO HAVE MADE TWO "FIERCE ATTACKS" ON BOEGIS AIRFIELD.
THE AGENCY ALSO REPORTED THAT DUTCH AIRCRAFT HAD ATTACKED A REPUBLICAN ARMY SUPPLY DEPOT AT MAGELAND, IN CENTRAL JAVA, AND HAD STRAFED TRAINS AT TWO POINTS IN REPUBLICAN TERRITORY.

OTHER LOW-FLYING DUTCH PLANES WERE SAID TO HAVE DROPPED PAMPHLETS AT VARIOUS POINTS URGING THE CIVIL POPULATION TO REMAIN CALM, WARNING AGAINST ANY ATTEMPT AT A "SCORCHED EARTH" POLICY AND CALLING UPON CIVIL AUTHORITIES TO ASSIST THEIR PEOPLE BY COOPERATING WITH THE DUTCH GOVERNMENT.
BATAVIA ITSELF, MEANWHILE, REMAINED OUTWARDLY CALM FOLLOWING THE FLURRY OF EXCITEMENT WHICH DEVELOPED LAST NIGHT WHEN DUTCH TROOPS SEIZED REPUBLICAN COMMUNICATIONS AND BUILDINGS IN A SURPRISE MOVE.
A. K. GANI, REPUBLICAN DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER, ACTING FOREIGN MINISTER TAMSIL AND OTHER INDONESIAN REPRESENTATIVES HERE WERE UNDER HOUSE ARREST AND NEWSMEN WERE FORBIDDEN TO TRY TO SEE THEM.
DUTCH AUTHORITIES IMPOSED A DUSK TO DAWN CURFEW IN THE CITY AND ORDERED ALL LOCAL INDUSTRIES TO CEASE USING ELECTRIC POWER SO IT COULD BE CONSERVED FOR USE IN HOMES DURING A PERIOD "WHEN LIGHTING IS ESSENTIAL."
DUTCH MILITARY AUTHORITIES LAUNCHED THEIR OPERATIONS IN BATAVIA AT MIDNIGHT LAST NIGHT SOME HOURS BEFORE THE EXPIRATION OF A NETHERLANDS ULTIMATUM CALLING UPON THE REPUBLIC TO END THE TWO-YEAR STALEMATE IN NEGOTIATIONS OVER THE POLITICAL FUTURE OF THE EAST INDIES.
TROOPS WEARING STEEL-HELMETS AND AMERICAN-TYPE CAMOUFLAGE UNIFORMS QUICKLY SEIZED THE INDONESIAN RADIO STATION AND OTHER REPUBLICAN-CONTROLLED BUILDINGS IN THE CITY. THESE WERE NUMEROUS, FOR SINCE THE BEGINNING OF THE DUTCH-INDONESIAN DISPUTE FOLLOWING THE JAPANESE SURRENDER IN 1945 BATAVIA HAS BEEN UNDER A DUAL MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT AND THE REPUBLIC HAS MAINTAINED BRANCHES OF ITS MINISTRIES IN THE CITY.
SEIZURE OF THE REPUBLICAN BUILDINGS WAS ACCOMPLISHED WITHOUT RESISTANCE AND WITHOUT BLOODSHED.
THE FIRST OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE DUTCH MOVES CAME IN AN EARLY MORNING BROADCAST BY VAN MOOK, WHO SAID THAT THE NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE REPUBLIC HAD ENDED IN FAILURE AND THAT DUTCH MILITARY AUTHORITIES WERE COMPELLED TO ACT TO ESTABLISH LAW AND ORDER "IN CERTAIN PARTS" OF BOTH JAVA AND SUMATRA.

JUL 1947

HE SAID THAT SPECIAL DUTCH UNITS HAD STRUCK UNEXPECTEDLY AT KEY POINTS WHERE SABOTAGE UNDER THE PROMISED INDONESIAN SCORCHED EARTH POLICY HAD BEEN FEARED.

"THE ACTION CAN BE LOCALIZED IF EVENTS DO NOT FORCE OTHERWISE," VAN MOOK SAID.

ASKED LATER AT A NEWS CONFERENCE IF THE REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT COULD STILL ARRANGE A PEACE, VAN MOOK REPLIED:

"IF THEY CHANGE THEIR ATTITUDE, IT MAY MAKE A DIFFERENCE."

IN AN ORDER OF THE DAY WHICH ACCOMPANIED THE LAUNCHING OF DUTCH OPERATIONS, LT. GEN. SIMON H. SPOOR, COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF DUTCH FORCES IN THE INDIES, WARNED HIS MEN "NEVER TO FORGET THAT WE ARE NOT ENTERING A WAR AGAINST THE INDONESIAN PEOPLE."

"OUR ENEMIES," HE DECLARED, "ARE THOSE ELEMENTS WHICH TRY TO SABOTAGE THE SINCERE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE AGREEMENTS REACHED, TO HINDER RESTORATION OF LAW AND ESTABLISHMENT OF SECURITY FOR ALL MEN OF GOOD WILL IN THIS COUNTRY AND TO OBSTRUCT THE REHABILITATION AND RECONSTRUCTION OF INDONESIA."

IT IS ESTIMATED THAT SPOOR HAS APPROXIMATELY 120,000 WELL-EQUIPPED MEN, BACKED BY TANKS AND ARTILLERY, UNDER HIS COMMAND. THE REPUBLICAN ARMY HAS BEEN PLACED AT ABOUT 200,000 RELATIVELY LIGHTLY ARMED MEN.

(IN THE HAGUE, DUTCH PREMIER L.J.M. BEEL SAID LAST NIGHT HIS GOVERNMENT HD THO

JOGJAKARTA, JAVA, JULY 21-(AP)-THE INDONESIAN REPUBLICAN CABINET MET IN SPECIAL SESSION TODAY WITH ARMY GENERALS AT PRESIDENT SOEKARNO'S PALACE.

ALTHOUGH FIGHTING WAS IN PROGRESS ALONG THE DEMARCATION LINE SOUTH OF SEMARANG, THE PEOPLE OF THIS INDONESIAN CAPITAL WENT ABOUT THEIR BUSINESS AS USUAL UNAWARE THAT THE DUTCH HAD STARTED MILITARY ACTION AGAINST THE REPUBLICAN ARMY ON SEVERAL FRONTS.

(PRESIDENT SOEARN SPOKE BY RA

(PRESIDENT SOEKARNO SPOIKE

(PRESIDENT SOEKARNO SPOKE BY RADIO LATER TELLING OF FIGHTING, SEVEN HOURS AFTER THIS DISPATCH WAS FILED.)

NO ANNOUNCEMENT HAD BEEN MADE TO THE PEOPLE BY MID-MORNING AND MORNING NEWSPAPERS CONTAINED NO NEWS OF THE DUTCH SECTIONS. SHOPS OPENED AS USUAL AND CROWDS SAUNTERED ALONG THE STREETS.

THE ONLY EVIDENCE OF HOSTILITY WAS THE FLIGHT OF FOUR DUTCH FIGHTER PLANES, APPARENTLY SCOUTING, OVER THIS ANCIENT CAPITAL AT 7:30 A.M. THEY DISAPPEARED QUICKLY.

THE REPUBLICAN INFORMATION MINISTRY SAID LATER IN THE DAY THAT PLANES STRAFED A PASSENGER TRAIN 65 MILES NORTHEAST OF HERE, WOUNDING TWO PERSONS ON TOP OF THE TRAIN.

WELL INFORMED OFFICIAL CIRCLES SAID THEY COULD NOT CONFIRM A PRESS REPORT THAT INDONESIAN VICE PRESIDENT MOHAMMED HATTA WAS IN INDIA TO APPEAL FOR U.N. INTERVENTION BY INDIA AND THE ARAB LEAGUE STATES ON BEHALF OF THE REPUBLIC. HATTA LEFT FOR SUMATRA FIVE WEEKS AGO.

THE FIRST REPORT OF MILITARY ACTION REACHED HERE THIS MORNING FROM CORRESPONDENTS FOR ANTARA, THE INDONESIAN NEWS AGENCY. THEY SAID THE DUTCH HAD OPENED UP WITH MORTARS AND FIELD GUNS AT BANDOENG AND SEVERAL OTHER POINTS WEST OF THERE.

THE REPUBLIC OBVIOUSLY WAS RELYING ON WIDESPREAD GUERRILLA ACTION, ACCOMPANIED BY THE SCORCHED EARTH POLICY TO COUNTER MODERN EQUIPMENT OF THE DUTCH.

THIS CORRESPONDENT LEFT SUNDAY BY TRAIN FROM BATAVIA TO JOGJAKARTA. THE COUNTRYSIDE PRESENTED THE USUAL PICTURE OF WELL TERRACED AND CULTIVATED FIELDS.

THERE WAS NO EVIDENCE OF LARGE SCALE REPUBLICAN TROOP CONCENTRATIONS OR UNUSUAL MILITARY ACTIVITY. INSTEAD, THE USUAL SUNDAY CROWDS AND HAWKERS THRONGED THE STATIONS, IN MARKED CONTRAST TO THE INTENSE MILITARY ACTIVITY IN BATAVIA. I, AS THE ONLY NON-ASIATIC PASSENGER ON THE PACKED TRAIN, EXCITED EVEN LESS CURIOSITY THAN MIGHT HAVE BEEN EXPECTED. THERE WAS NO UNFRIENDLINESS.

MEANWHILE, GEN. SOEDIRMAN SAID IN A PRESS STATEMENT THAT THE DUTCH ATTACK HAD BEEN LAUNCHED WITHOUT A DECLARATION OF WAR AND CARRIED OUT "NOT ONLY IN THE HOSTILE AREA, BUT ALSO IN INTERIOR PLACES."

"NOW IS THE TIME FOR INDONESIANS TO TAKE SUCH ACTION AS IS POSSIBLE FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE," THE GENERAL SAID.

REPORTS FROM VARIOUS FRONTS INDICATED THE FIRST DUTCH ATTACKS WERE MET IN A QUIET, DISCIPLINED MANNER AND THAT ALLEGIANCE OF THE FIGHTING FORCES TO THE REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT REMAINED UNCHANGED.

PETER RATCLIFFE, FORMER BRITISH INTELLIGENCE DIVISION COLONEL, CONFERRED DURING THE MORNING WITH PREMIER AMIR SJARIFOEDIN, MET PRESIDENT SOEKARNO AND OTHER INDONESIAN OFFICIALS. HE SAID HIS TALKS WERE "PRIVATE AND SECRET." HE ARRIVED SATURDAY FROM BATAVIA AND SAID HE WAS ON BUSINESS OF A "PURELY PERSONAL NATURE." HE WAS DEMOBILIZED FROM THE BRITISH ARMY JULY 1.

JOGJAKARTA, JAVA, JULY 21-(AP)-FOUR DUTCH PLANES BOMBED THE AIRPORT JUST OUTSIDE JOGJAKARTA TODAY, AND THIS INDONESIAN CAPITAL WAS BLACKED OUT TONIGHT FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE THE JAPANESE SURRENDER.

THE ATTACK CAME JUST FIVE MINUTES AFTER PREMIER AMIR SJARIFOEDDIN HAD CONCLUDED A RADIO SPEECH ACCUSING THE DUTCH OF WAGING A "COLONIAL WAR."

SJARIFOEDDIN WATCHED THE RAID CALMLY FROM THE STEPS OF THE PRESIDENTIAL PALACE ON THE MAIN STREET OF THIS ANCIENT PRINCELY CAPITAL.

AIR RAID SIRENS SENT CROWDS SCURRYING FOR COVER, AND AT LEAST FIVE EXPLOSIONS WERE HEARD FROM THE VICINITY OF THE AIRPORT. FIRST UNOFFICIAL REPORTS SAID FIRES WERE STARTED AND SOME PERSONS WERE SERIOUSLY INJURED.

30.24- 11059

THE REPUBLICAN MINISTRY OF INFORMATION ANNOUNCED THAT 80 DUTCH SOLDIERS HAD LANDED FROM THE SEA AT KETAPANG, ON THE EAST JAVA COAST, MORE THAN 500 MILES FROM BATAVIA.

THE MINISTRY ALSO SAID THE REPUBLICAN MAYOR OF PADANG, IN WESTERN SUMATRA, WAS KILLED YESTERDAY BY THE DUTCH.

WHILE INDONESIANS PASTED BLACK SHADES OVER THE REPUBLICAN RADIO STATION HERE, PRESIDENT SOEKARNO WENT ON THE AIR TONIGHT TO URGE HIS PEOPLE TO STRENGTHEN THEMSELVES SO THAT "WE WILL BE CAPABLE TO MEET ALL DUTCH ATTACKS."

THE PRESIDENT SAID HE WAS CONFIDENT THE NATIONS OF THE WORLD WOULD FIND "JUSTICE AND RIGHT ON OUR SIDE."

"I REQUEST ALL MY PEOPLE TO BE PREPARED TO GIVE THEIR LIVES FOR OUR INDEPENDENCE," HE SAID. "LET US SHOW THE WORLD WE ARE STRUGGLING FOR JUSTICE AND FACING BRUTE FORCE AND CRUELTIES COMING FROM THE DUTCH."

PETER RATCLIFFE, FORMER LIEUTENANT COLONEL IN THE BRITISH ARMY WHO SAID HE CAME TO JOGJAKARTA ON A "PURELY PRIVATE VISIT," DECLARED OVER THE RADIO THAT "COMPLETE ORDER PREVAILS IN REPUBLICAN TERRITORY. X X X FOR THE DUTCH TO DESCRIBE THE PRESENT MILITARY OPERATION AS POLICE ACTION IS BOTH ADOLESCENT AND LUDICROUS. THERE SIMPLY IS NO DISORDER TO BE QUELLED."

JUL 1947

FIRST LEAD JACKSON

Jogjakarta, Java, July 21-(AP)-This Indonesian republican capital experienced its first air attack of current hostilities tonight when four Dutch planes flew over the outskirts. At least five explosions were heard above the moans of air raid sirens.

JUL 1947

The planes appeared five minutes after Premier Amir Sjarifoedin concluded a radio address accusing the Dutch of waging [redacted] a "colonial war."

The premier watched the raid calmly from steps of the presidential palace on the main street, while crowds hurried to shelter.

JUL 1947

First unofficial reports from the airport, which apparently was the target, said fires were started and [redacted] were injured seriously.

"That is the beginning of their goliathian force," Sjarifoedin commented as he walked back into the palace when the all clear signal sounded after a 25 minute alarm.

(This dispatch was cabled via Singapore, rather than through the normal channel through Dutch-held Batavia.)

The cabinet met for three hours during the morning with generals attending.

Sjarifoedin in his speech accused the Dutch of constantly delaying implementation of the Cheribon pact granting Indonesia [redacted] independence in 1949. he said the four months flag after the accord was signed "caused us ~~no~~ doubt about the good will of the Dutch." He asserted that Indonesians ~~xx~~ were peaceful and that the Dutch caused m[illegible] military incidents since the Cheribon pact was signed.

Although fighting was in progress along the demarcation line south of Semarang, the people of this Indonesian capital went about their business as usual unaware that the Dutch had started military action against the republican army on several fronts.

(President Soekarno spoke by radio later telling of fighting, seven hours after this dispatch was filed.)

JUL 1947

No announcement had been made to the people by mid-morning and morning newspapers contained no news of the Dutch actions. Shops opened as usual and crowds sauntered along the streets.

The only evidence of hostility was the flight of four Dutch fighter plans ~~over~~ (S. APPARENTLY SCOUTING OVER) this ancient capital at 7:30 a.m. They disappeared quickly.

JUL 1947

The republican information ministry said later in the day that planes strafed a passenger train 65 miles northeast of here, wounding two persons on top of the train. Well informed official circles said they could not confirm a press report that Indonesian Vice President Mohammed Hatta was in addition to appeal for U. N. intervention by India and the Arab league states on behalf of the republic. Hatta left for Sumatra five weeks ago.

---

JUL 1947

The first report of military action reached here this morning from correspondents for Antara, the Indonesian news agency. They said the Dutch had opened up this morning with mortars and field guns at Bandoeng and several other points west of there.

The republic obviously was relying on widespread guerrilla action accompanied by the scorched earth policy to counter modern equipment.

The countryside presented the usual picture of well terraced and cultivated fields.

There was no evidence of large scale republican troop concentrations or unusual military activity. Instead, the usual Sunday crowds and hawkers thronged the stations, in marked contrast to the intense military activity in Batavia. I, as the only non-asiatic passenger on the packed train, excited even less curiosity than might have been expected and there was absolutely no unfriendliness.

Meanwhile, Gen. Soedirman said in a press statement that the Dutch attack had been launched without a declaration of war and carried out "not only in the hostile area, but also in interior places."

"Now is the time for Indonesians to take such action as is possible for national defense," the general said.

Reports from various fronts indicated the first Dutch attacks were met in a quiet, disciplined manner and that allegiance of the fighting forces to the republican government remained unchanged.

Peter Ratcliffe, former British intelligence division colonel, conferred during the morning with Premier Amir Sjarifoedin, not President Soekarno and other Indonesian officials. He said his talks were "private and secret." He arrived Saturday from Batavia and said he was on business of a "purely personal nature." He was demobilized from the British army July 1.

UPDATED DUTCH-INDONESIAN PACT

Batavia, by Dutch and Indonesian officials. THE PRESENT HOSTILITIES HAVE BROUGHT OUT OF DIFFERENCES OVER PUTTING THE AGREEMENT INTO EFFECT.

Under the pact the Netherlands recognizes the government of the Netherlands and Indonesian representatives initialed a 17-article agreement at Cheribon (Linggadjati), Java, Nov. 15, 1947, for establishing a new Pacific nation and bring peace to the Netherlands East Indies.

The pact was formally signed last March 25 at Rijswijk Palace, in Indonesian Republic as exercising de facto authority over Java, Madura and Sumatra."

The Dutch and Indonesians agree to cooperate "in the rapid transformation of a sovereign democratic state on a federal basis to be called the United States of Indonesia," to comprise "the entire territory of the Netherlands Indies."

The Kingdom of the Netherlands and the United States of Indonesia are to form a union under the Dutch crown.

The Dutch and Indonesians agreed to reduce their armed forces "directly after conclusion of this agreement" and "to settle by arbitration any dispute which might arise from any argument which cannot be solved by joint consultation."

WASHINGTON, JULY 21-(AP)-SECRETARY OF COMMERCE HARRIMAN SAID TODAY THAT THE NEW PROGRAM OF AID TO EUROPE WILL "REQUIRE PROMPT ACTION BY CONGRESS" EARLY NEXT YEAR.

HARRIMAN, BACK FROM A TRIP TO GERMANY, FRANCE, ENGLAND AND ITALY, TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE THAT "IF THE PROGRAM CAN BE WORKED OUT," EUROPE'S PROBLEMS "ARE SOLVABLE".

HE EXPLAINED THAT "THE WORKING OUT" MEANS EUROPEAN NATIONS' AGREEMENT ON HELPING THEMSELVES BEFORE COMING TO THE U.S. FOR AID UNDER THE MARSHALL PLAN, WHICH HARRIMAN DESCRIBED AS A "GRUB-STAKING PROPOSITION."

"EVERYWHERE I WENT," HE SAID, "THE MARSHALL PROPOSAL WAS THE FIRST THING TO GIVE REAL HOPE TO EVERYONE THAT THEY COULD GET BACK ON THEIR FEET."

HARRIMAN STRESSED THE IMPORTANCE OF GREATER COAL PRODUCTION IN EUROPE AS THE KEYSTONE TO REVIVAL OF INDUSTRY, AND THE IMPORTANCE OF GERMANY'S RUHR MINES.

MORE FOOD IS THE FIRST NEED OF GERMAN MINERS TO INCREASE THEIR OUTPUT, HE SAID, AND "SOME" MORE MACHINERY ALSO IS NEEDED.

HARRIMAN ALSO EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT BRITISH COAL PRODUCTION COULD BE IMPROVED CONSIDERABLY--MORE IN LINE WITH THAT OF THE U.S., HE SAID--BY OPENING UP NEW SEAMS AND GREATER USE OF MACHINERY.

WASHINGTON, JULY 21-(AP)-THE STRATEGIC AIR COMMAND TODAY SAID EIGHT B29S WILL MAKE A ONE-STOP FLIGHT FROM TOKYO TO WASHINGTON NEXT WEEK IN THE "LONGEST AND FASTEST MASS FLIGHT OF B29S EVER ATTEMPTED."

DESCRIBED AS A TRAINING MISSION, THE PLANES WILL HOP OFF AT 7 A.M. (EST) THURSDAY, JULY 31, AND AIM AT CROSSING BETWEEN THE WASHINGTON MONUMENT AND THE LINCOLN MEMORIAL HERE AT 11 A.M. (EST) ON FRIDAY, AUG. 1, WHICH IS AIR FORCE DAY. THE DISTANCE IS ABOUT 7,000 MILES.

THEY WILL LAND AT ANDREWS AIR FIELD, 12 MILES SOUTHEAST OF HERE. HEADQUARTERS FOR THE STRATEGIC AIR COMMAND, THE SCHEDULED STOP IS AT ELMENDORXUFIELD, ANCHORAGE, ALASKA, WITH A MAXIMUM OF THREE HOURS ALLOWED FOR REFUELING.

THE EIGHT SHIPS ARE OF THE 492ND BOMB SQUADRON, 7TH BOMB GROUP, 3TH AIR FORCE, BASED AT FORT WORTH, TEX. THEY WILL BE UNDER COMMAND OF LT.COL.HOWARD F.HUGOS OF OKLAHOMA.

THE ESTIMATED TIME FROM TOKYO TO ANCHORAGE IS 12 1/2 HOURS AND FROM ANCHORAGE TO ANDREWS FIELD, 13 HOURS AND 10 MINUTES.

THE PLANES WILL BE DIRECTED TO FLY SEPARATELY IN SINGLE FILE, ABOUT ONE MINUTE APART, UNTIL THEY REACH MARTINSBURG RADIO, A POINT IN WEST VIRGINIA ABOUT 50 MILES FROM WASHINGTON, WHEN THEY WILL ASSUME FORMATION.

OFFICIALS TOLD NEWSMEN THE TRIP IS INTENDED TO TRAIN CREWS IN LONG RANGE OVERWATER NAVIGATION AND OTHER TECHNIQUES OF SUCH MISSIONS.

THE PLANES WILL CARRY AN ESTIMATED 160 MEN, INCLUDING THEIR OWN GROUND MAINTENANCE CREWS.

(550) (ADVANCE FOR AMS OF TUESDAY, JULY 22--EDITORS: NOTE DATE)

(ADVANCE)..WASHINGTON, JULY 21-(AP)-WAR ASSETS ADMINISTRATOR ROBERT M. LITTLEJOHN ANNOUNCED TONIGHT THAT WAR SURPLUS DISPOSAL HAS BEEN BROUGHT "WITHIN SIGHT OF A SELL-OUT" IN HIS ONE YEAR IN OFFICE.

THE WORLD'S LARGEST MERCHANDISING BUSINESS, LITTLEJOHN REPORTED, WAS IN SUCH DEPLORABLE SHAPE WHEN HE TOOK OVER THAT HE DEBATED SHUTTING IT DOWN COMPLETELY FOR TWO OR THREE MONTHS TO "REORGANIZE FROM THE BOTTOM UP."

IN A 20-PAGE RECITAL OF ACHIEVEMENTS, THE FORMER MAJOR GENERAL REPORTED THAT WAA HAS DISPOSED OF NEARLY 70 PERCENT OF THE $27,000,000 WORTH OF DECLARED SURPLUS. THE DISPOSAL RATE, HE SAID, HAS "ALMOST TRIPLED."

THE REPORT WAS SEEN AS LITTLEJOHN'S

THE REPORT AS SEEN AS LITTLEJOHN'S REPLY TO A CASTIGATION OF WAA ISSUED BY A HOUSE APPROPRIATIONS SUBCOMMITTEE HEADED BY REP. RIZLEY (R-OKLA). ON JULY 2 THE COMMITTEE ACCUSED THE AGENCY OF "CONFUSION, CARELESSNESS AND CHAOS."

THE RIZLEY GROUP VIRTUALLY DEMANDED THE RESIGNATION OF LITTLEJOHN AND THE GROUP OF ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS WHO HOLD KEY WAA POSITIONS, SUGGESTING THAT THE AGENCY BE GIVEN MANAGEMENT OF A "CIVILIAN, RATHER THAN A MILITARY CHARACTER."

BUT PRESIDENT TRUMAN, IT WAS LEARNED, HAS STOUTLY ENDORSED LITTLEJOHN'S RECORD. ONE REASON, IT WAS STATED, IS THE $1,900,000,000 IN PROCEEDS TURNED OVER TO THE TREASURY SINCE LAST JULY--A BIG BOOST TOWARD THE FIRST FEDERAL BUDGET SURPLUS IN 17 YEARS.

LITTLEJOHN'S FIRST-ANNIVERSARY REPORT DETAILED A "WELTER OF SEEMINGLY HOPELESS PROBLEMS" EXISTING WHEN HE TOOK OVER. THEY INCLUDED:

1. "POOR ORGANIZATION," WITH THE ADMINISTRATOR'S OFFICE EXPECTED TO "MAKE EVERY DECISION"; THE 33 REGIONS OPERATED AS "SEPARATE EMPIRES."
2. "INVENTORY INACCURATE, IN MANY CASES NON-EXISTENT. NO ADEQUATE STOCK CONTROL. X X X ACCOUNTING METHODS UNSOUND."
3. NO SALES PROGRAMS WITH TARGET DATES FOR ACCOMPLISHMENT. "BUSINESS QUIT BUYING AND SALES DROPPED TO NOMINAL FIGURES."
4. "OPERATION OF VETERANS PROGRAM BOGGED DOWN. A MILLION AND A HALF OUTSTANDING (VETERANS' PURCHASE) CERTIFICATES. CERTIFICATES BEING ISSUED AGAINST NON-EXISTENT SUPPLIES. VETERANS INFURIATED BY INACTION AND BRUSHOFFS."
5. "INACTION ON IDLE (PLANT) FACILITIES WHICH WERE SORELY NEEDED BY PRIVATE INDUSTRY. LAXITY IN NEGOTIATIONS. DEALINGS WITH IRRESPONSIBLE BIDDERS."

A98WX

LITTLEJOHN SAID WAA HAS DISPOSED OF 70 PERCENT OF THE GOODS SO FAR RELEASED BY THE ARMY AND NAVY, AND ESTIMATED THAT ANOTHER $7,000,000,000 WORTH MAY STILL BE HANDED OVER FOR DISPOSAL, BRINGING THE WAR'S TOTAL SURPLUS TO $34,000,000,000.

OF THAT TOTAL, 55 PERCENT HAS BEEN SOLD, AS AGAINST 15 PERCENT A YEAR AGO. DISPOSALS IN THE LAST 12 MONTHS TOTALED $13,000,000,000 IN ORIGINAL COST, OR NEARLY THREE TIMES THE TOTAL AMOUNT DISPOSED OF PRIOR TO JULY 1, 1946.

SALES REALIZATION IN THE LAST YEAR AMOUNTED TO $1,900,000,000, OR 29 PERCENT OF THE ORIGINAL WARTIME COST. AFTER DEDUCTING OPERATING EXPENSES, THE NET RETURN IS 22 PERCENT.

IN THE TEN MONTHS FROM LAST JULY TO APRIL, $1,300,000,000 IN PROCEEDS WAS DEPOSITED WITH THE TREASURY. ANOTHER $600,000,000, IT WAS ESTIMATED, WAS ADDED IN MAY AND JUNE.

AS EVIDENCE THAT THE WORST GRIEVANCES OF VETERANS HAVE BEEN ANSWERED, LITTLEJOHN REPORTED THAT NEARLY $1,000,000,000 WORTH OF SURPLUS WAS PURCHASED BY VETERANS DURING THE YEAR, FOR THEIR OWN SMALL BUSINESSES OR FOR PERSONAL USE. COMPLAINTS HAVE DROPPED FROM 800 LETTERS A WEEK TO TEN.

TWO DRIVES TO STRAIGHTEN OUT ACCOUNTING METHODS AND BRING INVENTORY METHODS UP TO DATE HAVE BEEN LAUNCHED, THE SECOND ONE TO BE COMPLETED WITHIN THE NEXT TWO MONTHS.

"THEN FOR THE FIRST TIME WAA WILL HAVE A SUBSTANTIALLY ACCURATE ACCOUNTING OF ALL SURPLUSES ON HAND," LITTLEJOHN SAID.

AS WAA BEGINS TO SCRAPE THE BOTTOM OF THE SURPLUS BARREL AND SALES DIMINISH, THE ADMINISTRATOR SAID, THE NUMBER OF SALES OUTLETS IS BEING REDUCED, STAFFS ARE BEING SHRUNK, AND AN EFFORT IS BEING MADE TO IMPROVE SERVICE TO CUSTOMERS.

1947

JUL

THE LAST OBJECTIVE PROMPTED THE ESTABLISHMENT OF 96 CUSTOMER SERVICE CENTERS, DESIGNED AS "ONE-STOP" PURCHASE POINTS WHERE GOODS MAY BE INSPECTED, CREDIT ARRANGED, BILLS PAID, AND DELIVERY SCHEDULED.

THE AGENCY'S OPERATING COST IN THE NEXT FISCAL YEAR, LITTLEJOHN FORECAST, WILL BE 40 PERCENT BELOW THE $501,000,000 SPENT DURING THE PAST 12 MONTHS.

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 21-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND AUSTRALIA CLASHED WITH RUSSIA TODAY OVER A SOVIET CONTENTION THAT A NATION'S BEHAVIOR DURING WORLD WAR II MUST BE CONSIDERED IN DECIDING WHETHER THEY SHALL BE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

POSITIONS TAKEN IN PRELIMINARY DISCUSSIONS IN THE MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE OF THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL INDICATED THAT THE BIG POWERS HAD NOT CHANGED THEIR MINDS FROM LAST YEAR WHEN OUTER MONGOLIA AND ALBANIA, FAVORED BY RUSSIA, FAILED TO GET A MAJORITY IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL AND RUSSIA VETOED PORTUGAL, IRELAND, AND TRANSJORDAN.

THE COMMITTEE IS CONSIDERING THOSE FIVE AGAIN, PLUS APPLICATIONS FROM ITALY, RUMANIA, HUNGARY, AND AUSTRIA.

ALEXEI N.KRASILNIKOV, OF THE RUSSIAN DELEGATION, SAID THE DELEGATES COULD NOT IGNORE HOW A COUNTRY BEHAVED TOWARD FASCISM DURING THE WAR.

KRASILNIKOV ALSO EMPHASIZED THAT RUSSIA STANDS FIRM ON THE CONDITION THAT SHE MUST HAVE DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH A COUNTRY TO APPROVE THAT COUNTRY FROM U.N. MEMBERSHIP. THAT WAS THE REASON THE SOVIETS GAVE FOR VOTING AGAINST THREE APPLICANTS LAST AUGUST.

COL. W.R.HODGSON, AUSTRALIA, DECLARED THAT PARTICIPATION IN THE WAR WAS LAUDABLE BUT "IT IS NOT A STANDARD FOR ADMISSION."

HODGSON ALSO CHARGED THAT TO EXCLUDE A COUNTRY ON GROUNDS OF NO DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS IS A "VIOLATION OF THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER."

HAYDEN RAYNOR, UNITED STATES, TOLD THE COMMITTEE THAT THE UNITED STATES FELT A COUNTRY'S BEHAVIOR IN THE WAR WAS NOT A STANDARD FOR MEMBERSHIP UNDER THE CHARTER.

V.G.LAWFORD, BRITAIN, AGREED WITH RAYNOR AND SAID HIS COUNTRY WOULD STAND ON THE CHARTER PROVISIONS FOR ADMISSIONS.

HENRIQUE DE SOUZA GOMEZ, BRAZIL, SIDED WITH THE WESTERN POWERS.

FARIS EL KHOURY, OF SYRIA, DECLARED THAT HE WOULD NOT OPPOSE ANY OF THE NINE APPLICANTS.

RUSSIAN HOPES OF PILING UP ADDITIONAL VOTING STRENGTH IN THE U.N. APPEARED DOOMED ON THE BASIS OF TWO INCIDENTS INVOLVING TWO SATELLITES SEEKING ADMISSION.

BY MAX HARRELSON

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 21-(AP)-CUBA TODAY DEMANDED THAT THE PRESENT COMMUNIST-DOMINATED GOVERNMENT OF HUNGARY BE PUT IN THE SAME CATEGORY AS FRANCO SPAIN AND BARRED FROM ALL ORGANIZATIONS AFFILIATED WITH THE UNITED NATIONS.

THE DEMAND BROUGHT A SHARP PROTEST FROM RUSSIA.

THE EXCHANGE OCCURRED IN THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL DURING DEBATE ON HUNGARY'S APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP IN THE UNITED NATIONS EDUCATIONAL, SCIENTIFIC AND CULTURAL ORGANIZATION.

DESPITE CUBA'S STRONG OPPOSITION, THE COUNCIL APPROVED THE HUNGARIAN APPLICATION 10 TO 1, WITH SEVEN MEMBERS ABSTAINING. THE AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVE, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE WILLARD L.THORP, WAS AMONG THOSE WHO REFUSED TO VOTE FOR THE HUNGARIAN APPLICATION.

THORP TOUCHED OFF THE DEBATE BY ANNOUNCING THAT THE UNITED STATES WANTED TO BE RECORDED AS ABSTAINING.

ENRIQUE PEREZ CISNEROS, OF CUBA, THEN LAUNCHED HIS ATTACK ON THE HUNGARIAN REGIME. HE RECALLED THAT CUBA VOTED LAST YEAR FOR HUNGARY'S ADMISSION TO THE FOOD AND AGRICULTURAL ORGANIZATION BUT ADDED THAT "THE SITUATION IS NOW DIFFERENT."

"IT IS WITH DEEP REGRET," HE SAID, "THAT OUR DELEGATION HAS TO VOTE AGAINST HUNGARY'S APPLICATION" BECAUSE HUNGARY IS "NOT, IN THE OPINION OF THE CUBAN DELEGATION, A DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT."

HE THEN POINTED OUT THAT THE UMN. ALREADY HAD BARRED FRANCO SPAIN BECAUSE OF ITS "UNDEMOCRATIC" NATURE AND DEMANDED THAT HUNGARY BE CONSIDERED AS A PARALLEL CASE.

SOVIET DELEGATE ALEXANDER P.MOROZOV PROTESTED THAT THERE WAS NO SIMILARITY BETWEEN THE TWO REGIMES.

"I FORMALLY AND FIRMLY REJECT THE POSITION THAT THERE IS ANY FOUNDATION FOR A COMPARISON OF HUNGARY WITH FRANCO SPAIN," MOROZOV ASSERTED.

BRITAIN WAS AMONG THE 10 WHO VOTED FOR THE ADMISSION OF HUNGARY.

U.N.- ATOMIC (230)

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 21-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES AGREED TODAY WITH SOVIET RUSSIA IN THE UNITED NATIONS ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION ON THE NECESSITY FOR A QUOTA SYSTEM ON ATOMIC MATERIALS, FUELS AND PLANTS. BUT THEY REMAINED WIDELY SEPARATED ON THE DETAILS OF ACHIEVING THAT AIM.

FREDERICK H.OSBORN, U.S.DEPUTY ON THE ATOMIC COMMISSION, TOLD A MEETING OF THE COMMISSION'S POLITICAL COMMITTEE THAT THE UNITED STATES HAD MADE AN IMPORTANT CHANGE IN ITS POINT OF VIEW AND DECIDED THAT AN OVERALL PLAN FOR QUOTAS SHOULD BE WRITTEN INTO THE ATOMIC CONTROL TREATY.

THE U.S. PREVIOUSLY HAD ADVOCATED GIVING A PROPOSED INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY FULL CONTROL OVER ATOMIC MATERIALS AND PLANTS AROUND THE WORLD.

OSBORN SAID WRITING THE QUOTAS INTO THE TREATY WAS NECESSARY SO THAT EVERY NATION WOULD HAVE A PART IN MAKING THAT DECISION. HE SAID THE UNITED STATES HAD DECIDED THAT IF THE TREATY WAS GOING TO BE ACCEPTABLE TO ALL NATIONS, THE INTERNATIONAL CONTROL AGENCY MUST BE GIVEN AS FEW ARBITRARY POWERS AS POSSIBLE.

AFTER THE MEETING, OSBORN SAID THIS OVERALL PLAN FOR QUOTAS WOULD DEAL WITH SOURCE MATERIAL, NUCLEAR FUEL AND DANGEROUS FACILITIES.

GROMYKO PROPOSED LAST WEDNESDAY A SEPARATE CONVENTION SETTING UP THE QUOTAS. HE DID NOT GIVE DETAILS, BUT HIS PROPOSAL ENVISIONED A SEPARATE TREATY FOR LISTING THE QUOTAS. OSBORN SUGGESTED TODAY THAT THEY BE INCORPORATED IN THE ONE BIG ATOMIC CONTROL PACT DESIRED BY THE UNITED STATES.

NEW YORK, JULY 21-(AP)-DESPITE THE PRESENT URGENCY OF POLITICS IN THE NEAR EAST, THE ARAB LEAGUE COUNTRIES STEADILY ARE PURSUING A GOAL OF SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC IMPROVEMENT OF THE PEOPLES THE LEAGUE REPRESENTS, LEAGUE SECRETARY-GENERAL ABDEL RAHMAN AZZAM PASHA SAID TODAY IN AN INTERVIEW.

"WE NEED AND ARE SEEKING ADVICE AND ASSISTANCE FOR OUR INDUSTRIES, OUR TRADE, OUR TRANSPORT, AND OUR MARKETING PROBLEMS," AZZAM PASHA SAID. HE WAS IN NEW YORK FOR DISCUSSIONS BETWEEN A REPRESENTATIVE OF YEMEN AND AN AMERICAN INDUSTRIALISTS.

"HERE NOT POLITICAL QUESTIONS UPPERMOST. WE WOULD CONCENTRATE MORE ATTENTION ON SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC ACTIVITIES," HE CONTINUED.

"THE STATES THE LEAGUE REPRESENTS APPROACH THE UNITED STATES IN MINERAL RESOURCES AND AGRICULTURAL WEALTH, BUT WE NEED TO BORROW AMERICAN 'KNOW-HOW'--KNOWLEDGE BASED ON EXPERIENCE IN ACTUALLY PRODUCING GIVEN ARTICLES.

"WE WANT AN ECONOMIC OVERHAULING, AND PLANNING FOR A LONGER PERIOD, BUT COMPETING AMONG OURSELVES OR WITH THE WORLD, BUT COOPERATING.

"THE WORLD CAN SELL MORE TO US IF WE SELL MORE TO THE WORLD."

THE ARAB LEAGUE HE DESCRIBED AS A LOOSE FEDERATION OF THE COUNTRIES OF EGYPT, SAUDI ARABIA, SYRIA, IRAQ, LEBANON, YEMEN, AND TRANSJORDAN.

AZZAM PASHA LISTED AMONG CONCRETE STEPS IN ECONOMIC PROGRESS THUS FAR SPONSORED BY THE LEAGUE THE RECENT ESTABLISHMENT IN CAIRO OF THE PALESTINIAN AGRICULTURAL CREDIT BANK WITH A CAPITAL OF £1,000,000 EGYPTIAN (ABOVE $4,000,000 U.S.).

THE PALESTINIAN BANK WAS ESTABLISHED FOR THE SPECIFIC PURPOSE ITS NAME IMPLIES, AZZAM PASHA SAID, BUT COULD PROVE TO BE THE NUCLEUS FOR A MUCH LARGER INSTITUTION OFFERING CREDIT FACILITIES TO ALL ARAB PEOPLES, WITH AN EVENTUAL CAPITAL OF $10 TO $15 MILLION EGYPTIAN POUNDS OR MORE. HE INDICATED SUCH AN EVENTUALITY WOULD AFFECT ALSO THOSE ARABS OUTSIDE THE LEAGUE STATES, FOR THE LEAGUE ALSO SPEAKS FOR MANY ARAB MINORITIES.

THE ARAB STATES ARE TENDING IN THE DIRECTION OF ERASING CUSTOMS, PASSPORT VISAS, TRADE TARIFFS, AND OTHER BARRIERS AMONG THEMSELVES WITH A POSSIBLE FUTURE PARALLEL WITH THE BE-NE-LUX CUSTOMS UNION OF BELGIUM, THE NETHERLANDS, AND LUXEMBOURG, AZZAM PASHA PROPHESIES.

IN SUCH MATTERS THE LEAGUE IS SEEKING ADVICE FROM TECHNICAL EXPERTS OF THE WORLD MONETARY FUND AND THE WORLD BANK, "SO WE CAN WRITE A GENERAL PLAN FOR ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL ADVANCEMENT," HE SAID.

NEW YORK, JULY 19-(AP)-THE WORLD BANK ADDED A NEW CHAPTER TO THE HISTORY OF INTERNATIONAL FINANCE THIS WEEK WITH THE PUBLIC SALE OF $250,000,000 OF ITS BONDS.

THE RESPONSE OF INVESTORS, SAID A SPOKESMAN FOR THE BANK AT THE WEEKEND, WAS "TERRIFIC."

ON TUESDAY THE BANK CLIMAXED WEEKS OF INTENSIVE PREPARATION BY DISTRIBUTION TO SOME 1,400 DEALERS THROUGHOUT THE NATION OF $150,000,000 OF 25-YEAR BONDS WITH A 3 PER CENT COUPON AND $100,000,000 OF 10-YEAR BONDS WITH A 2 1/4 PER CENT COUPON.

AT NOON THE SAME DAY, E.F.DUNSTAN, MARKETING DIRECTOR, ANNOUNCED HEAVY OVER-SUBSCRIPTION.

EACH ISSUE WAS SOLD TO DEALERS AT PAR, OR 100, WITH THE PROVISO THEY WOULD SELL TO THEIR CUSTOMERS AT THAT PRICE. DEALERS WERE ALLOWED A SALES CONCESSION OF $2.50 FOR EACH 10-YEAR BOND SOLD AND $5 FOR EACH 25-YEAR BOND.

TRADING IN THE BONDS ALSO STARTED TUESDAY ON THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE ON A WHEN-ISSUED BASIS. BOTH ISSUES IMMEDIATELY COMMANDED SUBSTANTIAL PREMIUMS OVER THE OFFERING PRICE.

THE LONG-TERMS CLOSED FRIDAY AT 103 10/32, AFTER TOPPING 103 EARLIER IN THE WEEK, AND THE SHORT-TERMS AT 101 12/32, AFTER GETTING UP TO ABOUND 102. HEAVY TURNOVER WAS REPORTED ON THE EXCHANGE BUT THERE WERE INDICATIONS OF EVEN MORE ACTIVITY IN THE OVER-THE-COUNTER MARKET.

BOND DEALERS INTERPRETED THE FLUCTUATIONS IN PRICE DURING THE WEEK LARGELY AS INDICATIONS OF SPECULATIVE ACTIVITY. A CONSIDERABLE PART OF TRADING WAS DONE IN SMALL LOTS, A SIGN THAT THE BIG INVESTORS SUCH AS BANKS, INSURANCE COMPANIES AND ESTATES HAD NOT YET ENTERED THE MARKET ON A LARGE SCALE. SUCH INSTITUTIONAL INVESTORS USUALLY DEAL IN SIX-FIGURE BLOCKS OF BONDS OR MORE.

PROCEEDS OF THE LOAN WILL BE USED BY THE INTERNATIONAL BANKING INSTITUTION TO MAKE DOLLAR LOANS TO MEMBER NATIONS. THE BANK'S SUPPLY OF LENDABLE DOLLARS, PRIOR TO THE BOND SALE, WAS CONFINED

30.24- 11067

CHIEFLY TO THE UNITED STATES' SUBSCRIPTION OF AROUND $721,000,000. THAT AMOUNT WAS REDUCED BY THE BANK'S FIRST, AND THUS FAR ONLY, LOAN OF $250,000,000 TO FRANCE.

JUL 1947

CONSIDERATION IS BEING GIVEN, OFFICIALS INDICATED, TO APPLICATIONS FOR LOANS BY SEVERAL OTHER EUROPEAN NATIONS, AMONG THEM DENMARK, POLAND AND THE NETHERLANDS.

THE BANK IS PLEDGED, UNDER ITS ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT, TO USE ITS FUNDS TO ASSIST IN THE RECONSTRUCTION AND DEVELOPMENT OF NATIONS, ESPECIALLY THOSE WHOSE ECONOMIES WERE DAMAGED OR DESTROYED BY WAR.

INTENSE INTEREST IN THE NEW SECURITIES RELEGATED THE CORPORATE LIST TO SECOND PLACE IN THE BOND MARKET.

JUL 1947

TURNOVER IN THE POPULAR RAILS WAS SMALL BUT PRICES TENDED UPWARD THROUGHOUT THE WEEK. BIDDING WAS STIMULATED IN LARGE PART BY HOPES THAT SEVERAL REQUESTS FOR HIGHER FREIGHT AND PASSENGER RATES WOULD GO THROUGH, AS WELL AS EARNINGS REPORTS FOR MANY CARRIERS WHICH SHOWED DECISIVE IMPROVEMENT OVER A YEAR AGO.

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, JULY 19-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES EXPORTED A RECORD-BREAKING 29,837,000 LONG TONS OF COAL DURING THE 12 MONTHS ENDED JUNE 30, THE GOVERNMENT REPORTED TODAY.

SUCH HIGH SHIPMENTS MUST CONTINUE, IT ADDED, IF WORLD RECONSTRUCTION IS TO GO FORWARD.

HOUSEHOLD AND INDUSTRIAL COAL USERS IN THIS COUNTRY MEANWHILE WERE URGED TO STOCK UP NEXT WINTER'S SUPPLIES EARLY, BOTH FOR TRANSPORTATION AND PRODUCTION REASONS.

"IF THIS IS DONE," CAPT. GRANVILLE CONWAY, COORDINATOR OF EMERGENCY EXPORT PROGRAMS, SAID IN A STATEMENT, "THERE SHOULD BE ADEQUATE COAL SUPPLIES FOR ALL AMERICAN CONSUMERS NEXT WINTER WITH NO CONFLICT WITH THE EXPORT PROGRAM."

JUL 1947

CONWAY'S REPORT WAS MADE PUBLIC BY JOHN R. STEELMAN, ASSISTANT TO PRESIDENT TRUMAN.

IN A SEPARATE STATEMENT, STEELMAN SAID THE REPORT SHOWED THAT WHILE ESSENTIAL REQUIREMENTS FOR SOME EUROPEAN COUNTRIES WERE NOT FULLY MET IN THE LAST FISCAL YEAR, AMERICAN COAL EXPORTS "WERE OF VITAL ASSISTANCE TO WORLD RECONSTRUCTION."

AT THE SAME TIME, HE SAID THE REPORT INDICATES THE NEED OF CONTINUING EXPORTS AT A HIGH LEVEL THIS YEAR. HE DECLARED THE SHORTAGE OF COAL, PERHAPS MORE THAN ANY OTHER SINGLE FACTOR, HAS SLOWED DOWN WORLD RECOVERY.

JUL 1947

"IT IS GRATIFYING THEREFORE," HE SAID, "THAT THE UNITED STATES X X X WAS ABLE TO SHIP ABROAD--AND TO PLACES WHERE IT WAS MOST GRAVELY NEEDED--RECORD BREAKING AMOUNTS OF COAL, AND TO DO THIS IN SPITE OF PRODUCTION AND SHIPPING DIFFICULTIES WITHOUT DENYING THE NEEDS OF AMERICAN CONSUMERS AND INDUSTRY."

FRANCE, WITH 7,963,000 TONS, RECEIVED MORE U.S. COAL LAST YEAR THAN ANY OTHER NATION. ITALY WAS NEXT WITH 5,965,000 TONS. OTHERS RECEIVING MORE THAN ONE MILLION TONS WERE BELGIUM, 2,562,000; NETHERLANDS 2,334,000; DENMARK 1,250,000; SWEDEN 1,469,000; NORWAY 1,043,000, AND BRAZIL 1,209,000.

THE EXPORT FIGURE EXCLUDES RAIL AND LAKE SHIPMENTS TO CANADA AND RAIL SHIPMENTS TO MEXICO WHICH ARE NORMALLY CONSIDERED U.S. DOMESTIC COAL MARKETS.

JUL 1947

(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, JULY 19--(AP)--ONLY A HANDFUL OF NAVY SCRAP IRON AND STEEL IS WORTH SALVAGING FROM THE UNCOUNTED WRECKAGE OF WAR SCATTERED ACROSS THE PACIFIC, EXPERTS ESTIMATED TODAY.

A TWO-MAN CIVILIAN COMMITTEE REPORTED AFTER A 22,000 MILE TOUR OF THE PACIFIC FOR THE SECRETARY OF THE NAVY THAT:

GUAM HAS 15,000 TONS OF SCRAP NAVY TRUCKS, JEEPS, TRACTORS CRANS, TANKS AND LANDING CRAFT WORTH RETURNING TO THE U.S. HELP FROM THE NAVY WILL BE NEEDED IN TRUCKING AND LOADING THE MATERIAL. THIS WAS THE ONLY NAVY SCRAP TO BE REPORTED FAVORABLY BY THE COMMITTEE.

MANILA HAS 50,000 TO 75,000 TONS OF SCRAP FOR SALE BY THE PHILIPPINES GOVERNMENT. MOST OF 84 SUNKEN JAPANESE AND AMERICAN SHIPS CAN NOT BE RAISED FROM THE BAY AND WOULDN'T BE WORTH IT ANYWAY.

SUBIC BAY HOLDS 100,000 TONS OF SCRAP LANDING CRAFT WHICH COULD BE SALVAGED, BUT MIGHT NOT PAY THE COST OF THE OPERATIONS. THESE CRAFT HAVE BEEN TURNED OVER BY THE NAVY TO THE OFFICE OF FOREIGN LIQUIDATION COMMISSION.

MANUS AND SAMAR, BIG MARTIME BASES NOW BUSTING BACK INTO THE JUNGLE, HAVE ABOUT 15,000 TONS BUT SCRAPPING IT IS NOT FEASIBLE.

ONE "ACCUMULATION" OF MILITARY VEHICLES ON MANUS WAS "SO COMPLETELY COVERED BY JUNGLE GROWTH THAT INSPECTION AND ESTIMATE OF THE QUANTITY WAS NOT POSSIBLE," THE REPORT SAID.

"WITHIN ANOTHER SIX MONTHS THE ENTIRE ACCUMULATION AT MANUS WILL HAVE DEPRECIATED BECAUSE OF THE ELEMENTS TO THE EXTENT THAT IT WILL BE OF LITTLE OR NO COMMERCIAL VALUE." JUL 1947

COST OF A SCRAP OPERATION IN THE PACIFIC IS BOOSTED BY THE HIGH COST OF THE GASES USED FOR CUTTING THE METAL INTO CHUNKS.

GAS COSTING 45 CENTS PER CYLINDER AT HONOLULU, SELLS FOR $10 AT MANILA, THE EXPERTS SAID.

THE SURVEY WAS MADE BY LESLIE G. KNIGHT OF BETHLEHM PACIFIC COAST STEEL CORPORATION, SEATTLE, REPRESENTING THE AMERICAN IRON AND STEEL INSTITUTE; AND LEONARD I. ABRAMS OF ATLAS STEEL AND SUPPLY CO. CLEVELAND, REPRESENTING THE INSTITUTE OF SCRAP IRON AND STEEL.

THE NAVY SAID IT WAS ARRANGING DETAILS OF OFFERING ITS GUAM SCRAP TO PRIVATE INDUSTRY AND WOULD HELP IN PREPARING IT FOR SHIPMENT.

Rocket Firing Warplanes Blast Northern Java Port; Dutch Troops Race Inland

JUL 1947

INDONESIAN ARMY STIFFENS, SCORES SOME MINOR GAINS

Netherlands Forces Extend Beachhead in Amphibious Landings.

CASUALTIES ARE LIGHT

UN Receives 'Communications' on Warfare from Both Parties.

STANLEY SWINTON

BATAVIA, Java, Wednesday, July 23 (AP)—Rocket firing Dutch war planes made 15 attacks yesterday on the northern Java coast port of Cheribon, the Indonesan army said today, as Dutch seaborne invasion forces captured large segments of eastern Java.

In ground fighting the Republicans claimed they gained ground on the front west of Dutch-held Semarang where they launched a counter-attack against Dutch troops yesterday.

NIGHT

The Indonesian communique, heard here by an unofficial radio monitor, made no mention of the situation at Jogjakarta, the Indonesian republic capital. A Dutch armored column was reported yesterday to have slashed within 35 miles of Jogjakarta.

Dutch Planes Downed

Two Dutch planes were shot down during bombings and strafing at widley seperated points, the Indonesians said. At Pandaan, about 25 miles from Soerabaja, a crewman of a downed plane was captured. The other plane was shot down at Soemdeang in West Java during a bombing attack.

The Republicans said Dutch troops had reached Pasoeroean on the north coast, about 20 miles west of Probolinggo, in an apparent expansion of the northeast Java beachhead established Monday by amphibious landings.

The Dutch turned inland at Pasoeroean, the Indonesians said, and marched in direction of the mountain resort of Malang, 35 miles inland. Malang was the normal meeting place of the provisional Indonesian parliament.

Fighting was underway at Pandaan, a few miles west of Pasoeroean.

At Madioen, located almost in the exact center of Java between Malan and Sc erakarta, the Indonesians said a Dutch plane dropped two 50-pound bombs and made strafing attacks.

An Indonesian army communique issued at Jogjakarta said armed forces from Dutch-held Semarang, on the north central coast, had attacked the town of Salatiga for three hours, and then had withdrawn.

Salatiga is approximately 25 miles south of Semarang and 35 north of Jogjakarta. The Indonesian capital is in south central Java.

Resistance Stiffens

Indonesian reports said resistance was stiffening, and the Dutch themselves conceded that sharp fighting was underway at several points in Java and one in Sumatra, the large island northwest of here.

A Netherlands communique said advances were made on half a dozen fronts, against relatively light resistance.

Dutch casualties yesterday—the first day of the armed conflict which the Dutch describe as "police action" and the Indonesians as a "colonial war"—were listed officially as 150 dead or wounded.

(The Netherlands informed the United Nations in New York that it had been compelled to "resort to police measures" because of continued "acts of violence." The Dutch note charged the Indonesians with "senseless destruction," maintaining a food blockade and circulating "hostile and inflammatory propaganda."

(U. N. officials also disclosed that an Indonesian group in Brisbane, Australia, had sent a communication to the security council. The contents were not made public.)

Dutch forces fighting out of Batavia, in western Java, were reported clearing supply lines toward Cheribon and the Jogjakarta area. An Indonesian communique said Dutch land forces attacked Krawang, 47 miles east of Batavia on the main Batavia-Cheribon-Jogjakarta rail line.

Beachhead Extended

In the east, a Dutch amphibious force which landed yesterday at Pasir Poetih was reported to have extended its beachhead for 70 miles along the northeast coast, capturing the coastal road and the important city of Probolinggo.

The Netherlands forces then drove inland almost as far as Bandowoso, 25 miles south of the coast, before meeting their first stiff resistance, the Dutch said.

An Indonesian army communique said the Dutch had landed tanks and trucks, and that fighting was underway at Probolinggo, but Dutch air observers said their forces had been virtually unopposed along the coast.

Dutch fliers reported that several fires were blazing in Probolinggo, but said these were minor sabotage attempts made after the town was taken.

Republican communiques conceded the Dutch had managed to land strong invasion forces on the north and east coasts, and that Dutch columns were driving forward east of Bandoeng, in west central Java.

Indonesians Gain

The communiques added, however, that Indonesian forces "made progress" in a counter-attack west of Semarang, in north central Java, shot down two Dutch planes, and scored four direct hits Sunday on a warship off Merak, on Java's western tip.

These were the first claims of Indonesian successes in the current conflict, which began when the Dutch moved against Indonesian holdings following a breakdown in negotiations for Java's independence.

A Dutch Mitchell B-25 bomber crashed in Sumatra, Indonesians reported.

The weather today was perfect for aerial and armored operations, and American-made Dutch fighter planes—P-40 Kittyhawks and P-51 Mustangs—continued to blast Indonesian airfields. The Netherlands army said hangars and oil dumps had been set ablaze and 10 Indonesian planes destroyed on the ground, in raids on five Indonesian fields yesterday.

The Republican airforce was estimated to total only 40 planes—mostly old Jaapnese craft in poor repair.

A Dutch Navy communique said assault troops had rolled ashore Monday from war ships and landing craft at Banjoewangi, an important port on the eastern tip of the island, and Pasir Poetih, a seaside resort of 3,000 population about 35 miles east of Probolinggo.

Dutch warships cleared the way for the landings by pounding shells into Indonesian positions, the navy communiqué said. Most of the steel-helmeted assault force were Dutch marines, trained in North Carolina for fighting against the Japanese.

[United States Marine Corps headquarters in Washington said about 7,000 Dutch marines were trained at Camp Lejeune, N.C., during the Summer of 1945. An official of the Netherlands Embassy in Washington said the unit is now in Java.]

Hard Resistance Reported

Well-armed Indonesian troops were reported offering hard resistance against Dutch elements striking northwest from Krian, a town midway between Soerabaja and Modojokerto.

The Dutch also admitted they were getting a fight at Medan, in northeastern Sumatra, where 20,000 Indonesians are opposing Dutch efforts to regain control of that island.

An Indonesian report said Dutch action on Sumatra was concentrated in the Padang area, on Sumatra's west coast.

Representatives of the Sundanese Peoples party here said the Dutch had advanced more than 60 miles Monday through Sudanese lands in the direction of Cheribon, on the northwestern coast, and had occupied the town of Makjalenka.

They added that some members of the Sundanese party had accompanied the Dutch, waving green and white "Sundanese flags."

One high Dutch official said Dutch troops might not seize Jogjakarta, the Indonesian capital, and might halt their advances within three or four days, when they deemed their "local police action" had been accomplished.

Harris Jackson, Associated Press reporter, said in a dispatch from Jogjakarta yesterday afternoon that most Indonesian officials to whom he had talked expressed little doubt the Dutch could occupy the main cities in Java, but they declared the Dutch would have trouble holding them.

Appeals Over Radio

The Indonesians obviously are planning for a long guerrilla war, he said.

Amir Sjarifoeddin, Indonesian Premier, in a short-wave broadcast from Jogjakarta beamed toward Australia, appealed "to the world in general and our friends in Australia in particular to strengthen their efforts to prevent further bloodshed.

"If efforts are being made in our behalf, they must be made quickly," he said. "It is clear that this is a colonial war, not in the interest of the general peace in southeast Asia and the world."

President Soekarno of the Indonesian Republic was confined to bed in Jogjakarta. Physicians said he was suffering from fatigue and overwork.

DUTCH TROOPS PUSH TO WITHIN 35 MILES OF JAVANESE CITY

Armored Cars Lunge More Deeply Into Terrain Held by Natives.

STANLEY SWINTON

Batavia, July 22 (A. P.).—Dutch troops have smashed to within thirty-five air miles of the Indonesian Republic's capital of Jogjakarta, a message from there said tonight. An Indonesian communique, acknowledging the swift Dutch advance of the last thirty-six hours, said that Dutch armored cars attacked Salatiga, twenty-five miles south of Dutch-held Semaranc, then withdrew.

Salatiga is twenty-three miles from the perimeter of the Dutch-held area around Semarang. Jogjakarta is about sixty miles south of Semarang, on the narrow waist of Java. From Salatiga, a mountainous highway bends forty-six miles west and south to the Republican capital.

Two Planes Downed.

Meanwhile, Dutch forces which had established a broad beachhead along the northeastern coastal road also stabbed deeper into Indonesian territory at half a dozen points. The Indonesians said that their resistance was stiffening.

DAY

The Republicans said that they shot down two Dutch planes with machine-gun fire—one in western Java, eighteen miles east of Bondoeng, and the other in eastern Java, between Soerabaja and Indonesian-held Malang.

Fighting was reported in progress around Probolinggo, an important East Java port and an anchor of the Dutch beachhead along the northeast coastal road. The beachhead—established by American-trained Dutch marines in amphibious landings—now stretches east from the Probolinggo area to Pandji for a distance of some seventy miles.

The Dutch reported sharp fighting at several points and the Indonesian Army said that a battle was under way at Probolinggo. The Dutch said, however, that columns along the coastal road were virtually unopposed.

Firm Resistance Reported.

Dutch reports told of well-armed Indonesians offering hard resistance at Krian, midway between Modjokerto and Soerabaja, and at Medan on the northwest coast of the neighboring island of Sumatra.

The Dutch said that all initial objectives in their amphibious operation had been achieved and that resistance had been less than expected.

President Soekarno of the Indonesian Republic announced that former Premier Sutan Sjahrir had left Java on a mission to explain the republic's position abroad.

[Arriving in Singapore en route to India, Sjahrir said that he also would visit the United States and Australia. He said that the Indonesians "expect much help from India, materially and morally."]

A Royal Netherlands Navy communique said landing craft of the navy and warships disembarked troops at Banjoewangi on the east coast of Java and at Pasir Putuh on the north coast. It was the first amphibious operation since the end of World War II. A Dutch Army communique said the troops gained initial objectives and made additional advances.

A severe five-hour engagement in the Padang sector of Sumatra yesterday and other clashes on that island were reported by an Indonesian Army communique. The bulletin also said that on Sunday, two Dutch warships off Merak on the extreme western tip of Java were shelled by Indonesian mortars and left the area after suffering damage.

Appeals For Support

Premier Amir Sjarifoeddin in a broadcast from Jogjakarta beamed to Australia, appealed "to the world in general and our friends in Australia in particular to strengthen their efforts to prevent further bloodshed." He said it was clear this "colonial war" was not in the interest of general peace in Southeast Asia and the world.

"If efforts are being made in our behalf, they must be made quickly," he said in a speech heard by the Dutch monitor here.

The fight, which began Sunday with the Dutch acting first, originated in disagreements over the future government of the East Indies, rich in oil, rubber, sugar, tin and other products. The Republicans call it a "colonial war," the Dutch "local police action."

Seize Four Points

Dutch troops, mainly United States-trained marines, were said to have captured four East Java coastal points after going ashore from naval vessels in a large-scale operation yesterday. They were reported to have established bridgeheads along a 55-mile coastal road between two of those points—Probolinggo and Sitoebondo.

First reports from Sumatra said Dutch troops jumped off in local actions yesterday at three towns on that big island northwest of Java—Medan in the North, Palembang in the Southeast and Padang in the middle—and had completed the Padang operation without casualties.

On Java itself, most populous island of the East Indies, news bulletins and communiques from both sides indicated that at least seven Dutch operations were under way in what observers interpreted as an attempt to pinch off the republic into isolated segments for a final cleanup.

These operations were: In Western Java, drives south from Buitenzorg, east from Bandoeng and west from Bandoeng; in Central Java, a movement south from Semarang, and, in Eastern Java, a push south from Soerabaja, a movement inland from Probolinggo and a stand at Banjoewangi—this last to prevent any Republican flight eastward to the Island of Bali.

A Dutch Army communique this afternoon, while withholding geographical details, said that "all objectives for the first 24 hours were reached and at many points our troops even advanced much further." The communique reported resistance less than expected. It listed Dutch casualties yesterday as 150 dead and wounded.

It said the population "remains quet and continues at work" and added that demolitions and arson had been reported from "only a few places."

On the other hand, a republican informant in Batavia said the Dutch were striking stiff resistance in their drives from Soerabaja and Buitenzorg.

A high Dutch official said that when present objectives had been seized, perhaps within three or four days, the Dutch might halt their "local police action," since their mission then would have been fulfilled.

He declared the Dutch might not occupy Jogjakarta, capital of the Indonesian Republic, since it was not among their current objectives. Jogjakarta lies in the part of the Semarang drive.

Dutch Set Timetable For Warfare; Attack Surprises Indonesia Capital

HARRIS JACKSON JUL 1947

Jogjakarta, Java, July 22—(AP)—Hostilities in Indonesia, from the vantage point of this Republican capital, appear to be proceeding at a slow pace on a schedule determined almost entirely by the Dutch.

The Dutch were reported to have landed a small unit of troops yesterday near a strategic East Java port and to have strafed or bombed most air fields in Republican Java and some in Southern Sumatra in flights of one or two planes each.

No Republican fighter or anti-aircraft opposition was mentioned, and one highly placed source said the damage to the Republic's planes, admittedly few, was "considerable." Two persons were said to have been killed and 10 wounded.

The Republican Government and people obviously were surprised by the Dutch attack. Right up to the commencement of hostilities, well informed Republicans here believed something would happen to forestall them.

DAY

The Indonesian capital is blacked out by night, but busy by day. The air raid siren usually does not sound until Dutch planes are over the city. On hearing it, street crowds duck into drainage ditches or behind low walls. Given the all clear, they go back to buying and selling or to washing clothes in the city's streams.

What the observer sees of the Republic's army in Jogjakarta consists of young soldiers lacking in weapons and skill. In conventional western-style warfare they would be wiped out. In high places here, there is no attempt to minimize the immediate gravity of the republican situation. On the other hand, there is no lack of confidence in the ultimate outcome.

Most officials with whom I've talked privately express little doubt that the Dutch fairly speedily can occupy Java's main cities.

"But how long can they hold them?" they asked. "That's something else."

The Indonesians obviously are planning for extended guerrilla warfare which will scorch the Indies' fertile fields and deny foreign interests access to the rubber, sugar and rice which are among the chief prizes of this war.

Texts of Communiques on Clash in Indonesia

Netherland

BATAVIA, Java, July 22 (AP)—A Dutch Army communiqué:

Following yesterday's communiqué regarding preventive air actions by the Netherlands Air Forces against air force units of the Republic, it is reported that three Republican planes were set on fire at Tasikmalaya airfield during a later attack.

Three airplanes also were destroyed on Panasan field, near Surakarta. A few bombs were dropped on a petrol dump.

Two Republican planes were destroyed on Maospati airfield near Madiun.

All actions were carried out by single seater fighters of the P-40 (Kittyhawk) and P-51 (Mustang) types.

Later reconnaissance revealed that owing to hangar fires started by actions carried out earlier this morning against airfields at Kalijati and Tasikamalaya, one plane was destroyed on each field.

A further Dutch Army communiqué:

It is officially reported that in the interests of action begun yesterday no details can yet be published.

It can, however, be reported that all objectives for the first twenty-four hours were reached and at many points our troops even advanced much further. The Indonesian Army and other Republican forces put up much less resistance than had on the whole been expected. In this connection our losses have been limited, a part of them having been caused by land mines and booby traps laid along or near the demarcation lines.

The population has been quiet and continues at work.

Demolitions and arson are reported from only a few places.

Measures which had to be effected for safeguarding large towns in Sumatra were everywhere carried out with no resistance or incidents worth mentioning. The general aspect of the towns is everywhere completely calm and normal, just as in the large towns under Netherlands control in Java.

A Royal Dutch Navy communiqué:

On July 21, landing craft of the Royal Navy, accompanied by warships, disembarked troops at Banjuwangi on the east coast of Java and at Pasir Putih on the north coast of Java.

There was very little opposition, which ended after shelling of the Republican positions.

Subsequent debarkation was effected without incident.

The landed troops consisted mainly of marines.

Indonesian

BATAVIA, Java, July 22 (AP)—An Indonesian National Army communiqué:

East Java: Yesterday at 1:30 P. M. Grissee was fired upon from the sea. During three minutes we answered the fire with heavy machine guns.

Between 5:30 and 9:30 A. M. north Banjuwangi was attacked from the sea, and aircraft dropped pamphlets. At 8 A. M. an enemy warship was noticed offshore near Pasir Putih. At 12:05 P. M. this place was shelled, which action caused destruction. The enemy landed with three small vessels at 9:15. An enemy section landed at Meneng, north of Banjuwangi.

The enemy attacked a train between Rogojampi and Jember. No casualties were reported.

Central Java: Yesterday between 7:00 and 8:00 A. M. Dutch aircraft attacked Gunung Pati. The attack was answered at 8:30. Four enemy bombers flew over Nandungan, and at 8:45 the enemy started shelling from the sea.

West Java: Yesterday afternoon at 4:30 Purwokerto was bombed and strafed by fighters during twenty minutes. The telephone office at Purwokerto was damaged and the railway station strafed. The number of casualties is unknown.

A further Indonesian Army communiqué:

East Java, Monday: At 8 A. M. a train at Lawang was strafed from the air.

Wukorejo was strafed from the air at 7 o'clock.

After Jepanan had been shelled from 6:55 to 7 o'clock fighting ensued between the Dutch and Indonesians.

Two Dutch aircraft fired upon Purwosari (Malang.)

Central Java: Dutch aircraft flew over and reconnoitered the harbor of Jilatjap seven times.

West Java, Sunday: Two Dutch warships have been shelled by us with mortars. We made four direct hits on one vessel. After engine damage was repaired, the two warships left Merak.

Sumatra, Padang front: Severe fighting started in Sungai Beramas from 5:00 to 10:00 A. M. Monday.

At 11:30 o'clock, fighting started at Kuranggi.

From 4:00 A. M. there was fighting at Tabing Beranting. The airfield was attacked by a Dutch B-25 at 7 o'clock. These attacks caused slight damages to establishments and airfields.

A further Indonesian Army communiqué, as recorded by an unofficial monitor:

Northeast Java: Fighting under way at Probolinggo.

North Central Java: Unggaran, south of Samarang, attacked. Indonesians attacked west of Samarang.

East Java: Dutch plane shot down at Pandaan.

West Java: Dutch attacked Tambun, west of Bekassi. We demolished the bridge.

Sukabumi: Fighting under way.

Pamphlets dropped upon Jogjakarta.

Bogus Money Found By Dutch Troops

Batavia, July 22 (A. P.)—The Netherlands East Indies Government announced today that Dutch troops had discovered 1,000,000 forged Siamese 20-tical notes when they occupied the Indonesian Republican Government Printing Office here.

"It probably is the first example in world history of a Government entering into the business of forging money," the announcement said.

Indonesian President Ill.

Jogjakarta, Java, July 22 (A. P.).—President Soekarno of the Indonesian Republic was confined to his bed today at the presidential palace here. A physician said that the President was suffering from extreme fatigue from overwork and from the strain occasioned by the outbreak of hostilities.

Coal Exports Reach Record

London, July 22 (AP)—American exports of coal to Europe reached an all-time high of more than 3,250,000 metric tons last month, while production fell slightly in Western Germany, the European Coal Organization reported today.

The provisional American export total for June, 3,263,000 tons, compared with 2,820,000 tons for May and 2,865,000 for May, 1946, the two previous highs, and made a grand total of 13,439,000 tons for the first six months of 1947.

Coal production went up slightly in the Ruhr, key area in European planning to implement the Marshall program, from 5,179,000 tons to 5,247,000, but dropped in the French-controlled Saar from 831,000 tons in May to 756,000 in June, the summary showed.

Poland Raises Output

Poland, the other main coal exporting European country since the war, raised her output from 4,459,000 tons in May to 4,581,000 in June.

Exports from western Germany to other European countries dropped from 883,000 tons in May to 848,000 in June, but Poland raised her exports from 393,000 tons to 810,000.

France, biggest coal importer, received 1,396,000 tons during the month against 1,347,000 in May and Italy's imports also increased, from 792,000 tons to 822,000.

Represents 18 Countries

The European Coal Organization is a voluntary organization of eighteen countries.

Coal organization officials said "better availability in the United States" was the only reason they knew for the increase in American contributions to efforts to keep industrial heads above water in war-damaged European countries.

The officials said they had no way of knowing whether United States shipments could continue at the present rate, well above the target of about 20,000,000 tons a year set in 1945.

Britain Dissatisfied With Bulgar Note

London, July 22 (AP)—The Foreign Office disclosed tonight that Great Britain is dissatisfied with Bulgaria's explanation for the suspension of two Bulgarian newspapers.

A new British note handed to the Bulgarian Government suggested that the suppression of newspapers might impose on Bulgaria a "stigma for refusing to act in the spirit of the peace treaty" which Bulgaria signed.

In response to an earlier protest Bulgaria said press laws are to be revised at some future time.

Anglo-Soviet Talks Stalled

LONDON, July 22 (AP).—The British Press Association reported tonight that the Anglo-Russian trade talks at Moscow have reached an impasse, and said an early return of the British delegation is expected.

Immigrant Craft Impounded.

London, July 22 (A. P.).—A Colonial Office spokesman said today that the President Warfield, former American excursion steamer which carried 4,500 uncertified Jewish immigrants from southern France to Palestine, had been impounded by the Holy Land Government.

Meanwhile, the Foreign Office threw the fate of the Jewish immigrants into the lap of the French Government. A spokesman said it was a matter for France to decide where the immigrants go after they have been returned to French territory.

Europe Recovery Agency Seeks Liaison With U. N.

PARIS, July 22 (AP).—The Committee of European Economic Cooperation today took a first step toward establishing permanent liaison with the United Nations when it directed its secretary general to inform the U. N. secretariat of the conference program.

The four technical committees dealing with food and agriculture, fuel and power, transport and metal industries were authorized by the executive committee to contact appropriate international groups directly.

The executive committee's decisions are to be submitted to the sixteen-nation steering committee, which is the over-all supervisory agent in the Continent's effort to frame its own reconstruction with American aid under the Marshall proposal.

Organizations to be contacted by the four technical committees include: the European Coal Organization, the European Economic Commission of the U. N., the U. N. Economic and Social Council, the Food and Agriculture Organization, the International Labor Office, the Erupoean Central Inland Transport Organization, the Economic Emergency Committee for Europe, the International Civil Aviation Organization and the World Bank.

Mrs. Peron In Paris; Leftists Urge Snub For Link To Franco

Paris, July 22—(AP)—French Communists and labor unions put pressure on the government today to abstain from holding an official reception for Senora Eva Duarte Peron, who arrived in Paris yesterday from Lisbon.

Recalling that Senora Peron had "just received the honors of" the government of Francisco Franco, the two groups issued a joint statement saying: "Out of respect toward the Spanish people, who have suffered for 11 years in an attempt to regain freedom and independence, the French Government should not receive the wife of the president of Argentina. She has reviewed Franco's troops, she was given the fascist salute and she has received Franco's decorations."

The Argentine President's wife received a quiet welcome on her arrival at Orly Airfield yesterday, in contrast to the ovations she had been accorded during her visits in Spain, Italy and Portugal.

She was met at the field by French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and the Chilean ambassador, representing the South American diplomatic colony.

(A British Foreign Office spokesman said yesterday in London that Senora Peron had cancelled definitely her plans for visiting England.)

Return Of War Dead Gets Underway July 28

Paris, July 22 (AP)—The return of United States World War II dead from European graves will get under way July 28, at Henri Chapelle Cemetery near Liege, Belgium, the American Graves Registration Commission announced today.

The Henri Chapelle Cemetery is the second largest in the European area, and 17,319 Americans are buried there. It was established by the 1st Army in September, 1944.

Many of its dead fell in the battles of Aachen and in the Ardennes campaign.

"Only those dead whose next of kin have elected to have their remains brought back to the homeland will be returned," the AGRC said.

The first shipment is scheduled to depart from Antwerp early in October.

Dutch Clergyman Blames Holland

Oslo, Norway, July 22 (AP)—Dr. A. W. Visser 'T Hooft, Netherlands clergyman, criticized his country today for events in Indonesia at the opening session of the World Conference of Christian Youth.

"I deeply feel the burden of guilt resting on my country for the terrible events which take place at the very moment we meet together," he said in reference to the shooting in the Dutch East Indies.

Indonesian and Dutch delegates discussed the situation and talked of issuing a joint statement.

The ten-day conference was arranged by the World Alliance of the Y.M.C.A. and attended by 1,500 young persons and church leaders from more than 70 nations. About 265 were from the United States.

DUTCH DISPUTE U. S. STATEMENT ON INDIES WAR

The Hague, The Netherlands, July 22—(AP)—A Government source said today that the Netherlands East Indies Government and the Republic of Indonesia were at odds on a number of points in their negotiations for the establishment of an interim government of Indonesia.

The informant said the conclusion might be drawn from yesterday's statement by the United States State Department that only one point — the matter of internal policing—was at issue. In the last stage of the negotiations, he added, the Dutch sought cessation of hostilities and made a number of other demands with which the Republic failed to comply.

The State Department announcement, regretting the outbreak of hostilities in Indonesia, said the Dutch and Indonesians "announced their acceptance of all points except that relating to police procedure," and that an impasse was reached on that issue.

A memorandum explaining the Netherlands' position in the Indonesian crisis has been forwarded to the United Nations, it was announced.

Plan Incentive for Ruhr Miners

BERLIN, July 22 (AP).—A new incentive plan for Ruhr miners to increase production—the key to reviving industry in the British-American zones and to European economic reconstruction under the Marshall plan — is being worked out by British and American coal officials, authoritative sources said today.

The scheme may be ready about the end of this week. The informants declined to elaborate on the plan but there were indications a quota system might be used with the miner getting a bonus for whatever coal he mines above a certain quantity.

B-29's Try Out Bombs On 'Bomb-Proof' Plant

Frankfurt, Germany, July 22 (AP). Three American B-29 Superfortresses today began test bombing of the Germans "bomb-proof" submarine assembly plant at Farge, near Bremen, the United States Army Air Force said tonight.

The huge bombers dropped modified versions of Britain's Royal Air Force "Tall Boy" bombs to test their penetrating power against underground plants.

Given good weather, the bombers are scheduled to put on a repeat performance tomorrow, using American 25,000-pound "Amazon" and "Sampson" penetration bombs. The tests are expected to take three months before completion.

GERMANS INDORSE MARSHALL PLAN

Frankfurt, Germany, July 22 (A. P.).—Four Communist delegates in the new economic council of the American and British occupation zones refused today to join the other fifty members in an overwhelming German indorsement of the Marshall plan of United States aid for Europe.

Dr. Erich Koehler, chairman of the council of leading American and British military government leaders, read the declaration of all political parties except the Communists. The statement welcomed the Marshall plan as a "basis for European economic recovery" and emphasized that German economy still had great productive powers which could help rebuild Europe.

Communist delegate Ludwig Becker asserted that his party "sees in this policy the danger of splitting Germany politically and economically."

The statements were read after Air Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas and Gen. Lucius D. Clay, British and American military governors, told the council it held the future of 42,000,000 Germans and Germany's neighbors in its hands.

Nagy Retires His Party In Hungary

Budapest, July 22 (AP)—The only active opposition to Communist policies in Hungary withdrew from public life today, leaving the Communist-dominated coalition Government a clear field for the next elections, tentatively scheduled for August 31.

Vince Nagy, vice-president of Dezso Sulyok's Szabadsad (Freedom) party, announced from the floor of Parliament that party members would keep out of the elections and retire to private life.

"We are dissolving our party because we do not want this unhappy country so in need of peace to be the scene of civil war," Nagy said.

"The events of the last mon and the last weeks have show that the government cannot a sure the immunity rights and pe sonal safety of the Deputies," added. "This convinces us th we cannot take part in the ele tions."

Several meetings of the Freedo party have been broken up by pe sons described as "members of t Communist and Social Democr parties."

The end of the Freedom part in the opinion of most Hungaria informed political observer means the end of all real oppos tion to policies dictated by Lef wing elements. The Small Holde party, still the majority party o paper, is now merely a membe of the coalition government.

SOVIET MAGAZINE SEES 14 WESTERN 'PUPPETS'

MOSCOW, July 22 (AP)—New Times, the Soviet foreign policy magazine, said today the Paris economic conference on the Marshall proposal was a failure and that Great Britain and France had prepared "puppet" roles for the fourteen other European nations participating.

The leading editorial declared that of all the nations attending the conference "the Fascist representatives of Portugal and Greece felt the happiest," while the other participants were not so happy.

"The course taken by England and France toward splitting Europe at the order of the United States could not but call forth serious qualms of all who are even slightly concerned with the interests of peace," New Times said.

The editorial furnished what was probably the most definitive exposition of the Soviet attitude toward the Paris conference that has yet appeared in the Russian press:

"The essence of the matter comes down to this: to subject the economy of European countries to American interests, to compel them to develop the production of those commodities which the United States desires to import and to destroy those branches of economy which would constitute undesirable competition on the world markets with American monopolies."

RUSSIANS ARE WARNED AGAINST ALIEN SPIES

MOSCOW, July 22 (AP) — Soviet concern over the operations of foreign intelligence agents was emphasized in an article in the Leningrad Pravda, which criticized several citizens for carelessly or unconsciously giving out State secrets.

"One should remember," the article said, "that with the end of the war the undermining activities of foreign intelligence have not weakened in the slightest. It is known that even bourgeois States, which are identical in character, constantly send among each other spies, diversionists, terrorists and assassins.

"Capitalistic intelligence operates even more actively against the Soviet nation, trying to undermine its military and economic might.

"The strictest maintenance of State secrets by every Soviet person is of exceptionally great importance for providing security for the country.

A LOT OF SAUSAGE

Moscow, July 22 (A. P.).—The literary journal Novyi Mir published for the first time today a poem written in 1942 which depicted the United States as a slaughterhouse owner chortling over his "cash from every pound" of lend-lease sausage while Russian soldiers and civilians died in the war. The poem, by Alexei Surkov, likened the American capitalist to a "jackal following a lion wounded in mortal battle."

The poem draws a picture of the battlefield near Voronezh where a Russian cook lies dead beside lend-lease sausage and an exploded German shell. In Chicago, runs the poem, sits a meat manufacturer "peacefully, with clear conscience," concerned only with profits. "The produce of Chicago's slaughterhouses—that's his contribution in return for our blood," the poem says.

GUERRILLA BANDS CONTINUE RAIDS ON GREEK TOWNS

ATHENS, July 22 — (AP) The information ministry said tonight 24 persons—"mostly women and children"—were slain last night in an attack by 400 guerrillas on the town of Nigrita, about 40 miles northeast of Salonika in northern Greece.

The ministry also quoted Prefect Rigopoulos of Ioannina, in northwestern Greece, as saying that guerrillas retreating before government troops had burned and looted 35 villages in the vicinity of that city.

Rigopoulos' statement asserted that 5,000 ragged refugees from the demolished villages were sleeping in the streets of Ioannina and nearby Konitsa, which the guerrillas attacked unsuccessfully 10 days ago. The government has charged that the irregulars, "invaded" Greece from Alban

Villagers Terrorized

Rigopoulos was quoted as saying that inhabitants of 40 other villages east and north of Ioannina lived in terror of possible attacks by the leftists.

Newspaper reporters who have just returned from Ioannina, capital of Epirus, confirmed the heavy influx of refugees to that city.

Two minor clashes were reported between government forces and guerrillas in the area east of Ioannina. One irregular unit, apparently attempting to reach Agrapha, was reported under attack south of Grevena. Another skirmish was said to have taken place on the southern slopes of the Grammos mountains.

The conservative newspaper Ethnos said approximately 1,000 guerrillas had filtered into Greece from Albania within the last few days, and were trying to contact irregular units on Mount Grammos.

Greek press reports said the United Nations Balkan sub-commission had concluded its on-the-spot hearings at Ioannina and was returning to Salonika "convinced" the irregulars who attacked Konitsa 10 days ago had entered Greece from Albania.

Civil strife erupted on the island of Crete, where 20 men were reported to have attacked a radio station just outside the capital of Canea. Authorities said guerrillas set fire to the village of Kamilina, near Canea, and blasted a bridge in reprisal for the slaying by a Canea mob of two persons held in connection with the killing of a rightist attorney.

Col. Franghadakis, the military governor, imposed a curfew over the Canea area.

CIVIL VIOLENCE RESUMED ON CRETE

Athens, July 22 (A. P.)—Civil strife began anew on the island of Crete today and sporadic guerrilla attacks were reported elsewhere in Greece, the Government announced.

The Canea area of Crete, quiet for the past few weeks, was under a curfew ordered by the Military Governor, Col. Franghadakis after a band of twenty men had attacked a radio station just outside the capital. Guerrillas near Canea also set fire to the village of Kamilina and blasted a bridge in reprisal for the killing by a Canea mob of two persons held in connection with the killing of a Rightest attorney, the authorities said.

In northwest Greece, in the area east of Ioannina, two minor clashes were reported between Government forces and the remnants of Leftist guerrilla units. One guerrilla unit, attempting to reach Agrapha, was reported under attack by Government forces south of Grevena. Other minor clashes were said to have taken place on the southern slopes of the Grammos mountains.

The Government announced that on Sunday the guerrilla forces lost sixty-seven killed, nineteen wounded and seventeen captured. North of Kilkis, a band coming down from the hills attacked and held a village near Sariza for three hours before armored cars and troops recaptured the community, military spokesmen said.

Far to the east—virtually on the Turkish border at Orestias—Leftist guerrillas were reported routed with losses of men and war supplies in a battle with an Evros (Rightist) unit.

British Warships Going To Russia From Istanbul

ISTANBUL, July 22 (AP).—Admiral Sir Algernon U. Willis, commander of the British Mediterranean Fleet, said today he had brought a squadron of British warships to Istanbul in conformity with a policy of "being friends and trying to work in harmony with all nations for the betterment of the world."

Three ships of the squadron, including the cruiser Liverpool, will leave here Saturday for Sevastopol for what the admiral described as a "purely naval visit."

The trip to the Russian port has been both praised and criticized in the Turkish press. The newspaper "Ulas" said the "fact that a part of this fleet will also visit the port of Sevastopol comes well and prevents any sense of provocation being given to this new demonstration of Anglo-Turk friendship."

Istanbul, July 22 (A. P.).—A squadron of British warships, including the cruiser Liverpool, aircraft carriers Ocean and Triumph and several destroyers, arrived here late yesterday on a goodwill visit.

On Saturday, the Liverpool and two destroyers will visit the Crimean port of Sevastopol.

Russian Airline Halts Unlicensed Iran Flights

Teheran, July 22—(AP)—An Interior Ministry spokesman announced today that a Russian commercial airline which he said had been operating without a license in Iran since the end of the war had discontinued flights following a second official protest to the Soviet embassy.

An aviation department official said the Russian planes had been grounded pending negotiations between the two governments over "reciprocal flying rights." He added that Russian operation of an internal Iranian line was "permanently ended."

SEES JEWISH STATE AS WAR BREEDER

Beirut, Lebanon, July 22 (A. P.).—A representative of the Arab States told the United Nations special committee on Palestine today that these nations were firmly convinced that establishment of a Jewish State in Palestine would lead to disturbances and war throughout the East.

Foreign Minister Hamid Frangieh of Lebanon—speaking for Lebanon, Syria, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Yemen—added that "mere recommendations of a royal commission in 1937 for partition of Palestine was sufficient to inflame a furious Arab revolt, which continued till the outbreak of the last war."

The testimony, first official contact of the committee with Arab views, demanded immediate cessation of the British mandate over Palestine, a halt of Jewish immigration, and establishment of an independent Palestine. The Arab States spokesman declared:

"The only possible and reliable settlement which . . . constitutes a compromise by the Arabs is to regard every Jew who has lawfully obtained Palestinian citizenship despite Arab opposition as equal in rights and duties to Arab inhabitants . . . and to set up an independent national government on the basis of proportional representation."

"There is no foundation," the Arab statement continued, "to allegations of Zionist leaders that the minority in Palestine of Jews would be persecuted."

U.N. Commission Gets Arab Holy Land Views

Beirut, Lebanon, July 22 (AP)—The United Nations special Palestine commission had its first official contact with Arab views on the Holy Land today, when Hamid Frangieh, Foreign Minister of Lebanon, presented testimony on behalf of Lebanon, Syria, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Yemen.

Frangieh said the "only possible and reliable settlement" was to set up an "independent, national government on the basis of proportional representation" for Arabs and Jews.

He demanded a halt to Jewish immigration and immediate termination of the British mandate.

New 'Battle of Jerusalem' Roars on After Nightfall

BY CARTER L. DAVIDSON

JERUSALEM, July 22—(AP)—A new "battle of Jerusalem" roared at sunset tonight.

Machinegun fire, Molotov cocktails and roadmines set off a new wave of violence which in eight days has taken a toll of eight killed and 57 wounded.

Sirens wailed three times in the Holy City today, twice for minor incidents, and a third time for what appeared to be a big underground offensive.

Troops Battle Attackers

In the gathering dusk troops and police answered with a hail of machinegun fire attacks which were launched simultaneouly on an army pay corps office in the former Syrian orphanage, on the Mustashpha police station and its nearby billet at the eastern edge of Jerusalem, and on a Royal Air Force mobile patrol touring the curfewed Mea Shearim (Jewish) quarter.

The attack on the Royal Air Force armored car, of a type used to reinforce police and military patrols, occurred when two oil bombs were thrown from behind a high stone wall.

The Mustashpha police billet was pelted by bullets from surrounding houses, all of which were included in the dusk to dawn curfew area which was clamped on Jerusalem's Jewish quarters Monday night.

Police, during the attacks, found two road mines on the Agrippa Way near a Royal Air Force officers' mess, but detonated them without damage.

After about an hour the shooting subsided and an official summary said altogether seven separate attacks had been made on Britain's security forces.

Casualties Reported

There was no official report on casualties, but private reports said at least five Jewish civilians and one Arab had been hit by stray bullets and one attacker arrested.

A textile shop was burned in the Jewish quarter when three armored cars and four Bren gun carriers laid a barrage on it in answer to earlier fire from attackers.

Owner of the shop is the father of one of three Irgun Zvai Leumi members awaiting the gallows for the May 4 Acre Prison raid.

The night offensive apparently was part of an intensive campaign in protest against deportation of intercepted immigrants from France.

Jewish interest centered on the fate of 4,500 would-be immigrants from the President Warfield who were intercepted by five destroyers last Friday, put on deportation ships and sent toward their French port of embarkation after a battle at sea with a boarding party.

Other incidents today on the first anniversary of the blasting of the King David Hotel, which resulted in the death of nearly 100 persons, were of a comparatively minor character, but they produced two general alerts.

The incidents included the looting of $40,000 worth of diamonds in two robberies in Tel Aviv, the wounding of one soldier in the mining of an army truck at Haifa, the wounding of a Jewish civilian in an ambush which missed another army truck in Jerusalem, the damaging of a third truck which was the target of grenades as it was leaving military headquarters in Jerusalem, the hurling of a "Molotov Cocktail" at another military vehicle in Zion Square, and the severing of the oil pipeline near Nazareth for the fourth time in two days.

The Jewish Agency today announced it had made representations to the British and French governments against the transfer of the President Warfield passengers back to France. The announcement gave no details of the protest.

U.S. Air Force Group 'Hits Dirt' During Fight

Jerusalem, July 22 (AP)—A group of American Air Force men, members of a graves registration team, were caught in the midst of a hail of machine-gun fire which swept the heart of the Jewish business quarter tonight.

They had flown in from Algiers on a sightseeing trip, but had to "hit the dirt" when the bullets began whining.

"Let's get out of here," said Master Sergeant Dale H. Stinson, of Canmer, Ky.

Beside him were Capt. Peter H. Spear, of Tryon, N.C., and Lieut. James R. Sterling, of Saco, Maine.

A few yards away, sprawled flat behind a curbstone were Lieut. Charles H. Proctor, of Sumter, S.C., and Lieut John W. Coffee, Jr., of Washington, D.C.

"This is a helluva note," said Coffee, glancing at the skies lighted by red and amber flares. "Well the fireworks are pretty, anyway."

Most of the party managed to retrieve Bren shells as souvenirs.

NEW FLAG OF INDIA OMITS UNION JACK

New Delhi, July 22 (A. P.).—The Indian Constituent Assembly adopted today a national flag completely free of any mark connected with the British Empire.

The standard was of deep saffron, white and dark green horizontal stripes — Congress party colors—and with navy blue—symbolic of Mohandas K. Gandhi's influence—appearing in the middle of the white stripe.

India Asks U.S. Effort

New Delhi, July 22 (AP)—The India Government said in a communiqué tonight that "news that hostilities have been resumed in Indonesia has caused grave concern to the India Government."

"Urgent representations have been made," it said, "to his Majesty's Government and the United States to make every effort to bring an immediate cessation to the armed conflict."

One Man Slew Burma Chiefs

Survivor Says Gunman Calmly, Silently Advanced on Government Leaders.

Rangoon, July 22 (A. P.).—Finance Minister U Mya, a survivor of last Saturday's assassination in which seven top Burmese leaders were slain, said today that a lone gunman invaded the ministerial council chamber and calmly perpetrated the crime.

Thakin Nu, successor to the murdered U Aung San as deputy chairman of the Governor's Executive Council, said that Aung San learned two months earlier that a terrorist murder plot was being prepared but discredited the reports. He said that the de facto leader of the Burma Government did not believe that any one in the country would plot against his life.

U Saw, former Premier whom the British had ousted and jailed on charges of collaboration with the Japanese, and nineteen assistants were placed under arrest soon after the assassinations.

Speaking to a news conference, U Mya gave this first eyewitness account of the murders: "One lone gunman advanced silently without speaking upon the council table and aimed steadily at Aung San. . . . Within a few feet of the table, he halted. . . . Then he opened fire, swung the gun leftward and continued firing at those seated on the left of Aung San.

"As Aung San fell and the gunman turned his attention to the others further from me, I seized the opportunity to escape. I leaped for the doorway, pulled down the bolt and ran from the room. There was no guard at the door. The Executive Council so far has never been guarded. The only police at the Secretariat that day were the traffic men at the gates."

Thakin Nu said that Aung San was warned in May that a plot was in the making to kill the entire Executive Council in order to cause disintegration of the anti-Fascist Peoples Freedom League, the dominant political faction to which the slain ministers belonged. This, the conspirators believed, would enable them to seize power amid the ensuing chaos.

Thakin Nu said that a tribunal will be established to inquire into the assassination and will examine all persons under arrest, including U Saw and other rival political leaders.

REWARD IS OFFERED FOR BURMA ASSASSINS

RANGOON, Burma, July 22 (AP)—The Burma Government offered a reward of 10,000 rupees [about $3,000] today for information leading to the conviction of each assassin in the massacre of seven Cabinet Ministers. A special tribunal will investigate the murders.

U Mya, Finance Minister and a survivor of the Saturday massacre, today gave the first account of the attack in the State Council chamber. He said:

"In a hushed, awful atmosphere we saw the gunman approach Aung San. Within a few feet of the table he halted, aimed unswervingly. Then he opened fire, swung the gun to the left and continued firing at those seated on the left of Aung San.

U Aung San, Vice President of the Council and slated to be the first Prime Minister of an independent Burma, was one of those slain.

Sjahrir On Trip Seeking Support

Singapore, July 22 (AP)—Sutan Sjahrir, former Premier of the Indonesian Republic, arrived by plane today en route to the United States, India and Australia on a special mission and declared the Indonesian Army had arms and ammunition for a "long war."

Sjahrir, who said he left the Indonesian capital of Jogjakarta at 3 A.M., avoiding any air attack, said he was on a special mission for President Soekarno to explain the Indonesian position and report on world reaction.

He declared the Dutch, by their military action, had "completely nullified the Cheribon agreement" which envisaged the creation of a United States of Indonesia.

Sjahrir said he would see Jawaharlal Nehru, leading Congress party Minister, in India; Mahomed Ali Jinnah, the Moslem League chief, and Lord Killearn, the British commissioner.

"We expect much help from India, materially and morally," he said, adding that he hoped to persuade India and Arab League countries to bring the Indonesian case before the United Nations.

MALAYA NEEDS RICE

Singapore, July 22 (A. P.).—Malaya, faced with ration cuts because Brazil's withdrawal from the International Emergency Food Council threatens her rice allocation, may try to buy Brazilian rice in the open market, informed quarters said here today. Brazil's action deprives Malaya of 57,000 tons of rice allocated by the IEFC, representing a third of the total due to this country for the second half of the year, the sources said, and Malaya's plight is made worse by doubt that Siam and Burma will be able to fulfill their parts of the quota.

Brazil has offered to sell Malaya 40,000 tons directly through a Dutch intermediary in Singapore, the informants said, and negotiations are proceeding. However, Malaya is faced with a serious problem of raising gold dollars to make payment, since it is understood that Brazil will not accept sterling.

Refugees to Quit China

800 Germans and Austrians Will Sail Home Friday

SHANGHAI, July 22 (AP).—More than 700 refugees will board the U. N. R. R. A.-chartered Marine Lynx on Friday to return to Germany and Austria.

Among the passengers will be Eva Tana Rosen, eight, who was only six months old when her mother brought her to Shanghai. The mother died in 1941 and friends took care of Eva, who only recently received a letter from her father, Martin Rosen, once believed to have died in a concentration camp.

The letter said Mr. Rosen escaped from a train taking him to a camp and remained in hiding until the war ended. He is now an actor in Berlin and has remarried.

Report Air Curb in Japan

SHANGHAI, July 22 (AP)—Northwest Airlines officials here were advised by their Tokyo office today that only State Department officials and Government workers might board or leave planes at Tokyo. The instructions, which apparently will apply to all airlines making stopovers in Japan, were believed the result of a Washington directive to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters.

DEATH FOR DOPE TRAFFICKER

Shanghai, July 22 (AP)—Chen Yao-Pin, described as the leader of one of China's largest narcotic rings, was sentenced to death by Shanghai district court today. His principal accomplice, Tze Yee-Pin, was given life imprisonment and 11 others received sentences ranging from three to 14 years.

'TIME SHORT' FOR MISSION'

Wedemeyer Arrives In China To Seek Facts

Nanking, July 22 (AP)—President Truman's fact-finding envoy declared on his arrival today that "time is short" for carrying out his mission in war-troubled China.

Whether by coincidence or not, as Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer returned to his wartime theater in an important civilian capacity, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek called an emergency council of his top-ranking military men in an effort to quicken the campaign against the Chinese Communists who have driven a 600-mile wedge between Central China and Manchuria.

Wedemeyer said in a statement that his small group of experts was interested particularly in "learning and seeing something of the efficacy of measures taken by the Chinese Government looking toward Chinese recovery."

Informal Talks Begun

On its findings may depend future American policy toward both China and United States-Soviet occupied Korea, where the mission has a similar assignment from President Truman. Wedemeyer indicated a realistic approach to the job:

"Good results most likely will be attained through sound and careful planning based not upon what we hope to be true but upon what, through objective examination, we know to be true."

He began informal conferences with Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart at the United States Embassy and arranged for his first talk with Chiang tomorrow.

Another Problem Seen

Meanwhile, another problem arose. Strong indications developed that the Government blockade of Communist areas, which is preventing UNRRA supplies from reaching the Communists, might lead to suspension of such aid to Government-held territory north of the Yangtze river. The decision was left to the UNRRA council in Washington.

Military sources said Chiang summoned his generals from North China and Inner Mongolia to secure often - lacking teamwork against the Communists. They also discussed plans to prevent Communist forces from slipping from one area into another to escape Government pressure.

Some Favor Revision

In a year's time, the Communists have wrested domination of a 600-mile segment of North China, which splits Central China from the fertile provinces of Manchuria.

Some of the nation's highest officials are now convinced that only a sharp revision of military policies will lead to final defeat of the Communist armies. They advocate abandonment of the garrison system in favor of highly mobile striking forces.

Wedemeyer will find China's civil war divided among three major battlegrounds.

Situation Outlined

The latest report gives this picture of the situation:

1. Manchuria—The bulk of the northeastern provinces known as Manchuria is under Communist control. Through the hard-won, costly victory at Szepingkai, the Government claims possession of rail lines between Peiping and Mukden and between Mukden and Changchun, capital of Manchuria. Field reports indicate, however, that Communist troops are still raiding rail routes north of Szepingkai to hamper service.

2. Shantung Province Area—Fighting follows the Peiping-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railways, with indications that the Communists are gettting ready to attack the Weishan Lake area in the southwest.

Troops Reach Tsinang

Chinese dispatches today said Government forces pushing north from Weishan Lake had joined with the garrison of Tsinang. Other units were credited with recapture of Ningyang on the Tientsin-Pukow line, with rail communications restored between Suchow and Tzeyang.

3. North China—A vast no-man's land of thousands of square miles in northern Chahar, Jehol and Suiyuan provinces of Inner Mongolia.

There is a forgotten front on China's southernmost coast. Anti-Government forces, alternately described as Communists, bandits and pirates, control much of the seaboard region from near Macao to the Indo-China border.

Wedemeyer Begins China Job

Reaches Nanking and Says He Aims to Find Measures to Aid Nation's Recovery.

Nanking, July 22 (A. P.).—Lieut.-Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, attired in a neat blue tweed civilian suit, stepped from a special plane today into a China torn by civil war and plagued by economic crises.

President Truman's "fact-finder," on whose report likely will depend future American policy toward China and Korea, was greeted at sweltering Nanking military airdrome by United States Ambassador John Leighton Stuart and Chinese Government officials. Former Premier T. V. Soong, although not a member of the official reception group, was among the first to shake Wedemeyer's hand.

Despite a non-stop flight from Guam, Wedemeyer accompanied Stuart immediately to the United States embassy—his residence during his visit here—for his first informal conferences. He will not see Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek until tomorrow.

Issues Statement.

In a written statement, Wedemeyer said:

"My mission is essentially one of fact-finding, in which I am aided by a small group of men expert in several fields of economics, finance, engineering and political affairs. We are interested particularly in learning and seeing something of the efficacy of measures taken by the Chinese Government looking toward Chinese recovery.

"It will be seen, first, that the time is short for accomplishment of our tasks; second, that mission members must devote practically their entire time to accumulation and evaluation of information potentially of immense importance not alone to China, Korea and the United States, but obviously to the world at large; and, third, that if our work is to be of real and timely value, as I am determined it shall be, we must undertake it without prejudgment or commitment of any sort.

"Good results most likely will be attained through sound and careful planning based not upon what we hope to be true but upon that, through objective examination, we know to be true."

That, Wedemeyer added, "explains why I cannot offer any statement of expectation or intention save one—carrying out to the best of my ability President Truman's directive."

Japs' Hong Kong Governor Gets Life For Deportations

Nanking, July 22—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Kensuke Isogai, wartime occupation governor of Hong Kong, was sentenced by a Chinese military tribunal today to life imprisonment for deporting non-combatants from the British colony.

Isogai was acquitted of four other charges, including responsibility for the mistreatment of Chinese by troops under his command in North China prior to his governorship of Hong Kong.

The defendant asserted that Chinese were deported from Hong Kong because of "starvation conditions" there. He was granted 10 days in which to appeal.

Premier Denies He'll Quit

TOKYO, July 22 (AP)—Premier Katayama denied today that he was considering resignation or reorganization of his three-party coalition Cabinet.

A Government spokesman predicted yesterday that the Cabinet would resign or be reorganized if its economic program failed to win labor support. Mr. Katayama, however, told a Japanese press conference that he expected to avoid disunity within the Cabinet and to regain the full support of labor.

1,200 'Martial' Japs May Be Denied Office

Tokyo, July 22—(AP)—Some 1,200 Japanese, including eight governors and the head of the Tokyo police, were expected today to be barred from public office because they once belonged to the "Martial Arts Society."

The society will come under the scrutiny of screening officials for the first time this week. The organization first encouraged wrestling and fencing, enlarged its activities in 1942 to include bayonet and small arms practice and later became an important part of the government program to train reservists and home guards.

Target Ship Sunk Quickly

TOKYO, July 22 (AP).—As a target ship the former Japanese destroyer escort 104 had an extremely brief career. The ship was towed 100 miles off the entrance of Tokyo Bay Monday to provide gunnery practice for the cruiser Toledo, the destroyer Ozbourn and the seaplane tender Duxbury Bay. The Toledo's five-inchers opened up first, and that was the end of the 104.

Congress Aids Cupid, Allows War Brides To Stay In Hawaii

Honolulu, July 22—(AP)—An act of Congress has happily prevented three Hawaiian warbrides from saying "aloha" to their former GI husbands.

The three, Mesdames Monica Dias, Lena White and Doris Morgan, faced deportation because they lacked 51 per cent Caucasian blood or because of racial background.

But the United States Senate gave Cupid a timely assist yesterday by adopting a House-approved resolution which exempts warbrides from the restrictions.

Both British subjects, Mrs. White is half Samoan and Mrs. Dias half Polynesian. Mrs. Morgan is half Chinese and half Japanese. Commented Mrs. Dias tearfully: "I'm very, very happy."

Manila Industrialist Acquitted Of Treason

Manila, July 22 (AP)—Vicente Madrigal, one of the Philippines' richest industrialists, was acquitted of treason charges in People's Court today.

The three-judge tribunal held that the evidence against Madrigal did not meet the rule requiring corroborative testimony by two witnesses.

Among the charges against Madrigal were sale of produce and later property of the Calamba sugar estate, one of the islands' largest, to the Japanese, and membership in the council of state which functioned under the Japanese military administration.

SNYDER IN BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 22—(AP) John W. Snyder, United States secretary of the Treasury, arrived in President Truman's personal plane today to discuss economic and trade problems with Brazilian experts.

There is a possibility Mr. Truman may visit Brazil next month to attend the closing meetings of the Inter-American Hemisphere Defense Conference.

GERMAN FEARS RUSS INVASION

Exile Predicts Occupation Of Western Europe

Halifax, N.S., July 22 (AP)—Otto Strasser, German publisher driven into exile by Hitler in 1933, asserted today that there was an 80 per cent chance that Russia would occupy western Germany and Europe within three to seven months.

"We must overcome the invasion from the east," he said in an interview. "I am convinced that a third world war is unavoidable. There is an 80 per cent chance that the Russians will occupy western Germany and Europe within the next seven months, or possibly three.

"The Truman doctrine and the Marshall plan are too little and too late. But there is a fighting chance. Austria and Czechoslovakia are the skirmishing grounds now for another war. Both sides want to enlist the help of Europe for the coming war. The Anglo-Saxons one day will beg us to rearm."

Advises On Zones

Strasser said the United States and Great Britain should occupy their zones of Germany "as long as the Russians occupy their zone." He said in any future war Russia would occupy Europe swiftly and that Spain and Turkey would become fighting bases of the United States and the British Commonwealth.

He said he had applied for permission to return to Germany. He advocated that the "Anglo-Saxons" turn over the government of Germany to Germans for rebuilding along anti-Communist but not capitalistic, lines.

Joined Nazis in 1925

Strasser joined Hitler's infant Nazi party in 1925. His brother, Gregor Strasser, already was the party head in North Germany and even more important than Hitler.

Otto quarreled frequently with Hitler and was expelled from the party in 1930. He formed the German Black Front, organized to fight the Nazis from within. Gregor was assassinated by the Nazis in 1934.

Kravchenko, Author, Says Stalin's Death Would Not Change Policy.

APPEARS BEFORE HOUSE BODY

Declares Soviet Agents Had Secret Data on U. S. Planes and Submarines.

Washington, July 22 (A. P.).—Victor Kravchenko, a Russian who split with his Government, told Congress today that all responsible Soviet representatives in America may be considered spies and that Joseph Stalin's death would not change Soviet policy.

Kravchenko, who held positions of authority with the Soviet Government before renouncing it and Communism, testified to the House Committee on Unmerican Activities that Russian espionage in this country will now be intensified.

He said he knew personallyth at Russian agents obtained secret information on American airplanes and submarines at the time he was on the staff of the Soviet Purchasing Commission.

Would go on After Stalin.

Speaking chiefly through an interpreter, Kravchenko testified:

1. Stalin's death would not end differences between Russia and the western democracies. The actors and stage settings might change but "the performance will still be going on."

2. Should Stalin die tomorrow, Foreign Commissar Molotov would be the probable successor, but—"horseradish is not sweeter than parsley."

3. Probably 75 per cent of the Russian people oppose their Government, but the opposition is unorganized and there will be no revolution.

4. He is sure Russia is using "material, manpower and money" to "get the atom bomb."

5. In the United States, fellow travelers are more dangerous than Communists. People who read the Communist Daily Worker know it for what it is, but not when they read the Chicago Sun or New York's PM.

6. In the witness' opinion, Marshall Field, publisher of the Chicago Sun and PM, is "more dangerous and causes America more trouble than some 30 per cent of the Communists about whom we know what they are doing."

7. The Soviet Government was two-faced with reference to its own people and with regard to its wartime Allies; and still is two-faced now when a new world is in creation.

After hearing the husky, black-haired Kravchenko, the committee quit for the day. Dr. Mladen Giunio-erkin, former Yugoslav diplomat, who also broke with his Government, was to have tesified this afternoon, but will be heard Thursday.

Kravchenko told the committee that "every responsible representative of the Soviet Government in the United States may be regarded as an economical or political spy."

Describes Red Boss Here.

He said that a Mr. Sedov, who was deputy chairman of the purchasing commission, actually was superior to the Russian Ambassador from the Communist party point of view. Andrei Gromyko, now representing Russia in the United Nations, was Ambassador at the time, Kravchenko said.

The one-time Russian Army officer described Sedov as the "main personality representing the central committee on the Communist party in the United States."

He said that no decisions could be made without Sedov's participation, adding that when secret conferences were held at the Purchasing Commission, actually sided rather than the General, who was head of the agency.

Kravchenko later broke with the Russian Government, renounced Communism and told why in a book, "I Chose Freedom."

Robert E. Stripling, chief investigator for the committee, asked Kravchenko for information on actual assignments to spy work made by the Communist party in this country.

Tells of Spy Activities.

In general, the witness said, no person holding a position in connection with economic affairs arrives here from Russia "without a specific assignment with reference to collection of secret documents. Then he went on to say that every responsible Soviet representative here may be regarded as a spy.

Kravchenko said a metallurgical engineer named Khimushkin, who worked in the Purchasing Commission, actually was a doctor of technical science and a university professor who collected "enormous confidential material concerning the American aviation industry."

The witness said he had seen this material personally, that it contained various secret documents, photographs, blue prints and notes, and that it was sent to Moscow by plane.

Kravchenko, 42 years old, said he served as director of various plants in Russia, but as early as 1933 was becoming disappointed with the Russian Government and its practices.

Sees No Revolt.

Kravchenko discounted any idea that the Russian Government may be scrapped by the Russian people.

The only weapons of the workers, he testified, were the "chains of their own slavery," adding that "consequently, any hope that the Government may be overthrown from the inside by the forces of the people is built on sand."

The witness said that when he came to the United States he had to turn in his communist party papers. He received in exchange, he said, a trade union card that carried in special chemical ink the number of his party card.

Sedov, he said, could identify him by this, adding that Sedov instructed him never to disclose his previous official connection with the Soviet Government.

Tells of Atom Search.

Asked about the Russian search for the atom bomb, Kravachenko told the committee he knew the Soviet Union was "actively engaged" in December, 1942, in getting uranium, source of atomic energy.

He said that if Russia had developed the atom bomb at the time the United States did, and if the United States did not have the bomb, "we wouldn't be sitting right now in this place."

Kravachenko scoffed at Russian proposals for disarmament, asking:

"Is it possible to propose disarmament and at the same time to carry on within the Soviet Union and in the satellite States violent ideological warfare which it aims at rearing millions to hate the United States and England?"

He contended the Kremlin's "main hope is an economic depression in this country and if it occurs Russia will take advantage of the Communists (here) to produce confusion, general strikes and hell."

Of the Russian boycott of the European conference on the Marshall plan, Kravchenko said that the Soviet Union didn't want the Americans behind "the iron curtain" to administer aid and that "the Kremlin cannot afford to accept American aid because it would destroy its own propaganda."

REDS INFESTING U.S. WITH SPIES, PROBERS ARE TOLD

Ex-Communist Says Moscow's Course Will Make War 'Inevitable.'

WARNS OF ESPIONAGE

Death of Stalin Wouldn't Alter Soviet Policies, He Declares.

JUL 1947

WASHINGTON, July 22 — (AP) Victor A. Kravchenko, who turned on the Red regime he once served, testfied today that Russia is infesting America with spies and pursuing an international course that will make war "inevitable."

The death of Generalissimo Stalin, Kravchenko told the House Committee on Un-American Activities, would mean no change in Soviet policies, no end of differences with the western powers.

He listed Foreign Commissar Molotov as the probable successor to Stalin. Then he remarked tartly that "horseradish is not sweeter than parsley."

The husky, black-haired witness, speaking under oath in broken English, or more often in rapid-fire Russian through an interpreter, made these points:

Spy Program Intensified

1. "Every responsible representative of the Soviet government in the United States may be regarded as economical or political spies."

2. Russian espionage will be intensified in this post-war period.

3. From the viewpoint of the Communist party, the top Soviet authority in the United States at one time was a Mr. Sedov, whose title was deputy chief of the Soviet purchasing commission. Sedov actually was "the main personality representing the central committee of the Communist party" in the United States and was the "superior" of the amabssador.

Andrei Gromyko, now Russian representative at the United Nations, was ambassador at the time. Gromyko was ambassador, from 1943 to 1946.

4. While he was with the purchasing commission — he left in April, 1944—Kravchenko personally saw an "enormous" mass of secret material on the American aviation industry obtained by a man named Khimushkin, associated with the commission. The material — documents, blueprints, photographs and notes — was sent to Moscow by plane.

5. Similar information was obtained on submarines.

6. Russia assuredly is pouring out "material, manpower and money" at home to "get the atomic bomb."

7. "Any hope that the (Russian) government may be overthrown from the inside by the forces of the people is built on sand."

No Revolution, He Says

Kravchenko said if the roofs could be cut off all the homes in Moscow in one night and someone could hear what the people are saying, it would disclose 75 per cent of the Russians oppose their present regime. But the opposition is unorganized, and no revolution is possible.

The witness pictured Soviet secret police sitting over a large segment of the people, guarding some with guns and dogs, and enforcing "slave labor" on 17,000,000 to 20,000,000 people in various fields of industry.

He accused the government of "barbarian" practices.

Kravchenko told of walking out himself on the Soviet purchasing commission and writing a best seller, "I Chose Freedom." He said his dissatisfaction with his own government began building up as early as 1933.

30.24- 11075

Says Moscow "Double-Faced"

He said the policy of the government was "doubled-faced" toward its own people, toward its wartime allies, and now toward a new world in creation.

Russia's aggressiveness, the witness said, leaves the world in a state of war of nerves, with all the world beginning to hate not only everything Soviet but also everything Russian.

Russia, he said, is largely responsible for the United Nation's "marking time" and failing to justify the hopes of millions of people.

Kravchenko said he does not think Russia will change her policy of "blackmail and lies"; but unless she does she and her satellites will leave or be expelled from the U.N.

Thus the world would be split into two camps, conflict would be inevitable, he said, and the lion's share of the responsibility would be with the Soviet government.

Asked by Rep. Nixon (R-Calif) how he would curb the Communist party or Communist influence in the United States, Kravchenko said the entire system of American propaganda must be changed.

But as for outlawing the party, he said America's greatest strength is in its freedom.

"Let the Communists talk all they want," he recommended, "so long as they are not in action."

Hits "Fellow Travelers"

He said he considered follow travelers more dangerous than party members.

He went on to say that a person who reads the Communist newspaper, the Daily Worker, knows it for what it is; but not so with the Chicago Sun or New York PM.

Kravchenko said it is his opinion that Marshall Field, publisher of the Chicago Sun and PM, "is more dangerous and causes America more trouble than some 30 per cent of the Communists about whom we know what they are doing."

In Chicago, Field said "Kravchenko's statements do not deserve a reply.

Kravchenko, who was born in Russia in 1905, now is trying to become an American citizen.

A House judiciary subcommittee will hold a hearing tomorrow on a bill to let him remain in America permanently as a legal entry under the immigration quota.

PROTEST DIMS MOSCOW'S HOPE OF LEND-LEASE

U. S. Lodges New Complaint on Seizure of Romonia Oil Equipment

Washington, July 22—(AP)—A new American protest to Moscow involving $1,000,000 worth of oil machinery missing in Romania clouded Russia's hope today of getting Lend-Lease refinery equipment from the United States.

Delivery of $18,000,000 worth of post lend-lease supplies, much of it oil equipment, has been stopped by Congress because of Moscow's delay in settling the Soviet Union's wartime account.

Administration officials who have urged Congress to relax this stand lest it be interpreted abroad as an American disregard of contract pledges acknowledged that Russia's tactics in Romania might permanently bar the shipment despite Moscow's willingness to pay for the goods.

Formal Protest

The State Department disclosed yesterday a formal note had been handed the Soviet Foreign Office, protesting Russia's failure to pay for 7,000 tons of oil equipment removed from Romania by Red Army troops.

In its detailed memorandum, the United States contended that Russian members of a Soviet-American commission setup to iron out the question had:

1. Failed to co-operate during nine meetings held over a period of 23 months.

2. Delayed replying to American documents which, the State Department said, proved the oil properties belonged to Romano-Americana, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

The Russian position throughout the lengthy argument, the State Department said, was to ask proof that the equipment involved did not belong to the Germans. The Russians further requested proof that all equipment owned by the company between January, 1942, and October, 1944, was not Nazi property.

Discouraged by the Russian attitude the American members of the commission withdrew June 12 because:

"It became obvious there was no hope of securing any co-operation from Soviet members in carrying out the commission's responsibilities."

The State Department announcement said the American Embassy in Moscow has requested a statement from the Russian Government expressing "its view and intentions" on the case.

A Soviet delegation has been here for weeks trying to negotiate a settlement of Russia's $11,000,000,000 Lend-Lease account. Little progress has been made toward an agreement.

ESPIONAGE AGENCY RAPPED BY DONDERO

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP)—Rep. Dondero (R-Mich) said today the nation's central intelligence agency contains "Communist elements" and is being run in an "inept and amateurish manner."

By contrast, he told the house, "we are confronted with a Russian espionage net in this country which is without parallel in history."

Dondero said Rear Admiral Roscoe Hillenkoetter, the present head of the intelligence agency, has not had time to prove himself, but he was critical of Hillenkoetter's predecessors—Rear Admiral Sidney Souers and Lt. Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg.

In creating the central intelligence group in January, 1946, Dondero said, President Truman "practically insured its failure" by naming Souers to head it.

Dondero described Souers as "a St. Louis boy, formerly head of a defunct insurance organization, a man with absolutely no knowledge of the mechanics and technique of espionage or counter espionage."

Loan Pact Revised To Aid Britain

Washington, July 22 (AP)—Answering British pleas, the United States today changed a clause of the $3,750,000,000 loan agreement to help Britain stretch out its fast disappearing dollar resources.

Government officials disclosed the American Government has ruled that London can reduce purchases from the United States and buy more from its colonies without violating the loan accord.

A "nondiscrimination" provision in Article Nine of the loan agreement previously prevented the British from restricting imports from the United States in order to conserve scarce dollars.

Ruling Explained

Government officials emphasized, however, the ruling applies only to British purchases from "nonself-governing territories" such as Jamaica and Tanganyika.

The favorable American response will be forwarded to the British by the American Ambassador in London, said these officials. The British originally raised the subject with William L. Clayton, Under Secretary of State, when he visited London last month en route to the trade conference in Geneva.

The actual decision came from the National Advisory Council on Monetary Problems, made up of the secretaries of the State, Treasury and Commerce departments and the heads of the Export-Import Bank and the Federal Reserve Board.

Cannot Gauge Help

American financial experts said they cannot tell now how much this would help the British. They predicted, however, that Britain might stretch out the remainder of its loan into 1948 as a result.

Because of heavy withdrawals, the British have only $1,300,000,000 left of the $3,750,000,000 which was made available one year ago, July 15. The spending has been about twice as heavy as British schedules anticipated when the loan was granted.

Britain Hails Concession

LONDON, July 22 (AP)—High British quarters hailed the decision of the United States to waive Article 9 of the British loan agreement, as it relates to the colonies, as a "most welcome and helpful development that will remove at least one of our worries."

Both the Treasury and the Foreign Office declined comment officially, explaining that notification of the American attitude had not yet reached the Government.

A source close to Treasury negotiators, however, said that Britain would be "most grateful" to America for agreeing to treat the British Isles and the non-self-governing colonies as an economic unit.

"The principal benefit," he said, "will be that we won't have to worry any more about prices at which the colonies are able to offer us additional food and other goods."

Under Article 9, Britain was forbidden to "discriminate" against the United States by buying more of a given commodity than she bought before the war from Empire sources, which the United States also could furnish, unless the price was lower.

Urges Canceling Finland's Debt

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The cancellation of Finland's $8,000,000 debt to the United States was proposed today by Senator William Knowland, Republican, of California. Introducing legislation to that end, he said, that writing off the debt would be "a friendly gesture to a great people."

U.S.-Trained Dutch Now Fight in Java

Marines Were Equipped at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP).—About 7,000 Dutch marines, now fighting in eastern Java, were trained and equipped at Camp Lejeune, N. C., during the summer of 1945.

Marine Corps headquarters, in response to an inquiry, said today that Dutch marines were trained at Lejeune, and an official at the Netherlands Embassy said the unit is now in Java.

The Dutch troops were trained at the request of the Netherlands government, the embassy official said, and were given the same basic training as United States Marines, including instruction in the use of automatic weapons, hand grenades, flame throwers, etc.

They were issued the same equipment as that given a brigade of United States Marines, he said. This would include some fifteen tanks, about twelve 105-mm howitzers and an impressive collection of automatic weapons, machine guns, mortars, anti-tank guns, flame-throwers and mobile equipment such as jeeps and half-tracks.

Netherlands Note to U. S.

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, July 22—Following is the text of the note handed by the Netherlands Government to the British and American Governments on the Indonesian situation on Sunday as given out today by the Netherlands Embassy:

For many months the Netherlands Government have patiently labored to arrive at an arrangement under which the "Republic of Indonesia," whose authority extends no farther than to Java and Sumatra, would take its full position side by side with its coequals, the State of East-Indonesia (comprising Celebes, the lesser Sunda Islands, the Moluccas and other island territories) and Borneo. The Netherlands Government's relations with the latter two states are excellent, as are those between these two states themselves.

Relations of all three with the Republic left much to be desired, the attitude of the dominant members of its Government being one of marked truculence and political expansionism at the cost of its equals; an attitude caused to some extent, no doubt, by the turbulent conditions within the borders of the Republic, the precarious balance between various parties and the lack or absence of Republican political unity between the widely different ethnical groups to be found in its territory.

The Netherlands Government entertained high hopes that the Linggadjati [Cheribon] agreement, concluded with the Republic on March 25, 1947, would open the door to a rapid and effective execution of its terms, designed to lead to the establishment of the federated free states of Indonesia, a federation which in time was to be linked with the Netherlands by a common allegiance to the House of Orange.

These hopes have not been fulfilled.

Proposals made by the Netherlands Government, whose reasonable character was not disputed and which left ample room for negotiations, have in effect been rejected by the Government of the Republic of Indonesia. That Government is obviously led by a desire to endeavor to improve their position by a process of procrastination, under a cloak of formulas which, though vague, sound conciliatory, but leave no doubt for the initiated as to their fundamentally dilatory, negative character.

Indonesians who disagree with these tactics are numerous, but they have difficulty in making themselves heard under the present regime, which is totalitarian in its inspiration, as evidenced by the repeated assumption of all power by President Soekarno. This regime continues to follow the practice of keeping hostages, a practice which stands condemned by the whole world and is unworthy of a Government claiming to be civilized.

In the area controlled by the Republic, destruction of economic assets which are indispensable for the rehabilitation and the recovery of the country (in particular means of communications) is proceeding at a rate which will make it increasingly difficult to feed and clothe the very large population, which in Java alone (an island about half as large as England and Scotland) numbers forty million inhabitants.

This wanton devastation, wrought largely by guerrillas who in part are beyond the control of the Government of the Republic, must result in considerable delay in securing for all nations the many products of Java and Sumatra of which the whole world stands in need.

As long as the moderate and realistic influence of Mr. Sjahrir made itself felt, hope seemed justified that ultimately reason would prevail, and that in spite of difficulties terms would be agreed on, acceptable to all parties and guaranteeing a modicum of sound constitutional concepts for the future-federation. The fact that he was repudiated and replaced by an administration incapable of either giving definite undertakings or of abiding by them if they were given, proves that there is at present no sufficiently responsible authority in the Republic of Indonesia with whom the Netherlands Government can negotiate with any degree of confidence.

As, moreover, the friendly advice repeatedly tendered on behalf of the American and British Governments has not been heeded by the Republican Government, Her Majesty's Government have with the utmost reluctance come to the conclusion that measures must now be taken to create conditions more favorable to the successful implementation of the principles underlying the Linggadjati Agreement.

It should not be supposed that the Netherlands Government has lost patience or is lacking therein. The decisive consideration is that the dilatory practices obviously pursued by the Republic can only result in an aggravation of an untenable economic position without there being any prospect of a form of compensation in the shape of a speedy political settlement.

The Netherlands Government has no designs on the integrity of the Republic. It remains prepared, as before, to come to terms with the Republic, assuming that the Republic is supported by the majority of the population and by the ethnical elements composing it.

They have, however, no choice but to resort to police measures of a strictly limited character, designed to create conditions in the Republic under which the common man once again will be able to follow in freedom his lawful pursuits for his own benefit and for the good of the world at large, creating at the same time the conditions which must enable the principles embodied in the Linggadjati Agreement to come to full fruition.

Naming Of Bohlen To Succeed Cohen Held Hint Of U. S. Concern For Russia

Washington, July 22—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall's concern over American relations with Russia was reflected anew today in the promotion of his personal adviser on Soviet affairs to a top-level State Department post.

President Truman, at Marshall's request, nominated Charles E. "Chip" Bohlen to succeed Benjamin V. Cohen as department counselor, an official who ranks after Marshall himself and two undersecretaries.

Cohen, who with Thomas (Tommy the Cork) Corcoran composed the team of inner White House advisers in the early stages of the Roosevelt New Deal, resigned after 14 years of almost unbroken government service to take a rest "from all official responsibilities."

The nomination of Bohlen was sent to the Senate late yesterday along with that of John Carter Vincent to be minister to Switzerland. The changes were the latest in a series which has widely shifted the line-up of the "team" Marshall said he was joining when he took office six months ago.

Specialist To Russia

Bohlen, 42 year old specialist in Russian affairs, has been a close consultant to successive secretaries of state for almost four years. He served as Russian interpreter to President Roosevelt at the Yalta Big Three conference in 1943 and to President Truman at Potsdam two years later.

Three tours of diplomatic service and attendance at several conferences in Moscow have helped fit him for the role of expert on troubled relations with the Soviets.

Bohlen, a native of Clayton, N. Y., and a graduate of Harvard, has been a special assistant to the secretary since last November.

His appointment as counsellor averted an automatic transfer to a foreign post at the end of this year as required by a statute limiting Foreign Service officers to four-year tours at home. The act, approved last year, makes an exception of career diplomats named to posts requiring Senate confirmation.

Vincent, because of his four years' domestic service, was selected for the Switzerland post after heading both the Office of Far Eastern Affairs and the Division of Chinese Affairs. He succeeds Leland Harrison, 64, who is retiring.

House Creates Group To Make Global Survey

Unprecedented 19-Member Committee Will Study American Foreign Policy Abroad

1947

Washington, July 22 (AP)—The House created today an unprecedented nineteen-member special committee to make a global survey of United States foreign policy as a preliminary to determining how American dollars can best be spent to speed world stability.

The action was by voice vote after brief debate. It does not require Senate concurrence. Speaker Martin (R., Mass.) will name the members later.

"It seems to me," said Representative Clarence Brown (R., Ohio), "and I believe to any responsible individual, that the Congress, which is being called upon to appropriate vast sums of money for relief abroad, should be informed on what's going on in Europe."

To Make Independent Study

Representative Keefe (R., Wis.) agreed, saying that in the past the Administration has come before Congress after committing the country to some particular foreign program and has requested funds "on a piecemeal basis."

A few minutes later, the House passed another resolution empowering its standing Committee on Foreign Affairs to make an independent study of its own on the world situation.

The resolution noted that the "foreign policy of the United States today assumes new importance in the operations of the entire economic system of the United States and conditions the survival of free institutions both at home and abroad."

The committee has tentatively planned to send several subcommittees to foreign countries after adjournment, including one to Europe and the Middle East and another to South America.

Study Outlined

The resolution creating the special committee directs it to study:

1. "Actual and prospective needs of foreign nations and peoples, including those within United States military zones, both for relief in terms of food, clothing and so forth, and of economic rehabilitation.

2. "Resources and facilities available to meet such needs within and without the continental United States.

3. "Existing or contemplated agencies, whether private, domestic or international, qualified to deal with such needs.

4. "Any or all measures which might assist in assessing relative needs and in correlating such assistance as the United States can properly make without weakening its domestic economy."

Conferees Settle Secretary's Title

Head of Services to Have 'National Defense' Post

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP).—Senate and House conferees agreed today to call the proposed new head of the armed services the "Secretary of National Defense."

That was the title proposed for the new Cabinet officer by the House. The Senate had suggested "Secretary of National Security."

The conferees are seeking to settle differences between Senate and House bills to unify the Army, Navy and Air Forces under an over-all Secretary.

Senator Chan Gurney, Republican, of South Dakota, chairman of the Senate group, said major points have not been settled.

Conferees told reporters these points are unsettled:

A Senate provision giving the proposed Secretary control over the funds or budget for the proposed three departments of Army, Navy and Air Forces. The House merely allowed supervision and coordination.

House provisions listing definite functions for the Marine Corps, naval air arm and many other Army and Navy units. The Senate bill covers these matters in broad terms, with details to be determined in a Presidential executive order already agreed upon by the three services.

A House provision requiring a civilian to head the central intelligence agency. The Senate bill would allow either a civilian or an officer to head the agency.

Navy Dropping 1,000 Officers In Budget Cut

800 to Leave Service, 200 Will Revert to Ranks Between Aug. 15-Oct. 1

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP).—The Navy announced today an "immediate reduction" of 1,000 officers because of budget cuts voted by Congress. The move will reduce the number of officers from a present strength of 47,000 to 46,000.

Congress gave the Navy $3,300,000,000 for its operations until July, 1948, or approximately $200,000,000 less than President Truman had asked.

Of the 1,000 officers affected, 800 will leave the Navy and 200 will revert to non-commissioned ranks, the announcement said. All officers concerned will be notified not later than Aug. 15 and the change will be completed by Oct. 1.

Wave Officers Affected

Of the 800 to leave the service, 500 will be reserve line officers now on active duty and a small number of Wave officers. About 300 regular Navy temporary line officers who were formerly enlisted men and who were given commissoins during the war will also be separated, the Navy said. About 200 temporary line warrant officers will go back to the ranks.

A $225,000,000 Army construction program in the United States and abroad was approved today by the House Armed Services Committee, which sent to the House for action a bill asked by the War Department for $100,000,000 worth of building in this country, including $5,000,000 for emergency projects, and $125,000,000 of building overseas. The latter would include $20,000,000 for emergency projects.

Proposed Projects

Projects proposed in the bill, for construction of family quarters and utilities unless otherwise noted, include:

Army and Navy medical procurement office, engineering and development division, Fort Totten, N. Y.—Medical equipment laboratory, $390,000.

Fort Jay, Governors Island, N. Y.—$682,700.

United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., $2,449,750.

Picatinny Arsenal, N. J.—Research and development equipment for high explosives, completed bombs, rockets and rocket powders, and laundry, $1,978,800, of which $1,228,800 is authorized to be expended during the fiscal year 1948.

The Senate approved without change today a Senate-House compromise to provide $194,587,859 for the Department of the Interior for the next twelve months. The bill, as sent to the President, earmarks $89,528,038 for reclamation project construction in the West.

The final allotment for the department as a whole is $101,500,000, or 34.3 per cent, below the President's budget estimate, but $33,174,000 more than originally recommended by the House.

The House adopted the conference report yesterday.

Senate and House conferees today broke a deadlock on farm appropriations that had threatened to delay the scheduled adjournment of Congress this week. The conference agreement now goes back to the House for approval and then to the Senate.

Senator Richard B. Russell, Democrat, Georgia, announced the agreement and estimated that total funds allowed the Department of Agriculture for operations in the current fiscal year will be "about $40,000,000 below" the figure voted by the Senate. The exact total, he said, is being compiled.

The Senate had added $92,664,160 cash to the $572,172,266 voted by the House. However, total agricultural expenditures, including contract authorizations and transfers of previous appropriations, are expected to be near $1,000,000,000 for the fiscal year under the compromise.

Continue Crop Program

Senator C. Wayland Brooks, Republican, of Illinois, reported that the conference had agreed to continue the program for 1948 crops with a $150,000,000 fund promised to meet benefit payments and other costs. These include pay for farmer committeemen at state, county and local levels.

Agreement to continue the "conservation and use" program on a reduced basis next year—with maximum individual payments reduced from the present $10,000 top to $500 ended the stalemate. The House previously had voted twice to eliminate the benefit-payment program in 1948 and sharply cut back payments on this year's crops.

The farm bill is one of the last five major measures to finance operation of government agencies this fiscal year remaining to be passed before adjournment. Seven others have cleared Congress.

SAY LITTLEJOHN OFFERED TO QUIT

Washington, July 22 (A. P.).—Robert M. Littlejohn offered to quit as War Assets Administrator this month, but President Truman persuaded him to stay on.

Government officials who reported this privately today said that the incident occurred after a House committee report lashed out at what it called "confusion, carelessness and chaos" in the WAA and urged that Littlejohn, a former major-general, step out to make way for a "business-like," civilian management.

Mr. Truman not only urged Littlejohn to remain, but also wrote a laudatory letter which the WAA chief released last night along with a report detailing large gains in disposing of surplus war property during his twelve-month administration.

The letter congratulated Littlejohn on a "fine record" in a job requiring "speed, strength and stamina." It noted that $2,800,000,000 has been turned over to the Treasury from surplus sales in the year, mostly from the WAA.

But Littlejohn entered his second year under a new barrage of criticism from Capitol Hill. The ink on his first anniversary report was hardly dry when Representative Ploeser (R.-Mo.), chairman of the House Small Business Committee, questioned its "veracity" and said that it was based on apparent "gross exaggeration."

"For instance," Ploeser said in a statement, "Gen. Littlejohn states that in the last year the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has purchased over $577,000,000 worth of surplus for small business. That agency advised us that their total purchases, including real property, were $53,373,613. This is one-tenth of the amount claimed by Gen. Littlejohn."

PEOPLE'S PARTY DEFENDED

It 'Fronts' Only for Americans, Gen. Holdridge Declares

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Brig. Gen. H. C. Holdridge, retired, today issued a statement denying that the People's party, which he heads, is "fronting" for anybody except the American people.

General Holdridge was replying to testimony yesterday by Walter A. Steele of the American Coalition of Patriotic, Civic and Fraternal Societies, before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Among other things, Mr. Steele had said that incorporators of the People's party include a former Communist leader of Columbus, Ohio, and a number of "fronters." He did not name them.

General Holdridge said:

"The People's party is composed of a small, sincere, patriotic group of American citizens. We are opposed to totalitarianism in any form, either of 'left' or 'right.' We are fronting only for the American people—not for foreign ideologies."

He characterized Mr. Steele's statements as "hysteria" and "exemplifying the Washington witch hunt at its lowest levels."

LAW ADMITS BARRED WIVES

Truman's Approval Eases Way for Some of Ineligible Races

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—President Truman signed legislation today to permit racially inadmissible wives of members of the United States armed services to enter the United States for permanent residence if they meet other qualifications.

Previous laws prohibit the entrance into this country of persons of some nationalities, such as Japanese or Koreans. The new law applies to marriages that take place not later than thirty days from today.

Senators Back Bohlen Choice For Cohen Post

Foreign Relations Group Also Approves Vincent as Minister to Berne

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP).—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee gave quick approval today to President Truman's nomination of Charles E. Bohlen, expert on Russian affairs, to be State Department Counselor.

The committee also approved the nomination of John Carter Vincent, of Georgia, a career man, to be Minister to Switzerland.

Mr. Bohlen's nomination for the top-level State Department post was widely regarded as reflecting Secretary of State George L. Marshall's concern over American relations with Russia. He has been Mr. Marshall's personal adviser on Soviet affairs. He was appointed as successor to Benjamin V. Cohen, resigned.

Mr. Vincent, who was born in Seneca, Kan., went to high school in Macon, Ga., and was graduated from Mercer University there, will succeed Leland Harrison. The State Department said Mr. Harrison, American minister to Switzerland for the last ten years, has been recalled by President Truman for consultations here, prior to expected retirement. Now sixty-four, Mr. Harrison is a veteran of thirty-nine years in the diplomatic service. He is a native of New York City and has served as Assistant Secretary of State, Minister to Sweden, Ambassador to Denmark, and as a member of the American commission to negotiate the peace after World War I.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee also approved President Truman's nominations of Warren R. Austin, Herschel V. Johnson, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and John Foster Dulles as delegates to the next United Nations General Assembly meeting.

The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee approved the nominations of David K. E. Bruce, of Virginia, to be Assistant Secretary of Commerce, and W. A. Ayres, of Kansas, to be a member of the Federal Trade Commission. The committee postponed until tomorrow action on the nomination of Burton N. Behling to be a member of the Federal Power Commission.

TRUMAN APPOINTS U. S. DELEGATION TO U. N. ASSEMBLY

Washington, July 22—(AP)—President Truman yesterday named the American delegation to the September session of the United Nations General Assembly, and left off the list members of Congress who served at previous regular sessions.

State Department officials told reporters that Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Connally (D-Tex.) and others who served at the Assembly's first two sessions had been omitted at their own request.

Secretary of State Marshall is expected to head the delegation to the next session, opening in New York September 16. Mr. Truman sent to the Senate the nominations of these other members:

Delegates—Warren R. Austin, U. S. senior representative on the U. N. Security Council, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Hershel V. Johnson, and John Foster Dulles.

Alternates—Charles Fahy, recently State Department legal advisor; Willard Thorp, Assistant Secretary for Economic Affairs; Francis B. Sayre, Adlai Stevenson and Dr. Virginia C. Gildersleeve.

Secretary Marshall's name was not submitted with the othres, as he does not require Senate confirmation.

HOUSE VOTES END OF ALL CONTROLS ON CREDIT BUYING

Rejects Senate Plan to Continue Modified Curbs to Dec. 31.

ISSUE HOTLY DEBATED

Opponents Side with Truman's Argument of Inflation Dangers.

WASHINGTON, July 22. — (AP) The house voted today to strip the administration of all authority to control installment buying. The measure proposes to end immediately the restraints on credit purchases of such things as automobiles, refrigerators and radios.

The senate had approved a bill to continue the controls in modified form to December 31 but the house rejected this and sent its own measure to the senate.

Since President Truman has advised congress he will lift the controls imposed in wartime—unless congress gives him peacetime authority—today's house action pointed directly toward an early end of all installment buying regulations.

Brush Aside Truman Request

The house action was by voice vote. There was no rollcall.

The house vote brushed aside Mr. Truman's request that he be given peacetime authority to continue the installment buying curbs, as a check against inflationary tendencies. The controls (known as Regulation W), were instituted by executive order under authority of the trading with the enemy act.

They require one-third down payments, with installments running no more than 15 months, on automobiles, cooking stoves and ranges, mechanical dishwashers, ironers, refrigerators, washing machines, room unit air conditioners, radios, phonographs, sewing machines and suction cleaners.

A 20 per cent down payment, with installments limited to 15 months, is required for furniture and soft surface floor coverings.

The bill approved by the senate would extend the controls to December 31, with the down payment required to be no more than 20 per cent, and the installments to be limited to two years.

In a report preceding the house vote, a majority of the house banking committee said Regulation W "bears most heavily on persons of limited income and in many cases undoubtedy effectively excludes them from these markets."

On the other hand, the committee said "it gives to the man of financial means, in effect, priority of rights to buy whatever he wants and whenever he is willing to pay the price."

Opponents of the bill sided with Mr. Truman's argument that elimination of the contfols would contribute to inflation dangers.

The house defeated an amendment by Rep. Monroney (D-Okla) to continue the controls to next year and another by Rep. Buffett (R-Neb) to keep controls on automobile credit purchases.

Rep. Crawford (R-Mich) declared "to remove these controls at this time is dangerous. Prices are perfectly ridiculous. This bill will help the 'big boys' and the finance companies, but will hurt the little businessman."

Rep. Sabath (D-Ill) said "they told us when they killed OPA that prices would not go up, but look what happened."

Rep. Monroney said the bill "adds more fire to inflation." After the house vote, he told reporters that there was little if any prospect that the senate could prevail on the house to accept its views.

Rep. Brown (D-Ga) described as "bunk" the argument that the installment controls would have anything to do with inflation. He said "it's time to get rid of regimentation."

Banking Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich) asked the house, if the controls are necessary to prevent inflation, why the administration had removed controls on all but a few consumer items.

Rep. Spence (D-Ky) said "it seems incongruous that a man who has established good credit should have it regulated from Washington."

SECURITY SETUP OF ATOMIC PLANTS BEING TIGHTENED

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP) Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said today the security program covering the nation's atomic energy installations has been strengthened since the first of the year.

"The security on January 1 last, both as to personnel and methods, was probably substantially reduced from its peak during the war," Hickenlooper told newsmen after a lengthy session of the Senate-House atomic energy committee and the atomic commission.

He said this was not to be interpreted as being critical of the army, which had control of the projects until January 1, when the civilian commission took over.

Program Reviewed

Hickenlooper, chairman of the congressional committee, said his group and the commission reviewed the entire program.

"The commission is making very satisfactory efforts to meet all their problems, and their progress and development are going along in a satisfactory manner," he said.

He said there was some discussion of "the kind of people we have working for us" and that "we're convinced that is completely in hand."

The commission, the senator continued, is conducting a "constant evaluation" of its security program and attempting to adopt it to peacetime needs, which he said are considerably changed from needs during the war.

During the war, he said, there was "almost a super-abundance of security activities" while at other times the personnel and their activities were reduced. The program is now "more extensive that it was at the first of the year," he said, declining to attribute any of the change to recent published reports of security leaks.

The situation has "not changed materially" since public disclosure that some document were taken from the Los Alamos (N.M.) testing station and their recovery from two former army sergeants, he said.

Today's meeting with Chairman David E. Lilienthal and other members of the commission, Hickenlooper said, "was devoted entirely to a canvassing of almost all phases of the situation," including reports from engineers who have made recent inspections of the atomic installations.

Considerable time was spent in airing the problems of turning Los Alamos and Hanford, Washington, into permanent communities, he said.

The commission left with him a letter discussing possible changes in the penal code to conform to new problems of security, he said, but he has not yet examined the letter and declined to comment on it.

Atomic Scientist Defended

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The reputation of Dr. Edward U. Condon, atomic bomb scientist, was upheld today by Representative Chet Holifield, Democrat, of California, who called on "rumor-mongering character assassins" to "put up or shut up."

In a House speech, Mr. Holifield declared:

"It begins to appear that someone is making a concerted effort to discredit the atomic bomb scientists and in particular those who last year supported the President in his program for establishing a civilian Atomic Energy Commission."

Representative Holifield devoted most of his speech to a paragraph-by-paragraph analysis of a Washington newspaper story of July 17 which said Dr. Condon would be called before the House Committee on Un-American Activities for questioning "about Russian A bomb 'know how'."

The Congressman quoted the story as saying "the committee feels his contacts with Russian scientists and pro-Communist sympathizers in this country' would qualify him for giving this type of testimony.

Then Mr. Holifield quoted from what he said was a letter written June 24 by Dr. Frank B. Jewett, president of the National Academy of Sciences, to George Merck, Republican finance chairman in New Jersey. The letter discussed magazine articles written by Representative J. Parnall Thomas, Republican, of New Jersey, chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee, and said:

"I think it is high time that some of you in the New Jersey Republican high command let Thomas know that articles like these are harmful and do neither the nation nor the Republican party any good. I am particularly incensed at his (Condon's) treatement by Thomas in these articles."

Mr. Holifield told his colleagues the newspaper story said Dr. Condon was invited "secretly" by the Russians to the 220th anniversary of the Russian Academy of Sciences in Moscow in 1945, and commented:

"Dr. Condon was not invited by the Russians, secretly or in any other way. He was chosen as a delegate of the science committee of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship and the American Institute of Physics."

Roosevelt Blocked Naming of a Polar Sea In His Honor; Preferred 'Smoking Volcano'

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harold L. Ickes, former Secretary of the Interior, declined to have a South Polar Sea and mountain range named in their honor, it was disclosed today.

Mr. Roosevelt vetoed the naming of a sea in his honor because Norwegians previously had given it the name of famed explorer Roald Amundsen, Meredith F. Burrill, director of the Federal Board of Geographical Names, told a reporter. He said Mr. Roosevelt preferred having "a smoking volcano" named for him.

"A proposal to call an important range the Ickes Mountains was dropped at the firm insistence of Mr. Ickes," Mr. Burrill added.

"Mr. Ickes said that, since the ultimate responsibility for the Board of Geographical Names was with the Secretary of the Interior, he could not permit his own name to be used."

Mr. Burrill submitted to the Interior Secretary 850 Antarctic place-names adopted by the board, after four years of study, for the United States Government maps and documents of the future.

He said some news dispatches from the Navy's 1947 expedition referred to Amundsen Sea as Franklin D. Roosevelt Sea because it was so listed on certain Navy charts.

"President Roosevelt's name had been applied apparently in ignorance of the earlier Norwegian naming," Dr. Burrill said.

"The matter was called to Mr. Roosevelt's attention. The President said emphatically that Amundsen's name should be retained. He added that he didn't want a frozen ocean named after him anyway—that he would prefer a smoking volcano.

"Informed that we were fresh out of smoking volcanoes at the South Pole, the President replied, 'Maybe we'll have to send (Admiral Richard E.) Dick Byrd back there to find one.'

"However, his name is honored on our list—in Roosevelt Island."

HOUSE PASSES MEASURE TO CURB OIL EXPORTS

WASHINGTON July 22 — (AP) The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill to forbid exports of oil and gasoline if they interfere with national defense or security or impair civilian supplies.

The merchant marine committee sponsored the measure after an inquiry into shipments of petroleum products to Russia.

The bill would bar exports of gasoline diesel bunker and lubricating oils unless the Secretary of Commerce certifies that they will not injure defense security or civilian supplies.

The secretary would have to make monthly reports to Congress on exports.

U.S. WARNING GIVEN BALKANS

Punitive Steps Suggested For Refusal To Co-Operate

Lake Success, N.Y., July 22 (AP)—The United States stepped into the final stages of the Balkan debate today with a warning to three Soviet satellites that any refusal to co-operate with a proposed border commission might bring punitive action by the United Nations Security Council.

Taking note of Russian contentions that the Security Council could only make recommendations, Herschel V. Johnson, deputy delegate, said that any country which took an attitude of non-compliance would lay itself open to much graver charges and action under another section of the United Nations charter.

Johnson apparently referred to the chapter providing for sanctions and military action.

Linked To Veto Suggestion

The American stand tied in with a previous statement from an authoritative source that a Russian veto killing the present Greek complaint might be followed immediately by stiffer charges and direct accusations against Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria in an entirely new complaint.

The new United States statement could mean that a new complaint would be offered even if Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, withheld the big power veto and instead counseled the satellites to adopt a policy of non-co-operation.

Committed to continuous debate until a vote is reached, delegates today spent the first two hours discussing a French amendment to the United States plan for an eleven-nation semi-permanent border commission. Johnson accepted the French phrasing that the Security Council "finds that it is concerned with a dispute, the continuance of which is likely to endanger the maintenance of international peace and security."

Would Accept British Plan

In the interests of speeding up the case, the United States was ready to accept a British revision which would sidestep the question of which of the Balkan countries was responsible for past disorders and concentrate on future action.

Russia had attacked that portion of the American resolution on the grounds that it presumed the guilt of Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. Gromyko contends the fault for border disturbances lies solely with the present Greek Government.

Still untouched on the Security Council table was a counter-proposal by Gromyko, which called for evacuation of foreign military personnel from Greece and United Nations supervision of all economic aid to that country.

Vote Subject To Delay

Delegates debated three hours at an afternoon session and finally agreed on a revised preamble incorporating the American and French versions. No vote was taken, however, and the Security Council president, Oscar Lange, of Poland, announced that balloting on all sections of the resolution would be delayed until the final meeting on the case.

The Council adjourned until tomorrow afternoon. Two more sessions are scheduled this week on Thursday, but today's slow progress reduced hopes for a vote before next week.

Security Council Told Of "Resort To Police Measures"

Lake Success, N.Y., July 22 (AP)—The fighting between Dutch and Indonesian forces was officially brought to the attention of the United Nations Security Council today by the Netherlands Government, which announced it had been obliged to "resort to police measures" to restore order.

The Dutch communication blamed the current difficulties on the failure of the Indonesian Republic to co-operate in preserving order.

The Netherlands Government asked for no action. There was a general belief, however, that a formal complaint would be filed soon either by the Indonesian Government or by some other nation inside the United Nations.

Note From Brisbane Group

United Nations officials disclosed this morning that a communication had been received from a group of Indonesians at Brisbane, Australia. The contents were not disclosed, but it was assumed that the note contained an appeal for United Nations action.

Appeals from nongovernmental organizations do not constitute a basis for Security Council action, under terms of the charter. There also was a legal question as to whether the Council could act even on a complaint from the Indonesian Republic, since the Netherlands Government still claims jurisdiction.

The most likely possibility seemed to be that if the present situation continues, Security Council action might be initiated by some interested country, such as India or the Soviet Union. India was known to be watching developments closely. Russia also was reported to be interested. But the Soviet delegate, Andrei A. Gromyko, said today he had "nothing in my mind at present" on the affair.

Ukraine Move Recalled

In this connection, it was recalled that the Soviet Ukraine brought the Indonesian question before the Security Council in January, 1946, in London. At that time, the Council refused to act.

The Netherlands note was submitted in accordance with a promise to keep the Security Council informed on developments. It began by referring to the agreement last March 25 between the Dutch and Indonesians for Indonesian independence in 1949, and then declared:

"It has become clear that the present Government of the republic is either not prepared or not able to implement that agreement."

Stands By Program

The note charged the Indonesians with failure to live up to terms of the truce concluded last October 14 and said widespread disorders were permitted inside Indonesian-controlled territory.

It concluded by declaring the Netherlands Government stood firmly on its decision to "carry out the political program" based on the agreement of March 25 and that it hoped circumstances would soon permit a resumption of "constructive co-operation."

Limited Police Action Taken With Utmost Reluctance, Delegate Says in Note

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 22—J. W. M. Snouck Hurgronje, Netherlands representative to the United Nations, advised the United ment had been compelled, "with Government had been compelled, the utmost reluctance," to resort to "police measures of a strictly limited character" to maintain law and order in the Netherland East Indies.

The letter accused the recently recognized Government of the Indonesian Republic of consistent violation of the truce it concluded with the Netherlands Government in October, 1946. It charged that the Indonesian Government was "incapable of maintaining security, law and order in their territory while refusing to cooperate with the Netherlands Government."

However, the letter pledged the "unalterable decision" of the Netherlands to carry out the political program contained in the Linggadjati [Cheribon] Agreement, under which the Netherland East Indies are to become a free sovereign nation, the United States of Indonesia, on Jan. 1, 1949.

Cooperation Hoped For

"The Netherlands Government confidently hopes," the letter concluded, "that circumstances will soon permit resumption of constructive cooperation with the Republic as desired by innumerable Indonesians in Republican territory, which cooperation already successfully exists with the states of East Indonesia and Borneo."

The Linggadjati Agreement was signed at Batavia on March 25 after five months of negotiations between Sutan Sjahrir, Premier of the Indonesian Republic, and Dr. Hubertus J. van Mook, Acting Governor General of the Netherlands East Indies.

Under it the Netherlands Indies are to be constituted into the United States of Indonesia, with three federative parts; one is the Indonesian Republic of Java, Madura and Sumatra; one is Borneo, and one is the "Great East" or East Indonesia. The United States of Indonesia would be proposed by the Netherlands for admission to the United Nations on Jan. 1, 1949.

Dr. Eelco N. van Kleffens, who was then Netherlands representative on the Security Council, informed the Security Council of the Linggadjati Agreement the day after it was signed.

In February, 1946, the Ukraine charged in the Security Council that the use of British and Dutch troops in Indonesia was endangering peace and security, but the matter was dropped after the majority of the Council voted against a Ukrainian proposal to send a commission of inquiry to the islands to "establish peace."

TEXT OF THE LETTER

The text of Mr. Snouck Hurgronje's letter follows:

His Excellency
Mr. Trygve Lie
Secretary General of the United Nations
Sir,

July 21, 1947.

In pursuance to the letter addressed to you by Mr. E. N. van Kleffens, then representative of the Netherlands to the United Nations, on March 26, 1947, 174/51, (advising the Security Council of the signing of a Dutch-Indonesian agreement at Batavia on March 25), I have the honor, under instructions from my Government, to communicate the following to you:

From the discussions which have been carried on with the Indonesian Republic since the signing of the Linggadjati Agreement on March 25, it has become clear that the present Government of the Republic is either not prepared or not able to implement that agreement. Furthermore the truce concluded on October 14, 1946 has in reality never been complied with by the Republican forces; the Government of the Republic themselves have not denied that hostilities were committed by their forces.

During the last few months acts of violence both on demarcation lines in Java and Sumatra and against East Indonesia and western Borneo have rather increased than decreased. They were accompanied by a senseless destruction of valuable economic assets.

By maintaining the food blockade a part of the population of Indonesia was brought to the verge of starvation. Hostages are still being imprisoned and held in Republican territory and a hostile and inflammatory propaganda was maintained.

The Netherlands, as the state with whom the sovereignty of this territory rests and which consequently is ultimately responsible for maintaining law and order, cannot allow these inimical actions to continue. It has become patently clear that the present Republican Government is incapable of maintaining security, law and order in their territory whilst refusing to cooperate with the Netherlands Government to create the necessary conditions thereto.

In these circumstances Her Majesty's Government have, with the utmost reluctance, been compelled to authorize the Lieutenant Governor General to resort to police-measures of a strictly limited character.

The Netherlands Government wished to stress that it maintains its unalterable decision to carry out the political program based upon the principles underlying the Linggadjati Agreement.

The Netherlands Government confidently hopes that circumstances will soon permit resumption of constructive cooperation with the Republic as desired by innumerable Indonesians in Republican territory, which cooperation already successfully exists with the states of East Indonesia and Borneo.

I have the honor to be, sir,
your obedient servant,
SNOUCK HURGRONJE.

Stories of Jap Tortures Mark Court Martial of Navy Man

NEW YORK, July 22 — (AP) Chief Signalman Harold E. Hirshberg, 29, of Brooklyn, was accused today at his Navy Court Martial of being involved in the death of an American Army private who allegedly was trampled by Japanese guards after they had pumped his stomach full of water.

The alleged incident took place at a Japanese prisoner of war camp at Zablin Field on Luzon Island in the Philippines in 1944. The soldier was named at the trial as George Garrett. No address was given.

Nine Accusations

Involvement in the Garrett death was one of nine accusations read for the first time to the court by Lt. Cmdr. Fred H. Frey, judge advocate, who is prosecuting the case.

Hirshberg, the first World War Two enlisted man to be tried on charges of maltreating prisoners of war in Japanese camps, pleaded innocent to all nine specifications.

The first prosecution witness, Army Capt. Richard T. Pullen, who was a prisoner with the defendant at Nielson Field near Manila, testified that Hirshberg told him he had a Japanese wife whom he married in Hong Kong before the war.

Hirshberg said he had two children by the Japanese wife and that his Japanese guards permitted him to communicate with her, Pullen said. Hirshberg's American wife and child live in Brooklyn.

Frey charged that Hirshberg reported to the Japanese March 1, 1944, that Garrett was planning to escape from the camp. The Army private thereupon was tortured for three days and died, the judge advocate said.

Tells of Tortures

The specification said the Japanese guards starved Garrett, struck him about the head and body with clubs, rifle butts, straps and fists, placed a hose in his mouth and filled his stomach with water, then laid him on the ground and jumped on him.

In the other specifications, Hirshberg was accused of telling the Japanese of escape plans of two other Army privates, William R. Hill and John L. Baker, both of whom then were beaten and starved by the Japanese.

The defendant also was charged with assaulting six American soldiers and sailors at Nielson Field between Nov. 10, 1942 and June 1, 1943, while he was head of a work section.

The men allegedly assaulted included George N. Gaboury, Carpenter's Mate first class; Thomas B. Hurtt, a Chief Signalman; Jim Edwards, a private; and Robert H. Welch, a coxswain. Addresses were not given for any of the men.

Hirshberg enlisted in the Navy in 1936. He was captured at Corregidor in May, 1942, and held at camps in the Philippines and in Japan. Liberated after V-J Day, he continued his Navy career and recently had been assigned to Shore Patrol work here.

LONDON, JULY 22-(AP)-DR.OTTO JOHN, A GERMAN DOING SPECIAL WORK FOR THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE, TOLD A LONDON MEETING LAST NIGHT THAT ADOLF HITLER ESCAPED ASSASSINATION IN MARCH OF 1943 ONLY BACAUSE AN ENGLISH-MADE FUSE FAILED TO SET OFF A BOMB SMUGGLED INTO HIS PRIVATE PLANE.

JOHN SAID THE FUSE WAS ATTACHED TO A BOMB CONSTRUCTED OF TWO COGNAC BOTTLES ADDRESSED BY A HIGH COMMAND OFFICER TO A FRIEND AT FIELD HEADQUARTERS ON THE EASTERN FRONT. THE PILOT OF HITLER'S PLANE WAS PERSUADED TO TAKE THE INNOCENT-APPEARING PACKAGE ABOARD JUST BEFORE THE PLANE TOOK OFF FROM BERLIN.

JOHN DECLARED THAT AN ANXIOUS WAIT FOLLOWED AS THE PLOTTERS IN BERLIN WAITED TO HEAR THAT HITLER HAD DIED IN A MID-AIR EXPLOSION. INSTEAD, TO THEIR INTENSE DISAPPOINTMENT, HE SAID, WORD CAME THAT THE PLANE HAD MADE A ROUTINE LANDING AT ITS DESTINATION.

THE BOMB SUBSEQUENTLY WAS RECOVERED WITHOUT ITS DEADLY NATURE BEING DISCOVERED, JOHN SAID, AND INVESTIGATION DISCLOSED THAT THE FUSE WHICH THE CONSPIRATORS HAD OBTAINED FROM ENGLISH SOURCES WAS DEFECTIVE.

JOHN DID NOT REVEAL HOW THE FUSE HAD BEEN OBTAINED OR FURTHER DETAILS OF THE PLOT.

JOHN SAID THERE WERE NUMEROUS DESPERATE MEN IN GERMANY PLOTTING TO KILL HITLER AS EARLY AS 1933. THEY NEVER WERE ABLE TO GET CLOSE ENOUGH AND HITLER RAN OUT HIS STRING AT LEAST UNTIL 1945 WHEN HE WAS BELIEVED TO HAVE COMMITTED SUICIDE IN THE FALL OF BERLIN.

THE ABORTIVE ATTEMPT TO KILL HITLER IN THE MUNICH BEER HALL BOMBING OF 1939 MADE HIM WARY, JOHN SAID.

HE TOLD OF MANY UNUSUAL PLOTS. IN ONE, CONSPIRATORS TRIED TO COMMUNICATE WITH U.S. AUTHORITIES IN THE HOPE OF HAVING HITLER'S HEADQUARTERS ATTACKED BY PARACHUTE TROOPS. JOHN SAID ANOTHER PLOT IN WHICH HE WAS ASSOCIATED WAS PREDICATED ON HAVING PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT INDICATE IN A SUBSTANTIAL MANNER THAT HE WOULD SUPPORT PRINCE LOUIS FERDINAND, GRANDSON OF KAISER WILHELM II, AS HEAD OF A GERMAN STATE. THE PLOTTERS HOPED A PROMISE OF AMERICAN SUPPORT WOULD RALLY ENOUGH POLITICAL AND MILITARY OPPOSITION TO UNSEAT HITLER.

JOHN SAID HITLER OWED HIS LIFE ON MANY OCCASIONS TO HUNCHES AND SNAP JUDGMENTS. GERMAN SUCCESSES NOTICEABLY DECREASED THE NUMBER OF PLOTTERS.

"THERE WAS NEVER A SUBSTANTIAL, UNITED RESISTANCE MOVEMENT IN GERMANY," HE SAID, "THERE WERE INDIVIDUALS WHO WOULD HAVE STOPPED AT NOTHING TO ELIMINATE HITLER. BUT WE NEVER FOUND OURSELVES TOGETHER."

JOHN IS ASSISTING THE FOREIGN OFFICE IN INVESTIGATING WAR CRIMINALS.

HE DECLINED TO SPECULATE ON THEIR FUTURE AFTER THAT, BUT DECLARED BRITISH ARMED FORCES "IN NO CIRCUMSTANCES" WOULD BE USED TO COMPEL THEM TO GO TO SOUTH AMERICA OR ANYWHERE ELSE.

A FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN EARLIER TOLD REPORTERS THE DECISION WHERE THE IMMIGRANTS WOULD GO AFTER THEY ARE RETURNED TO FRANCE WAS "A MATTER FOR FRANCE", AND BRITAIN'S TASK WOULD END ONCE THEY ARE RETURNED TO THE "COUNTRY OR TERRITORIAL WATERS" FROM WHICH THEY SAILED FOR THE HOLY LAND.

PARIS DISPATCHES SAID A SPECIAL FRENCH CABINET MEETING WAS STUDYING THE QUESTION. YESTERDAY A FRENCH FOREIGN OFFICE SOURCE SAID THE THREE BRITISH DEPORTATION SHIPS WOULD BE ALLOWED TO ENTER THE PORT OF VILLEFRANCHE-SUR-MER, BUT INDICATED THE JEWS MIGHT NOT BE ALLOWED TO LAND.

FRENCH INFORMANTS IN PARIS HINTED YESTERDAY THAT THE 4,500 REFUGEES MIGHT BE SENT TO COLOMBIA BECAUSE MANY OF THEM WERE REPORTED TO HAVE HAD COLOMBIAN PASSPORTS.

Paris, July 22--(AP)--The French cabinet was studying today the fate of the 4,500 Jews who attempted to enter Palestine without immigration certificates and now are on route back to the Southern French port of Villefranche-sur-Mer.

Government sources said France was trying to decide whether to permit the immigrants to come ashore from the three ships carrying them.

A [redacted] spokesman said there was no immediate official reaction to a British Foreign Office statement that the immigrants' future destination was a French responsibility.

Meanwhile, the Colombian Embassy said it was "absolutely impossible" that all or any large number of the Jews possessed Colombian visas or passports. It said its consulate at Marseille had issued only 112 visas since May, 1946. A spokesman said that he believed that if they had such visas, they were counterfeit.

AMERICAN AND BRITISH PROTESTATION THAT THEIR ZONES, JAMMED WITH 40,000,000 GERMANS, CAN HOLD NO MORE ARE PROVING UNAVAILING, ESPECIALLY AFTER THE RUSSIAN WALKOUT ON THE PARIS ECONOMIC CONFERENCE APPARENTLY SPLIT EUROPE AND GERMANY DOWN THE MIDDLE, ECONOMICALLY AND IDEOLOGICALLY.

THE EXODUS OF GERMANS FROM THE RUSSIAN ZONE, WHICH HIT A PEAK OF 67,000 LAST JULY AND THEN SLUMPED DURING THE WINTER, REVIVED THIS SPRING. DURING APRIL AMERICAN ZONE BORDER POLICE TURNED BACK 41,879 PERSONS WHO ATTEMPTED TO ENTER THE ZONE ILLEGALLY AND IN ADDITION APPREHENDED ANOTHER 2,818 PERSONS AFTER THEY HAD SLIPPED PAST BORDER CONTROLS.

THERE WAS NO OFFICIAL ESTIMATE OF HOW MANY HAD ACTUALLY MADE THE BORDER CROSSING.

IN MID-JULY THE AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT OBSERVED THAT "THE NUMBER OF PERSONS ATTEMPTING ILLEGAL BORDER CROSSINGS INCREASED SHARPLY IN BAVARIA." IT ADDED THAT IN ORDER TO INCREASE THE EFFICIENCY OF GERMAN BORDER POLICE, MEASURES WERE BEING TAKEN TO PROVIDE THEM WITH TRANSPORTATION TO CATCH BORDER CROSSERS TRAVERSING FIELDS AND CLIMBING FENCES TO ESCAPE THE RUSSIAN ZONE.

AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES IN BAVARIA HAVE FOR MONTHS CALLED THIS SITUATION "SERIOUS", AND HAVE COMPLAINED TO GEN. LUCIUS D. CLAY, THE U.S. MILITARY GOVERNOR IN BERLIN.

BAVARIAN AUTHORITIES WHO HAD 30,000 SOVIET ZONE "REFUGEES" TO HANDLE IN THE SPACE OF TWO MONTHS, PLACED THEM IN CAMPS AFTER THE PRACTICE OF TURNING PEOPLE BACK FROM THE BORDER HAD PROVEN INEFFECTIVE.

THERE ARE, ACCORDING TO RELIABLE SOURCES, SEVERAL REASONS FOR THIS FLIGHT TO THE WEST:

1. GERMANS LIVING IN THE RUSSIAN ZONE HAVE TOLD TOURING AMERICAN CORRESPONDENTS THAT "EVEN IF WE SHOULD HAVE TO DO WITH FEWER CALORIES PER DAY WE WOULD HAVE SPIRITUAL FREEDOM UNDER THE AMERICANS AND BRITISH."

2. IN SOME SECTIONS OF THE RUSSIAN ZONE, PARTICULARLY SAXONY, WHERE THERE ARE URANIUM MINES, GERMANS HAVE BEEN REPORTED DRAFTED FOR FORCED LABOR. YOUNGER MEN AND WOMEN ESPECIALLY HAVE REBELLED AGAINST THE DRAFT AND ARE TAKING FLIGHT.

3. A FLIGHT FROM THE MILITARY DRAFT. THE NEUE ZEITUNG, OFFICIAL GERMAN NEWSPAPER OF THE AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT, RECENTLY REPORTED THAT THROUGHOUT THE RUSSIAN ZONE FORMER GERMAN ARMY OFFICERS AND PILOTS WERE BEING RECRUITED FOR SERVICE IN THE RUSSIAN ARMY. THE PAPER ADDED THAT THE PILOTS WERE TOLD THAT IF THEY FLED MEMBERS OF THEIR FAMILIES WOULD LOSE THEIR FOOD RATION CARDS OR BE HELD AS HOSTAGES.

COMMENTING ON THE EXODUS, THE AMERICAN-LICENSED BERLIN NEWSPAPER TAGESSPIEGEL PUBLISHED A CARTOON SHOWING GERMANS CRAWLING UNDER BARBED-WIRE FENCES FROM SOVIET- OCCUPIED THURINGIA TO REACH AMERICAN OCCUPIED HESSE. ON THE RUSSIAN SIDE THEY CARRIED MEAGER BELONGINGS AND ON THE AMERICAN SIDE THEY IMMEDIATELY LIGHTED UP CIGARETS AND PIPES.

"OUR COMRADE MINISTER TELLS US WE SHOULD MAKE PROPAGANDA AGAINST THE WESTERN ZONES IN ORDER, TO DEFLECT CRITICAL ATTENTION FROM THE EASTERN (RUSSIAN) ZONE. YOU SEE WHAT AN EFFECT WE HAVE."

A RUSSIAN-LICENSED NEWSPAPER HERE PRINTED A REPLY WHICH STATED THAT MOST OF THE BORDER CROSSERS WERE WORK SHIRKERS AND BLACK-MARKETEERS." THEY ASSERTED THAT THE GERMANS FLEEING TO THE WEST WERE OF NO USE TO THE ECONOMY OF THE LABOR-SHORT EASTERN ZONE, AND THAT ONCE THEY REACHED THE WESTERN ZONE THEY "OPENED UP WITH A GREAT DEAL OF SLANDEROUS HATE PROPAGANDA AGAINST THE RUSSIAN ZONE."

FRANKFURT, JULY 22-(AP)-FOUR AMERICAN WOMEN PREPARED TO RETURN TO THE UNITED STATES TODAY AFTER AN EIGHT WEEK VISIT TO GERMANY DURING WHICH THEY BELIEVE THEY CONVINCED AT LEAST SOME GERMANS THAT CORN IS FOOD FOR HUMANS AS WELL AS LIVESTOCK.

THE GROUP, THREE NUTRITION EXPERTS AND AN ASSISTANT, WERE SENT HERE BY THE WAR DEPARTMENT. THEY VISITED BERLIN AND THE MAJOR CITIES OF THE U.S. AND BRITISH ZONES AND GAVE "CORN TALKS" TO HUNDREDS OF GERMAN OFFICIALS, MILLERS AND HOUSEWIVES.

GERMANS RECEIVING CORN FROM THE UNITED STATES, THEY FOUND, HAD NOT THE VAGUEST IDEA WHAT TO DO WITH IT.

"THEY MILLED THE CORN THE SAME WAY AS WHEAT," SAID MISS JANE EBBS, OF THE WAR DEPARTMENT'S OFFICE OF THE QUARTERMASTER GENERAL. "WHEN IT GOT THROUGH THE HANDS OF THE BAKERS, IT WAS A SAD SORT OF STICKY BREAD WHICH EVEN HUNGRY GERMANS COULDN'T EAT."

"OUR MISSION," SAID MISS EBBS, "WAS TO PROMOTE THE HAPPY UTILIZATION OF CORN AMONG THE GERMANS, WHO LOOK UPON IT AS ANIMAL FEED."

"WE CONVINCED SOME BRITISHERS, TOO," SHE SAID. "SOME OF THE CORN WAS GOING TO THE BRITISH ZONE AND THEY DIDN'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT IT, EITHER."

THE GROUP, WHICH HAS SUBMITTED A REPORT TO U.S. MILITARY GOVERNOR GENERAL LUCIUS D.CLAY, INCLUDES DR.ESTHER L.BATCHELDOR, OF THE WAR DEPARTMENT'S FOOD AND NUTRITION DIVISION; DR.HELEN G.OLDHAM, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF ECONOMICS AT THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO, AND MISS VERA STATES, OF THE OFFICE OF THE QUARTERMASTER GENERAL.

MOSCOW, JUNE 22-(AP)-YURI KOROLKOV, CORRESPONDENT FOR THE COMMUNIST PARTY NEWSPAPER PRAVDA, REPORTED TODAY THAT HE HAD FOUND WIDESPREAD CIRCULATION OF ANTI-SOVIET PROPAGANDA IN DISPLACED PERSON CAMPS HE HAD VISITED IN GERMANY.

"I WAS SHOWN SEVERAL NEWSPAPERS PRINTED IN THE RUSSIAN, UKRAINIAN, ESTONIAN AND LATVIAN LANGUAGES," HE WROTE. IT IS HARD TO IMAGINE MORE ABOMINABLE ANTI-SOVIET INVENTIONS.

"THE SOURCE IS ALSO REVEALING. THE SO-CALLED INTERNATIONAL BULLETIN COMES OUT IN MUNICH, IN WHICH THEY SYSTEMATICALLY PUBLISH THE LATEST ANTI-SOVIET ARTICLES WHICH HAVE APPEARED IN BRITISH AND AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS."

THE CORRESPONDENT REPORTED THAT IN RECRUITING LABOR AMONG THE DP'S, BRITAIN, CANADA, ARGENTINA AND BRAZIL WANTED "HEAVY WORKERS." HE SAID THAT IN BRITAIN, "THE MUSICIAN, ENGINEER AND LAWYER WILL ALL BE EMPLOYED MERELY AT PHYSICAL LABOR"; THAT IN CANADA, THE RECRUITS MUST "LABOR IN FORESTS DISTANT FROM POPULATED POINTS," AND THAT IN SOUTH AMERICA, "THESE SLAVES WILL HAVE TO WORK IN VIRGIN FORESTS OR ON COFFEE PLANTATIONS."

MEANWHILE, A MEMBER OF THE COMMISSION OF THE INTERNATIONAL DEMOCRATIC FEDERATION OF WOMEN, TOLD A CORRESPONDENT FOR TRUD, TRADE UNION ORGAN, THAT THE FEDERATION SECRETARIAT HAD BEEN GRANTED PERMISSION TO VISIT ONLY THE SOVIET AND FRENCH OCCUPATION ZONES OF GERMANY TO OBSERVE THE PARTICIPATION OF GERMAN WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS IN DENAZIFICATION.

THE COMMISSION MEMBER DECLARED THAT THE UNITED STATES AND BRITISH HAD AN IRON CURTAIN OF THEIR OWN IN THEIR ZONES.

"THEY CATEGORICALLY REFUSE TO GRANT PERMISSION," SHE SAID. "THIS PROVES THAT THE NOISY STATEMENTS OF SOME ENGLISH AND AMERICAN JOURNALISTS ABOUT 'CURTAINS' SHOULD BE DIRECTED TO A DIFFERENT ADDRESS."

THE ARTICLE THEN MENTIONED A STATE DECREE WHICH PROVIDES A MAXIMUM SENTENCE OF 20 YEARS FOR PERSONS WHO GIVE OUT STATE SECRETS.

"THERE ARE PEOPLE," IT CONTINUED, "WHO TALK SOMETHING LIKE THIS: 'THE WAR HAS BEEN OVER A LONG TIME. WHAT HAVE WE TO WORRY ABOUT?' USUALLY SUCH PERSONS GIVE AWAY STATE SECRETS TO FRIENDS AND ACQUAINTANCES WITHOUT EVEN THINKING. A PERSON WHO CANNOT KEEP A STATE SECRET IS A DISCOVERY FOR AN AGENT OF FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE."

THE ARTICLE THEN CITED SEVERAL INCIDENTS. IT STATED THAT RECENTLY AT THE KIROV PLANT IN LENINGRAD SEVERAL LEADERS MADE PUBLIC INFORMATION WHICH WAS A STATE SECRET.

"IN CONSEQUENCE OF THEIR CARELESSNESS," THE ARTICLE SAID, "THEY REPORTED TO ALIEN PERSONS FACTS ON THE PRODUCTION PROGRAM OF THE PLANT, ALONG WITH OTHER INFORMATION WHICH SHOULD NOT HAVE BEEN MADE PUBLIC."

IT SAID THAT THE FORMER CHIEF ENGINEER AT THE ZHDANOV PLANT HAD MADE A SPEECH WHICH GAVE OUT SECRET FACTS ON THE PLANT'S PROGRAM, THAT DOCUMENTS OF A SECRET CHARACTER WERE LOST BY MESSENGERS OF THE KALININ WORKS, AND IN ONE CASE THE PORTFOLIO OF A COURIER WAS CUT IN A STREETCAR AND A POCKET OF SECRET DOCUMENTS STOLEN. STILL ANOTHER MESSENGER LOST SEVERAL PACKETS OF SECRET DOCUMENTS ON THE STREET, AND ANOTHER FACTORY WAS CITED FOR KEEPING ITS DOCUMENTS NEGLIGENTLY.

"AT THE FACTORY WHERE ONE LUKIN WAS DIRECTOR," THE ARTICLE SAID, "STRANGERS WERE ABLE TO GET THROUGH GAPS IN THE FENCE, ELUDING GUARDS.

"LENINGRADERS SHOWED EXAMPLES OF GREAT ORGANIZATION AND VIGILENCE DURING THE WAR. THEY SHOULD DO THE SAME NOW. THE COUNTRY REQUIRES THIS OF ALL OF US."

SECOND LEAD PALESTINE (110)
BY CARTER L. DAVIDSON

JERUSALEM, JULY 22-(AP)-SIRENS WAILED TONIGHT FOR THE THIRD TIME IN WARNING AGAINST WHAT APPEARED TO BE AN ALL-OUT UNDERGROUND OFFENSIVE THROUGHOUT JERUSALEM.

IN THE GATHERING DUSK, TROOPS AND POLICE ANSWERED WITH MACHINEGUN FIRE ATTACKS LAUNCHED SIMULTANEOUSLY ON THE PAY CORPS OFFICE IN A FORMER SYRIAN ORPHANAGE, ON THE MUSTASHPHA POLICE STATION AND ITS NEARBY BILLET AND ON A ROYAL AIR FORCE MOBILE PATROL TOURING THE CURFEWED MEA SHEARIM JEWISH QUARTER.

THE NIGHT OF TERROR USHERED IN A SECOND WEEK OF INCIDENTS IN WHICH EIGHT PERSONS HAVE BEEN KILLED AND 51 WOUNDED.

THE DUSK ATTACKS FOLLOWED A DAY OF SPORADIC DISTURBANCES THROUGHOUT PALESTINE, APPARENTLY IN RETALIATION FOR THE BRITISH INTERCEPTION OF THE REFUGEE SHIP EXODUS 1947 AND THE DEPORTATION OF ALL THE 4,500 JEWS ABOARD BACK TO FRANCE.

THREE YOUNG JEWS AMBUSHED A MILITARY POLICE JEEP IN THE FASHIONABLE JEWISH REHAVIA QUARTER OF PALESTINE TOWARD DUSK. THEY MISSED THEIR TARGET BUT ONE OF THE SIX BULLETS THEY FIRED HIT AND SERIOUSLY WOUNDED A JEW PASSING ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE STREET.

GENERAL ALARM SIGNALS SOUNDED, THE NINTH IN FOUR DAYS. TROOPS WENT TO ACTION STATIONS. SECURITY COMPOUND GATES CLOSED SWIFTLY.

THE ATTACKS X X X ETC FOURTH GRAPH (ELIMINATING THIRD GRAPH STARTING "TODAY'S ATTACK" AND ENDING "THREE DAYS."

APPROXIMATELY 90,000 OF PALESTINE'S JEWS REMAINED UNDER A BRITISH-IMPOSED DAWN-TO-DUSK HOUSE ARREST, BUT LITTLE HOPE OF PEACE WAS IN SIGHT. IRGUN ZVAI LEUMI, JEWISH UNDERGROUND ORGANIZATION, APPEALED TO MEMBERS OF THE TWO OTHER UNDERGROUND GROUPS, HAGANA AND THE STERN GANG, TO JOIN IN ITS OFFENSIVE AGAINST BRITISH RULE.

TODAY'S ATTACK CAUSED NO CASUALTIES. BUT GENERAL ALARM SIRENS--THE EIGHTH SUCH ALARM IN FOUR DAYS--SENT TROOPS TO ACTION STATIONS, AND SECURITY COMPOUND GATES WERE QUICKLY CLOSED AS ARMORED CARS DASHED THROUGH THE STREETS OF JERUSALEM. THE ATTACK OCCURRED NEAR AN ARMY PAY STATION IN AN AREA WHERE OTHER ATTACKS WERE MADE ON MILITARY INSTALLATIONS IN THE PAST THREE DAYS.

THE ATTACKS APPARENTLY WERE THE RESULT OF THE BRITISH INTERCEPTION OF THE REFUGEE SHIP, EXODUS 1947, AND THE SUBSEQUENT DECISION TO DEPORT ALL 4,500 OF THE VESSEL'S UNCERTIFIED JEWISH IMMIGRANTS BACK TO FRANCE.

THE JEWISH AGENCY, WHICH HAS DENOUNCED THE DEPORTATION, MADE OFFICIAL REPRESENTATIONS TODAY TO THE BRITISH, FRENCH AND PALESTINE GOVERNMENTS, AN AGENCY SPOKESMAN ANNOUNCED, GIVING NO FURTHER DETAILS.

IN THE ALL-JEWISH CITY OF TEL AVIV, UNOFFICIAL REPORTS SAID TERRORIST BANDS CARRIED OUT TWO DIAMOND ROBBERIES AND ESCAPED WITH $40,000 WORTH OF LOOT. IN ONE OF THE ATTACKS, FIVE ARMED MEN ATTACKED A DIAMOND FACTORY OWNER ON CROWDED ALLENBY STREET AND SEIZED $35,000 IN DIAMONDS WHICH HE WAS CARRYING, THE REPORTS SAID, AND A FEW MINUTES LATER A JEWELRY SHOP IN ANOTHER PART OF THE CITY WAS RAIDED.

YESTERDAY'S OUTBURSTS WERE CLIMAXED BY A MINE BLAST IN HAIFA THAT LEFT ONE DEAD AND SEVEN WOUNDED. THE EXPLOSION OCCURRED SHORTLY AFTER IT WAS ANNOUNCED THAT THE 4,500 JEWISH REFUGEES WHO ARRIVED HERE FRIDAY HAD BEEN DEPORTED TO FRANCE--THEIR POINT OF ORIGIN.

DURING THE HEIGHT OF YESTERDAY'S DISORDERS THE IRAQ PETROLEUM COMPANY'S PIPELINE WAS BLASTED IN THREE PLACES, ONCE AT HAIFA AND TWICE AT TIBERIUS, WITH SLIGHT DAMAGE. EIGHT JEWS WERE REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH THE SABOTAGE.

FRANGIEH SAID "ANY SETTLEMENT WHICH DOES NOT TAKE INTO CONSIDERATION THE RIGHTS OF THE ARABS OF PALESTINE AND THE FEELINGS OF THE ARAB PEOPLE WILL BE INVALID, DOOMED TO FAILURE AND RESULT IN THE MOST SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES."

HE DECLARED THERE WAS "LITTLE VALIDITY" IN THE ZIONIST ARGUMENT IT IS NECESSARY "TO TRANSPORT SEVERAL HUNDRED THOUSAND JEWS TO PALESTINE TO SAVE THEM FROM PERSECUTION" NOW THAT THE NAZI REGIME HAS BEEN DESTROYED.

THE RIGHT OF PALESTINE ARABS TO SELF-DETERMINATION, HE DECLARED, HAS "BEEN CONTINUOUSLY VIOLATED."

JJ4PED

IT ADDED THAT ARABS ALWAYS HAVE REATED THE JEWISH COMMUNITIES IN THEIR MIDST "WITH JUSTICE AND EQUALITY."

THE ARAB STATES ASSERTED THAT WITH FASCIST AND NAZI REGIMES DESTROYED, THERE WAS "LITTLE VALIDITY" FOR THE ZIONIST DESIRE "TO TRANSPORT SEVERAL HUNDRED THOUSANDS OF JEWS TO PALESTINE TO SAVE THEM FROM PERSECUTION."

"FURTHERMORE," THEY CONTINUED, "TO ACQUIESCE IN THE IMMIGRATION OF EUROPEAN JEWRY IS TANTAMOUNT TO ADMISSION OF BANKRUPTCY OF THE WESTERN DEMOCRACIES.

"THE WORLD REFUGEE PROBLEM MUST BE KEPT DISTINCT AND SEPARATE FROM THE PALESTINE QUESTION. IT IS A WORLD PROBLEM X X X. TO ATTEMPT TO SOLVE IT AT THE EXPENSE OF ANOTHER PEOPLE X X X IS THE HEIGHT OF INJUSTICE."

FRANGIEH READ HIS STATEMENT IN FRENCH IN THE SMALL CENTRAL HALL OF THE LEBANESE FOREIGN MINISTRY. MEMBERS OF THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS, REPRESENTATIVES OF THE ARAB STATES, AND LOCAL AND FOREIGN NEWSMEN WERE CROWDED INTO THE OBLONG ROOM.

"ANY SETTLEMENT WHICH DOES NOT TAKE INTO CONSIDERATION OF THE RIGHTS OF THE ARABS OF PALESTINE AND THE FEELINGS OF THE ARAB PEOPLE," THE STATEMENT SAID, "WILL BE INVALID, DOOMED TO FAILURE AND RESULT IN MOST SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES."

THE ARAB STATES BASED THEIR CASE ON TWO POINTS: THE RIGHT OF PALESTINE FOR SELF-DETERMINATION AND MAINTENANCE OF PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST.

THEY ASSERTED THAT THE RIGHT OF SELF-DETERMINATION OF PALESTINE ARABS HAD "BEEN CONTINUOUSLY VIOLATED AND IS BEING VIOLATED."

ON THE QUESTION OF MIDDLE EASTERN PEACE, THE ARAB STATES SAID:

30.24- 11085

"THE ZIONISTS HAVE MARSHALED AN IMPOSING PROPAGANDA MACHINE THROUG OUT THE WORLD, AND IN PALESTINE AS ELSEWHERE THEY HAVE FORMULATED A MILITARY AND TERRORIST PROGRAM, HAVE BROKEN EVERY LAW, AND CHALLENGED RESPONSIBLE AUTHORITY.

"THIS WILL UNDOUBTEDLY HAVE THE EFFECT OF PROVOKING SIMILAR ORGANIZATIONS IN OUR MIDST TO REPEL ZIONIST AGGRESSION AND SO INTRODUCE INTO THE ENTIRE MIDDLE EAST AN ELEMENT OF DISTURBANCE AND VIOLENCE, INSECURITY AND GENERAL TURBULENCE WHICH, IT IS FEARED, MIGHT WELL HAVE THE EFFECT OF JEPARDIZING THE POSITION OF JEWS HITHERTO LIVING IN PEACE THROUGHOUT THE ARAB WORLD."

THE STATEMENT SAID THE ARABS COULD NOT "REMAIN INACTIVE BEFORE DANGER," ADDING:

"THEY WILL NOT BE BLAMED IF THEY SHOULD RISE AS ONE MAN TO DEFEND THEIR NATURAL RIGHTS TO REPEL AGGRESSION AND TO RENDER THEIR DUTY FOR FUTURE GENERATIONS."

RANGOON, BURMA, JULY 22-(AP)-THE GOVERNMENT PAPER, NEW TIMES OF BURMA, CARRIED A STATEMENT TODAY BY THAKIN NU, SUCCESSOR TO THE MURDERED U AUNG SAN AS DEPUTY CHAIRMAN OF THE GOVERNOR'S EXECUTIVE COUNCIL, SAYING "NOTHING SHALL DETER ME FROM THE FIRM PURPOSE OF ACHIEVING THE ULTIMATE GOAL OUR BELOVED LEADER SET BEFORE US."

AUNG SAN HAD TAKEN A LEADING PART IN PREPARATIONS FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF AN INDEPENDENT BURMA, OF WHICH HE WAS EXPECTED TO BE FIE FIRST PREMIER. THE GOVERNMENT HAS FIXED JULY 27 AS A NATIONAL DAY OF MOURNING FOR AUNG SAN AND HIS SIX FELLOW MINISTERS, WHO WERE MASSACRED BY MACHINEGUN FIRE AS THEY SAT IN EXECUTIVE SESSION SATURDAY.

AN ALLEGATION THAT THE MURDER OF AUNG SAN AND HIS FELLOW MINISTERS WAS "IMPERIALIST INSPIRED" AND CARRIED OUT AT THE INSTIGATION OF "BUREAUCRATS" WAS MADE TODAY AT A MASS MEETING ATTENDED BY SEVERAL THOUSAND STUDENTS AND BURMESE YOUTHS.

THE RALLY WAS SPONSORED BY THE ALL BURMA STUDENTS UNION, THE ALL BURMA YOUTH LEAGUE AND THE BURMA COMMUNIST PARTY.

AT THE CONCLUSION OF THE RALLY A MILE-LONG PROCESSION ON FOOT AND IN BUSES PASSED DOWN RANGOON STREETS TO JUBILEE HALL, WHERE THE DEMONSTRATORS PAID HOMAGE TO THE DEAD MINISTERS LYING IN STATE THERE.

ML613AED

U MYA SAID IT WAS HIS RECOLLECTION THAT THE LONE GUNMAN, BACKED BY FOUR OTHERS CARRYING MACHINEGUNS AND ARMS, DID NOT SAY A WORD AS HE OPENED FIRE.

THAKIN NU, THE NEW HEAD OF THE BURMESE GOVERNMENT, SAID HE SEIZED THE OPPORTUNITY TO ESCAPE AS THE GUNMAN TURNED HIS ATTENTION TO OTHERS AND LEAPED THROUGH THE DOORWAY.

THAKIN NU SAID THE SPECIAL TRIBUNAL WOULD BE SET UP WITHIN A FEW DAYS TO SIFT EVIDENCE AND EXAMINE ALL PERSONS ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH THE CASE, INCLUDING U SAW, HEAD OF THE MYOCHIT PARTY AND OTHER RIVAL POLITICAL LEADERS.

(U TIN TUT, BURMESE MINISTER WITHOUT PORTFOLIO WHO IS IN LONDON, SAID THERE WAS "SOME CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE" THAT U SAW OR HIS FOLLOWERS MAY HAVE PLOTTED THE ATTACK AS A "POLITICAL VENDETTA" BUT NOT AS AN ATTEMPTED COUP D'ETAT.)

WHITE FLAG, THE BRANCH OF THE BURMESE COMMUNIST PARTY THAT IS LED BY THAKIN THAN TUN, BROTHER-IN-LAW OF THE SLAIN AUNG SAN, IN A FORMAL STATEMENT CONDEMNED THE ASSASSINATIONS AND OFFERED COMPLETE SUPPORT TO THE ANTI-FASCIST PEOPLES FREEDOM LEAGUE, THE MAJORITY PARTY LED BY AUNG SAN AND THAKIN NU.

A MASS MEETING SPONSORED BY THE COMMUNISTS AND YOUTH ORGANIZATIONS CHARGED THE ASSASSINATIONS WERE CARRIED OUT AT THE INSTIGATION OF "IMPERIALISTS" AND "BUREAUCRATS", AN OBVIOUS REFERENCE TO THE BRITISH.

BRITISH MILITARY POLICE SUPPLEMENTED ARMED BURMESE GUARDS POSTED AT ALL ENTRANCES TO THE BURMA GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS AS PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES WERE REDOUBLED.

SHANGHAI, JULY 22-(AP)-THERE WERE STRONG INDICATIONS TODAY THAT THE NATIONALIST BLOCKADE OF COMMUNIST AREAS, WHICH IS PREVENTING UNRRA SUPPLIES FROM REACHING THE REDS, MIGHT LEAD TO SUSPENSION OF SUCH SUPPLIES TO GOVERNMENT-HELD TERRITORY NORTH OF THE YANGTZE RIVER.

SUSPENSION OF SUPPLIES FROM THE INTERNATIONAL AGENCY WOULD HAVE TO BE APPROVED BY THE UNRRA COUNCIL IN WASHINGTON, TO WHICH VARIOUS RECOMMENDATIONS ARE BEING SENT BY ITS FAR EASTERN COMMITTEE. COMMITTEEMEN CONFERRED TODAY WITH HARLAN CLEVELAND, DIRECTOR OF UNRRA'S CHINA OFFICE.

SHOULD SUPPLIES TO GOVERNMENT-HELD AREAS NORTH OF THE GREAT RIVER BE SUSPENDED, IT WAS BELIEVED THEY WOULD BE CONTINUED TO OTHER NATIONALIST REGIONS IN CHINA.

COMMUNIST RELIEF OFFICIALS DEMANDED RECENTLY THE WITHDRAWAL OF UNRRA AID TO CHINA IF THE AGENCY FAILS TO ARRANGE FOR DELIVERY OF SUPPLIES TO COMMUNIST AREAS. BECAUSE OF THE BLOCKADE, NO UNRRA SUPPLIES HAVE BEEN SENT TO RED REGIONS SINCE JULY 8.

THERE SEEMS TO BE NO POSSIBILITY, HOWEVER, OF UNRRA ACCEDING TO COMMUNIST DEMANDS FOR DIRECT SHIPMENTS INSTEAD OF THROUGH NATIONALIST PORTS. PRIOR TO THE BLOCKADE MOST SHIPMENTS WERE SENT THROUGH SHANGHAI TO RED-CONTROLLED PORTS IN SHANTUNG PROVINCE--SCENE OF MUCH OF THE RECENT FIGHTING IN THE CIVIL WAR.

THERE ALSO WERE SHIPMENTS BY RAIL FROM SHANGHAI TO KAIFENG IN HONAN PROVINCE FOR DISTRIBUTION TO COMMUNIST AREAS, INCLUDING DELIVERIES BY BOAT SOUTHWARD ALONG THE GRAND CANAL FROM TIENTSIN.

ONE SHIPMENT HAS BEEN HELD UP BY THE GOVERNMENT AT TIENTSIN FOR THE PAST TWO MONTHS.

NANKING, JULY 22-(AP)-CHINA'S SORROW TODAY IS A 600-MILE SEGMENT OF NORTH CHINA STRETCHING FROM THE BORDERS OF SHENSI PROVINCE EAST TO THE SHANTUNG PENINSULA AND THE YELLOW SEA.

IN A YEAR OF FIGHTING SINCE THE COLLAPSE OF GEN. GEORGE C. MARSHALL'S MEDIATION MISSION, CHINESE COMMUNISTS HAVE SUCCEEDED IN GAINING A FIRM HOLD IN THIS VITAL AREA WHICH EFFECTIVELY SPLITS CENTRAL CHINA FROM THE RICH MANCHURIAN PROVINCES.

WITHIN THIS WIDE STRETCH, NORMALLY ONE OF CHINA'S MOST PRODUCTIVE AREAS, ARE NATIONALIST-HELD "ISLANDS" -- ISOLATED GARRISONS PENNED WITHIN CITY DEFENSE WALLS. COMMUNICATIONS, SUPPLY ROUTES AND THE COUNTRYSIDE GENERALLY ARE UNDER COMMUNIST DOMINATION.

THE SITUATION HAS CONVINCED SOME OF THE NATION'S HIGHEST LEADERS THAT ONLY A SHARP REVISION OF MILITARY POLICIES, INCLUDING ABANDONMENT OF THE GARRISON SYSTEM IN FAVOR OF HIGHLY MOBILE STRIKING FORCES, WILL PERMIT DEFEAT OF THE RED ARMIES.

CHINA'S CIVIL WAR TODAY IS DIVIDED AMONG THREE GREAT BATTLEGROUNDS, WITH THE HEAVIEST FIGHTING SHIFTING FROM MONTH TO MONTH BETWEEN MANCHURIA AND THE SHANTUNG PROVINCE AREA. THE THIRD GENERAL AREA INCLUDES HOPEH, SHANSI AND JEHOL PROVINCES. IN IT ARE PEIPING, TIENTSIN AND PAOTING.

THE COMMUNISTS' SUMMER OFFENSIVE IN MANCHURIA BROUGHT THEM WITHIN CANNON SOUND OF MUKDEN AND PROVOKED SERIOUS DISCUSSIONS IN NANKING CONCERNING THE ADVISABILITY OF ABANDONING ALL THE NORTHEASTERN PROVINCES.

TODAY, HAVING WON A COSTLY VICTORY AT SZEPINGKAI, THE GOVERNMENT CLAIMS POSSESSION OF RAIL LINES LINKING PEIPING WITH MUKDEN AND MUKDEN WITH CHANGCHUN, MANCHURIA'S CAPITAL.

WAR MAPS SHOW THAT NORTH OF SZEPINGKAI THE GOVERNMENT IS IN POSSESSION OF ALL OF THE RAILWAY WITH THE EXCEPTION OF A SMALL SECTION. ACTUALLY, FIELD REPORTS SAY RED TROOPS ARE STILL CROSSING AT MANY NORTHERN POINTS, MAKING "NUISANCE RAIDS" TO PREVENT RESUMPTION OF SERVICE.

LATEST PRO-GOVERNMENT REPORTS DECLARE THAT GOVERNMENT GEN. WANG YAO-WU'S CENTRAL SHANTUNG POCKET IS PREPARING FOR A GENERAL MOPPING UP. NEUTRAL SOURCES SAY, HOWEVER, THAT THE COMMUNISTS ARE FOLLOWING THEIR USUAL PRACTICE OF SHIFTING THEIR MAIN FORCES AWAY FROM GOVERNMENT CONCENTRATIONS TO STRIKE ELSEWHERE. THIS TIME IT APPEARS THAT THE REDS PLAN TO HIT HARD AGAINST THE WEISHAN LAKE AREA OF SOUTHWESTERN SHANTUNG.

THE GOVERNMENT ASSERTS IT HAS THE INITIATIVE IN THE HOPEH-SHANSI REGION WITH VARIOUS COLUMNS BATTLING THE REDS ALONG THE PEIPING-HANKOW AND TIENTSIN-PUKOW RAILWAYS. IN THE PAST TWO WEEKS THE GOVERNMENT HAS RECOVERED A NUMBER OF TOWNS, BUT THE GENERAL OUTLOOK REMAINS LITTLE CHANGED.

NORTH AND WEST OF THE MAIN NORTH CHINA BATTLEFRONTS STRETCH THOUSANDS OF SQUARE MILES OF NORTHERN CHAHAR, JEHOL AND SUIYUAN PROVINCES. THIS VAST AREA IS VIRTUALLY A NO-MAN'S LAND. REPORTS FROM THIS INNER MONGOLIAN REGION INDICATE THAT TRAVELLERS MAY GO HUNDREDS OF MILES WITHOUT SEEING EITHER GOVERNMENT OR COMMUNIST TROOPS.

ONE OF THE FORGOTTEN FRONTS OF CHINA'S CIVIL WAR IS THE SOUTHERNMOST COAST, WHERE ANTI-GOVERNMENT FORCES VARIOUSLY DESCRIBED AS COMMUNISTS, BANDITS AND PIRATES HOLD MUCH OF THE SEABOARD REGION FROM NEAR MACAO, TO THE INDO-CHINA BORDER. THE LATEST REPORTS SAY THESE IRREGULARS NOW CONTROL ALL OF LUICHOW PENINSULA EXCEPT THE GOVERNMENT STRONGHOLD OF FORT BAYARD, AND HOLD THE GREATER PART OF THE INTERIOR OF HAINAN ISLAND.

IN THE PAST FEW MONTHS, COMMUNIST FORCES DESCRIBED BY THE GOVERNMENT AS BETTER EQUIPPED AND BETTER TRAINED THAN EVER BEFORE, HAVE MANAGED TO HOLD THE INITIATIVE AND PREVENT GOVERNMENT TROOPS FROM EVEN APPROACHING JAPAN'S RECORD OF CONTROLLING AND OPERATING VITAL RAILLINES OF NORTH CHINA.

GOVERNMENT SUPPORTERS NOW HOPE TO SEE THE TIDE OF BATTLE TURNED WITHIN 12 MONTHS. THEY BASE THEIR HOPES ON THE NEW GENERAL MOBILIZATION ORDER, IMPROVED TRAINING METHODS -- AND POSSIBLE SUPPORT FROM THE UNITED STATES.

TOKYO,WEDNESDAY,JULY 23-(AP)-THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH REPRESENTATIVE BROKE INTO AN AMERICAN-RUSSIAN DEBATE IN THE FOUR POWER COUNCIL MEETING TODAY WITH A PLEA THAT THE DELEGATES AVOID "INCREASING INTERNATIONAL DISHARMONY AMONG THE ALLIES."

EARLIER, THE BRITISH REPRESENTATIVE, W.MACMAHON BALL, HIMSELF HAD EXPRESSED THE VIEW THAT SUPREME HEADQUARTERS' CLAIMS OF SUCCESS IN THE OCCUPATION OF JAPAN WERE "TOO OPTIMISTIC."

AMERICAN CHAIRMAN GEORGE C.ATCHESON JR., HAD TERMED THE AGRARIAN PROGRAM "ONE OF THE GREAT ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THE OCCUPATION AND ONE OF WHICH THE ALLIES CAN BE PROUD."

LT.GEN.KUZMA DEREVYANKO, THE SOVIET MEMBER, STYLED THE RURAL PROGRAM AN "UNSATISFACTORY HALF-WAY MEASURE" WHICH WAS BEING "POORLY IMPLEMENTED."

AS ATCHESON ANNOUNCED HE WAS PREPARING TO READ STATISTICS ON RURAL PROGRAMS IN "OTHER COUNTRIES," BALL INTERCEDED TO SAY HE PRESUMED ATCHESON INTENDED TO INCLUDE SOVIET LAND PROGRAMS.

THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH REPRESENTATIVE THEN MADE HIS REQUEST FOR MORE HARMONY AND ADDED:

"IF I APPEARED CRITICAL OF SCAP (SUPREME HEADQUARTERS) IT WAS NOT BECAUSE I THOUGHT IT HAD DONE SO LITTLE, BUT BECAUSE IT CLAIMED SO MUCH."

DEREVYANKO HAD CHARGED THAT JAPANESE GOVERNMENT WAS BEHIND IN ITS PURCHASE OF ABSENTEE-LANDLORD ESTATES, THAT "THE BROAD PEASANT MASSES" WERE UNABLE TO BUY LAND, AND THAT LANDLORDS WERE TRYING TO WRECK THE PROGRAM BY VIOLENCE, TRICKERY AND "VICIOUS PROPAGANDA."

THE AMERICAN REPLY WAS THAT THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT HAD ACQUIRED MORE THAN 1,300,000 ACRES FOR RESALE AND WAS AHEAD OF ITS PURCHASE SCHEDULE.

ATCHESON DECLARED THAT THE PROGRAM, DUE TO BE COMPLETED WITHIN TWO YEARS, WAS BEING CARRIED OUT WITHOUT "WIDESPREAD VIOLENCE OR BLOODSHED," WITHOUT "LIQUIDATION OF PEASANTS" AND WITHOUT "CONFISCATION WITHOUT COMPENSATION."

HE ACCUSED JAPANESE WOMEN OF PARTIAL RESPONSIBILITY FOR WORLD WAR II BECAUSE OF THE ISLANDS' HIGH BIRTH RATE.

HE URGED THE JAPANESE TO FOLLOW THE ADVICE GIVEN RECENTLY BY MRS. SANGER IN LONDON THAT THE UNITED NATIONS SHOULD URGE A MORATORIUM ON CHILD BEARING.

ABOARD THE BATTLESHIP IOWA ENROUTE TO HAWAII, JULY 22-(AP)-THIS MIGHTY BATTLESHIP PAUSED LONG ENOUGH TODAY TO FIRE WITH HER SMALL GUNS ON AN "ENEMY" -- MUCH TO THE DELIGHT OF NINE STATE GOVERNORS, A LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR AND THE TERRITORIAL GOVERNORS OF ALASKA AND PUERTO RICO.

THE OBJECT WAS IDENTIFIED AS A FLOATING MINE, ENCOUNTERED AT MIDWAY BETWEEN THE WEST COAST AND HAWAII.

NAVAL GUNNERS TRAINED 20 AND 40 MILLIMETER GUNS ON THE BOBBING OBJECT AND FIRED BURSTS. THE MARINE CORPS' RIFLE CHAMPION, TECH.SGT. MAXIM BEEBE, WHO LEARNED SHARPSHOOTING AS A BOY AROUND ENUMCLAW,WASH., SCORED REPEATED HITS WITH A 30 CALIBER M-1 BUT WAS UNABLE TO DETONATE THE MINE. BEEBE'S SPOTTER RECORDED SEVEN HITS FROM RANGES BETWEEN 500 AND 250 YARDS.

WHILE MOST OF THE GOVERNORS WATCHED FROM THE BRIDGE, THE OBJECT FINALLY DISAPPEARED IN A BURST OF FIRE FROM MARINE AND NAVY GUNS.

THE IOWA WAS DELAYED 30 MINUTES.

SINGAPORE, JULY 22-(AP)-SUTAN SJAHRIR, FORMER PREMIER OF THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC, ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT HE WOULD VISIT THE UNITED STATES AS WELL AS INDIA AND AUSTRALIA ON A SPECIAL MISSION FOR PRESIDENT SOEKARNO.

THE FORMER INDONESIAN PREMIER STOPPED HERE EN ROUTE BY SPECIAL INDIAN PLANE TO INDIA TO START A TOUR OF COUNTRIES SYMPATHETIC WITH THE REPUBLIC. HE EXPLAINED THAT SOEKARNO WANTED HIM TO ASSESS REACTION AND MAKE A REPORT ON WHICH THE REPUBLIC COULD TKE UCH

S

REACTION AND MAKE A REPORT ON WHICH THE REPUBLIC COULD TAKE SUCH STEPS AS ARE NECESSARY IN THE FUTURE.

SJAHRIR SAID THAT IN INDIA HE WOULD SEE PANDIT JAWAHARLAL NEHRU, VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT; MAHOMED ALI JINNAH, HEAD OF THE MOSLEM LEAGUE, AND LORD KILLEARN, BRITISH SPECIAL COMMISSIONER IN SOUTHEAST ASIA, WHO MODERATED THE LINGGADJATI (CHERIBON) AGREEMENT CONFERENCES AND NOW IS IN INDIA.

"WE EXPECT MUCH HELP FROM INDIA, MATERIALLY AND MORALLY," SJAHRIR SAID.

HE EXPLAINED HE HAD DEPARTED FROM JOGJAKARTA IN A DAKOTA TRANSPORT PLANE AT 3 A.M.

"I LEFT WITHOUT THE KNOWLEDGE OF THE DUTCH AND MANAGED TO ESCAPE THE DUTCH BOMBING OF THE JOGJAKARTA AIRFIELD," SJAHRIR SAID.

THE AIRFIELD WAS THE TARGET OF A DUTCH AIR ATTACK MONDAY AFTERNOON.

SJAHRIR SAID THE INDONESIANS HAD BELIEVED FOR TWO MONTHS THAT AN ARMED CLASH WAS INEVITABLE ADDING:

"BUT, OF COURSE, THE DUTCH AERIAL BOMBING WAS AN UNEXPECTED THING TO US. WE NEVER EXPECTED THE DUTCH WOULD RESORT TO SUCH TACTICS, KNOWING FULL WELL THAT THE INDONESIANS HAD NO PLANES."

SJAHRIR DECLARED THAT BY THEIR MILITARY ACTION THE DUTCH "HAVE . NOW COMPLETELY NULLIFIED THE CHERIBON AGREEMENT."

HE SAID THE REPUBLICAN ARMY HAD ENOUGH ARMS AND AMMUNITION FOR A "LONG WAR."

SJAHRIR DECLARED THAT NO NEGOTIATIONS COULD NOW BE STARTED ON THE OLD AGREEMENTS.

"EVERYTHING MUST START FRESH NOW THAT THE DUTCH HAVE IGNORED ALL AGREEMENTS."

HE SAID HE WOULD SEEK TO PERSUADE INDIA AND THE ARAB LEAGUE COUNTRIES TO BRING THE INDONESIAN CASE BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS.

"WE NEED NOW MORAL HELP FROM ALL COUNTRIES," HE DECLARED.

BATAVIA, JAVA, JULY 22-(AP)-DUTCH TROOPS, MAINLY UNITED STATES-TRAINED MARINES, WERE REPORTED TODAY TO HAVE CAPTURED FOUR EAST JAVA COASTAL POINTS FROM THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC AFTER LARGE-SCALE LANDINGS FROM NAVAL VESSELS.

A COMMUNIQUE OF THE ROYAL NETHERLANDS NAVY CONFIRMED A REPORT OF THE AMPHIBIOUS OPERATION, FIRST SINCE WORLD WAR II, BROADCAST EARLIER BY THE REPUBLICAN RADIO.

THE COMMUNIQUE SAID THAT "ON THE TWENTY-FIRST OF JULY LANDING CRAFTS OF THE ROYAL NAVY ACCOMPANIED BY WARSHIPS DISEMBARKED TROOPS AT BANJOEWANGI ON THE EAST COAST OF JAVA AND PASIR PUTUH ON THE NORTH COAST."

BY MIDMORNING TODAY, THE DUTCH WERE REPORTED IN CONTROL OF BANJOEWANGI, ACROSS FROM THE ISLAND OF BALI; PASIR PUTUH, A SMALL PLACE ON THE NORTH COAST; SITOEBONDO, ALSO ON THE NORTH COAST ABOUT 45 MILES NORTHWEST OF BANJOEWANGI, AND PROBOLINGGO, ABOUT 55 MILES WEST OF SITOEBONDO.

BANJOEWANGI AND PROBOLINGGO HAVE BEEN THE REPUBLIC'S CHIEF EAST JAVA PORTS. MANY REPUBLICAN EXPORTS, INCLUDING RICE FOR INDIA, HAVE GONE OUT FROM THEM.

THE LANDING APPARENTLY WAS THE BIGGEST OPERATION SINCE THE DUTCH SUNDAY NIGHT BEGAN WHAT THEY CALL "POLICE ACTION" AND WHAT THE REPUBLIC TERMS A "COLONIAL WAR" AFTER A BREAKDOWN OF NEGOTIATIONS TOWARD A JOINT INTERIM GOVERNMENT FOR THE UNITED STATES OF INDONESIA.

(THE STATE DEPARTMENT IN WASHINGTON YESTERDAY SAID IN A STATEMENT THAT "THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT PROFOUNDLY REGRETS THAT NEGOTIATION HAS BEEN DISCARDED AS THE MEANS OF ACHIEVING X X X VOLUNTARY ASSOCIATION BETWEEN THE NETHERLANDS AND INDONESIAN PEOPLES. X X X

(THE DEPARTMENT REPORTED THAT HERMAN BARUCH, AMBASSADOR TO THE HAGUE, WHEN INFORMED SUNDAY OF THE DUTCH DECISION UPON THE USE OF FORCE, HAD BEEN AUTHORIZED TO RESTATE THE AMERICAN POSITION--FOLLOWED THROUGH THE LAST TWO YEARS AND REPEATED IN A NOTE LAST MONTH OFFERING ECONOMIC AID TO THE INDIES IF AN INTERIM GOVERNMENT WAS AGREED UPON.

(BEFORE THE STATEMENT WAS ISSUED, THE DEPARTMENT WAS DISCLOSED TO HAVE GIVEN ITS BLESSING TO A BRITISH OFFER OF "GOOD OFFICES" IN AN EFFORT TO SETTLE THE DUTCH-INDONESIAN DISPUTE OVER THE FUTURE GOVERNMENT OF INDONESIA.)

OTHER DUTCH TROOPS TOWARD THE EASTERN END OF THE 700-MILE-LONG, CIGAR-SHAPED ISLAND OF JAVA, MEANWHILE, WERE REPORTED ADVANCING FROM SOERABAJA TOWARD MALANG, 45 MILES TO THE SOUTH. SOERABAJA IS 40 MILES NORTHWEST OF PROBOLINGGO.

A REPUBLICAN INFORMANT HERE SAID THESE TROOPS WERE MEETING STIFF RESISTANCE. THE LANDINGS OPENED THE WAY FOR THEIR SUPPORT BY MARINES AND OTHERS NOW HOLDING NORTHEAST JAVA IN A FIRM GRIP.

TOWARD THE WESTERN END OF JAVA, THE BATAVIA INFORMANT DECLARED, DUTCH FORCES ALSO WERE ENCOUNTERING STIFF RESISTANCE IN A PUSH SOUTH OF BUITENZORG, WHICH IS ABOUT 30 MILES SOUTH OF BATAVIA, THE DUTCH CAPITAL.

REPUBLICAN RADIO REPORTS MEANWHILE INDICATED THAT DUTCH FORCES WERE DRIVING EAST AND WEST FROM BANDOENG, WHICH IS SOME 75 MILES SOUTHEAST OF BATAVIA. BATAVIA IS NEAR THE NORTHWESTERN CORNER OF THE ISLAND.

THE RADIO SAID THE DUTCH HAD OCCUPIED VIRTUALLY THE ENTIRE AREA AROUND TJIANDJOER AND SOEKABOEMI, RESPECTIVELY 30 AND 40 MILES WEST OF BANDOENG, AND IN THE OTHER DIRECTION HAD DRIVEN WITH ARMORED SUPPORT ALMOST HALF THE 50-ODD MILES TO THE NORTH-COAST REPUBLICAN PORT OF CHERIBON.

IN THE SOEKABOEMI AREA, THE BROADCAST REPORTED, THE LAMPEJAN RAILROAD TUNNEL, KEY TO COMMUNICATIONS THERE, WAS CAPTURED UNDAMAGED, PERHAPS BY PARATROOPS. THE TUNNEL HAD BEEN DESCRIBED AS DEMOLISHED IN AN ERRONEOUS REPORT SEVERAL WEEKS AGO.

THE NAVY'S COMMUNIQUE SAID THAT IN THE LANDINGS "THERE WAS VERY LITTLE OPPOSITION, WHICH ENDED SOON AFTER SHELLING OF THE REPUBLICAN POSITIONS."

"THE SUBSEQUENT DISEMBARKATION," IT DECLARED, "WAS EFFECTED WITHOUT INCIDENTS. THE LANDED TROOPS CONSISTED IN THE MAIN OF MARINES."

THESE MARINES WERE SAID TO BE UNITED STATES-EQUIPPED AND TO BE FROM A BRIGADE WHICH TRAINED IN NORTH CAROLINA FOR WAR AGAINST THE JAPANESE.

THE REPUBLICAN RADIO SAID DUTCH PLANES BOMBED POERWOKERTO IN CENTRAL JAVA AND STRAFED A NEARBY AIRFIELD.

A DUTCH ARMY COMMUNIQUE REPORTED THAT NETHERLANDS PILOTS FLYING AMERICAN-BUILT MUSTANG (P-51) AND KITTYHAWK (P-40) FIGHTER PLANES YESTERDAY DESTROYED 10 REPUBLICAN AIRCRAFT ON THE GROUND AT FOUR FLYING FIELDS.

PREVIOUSLY AUTHORITATIVE SOURCES HAD ESTIMATED THAT THE REPUBLIC OWNED ONLY ABOUT 40 OLD JAPANESE PLANES.

WASHINGTON,JULY 22-(AP)-MRS.AKITO TSUKADO MILLER, JAPANESE WIFE OF A BEAVER,PA., NAVY LIEUTENANT, IS A STEP CLOSER TODAY TO BECOMING A LEGAL RESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

A BILL BY REP.GRAHAM (R-PA) TO PERMIT HER TO REMAIN IN THE UNITED STATES PERMANENTLY WAS PASSED BY THE HOUSE AND SENT TO THE SENATE.

THE MILLERS WERE MARRIED IN SHANGHAI, CHINA IN 1936. MILLER WAS ON DUTY THERE WITH THE U.S. NAVY. LATER THE COUPLE MOVED TO THE PHILIPPINES WHERE A SON WAS BORN. MRS.MILLER AND THE BOY REMAINED THERE DURING THE JAPANESE OCCUPATION. THEY WERE JOINED BY LIEUTENANT MILLER IN 1945.

THE BOY, AN AMERICAN CITIZEN, SUBSEQUENTLY WAS TRANSPORTED TO THE FATHER'S HOME IN BEAVER. MRS.MILLER, ACCOMPANYING HER HUSBAND TO THE UNITED STATES ON A CHANGE OF STATION, WAS INFORMED UPON ARRIVAL IN SAN FRANCISCO LAST MARCH THAT BECAUSE OF HER ALIEN STATUS SHE WOULD HAVE TO BE SENT OUT OF THE COUNTRY. UPON AN APPEAL, SHE WAS ALLOWED TO REMAIN SIX MONTHS.

WASHINGTON,JULY 22-(AP)-THE STATE DEPARTMENT ESTIMATED TODAY THAT THE UNITED STATES IN NINE MONTHS HAS TURNED OVER TO CHINA, OR "MADE AVAILABLE" TO HER, AMERICAN SURPLUS PROPERTY WHICH ORIGINALLY COST CLOSE TO $500,000,000.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT WHICH COINCIDED WITH THE ARRIVAL AT NANKING OF LT. GENERAL ALBERT C.WEDEMEYER'S NEW FACT-FINDING MISSION SAID:

(1.) FIXED INSTALLATIONS IN CHINA SUCH AS AIRFIELDS, WHICH ORIGINALLY COST $324,000,000 HAD BEEN TRANSFERRED.

2. MOTOR TRUCKS, CLOTHING, FOOD, MEDICAL SUPPLIES, AND OTHER MOVEABLE SURPLUS, COSTING $170,000,000, HAD BEEN MADE "AVAILABLE."

THE NATIONALIST GOVERNMENT'S EXECUTIVE YUAN HAS ACTUALLY TAKEN POSSESSION OF $59,700,000 OF THE MOVEABLE GOODS, THE STATEMENT ADDED. 1947

OFFICIALS SAID THE FIGURES WERE PUBLISHED "FOR THE RECORD." DR. GEORGE YEH, THE NANKING GOVERNMENT'S VICE MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS HAD ESTIMATED ACTUAL RECEIPTS OF SURPLUS MATERIAL AS MUCH LOWER.

THE DEPARTMENT'S FIGURES WERE TAKEN FROM RECORDS OF THE FOREIGN LIQUIDATION COMMISSIONER AND COVERED THE NINE MONTHS UP TO MAY 31, THE LATEST DATE FOR WHICH THEY WERE COMPLETE.

BY A BULK SALE AGREEMENT OF AUGUST 30 LAST YEAR, CHINA ACQUIRED TITLE TO APPROXIMATELY $500,000,000 OF MOVEABLE SURPLUS SCATTERED AMONG 17 PACIFIC ISLANDS AND IN CHINA ITSELF. THIS WAS IN ADDITION TO THE FIXED INSTALLATIONS.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT SAID ACTUAL TRANSFERS HAVE BEEN SPEEDED UP AND THAT THE ENTIRE OPERATION IS EXPECTED TO BE COMPLETED WITHIN THE SCHEDULED 22 MONTHS.

WASHINGTON,JULY 22-(AP)-THE CHINESE AMBASSADOR AND FIVE MEMBERS OF THE CHINESE LEGISLATIVE YUAN WERE LUNCHEON GUESTS TODAY OF REP.FULTON (R-PA), A MEMBER OF THE HOUSE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE.

THE LUNCHEON, GIVEN IN THE SPEAKER'S DINING ROOM OF THE HOUSE, WAS ATTENDED BY APPROXIMATELY 50 PERSONS, INCLUDING MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE, THE COMMITTEE'S PROFESSIONAL STAFF AND SEVERAL MEMBERS OF THE PENNSYLVANIA DELEGATION.

THE AMBASSADOR, WHO WAS ACCOMPANIED BY MRS.KOO, SAID IT WAS THE FIRST TIME HE HAD DINED IN THE SPEAKER'S DINING ROOM AND THE FIRST TIME HE HAD ATTENDED A CONGRESSIONAL LUNCHEON. HE WAS CERTAIN, HE SAID, THAT THE OCCASION WOULD INCREASE THE "HAPPY RELATIONS" EXISTING BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND CHINA.

THE VISITING MEMBERS OF THE YUAN, WHICH FORMULATES LEGISLATION FOR THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT, DESCRIBED THE WORKINGS OF CHINA'S LAW-MAKING BODIES. HERE ON A STUDY OF AMERICAN GOVERNMENTAL PROCEDURES, THEY ARE SYU WU, CHAOYUEN CHANG, ROBERT C.W.SHENG, YUI MING, AND Y.Y.KO.

AFTER THE LUNCHEON THEY TOURED THE CAPITOL.

THE VISITORS WERE WELCOMED BY CHAIRMAN EATON (R-NJ) OF THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE. REP.JUDD (R-MINN), A MEMBER OF THE COMMITTEE AND A FORMER MISSIONARY IN THE FAR EAST, ADDRESSED THE GROUP BRIEFLY IN THEIR NATIVE TONGUE. DR.KOO COMPLIMENTED HIM ON HIS "EXCELLENT" CHINESE.

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., JULY 22-(AP)-TESTIMONY BEFORE THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON UNAMERICAN ACTIVITIES LINKING THE NAMES OF TWO ANTIOCH COLLEGE PROFESSORS WITH COMMUNISM WAS TERMED "RIDICULOUS" TODAY IN A STATEMENT BY MRS.JESSIE TREICHLER, ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT OF ANTIOCH COLLEGE.

MRS.TREICHLER, WHO ISSUED THE STATEMENT IN THE ABSENCE OF PRESIDENT ALGO HENDERSON AND VICE-PRESIDENT W.B.ALEXANDER, DECLARED, "AGAIN REPUTATIONS ARE BEING SMEARED BY THESE PROPAGANDISTIC LABELS."

IN WASHINGTON YESTERDAY, WALTER A.STEELE CHAIRMAN OF THE NATIONAL SECURITY COMMITTEE OF THE AMERICAN COALITION OF PATRIOTIC, CIVIC AND FRATERNAL SOCIETIES, MENTIONED PROF. ARTHUR S.STEINBERG AND PROF. LEWIS COREY OF ANTIOCH COLLEGE IN HIS TESTIMONY ATTACKING COMMUNISM.

STEELE TOLD THE COMMITTEE THAT STEINBERG, UNDER THE NAME OF BERGER, WAS LISTED AMONG 140 PERSONS CONNECTED WITH THE CANADIAN SPY RING IN A DOCUMENT IN THE POSSESSION OF THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT.

STEELE SAID HE HAD INFORMATION THAT COREY'S REAL NAME IS LEWIS COREY FRAINI AND THAT HE IS A CHARTER MEMBER OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY.

MRS.TREICHLER DESCRIBED PROF.COREY, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL ECONOMY, "AS A NOTED ECONOMIST AND AUTHOR AND A SEVERE OPPONENT OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY AS HIS WRITINGS OF MANY YEARS SHOW."

"DR.STEINBERG," SHE SAID, "CATEGORICALLY DENIES ANY CONNECTION 'REMOTE, DIRECT OR INDIRECT WITH THE COMMUNIST PARTY.' HE IS AN OUTSTANDING GENETICIST WHO JOINED THE FELS RESEARCH INSTITUTE STAFF AS A GENETICIST IN 1946 AFTER TWO YEARS IN THE U.S.NAVY. WE HAVE LEARNED TO RESPECT HIM AS A TEACHER, WORKER AND HUMAN BEING."

PROF.STEINEBERG SAID HE WOULD MAKE NO COMMENT ON STEELE'S ASSERTIONS UNTIL HE HAD READ THE TESTIMONY.

IN A TELEPHONE INTERVIEW, PROF.COREY SAID:

"ONCE UPON A TIME I WAS A COMMUNIST, BUT TODAY I AM KNOWN AS AN ANTI-COMMUNIST. FOR THE PAST TEN YEARS I HAVE BEEN WRITING AGAINST COMMUNISM. X X X IT IS MEN LIKE STEELE WHO ARE THE BEST FRIENDS OF COMMUNISM BECAUSE THE BEST SERVICE ONE CAN DO TO COMMUNISM IS TO ATTACK LIBERALS AND ANTI-COMMUNISTS FOR COMMUNIST IDEALS THEY DO NOT HOLD."

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 22-(AP)-ANDREI A.GROMYKO, SOVIET DELEGATE TO THE UNITED NATIONS, AUTHORIZED THE FOLLOWING COMMENT TODAY ON THE TESTIMONY OF VICTOR A.KRAVCHENKO BEFORE THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON UNAMERICAN ACTIVITIES:

"WHEN A DOG HAS NOTHING TO DO, IT ~~LEAKS~~ licks ITS UNDERBELLY. SOMETIMES THIS ATTRACTS SPECTATORS."

A REPORTER HANDED GROMYKO A DISPATCH FROM WASHINGTON RELATING KRAVCHENKO'S COMMENTS REGARDING GROMYKO. HE RECEIVED IT IN A UNITED NATIONS CORRIDOR AFTER THE MORNING SESSION OF THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL. WITH IT WAS A NOTE ASKING IF GROMYKO HAD ANY COMMENT.

AFTER LUNCH, ONE OF GROMYKO'S ASSISTANTS TOLD THE REPORTER HE HAD AN ANSWER. HE THEN HANDED HIM THE COMMENT WRITTEN IN PENCIL ON THE NOTE THAT THE REPORTER GAVE GROMYKO.

THE REPORTER SHORTLY AFTERWARD ASKED GROMYKO IF THAT WAS THE COMMENT HE CARED TO MAKE, WHETHER HE PREFERRED TO ALTER HIS REMARK FOR PUBLICATION. GROMYKO THOUGHT IT OVER AND THEN TOLD THE REPORTER THAT THE COMMENT WOULD "LOSE FLAVOR" IF ALTERED AND THAT HE PREFERRED NOT TO DO SO. HE HAD NOTHING FURTHER TO SAY ON THE SUBJECT.

AFTER THE SECURITY COUNCIL SESSION THIS AFTERNOON, THE REPORTER ASKED THE ASSISTANT OF GROMYKO WHO HAD GIVEN HIM THE ANSWER WHETHER HE MEANT "LEAKS" OR "LICKS" IN THE COMMENT.

SOME PERSONS FAMILIAR WITH RUSSIAN RECALLED THAT THE PHRASE CONFORMED TO A RUSSIAN SAYING IN WHICH THE WORD "LICKS" WAS USED.

THE ASSISTANT REPLIED THAT HE MEANT TO SAY "LICKS."

THE PENCILLED NOTE GIVEN THE REPORTER SPELLED OUT "LEAKS" BUT THE CHANGE TO "LICKS" WAS MADE VERBALLY.

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 22-(AP)-THE NETHERLANDS GOVERNMENT INFORMED THE UNITED NATIONS TODAY THAT IT HAD BEEN COMPELLED TO "RESORT TO POLICE MEASURES" AGAINST THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC BECAUSE OF CONTINUED "ACTS OF VIOLENCE."

AT THE SAME TIME, IT WAS DISCLOSED THAT AN INDONESIAN GROUP IN BRISBANE, AUSTRALIA, HAD SENT A COMMUNICATION TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL. THE CONTENTS WERE NOT MADE PUBLIC, SINCE THE NOTE CAME FROM A NON-GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATION. IT WAS PRESUMED, HOWEVER, THAT THE COMMUNICATION WAS AN APPEAL FOR AID FOR THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC.

THE DUTCH NOTE CHARGED THE INDONESIANS WITH "SENSELESS DESTRUCTION," WITH MAINTAINING A FOOD BLOCKADE AND WITH CARRYING ON "HOSTILE AND INFLAMMATORY PROPAGANDA."

"THE NETHERLANDS AS THE STATE WITH WHOM THE SOVEREIGNTY OF THIS TERRITORY RESTS AND WHICH CONSEQUENTLY IS ULTIMATELY RESPONSIBLE FOR MAINTAINING LAW AND ORDER CANNOT ALLOW THESE INIMICAL ACTIONS TO CONTINUE," THE NETHERLANDS GOVERNMENT SAID.

JUL 1947

"IT HAS BECOME PATENTLY CLEAR THAT THE PRESENT REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT IS INCAPABLE OF MAINTAINING SECURITY, LAW AND ORDER IN THEIR TERRITORY WHILE REFUSING TO COOPERATE WITH THE NETHERLANDS GOVERNMENT TO CREATE THE NECESSARY CONDITIONS THERETO.

"IN THESE CIRCUMSTANCES HER MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT HAVE WITH THE UTMOST RELUCTANCE BEEN COMPELLED TO AUTHORIZE THE LIEUT. GOVERNOR GENERAL TO RESORT TO POLICE MEASURES OF A STRICTLY LIMITED CHARACTER.

"THE NETHERLANDS GOVERNMENT WISHED TO STRESS THAT IT MAINTAINS ITS UNALTERABLE DECISION TO CARRY OUT THE POLITICAL PROGRAM BASED UPON THE PRINCIPLES UNDERLYING THE LINGGADJATI AGREEMENT (IN WHICH THE DUTCH AGREED LAST MARCH 25 TO THE INDEPENDENCE OF INDONESIA IN 1949).

"THE NETHERLANDS GOVERNMENT CONFIDENTLY HOPES THAT CIRCUMSTANCES WILL SOON PERMIT TO RESUME CONSTRUCTIVE COOPERATION WITH THE REPUBLIC AS DESIRED BY INNUMERABLE INDONESIANS IN REPUBLICAN TERRITORY, WHICH COOPERATION ALREADY SUCCESSFULLY EXISTS WITH THE STATES OF EAST INDONESIA AND BORNEO."

SINCE THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC IS NOT RECOGNIZED BY THE UNITED NATIONS AS A SOVEREIGN STATE, ANY COMPLAINT FROM INDONESIAN LEADERS WOULD RAISE IMPORTANT LEGAL POINTS.

U.N. EXPERTS EXPRESSED THE OPINION THAT THE SECURITY COUNCIL COULD NOT ACT ON THE INDONESIAN SITUATION UNLESS A COMPLAINT WAS FILED BY AN INDEPENDENT COUNTRY--EITHER A MEMBER OR NON-MEMBER OF THE U.N.

EVEN THOUGH THE COUNCIL COULD NOT ACT DIRECTLY ON THE INDONESIAN COMMUNICATION, IT WAS POINTED OUT THAT SOME OTHER COUNTRY MIGHT EASILY FILE A COMPLAINT ON BEHALF OF THE INDONESIANS.

IN THIS CONNECTION, IT WAS RECALLED THAT THE SOVIET UKRAINE BROUGHT THE INDONESIAN QUESTION BEFORE THE COUNCIL IN JANUARY, 1946, IN LONDON--EVEN WITHOUT THE REQUEST OF THE INDONESIAN LEADERS.

AT THAT TIME, IT WAS CHARGED THAT THE PRESENCE OF BRITISH TROOPS IN INDONESIA THREATENED WORLD PEACE. THE UKRAINIAN REPRESENTATIVE DEMANDED CREATION OF A COMMISSION FOR AN ON-THE-SPOT INQUIRY, BUT THE COUNCIL DEFEATED THE PROPOSAL.

THE WARNING WAS VOICED BY JOHN ALEXANDER OF BRITAIN, VICE-CHAIRMAN OF THE FUND, WHO PRESENTED TO THE COUNCIL THE FIRST REPORT OF THE NEW AGENCY CREATED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY LAST FALL.

ALEXANDER SAID ONLY $20,000,000 HAD BEEN PLEDGED SO FAR, INCLUDING AN INITIAL CONTRIBUTION OF $15,000,000 BY THE UNITED STATES. THIS, HE SAID, WOULD PROVIDE ONE-HALF PINT OF MILK DAILY TO 3,250,000 CHILDREN IN EUROPE AND CHINA.

WILLARD L.THORP, U.S. ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE, SAID THE UNITED STATES CONTRIBUTION SHOULD NOT BE REGARDED AS THE LIMIT OF WHAT THIS COUNTRY WOULD GIVE, SINCE HE HOPED THAT VOLUNTARY ORGANIZATIONS AND INDIVIDUALS WOULD MAKE FURTHER SUBSTANTIAL CONTRIBUTIONS.

IN ADDITION TO THE INITIAL $15,000,000 AMERICAN CONTRIBUTION, CONGRESS HAS MADE AVAILABLE ANOTHER $25,000,000 TO BE GIVEN IN A RATIO OF 57 PER CENT FOR EVERY 43 PER CENT SUBSCRIBED BY OTHER GOVERNMENTS.

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 22-(AP)-BRITAIN PROPOSED TODAY THAT THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL SIDESTEP A DECISION ON WHICH OF THE BALKAN COUNTRIES WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE CURRENT DISORDERS IN THAT AREA.

THE BRITISH PROPOSAL WAS CONTAINED IN AN AMENDMENT ELIMINATING A PARAGRAPH OF AN AMERICAN RESOLUTION WHICH RUSSIA AND THE SOVIET SATELLITES HAD ATTACKED ON THE GROUND THAT IT PRESUMED THE GUILT OF ALBANIA, YUGOSLAVIA AND BULGARIA.

A SPOKESMAN FOR THE AMERICAN DELEGATION SAID THE BRITISH AMENDMENT WOULD BE ACCEPTED BY THE UNITED STATES. THIS WAS ONE OF TWO CONCILIATORY MOVES MADE AT THIS MORNING'S COUNCIL SESSION IN AN EFFORT TO RECONCILE CONFLICTING SOVIET AND AMERICAN VIEWS.

THE OTHER MOVE WAS MADE BY FRANCE.

THE U.S. RESOLUTION REFERRED TO THE REPORT OF THE BALKAN INVESTIGATING COMMISSION WHICH DECLARED THAT ANY FUTURE HOSTILE ACTION ON THE PART OF THE THREE SOVIET SATELLITES WOULD BE CONSIDERED A THREAT TO PEACE. LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 22-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL TODAY ENTERED THE FINAL STAGES OF ITS HALF-YEAR TANGLE WITH THE BALKANS PROBLEM. A VOTE WAS EXPECTED TOMORROW OR THURSDAY.

THE BIGGEST QUESTION WAS WHETHER RUSSIA WOULD BETO THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL FOR AN 11-NATION SEMI-PERMANENT BORDER COMMISSION WITH HEADQUARTERS IN SALONIKA, OR WOULD ABSTAIN FROM VOTING AND CAST DOUBT ON THE COMMISSION'S AUTHORITY.

AS DELEGATES WERE CALLED (10:30 A.M. EDT) INTO DAY-LONG SESSION, THE UNITED STATES PREPARED TO SPEED UP DEBATE BY AGREEING TO A SERIES OF MINOR AMENDMENTS DESIGNED TO SATISFY SUCH COMPROMISE-MINDED COUNTRIES AS FRANCE AND COLOMBIA.

ALEXANDRE PARODI OF FRANCE WAS EXPECTED TO OFFER THE AMENDMENTS, WHICH WERE AGREED TO IN OFF-THE-FLOOR CONFERENCES, BUT AMERICAN SOURCES STRESSED THAT NO BASIC CHANGES WERE INVOLVED.

IT WAS DISCLOSED THAT RUSSIA HAD APPROACHED THE UNITED STATES WITH "FEELERS" REGARDING THE POSSIBILITY OF WATERING DOWN THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL AND HAD MET A FLAT REFUSAL.

NOW DELEGATES EXPECTED RUSSIA OR HER VOTING PARTNER -- POLAND -- TO ATTEMPT TO AMEND THE AMERICAN PLAN TO SUCH AN EXTENT AS TO BRING IT INTO LINE WITH THE SOVIET IDEAS.

TWO DIRECTLY-CONFLICTING RESOLUTIONS -- FROM THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA -- WERE ON THE TABLE. THE DELEGATES WERE SCHEDULED TO TAKE UP THE AMERICAN PROPOSAL FIRST.

LAST JANUARY THE COUNCIL, LOOKING INTO GREEK CHARGES THAT YUGOSLAVIA, ALBANIA AND BULGARIA WERE FOMENTING UNREST ON GREECE'S NORTHERN BORDERS, ORDERED AN 11-NATION BORDER INVESTIGATING COMMISSION INTO THE AREA. THE GROUP BROUGHT IN A MAJORITY REPORT IN JUNE FINDING THE THREE SOVIET SATELLITES RESPONSIBLE. RUSSIA AND POLAND DISSENTED:

THE AMERICAN RESOLUTION IS AN OUTGROWTH OF THAT REPORT, WHILE THE RUSSIAN RESOLUTION SUPPORTS THE COMMISSION'S MINORITY VIEW -- THAT THE PRESENT GREEK GOVERNMENT WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DISORDERS.

ON THE BASIS OF RUSSIA'S VIGOROUS REJECTION OF THE AMERICAN PLAN, OBSERVERS WERE CONVINCED THAT THE SOVIET UNION WOULD HAVE TO VETO OR ABSTAIN. THE UNITED STATES PROPOSAL APPEARED CERTAIN TO MUSTER THE NECESSARY SEVEN VOTES FOR PASSAGE UNLESS VETOED.

RUSSIA HAS CONTENDED THAT THE COUNCIL CAN ONLY MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS IN A CASE OF THIS KIND, AND THERE WERE INDICATIONS THAT IF SHE ABSTAINED HER THREE SATELLITES WOULD NOT BOW TO THE PROPOSED COMMISSION.

World Peace Is Menaced By Russian Satellites, U.S. Bluntly Tells UN

DEMANDS COUNCIL WARN 3 NATIONS 'TO KEEP ORDER'

Yugoslavia, Albania, Bulgaria Headed for War, Delegates Told.

HAUCK

RUSSIA HITS BACK

Countries Do Not Need American Advice on Internal Order, Gromyko Says.

LAKE SUCCESS, July 23—(AP) The United States suddenly removed diplomatic wraps today and bluntly told the United Nations Security Council that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria were a menace to international peace.

American Deputy Delegate Herschel V. Johnson said there was not "the slightest evidence of civil liberties" in the three Soviet satellites and "a dictatorship is a dictatorship no matter what you call it."

NIGHT

Demands Council Warn Nations

He demanded that the Council warn the three nations "to keep order in their own houses and leave other peoples affairs alone" lest a war break out in the Balkans affecting the whole world. It was the second time in a UN meeting today that diplomatic talk was dropped.

Noting that Johnson had "begun to speak candidly," Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko jumped into the debate to say:

"Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and Albania do not need the advice of the United States on their internal order. If such advice is given from the rostrum of the United Nations, although not asked for, the only explanation is that these authors overestimate the importance of their advice."

"There has been much talk of monarchy-fascism as if that were the only form of government that might be objectionable to some people," Johnson said. "We have no brief for the Greek government as such, but Greece is not a menace to international peace. We think her three northern neighbors are."

Red Talk Termed 'Junk'

Previously Russia's vigorous defense of Albania in a UN membership committee touched off one of the strongest personal attacks ever leveled at a Soviet delegate here.

Stripping off all diplomatic language, Britain's Valentine G. Lawford termed a speech by Alexei N. Krasilnikov, chief UN deputy to Andrei A. Gromyko, "junk" and said it was "deplorable" that UN delegates should be subjected to such tirades "day after day."

The United States and Australia quickly joined in lambasting Krasilnikov, Soviet delegate to the committee and former minister to Iceland.

As Albania's application for UN membership was under fire in the committee, the parent Security Council resumed discussions of the Greek case where Albania has been accused — along with Yugoslavia and Bulgaria—of fomenting Balkan border disorders.

Krasilnikov delivered a 30-minute speech castigating the western powers for their opposition to the admission of Albania and accusing them of attempting to "undermine the young peoples republic of Albania."

Charges False Accusations

He said all the reasons advanced by the United States and Britain were based on "false accusations" and that they were attempting to get the Tirana government to accept conditions dictated by foreign powers. He added that certain powers would not be satisfied unless they could seat a man on the Albanian general staff to suppress the democratic element in Albania.

He repeated Soviet arguments advanced for Albania and against Greece from recent months and termed opposition contentions as all "lies."

As Krasilnikov finished speaking, Lawford, sitting next to him, turned, looked directly at the Soviet representative and said in measured words:

"It is deplorable that we should be subjected day after day, week after week, month after month to this junk about provocations, lies, noises and repetitions. We are presumed to be intelligent officials and not a gathering of illiterates.

"We draw our conclusions from facts and not from slogans and watch words. I term the Soviet speech a regrettably offensive production."

Glad of Censorship

Col. W. H. Hodgson of Australia followed to say:

"How glad I am that these meetings are now open to the press. Previously we have had to put up with calculated abuse and distortions of this particular representative of the Soviet Union for a long time.

"He attempts to out-Caesar his senior Caesars. His speech was a complete distortion.

Hayden Raynor, United States representative, declared:

"I won't dignify the utterly ridiculous and irrelevant statements of the Soviet delegate by answering. I resent the tenor of his remarks."

The Russian delegate retorted that it was his "duty" to defend Albania against "false accusations" and, referring to the "ridiculous charge, commented:

"Maybe I have the same opinion of their statements."

Henrique de Souza Gomez remarked that it would be unwise to continue discussions in "the present atmosphere" and a committee decision on Albania was put off until the next meeting on Monday.

Russian Deputy At U.N. Takes Lambasting

Lake Success, July 23 (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Gromyko's top deputy in the United Nations was lambasted today in one of the strongest personal attacks ever made in the United Nations.

After Alexei N. Krasilnikov had delivered a 30-minute speech castigating the western powers for their opposition to the admission of Soviet-supported Albania to the United Nations, Britain's Valentine G. Lawford said in measured words:

"It is deplorable that we should be subjected, day after day, week after week, month after month to this junk about provocations, lies, noises and repetitions. We are presumed to be intelligent officials and not a gathering of illiterates.

"We draw our conclusions from facts and not from slogans. I term the Soviet speech a regrettably offensive production."

U.S. Delegate's View

Col. W. R. Hodgson, of Australia, took the floor immediately to declare:

"How glad I am that these meetings are now open to the press. Previously, we have had to put up with calculated abuse and distortions of this particular representative of the Soviet Union for a long time."

Hayden Raynor, of the United States, told delegates:

"I won't dignify the utterly ridiculous and irrelevant statements of the Soviet delegate by answering.

"I resent the tenor of his remarks."

DAY

A Peace-Loving State

Krasilnikov, the Soviet delegate to the United Nations membership committee, had said certain powers would not be satisfied unless they could seat a man on the Albanian general staff to suppress the democratic elements in Albania.

He said these powers keep repeating accusations against Albania which have been proved many times to be outright "lies."

Krasilnikov pictured the Soviet-supported country as a peace-loving state that could satisfy all the obligations of the United Nations Charter.

The United States drafted two questions Monday for Albania that are to be acted upon by the committee. The United States asked whether Albania intended to comply with the April recommendation by the Security Council that Britain and Albania take their Corfu mine dispute to the International Court of Justice and, if so, when. France also suggested that the Council ask Albania about her intentions.

Firm On No Veto

This came after the United States, Britain, France and Australia expressed "grave" doubts about admitting Albania.

A major shift in the Council lineup from last year came when Pierre Ordonneau, of France, reversed his country's approval of Albania. He told Council members France's opinion of Albania had been seriously damaged by her attitude in the Corfu case and the attitude of the Albanian delegations before the Security Council.

Meanwhile, Frederick H. Osborn, United States deputy delegate, told the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission that this country was standing firm on its demand that no veto apply to the punishment of atomic crimes.

In a brief statement to the working committee of the commission, Osborn proposed that the delegates postpone discussion of the veto problem until it could be taken up in a point-by-point debate.

Gromyko's Views

He said that the United States would not be a "party to any change in the principle" by which no veto shall apply on atomic punishments. He insisted again that the principles laid down by Bernard M. Baruch to the commission last year must be upheld.

Osborn spoke after Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, asked the working committee to discuss thoroughly a Russian proposal that would have the effect of permitting a veto in the Security Council on any final decision to punish violation of any atomic-control pact.

Gromyko said the delegates had agreed in principle that there should be no veto on the day-to-day operations of an international control agency but, he said, Russia felt that the veto right in the Security Council must not be altered.

Holds To It "Unequivocally"

"The issue before us . . . is clear-cut," Osborn said. "It is whether 'there shall be any legal right, by veto or otherwise, whereby a willful violator of the terms of the (atomic control) treaty or convention shall be protected from the consequences of violations of its terms.'

"The view of ten members of this commission as expressed by their adherence to the year-end report is that no such right should exist. This is the principle which was first enunciated on behalf of the United States by Mr. Baruch on June 14, 1946.

"The United States has held consistently and unequivocally to this principle throughout these negotiations. It holds unequivocally to this principle now."

Four Nations Had Accepted.

Washington, July 23 (A. P.).—Before Russia's rejection, four of the ten nations invited had accepted the American invitation to begin discussions August 19 on a peace treaty with Japan. Britain, Australia and New Zealand all suggested a later date for the conference. The Netherlands agreed to the proposal in general terms.

The American proposal was submitted at a meeting of representatives of ten countries in Washington, June 11. Russia, it developed later, was not represented, but the proposal was submitted immediately in Moscow to Foreign Minister Molotov by American Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith.

The Soviet Embassy here hinted at an unfavorable reply from Moscow by issuing a statement Saturday stressing that Russia did not take part in the initial June 11 meeting.

U. S. STANDS FIRM ON MILITARY AID

Harrelson

LAKE SUCCESS, July 23—(AP) The United States made it clear to the United Nations today that she had no intention of abandoning the Truman Doctrine of military aid to countries threatened by Communism.

The American position was set forth by Assistant Secretary of State Willard L. Thorp, who told the Economic and Social Council the United States was strongly opposed to a Russian proposal to prohibit international loans for military purposes.

Thorp spoke after Britain and France had challenged another Soviet declaration that certain powerful nations were seeking to impose an economic dictatorship over the weaker countries.

Opposed to Large Armaments

"Unfortunately," he said, "in some parts of the world today there is a relationship between military and economic matters. We do not favor large armaments but we feel we must attack the problem directly.

"By this (the Soviet) suggestion we are permitting countries which have large resources to militarize and saying that those countries which need assistance may not do so."

NIGHT

He said this would be "discriminatory."

Soviet Delegate Alexander P. Morozov said he had observed a tendency on the part of some powers "to regard economically less-developed countries not as sovereign, but as merely a supplement to the developed countries."

This tendency, he said, meant "dictating" to the under-developed countries what they should produce, import and export.

Czechs Back Russia

Russia was supported by Czechoslovakia.

French delegate George Boris declared he could find no basis for Soviet charges that there was "a tendency to victimize weaker countries for the benefit of stronger ones."

British Minister of State Hector McNeil said Russia took the at titude that if economic aid is offered to certain countries the sovereignty of these countries is reduced.

30.24- 11095

He pointed out that Russia had entered into agreements to aid Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Yugoslovia and added:

"I hope these agreements were entered into freely. I hope the sovereignty of these recipient countries has not suffered from these agreements."

Czechoslovak Delegate Ladislav Radimsky urged the Economic and Employment commission to assert its jurisdiction over questions being considered by all international economic organizations—even those outside the U.N.

He did not mention the 16-nation economic committee set up in Paris to implement the Marshall plan, but he made it clear that he was referring to this body. He said "events of the past weeks" had made it "more important than at any other time" that the commission coordinate all economic problems.

U.N. Atomic Unit Drops Veto Issue

Lake Success, N.Y., July 23 (AP)—United Nations atomic delegates shelved the vital issue of the veto indefinitely today after the United States and Russia reaffirmed their sharply opposed positions.

Frederick H. Osborn, United States deputy, told the working committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission that this country stands firmly behind the principle of no veto on atomic punishments and "will not be a party to any change."

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, declared Russia still is behind the veto in the Security Council; that any attempts to change the present setup were "doomed to failure."

Other Results Of Session

Other results of the session, one of the most important for the working committee in months, were:

1. Russia lost a stubborn battle to put the commission on record for an international convention banning the atomic bomb immediately. The majority agreed without a vote that it was more important to work on a convention setting up controls than to give priority on one convention banning the bomb.

2. The commission completed discussion of twelve Soviet proposals, without any major gain for Russia. Gromyko thus failed in his effort to substitute the Russian plan for the American control plan favored by the commission majority.

Gromyko's Stand

On the veto, Gromyko said the delegates had agreed there would be no veto on the day-to-day activities of a proposed international control organization.

Then he said the unanimity principle in the Security Council, by which any of the five great powers can kill an important matter by a negative vote, must not be altered.

One feature of the Soviet plan calls for setting up the control agency to operate within the framework of the Security Council, where the veto could apply on important and final decisions. The United States contends the veto must not apply on any atomic questions.

Osborn in a short statement said this country held fast to the principle voiced by Bernard M. Baruch on June 14, 1946, and later indorsed by ten members of the twelve-nation committee, that there shall not be any legal right by veto or otherwise whereby a willful violator of an atomic treaty shall be protected from the consequences of such violations.

Veto Debate Set Aside

The majority, without a record vote, then approved Osborn's suggestion that the veto debate be set aside pending more detailed study. There was no hint today when the subject would come up again.

The commission must make a second report to the Security Council before the United Nations Assembly meets September 16. It will deal with functions of an international control agency and limitations of its powers.

Russia has attempted unsuccessfully, by the twelve proposals, to overturn the United States plan for atomic control embodied in the commission's first report and write in the Russian plan.

U.S Plan Set Forth

The United States plan called for one single convention setting up an atomic development authority with complete powers over atomic matters everywhere and providing for disposal of existing atomic bombs when adequate safeguards are assured.

The Russians want three conventions. One would ban the bomb now; the second would specify controls to be exercised by an international control organ, and the third would lay down atomic quotas for each nation signing the pact.

RUSSIA TURNS DOWN U.S. BID ON JAP PACT

Moscow Calls For Four-Power Talks, Assails Unilateral Step

London, July 23 (AP)—Russia tonight rejected the American invitation to an eleven-nation preliminary conference on peace for Japan, proposing instead the speedy convocation of a four-power Foreign Ministers' Council to take up the task.

Replying to a United States invitation of July 11 to meet with ten other powers in Washington on August 19, the Soviet Government declared in a statement broadcast by the Moscow radio that the United States had taken "unilateral action" in proposing the conference without previous four-power consultation.

Says Russia Cannot Agree

The broadcast added:

"The Soviet Government cannot agree that the question of the calling of a conference for preparation of a peace treaty with Japan be decided by the Government of the United States in a unilateral manner, without preliminary consultation with the Governments of the Soviet Union, China and Great Britain."

The statement continued, "The Council of Foreign Ministers, formed on the initiative of the United States of America, was created precisely for preliminary work on the preparation of peace treaties and cannot, therefore, be ignored."

"As to the date for the convocation of the Council of Foreign Ministers to consider the question of a peace treaty with Japan, the Soviet Government suggests that the Soviet, Chinese and British Ambassadors in Washington, together with a representative of the United States, decide the earliest moment acceptable to all the interested governments, bearing in mind the desire to speed up the convocation of the Council," the statement concluded.

Interests Recognized

Moscow said the Moscow agreement of 1945 recognized that the four powers had "particular interests" regarding the post-war situation of Japan.

The United States proposal for an eleven-nation conference of Britain, the U.S.S.R., China, France, the Netherlands, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, the Republic of the Philippines and the United States, all members of the Far Eastern Commission, was interpreted at the time as having been designed to discard the Foreign Ministers' Council in making the peace for Japan. Long delays have been encountered in the Council in writing the peace for Europe.

Avoids Unanimous Vote

At the Moscow meeting of Britain, the United States and the U.S.S.R. in December, 1945, it was agreed, with the later concurrence of China, that the Far Eastern Commission could "take action by less than unanimous vote" provided the majority included Russia, the United States, Britain and China.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said Britain was "not surprised" at the Soviet rejection of the invitation. He noted that Moscow previously had indicated a desire to write the Japanese peace in the same manner as the peace for Germany, Austria, and the European satellites—by big power consultation before a general peace conference.

Britain and Australia already have expressed approval of an early start on a peace treaty by the eleven nations which fought Japan, but they have asked that the meeting be held later than Aug. 19 because of a scheduled conference of British Empire countries in Australia Aug. 26. The Empire conference has been called to discuss views on the treaty. Washington has replied that the Aug. 19 date was only a tentative suggestion.

The complete text of the Soviet reply, as broadcast by the Moscow radio:

"On July 11 of this year the American Ambassador, General Bedell Smith, told Viacheslav M. Molotov, the U. S. S. R. Minister of Foreign Affairs, that the government of the United States proposed to call on Aug. 19 of this year a conference for the preparation of a peace treaty with Japan, comprising the representatives of eleven powers, members of the Far Eastern Commission.

"At the same time the United States government unilaterally began negotiations on this question with the governments of the remaining powers who are represented in the Far Eastern Commission.

"Thus the government of the United States began arrangements for the conference for the preparation of the peace treaty with Japan, having taken a unilateral decision without consulting the governments of the Soviet Union, China and Great Britain.

"Incidentally, it is also common knowledge that the four powers, the U. S. A., the Soviet Union, China and Great Britain, secured the victory over the aggressor, Japan, with their armed forces and that even during the war against Japan they reached certain agreements among themselves, both concerning the question of the waging of the war and the questions of post-war peaceful regularization.

"Suffice it to call to mind such documents as the Cairo declaration, the decision of the Yalta conference and the Postdam declaration.

"Further, after the conclusion of the war against Japan the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union, as well as China, which also agreed, established at the December conference in Moscow in 1945 that these four countries would participate in the Allied Council for Japan and that the Far Eastern Commission in Washington should take decisions with the obligatory agreement of representatives of the four above-mentioned powers, by which act the particular interests of these states in question regarding the post-war situation in Japan was recognized.

"In view of these circumstances, the Soviet government cannot agree that the question of the calling of a conference for the preparation of a peace treaty with Japan be decided by the government of the United States in a unilateral manner, without preliminary consultation with the governments of the Soviet Union, China and Great Britain, especially since the Council of Foreign Ministers formed on the initiative of the United States of America, was created precisely for the preliminary work on the preparation of peace treaties and cannot, therefore, be ignored in the preparation of a peace treaty with Japan.

"In accordance with the opinions expressed, the Soviet government considers it necessary that the question of the calling of a conference for the preparation of a peace treaty with Japan be examined preliminarily by the Council of Foreign Ministers, comprising the representatives of the above four powers.

"As to the date for the convocation of the Council of Foreign Ministers to consider the question of a peace treaty with Japan, the Soviet government suggests that the Soviet, Chinese and British Ambassadors in Washington, together with a representative of the United States, decide the earliest moment acceptable to all the interested governments, bearing in mind the desire to speed up the convocation of the Council."

Russians Reject U.S. Bid To Plan Jap Treaty

London, July 23 (AP)—Russia rejected a United States invitation to join in preparing a Japanese peace treaty and charged that America had acted in a "unilateral manner" in proposing a preliminary conference for August 19 in Washington, the Moscow radio said tonight.

The broadcast Soviet reply to the Washington invitation declared that Russia "cannot agree" to the proposed August 19 meeting of the eleven nations which fought Japan.

The Soviet note delivered to Washington yesterday declared that the Council of Foreign Ministers—representing the United States, Russia, Britain and China—should be intrusted with preliminary work in drafting a Japanese treaty in accordanee with war-time agreements among the powers.

Indonesians Retreat, Fire Four Towns

Batavia, Java, July 23 (AP)—Four Java towns were in flames today as Indonesian troops retreating on two fronts from which their capital is threatened, adopted scorched-earth tactics before a determined Dutch Army drive, an Indonesian communiqué announced.

Salatiga, important town south of Semarang and astride the highway to the Indonesian capital, Jogjakarta, was burning, the communiqué said. Armor-supported Dutch infantry had seized Salatiga and driven beyond it on the route to Jogjakarta.

The Republicans also put the torch to Lawang, 12 miles north of Malang, objective of another Dutch drive in east-central Java.

In the west, Soemedang and Tjitjalengka, both 20 miles east of Bandoeng, also were fired, the communiqué added. It said both towns were leveled.

Nearing Cheribon

Another Indonesian bulletin said a Dutch column of 50 armored vehicles, including tanks, was less than 20 miles from the important north-coast port of Cheribon. This is the column that has advanced more than 55 miles northeast from Bandoeng since Monday.

In the Batavia area, the Indonesians said, a Dutch motorized column sliced southwest for 30 miles, capturing a number of places.

The Indonesians reported strafing attacks by Dutch planes in central and western Java.

Also In Sumatra

At the same time, official Dutch dispatches from Sumatra said irregular Indonesian soldiers of "the People's Army" on the big neighboring island were also applying the scorched-earth tactics.

These dispatches said the irregulars burned more than 100 homes before evacuating the town of Arnhemia, a few miles south of Dutch-held Medan. Arnhemia is now in Dutch hands, the dispatches said.

An Indonesian communiqué acknowledged that Dutch troops in East-Central Java were only 12 miles from the key Indonesian stronghold of Malang, and were driving southward to a town only 7 miles from Malang.

Capital Threatened

Other Dutch units threatened the Republican capital of Jogjakarta with a two-pronged drive. One Dutch column driving south from Semarang on the north-central coast took Salatiga, key town on a highway winding 46 mountainous miles to Jogjakarta.

Just ahead of the Dutch drive on Malang, the broadcast Indonesian bulletin said, republican forces successfully scorched the earth. Fighting was under way in the area of Lawang, twelve miles north of Malang, the communiqué added.

On Sumatra, the Dutch dispatches said, damage of at least $200,000 was caused when the Indonesians poured gasoline on Arnhemia's homes and fired them.

The town's police instructor barricaded himself and his men in the police barracks and fought off the irregulars, who sought to burn the barracks building, the dispatches added.

Planes Bomb Jogjakarta

Advices from Jogjakarta said the Indonesians had imposed a nightly curfew there as officials took an increasingly grave view of the military situation. The city remained calm, however, despite a bombing attack by Dutch planes at noon, the dispatch said.

A dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Harris Jackson in Jojakarta quoted a republican communiqué as saying that meanwhile an Indonesian counterdrive was nearing the outskirts of Dutch-held Semarang, 27 miles north of Salatiga and the base for the Dutch jumpoff toward Jogjakarta.

Indonesian forces have been reported attempting to infiltrate Semarang, an important Dutch military base on the north coast of central Java.

A Dutch army communiqué indicated that motorized columns and armor-protected troops were pushing deep into both Java and Sumatra on at least ten fronts against sporadic resistance.

Almost Pinched Off

On the extreme eastern front in Java, Dutch forces appeared to have about 10 miles to go to pinch off a 2,400-square-mile segment of the island. These troops were striking southward from the broad beachhead across the northeast coastal road in the Probolinggo sector and westward from the east coast city of Banjoewangi.

Antara said the Dutch objective in this sector was to overrun the Bondowoso area, the richest grain and sugar section in eastern Java.

Prior to the Indonesian communiqué, a high republican military source reported that Dutch troops had made a new landing on the south coast near Loemadjang and expressed fear they soon would take Malang, some 50 miles to the west, center of East Java's rich sugar land.

One Juncture Already

The Dutch communiqué indicated that Marines landed on the north and east coasts of East Java had already sealed off a part of East Java by joining at Djember.

DUTCH CAPTURE JAVA PORT CITY WITHOUT A FIGHT

Troops Push Halfway Across Island to Take Cheribon Without Resistance.

DEFENDERS BURN TOWNS

Fleeing Indonesians Begin Systematic Application of Scorched Earth Policy.

BATAVIA, Java, (Thursday) July 24.—(AP) Dutch troops driving in from three sides have captured the important north Java coast port of Cheribon, semi-official dispatches from the Cheribon area said today.

The reports said Dutch forces moved into the city, 130 miles east of Batavia, yesterday afternoon. Cheribon's Indonesian defenders offered no resistance and bridges in the area were captured intact, the dispatches added.

Pushed Halfway Across Java

The port city was captured by troops who pushed halfway across Java from Bandoeng. It is in the heart of the rich northwest Java rice growing area.

The mountain resort of Linggadjati, just outside Cheribon, was the scene of the conference where the Dutch and the Indonesians reached a political agreement which failed to work in practice and touched off current hostilities.

The capture of Cheribon occurred as Indonesian Republicans began a systematic application of a scorched earth policy.

Four republican towns were put to the torch by the Republicans, an Indonesian communique announced. Salatiga, important objective south of Semarang, was burning when Dutch forces, driving from Semarang toward Jogkakarta, entered the town. Salatiga lies 46 miles by road across mountainous terrain from Jogjakarta.

Sumatra Set Afire

The retreating Republicans also put the torch to Lawang, 12 miles north of Malang, in East Central Java, toward which other Dutch forces were advancing, and, to Soemedang and Tjitjalengka, 20 miles east of Bandoeng, in western Java.

In Sumatra, to which the fighting had spread, an official Dutch dispatch said irregular Indonesian soldiers belonging to the so-called people's army had burned more than 100 homes before evacuating Arnhemia, a few miles south of Medan. Damage from the fires in Sumatra was estimated by the Dutch as high as $200,000.

The Dutch discounted the effectiveness of the Indonesian scorched earth tactics, however the Netherlands army said this policy "manifested itself chiefly in robbing the more well-to-do inhabitants, especially the Chinese, and burning their properties."

In East Java, Dutch troops striking south from the Probolinggo beachhead and west from the eastern port of Banjoewangi threatened to slice the republic in two by cutting off 2,400 square miles of the island from contact with Republican centers to the west.

A Dutch army communique from Sumatra said a Dutch column had moved more than 70 miles to the west of Palembang, in the southeastern part of the island. In addition, the communique said Dutch troops had successfully occupied the entire plain around the coastal city of Padang.

Dutch Step Up Air Offensive

The Dutch air offensive was stepped up today. Jogjakarta's airport was bombed at noon again. A nightly curfew was imposed in the Republican capital, where high officials took an increasingly grave, though still confident view of the military situation.

These officials took the view that Dutch gains at first were to be expected in what they called a "colonial war." The Dutch insisted that their military operations constitute only "police action" of a "very limited nature."

An Indonesian bulletin announced the Dutch drive on Cheribon, reporting that a column of 50 armored vehicles, including tanks, was approaching the north coast port after driving 55 miles northeast from Bandoeng since Monday.

The Indonesian army reported 15 attacks yesterday on Cheribon by rocket-firing Dutch planes. The Indonesians said they shot down two of the planes.

The only news favorable to the republican forces listed in their communiqué was that they were attacking behind the Dutch at Semarang, north central Java port, and had "succeeded in nearing the outskirts of the town." Semarang is the key Dutch military base in central Java for their drive southward across the island to Jogjakarta, republican capital.

A new Dutch amphibious landing, on the south Java coast at Loemadjang, on the route to Malang, was reported by a high republican military source to have taken place yesterday. However, this landing was not immediately confirmed by either republican or Dutch communiqués.

Britain 'Determined' To End Indonesian War

LONDON, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said today that Britain was "determined" to bring the earliest possible end to the fighting in Indonesia, but declined to recommend action through the United Nations at present.

Bevin told the House of Commons he could not now give an opinion on "whether the Security Council of the United Nations is the best and most appropriate means" of achieving an end to the fighting because several previous complaints had "dragged on" inconclusively through vetoes and other "disappointing" difficulties.

But, he added, he was "keeping in close touch with events" and was working on "other methods" which might be more appropriate if they proved practicable. He did not say what these methods were.

No Point To Seeing Sjahrir

Bevin spoke in answer to questions after diplomatic quarters had reported United Nations intervention was likely to be requested by India or Australia. It was officially announced that India already has asked the British Government to do its best to get the Dutch and Indonesians to resume negotiations. A similar communication was reported sent to the United States.

Britain last Saturday offered her "good offices" to the Dutch Government for mediation of the dispute. This offer was not accepted by the Dutch for the present.

Bevin said he saw no point to seeing Sutan Sjahrir, former Indonesian Prime Minster, who is on a trip abroad to enlist foreign support for the Indonesian Republic, because Sjahrir no longer is an official.

Sjahrir, who arrived in Rangoon, Burma, en route to India, said he planned to go to England "only if time permits."

Dispatches from the Hague said scattered one-hour sitdown strikes occurred in the Netherlands today as a protest against military action in Java and Sumatra. The strikes were limited to a dry-dock company, a bread factory, some road builders and about 500 building trades workers in Amsterdam and near-by localities. The Communist party had asked the workers to strike.

Russ-British Trade Dispute

London, July 23 (AP)—A British Government source said today that British-Russian trade talks in Moscow have "taken a turn for the worse and a breakdown now is rather likely."

The informant said that an unexpected disagreement had arisen over the price of wheat which Russia planned to trade for British machinery.

Negotiations began some weeks ago and early last week were authoritatively reported to be near a successful conclusion. Government quarters here had no explanation of the sudden new bargaining difficulties.

Based On Code Cable

The latest report was said to be based on a code cable received last night from J. Harold Wilson, chief British negotiator in Moscow.

It led to some unofficial speculation that Wilson might be "playing poker" with the Russians—reporting near failure of the conference in the hope of being able to wring some last-minute price concessions from the Soviet negotiators.

Government sources, however, expressed serious concern. One informant close to the British Cabinet emphasized that the projected pact was of prime importance for Britain both economically and politically.

Counted On Russian Wheat

Economically, he said, the British had counted heavily on Russian wheat to help end bread rationing here.

Politically, the informant said, the Government viewed the agreement as important on the grounds that it would help force a tie with Russia "when her links with the West are breaking."

SECRET U. S. TALKS DENIED BY BEVIN

London, July 23 (A. P.).—Foreign Secretary Bevin told a questioner in Parliament today that Great Britain was holding no behind-the-scenes talks with the United States on the Marshall plan. He said economic reconstruction talks in Paris were making "good progress."

Bevin urged early ratification of peace treaties with Italy, Finland, Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary. The major Powers already have agreed on the accords and the United States has ratified them. Bevin said Italy apparently was holding back in the belief that the Soviet Union might not ratify the Italian treaty.

Another questioner asked whether ratification of the Bulgarian and Romanian treaties would be delayed until those countries "show some intention" of honoring civil liberties clauses. Bevin replied:

"I think that would be a mistake. The best thing to do is to get the treaties ratified, then get the countries admitted to the United Nations and get the human clauses into operation and the whole thing could be discussed in public assembly."

Peace Sought by Britain.

London, July 23 (A. P.).—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said today that Britain was determined to seek an end to warfare in Indonesia "at the earliest possible moment" and was working on several possible solutions which he did not disclose. Speaking to the House of Commons, Bevin said that he could not at present give an opinion on "whether the Security Council of the United Nations is the best and most appropriate means of achieving this object."

Well-informed diplomatic informants said earlier that either India or Australia might ask the United Nations to intervene.

1,297,300 British Under Arms

London, July 23 (AP)—Britain's military forces contained 1,297,300 men and women as of June 30, the Secretary of State for War, F. J. Bellenger, told the House of Commons today.

British Flyers Due Here

Binbrook, England, July 23 (AP)—Sixteen Lincoln bombers of the Royal Air Forces crack No. 617 squadron took off today for a goodwill tour of the United States. The planes were due to stop at Gander, Newfoundland, en route.

FRENCH OFFER HOSPITALITY

Will Not Compel Returned Jews to Leave, Minister Says

PARIS, July 23 (AP)—A Government spokesman said today that France would "take humane solutions" in dealing with the 4,500 Jewish refugees expected to be returned to a French Mediterranean port tomorrow or Friday. François Mitterand, Minister of Veterans' Affairs, said that "France will guarantee their feeding and, if they wish it, hospitality."

A spokesman for the British Embassy said that "we are bringing the refugees back to France and leaving them to the French Government." M. Mitterand said France had no direct responsibility for the Jews' sailing to Palestine "because for the most part the immigrants came from different occupation zones in Germany and had passports, apparently regular ones, indicating that Colombia was their final destination."

A Colombian Embassy spokesman denied that Colombian consulates in France had given visas to those aboard the Exodus.

The Jewish Agency for Palestine said the refugees were mostly from displaced persons' camps in the British and American zones of Germany. He added that the French Government had agreed that it would not send any ships bearing Jewish passengers to Palestine but the captain of the Exodus had sailed before Government officials went aboard for a final check of passports.

After Alfred Duff Cooper, the British Ambassador, had met French Government heads this afternoon, an Embassy spokesman said the refugees were "illegal Jewish" immigrants who tried to enter Palestine "in an illegal manner, so they were being brought back to their last port of debarkation."

Marshall Seeks Trizonal Talks

Paris, July 23 (AP)—The French Government studied closely tonight a call by Gen. George C. Marshall, United States Secretary of State, for a three-power conference of the United States, Great Britain and France to determine the future industrial level in western Germany.

French officials said Marshall had addressed such a proposal to Georges Bidault, Foreign Minister, through the French Embassy at Washington, but declined to speculate on what France would reply.

Official sources said Marshall offered to suspend any American or British-American decision concerning the level of industry in Germany and the control of the highly industrial Ruhr basin until France had a chance to state her case.

The French are concerned over what they view as a revival of German heavy industry and the war potential.

FRANCE, ARGENTINA SIGN FOOD CREDIT AGREEMENT

PARIS, July 23. — (AP) In the presence of Senora Eva Duarte Peron, France and Argentina signed tonight a new commercial treaty by which France will receive 600,000,000 pesos ($148,200,000) in credits for essential food purchases from the South American country.

Signing of the agreement followed a dinner at the foreign ministry in honor of Senora Peron, wife of President Juan D. Peron, of Argentine, who is visiting France during her current European tour.

Under the accord, to remain in effect five years, both nations agreed to grant greater freedom in private commercial operations on a reciprocal basis, French sources said.

Women Defer Action On Trade Union Plan

Paris, July 23 (AP)—The International Federation of Business and Professional Women deferred action today on a motion calling for the creation of a trade union inside the federation.

In a presidential report to the federation, which is holding its first postwar congress, Dr. Lena M. Phillips, of New York, stressed the need for the equality of women with men, including equal pay for equal work.

Dr. Phillips said membership of the federation was about 300,000.

French Cabinet Confers.

Paris, July 23 (A. P.).—Francois Mitterand, French Minister for Veterans and War Victims, said today that France would not "close her doors" to the 4,500 Jewish immigrants intercepted by the British off Palestine last week, now reported to be bound for a French port. He added, however, that France had to respect international agreements and Anglo-French agreements. France, he pointed out, has promised not to help clandestine immigration to Palestine.

Meanwhile, the government has not announced a decision with regard to the refugees, who had sailed from Palestine from Sete, in southern France, aboard the former Chesapeake Bay steamship President Warfield. The French said that all passengers had Colombian visas at the time.

As the Cabinet met on the problem with British Ambassador Alfred Duff-Cooper, Mitterand said that France would make a "human solution."

"The Jews will do whatever they want," the Minister said. "We will give them food, and, if they wish it, France will offer them her hospitality."

In Vulpera, Switzerland, Dr. Nahum Goldman, member of the Jewish agency, said that he could not believe that the French Government would agree to the forcible return of the immigrants to France. The New Yorker, who is vacationing in Switzerland, said that he would go to Paris tonight to intercede for the immigrants.

The immigrants, traveling on British troopships, were expected to arrive in southern France on Thursday or Friday.

Japs Fighting, Foes Allege

The Hague, the Netherlands, July 23 (AP)—The Dutch and the Indonesians charged one another today with using Japanese in the conflict in Indonesia.

A Dutch military spokesman said the Dutch were bombing republican-held airfields because the Indonesians had at their disposal fairly large numbers of Japanese flying instructors, a good many Japanese fighter planes and Japanese-trained Indonesian pilots. He said the Dutch objectives were all military ones.

A Batavia dispatch said the Indonesian news agency Antara had reported that Japanese were being used by the Dutch in western Java and that two of three crewmen who bailed out of a burning Dutch plane over Palembang, in Sumatra, were Japanese. The Dutch in Batavia dismissed this charge as "nonsense," saying the Indonesians probably mistook native troops from the island of Amboina for Japanese.

Fleeing 'Quislings' Reach Spain

OSLO, Norway, July 23 (AP)—The Foreign Office said today that eight "quislings" fleeing Norwegian justice had landed at Vigo, Spain, after three weeks aboard the sixty-foot yacht Solrbis. The Chargé d'Affaires in Madrid has been ordered to act, probably to demand that the men be handed over to Norway. The yacht sailed from Bergen with four escaped collaborators and four others who were awaiting sentences.

Dutch Unions Aid Indonesia.

Amsterdam, July 23 (A. P.).—Dock workers' and seamen's unions here, Communist affiliated, ordered a boycott of ships bound for Indonesia with goods that might "further, directly or indirectly, the military forces." The unions also urged the World Federation of Trade Unions to act to make the boycott worldwide.

BERLIN BLAST IS FATAL TO 8

Explosion In Police Station Injures 9; Sabotage Hinted

Berlin, July 23 (AP)—A mysterious explosion wrecked a large part of German police headquarters in the Russian sector of Berlin today, killing eight persons and injuring nine, and raising the possibility that a sabotage ring was in operation.

The American-licensed newspaper Der Abend said a suitcase found in the ruins "leads to the conclusion that a bomb was smuggled into the building" and declared the blast "presumably was the act of saboteurs."

But the Berlin radio, controlled by the Soviet Military Administration, said tonight the police had uncovered "no suspicion of sabotage" and that the blast was "beyond doubt an accident."

The explosion occurred in a wing of the building that houses a special police squad charged with the demolition of abandoned munitions and dangerously weakened structures, so there was the possibility that the blast was caused by the accidental detonation of explosives.

A British statement said investigation so far had established that the explosion occurred shortly after Walter Budde, head of the Berlin police bomb disposal section, and three civilian workers had taken two large boxes into the building.

Guards were told the boxes contained teller mines which were to be destroyed.

Russians Won't Comment

Budde was killed when one wing of the five-story building facing a courtyard was demolished.

Russian authorities would not comment, and police said they were still investigating.

The dead included four German policeman and four workmen. Together with the nine injured this was the highest toll taken in a series of three explosions in the Russian sector of Berlin in little over a year.

Last September an explosion in the central German administration building for the Soviet zone in Berlin killed an interpreter. A year ago last March a similar blast damaged police headquarters in Alexanderplatz in the Soviet sector and caused two deaths.

Unconfirmed reports at the time said the administration building blast was from a bomb lowered into the building. Police said that the Alexanderplatz blast was caused by accidental discharge of old munitions in the courtyard. Soviet authorities have been silent on the possibility these explosions were part of an organized campaign against their occupation.

Some months ago a series of explosions was directed at de-Nazification courts in the American zone. A gang led by a former SS man was apprehended and convicted by a military court on charges of carrying out the attacks.

8 Killed, 9 Hurt In Berlin Police Station Blast

Berlin, July 23 (AP)—An explosion rocked German police headquarters in the Russian zone of Berlin today, killing eight Germans and injuring nine.

The American-licensed newspaper, Der Abend, reported it "presumably was an act of sabotage" and that a suitcase found in the ruins "leads to the conclusion that a bomb was smugled into the building."

Soviet officials maintained silence.

It was the third such explosion in administrative buildings in the Soviet section.

In Critical Condition

Four policemen and four German workmen were killed. At least two of the injured were reported in critical conditions.

The reason for the explosion was obscure. The blast occurred in a wing of the building used by a police squad charged with destroying abandoned munitions and bombed buildings deemed dangerous to traffic. For this reason, one police theory was that old munitions might have been touched off accidentally.

A year ago last March a similar explosion damaged German police headquarters extensively in Alexanderplatz in the Russian section of Berlin. Two persons were killed.

Munitions Blamed Then

Police at the time placed the blame on old munitions gathered in the courtyard.

An explosion in the German central administration building in Berlin for the Soviet zone occurred last September. An interpreter was killed.

The series of explosions in Berlin were similar to those of last winter in the American occupation zone, in which de-Nazification courts were the targets. Subsequently, a gang led by a former SS operative was caught and convicted by a military court of the bombings.

Supersonic Bomb Hits Reich Target

Farge, Germany, July 23 (AP)—An American Superfortress flying so high it was out of sight scored a hit on a U-boat pen today with a British bomb that traveled at supersonic speed—too fast to be seen or heard.

This target practice was part of the newly inaugurated British-American project to test the penetration qualities of the latest type armor-piercing bombs upon the pen's concrete roof, which is from 12 to 24 feet thick.

Spectators at the official observation post in a field a few hundred yards north of the pen had an eerie experience—mostly because of what could not be seen.

Radio Signals Only

Only radio signals from the high flying aircraft to a communications truck at the observation post told the British and American observers on the ground what was going on overhead.

"He's coming in for a run," said the British signal officer.

All eyes turned skyward, but nothing could be seen except a few scattered clouds. Occasionally the faraway hum of aircraft engines could be heard.

"The bomb's away," the signal officer said. All eyes scanned the heavens more intently than ever. They still saw nothing but fleecy clouds against the blue.

Then, suddenly, a billow of dust and cement particles flew up from the roof of the pen simultaneously with an earsplitting report. The unseen bomb had struck.

Carried No Explosive

Officers said the missile carried no explosive and that the sharp report was caused less by the impact of steel against concrete than by the supersonic waves engendered by the bomb's speed.

While the phantom-like airplane headed back to its base at Giebelstadt, the observers scrambled atop the pen—1,400 feet long, 300 feet wide and 75 high—to examine the bomb's performance.

Those results are being kept secret by the Air Force officials. They declined to divulge how high the airplane was flying, what weight or type bomb was used, or how deep it penetrated into the concrete.

The bombing presently is being done by three Superfortresses which came from Smoky Hill Airbase, near Salina, Kan.

DURANT'S SENTENCE CUT

Reduced From 15 to 14 Years Upon Review in Frankfort

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, July 23 (AP)—The fifteen-year jail sentence imposed on Col. Jack W. Durant of Chicago for his part in the $1,500,000 Kronberg Cas' e jewel theft was reduced today to fourteen years.

Brig. Gen. Robinson E. Duff, Frankfort military commander, ordered the reduction after reviewing the court-martial. He disapproved the finding of guilty on one charge accusing Colonel Durant of signing another officer's name without authority.

Colonel Durant's Wac bride, Capt. Kathleen B. Nash Durant, also was convicted in the case.

29,000 IN U.S. FAMILIES REPORTED IN GERMANY

FRANKFURT—(AP) The population of American wives and children in occupied Germany and Austria has reached its peak at about 29,000, United States Army Hearquarters announced today. For the next several months new arrivals should almost exactly offset those returning to the United States.

This was reassuring to Germans, who have watched the number of American dependents grow, forcing the requisition of many German homes.

There are 16,610 families of American soldiers and civilians here now, including 11,682 children under 18 years of age—909 of them under six months old.

Frankfurt has the largest American population with 2,292. There are 2,011 in Berlin, 1,844 in Munich, 1,663 in Wiesbaden, 1,291 in Vienna, 1,199 in Heidelberg, and 1,193 in Nuernberg.

Austria To Aid Refugees

Vienna, July 23 (AP)—The Austrian Government has assured the United States it will make more living space available for refugees making their way into the country from neighboring Balkan states, an American Army headquarters spokesman said today.

Hungary Gets New Vote Law Favoring Reds

Parliament Passes Measure With Only Few Dissents; Election Aug. 31 Likely

BUDAPEST, July 23 (AP).—The Hungarian Parliament passed a new election law today, with only eleven independents and possibly half the number of Right-Wing members of the Small Holders party opposing the measure. A standing vote was taken.

Although there has been no official announcement of the date of the election, it was understood that Parliament would be dissolved Friday and the elections held Aug. 31.

The law, drafted by Interior Minister Laszlo Rajak, a leading Communist, and Justice Minister Istvan Ries, a Left-Wing Social Democrat, was passed without changes.

A Hungarian legal expert, explaining the law recently to American correspondents, said it would "assure the victory of the Communist-dominated coalition government" in the elections. The coalition includes the now thoroughly weakened Small Holders party, which won a Parliamentary majority in the last free elections.

The law makes no provision for determining whether a person votes only once. It provides no penalty for voting more than once.

The law disfranchises members of former Fascist organizations who have returned "from the West" since Oct. 31, 1945. The legal expert said this category could disqualify as many as 40,000 persons who oppose Communism.

Parties other than those in the present coalition which wish to participate in the elections must present petitions signed by 5,000 "qualified" voters in each district of Hungary, a procedure which could entail rounding up 50,000 signatures. In addition, the party must be approved by the national election committee, whose members are representatives of the coalition and of the Communist-dominated trade union council. The present coalition is made up of the Communist, Social Democrat, Small Holders and Peasant parties.

GUERRILLAS RAID 3 GREEK VILLAGES

23 Civilians Reported Slain In One Of Attacks

Athens, July 23 (AP)—The Ministry of Public Order announced tonight that a "Communist band" descended from 6,000-foot Mount Vermion Tuesday night and killed 23 civilians in an attack on the village of Anatolikon in north central Greece.

Anatolikon is in the Ptolemais region, about 30 miles south of the Yugoslav border and 19 miles northwest of the town of Kozane.

The attack lasted several hours. Sixteen villagers were wounded and 40 houses in the settlement of 1,200 persons were set afire before gendarmerie units drove off the guerrilla force of 300 men. The dead included sixteen women and children.

Two Other Villages Raided

An earlier ministry announcement told of two other guerrilla attacks on Greek villages along the Bulgarian and Yugoslav borders.

The announcement said the village of Vrontou, 7 miles south of the Bulgarian frontier and 70 miles northeast of Salonika, was raided by a band of 500 that included women. A number of houses, the school, church and village hall were burned. An unofficial report said 30 of the guerrilla band were killed.

Violence Still Boils On Crete

There were no details concerning the attack on Orma, the second village, 6 miles from the Yugoslav border and 55 miles northwest of Salonika.

Violence continued to boil on the islands of Crete. Press reports said nineteen houses were set afire in three villages southeast of Heracleon in reprisal against Leftists.

Two ambushes of guerrilla bands on the slopes of Mount Olympus resulted in 51 guerrillas killed and 50 captured, press reports said.

bania.

The investigators originally had been scheduled to leave yesterday. Meanwhile, Athens newspapers published unconfirmed reports that a majority of the subcommission was "convinced" that the guerrillas had struck from Albania.

The Greek 8th Division in Epirus said that it had inflicted 528 casualties on irregulars within four days, exclusive of losses from Greek Air Force planes.

An estimated force of 800 to 1,000 rebels were being shelled in the forest ereas west of Ioannina.

The Government said 26 guerrillas were killed and 20 captured on Mount Olympus and that 25 were killed and 30 captured at Aghai. The rebels seized seven military tracks carrying wheat near Lamia.

The Ministry of Public Orders said guerrillas had attacked near the Bulgarian and Yugoslavia borders.

A band of 500, including women, was said to have struck at Vrontou, seven miles south of Bulgaria, and burned 70 houses, the school, church and city hall. The Ministry said 30 attackers were killed.

The Ministry said another band of 200 attacked Orma, six miles from Yugoslavia and 60 miles northwest of Salonika. No details were given.

The commission decided last week to go to Ioannina to investigate the situation after the Greek Government had asserted that a guerrilla force including elements of an "international brigade," had invaded the country from Albania.

The conservative newspaper Ethnos reported, meanwhile, that approximately 1,000 more guerrillas had filtered into Greece from Albania within the last few days and were trying to contact other irregular units in the Grammos Mountains.

U.N. Balkan Group Probing Greek Charges Of 'Invasion'

Athens, July 23 (AP)—The United Nations Balkan subcommission continued today its investigation at Ioannina, where the Greek Army claims to have routed a guerrilla force which "invaded" from Al-

UN COURIER BALKED AT ALBANIAN BORDER

ATHENS, July 23 — (AP) A courier of the United Nations subcommission investigating Balkan border disorders said tonight Albanian frontier guards had refused to accept a letter from the group requesting the Albanian government to cooperate in the investigation of Greek charges of a guerrilla "invasion" from Albania.

The messenger said the border guards turned him back at an Albanian frontier station at Kavavia, 25 miles north of Ioannina.

The sub-commission was reported yesterday to have been "convinced" that a guerrilla attack on Konitsa July 13 was launched from Albania.

Since the hearing on recent Greek guerrilla activities began, Soviet and Polish members of the sub-commission have challenged testimony by witnesses who said the irregular soldiers entered Greece from Albania and participated in attacks.

Giant Grain Harvest 'Assured,' Russ Report

Moscow, July 23 (AP)—The newspaper Izvestia said today that a tremendous grain harvest was assured on the "Gigantic" state farm in the Kuban, which covers an acreage larger than some European countries.

The article said the Gigantic, largest state farm in Russia, had reached its prewar production level despite hot winds, unseasonable frosts and a strange early-spring storm which deposited black snow and sand on a large acreage. The farm is devoted almost entirely to wheat.

[Production estimates and figures were not given.]

POLAND TO SET UP PORT FREE ZONES

Acts to Spur Foreign Trade by Dropping Customs Duties in Gdynia, Gdansk, Szczecin

GDYNIA, Poland, July 23 (AP)—To spur foreign trade, Poland plans to establish zones free from customs duties in the Baltic ports of Gdynia and Gdańsk and the former German port city of Stettin, now called Szczecin.

The Vice Minister of Navigation, Kazimierz Petrusewicz, commenting on the Government's announcement, said free zones always had been "an important factor in making the economic life of the ports brisker."

Heretofore, many foreign ships bringing cargoes into or taking shipments out of Poland have anchored far outside the breakwaters of the Baltic ports to avoid paying the port tax. At the official rate of exchange, 100 zlotys to each United States dollar, many ships have been automatically prohibited from taking full advantage of port facilities. A recently established commercial rate of 300 to 400 to the dollar has eased the situation somewhat.

M. Petrusewicz said Szczecin, which before the war was Berlin's port designated chiefly for import purposes, was now rapidly changing its structure.

"At present," he said, "it is being converted to servicing high seas fishing as well as the export of coal, the import of ore and transit traffic."

He also announced the opening of a new coal shipping port at Ustka, east of Szczecin. Another is planned at Kolobrzeg.

M. Petrusewicz reported that the Baltic ports, despite extensive war damaeg, were rapidly getting back into their pre-war stride, reconstruction having been pushed day and night since the end of hostilities.

He said that in May of this year more than 1,000,000 tons of import and export goods had passed through Gdynia and Gdansk, the latter once the Free City of Danzig. Szczecin handled 44,000 tons of goods in the few last months of 1946 that it was in operation, and in May of this year alone, 71,000 tons passed through the port.

M. Petrusewicz said he expected a great development of Szczecin, pointing out it was the port closest to the North Sea and the Atlantic Ocean. Czechoslovakia, Hungary and other landlocked central European countries are expected to use Szczecin extensively.

Total tonnage of Polish ocean-going ships amounted to 123,198 before the war and now was 148,645 tons, aided substantially by vessels received as reparations from Germany, he said. Nineteen vessels of the former German mercantile fleet were handed over to Poland by the Soviet Union out of its share of reparations.

Jews Off Before Ship Explosion

Jerusalem, July 23 (AP)—Official sources reported today that the British ship Empire Lifeguard had been sunk in Haifa harbor, presumably by saboteurs, shortly after disembarking most of the 261 legal Jewish immigrants transported to the Holy Land from detention camps on Cyprus.

A British release disclosing the sinking said:

"The Empire Lifeguard, a transport returning Jewish immigrants from Cyprus, was sunk this morning in Haifa harbor by an internal explosion after all the immigrants had disembarked.

"It is believed that a charge was placed on board while the ship was taking on the immigrants at Famagusta (a port in Cyprus).

"No casualties have been reported so far."

Caught Fire First

Advices from Haifa said that fire had broken out aboard the Empire Lifeguard shortly after she arrived in the harbor, and that the immigrants had been put ashore hurriedly.

Official sources said that 40 or 50 immigrants still were aboard the vessel when the explosion which preceded the fire occurred, but none was injured.

The ship was said to have gone down alongside the quay and to be resting half-submerged, with her keel on the bottom of the harbor.

Had Entry Certificates

The Empire Lifequard is a Liberty ship, which had been repeatedly used to deport illegal Jewish immigrants from Palestine to Cyprus. The Jews disembarked from her today were part of the regular monthly quota given entry certificates after being detained at Cyprus.

Meanwhile, a continuing wave of violence, apparently fanned by the recent deportation of 4,500 Jewish immigrants intercepted while trying to enter Palestine aboard the steamer president Warfield, resulted in serious injury to four more British soldiers in Haifa.

Mines Blow Up Trucks

Two army trucks were blown up by three mines on the citrus belt highway between Rehovoth and Rishon Lezion. A British officer and soldier were injured seriously and five others were wounded slightly, the army said. The explosions occured a few hundred yards from the place where the Palestine Railway Egypt Express was bombed in May with seven fatalities.

The incidents raised Terrorist casualties in eight days to eight killed and 62 injured.

3-By-6-Foot Hole In Hull

The Empire Lifeguard went down from a blast which ripped a hole three feet wide and six long in her hull. She was the fourth deportation ship to be sabotaged.

Authorities expressed the belief that the sinking was the work of Hagana, the illegal Jewish militia. They expressed the view that the Stern Gang and Irgun Zvai Leumi, both underground agencies, were striking on a common front with Hagana for the first time in eighteen months.

Mrs. Golda Myerson, Jewish Agency political chief, filed an official protest against the deportation with Sir Henry Gurney, chief secretary of the Palestine Government.

Radar Station Attack Fails

The underground attempted unsuccessfully to blow up a radar station—used in detecting ships approaching the Palestine coast—on Mount Carmel, south of Haifa. One attacker was wounded mortally. Jerusalem newspapers said Hagana made the attack.

Police Search All Burma For Buried Arms Caches

RANGOON, July 23 (AP).—Mine detectors were being used by Burma police in an intensive country-wide search today for arms believed buried by underground and political organizations.

Official sources said police using the detectors found one large cache of many types of automatic weapons buried on the premises of U Say, a leader of the Myochit party. The party is headed by U Saw, former Premier, who has been arrested in the investigation of the massacre of Burmese Cabinet Ministers last Saturday.

Burmese newspapers said a suspect in the killing of U Aung San and his colleagues in the Cabinet had been shot and killed while trying to escape. The report was not confirmed officially, but the press accounts said the suspect was arrested near Kaiku, ninety miles north of Rangoon, and was being brought to this city when he attempted to escape. The accounts said documents giving plans for the assassinations were found on the suspect.

Burma Killings Prisoner Slain

Rangoon, Burma, July 23 (AP)—Burmese newspapers said today that one of the suspected killers of Maj. Gen. U Aung San and six other Burmese Executive Council Ministers was shot dead while attempting to escape from custody. There was no official confirmation.

The newspaper reports said a man arrested on suspicion near Daiku, about 90 miles north of Rangoon, was found to have in his possession documents outlining the plan of assassination and listing the names of the intended victims.

The accounts said district authorities were bringing the suspect to Rangoon when he attempted to escape about 40 miles from the city.

"Sufficient Troops"

Meanwhile, Ba Tint, secretary of the Burma Defense Department, said Burma has not approached either Britain or India for troops. Commenting on a statement by British Prime Minister Attlee that troops in India could be made available should Burma find it necessary, the official said that "we have a sufficient number of Burmese troops for dealing with any situation which is likely to arise."

He added that conditions were normal except in the Yamethin district, a Communist stronghold.

Executives of the Anti-Fascist Peoples Freedom League, of which Aung San was president, were considering today whether to place their leader's embalmed body on view as a perpetual memorial.

End Zionists' Dream, Iraq Official Tells U.N.

Beirut, Lebanon, July 23 (AP)—Fadil Jamali, Foreign Minister of Iraq, asserted today that "unless the Zionists are definitely and finally told to abandon their political dream, there can be no peace in the Middle East."

Jamali spoke before a closed session of the United Nations Special Committee for Palestine.

EGYPT WANTS NEW ARMY

CAIRO, July 23—(AP) The national defense ministry proposed to the government today that a military mission of Egyptian and United States officers be established to reorganize the Egyptian army on modern lines.

China Prepares Own Plan For Wedemeyer

Nanking, July 23 (AP) — China's own economic reform plan was made ready today for Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, who stepped up his fact-finding visit by conferring with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

The economic plan, prepared by Premier Chang Chun and approved by the National Economic Council, was being translated into English for early presentation to Wedemeyer, President Truman's special envoy.

The Premier was scheduled to outline the general political situation for Wedemeyer, and Foreign Minister Wang Shih-chieh was to give an account of China's foreign relations, particularly with Russia in the past year.

Accompanied By Stuart

Wedemeyer emphasized before he went to the presidential palace that he was approaching with an open mind his task of obtaining facts on which future United States economic policy toward its wartime ally may be based.

He was accompanied by United States Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart and was closeted with the Generalissimo for 35 minutes.

Wedemeyer and Stuart were guests tonight at a dinner given by the Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek.

"Not A State Affair"

A Government spokesman described it as "not a state affair."

Director of Information Hollington Tong told his news conference that "General Wedemeyer's trip should help my Government to better understand the American view no less than to help the American Government better understand the Chinese situation."

The Chinese Government, indicating that it held great hope for United States financial and technical aid as a result of Wedemeyer's visit, assigned three additional experts to help the General in his task.

Those Named

They are Wong Wen-hou, chairman of the National Resources Commission; O. K. Yui, Finance Minister, and Chang Kia-ngau, governor of the Central Bank of China.

In the civil war, seat of China's economic troubles, the pro-Government newspaper Hsin Min Pao, of Peiping, asserted without confirmation that Russian truck drivers were helping the Communists in Jehol province.

The newspaper declared that the Chinese Government has "means of proving" that more than 100 Soviet supply trucks manned by Russian drivers were operating between Chifeng, in Central Jehol, and Yehposhow, about 85 miles to the southeast.

Caution Shown In Peiping

The report was treated with considerable caution in Peiping. If true, it would be the first reported instance of Russian activity in North China outside Manchuria. Jehol is adjacent to Manchuria.

Chinese Red Chief Linked To Jap Deal

Nanking, July 23 (AP)—The Chinese Ministry of Defense charged today in a release to the military news service that Communist Chieftain Mao Tze-tung negotiated a secret agreement with the Japanese during the war.

Mao was accused of meeting Lieut. Gen. Yasuji Okamura, former Japanese commander in China, August 17, 1943, in Shansi province and making an agreement that the Communist 8th Route Army would co-operate with the Japanese by furnishing intelligence of Chinese Nationalist forces in return for the gift of ten small arsenals.

Photographed Together

The release said that the text of the agreement and a photograph of the two together were in the hands of the Defense Ministry.

The report is contrary to the commonly accepted view that the Communists fought the Japanese throughout the war.

Since the Japanese surrender, Okamura has remained in Nanking as the chief liaison officer for the repatriation of Japanese and for the control of Japanese nationals in China.

Efforts to confirm the report of his agreement with Mao by independent sources have been balked by Chinese officials.

COTTON MEN IN TOKYO

U. S. Mission to Consult With SCAP on Supplying Staple

TOKYO, July 23 (AP)—Gustave I. Tolson, president of the New York Cotton Exchange, and seven other members of a mission have arrived here for consultations with Supreme Allied Headquarters (SCAP) on supplying raw cotton to Japan.

The mission plans to remain here until about mid-August.

Other members are: Paul Cleveland, special assistant to the Chief of Civil Affairs, War Department; Paul J. Fichter, Anderson-Clayton Company; Harris L. Kempner, American Cotton Shippers Association; Read Dunn, director of the foreign trade division of the National Cotton Council; G. G. Evans, Chief of the Fibers Section, State Department; E. D. White, special assistant Secretary of Agriculture, and Julius Schnitzer, Chief of the Hides and Textiles Division, Commerce Department.

August Maffy, vice president of the Export-Import Bank, is expected to join the group later.

Bomb Study in Japan Urged

Atomic Board To Be Asked to Set Up Research Unit There

TOKYO, July 23 (AP).—The United States Atomic Energy Commission will be asked to establish a permanent medical research unit in Japan for the study of atom-bomb effects on the people of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Dr. Herman E. Pearse said today.

Completing a six-week investigation for the National Research Council's committee on atomic-bomb casualties, the professor of surgery at Rochester University told reporters: "The situation in Japan is unique in medical history in that it is the only place where we can study the long-range effects of the atomic bomb on human beings. Certainly, such studies are necessary in connection with the future development of atomic energy."

Tokyo Gang Is Dissolved At Ceremony

Tokyo, July 23 (AP)—The most notorious underworld gang in Tokyo was dissolved at public ceremonies today—while planning to reincorporate and operate without the boss.

Kinosuke Otsu, the boss, is the city's most prominent jailbird. At his trial on charges of threatening two process servers attempting to remove his black market from an illegally possessed vacant lot, Otsu testified his gang was "based on democratic" principles and he would hate to part with such a system.

The district police chief, elected ward leaders and Otsu's right-hand men spoke from the bunting-draped platform at the dissolution ceremonies, which apparently satisfied official red tape.

In the reorganization there are to be two divisions—the "enterprise" for racketeering, and the "commercial" for black-market operations.

Ask Japanese Islands Return

SAPPORO, Japan, July 23 (AP).—The Hokkaido Prefectural Assembly today petitioned Allied Headquarters for the return of Japanese islands off the east tip of Hokkaido which were occupied by Russia at the war's end.

Bikini Atoll Seen A-Bomb Proving Ground

HONOLULU, July 23 — (AP) Speculation arose today that Bikini atoll in the Marshall islands—scene of two atomic bomb experiments—may be used as a United States proving ground for atomic weapons.

This conjecture followed an Atomic Energy commission announcement in Washington that it was "establishing a proving grounds in the Pacific for routine experiments and tests of atomic weapons."

The announcement also revived talk of the possibility of conducting "Test Charlie," the deep water explosion of an atomic bomb which was called off after the two tests in the summer of 1946.

Bikini is considered an ideal site for a proving ground. It is deserted now except for scientists studying the effects of the above water and surface tests of last year.

The natives who lived on the atoll, were moved last year to the little island of Rongerik, more than 200 miles from Bikini.

Sjahrir To India

Singapore, July 23 (AP)—Sutan Sjahrir, former Premier of the Republic of Indonesia, left today in a British Overseas Airwways Corporation seaplane for Calcutta, India. He is on a mission for President Soekarno to present abroad the case of the Indonesian Republic in its conflict with the Dutch.

GI's Ambushed, 1 Slain, 1 Hurt

Manila, July 23 (AP)—A United States Army sergeant was machine-gunned to death and a companion was wounded today by unidentified assailants in the Clark Field area only a few hours after the lifting of a curfew imposed for a similar assault in the same region less than a month ago.

An army announcement said the shooting occurred on a highway near San Fernando at almost the exact spot where Captain and Mrs. Irvin Plough were wounded and their baby killed June 28.

The two soldiers, members of an army telephone repair outfit with the 4th Signal Service Group, was answering a call for assistance from another crew, whose trucks had broken down.

Forced To Halt

The Army said a band of men in a converted army truck fired on them and forced them to a stop in a rice paddy. One assailant then opened up with a submachine gun, killing the sergeant.

The sergeant's companion, a technician, fourth class, was wounded but escaped into a field. Their names were withheld pending notification of relatives.

The Army said both military and civilian authorities were investigating.

Brig. Gen. Robert C. Oliver, Sr., commanding officer at Clark Field, imposed new restrictions as a result of the shooting, limiting traffic between San Fernando and Pampanga to official business between 7 P.M. and 6 A.M. The General said he did not intend to reimpose the curfew on the 6,000 or 7,000 men at the base.

The Philippine Military Police Command assigned armored cars and scout car patrols to the road running north from Manila in an effort to avert other such ambushes.

SEEK TO SAVE 12 JAPS

Guam, July 23 (A. P.).—In an effort to save twelve Japanese petty officers accused of bayonetting to death two American prisoners of war on Truk atoll, defense attorneys today promised to prove that Surgeon-Capt. Hiroshi Iwanami alone was guilty of carrying out the murders.

Attorney Hideo Kuwata of Tokyo contended that the enlisted men had to obey Iwanami's orders, as the attorney opened the defense after a week's recess.

However, Kuwata told the court that Iwanami did not participate in medical experiments that took the lives of eight other American prisoners. Two Japanese surgeon officers who died conducted the torturous tourniquet, bacteria and dynamite tests without the presence of Iwanami, the attorney declared.

40-YEAR PACT STILL BACKED BY MARSHALL

Says U. S. Proposal for Disarming Reich Is Open to Acceptance.

WOULD WANT RUSSIA TO SIGN

Denies Receiving Soviet Reply to Note Urging Early Start on Jap Peace Treaty.

Washington, July 23 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Marshall declared today that the American proposal for a forty-year German disarmament treaty is still open to other nations and that the United States still wants Russia to be one of the signers to carry through such a treaty.

At a news conference Marshall also officially recognized the possibility of the existence of an International Brigade organized to help the Greek Communists fight against the Athens Government. The State Department "cannot confirm or deny the existence of such a brigade," he said.

An another point Marshall said that no Russian reply has yet been received to the American proposals for an early start on a Japanese peace treaty. The Moscow radio reported that the American proposals had been rejected.

The appointment of Rudolf E. Schoenfeld as Minister to Romania was evidence of American interest in the welfare of the Romanian people but not of American willingness to condone the denial of political liberties by the Government of Romania, Marshall declared.

He also said that the elimination of relief assistance to Poland, as announced earlier in the day, stems from an official report that Poland does not need emergency foodstuff and not from Poland's refusal to join the Marshall plan for the rehabilitation of Europe.

Marshall declined to disclose the status of the negotiations with the British on a Ruhr coal conference here, and declined to comment on French objections to the Anglo-American proposals for increasing the level of industry in western Germany.

made by Col. R. L. Harrison of the Agriculture department, was the basis for the decision to cut Poland out of the program for which the House last week voted a reduced appropriation of $332,000,000.

He said Poland's boycott of the Paris conference on the Marshall plan for European recovery was not the reason for the decision.

In reducing the appropriation from the $350,000,000 asked by the State department, the House anticipated that both Poland and Hungary would be stricken from the original list of seven countries authorized to share in the relief. Hungary's tentative allotment was $3,000,000.

The Senate Appropriations committee approved the House cut today.

Actual relief shipments meanwhile have started to Austria, Italy, Greece and Trieste. Negotiations have started for a relief agreement with China.

Col. Harrison, special assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, made the survey of Poland's needs at Marshall's request.

He reported that the industrial section of Silesia was booming, Polish food production was on the increase and some exports have started.

of State, originator of the yet-undefined plan for the United States to help rebuild the war-smashed economy of European nations which first agree on a program of self-aid.

Other steps included checkups with J. A. Krug, Secretary of the Interior, on "the state of our national resources" and with Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, on "the impact of our national economy of aid to other countries."

All Sessions Closed

All committee sessions, which are to continue here tomorrow, were closed to the press and public.

But October 1 was reported to have been set as a target date for the nineteen-man committee to provide the President with the advice he asked on "the limits within which the United States may safely and wisely help other countries."

This gave hope that the Marshall plan would take on more definite shape by early fall.

Representatives of sixteen western European nations are now trying at Paris to draw up a program of economic restoration for submission to the United States by early September.

Thus President Truman should have, some time in October, the data both on Europe's needs and wants and America's capacity to help.

Harriman The Chairman

This information will form the base of the proposals Mr. Truman is expected to make to Congress, when it convenes in January, on what further foreign aid the United States should furnish.

The Citizens' Committee, under chairmanship of W. Averell Harriman, Secretary of Commerce, is to report what the United States is able to do, but leave it to the President and Congress to say what aid actually should be furnished and to whom.

The citizens' group named a subcommittee to prepare a system under which it can proceed with its fact-finding work and preparation of its report to the President.

The subcommittee:

Chairman, Owen D. Young, honorary board chairman of the General Electric Company; Chester C. Davis, president of the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank; Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker Corporation; former Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin; Edward S. Hason, dean of the Harvard School of Public Administration; George Meany, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor; and Harold G. Moulton, president of the Brookings Institution.

U.S. HINTS CHANGE IN JAP PACT PLANS

New Treaty Proposal Indicated as Russia Rejects Bid to Parley.

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP) Secretary of State Marshall indicated today the United States will reconsider its proposal for an immediate veto-free start on drafting a Japanese peace treaty as a result of Russia's rejection of the whole plan.

The main question appeared to be whether this government should seek to proceed with work on the Japanese peace settlement without Russia or whether some compromise between the positions of the two powers is possible.

Reds Want 'Big 4' to Act

The Russians want the big power Council of Foreign Ministers, in which each nation has a veto, to draft the treaty, while the United States wants the work done by a special 11-nation body without the veto rule.

The Russian rejection, along with a charge that the United States was trying to play a lone hand in organizing work on the Japanese treaty, was announced this afternoon by Moscow radio. Marshall told a news conference shortly afterward that the Soviet reply had not been received here yet.

When it is received, he said, the government will have to go over it—along with replies from the nine other nations invited to discuss a Japanese peace treaty next month—to determine the proper course for the United States. The 11 nations are members of the Far Eastern commission.

Other officials, stressing that American policy as applied to the Russia reaction has yet to be decided, suggested that a determination to proceed without Russia would be governed largely by what Britain, France and the other interested nations want to do.

Marshall Denies U. S. Supplied Arms to Dutch

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP) Secretary of State Marshall underscored today this government's hands-off policy toward the Indonesian fighting with a statement that American arms used by the Dutch forces were supplied almost entirely in wartime to fight the Axis.

Since V-J day, he told a news conference, the United States has neither supplied arms for use in Indonesia nor transported them except to round out the equipment of a Dutch marine brigade of 4,800 men trained in this country during the war.

A few weeks after V-J day, the State department turned down the Netherland's request for permission to ship arms to Indonesia via the United States. It also barred the use of American vessels for carrying Dutch troops to the East Indies colonies.

The State department meanwhile announced that Walter Foote, top American diplomatic official in Indonesia as consul general at Batavia, is being transferred back to Washington. He is being replaced by Charles A. Livengood, recently counselor on economic affairs in the embassy at Rome. A veteran of 27 years foreign service, Foote has his home at Abilene, Tex.

U.S. Dutch View May Get Test

Washington, July 23 (AP)—The announced plan of an Indonesian envoy to visit the United States confronted the State Department today with an initial test of future attitude toward the island republic's armed struggle with the Netherlands.

Sutan Sjahrir, former Indonesian Premier, said on his arrival by plane at Singapore that he expected to go to the United States as well as India and Australia on a special mission for President Soekarno.

The Hague and several other capitals will be interested to see whether this Government permits his entry.

Complicated Aspects

The issue had not been officially submitted from Singapore yesterday, but when it does reach Washington it will present several complicated aspects.

The Netherlands could hardly be expected to give Sjahrir a passport.

And the United States, along with Britain, has continued to recognize Queen Wilhelmina's sovereignty over the East Indies. The two major powers backed the Netherlands authorities when an American merchant ship, the Martin Behrman, sought to run the island blockade this spring and trade with the Indonesians.

Nevertheless, both the United States and the Netherlands itself have extended what amounts to actual but unofficial recognition to the republic by consulting with native officials on the projected United States of Indonesia.

U.S. WEIGHS PLEA BY BRITAIN FOR LOAN PACT CHANGE

WASHINGTON, July 23 — (AP) Secretary of State Marshall said today the American government must give further study to a British request for modification of the $3,750,000,000 loan agreement.

Britain, in an effort to conserve its dwindling dollar supply had asked permission to reduce purchases from the United States while increasing imports from her colonies.

Marshall told a news conference the State department will have to study the British proposal "in cooperation with other departments" before arriving at a decision.

He said the State department and the National Advisory Council, top government authority on financial matters, agreed that the British request is "not x x x inconsistent with article nine of the loan accord. But he added:

"In this connection it will be necessary to examine carefully the rights assured the United States under mandate conventions the trusteeship agreements, and other international acts."

Marshall's statement contradicted information given to reporters yesterday when a State department official announced this country already had agreed to the British request.

Marshall Hopes He Guides Nation Better Than His Car

By The Associated Press.

FREDERICK, Md., July 23—An automobile with District of Columbia tags pulled to the curb last night and a silver-haired man leaned out to hail newspaper publisher William T. Delaplaine.

"I've been lost in this town an hour," the man said, asking directions to the home of a Frederick friend, Col. Harrison McAlpine.

"With pleasure, general," said Mr. Delaplaine, recognizing the motorist as Secretary of State Marshall.

After setting him on the right road, the publisher remarked:

"You have a big job on your hands, general."

"If I don't do any better than I did driving the streets of Frederick, I won't do so well," said the Secretary of State with a grin as he drove away.

LEGION URGES OVERHAULING U. N. CHARTER

In 3-point Plan It Would Limit Veto to Cases on Aggression.

ASKS TIGHT CURBS ON ARMS

'Tyranny-proof' World Police Unit Proposed by Vets' Group—More Power to Big 3.

Washington, July 23 (A. P.).—Calling the Security Council a "perpetually hung jury," the American Legion today proposed an overhaul of the United Nations charter to bobtail the Big Five veto and set up a "tyranny-proof" world police force.

Climaxing a year of study, the Legion's recommendations were forwarded in a letter to each member of Congress with this acknowledgment:

"It may not be possible or expedient to attempt to bring about changes now, but we believe they suggest a goal which must be attained in order that the United Nations become fully effective."

U. S. Cancels Food Relief For Poland After Survey

Nation's Crops Termed Sufficient for Year; Hungary May Be Ruled Out.

WASHINGTON, July 23 — (AP) The United States excluded Poland today from a prospective $15,000,000 share in American foreign relief and there were indications that Hungary also would be ruled out because of improved crop prospects in Soviet-dominated eastern Europe.

The State department announced the action on Poland, publishing an official report saying the country has sufficient food in sight for minimum needs until at least the end of this year.

Officials said at the same time that estimates of current crop yields in Hungary were mounting.

Survey Is Basis for Action

Secretary of State Marshall said in response to a news conference question that the survey in Poland, ed.

Polish officials interviewed were unanimous in stating that the food production, collection, distribution and rationing systems, which they have established, assured that there will be no starvation in Poland or acute malnutrition on a widespread basis even without food imports, he added.

PRIVATE UNIT AIDS IN MARSHALL PLAN

Citizen Committee Joins U.S. Officials In Survey Task

Washington, July 23 (AP)—By direction of the President, a committee of private citizens joined Government officials today to work on the American part of the Marshall plan.

Their first step was to meet with Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary tended that its recommendations would lay a solid foundation for the elimination of the atomic threat.

30.24-11101

Three Amendments.

Specifically, the Legion proposed three charter amendments designed to:

1. Give more effective representation of the nations on the Security Council and abolish the veto in cases of aggression "or preparation for aggression."

2. Give the Security Council adequate powers to prevent aggressive war by creating ironclad international controls over atomic weapons and all other means of mass destruction.

3. Create a powerful, yet tyranny-proof world police force.

These proposals followed closely an outcropping of congressional resolutions calling for a United Nations charter revision conference. But while sponsors of these resolutions said they might lead to Russian withdrawal from the U. N., the Legion envisioned a world organization in which Russia, Britain and this country would wield more voting strength than at present.

The Legion suggested revamping the Security Council into a ten-member body—two each from the United States, Britain and Russia, one each from France and China and two selected by the remaining member-States.

Control Membership.

Under the Legion plan, any one of the Big Five still would be able to block admission of new United Nations members or the creation of special investigating commissions, unless some questions of aggression were involved.

In calling for changes to give the council adequate powers, the proposal urged:

1. Creation of an Atomic Development Authority responsible to the Council for rigid control of atomic weapons and all other means of mass destruction.

2. Power for the Council to limit the total annual output of heavy armament all over the world. The council would be empowered and directed to allot to each of five major Powers an individual production quoted, which they could not exceed, and to allot to other members a collective quota to be produced solely by a non-profit armament authority operating under the council.

3. Maintenance of a staff of inspectors with full rights and access to arms production, information on troop concentrations, industrial resources and activities.

The Legion said the world police force should consist of one active international contingent and five national contingents ready to operate as reserves wherever needed.

The international contingent, composed of volunteers from the smaller States only, would constitute a professional army, highly paid and highly trained and disciplined.

SENATE UNIT VOTES FULL FOREIGN AID

Washington, July 23 (A. P.).—The Senate Appropriations Committee voted today to restore most of the 12.6 per cent cut made by the House in President Truman's request for $1,548,361,400 to finance foreign-aid programs during this fiscal year. The committee approved a total of $1,530,361,400, including the full $725,000,000 Mr. Truman asked to pay for Government and relief operations in occupied areas for fifteen months. The House had trimmed the figure to $550,000,000 and put the program on a twelve-month basis.

The committee went along on a House cut of $18,000,000 from a requested $350,000,000 fund for relief in Greece, Italy, Austria, Trieste, China, Poland and Hungary. However, the State Department announced today that Poland's share in the program had been canceled and officials indicated that Hungary also would be removed from the eligible list.

Other funds recommended by the committee: The full $400,000,000 requested as aid for Greece and Turkey to help those countries combat Communism, and $73,361,400 for the American share in International Refugee Organization costs to help resettle an estimated 850,000 European war refugees. The House had cut $2,336,500 from that amount.

American Legion Offers Plan to Bolster U. N. by Veto Curb, Wider Atomic Control

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—The American Legion today proposed to make the United Nations "fully effective" by trimming the veto, granting the Security Council new powers to control atomic and other weapons, and creating a world police force.

The recommendations, based on a year's study, were sent to each member of Congress with the statement that they would adequately replace "the grim rules of power politics." Changes now may not be "possible or expedient," the Legion said, but the proposals "suggest a goal which must be attained in order that the United Nations becomes fully effective."

The Legion plan suggests greater voting strength on the Security Council for Russia, the United States and Britain—two votes each on a reconstituted ten-member body, with one each for China and France and two countries selected by the other member states. The present Council has eleven members with one vote each.

Each Council member now has a veto over any matter of "substance." The Legion proposed to abolish the veto in cases of aggression "or preparation for aggression," terming the Council a "perpetually hung jury."

Under the Legion plan, any one of the Big Five still would be able to block admission of new United Nations members or the creation of special investigating commissions, unless some question of aggression were involved.

A second amendment aims to give the Council "adequate powers" to prevent aggressive war by creating strong controls over atomic weapons and other means of mass destruction through authority to limit world output of heavy armament.

Each of the five major powers would receive a production quota, and other members would have a collective quota produced under a nonprofit armament authority. A staff of inspectors would have access to arms output, facts on troop concentration and other information.

A third amendment would provide for an international force consisting of one active contingent made up of volunteers from smaller nations. The volunteers would be a professional army, highly trained. Five national contingents would stand by as reserves "wherever needed."

The international group could not become "an instrument of world tyranny," the Legion said, "because it has only one-fifth of the world's effective armed strength." Besides, the soldiers from the smaller states would be "insuring the survival of their own countries" by supporting the Security Council, it was contended.

CONFEREES AGREE ON ARMS MEASURE

Legislation to Unify Armed Forces Now Awaits Final Approval by Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP)—A Senate-House conference committee reached agreement tonight upon legislation to unify the army, navy and air forces under a single cabinet officer.

Senator Gurney (R-SD) said all conferees accepted a compromise of differing Senate and House bills. The agreement now goes back to the House and then the Senate for final approval.

Bill Backed by Truman

The postwar reorganization of the armed forces under a single civilian cabinet member has been urged by President Truman and a number of congressional leaders for more than two years.

Under the compromise plan—worked out after a sharp Army-Navy dispute last year—a new air forces department would be created coequal with the Navy department and the Army department. (The latter is now known as the War department and includes the army air forces.)

Separate secretaries would administer the three departments but would not sit in the cabinet. All would serve under a secretary of defense who would have cabinet status and supervise funds and policies for the three services.

Gurney said final points in dispute between the Senate and House were adjusted this way:

House conferees accepted a Senate provision that either a civilian or a commissioned officer could head the central intelligence agency established by the bill. The House at first had insisted this official be a civilian.

Senate conferees accepted House provisions specifying the functions of the Marine Corps and air arms of the Navy and Marines. This is intended to meet complaints that the Marine corps and naval aviation might be swallowed up by the other services.

The bill calls for a national security council over which the President would preside. It would include the secretaries of state, defense, army, navy and air forces and chairman of the national security resources board. This would be the top council to determine defence polices and coordinate them with foreign policies.

NEW A-BOMB TESTS PLANNED IN PACIFIC

Lilienthal Reveals Board Now Is Establishing Proving Grounds.

WASHINGTON, July 23 — (AP) The Atomic Energy commission reported today that it is giving "major attention" to developing and producing atomic weapons and that it is establishing proving grounds in the Pacific to test them.

At the same time, the commission said it is busily trying to turn atomic energy into peacetime uses, particularly in the fields of health and the eventual use of atomic energy for power.

The statements were made in the commission's second semi-annual report to the President.

Security Restrictions Cited

Noting that Congress had told it to give paramount attention to "the common defense and security," the five man board headed by David E. Lilienthal said:

"Accordingly, major attention is given to development and production in the field of atomic weapons. The magnitude of the program has been fixed by the President acting with the advice of the armed forces.

"Carrying out the program is largely a function of the commission's Los Alamos (N. M.) laboratory. x x x Activities at this point are necessarily conducted under severe security restrictions, and no details will therefore be presented in this report.

"The Atomic Energy commission is establishing proving grounds in the Pacific for routine experiments and tests of atomic weapons."

There was no elaboration on these proving grounds, their place or nature. The Navy last year conducted some tests of the atomic bomb at Bikini atoll in the Marshall islands about 4,500 miles west of the west coast.

Summary of Report

The commission said in a summary of its work:

"We mean to maintain and increase the present pre-eminence of the United States in atomic weapons until such time as the Congress affirms that acceptable international agreements have been reached and the appropriate machinery has been established to insure that this activity can be relaxed without endangering the national security."

(At New York today, a working committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy commission heard Russia and the United States reaffirm their sharply opposed positions as to whether there should be any big power veto authority in an international atomic control system. Russia said the veto power must not be altered as to important matters.)

The commission said that extensive security measures are taken to protect atomic secrets from leaking out.

In the fields of health, and other research power, the commission reported:

Exploiting Peacetime Uses

"An important beginning has been made at exploiting peacetime uses of atomic energy. Radioisotopes, a most promising research tool in chemistry, biology and medicine and of great promise in agriculture and metallurgy, are being produced and distributed in ever increasing quantity.

"Shipments (of radioisotopes) to hospitals and other research institutions now exceed 100 per month. Heavy hydrogen, another isotope of particularly great use in many kinds of research, is now being made available for the first time at low cost. Nuclear radiation services, too, are now being provided to qualified research laboratories.

Army, Navy Set Up Join Atomic Project

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP) The armed services have consolidated their work on atomic weapons under a single agency and assigned direction of the broad program to their foremost atomic weaponers—Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves and Rear Admiral William S. Parsons.

Some details of the joint Army-Navy program, set up with the approval of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff, and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations, were disclosed tonight in official answers to a reporter's questions. Until now, the services had admitted only the existence of the "Armed Forces Special Weapons Project," (AFSWP) without explaining its reason.

"The project," officials explained tonight, "has assumed the responsibility of carrying on those military service functions of the Manhattan project which were retained under control of the armed forces at the time of turnover of the Manhattan project to the Atomic Energy commission.

A. A. F. SEEKS BOMB FOR JET AIRCRAFT

Washington, July 23 (A. P.).—The Army Air Forces are seeking a bomb for its high speed jet bombers. Disclosing today that top priority is being given the project, A. A. F. research experts added that it is directly involved in the tests of deep penetration missiles soon to begin in Germany.

Because those bombs—to be dropped from extremely high-flying B-29s—probably will attain supersonic speeds before reaching the earth, the A. A. F. scientists expect to find important design clues for the new type weapon they are hunting.

Privately, they say, the problem is this:

A standard design bomb casing is, aerodynamically, entirely unsatisfactory for use from jet aircraft. Experiments indicate that if dropped from airplanes traveling at 500 miles an hour or more the violence of the air blast as the bomb cleared the plane would tear off the bomb's own stabilizing fins and send it tumbling on an erratic course. The only alternative is to slow down the jet plane to a speed where a bomb can be released. This, however, would make jet planes little better than conventional aircraft.

C. I. O. Leader Is Indicted for Perjury as Red

Christoffel Cited by Jury; 3 Union Officers Balk at Query on Communist Tie

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP).—Harold Christoffel, a strike leader of the Congress of Industrial Organizations in Wisconsin, was indicted today on charges of falsely swearing he was not a Communist.

At the same time, three officers of a C. I. O. tobacco union in North Carolina refused to tell the House Committee on Un-American Activities whether they are Communists. The three, Edwin K. McCrea, Robert C. Black and W. Clark Sheppard, based their refusal on the ground that to answer "may incriminate" them.

Previous witnesses had said the men were Communists and that the local involved, at Winston-Salem, N. C., was Communist-controlled. McCrea is an international representative of the C. I. O. food, tobacco and agricultural workers, assigned to the local. Black and Sheppard are co-chairmen of the local.

Other Developments

In still other developments on Communism:

A House Judiciary subcommittee approved a bill to grant American citizenship to Victor Kravchenko, former Soviet official who said he fears for his life because of his denunciation of Communism;

Legislation to require members of the Communist party to register as foreign agents was introduced by Representative Karl E. Mundt, Republican, of South Dakota, who said it also would require registration by any group "dominated, directed or controlled" by the Communist party;

Representative A. S. Mike Monroney, Democrat, of Oklahoma, urged Congress to appropriate before it adjourns "all or part" of the $25,000,000 asked by President Truman three months ago to investigate loyalty of Federal employees;

And the Southern Conference for Human Welfare reported that an investigation disclosed no evidence that a now-settled strike at the R. J. Reynolds tobacco plants in Winston-Salem this year was inspired by Communists.

Christoffel's perjury indictment, on which he could receive sentences up to sixty years if convicted, was brought by a Federal Grand Jury at the request of the Justice Department. The department acted after the House Labor Committee had asked "such action as may be appropriate" following the accused's sworn statement to the committee that he was not a Communist.

Christoffel was president of Local 248 of the United Automobile Workers in 1941 when the union called a long strike against the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, of Milwaukee, makers of farm machinery then with defense contracts.

He appeared before the committee last March in its study of whether subversive influences were active in the strike. He said he was not a Communist and that it would have been a betrayal of the workers and the country had the local president called a strike on Communist orders.

Held Communist by Jury

However, the grand jury charged that he "was then a member of the Communist party and had been such member for several years thereto and had worked with the Communist party and with the Communist Political Association."

The indictment also said that Christoffel falsely swore to the House committee that he did not know Fred Blair and Ned Sparks. They were identified in the indictment as the head and former head, respectively, of the Communist party in Wisconsin.

The Allis-Chalmers situation came back in the news today with an announcement by Walter E. Petersen, president of the independent workers of the Allis-Chalmers Company, that he had offered to bring his union back into the C. I. O. local.

Mr. Petersen conditioned the offer on the immediate resignation of all the C. I. O. officers there, and the holding of a new election.

The House Judiciary subcommittee action toward granting citizenship to Mr. Kravchenko came one day after he had testified to the House Committee on Un-American Activities that all responsible Soviet officials in the United States are spies.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities heard Ann Mathews and Eugene C. Pratt testify on what they said was a Communist situation among Winston-Salem tobacco unionists.

Miss Mathews testified that sixteen of thirty officers of C. I. O. Local No. 22, including McCrea, Black and Sheppard, were members of the Communist party at the time she quit as secretary of the local last January. She said ten officers were not Communists and she was not sure about the other four.

Pratt, identifying himself as former business agent of the Winston-Salem local, said he left the union last May because he feared a race riot would grow from the Reynolds plant strike.

Group Approves Citizenship For Kravchenko

Washington, July 23 (AP)—A House Judiciary subcommittee approved today a bill that would open the way to American citizenship for Victor A. Kravchenko, former Soviet official who has publicly renounced Communism.

The measure, which would waive provisions of law forbidding a communist to become a citizen, still requires approval of the full committee. Its passage by the House and Senate is improbable before the next congressional session, beginning in January.

Kravchenko, who testified to the House Un-American Activities Committee yesterday that all responsible Soviet officials in the United States are spies, told the judiciary group he fears for his life if he is not given the protection accorded American citizens.

Expresses Great Fear

"I can't live here one year," he said, "if you don't give me citizenship."

Kravchenko, a former Russian army officer, also served with the Soviet purchasing commission in this country before splitting with the Red regime.

The proposed bill specifically would declare that Kravchenko came to the United States for permanent residence as an immigrant, under the Russian quota, on August 18, 1943, the day he arrived under diplomatic status.

He would be able to get final citizenship papers two years and 30 days after the bill becomes law. Prior to that he would be allowed to leave the country and return.

Two Praise His Service

The subcommittee acted after Representatives Coudert (R., N.Y.) and Mundt (R., S.D.) testified for Kravchenko and said he has rendered "enormous" service to this country.

"How do you know that he isn't a spy himself?" inquired Representative Cellar (D., N.Y.).

Mundt said Kravchenko has been under "the most careful surveillance by police and the FBI, and has been issued a police permit to carry a gun for protection.

"By the Lord Harry," Coudert remarked, "he had the guts—as did our ancestors in 1776—to break away, and break clean."

Celler's "Hair Bristles"

Celler recalled that Kravchenko told the Un-American Activities Committee that Marshall Field, publisher of the Chicago Sun and PM of New York, is more "dangerous" than 30 per cent of the Communists.

"I'll go as far as I can," Celler said, "but I don't think a man who is here by grace has any right to make charges such as he did about Marshall Field. My hair bristles. I resent them. . . .

"He violates his right to stay here as an alien when he makes charges such as these."

Kravchenko himself said that he had spent four hours talking to Field in Chicago, and had not spoken merely from hearsay. He said he considers Field an "honest gentleman" who has wrong ideas.

He said they discussed Russia and life in the Soviet Union and he was unable to convince Field of anything.

Giving Agencies Information

Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R., N.J.) of the Un-American Activities Committee said his group plans to give the Army, Navy and FBI the testimony by Kravchenko that Soviet agents got secret wartime information on American planes and submarines.

He made the statement as the committee turned its investigation of Communist activities from spying to union infiltration.

Ann Mathews testified that at least 16 of 30 officials of the CIO Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers Union, Local No. 22, at Winston-Salem, N.C., were members of the Communist party prior to last January. That was the time, she said, when she ceased being an official of the union local.

Quit Party, She Says

The witness told the Un-American Activities Committee she was a member of the Communist party for ten years, resigning last year, and that she had served as secretary of the Winston-Salem local union between June, 1945, and January, 1947.

She testified that four other union officers may have been Communists and that to her knowledge ten were not members.

She also told the committee that there is a Communist group active at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, headed by Junius Scales, a student. She said she had attended Communist party meetings at which Scales was present.

Among union officials, she testified were members of the Communist party at the time of her employment, was Edwin McCrea, international representative of the Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers.

McCrea Criticizes Committee

Before the hearing, McCrea issued a statement asserting the committee is trying "to break the union."

He declared the House committee "is trying to do something the richest and most powerful member of the tobacco trust could not do. . . ."

McCrea said that "all company attempts failed to break the spirit" of the strikers who walked out of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company in Winston-Salem last May.

The testimony on planes and submarines, which the committee considered worthy of passing on to interested Government agencies, was supplied yesterday by Kravchenko.

3 UNION LEADERS DEFY COMMITTEE AT RED HEARING

Refuse to Disclose Status After Being Branded as Communists.

CIO OFFICIAL INDICTED

Former Head of Auto Workers Local Is Charged with Perjury.

WASHINGTON, July 23 — (AP) Three officers of a C.I.O. tobacco union in North Carolina refused today to tell a House committee whether they are Communists, while a Wisconsin C.I.O. strike leader was indicted on charges of falsely swearing that he was not one.

The three, Edwin K. McCrea, Robert C. Black and W. Clark Sheppard, told the unAmerican Activities committee that they based their refusal on the ground that to answer "may incriminate" them.

Branded as Communists

Previous witnesses had said the men were Communists and that the local involved, at Winston-Salem, N. C., was Communist-controlled. McCrea is an international representative of the C.I.O. Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers assigned to the local. Black and Sheppard are co-chairman of the local.

In another major Washington development touching on Communism, a House Judiciary subcommittee approved a bill to grant American citizenship to Victor Kravchenko, former Soviet official who said he fears for his life because of his denuciation of Communism.

The Wisconsin man indicted here is Harold Christoffel.

Christoffel's perjury indictment was brought by a Federal grand jury at the request of the Justice department. The department acted after the House Labor committee had asked "such action as may be appropriate" following the accused's sworn statement to the committee that he was not a Communist.

Headed Auto Workers

Christoffel was president of local 248 of the United Auto Workers in 1941 when the union called a long strike against the Allis-Chalmers company of Milwaukee, makers of farm machinery then with defense contracts.

He appeared before the committee last March, in its study of whether subversive influences were in on the strike. He said he was not a Communist and that it would have been a betrayal of the workers and the country had the local president called a strike on Communist orders.

However, the grand jury charged that he "was then a member of the Communist party and had been such member for several years thereto and had worked with the Communist party and with the Communist political association.

The indictment also said that Christoffel falsely swore to the House committee that he did not know Fred Blair and Ned Sparks. They were identified in the indictment as the head and former head, respectively, of the Communist party in Wisconsin.

Surrenders to Marshals

"At Milwaukee," Christoffel surrenderd to U. S. marshals after issuing a statement saying his indictment was part of a plan to break the labor movement.

The local, now headed by Robert Buse, is currently trying to hold on to its bargaining rights at Allis-Chalmers, where a second, 328-day strike ended last March without a contract.

The House sub-committee action toward granting citizenship to Kravchenko came one day after he had testified to the Un-American Activities committee that all responsible Soviet officials in the U. S. are spies.

In saying he fears for his life, Kravchenko told the sub-committee: "I can't live here one more year if you don't give me citizenship."

The Committee on Un-American Activities today heard Ann Mathews and Eugene C. Pratt testify on what they said was a Communist situation among Winston-Salem tobacco unionists.

Miss Mathews testified that 16 of 30 officers of C.I.O. local No. 22 were members of the Communist party at the time she quit as secretary of the local last January. She said 10 officers were not Communists and she was not sure about the other four. She herself was a Communist party member for 10 years prior to January, she testified.

Rep. Rankin (D.-Miss.) asked whether it was true that the Communists are planning to create a "Soviet state" in the south. She replied: "The party idea was to set up a separate government in the black belt."

Also, she testified, there is an active Communist group at the University of North Carolina. She said that Junius Scales, a student, heads it.

Krug Tells Senate War Probers Of Gay Parties Given by Hughes

WASHINGTON, July 23 — (AP) The Washington Post says Secretary of the Interior Krug, former head of the War Production board, has told the Senate War Investigating committee of attending lavish parties given by Howard Hughes, airline manufacturer and movie magnate.

Krug, through a spokesman, declined comment.

The story says Hughes appeared this week at a closed session of the committee which will open a public inquiry into the government's wartime procurement practices next week. WPB was in general charge of wartime production.

Committeemen have expressed interest in some $40,000,000 in contracts given to Hughes for special-type planes, including a huge craft designed to carry more than 700 troops which has never flown.

Krug is scheduled to be a witness in the open hearing. It is the committe's practice to question witnesses in private before calling them to the stand in public.

ACTRESS GETS SUBPOENA IN HUGHES PROBE

Judy Cook Wonders Why Senate Group Called Her In Plane Inquiry

Los Angeles, July 23 (AP) — A blond actress and swimmer, Judy Cook, bandied big names about today as she speculated on why she had been subpoenaed in the Senate War Investigating Committee's inquiry into multimillionaire Howard Hughes's $20,000,000 contract for a flying boat.

Miss Cook said she entertained at three parties at Hughes's Beverly Hills estate.

"One was given in honor of Elliott Roosevelt and Faye Emerson just before their marriage," she said.

"At other parties I recognized Secretary of the Interior Krug, Jack Frye, senators and congressmen and a lot of army brass."

Flew Elliott On Honeymoon

Frye, former president of T.W.A., which Hughes controls, flew Roosevelt and Miss Emerson to Grand Canyon on their honeymoon in 1944.

Miss Cook said the parties usually began with dinner at a Sunset Strip or Beverly Hills restaurant, and:

"Then the guests would go to the Hughes estate on Doheny Drive, and a bar would be set up while they watched the entertainers. The parties cost a lot of money, I guess, but nobody talked about business—at least not in front of me. I'm sure I don't know what they want to question me about."

May Call Film Luminaries

There were published reports that better-known film luminaries would be called before the committee, but no one here would confirm that other subpoenas had been issued, and the United States marshal's office said it could not comment until they were served.

A second subpoena was served yesterday on model Martha Goldthwaite, also calling for her appearance in Washington August 4. She said she was a friend of Johnny Meyer, Hughes's' aide who was Roosevelt's best man at the wedding, but, she added:

"I can't imagine why I should be called."

Hughes's huge plane is still at a graving dock in San Pedro, and officials of Hughes Aircraft Company estimate it will not be ready for taxi tests for weeks.

BUDENZ SAYS EISLER 'RAN' DAILY WORKER

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP)—Louis Budenz, former managing editor of The Daily Worker, told a federal district court jury today that Gerhardt Eisler in effect ran that Communist newspaper in 1935-36.

Budenz, who has renounced Communism and returned to the Catholic faith, said that Eisler laid down the law to Clarence Hathaway, then editor of the paper, and berated him for inefficiency.

It was Budenz who put the finger on Eisler last October, calling him the Kremlin's principal agent in this country. Budenz now is on the staff of Fordham universtiy.

Eisler is on trial charged with having fraudulently neglected, when applying for an exit permit in 1945, to tell the U. S. government about Communist connections.

Bill Would Register U. S. Reds

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—A bill to require members of the Communist party to register as foreign agents was introduced today by Representative Karl E. Mundt, Republican, of South Dakota. It also would require registration by any group "dominated, directed or controlled" by the Communist party.

SENATE BACKS BILL FOR PEACETIME WAC

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP)—The Senate today passed legislation to create a peacetime Women's Army Corps and authorize the enlistment and commissioning of women in the Navy and Marine corps.

The bill now goes to the House.

The House Armed Services subcommittee deferred action on a similar measure today and chances for enactment at this session of Congress are slim.

Schoenfeld Named Envoy to Romania

Washington, July 23 (A. P.).—President Truman today nominated Rudolf E. Schoenfeld of the District of Columbia to be Minister to Romania.

The nomination of Schoenfeld, now a foreign service officer, was sent to the Senate along with a large number of foreign service officer promotions.

Announcement on Envoy

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP).—The text of the announcement by Secretary of State Marshall regarding the appointment of Mr. Schoenfeld as American Minister to Romania follows:

"With the termination of a state of war between Romania and the United States imminent, the United States government considers it desirable to accredit a diplomatic representative to Romania to supercede the United States political representative who has been stationed in Romania during the armistice regime.

"Mr. Burton Y. Berry served as United States political representative to Romania from December, 1944, until his return to this country last month. In his absence Mr. Roy M. Melbourne has been acting political representative in Romania.

"The appointment of Mr. Rudolf E. Schoenfeld as United States minister to Romania is predicated on the intention of the United States to maintain its interest in the welfare of he Romanian people to keep itself informed of developments in Romania and to continue its efforts on behalf of American interests there. It does not imply that the United States government condones the actions of the Romanian government in denying the Romanian people fundamental freedoms, regarding which the United States position has been set forth on various occasions."

Senate Group Told Plans Exist For 17,000 MPH Guided Missiles

WASHINGTON, July 23.—(AP) Dr. Harold R. Bohlman, Baltimore surgeon, told a Senate Armed Services committee today that plans for guided missiles traveling 17,000 miles an hour that could reach any place in the world exist today "on the drawing board."

Bohlman, a surgeon at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, protested proposed establishment of a Navy training airfield near Annapolis because, he said, it would add another vital target to the east coast area. The subcommittee reviewed the airfield proposal today.

"On the drawing board," Bohlman said, "are plans for missiles traveling 17,000 miles an hour that can and do drop anywhere on the earth.

"If you pile more national defense installations in that area you are certainly setting up a beautiful target for guided missiles.

"It terrifies me what can be done with a guided missile with an atomic warhead."

Bohlman later declined to discuss the subject further with a reporter, or to reveal the source of his information.

Bohlen Is Confirmed by Senate

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP)—The Senate unanimously confirmed tonight President Truman's nomination of Charles E. Bohlen, a career officer in the foreign service, to be counselor of the State Department. He succeeds Benjamin V. Cohen, who resigned, effective July 31.

LEGISLATION IS PASSED TO NATURALIZE 7 YUGOS

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP)—Legislation to permit the naturalization of seven Yugoslavs who served in the United States army air forces was unanimously passed by the Senate and sent to the White House today.

They are Vojislav N. Skakich, Milosh M. Jelich, Zivko T. Miloykovich, Dejan D. Radich, Viktor A. Stare, Momchilo, M. Markovich and Sava J. Milovanovich. Their addresses in this country were not given.

O'Konski to Visit Argentina

WASHINGTON, July 23 (AP).—Representative Alvin E. O'Konski, Republican, of Wisconsin, said today he plans to leave for Argentina as soon as Congress adjourns. Frequent critic of the State Department's Latin-American policies, he has been invited to visit Buenos Aires as a guest of the Argentine government. He told a reporter he intends to remain in Argentina about two weeks.

ARAB PRINCE TOURS U. S. STEEL PLANT

Pittsburgh, July 23 (A. P.).—Steel workers dropped their tools to stare in amazement today as white-robed, dagger-bearing Prince Saif Al-Islam Abdullah of Yemen, Arabia, strolled through a steel mill on an inspection trip.

As guest of the United States Steel Corporation, the 35-year-old prince first visited the Edgar Thompson works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation. He is touring the nation in the hope of building up trade contacts.

UN ASSEMBLY NOMINEES CONFIRMED BY SENATE

WASHINGTON, July 23. — (AP) The Senate voted unanimously tonight to confirm President Truman's nominees to represent this country at the second session of the United Nations general assembly to be held in New York in September.

The representatives are Warren R. Austin, Herschel V. Johnson, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and John Foster Dulles.

Also confirmed were these alternate representatives: Charles Fahy, Willard L. Thorp, Francis B. Sayre, Adlai E. Stevenson and Virginia C. Gildersleeve.

Outer Mongolia Bid To Join Group Fails

Atlantic City, July 23 (AP)—A second Soviet bid to have the Peoples Republic of Outer Mongolia admitted to the International Telecommunications Conference was rejected yesterday by a six-vote margin.

A Soviet proposal that Outer Mongolia be granted a part in the revision of the world's radio regulations was able to find support from only 32 nations, six short of the 38 required to constitute a two-thirds majority of those voting. Twenty five votes were case against admission.

IDEOLOGIES CONTEST SEEN BY STASSEN

Sunday School Convention Speech Cites Russia's Stand On Aid

Des Moines, Iowa, July 23 (AP)—Refusal of Russia and eight other European countries to join in the Paris conference on the Marshall plan presages "the greatest basic competition in all history," former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota said tonight.

"We are to be engaged in a continuing major competition and clash of economic systems and ideologies," Stassen said in an address at the opening session of the twenty-first International Sunday School Convention.

Stassen, an announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, is president of the International Council of Religious Education, which is sponsoring the convention attended by more than 5,000 persons representing 40 denominations, 48 states and 8 foreign lands.

Emphasizes Moral Basis

Stassen told the delegates that "we are entering the decade which may well determine whether we can have a lasting peace or a third world war" and said the moral foundation of Americans "is of prime importance" in the outcome.

Describing the clash between the United States and the sixteen European nations co-operating on the Marshall plan with the nine European nations, including Russia, which declined to join, Stassen said:

"It is a competition between the ideology of materialism sponsored by Communists, which denies the fatherhood of God, depreciates the worth of the individual human being, and worships the things of the earth controlled by rulers of men, as opposed to an ideology based on the fundamental concepts of our religious beliefs, humbly recognizing the fatherhood of God, emphasizing the worth and dignity of the individual human being, safeguarding individual freedom, and teaching service and compassion and mercy."

War Not Unavoidable

Stassen said the competition does not inevitably lead to war and that it "need not unavoidably be decided by force."

"We hope and pray and endeavor that this basic competition may be decided in the minds and hearts of men with the grace of God, without resort to force," Stassen said.

He told the convention that millions of Sunday schoolworkers throughout the world should catch the vision of the magnitude of their task in instilling ideals of peace in the boys and girls with whom they work.

"It is not an accident," he said, "that this very period of time when we have been making the greatest shipments of all history for the assistance of others beyond our borders is also the time when we have reached, under the challenge, the greatest peacetime production of all history. There is eternal truth in the words 'blessed is the giver.'"

SAILOR NAMED AS 'INFORMER' IN P.W. ESCAPE

Army Veteran Accuses Hirshberg At Navy Court-Martial

New York, July 23 (AP)—A 23-year-old ex-GI today identified Harold E. Hirshberg, being tried by court-martial on charges of maltreating fellow prisoners of war, as "the informer" who told Jap guards of an escape attempt by three Americans, resulting in their capture and torture so severe that one of them died.

The witness was former Army Private William R. Hill, a painter who lives at San Pedro, Cal. He was a member of the 31st Infantry Regiment and was interned by the Japanese in the Philippines.

Hirshberg, 29, is a Navy chief signalman. While a prisoner of war he acted as a section leader for a work group of American captives.

Hill said that in January, 1944, he and another prisoner, identified only as Private John L. Baker, attempted to escape after a roll call but were caught and returned to their barracks.

Beaten Severely By Japs

The next day, he said, they were taken to the guard house and were given seven severe beatings in three days by Japanese, who also threw them about with judo holds.

While they were in the guard house, Hill said, the Japanese brought in Private George Garrett, of Waco, Texas, who had planned an escape.

Hill declared the Japanese beat Garrett so severely with bamboo sticks that "he looked like a raw piece of beef. He could not sit or lie down because his wounds were so sore."

One of nine specifications in the charge against Hirshberg said he told the Japanese of Garrett's intentions. Garrett died, the specification said, after the Japs filled his stomach with water and then jumped on it.

Questioned By Prosecutor

Lieut. Com. Fred. H. Frey, the judge advocate and prosecutor, asked Hill:

"Do you know who informed on you, Baker and Garrett?"

"The informer was the accused," Hill replied.

Under cross-examination by Lieut. Com. John J. O'Neil, defense counsel, Hill admitted that he had not heard or seen Hirshberg inform on them. O'Neil then asked that Hill's testimony tying Hirshberg to the beatings be stricken from the record but he was overruled by Navy Capt. Nelson W. Pickering, president of the court-martial board.

According to Hill, the incident he related occurred at Camp Murphy, Zablin Field, Luzon.

Another witness today—second day of the court-martial—was George N. Gaboury, 38, a Navy carpenter's mate of Webster, Mass. He testified that Hirshberg pointed out certain Americans to the Japanese and had them beaten.

O'Neil asked him if it was true that Hirshberg was "humane sometimes."

"Yes, but a pig must be a pig sometimes," Gaboury replied.

The defense counsel asked him if he had any animus against the defendant because Hirshberg claimed to have a Japanese wife and two children.

"No, but that did not make me like him any more," Gaboury said.

"Did it make you like him less?"

"Yes."

During today's initial session Gaboury said Hirshberg once told him:

"I'm a no-good rat, but I'll get back to the United States. Even my folks disown me; I'm such a rat."

Another witness, former Staff Sergeant James E. Edwards, 30, of Melrose Park, Ill., testified that Hirshberg struck him in the face when he left a work gang to get a drink of water.

Halsey Says His Anger At Leyte Led To 'Bull'

New York, July 23 (AP)—Fleet Admiral William F. Halsey, retired, says he still believes he might have says he still believes he made a strategic mistake in the battle of Leyte Gulf during a moment of anger ignited by what he mistakenly thought was an insult from Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

Halsey recalled the events in an article in this week's Saturday Evening Post.

The time was late October, 1944. Halsey was then Third Fleet commander. Three Japanese task forces were trying to smash Gen. Douglas MacArthur's landing at Leyte.

Third Fleet planes attacked and damaged the central enemy force. Vice Admiral Thomas C. Kincaid's Seventh Fleet took on the southern Japanese force at Surigao Strait. Halsey's ships and planes then went after the northern Japanese units. Meanwhile, units of the central enemy force went on to attack Kincaid's ships.

Flew Into Rage

Halsey's planes sank one carrier, hit two others and a light cruiser. His big ships in Task Force 34 were closing in and were only 42 miles from bringing the Japanese surface vessels under fire when Halsey received a message from Nimitz, then naval commander in chief in the Pacific.

The message read: "The whole world wants to know where is Task Force 34."

Halsey said he was stunned, then flew into a rage because he considered the wording of the message an "insult." Later, however, he discovered the wording was the work of the man who put the message in code and used padding to make it more difficult to break.

Tracked "Little Squirt"

The phrase was not Nimitz's, Halsey learned, but "it sounded so infernally plausible that my decoders read it as a valid part of the message. Chester blew up when I told him about it; he tracked down the little squirt and chewed him to bits, but it was too late; the damage was done.

"The orders I now gave I gave in rage. And although Ernie King Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, then chief of naval operations, later assured me that they were the right ones, I am convinced that they were not."

"Bull's Run Battle"

The Admiral indicated he might have hurt the Japs even more had he not diverted his heavy ships to the south.

The northern Jap force, he said, "with its two remaining carriers crippled and dead in the water, was exactly 42 miles from the muzzles of my 16-inch guns, yet I turned my back on the opportunity I had dreamed of since my days as a cadet.

"For me, one of the biggest battles of the war was off, and what has been called the battle of Bull's run was on."

One Basic Weakness

Halsey ordered units of Task Force 34 south to help Kincaid. Lighter units continued the northern chase and only two of the seventeen enemy ships escaped damage or sinking.

In his article, Halsey observed that the American Navy in the Pacific had one basic weakness.

"Although our naval power in the western Pacific was such that we could have challenged the combined fleets of the world," he said, "the fact that it was not co-ordinated under any single authority was an invitation which disaster nearly accepted.

"What brought us victory instead was simply this: All hands thought alike. And that we did so is a tribute to our indoctrination in the United States Navy."

A British spokesman reported last week the Moscow negotiations were nearing "success," despite Russia's displeasure over British eagerness to proceed with the Marshall plan of U.S. aid for Europe.

During the Moscow talks, Great Britain and Russia concluded an agreement by which Russian timber will be supplied for housing in this country. The spokesman said he was unable to say whether this deal would collapse should a breakdown result from tonight's exchanges.

Russian wheat had been expected to ease, if not end, British bread rationing which the labor government put in effect after the war.

The British had angled not only for Russian wheat, oreals and timber, but also for canned food, fish and a wide range of other goods and raw materials. The British had hoped a British-Russian trade accord would ease substantially the drain on her fast-evaporating dollar pool.

The decision was reported conveyed in a letter from Secretary of State Marshall to Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, delivered to the French Ambassador in Washington.

JUL 1947

Marshall was quoted as saying he hoped to suggest shortly practical steps for a three power conference on Germany including control of the Ruhr and the level of industry.

The informants said Marshall told Bidault he had learned of French anxiety and opposition to certain U.S. and British proposals for raising the level of German industry within the economically merged U.S. and British occupation zones, and for control of the Ruhr.

Paris, July 23-(AP)-Maurice Thorez, head of the powerful French communist party, asserted today he did not share the pessimistic view that the world was divided between east and west and "condemned to come to grips in a frightful war."

Thorez told an American and British press luncheon that communists were skeptical of the Marshall plan of American aid to reconstruct Europe because they fear it involved rapid reconstruction of Germany.

"We fear one is falling into the same tragic errors made after the first world war," Thorez asserted, "We suspect one is giving preference to Germany over the victims of her repeated aggressions."

A WHOLE IT WAS SHARP IN MAJOR INDUSTRIES. IRON AND STEEL PRODUCTION DECLINED 10 PER CENT AND CHEMICALS EIGHT PER CENT.
A REVISED INDEX SHOWED INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION FOR MAY AND JUNE AT 49 PER CENT OF THE 1936 RATE IN PLANTS NOW OPERATING, THE AMG SURVEY SAID.
DESPITE COAL AND RAW MATERIALS SHORTAGES SOME INDUSTRIES STILL MADE GAINS IN JUNE, NOTABLY ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT, CERAMICS AND PAPER AND PULP. BUT CHEMICAL PRODUCTION DROPPED FROM 53 PER CENT OF THE 1936 RATE TO 45 PER CENT DURING JUNE, WITH LACK OF COAL DIRECTLY RESPONSIBLE. THE 10 PER CENT DROP IN THE IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRY WAS ATTRIBTED TO A 30 PER CENT REDUCTION IN COAL ALLOCATIONS.

NIGHT LEAD PALESTINE (500)

BY CARTER L.DAVIDSON
JERUSALEM, JULY 23-(AP)-THE FORMER LIBERTY SHIP EMPIRE LIFEGUARD WAS SUNK IN HAIFA HARBOR BY AN INTERNAL EXPLOSION TODAY WHILE DISCHARGING LEGAL JEWISH IMMIGRANTS FROM CYPRUS. IT APPARENTLY WAS A BLOW OF REVENGE FOR THE SHIP'S PART IN DEPORTATIONS OF WOULD-BE IMMIGRANTS.
WHILE DIVERS INSTALLED PUMPS AND SALVAGE CREWS WENT TO WORK WITH HOPES OF RAISING HER, JEWISH SOURCES VOICED FEARS THAT THE BRITISH MILITARY MAY CRACK DOWN HARDER ON ALL JEWRY AS A RESULT OF THE NEW TERROR OFFENSIVE WHICH IN THE PAST WEEK HAS TAKEN A TOLL OF EIGHT KILLED AND MORE THAN 60 WOUNDED.
JEWISH LEADERS RECALLED THAT A LITTLE OVER A YEAR AGO, ON JUNE 29, THE ARMY SUDDENLY OCCUPIED JEWISH INSTITUTIONS AND ROUNDED UP A NUMBER OF JEWRY'S MOST PROMINENT LEADERS HERE AFTER SEVERAL WEEKS OF VIOLENCE FLARING FROM THE UNDERGROUND.
THE EMPIRE LIFEGUARD, ONE OF FOUR SHIPS USED TO HAUL WOULD-BE IMMIGRANTS FROM PALESTINE TO CYPRUS WHEN THEIR SHIPS ARE INTERCEPTED BY THE BRITISH NAVY, WENT DOWN WHEN A TIME BOMB RIPPED A HOLE THREE BY SIX FEET IN HER BOTTOM. SINCE THE BOMB WAS PLACED FAR BELOW THE WATERLINE, THE EXPLOSION WAS MUFFLED, RESEMBLING THE DEPTH CHARGES WHICH ARE INTERMITTENTLY DROPPED IN THE HARBOR TO DISCOURAGE ATTACKS BY "FROGMEN." CONSEQUENTLY, THE FIRST ALARM WAS NOT GIVEN UNTIL THE SHIP BEGAN TO SINK.
-900-
THE LIFEGUARD HAD BROUGHT 261 IMMIGRANTS FROM CYPRUS AND HAD DISCHARGED ALL BUT 40 OR 50. THESE WERE TAKEN OFF SAFELY.
THE SHIP SETTLED BY THE QUAYSIDE, WITH ONLY HER UPPER DECK, SUPERSTRUCTURE AND BARBED WIRE CAGES, WHICH ARE USED IN HAULING THE IMMIGRANTS, SHOWING ABOVE WATER.
THE PATTERN OF THE ATTACK SUGGESTED THAT IT WAS THE WORK OF HAGANA, THE ILLEGAL JEWISH MILITIA WHICH HAS UNDERTAKEN THE ORGANIZATION OF IMMIGRATION AGAINST BRITISH WISHES.
THIS WAS THE FOURTH ATTACK ON A DEPORTATION SHIP. THE FIRST WAS LAST AUGUST, WHEN "FROGMEN", OR UNDERWATER SWIMMERS, ATTACHED A MINE TO THE HULL OF ONE OF THE LIFEGUARD'S SISTER SHIPS, THE EMPIRE RIVAL. THE DAMAGE WAS SLIGHT. LAST APRIL AN INTERNAL EXPLOSION BLEW A HOLE IN THE BOTTOM OF THE OCEAN VIGOUR IN CYPRUS HARBOR, FILLING THE HOLD WITH WATER. THE FOLLOWING NIGHT THE EMPIRE RIVAL WAS BLASTED AGAIN WHILE ENROUTE FROM HAIFA TO PORT SAID, CAUSING HER TO TAKE CONSIDERABLE WATER.
THERE WERE NO CASUALTIES IN ANY OF THE ATTACKS, ALL OF WHICH HAVE BEEN ATTRIBUTED TO HAGANA.
THE EMPIRE SHIPS "REST" AND "COMFORT," WHICH WERE SCHEDULED TO BRING ADDITIONAL IMMIGRANTS FROM CYPRUS, HAD THEIR SAILING ORDERS CANCELLED TODAY WHILE THEY WAITED IN FAMAGUSTA HARBOR AT CYPRUS FOR A THOROUGH INSPECTION AGAINST MORE BOMBS.

A215
EACH MONTH 750 JEWS ARE ADMITTED FROM CYPRUS AS PART OF THE 1,500 MONTHLY IMMIGRATION QUOTA.
THREE OTHER INCIDENTS MARKED PALESTINE'S WAVE OF VIOLENCE TODAY. FOUR SOLDIERS WERE SERIOUSLY INJURED IN THE MINING OF A JEEP IN HAIFA.

30.24-11109

ANA AN OFFICER ANDONE SOLDIER WERE SERIOUSLY HURT AND FIVE PRIVATES SLIGHTLY HURT WHEN TWO TRUCKS WERE BLOWN UP BY MINES ON THE CITRUS BELT HIGHWAY BETWEEN REHOVETH AND RISHON LEZION.

A THIRD INCIDENT OCCURRED A FEW MILES FROM NATHANYA WHEN FOUR SOLDIERS WERE INJURED BY THE BLASTING OF A JEEP. SOLDIERS STILL SEARCHED THE MARTIAL LAW AREA OF NATHANYA FOR TWO KIDNAPPED BRITISH SERGEANTS BEING HELD AS HOSTAGES FOR THREE MEMBERS OF THE UNDERGROUND WHO HAVE BEEN SENTENCED TO DEATH.

TONIGHT A BRITISH ARMY OFFICER WAS WOUNDED BY A ROADSIDE MINE IN HAIFA AND AN EXPLOSION WAS HEARD IN THE JEWISH QUARTER OF THAT CITY.

JERUSALEM, JULY 23-(AP)-FOUR BRITISH SOLDIERS WERE SERIOUSLY INJURED IN A MINE EXPLOSION IN HAIFA TODAY IN A CONTINUING WAVE OF VIOLENCE FANNED BY JEWISH RESENTMENT OVER THE RECENT DEPORTATION OF 4,500 ILLEGAL IMMIGRANTS.

THE SOLDIERS WERE INJURED WHEN THE MILITARY CAR IN WHICH THEY WERE RIDING STRUCK A ROAD MINE IN THE AHUZA QUARTER ON MOUNT CARMEL AND WAS BLOWN INTO A DEEP RAVINE. -ADD-

THE INCIDENT BROUGHT TO EIGHT KILLED AND 55 WOUNDED THE TOLL OF CASUALTIES IN THE LAST EIGHT DAYS.

AN OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT, MEANWHILE, DISCLOSED THAT THE ENGINES OF THE BRITISH SHIP EMPIRE LIFEGUARD HAD BEEN SABOTAGED AS SHE ENTERED THE HARBOR OF HAIFA WITH 261 LEGAL JEWISH IMMIGRANTS BEING BROUGHT TO PALESTINE FROM CYPRUS.

FIRE BROKE OUT ON THE VESSEL, BUT WAS BROUGHT UNDER CONTROL BY NAVAL FORCES AFTER THE JEWS HAD BEEN HURRIEDLY DISEMBARKED.

THE IMMIGRANTS WERE PART OF THE REGULAR MONTHLY QUOTA GIVEN ENTRY CERTIFICATES AFTER BEING DETAINED AT CYPRUS, TO WHICH THE BRITISH HERETOFORE HAVE DEPORTED JEWS INTERCEPTED WHILE TRYING TO ENTER THE HOLY LAND ILLEGALLY.

BY RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO,THURSDAY,JULY 24-(AP)-RUSSIA'S REFUSAL TO JOIN AN 11-NATION PRELIMINARY CONFERENCE ON A PEACE TREATY FOR JAPAN CAUSED LITTLE SURPRISE TODAY BUT IT CHILLED SOME JAPANESE HOPES OF A SMOOTH SETTLEMENT.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AMERICAN AND OTHER ALLIED DIPLOMATIC OFFICIALS ALL ARE KNOWN TO FAVOR INCLUDING IN PEACE NEGOTIATIONS ALL NATIONS WHICH PLAYED A MAJOR PART IN THE PACIFIC WAR.

WHILE THERE WAS NO OFFICIAL COMMENT, THESE REPRESENTATIVES POINT OUT THAT THEY FOUGHT LONGER AND SUFFERED MORE IN THE PACIFIC HOSTILITIES THAN DID RUSSIA,WHICH HURRIEDLY JUMPED INTO THE WAR JUST BEFORE JAPAN SURRENDERED.

THE JAPANESE, ALWAYS APPREHENSIVE ABOUT RUSSIA, HAVE OPENLY EXPRESSED THE HOPE THAT THE UNITED STATES WILL GO AHEAD WITH THE CONFERENCE AND WILL INSIST UPON ELIMINATION OF THE VETO.

BUT THERE HAS BEEN SOME HOPE AMONG THE JAPANESE THAT THE RUSSIANS MIGHT JOIN AND SMOOTH THE WAY FOR A RAPID SETTLEMENT.

RUSSIA HAS BEEN BLOCKED FROM THE MAJOR ROLE IN THE OCCUPATION THAT SHE EVIDENTLY WANTED. IT HAS BEEN LONG EXPECTED THAT SHE THEN WOULD ATTEMPT TO HAVE A DOMINANT VOICE AT THE PEACE TABLE WITH THE USE OF THE VETO.

RUSSIA HOLDS ONE OF THE KEYS TO A COMPLETE PEACE SETTLEMENT. SHE HAS STRIPPED A GOOD PART OF JAPAN'S INDUSTRIAL WEALTH FROM MANCHURIA AS WAR LOOT. THIS HAS DECREASED JAPAN'S ABILITY TO PAY REPARATIONS AND HAS COMPLICATED THE WHOLE PROBLEM OF WAR PAYMENTS.

RUSSIA ALSO HAS OTHER IMPORTANT ASPECTS. SHE HOLDS THE KURILES AND SOME ADJACENT ISLANDS WHICH THE JAPANESE HAVE BEGUN TO ASK TO BE RETURNED. FISHING RIGHTS IN WATERS OFF THE NEW RUSSIAN AREAS, AS WELL AS OFF SIBERIA AND KAMCHATKA,&ALWAYS HAVE BEEN IMPORTANT TO THE JAPANESE, WHO APPARENTLY HOPE TO REGAIN SOME OF THESE RIGHTS IN THE PEACE TREATY.

INDONESIAN SEPARATE

BATAVIA, JAVA, JULY 23-(AP)-DUTCH TROOPS HELD ONLY FOUR BRIDGEHEADS IN JAVA AND THREE IN SUMATRA BEFORE THE START OF HOSTILITIES AGAINST THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC SUNDAY.

THESE, TURNED OVER BY BRITISH OCCUPATION FORCES UPON THEIR WITHDRAWAL LAST NOV.30, WERE, IN JAVA, AROUND SOERABAJA IN THE EAST, SEMARANG IN THE MIDDLE AND BANDOENG AND BATAVIA IN THE WEST; AND, IN SUMATRA, AROUND PALEMBANG IN THE SOUTHEAST, PADANG IN THE MIDDLE AND MEDAN IN THE NORTHWEST.

THE REPUBLIC CONTROLLED ALL THE REST OF THE TWO ISLANDS AND THE SMALLER ISLAND OF MADOERA NORTHEAST OF JAVA. ELSEWHERE IN THE EAST INDIES, THE DUTCH WERE IN CONTROL.

THE DUTCH BRIDGEHEAD AREAS ROUGHLY TOOK IN:

SOERABAJA--A HALF CIRCLE AROUND THE CITY PERHAPS EIGHT MILES DEEP. DURING THE TRUCE PERIOD INAUGURATED LAST FALL, THE DUTCH TWICE EXPANDED THIS BY ATTACKS THEY SAID WERE NECESSITATED WHEN THE INDONESIANS BROKE DIKES AND FLOODED THE AREA DEFENSIVELY, CAUSING STARVATION AMONG THE POPULATION. IN THE FIRST ATTACK THE DUTCH CAPTURED KRIAN. THE SECOND TIME THEY PUSHED TO MODJOKERTO, ABOUT 25 MILES WEST OF SOERABAJA, BUT AFTER POLITICAL NEGOTIATIONS WITHDREW PART WAY. THEIR BRIDGEHEAD BOUNDARY WAS ROUGHLY AT MODJOKERTO AT THE JUMPOFF.

SEMARANG--AN AREA A FEW MILES AROUND THE CITY OPENING UP IN THE NORTHEAST TO THE BATAVIA-BUITENZORG-BANDOENG ROAD, WHICH WAS ALL IN DUTCH HANDS AND WHICH WAS PATROLLED A MILE OR SO TO EACH SIDE THROUGHOUT ITS LENGTH.

BATAVIA--A CIRCLE ABOUT EIGHT MILES AROUND THE TOWN.

PALEMBANG--ORIGINALLY ONLY HALF THE CITY, BUT A DUTCH ATTACK THE COLONIAL AUTHORITIES SAID WAS TOUCHED OFF BY AN INDONESIAN HAND GRENADE RESULTED IN THE DUTCH OCCUPATION OF ALL THE TOWN AND A SMALL AREA OUTSIDE LAST WINTER. DUTCH DETACHMENTS ALSO WERE AT SHELL AND STANDARD-VACUUM OIL REFINERIES AT SOENGI GERONG A FEW MILES FROM PALEMBANG TOWARD STRAAT BANGKA (THE BANGKA STRAIT) NORTH OF SOUTH-EASTERN SUMATRA.

MEDAN--A SMALL AREA JUST AROUND THE CITY.

PADANG--A SMALL AREA JUST AROUND THE CITY.

SABANG, A HEAVILY GUNNED ISLAND AT THE NORTH TIP OF SUMATRA, ALSO WAS DUTCH HELD.

THESE FRONTS WERE GENERALLY STATIC UNTIL THE JUMPOFF, BUT THERE WERE FREQUENT PATROL CLASHES DURING THE TRUCE PERIOD IN A NO MAN'S LAND OF ABOUT A MILE AND A HALF BETWEEN DUTCH AND INDONESIAN FRONT LINES.

MK405AED

THE COMMUNIQUE SAID THOSE FROM THE NORTH, WHERE THEY HAD ESTABLISHED A 55-MILE BEACHHEAD RUNNING FROM PROBOLINGGO TO SITOEBONDO, HAD STRUCK INLAND 55 MILES TO CAPTURE DJEMBER AND THERE HAD BEEN JOINED BY THOSE LANDED SIMULTANEOUSLY AT BANJOEWANGI ON THE EAST COAST.

A81

THE ARMY SAID THE AVOWED INDONESIAN "SCORCHED EARTH" POLICY "MANIFESTED ITSELF CHIEFLY IN ROBBING THE MORE WELL-TO-DO INHABITANTS, ESPECIALLY THE CHINESE, AND BURNING THEIR PROPERTIES."

THE CURRENT CONFLICT AROSE FROM A DISAGREEMENT BETWEEN THE NETHERLANDS COLONIAL AUTHORITIES AND THE REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT OVER THE METHOD OF CARRYING OUT THE CHERIBON AGREEMENT FOR AN INDEPENDENT UNITED STATES OF INDONESIA.

ON SUMATRA, THE ARMY COMMUNIQUE REPORTED THAT A DUTCH COLUMN HAD

30.24-11111

MOVED MORE THAN 70 MILES TO THE WEST OF PALEMBANG IN THE SOUTHEASTERN PART OF THE BIG ISLAND.

THOUGH THE COLUMN'S PRESENT LOCATION WAS NOT REVEALED, THIS ADVANCE WOULD SEEM TO HAVE PUT IT IN CONTROL OF THE RICH OIL FIELDS THAT SUPPLY THE GREAT SHELL AND STANDARD-VACUUM REFINERIES AT PALEMBANG

THE COMMUNIQUE SAID OTHER DUTCH ELEMENTS LANCING EAST FROM THIS NETHERLANDS COLONIAL CAPITAL HAD MOVED 50 MILES BEFORE 6 P.M. YESTERDAY TO OCCUPY TAMBOEN, KRAWANG AND THE LITTLE COASTAL TOWN OF TJILAMAJA. THIS COLUMN WAS HEADED FOR CHERIBON, ABOUT 130 MILES EAST OF BATAVIA.

THE DUTCH COMMUNIQUE SAID THAT IN WEST JAVA TROOPS HAD PUSHED ABOUT 30 MILES SOUTHEAST FROM THEIR BUITENZORG JUMPING-OFF POINT AND CAPTURED THE BUITENZORG-TJIANDJOER RAILROAD INTACT AS A VITAL SUPPLY LINK.

ON THE BANDOENG FRONT IN WEST JAVA, CRACK DUTCH FORCES WERE SAID TO HAVE OVERRUN SEGALAHERANG, 15 MILES NORTH OF BANDOENG, AND TANDJOENGSARI, 12 MILES EAST OF THE SAME CITY.

IN SUMATRA, IN ADDITION TO THE PALEMBANG ADVANCE, THE COMMUNIQUE REPORTED THAT IN THE MIDDLE OF THE ISLAND DUTCH TROOPS SUCCESSFULLY OCCUPIED THE WHOLE PLAIN AROUND THE COASTAL CITY OF PADANG.

IT IS SAID THEY MOVED OUT OF MEDAN IN THE NORTHWEST AND CAPTURED BINDJAI, ABOUT 15 MILES WEST, AND ARNHEMIA, ABOUT 10 MILES SOUTH. SEMIOFFICIAL REPORTS SAID THEY WERE MEETING A STIFF FIGHT IN THIS SECTION.

THE ARMY SAID THAT SOLDIERS PUSHING SOUTH FROM THE BIG EASTERN NAVAL BASE OF SOERABAJA HAD TAKEN FIVE VILLAGES--PATJET, TRAWAS, TRETES, PANDAKAN AND BANGIL. PANDAKAN, THE FARTHEST SOUTH, IS ABOUT 25 MILES FROM SOERABAJA AND HALFWAY TO MALANG.

ON THE CENTRAL FRONT, THE COMMUNIQUE REPORTED THAT THE DUTCH IN THEIR SOUTHWARD ADVANCE FROM SEMARANG TOWARD JOGJAKARTA HAD TAKEN OENGARAN, TOENTANG, AMBARAWA AND SALATIGA, THE LAST 27 MILES FROM SEMARANG.

MEANWHILE, JOGJAKARTA WAS REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN THE TARGET OF A DUTCH AIR RAID TODAY.

THE JOGJAKARTA RADIO SAID FOUR DUTCH FIGHTERS STRAFED THE REPUBLICANS CAPITAL AT NOON AND THAT INDONESIAN ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS SHOT DOWN ONE OF THE PLANES. IN ALL, THE INDONESIANS SAID, FIVE DUTCH PLANES HAVE BEEN SHOT DOWN SINCE THE START OF HOSTILITIES.

THE REPUBLICAN COMMUNIQUE ADMITTED A NUMBER OF DUTCH GAINS ON VARIOUS FRONTS, IN SOME CASES PLACING DUTCH TROOPS AT POINTS WELL AHEAD OF THOSE MENTIONED IN THE DUTCH COMMUNIQUES. INDONESIANS CHARGED THAT THE DUTCH WERE USING JAPANESE TROOPS, BUT THIS WAS DENIED BY A DUTCH SPOKESMAN IN BATAVIA.

THE AIR ATTACK ON JOGJAKARTA WAS THE SECOND REPORTED FROM THE REPUBLICAN CAPITAL SINCE THE DUTCH SUNDAY NIGHT BEGAN WHAT THEY CALLED A "POLICE ACTION" AND WHAT THE REPUBLICANS SAID WAS A "COLONIAL WAR."

IN THE PREVIOUS AERIAL ATTACK ON JOGJAKARTA, FOUR DUTCH AIRCRAFT MONDAY NIGHT BOMBED THE AIRPORT JUST OUTSIDE THE CAPITAL, PROVOKING A BLACKOUT OF THE CITY.

TODAY'S BROADCAST SAID DUTCH PLANES HAD DROPPED 10 BOMBS WEIGHING 10 KILOGRAMS (ABOUT 22 POUNDS) ON GAROET, 30 MILES SOUTHEAST OF BANDOENG, IN TWO ATTACKS THAT SPREAD HEAVY CASUALTIES AMONG THE CHINESE POPULATION. BANDOENG IS IN WEST JAVA ABOUT 100 MILES EAST OF BATAVIA, DUTCH CAPITAL.

A46

EARLIER, A BROADCAST INDONESIAN ARMY COMMUNIQUE REPORTED THAT ROCKET-FIRING DUTCH PLANES MADE 15 ATTACKS YESTERDAY ON CHERIBON, REPUBLICAN NORTH-COAST PORT 75 MILES EAST OF BANDOENG. IT ALSO REPORTED THAT TWO DUTCH PLANES WERE SHOT DOWN AT PANDAAN, EAST JAVA, AND SOEMEDANG, WEST JAVA, AND THAT ONE HAD BOMBED AND STRAFED MADIOEN IN CENTRAL JAVA.

DUTCH CORRESPONDENTS TRAVELING WITH THE TROOPS REPORTED THAT THE LAST REPUBLICAN RESISTANCE WAS OVERCOME THIS MORNING AT THE IMPORTANT WEST JAVA RAIL CENTER OF SOEKABOEMI, ROUGHLY 50 MILES WEST OF BANDOENG.

THEIR DISPATCHES SAID THE RAILROAD LEADING EASTWARD TO BANDOENG AND WEST AND NORTH TO BUITENZORG AND BATAVIA WAS CAPTURED INTACT AND THE FIRST DUTCH-MANNED TRAIN REACHED SOEKABOEMI SHORTLY AFTER THE OCCUPATION.

THE REPUBLICANS BLEW UP THE POSTOFFICE AND PARTIALLY BURNED THE CHINESE QUARTER BEFORE WITHDRAWING, THE CORRESPONDENTS REPORTED.

ONE DISPATCH SAID DUTCH TROOPS IN A SURPRISE OPERATION SUNDAY NIGHT CAPTURED THE ELECTRIC POWER STATION NEAR THE DUTCH LINES OUTSIDE BATAVIA AND FOUND IT UNHARMED.

MAJ.GEN.H.DURST BRITT, COMMANDER OF THE DECEMBER SEVENTH DIVISION, WAS QUOTED AS SAYING THAT THE IMPORTANT KRAWANG BRIDGE OF THE BATAVIA-CHERIBON RAILROAD HAD BEEN SEIZED INTACT AND THAT HIS TROOPS NOW WERE PUSHING EASTWARD FROM THERE. KRAWANG IS ABOUT 40 MILES EAST OF BATAVIA, MORE THAN A THIRD OF THE WAY TOWARD CHERIBON.

THE INDONESIAN ARMY ANNOUNCEMENT REPORTED THAT DUTCH TROOPS EVIDENTLY DRIVING WESTWARD FROM EAST JAVA BEACHHEADS ESTABLISHED IN MONDAY LANDINGS, REACHED PASOEROEAN, SOME 20 MILES WEST OF PROBOLINGGO ON THE NORTH COAST, AND TURNED INLAND TOARD MALANG, 35 MILES SOUTHWEST. THEY HAD REACHED PANDAAN, A FEW MILES WEST OF PASOEROEAN, THE ARMY SAID, AND FIGHTING WAS IN PROGRESS THERE.

(IN DELHI, THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ANNOUNCED LAST NIGHT IT HAD MADE "URGENT REPRESENTATIONS" TO BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES IN REGARD TO THE HOSTILITIES IN INDONESIA, WHICH IT VIEWED WITH "GRAVE CONCERN."

(INDIA SAID SHE HAD URGED THAT THE TWO POWERS "MAKE EVERY EFFORT TO BRING AN IMMEDIATE CESSATION TO THE ARMED CONFLICT, RESUMPTION OF NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN THE PARTIES FOR AN AMICABLE SETTLEMENT OF THE DISPUTE OR, FAILING THAT, A RESORT TO ARBITRATION.")

(IN AMSTERDAM, THE NETHERLANDS CAPITAL, DOCK WORKERS' AND SEAMEN'S UNIONS, COMMUNIST AFFILIATED, ORDERED A BOYCOTT OF SHIPS BOUND FOR INDONESIA WITH GOODS THAT MIGHT "FURTHER, DIRECTLY OR INDIRECTLY, THE MILITARY FORCES." THE UNIONS ALSO URGED THE WORLD FEDERATION OF TRADE UNIONS TO ACT TO MAKE THE BOYCOTT WORLDWIDE.)

BULLETIN

JOGJAKARTA, JAVA, JULY 23-(AP)-A HIGH REPUBLICAN MILITARY SOURCE TODAY REPORTED A NEW DUTCH LANDING IN EAST JAVA ON THE SOUTH COAST NEAR LOEMADJANG, A GATEWAY TO REPUBLICAN-HELD MALANG.

THIS SOURCE EXPRESSED FEAR THAT MALANG AND THE RICH EAST JAVA SUGAR REGION SOON WOULD FALL TO DUTCH TROOPS.

LOEMADJANG IS ABOUT 50 MILES EAST OF MALANG AND SOME 25 MILES SOUTH OF PROBOLINGGO ON THE NORTH COAST, TAKEN AFTER ANOTHER DUTCH LANDING MONDAY.

MALANG ALSO APPEARED TO BE SERIOUSLY THREATENED FROM DUTCH FORCES BASED AT SOERABAJA, TO THE NORTH.

A REPUBLICAN ARMY COMMUNIQUE QUOTED A DELAYED REPORT FROM MALANG AS SAYING THAT DUTCH AND REPUBLICAN FORCES HAD CLASHED AT PANDAAN, WHICH IS ONLY 22 MILES NORTH OF MALANG AND THE SAME DISTANCE SOUTH OF SOERABAJA.

A REPUBLICAN COMMUNIQUE ALSO REPORTED STEPPED UP DUTCH AIR ACTIVITY IN THE BANDOENG AREA YESTERDAY AND SAID THAT THREE PLANES HAD DROPPED 15 BOMBS ON THE NORTH COAST PORT OF CHERIBON. OTHER DUTCH AIR ATTACKS WERE REPORTED ON SOMEDANG, TJIBATOE AND TJIKADJANG, ALL WITHIN A RADIUS OF ABOUT 20 MILES EAST AND SOUTH OF BANDOENG.

THE REPUBLICAN RADIO, MEANWHILE, BROUGHTCAST A FIERY APPEAL FROM SOETOMO, FAMOUS EAST JAVA REVOLUTIONARY LEADER, CALLING UPON ALL INDONESIANS TO FIGHT TO THE LAST DITCH AND TO KILL ALL DUTCH SOLDIERS WHOM THEY ENCOUNTERED.

HE URGED INDONESIANS IN DUTCH-HELD TERRITORY TO SABOTAGE DUTCH INSTALLATIONS AND BLOW UP AMMUNITION AND SUPPLY DUMPS.

AT THE SAME TIME TEDJA SUKMANA, VICE CHAIRMAN OF THE REPUBLICAN PARLIAMENTARY WORKING COMMITTEE, BROADCAST IN DUTCH AN APPEAL TO THE NETHERLANDS PARLIAMENT TO HALT THE WAR IN INDONESIA.

HE WARNED THAT THE INDONESIANS WERE PREPARED TO CARRY OUT A SCORCHED EARTH POLICY WHICH HE SAID THEY HAD LEARNED FROM THE DUTCH DURING THE JAPANESE INVASION OF THE INDIES.

DESPITE THE INCREASING THREAT TO JOGJAKARTA FROM DUTCH FORCES ADVANCING FROM THE NORTH, LIFE CONTINUED HERE AT ITS USUAL PACE. GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS KEPT THEIR USUAL HOURS AND THE STREETS WERE CROWDED DURING THE DAY.

EXCEPT FOR THREE TO FOUR ATTACKS DAILY BY DUTCH PLANES, WHICH HALT TRAFFIC, AND A NIGHTLY BLACKOUT, THERE HAS BEEN NO EVIDENCE OF ARMED CONFLICT HERE.

THE FIRST DEFENDANT TO TESTIFY WAS WARRANT OFFICER SHINJI SAKAGAMI, WHO WAS ACCUSED OF STRANGLING TWO AMERICAN PRISONERS "BECAUSE HE COULD NOT STAND TO SEE THEM SUFFER" AFTER THEIR FEET HAD BEEN BLOWN OFF WITH DYNAMITE.

SAKAGAMI TESTIFIED HE HAD DELIVERED THE DYNAMITE TO SURGEON COMMANDER TOKIKAZU OKUYAMA, SINCE DECEASED, BUT DID NOT TAKE PART IN THE DYNAMITING OF THE PRISONERS.

COMMUNISM (300)
WASHINGTON, JULY 23-(AP)-THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON UNAMERICAN ACTIVITIES PLANS TO HAND OVER TO THE ARMY, NAVY AND FBI TESTIMONY THAT SOVIET AGENTS GOT SECRET WARTIME INFORMATION ON AMERICAN PLANES AND SUBMARINES.

CHAIRMAN J.PARNELL THOMAS (R-NJ) TOLD REPORTERS OF THE INTENTION TODAY AS THE COMMITTEE SWITCHED ITS GENERAL INVESTIGATION OF COMMUNIST ACTIVITIES FROM SPYING TO UNION INFILTRATION.

SIX WITNESSES FROM WINSTON - SALEM,N.C., WERE ON TAP TO TESTIFY WHETHER COMMUNIST INFLUENCES HAVE BEEN AT WORK IN LOCAL 22 OF THE CIO FOOD, TOBACCO AND AGRICULTURAL WORKERS UNION. THE UNION HAS BEEN ON STRIKE AT THE R.J.REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY PLANT AT WINSTON-SALEM.

THE TESTIMONY ON PLANES AND SUBMARINES WHICH THE COMMITTEE CONSIDERED WORTHY OF PASSING ON TO INTERESTED GOVERNMENT AGENCIES WAS SUPPLIED YESTERDAY BY VICTOR A.KRAVCHENKO.

KRAVCHENKO, A FORMER OFFICIAL OF THE RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT WHO SOURED ON THE RED REGIME, SAID THAT WHILE HE WAS WITH THE SOVIET PURCHASING COMMISSION HERE SEVERAL YEARS AGO A MAN NAMED KHIMUSHKIN OBTAINED AN "ENORMOUS" MASS OF CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION ON THE AMERICAN AVIATION PROGRAM AND SENT IT TO MOSCOW.

SIMILAR INFORMATION WAS OBTAINED ON SUBMARINES, KRAVCHENKO SAID. LATER, BEHIND LOCKED DOORS HE TOLD THE COMMITTEE WHO WAS RESPONSIBLE.

KRAVCHENKO, WHO IS SEEKING AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP, WENT BEFORE ANOTHER HOUSE COMMITTEE TODAY TO TALK ABOUT THAT. A JUDICIARY SUBCOMMITTEE IS CONSIDERING A BILL THAT WOULD WAIVE SOME PROVISIONS OF THE NATURALIZATION LAWS SO THE RUSSIAN COULD BECOME A CITIZEN.

THE FORMER SOVIET OFFICIAL TOLD THE UNAMERICAN ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE THAT EVERY RESPONSIBLE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT IN THE UNITED STATES CAN BE REGARDED AS "ECONOMICAL OR POLITICAL SPIES."

THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT, HE SAID, IS FOLLOWING A FOREIGN POLICY THAT IS SURE TO LEAD TO A RUPTURE WITH THE UNITED NATIONS AND THEN TO WAR.

ASSERTING THAT STALIN'S DEATH WOULD NOT REMOVE RUSSIAN DIFFERENCES WITH THE WESTERN DEMOCRACIES, KRAVCHENKO ADDED THAT THEY WOULD CONTINUE UNDER A SUCCESSOR WHO PROBABLY WOULD BE FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV.

INDONESIANS MAP GUERRILLA WAR

Shift Strategy as Dutch Win Important Java Areas.

BATAVIA, Java, July 24 — (AP) The powerfully-equipped Dutch army in four days of mobile warfare apparently has won its campaign for control of Java's strategic areas—but in mountain and village strongholds the Indonesians planned tonight for another kind of resistance—guerrilla fighting.

Only on the northern approach to their capital of Jogjakarta did the Indonesians report a major success, and this claim was denied by the Dutch.

Indonesians Admit Gain

In the central Java area, where the Dutch earlier had penetrated within 30 airline miles of Jogjkarta, the Indonesians said their troops had slashed behind armor-supported Netherlands forces and rolled the Dutch back 12 miles toward the north coast port of Semarang. This Republican advance reportedly carried through smoldering Salatiga and the highway junction of Toentang.

Elsewhere the Dutch won spectacular victories, sometimes after Indonesian forces seemingly had vanished into thin air. In the east, Dutch marines sheared off a 2,400-square mile segment and overran the Bandowoso area, richest rice supply region on the island. This put the Dutch in control of the entire area east of a line running from Probolinggo on the Madoera strait south to the Indian ocean.

In the west, Dutch tanks in a swift 75-mile advance from Bandoeng had captured the major Republican port of Cheribon, birthplace of the still-disputed Indonesian independence agreement. This force of 50 tanks, the Indonesian radio said, by-passed Soemedang and Kadipaten.

A high Dutch officer said other Dutch units, operating between the eastern and central fronts, captured the key Indonesian stronghold of Malang.

Map Guerrilla Warfare

Unable to match their equipment against the tanks and aircraft of the Dutch, the Indonesians now were discussing how to conduct a fight in which snipers and spears might play a more important part than armored cars and planes. President Soekarno hinted at the new plan in an impassioned speech over the Jogjkarata radio.

Declaring that there will be "no law and order in Indonesia until we have our freedom," he appealed to the "whole Indonesian people—soldiers, laborers, religious leaders and especially youth—to fight the Dutch."

"Let each home, each river, each forest be the stronghold of your defense. Try to reoccupy every inch of our beloved soil taken from us by the Dutch," he declared.

Soekarno also broadcast an appeal to President Truman and the American people "to exert every effort to halt this war in Indonesia" and "stand up to the principles of justice and right for which you fought so valiantly only two years ago."

Scorch-Earth Policy

At a clandestine meeting tonight a well-informed Republican told reporters that Indonesian troops were under orders not to waste themselves in a futile attempt to block Dutch armor and infantry. They have been instructed to destroy as much property as possible and then retire for guerrilla action, he said.

In the Cheribon area, he continued, they were ordered to pull back into the mountains so that later they could strike down across slopes already green with terraced rice fields.

Dutch correspondents in Modjokerto, on the Dutch perimeter around Soerabaja, telegraphed that the native underground went into ation last midnight and the crackle of small arms fire continued until this afternoon.

Republicans were holding secret meetings even in Batavia, a center of Dutch strength in western Java.

Front line dispatches indicated that except among the tough Chinese warriors of North Sumatra the Dutch have encountered little organized opposition.

Reliable informants returning from the forward areas said contact has rarely been made with the Republican army despite Jogjakarta's claims of sharp clashes.

Dr. J. E. van Hoogstraten, Director of Economic Affairs for the Netherlands East Indies, said raw materials bottled up for nearly two years inside the Indonesian republic would begin moving into world markets probably in about a month.

Often Dutch troops find scores of abandoned pairs of shoes by the roadside—a sign the Indonesians have abandoned their uniforms and avoided capture by posing as barefooted, half-naked natives working in the rice fields.

There is reason to believe that most Dutch objectives have been reached, and that offensive action may soon be halted.

Spoor "Limits" Operation

In his first news conference since hostilities opened, Lieut. Gen. S. H. Spoor, commanding the Dutch campaign, said the "Republican army is mostly running." He reported that few prisoners had been taken.

No large-scale guerrilla action yet has appeared, the general said, but "mopping up will be necessary." General Spoor said he had orders for a "limited operation" and that the Dutch would not occupy the whole Republican area.

Reporting on the fighting in northern Sumatra, General Spoor said Dutch troops, advancing out of Medan, had encountered "fierce resistance" from Chinese Moslems, but that the resistance now had died down.

Dutch dispatches said thousands of Chinese were fleeing east toward Medan from the villages of Armen, Sunggal and Deji, which the Indonesians set afire and evacuated.

General Spoor confirmed reports that Dutch troops from the refinery center of Palembang in southern Sumatra had captured the Shell and Standard-Vacuum oil fields sixty miles west of there, without serious fighting. He said mopping up was under way.

The general reported the operation around Padang in west central Sumatra completed, except for mopping up.

The general said that on the west Java front the capture of Purwakarta was imminent. Purwakarta, twenty-eight miles northwest of Bandung, has been the headquarters of one Indonesian army division.

He called Republican reports of air attacks on cities "a bloody lie." He declared that the only objectives on which such attacks had been ordered were Indonesian airfields, where, he said, the Indonesians still had planes with Japanese instructors and Japanese pilot officers.

"I am sorry to say that a few pilots strafed a train and some cars and things like that, which they had no orders to do," General Spoor remarked. "The officers who are guilty will face disciplinary action."

General Spoor said his forces occupied Cheribon, key Republican port on Java's north coast, 130 miles east of this Dutch capital, without serious clashes and captured 30,000 tons of rubber there intact.

Dutch Reported Balked In Drive On Jogjakarta

Batavia, July 24 (AP)—Cheribon, important Northwest Java port, has fallen to a Dutch tank attack, but Indonesian republicans declared today that they had turned back a strong Dutch drive on their capital of Jogjakarta and now were closing in on the North Java port of Semarang.

A Dutch Army communiqué announced the capture of Cheribon. The Indonesian radio said the Dutch used a striking force of 50 tanks in an assault yesterday afternoon against the port, birthplace of the Indonesian independence agreement. These forces, the broadcast said, bypassed Soemedang and Kadipaten.

An Indonesian Army communiqué said republican forces in the east-central sector had seized Modjokerto, on the outer rim of the Dutch perimeter around the once-powerful naval base of Soerabaja. This was one of the areas held by the Dutch before the outbreak of hostilities Sunday. Modjokerto is 28 miles southwest of Soerabaja.

A Harassing Attempt

The Modjokerto action was apparently an attempt by the republicans to harass Dutch forces driving on the stronghold of Malang. The Indonesian communiqué said the drive had been halted 35 miles southeast of the city.

The Indonesian objective in Central Java appeared to be to cut off Semarang as a base for the Dutch armored spearheads driving on Jogjakarta. Indonesian news reports said the Dutch had withdrawn more than 10 miles and that Toentang, highway junction south of Semarang, had been recaptured by the republicans.

The Dutch denied the drive on Jogjakarta was halted.

Dutch marines, the communiqué said, have sheared off a 2,400-square-mile segment of East Java, overrunning the Bondowoso area, richest rice-supply area on the island.

Antara said Indonesian forces had whipped behind a Dutch spearhead at Salatiga, north of Jogjakarta, and forced the armor-supported Dutch to abandon the burning town and retire 10 miles north to Toentang.

Report Drives Halted

Premier Amir Sjarifoeddin told a news conference in Jogjakarta that the Dutch drives on Jogjakarta and Malang were stopped, at least temporarily, but he said he could not confirm the report of the Dutch withdrawal as far as Toentang.

He said republicans reoccupied Lawang, 15 miles north of Malang, in East Central Java, and had pushed the Dutch forces back 6 miles to Soekeredjo.

The Indonesian scorched-earth policy is going well in the Malang area, he said.

Lieut. Gen. Siem B. Spoor, commanding the Dutch campaign, said the Indonesians for the most part were in flight. He denied that the Indonesians had retaken Salatiga, insisting that Dutch troops remained in the town, which is astride a mountain highway leading to Jogjakarta.

Few Prisoners Taken

The Dutch commander denied that a republican counterattack had taken Salatiga. He said that Dutch troops were at Salatiga and that fires were burning there.

Spoor said that "the republican army is mostly running." He reported few prisoners taken but said large quantities of rifles, machine guns, ammunition and supplies had been captured.

No large-scale guerrilla action yet has appeared, the General said, but "mopping up will be necessary." He declared Indonesian "scorched-earth" tactics had been reported from many places.

Spoor added that he had orders for a "limited operation" and that the Dutch would not occupy the whole republican area. Before hostilities began Sunday night the republic controlled most of Java, Sumatra to the northwest and Madoera to the northeast.

Rubber Captured

Spoor said his forces had seized 30,000 tons of rubber intact in capturing Cheribon.

He reported that a tank-spearheaded column moving along the road from Bandoeng, 70 miles west of Cheribon in the interior, had encountered some trouble at Soemedang, about a third of the way to the port city, because a bridge had been destroyed there.

Cheribon Falls to Netherlands Troops—Indonesians Block Thrust at Capital.

Jogjakarta, Java, July 24 (A. P.).—President Soekarno of the Indonesian Republic broadcast an appeal tonight to President Truman and the people of the United States "to exert every effort to halt this war in Indonesia and bring about a peaceful settlement."

"Just as you in the United States in 1776 fought until you gained your independence, so shall we fight until we are free," he said.

"This fight to the finish can only be stopped if the Dutch cease their military action and join us, with the British, in mediation of our dispute.

"But I strongly feel the influence of some other great powers is needed to bring them to do this. You of the United States should not underestimate the power of your position. By virtue of principles for which you stand, by reason of your tremendous strength and international respect which is accorded you, and by virtue of your glorious fight in the last war, you stand at the front of forces of democracy in the modern world.

"I appeal to you, President Truman, and the people of the United States to stand up to the principles of justice and right for which you fought so valiantly only two years ago."

He called on the "whole Indonesian people—soldiers, laborers, religious leaders and especially youth—to fight the Dutch." He said there could be "no law and order in Indonesia until we have our freedom."

"It is now clear that the Dutch action is not a police action, as they said, but wholesale colonial war to reimpose the old colonial regime," Soekarno asserted.

Indonesian Warns Of War for Years

Suahrir Says Dutch Will Be Unable to Export

NEW DELHI, India, July 24 (AP).—Sutan Sjahrir, former Indonesian Premier now on a special mission to present the Indonesian case abroad, said today that the Indonesians were determined to carry on guerrilla warfare against the Dutch for years.

He told reporters he feared a "military decision might be reached if no outside help was forthcoming quickly" for his people, but declared that even if th e Dutch forces prevailed, they could not consolidate the victory and control the people.

"The Dutch cannot expect to be able to to export rubber r any other raw material from Indonesia after carrying on warfare against the people," he said.

Declaring that all political parties in Indonesia were resisting the Dutch, he said that in Sumatra "we now have the initiative and I believe we can hold Sumatra for quite some time to come."

"I am convinced," Mr. Sjahrir said, "that if the Dutch could have waited for only seven days—even five days more—this whole business of hostilities could have been avoided."

After receiving a report from Mrs. Sjahrir on the fighting in Indonesia, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, External Affairs Minister of the Indian Dominion Government, asked at the press conference: "What has become of the United Nations?"

He said: "If other members of the United Nations tolerate this or remain inactive, then the United Nations organization ceases to be."

COMMONS SITS 20 HOURS

Rejects Changes in Transport Bill in Rowdy Session

LONDON, July 24 (AP)—The House of Commons sent the £1,000,000,000 transport nationalization bill back to the House of Lords for final action today after a rowdy, non-stop session that lasted twenty hours and twenty minutes, ending shortly before 11 o'clock this morning.

More than 200 M. P.'s, yawning, haggard and unshaven, were in the chamber at the end of the marathon debate in which charges of drunkenness, impudence and "spoils" politics were flung amid appeals for more dignity in the proceedings. One member barked like a dog when the argument turned to greyhound racing.

The Labor majority accepted a number of the Lords technical amendments to the bill, which puts all railroads and long-distance motor transport under public ownership, but turned down more than forty amendments that would have changed the measure vitally.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, July 24.—Red-eyed, haggard members of the House of Commons—some stretched out and snoring and one barking like a dog—ended a near-record all-night session today.

In the 20-hour sitting which saw accusations of drunkenness hurled across the House floor, the heavy Labor majority defeated more than 40 House of Lords amendments to the billion-pound ($4,000,000,000) Transport Nationalization bill.

The acrimonious session broke up with a discussion of greyhound racing, enlivened when an unidentified member barked merrily for nearly two minutes.

The overnight marathon virtually put finishing touches to a measure bringing railroads and long-distance motor transport under public ownership.

One of several angry exchanges occurred when Maj. Edward Legge-Bourke asserted that several government Ministers were drunk. Cries of protest rose from the Labor benches. Ordered by the chair to withdraw the remark, Maj. Legge-Bourke said he meant drunk with power.

Then he asserted that a Labor member who challenged him was seeing double. Fresh shouts of protest broke out and Maj. Legge-Bourke said acidly: "I find that my opening remarks are being indorsed every minute that I go on."

Deputy Speaker James Milner, who earlier reproved a Conservative for referring to Labor members as a "cheeky crowd of beasts," ended the uproar by telling both parties to behave themselves.

"We must have some dignity," he said.

Commons Told Of Atom Research In Britain

London, July 24 (AP)—John Wilmot, Minister of Supply, told the House of Commons today that research at an atomic energy experimental station at Harwell "is making very good progress indeed."

He said the first experimental pile will be in operation later this year and that the adaptation of a factory at Springfield to produce pure uranium was proceeding smoothly.

Wilmot explained that the center at Harwell was devoted to general research and that another, at Sellafield, would concentrate on the practical production of fissionable material.

British-Russ Trade Pact Hopes Revive

London, July 24 (AP)—A Board of Trade spokesman reported today that Britain's trade mission in Moscow had put off its return to London, scheduled tentatively for today, thus raising hopes once more that a projected British-Russian trade agreement might still be concluded.

J. Harold Wilson, chief British negotiator, last night saw Russia's Foreign Trade Minister, A. I. Mikoyan, in what was generally thought might be their final meeting.

The Board of Trade spokesman said he had received Cabinet instructions to place before the Russians this country's "final offer" for wheat supplies the Soviet Union had indicated would be available.

The spokesman said today:

"We received a cable late last night from Wilson reporting he would not be coming back today. This suggests the Russians may have modified their wheat-price demands."

Wilson has been in Moscow for several weeks seeking big supplies of Russian wheat, food and timber.

Official sources have reported that Russia has offered Britain 6,000,000 tons of wheat and cereals over the next four years.

British Outline New Regime For Malaya

London, July 24 (AP)—Revised proposals for the establishment of a Federation of Malaya, which would put nine Malay states and two British settlements under British protection, were announced in a white paper published today.

A new Order in Council, replacing the Malayan Union Order in Council of 1946, provides for the government of the British settlements of Penang and Malacca and gives force to an agreement to be made with the rulers of Perak, Selangor, Negri Sembilan, Pahang, Johore, Kedah, Kelantan, Trengganu and Perlis.

Additional territory may be included by agreement with the Malay rulers.

To Keep Prerogatives

Each ruler, under the new order, will have the prerogatives he enjoyed before the Japanese occupation, and Britain will have jurisdiction only in matters of foreign affairs and defense.

The federation's central government will consist of a High Commissioner appointed by the King, a federal Executive Council and a federal Legislative Council, which will be empowered to legislate over a field wide enough to ensure a strong central government.

"Reserved power" is accorded the High Commissioner to give effect to any bill which the Legislative Council fails to pass in "reasonable" time and which he considers necessary.

British officials expressed hope that the federation's new constitution would be inaugurated within a few months.

U.S., British Plan Ruhr-Coal Talks

London, July 24 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today Great Britain would send a delegation of three or four men to Washington for "official talks on technical matters connected with increasing coal production in the Ruhr," great German mine region.

He said that "further amplification" of the proposed agenda for the conference was awaited from Washington.

A high American source said the two countries had settled their differences over a conference on Germany.

Accept U.S. Position

The informant said the British had agreed with the American position that other questions such as financing and feeding of the economically merged American and British zones of Germany should not be subjects of the decisions.

He said the British also agreed to hold the talks in Washington rather than Berlin, as suggested earlier.

The informant said an announcement of the agreement was expected soon.

Object To U.S. Proposal

The conference had been scheduled tentatively last week, but the British objected to an American proposal to limit decisions to the Ruhr-coal production.

An informed British source said the British had wanted to discuss revision of administration in the bizonal area, including a proposal that the United States assume 30 per cent of the cost of feeding and administering the zones, instead of the current 50-50 cost sharing.

The British Foreign Office declined comment.

Better Understanding

The American informant said settlement of the differences, which Foreign Secretary Bevin and Ambassador Lewis Douglas discussed at a conference Monday, resulted from better understanding on both sides after explanations.

The American position was that the United States could not commit itself on such questions as financing the two zones, he said, since any additional money would have to come from Congress, due to adjourn July 26.

The foremost immediate point in the United States view, he said, was the problem of increasing Ruhr production before winter, and American experts thought one of the biggest defects lay in the managerial setup of the Ruhr mines, which lie in the British zone.

3-POWER TALK IS PROJECTED

France Willing To Attend Conference On Germany

Paris, July 24 (AP)—A three-power conference of France, Britain and the United States on a number of German problems—the first since four-power control of Germany was established—was projected tonight following a French spokesman's announcement of willingness to attend such a meeting.

The spokesman said France would accept an invitation from United States Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, to attend three-power talks on the future level of industry in western Germany, control of the Ruhr industrial basin, management and ownership of the Ruhr coal mines and similar administrative problems.

Britain, O.K.'s Proposal

But the spokesman shied away from a conference which would involve making hard and fast decisions in Russia's absence, and said the conference would not deal with the problem of increasing Ruhr coal production.

Meanwhile, a British Foreign Office spokesman announced in London that Britain finally had accepted an American proposal to hold a British-American conference in Washington on coal production, probably next week.

The place, time and other conditions of the French-American-British conference are undecided, the French spokesman said.

Only 'Study' Question

He said in the French view this conference would only "study" the questions of industrial level, socialization of the coal mines and so on, and would not necessarily make decisions in advance of the London meeting of the Foreign Ministers Council in November.

British-American authorities in Germany recently were reported to have agreed upon a level of 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 tons in their two zones. An announcement, however, never was made.

The French spokesman said French authorities learned of the plan last week and Georges Bidault, Foreign Minister, at once protested to the American and British ambassadors that a question of such importance to the future of Europe should not be determined without French participation.

Message To Bidault

The spokesman said as a result Marshall had sent this message to Bidault:

"Since my message of July 18, I have pursued my study of the problems you have raised regarding the proposals formulated by the American and British authorities in Germany on the level of industry in the bi-zone, and the management and control of coal mines in Germany.

"To allow the time needed for a complete examination of French views on these problems, the United States will suspend all statements on its proposed revision within the bi-zone until the French Government has had a reasonable opportunity ot discuss the question with the United States and Britain.

Bevin Informed

"I have already contacted Mr. Bevin [British Foreign Secretary] in this respect, and I think I shall soon be able to indicate the manner in which such a tri-partite examination can be held.

"I am informed by Mr. Bevin that the British Government is now studying the whole situation. Consequently, I hope within several days to proceed with you on a detailed study of these issues."

[The State Department in Washington declined to release the text of Secretary Marshall's note, explaining it was a personal message to Bidault. The department said the French report of the note was correct, however.]

Britain's acceptance of an invitation to Washington to talk on coal problems was after differences over the agenda. Britain wanted to include discussion of such problems as food and finance, arguing that they were related to coal production.

French To Join Talks On German Industry

Paris, July 24 (AP)—A French spokesman said today France would accept the United States proposal for a British-French-American conference on the future level of industry in Germany.

The spokesman said France was awaiting more precise details of the American proposal before making an official reply.

He said the projected discussions also would cover control of the Ruhr industrial basin, and management and ownership of Ruhr coal, but would not deal with administrative measures to increase Ruhr coal production.

No Washington Talks

Such administrative steps, he said, concerned only British and American authorities as zonal administrators. Thus, he said, France would not participate in the British-American talks expected to be held in Washington.

Secretary of State Marshall, in a letter on Monday to Foreign Minister Bidault, said he would indicate soon how such a tripartite conference could be held, and the spokesman said it was this added information for which the French Government was waiting.

4,500 Jews Now At Sea

Paris, July 24 (AP)—While 4,500 Jews without home or country tossed at sea tonight on their return from an unsuccessful effort to crash the gates of Palestine, the governments of Britain and France remained just as much at sea over where to land these cargoes of humanity.

The British, bringing the would-be immigrants back in three transports after removing them from the Exodus of 1947, one-time Chesapeake Bay liner, said the ultimate destination of the refugees was a matter for France to decide.

A spokesman for the Jewish Agency said the Jews might not land at all but stage a sit-down strike on the ships.

French Premier Paul Ramadier said France would accept them "as Jewish immigrants in transit" but "we cannot force them to leave the ships."

The French had been informed that the three British transports were bringing the immigrants, including 1,800 women and children, to Villefranche-Sur-Mer, 2 miles from Nice, today or tomorrow.

Immigrants In Transit

But tonight a spokesman for Ramadier's office said "you can say officially that the French Government does not know right now where the immigrants from the Exodus are going to land."

Earlier, Ramadier said the British had asked his Government to accept responsibility for the immigrants because they sailed from the French port of Sete. France did not have to accept them, he said, but was doing so and would harbor them as long as necessary because France could not "close her eyes" to the plight of refugees who had endured years of Hitler persecution.

Meanwhile, Peter Bergson, chairman of the Hebrew Committee of National Liberation, referring to the voyage of the Exodus, told newsmen:

"The ship, the funds, and the volunteer crew all came from America. More than 1,000 American sailors have volunteered to take the place of their fallen comrades."

leave the vessels.

The Jews left Sete, France, two weeks ago aboard the Exodus of 1947, the former S.S. President Warfield, in an attempt to reach Palestine, but were taken in custody today at sea by British Navy men. The Jews lacked immigration certificates.

Premier Paul Ramadier said Britain had asked France to take over the group, but added, "We cannot force them to leave the ship."

"We will accept them as Jewish immigrants in transit and see that they are cared for, even if it means giving them jobs to which they are suited," Ramadier said.

The British vessels were expected to arrive at a French Mediterranean port today or tomorrow.

France, Argentina Sign Trade Pact

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 24—France and Argentina were linked today by a commercial treaty under which France will receive $148,200,000 in credits for food purchases.

The pact was signed in the presence of Senora Eva Peron, wife of the Argentine president, who earlier was the guest of honor at a dinner in the foreign ministry.

Refugees On Ship May Stage Sitdown

Paris, July 24 (AP)—A Jewish Agency spokesman said today the 4,500 or more Jewish immigrants being returned to France from Palestine by three British deportation ships might stage a sitdown strike upon arrival and refuse to

Europe Group Asks Data

Economic Committee Requests Information for Recovery Plan

PARIS, July 24 (AP).—The European Economic Committee today gave its sixteen member nations ten days in which to supply data for use in mapping a co-ordinated plan under the Marshall proposal for European recovery.

The economic committee's steering committee approved five questionnaires dealing with food, power, metal industries, inland transport and maritime transportation to which answers are requested by Aug. 3.

ITALY'S ASSEMBLY OPENS DEBATE ON RATIFYING TREATY

ROME, July 24—(AP) Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza opened an assembly debate on ratification of the Italian peace treaty today by announcing he had received telegrams which "confirmed the desire of Soviet Russia to ratify" the pact.

Russia is the only one of the big victor powers who has not ratified the pact which the Italian government, after much reluctance, has finally presented to the assembly for ratification.

Communist, pro-Communist, socialist and right-wing qualunquist speakers were expected to oppose ratification. A government motion to consider the treaty passed in the assembly last night by the narrow margin of 232 to 204.

Sforza termed the treaty "suffocating," but laid great emphasis on hope for eventual revision of some of its terms and on the necessity of ratification by Aug. 10, by which date he said Italy's chance of becoming a member of the United Nations would be ended for this year.

Britain already had expressed willingness to revise military and naval clauses affecting her alone, Sforza said, and President Truman had "touched our hearts" by a recent speech which referred to Italy's role in the war at the side of the allies.

Greatest opposition to the treaty arises from clauses which virtually wipe out the Italian navy, lop off colonial territories and call for $360,000,000 in reparations.

Russ Set To Ratify Italy Pact

Rome, July 24 (AP)—Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza told the Italian Constituent Assembly today he received telegrams which "confirmed the desire of Soviet Russia" to ratify the Italian peace treaty.

All three of the other major powers have ratified the treaty. British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin yesterday urged Italy to speed her ratification, adding that the Italians apparently were holding back in the belief that the Russians would not ratify.

Sforza, opening an Assembly debate on ratification, strongly urged the Constituent Assembly to accept the treaty before August 10, by which date he said Italy's chance for entry into the United Nations would be ended for this year.

The Government announced it would try for immediate action. Indications from a test vote of the Assembly last night were that ratification was imminent.

Clayton Received by Pope

ROME, July 24 (AP).—William L. Clayton, Under Secretary of State for Economic Affairs, who is in Italy for economic conferences, was received by Pope Pius XII in a thirty-minute audience today. He was guest of honor at a state luncheon given by Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza.

Albania To Refer Corfu Dispute To World Court

The Hague, July 24 (AP)—The registry of the International Court of Justice said today Albania was prepared to appear before the tribunal to answer British complaints about mine explosions in Corfu Channel in which two British destroyers were damaged.

A court spokesman said Albania accepted a recommendation of the United Nations Security Council to refer the dispute to the court.

Aid for Refugees in Austria

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, July 24 (AP).—About 210,000 German refugees in Austria will be eligible for legal protection and resettlement under a resolution adopted today by the preparatory commission for the International Refugee Organization. They will not be eligible for care and maintenance by the I. R. O. More than half of them entered Austria since the end of the war.

Russians Reducing Force in Germany

300,000 Still Remaining; U. S. Has 130,000

BERLIN, July 24 (AP).—Authoritative Allied sources said today that, despite the turbulent international situation, the Russians have been withdrawing their troops from Germany steadily during the last year.

Estimates of the present strength of the Russian forces in Germany now range from 300,000 to 350,000 men. A year ago, the same sources estimated the Russian forces at more than 500,000.

American strength in Germany is placed at about 130,000, the British are estimated to have something more than 200,000 and the French are believed to have fewer than 100,000.

The reports revealed that, while the numbers of Russian troops have gone steadily down, the withdrawals have been made in such a way that effective fighting units could be built up quickly.

American withdrawals have been by complete units. The only American combat division left in Germany in any form is the 1st Infantry Division.

Negotiations in the Allied Control Council to carry out the Foreign Ministers' directive to submit recommendations for occupation force strength in Germany remain deadlocked.

Chancellery Marble Used

BERLIN, July 24 (AP)—Parts of the pink marble chancellery in which Adolf Hitler worked are being re-created into memorials to Prime Minister Stalin and the Soviet Army. German workmen were digging out the slabs of Bavarian marble, granite walls, columns and mosaic floors today and carting them, under Russian direction, to Soviet cemeteries. There the pieces will be fashioned into two 260-foot obelisks. The cemeteries are in the Berlin sections of Treptow and Choenholz.

Anglo-U. S. Mission to Prague

BERLIN, July 24 (AP).—A delegation of American and British military government representative left Berlin by plane today for Prague to seek a trade agreement between Czechoslovakia and the combined Anglo-American zones of Germany.

Berlin Blast Laid To Carelessness

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, July 24.—German police today officially blamed gross carelessness in the handling of old munitions, marked for disposal, for the explosion which yesterday destroyed part of a police headquarters building in the Russian sector, killed nine Germans and injured nine.

Although a British-licensed newspaper suggested there was a possibility that sabotage was responsible for the explosion, police headquarters denied this.

The police said that the explosion was caused by old war mines brought in by the police bomb disposal squad.

The squad violated a rule that no such materials were to be brought into the interior, a headquarters spokesman said.

U.S. Grain Gives Germans 2 Extra Loaves of Bread

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, July 24—The United States has poured grain into Germany at such a rate that Germans will be able to get two extra loaves of brown bread during the next four-week ration period in the Anglo-American zones, it was officially announced today.

During the first three weeks of July the United States shipped 264,000 tons of bread-grains and flour into the Anglo-American zones at a cost of almost $32,000,000 to American and British taxpayers. More than 20,000 tons of other foods, mainly dried milk, were also received from abroad.

15,648 Germans Arrive in Year

By the Associated Press.

BREMEN, July 24.—American officials said today that 15,648 emigrants and 4856 repatriates had sailed from Germany for the United States in the last year. They were admitted under the unused immigration quota that developed during the war.

McKibbin Takes Berlin Post

BERLIN, July 24 (AP).—George B. McKibbin, Chicago lawyer and former director of finance for the State of Illinois, arrived here today to assume his new duties as director of the American Military Government's internal affairs and communications division. He succeeds Dwight P. Griswold, former Nebraska Governor who recently left to become director of the American aid mission to Greece.

Fritz Kuhn Jailed As 'Major Nazi'

Munich, Germany, July 24 (AP)—Fritz Kuhn, former leader of the German-American Bund, was in a Munich jail tonight facing possible trial as a "Nazi offender" by a court of his German neighbors.

The Munich public prosecutor, Julius Herss, said Kuhn, 50, a German sympathizer who was deported from the United States, was arrested Monday.

Herss said Kuhn would be charged as a "major Nazi" under the German de-Nazification law. Kuhn, if convicted could be sentenced to ten years' hard labor.

Herss said he had Kuhn brought before him and told the former Bund leader that he would be charged "on account of his extraordinary support of the Nazi regime by propagandist means."

At Neudeck prison, Kuhn said he had no idea why he had been arrested and that he had been given no copies of charges against him.

Complaining that he had not been allowed to get in touch with his wife or a lawyer, he said:

"We in the United States never did such unfair things."

Stalin Pledges 1947 Return of Austrian P. W.s

Letter Featured in Vienna Reds Paper; Government Won't Estimate Number

VIENNA, July 24 (AP).—A promise that all Austrian prisoners of war now held in the Soviet Union would be freed this year was contained in a letter from Prime Minister Stalin published here today in the Communist party newspaper "Volksstimme."

The letter, dated July 21 and addressed to the four Communist members of the Austrian Parliament, was printed across all five columns of the tabloid newspaper under large headlines.

"The Soviet government has decided to speed up the release and transport of Austrian prisoners of war from the U. S. S. R. in such a way as to grant the return of all Austrians by the end of the year; the Austrian government will be informed of the decision," the letter said.

Declaring in an editorial that the communication was "the best news" since the day of Austria's liberation from Germany, the newspaper said: "Today not only Austrian women but the entire Austrian nation thank Generalissimo Stalin for his aid and understanding."

Government sources refused to estimate the number of prisoners still in Russia or the number of those released by other Allies. One official said the Western powers have had no Austrian prisoners of war since Belgium returned a large number in May. He added that some Austrians still were held in France as alleged war criminals.

The "Oesterreichische Zeitung," Soviet Army newspaper in Vienna, published today a charge that American occupation authorities were "destroying Austria's harvest and cattle breeding." The newspaper said the Americans imposed a ban on transportation of badly needed livestock to the Russian occupation zone in eastern Austria, where nearly all the country's grain is produced.

It asserted there was a greater shortage of livestock in eastern Austria than anywhere else in the country, and said this was due partly to transportation of cattle to the Western zones.

An American spokesman at United States Army headquarters called the charge "ridiculous" and asked how it was "possible to export anything out of the closed Russian zone."

Pledge To Austrian PW's

Vienna, July 24 (AP)—The Communist party newspaper Volkstimme today published prominently a letter from Soviet Prime Minister Stalin promising that all Austrian prisoners of war now held in Russia would be freed this year.

The letter was addressed to the four Communist members of the Austrian Parliament.

In an editorial in adjoining columns, the paper called the communication "the best news since the day of the liberation" from Germany.

Thanks To Stalin

"Today not only Austrian women, but the entire Austrian nation," Volkstimme said, "thank Generalissimo Stalin for his aid and understanding."

Government sources today refused to estimate the number of prisoners still in Russia or already released by the other Allies.

One official, however, said the Western Powers have had no PW's since Belgium returned a large number last May. Some Austrians are still held in France as alleged war criminals, he added.

Text Of Letter

The text of the Stalin letter, printed across all five columns of the tabloid newspaper under large headlines, follows:

"This is to inform you that the Soviet Government has discussed your letter, in which you tell us of the many queries of dependents of Austrian prisoners of war still held in the U.S.S.R. and ask us to speed up the release of these prisoners.

"The Soviet Government has decided to speed up the release and transport of Austrian prisoners of war from the U.S.S.R. in such a way as to grant the return of all Austrians by the end of the year.

"The Austrian Government will be informed of the decision."

Grounds for Jailing Red Foe Revealed

By the Associated Press.

SOFIA, July 24.—The government published today the text of an indictment against Nikola Petkov, jailed general secretary of the opposition Agrarian Party, accusing him of conspiring to overthrow the Communist dominated Fatherland Front government and establish a new regime with himself as its head.

(The U. S. State Department on June 11 denounced Mr. Petkov's arrest and suggested that Bulgaria, in trying him, would place herself on trial before the bar of public opinion).

ATHENS ACTS TO JAIL COMMUNIST LEADER

Warrant Also Accuses Labor Ex-Minister of Red Plot to Start Uprising in Greece

ATHENS, July 24 (AP)—Government prosecution officials tonight issued warrants for the arrest of Nicolas Zachariades, leader of the Greek Communist party, and Miltiades Porphyrogenis of the EAM, former Labor Minister, accusing them of an alleged Communist plot to start an uprising in Greece and "anti-national activities."

Issuance of the warrants was the first legal action taken against the Communists since Leftist guerrilla armies launched a series of major attacks against cities and towns in northern Greece two weeks ago.

Mr. Porphyrogenis, in a recent speech to French Communists at Strasbourg, advocated the creation of a "free" Greek government. Later, the Government expressed official surprise that the Leftist military forces had not already proclaimed a free Communist state in northern Greece.

Meanwhile, Constantin Rodopoulos, Governor General of northern Greece, dared the Communists to establish such a state and said that if they did, "I'll be there within forty-eight hours."

Mr. Rodopoulos said in an interview that the Communists "cannot establish a provisional government in northern Greece. They do not have the strength. We can go anywhere they are, but they cannot go where we are."

He said that more than twenty northern Greek villages had been evacuated in the last few weeks because of increased guerrilla activity and that 110,000 refugees from pillaged towns had flocked into the larger cities.

Reports Communists Kill 23 in Greek Raid

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, July 24.—A 300-man Communist band was reported by the Greek Ministry of Public Order last night to have killed 23 civilians and wounded 16 in the north central Greek village of Anatolikon. Sixteen of the dead, the ministry said, were women and children.

Russians Accuse U. S. Again

MOSCOW, July 24 (AP)—The Government's newspaper, Izvestia, accused the United States today of employing Trojan-horse tactics in Austria and said some influential American circles "would like to make Austria into a colony."

The article said that "Austria holds a well known place in the plans of international reactionaries. They rely on establishing there one of their bridgeheads, a bastion that could threaten the democratic countries of eastern and southeastern Europe."

Declaring that the "prosaic dollar" serves as a Trojan horse in Austria, Izvestia said that "Viennese reactionaries would like to hand over their country to foreign capitalists wholesale." The Truman Doctrine, the newspaper said, "has given them fresh energy."

MOSCOW PARLEY GAINS

British Jubilant Over Results of Talks on Trade

MOSCOW, July 24 (AP)—Major progress toward an Anglo-Soviet trade agreement was indicated today after a meeting between Harold Wilson, British Overseas Trade Secretary, and Soviet Ministry of Foreign Trade officials.

British circles were jubilant after the meeting and their attitude was interpreted in Moscow as indicating a solution of issues that had prevented an agreement.

Mr. Wilson had prepared to leave Moscow today. Yesterday he made a courtesy call at the Foreign Trade Ministry to say goodbye to the officials. He was said to have reviewed the British position and, unexpectedly, to have been asked to continue the negotiations today.

Mr. Wilson has been in Moscow several weeks, seeking supplies of Russian wheat and other cereals and timber in exchange for British manufactured goods.

British Reported on Trail Of Ship with 400 Refugees

JERUSALEM, July 24—(AP) Haganah, the underground Jewish resistance organization, said tonight another refugee ship named "Return to Zion" and carrying 400 unauthorized refugees was approaching Palestine waters and that British destroyers "already are on her track."

Haganah coupled the announcement with a statement that its intelligence corps had learned of alleged British army plans to clamp martial law on all the Jews in the Holy Land.

Stricter Curbs Loom

It was predicted widely in both British and Jewish quarters that stricter military measures in some form would be enacted to counter the current wave of terrorist violence, now in its ninth day.

Extremist violence continued tonight with the mining of a British army truck on the outskirts of Jerusalem in which two soldiers were wounded.

The incident was listed by police as the 60th terrorist attack in nine days and was the latest in a series of disorders which led highly placed sources to predict that countermeasures against the Jews would take the form of sanctions against official Jewry, widespread arrests and imposition of more stringent curfews than those which already have placed 150,000 Jews of Jerusalem, Haifa and Nathanya under nightly house arrest.

British On Trail

A general alarm, second of the day, was sounded shortly before the curfew hour of 7 p. m. in Jerusalem. It was the city's 11th alert in less than a week. The alarm was caused by the bombing of a military vehicle in the Jewish quarter.

The most spectacular incident of the day, the 58th since July 16, was a tommygun attack on an observation post by passengers in a taxi at the Goldsmith Officers club, across King George avenue from the Jewish Agency building.

Soldiers at the gate answered with automatic gun fire as the taxi sped away, but there were no casualties.

A British soldier died early today of injuries received 48 hours earlier in a jeep blast, raising the Holy Land's toll of eight days of violence to 10 killed and 73 injured.

Terrorist activities in that period have included the cutting of rail lines in nine places, bombing a railway bridge, damaging a freight train, severing Britain's oil pipeline in six places, the destruction of nine military vehicles and damaging of 17 others and the sinking of the British deportation ship Empire Lifeguard in Haifa harbor.

The British announced that the Lifeguard had been raised overnight from her resting place on the bottom at the dockside.

Jew-Arab Strife Renewed

Jew-Arab strike broke out anew when a band of Arabs attacked the Jewish colony of Magdield, northeast of Tel Aviv, before dawn. Two Jews were killed and one seriously wounded in the gunbattle that began when the Arabs, attired in army uniforms and carrying Sten guns, knocked at the door of one of the residents. The clash was believed to have resulted from a dispute over grazing rights.

Six armed men looted a diamond merchant's office in Tel Aviv and escaped with $40,000 worth of diamonds. It was the third such robbery in two days.

Freight traffic on the Palestine-Egypt railway has been cancelled for several days between Haifa and Lydda as the result of partial destruction of a bridge near Benyamina by explosives.

Gunmen, Troops Exchange Fire In Jerusalem

Jerusalem, July 24 (AP)—Gunmen and British troops exchanged gunfire today at the gate of a security zone in Jerusalem, touching off alarm sirens and halting traffic for 45 minutes.

An unofficial report said the attackers arrived in a taxi, fired four times with a Bren gun and escaped toward the Jewish quarters as troops returned the fire. No casualties were reported.

The attack was the latest in a long series since the British turned back toward France the 4,500 Jews intercepted on the former Chesapeake Bay steamer President Warfield. It occurred within a few yards of the Jewish Agency and the Goldsmith Officers' Club, which previously had been wrecked by a bomb.

$40,000 Robbery Reported

Six men were reported by a reliable informant to have robbed a Tel Aviv diamond merchant's office of $40,000 in cut and uncut stones at noon. A similar robbery and another $40,000 haul occurred yesterday. The informant said members of the underground Stern Gang, seeking funds for further operations against the British, were known to be operating diamond-polishing shops in private houses and selling the products in Europe.

Jewish quarters of Jerusalem were under a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

The alarm was the tenth in more than a week of attacks which have left ten dead and 73 wounded.

Sunken Ship Raised

British naval authorities announced today that the former Liberty ship Empire Lifeguard, which they yesterday reported sunk at her pier in Haifa by saboteurs, had been "raised and refloated after two hours."

News photographers had been forbidden to take pictures of the vessel, which the British said had been sabotaged after loading more than 200 legal Jewish immigrants brought from detention camps in Cyprus.

Chinese Holding Parley On Food For Armies

Nanking, July 24 (AP)—Provincial governors from all parts of China headed for Nanking today to confer on a program to insure adequate food supplies for Chiang Kai-shek's armies in the war against Chinese Communists.

Officials here said the conference, over which Chiang will preside, will work out a system of taxation in kind for food-producing provinces. Non-producing provinces or those impoverished by fighting will be exempted or asked to pay taxes in cash.

Fight "Disappearance"

The conference will try to work out plans whereby food collected for the army will not shrink or disappear before it reaches troops—phenomena sometimes noted in the past.

It was expected that the governors would be given extensive wartime powers, such as authority over militia and, in some cases, over government armies operating in their areas.

Wedemeyer To Visit Shanghai

Meanwhile, it was announced that Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, President Truman's fact-finder in China, will make a preliminary visit to Shanghai on Saturday to talk with American business men who have been sharply critical of Chinese commercial restrictions.

A formal statement said the Shanghai trip "will afford opportunity for discussions in closed meetings with members of the American and Chinese business communities and will assist General Wedemeyer in mapping out his program of intensive study."

It appeared here that former Premier T. V. Soong was taking an important part in Wedemeyer's investigation, on which likely will depend American policy toward China. Informed sources said Soong was believed acting as unofficial liaison between the American and certain Chinese Government officials.

How to Incorporate a Racket

Agent of Jailed Japanese Gangster Tells Over Phone the Way to Go About It.

Tokyo, July 24 (A. P.). — A hard-voiced individual described by telephone today how to incorporate an underworld gang as a business corporation.

There are three steps, said a self-styled lieutenant of the incarcerated Kinosuke Otsu, described by police as one of Tokyo's biggest racketeers.

"First," he told a reporter, "you deposit 195,000 yen ($3,900) in a bank." The amount was carefully chosen; capitalization of more than 200,000 yen makes a firm liable to heavy taxes.

"Then you take the deposit slip to the Justice Ministry and register yourself," the voice continued. "Then you start business."

The "enterprise" (i. e., racketeering) division of the Otsu gang will follow this procedure on Monday when it becomes the "Otsu Gang Commercial Corporation," said the informant. The president will be Konosuke Otsu—both in and out of jail. Stock sells for 50 yen a share, but, the voice said sadly, it has all been purchased.

"Will the police let you get away with this?" asked the reporter.

"Sure," replied the anonymous caller. "Why not?"

He said the new firm—which Japanese police reporters say has an actual kitty of 100,000,000 yen—will look out for the gang's present property, which includes hotels in the notoriously tough Shinjuki district. It also plans to "deal in food, drygoods, old clothes and stuff like that." Department stores at Shinjuki reputedly pay the Otsu gang a healthy "protection" allowance.

Headquarters of the new corporation will be in the center of the black market stores at Shinjuki, where yesterday the gang formally "dissolved" in a public ceremony at which the police chief spoke.

The informant proudly confirmed that the "enterprise" division of the Otsu gang would be the first to incorporate in Japan.

Jap Diet To Study Economic Moves

Tokyo, July 24 (AP)—With a number of key economic measures coming up, the Diet will reconvene tomorrow for a session which may determine the life of Socialist Tetsu Katayama's coalition Cabinet.

Actual business will begin Sunday when the opposition Liberal party may open its expected attack on the Cabinet.

Main point of dispute will be the Social Democratic party program for state control of coal mines. The Cabinet ministers themselves are split into their Socialist and Democratic party factions over the extent of control to be maintained over the mines in an attempt to break a fundamental bottleneck in the country's sluggish economy.

Japan's Newspaper Circulation.

Tokyo, July 24 (A. P.).—The newspaper circulation in Japan in April totaled nearly 16,000,000 in a population of little more than 73,000,000, supreme headquarters reported today. Editors said that circulation, frozen by newsprint restrictions, otherwise could be doubled or tripled.

Youth Held In Murder Of Korean

Seoul, Korea, July 24 (AP)—Korean police said today they had arrested Han Chi Kin, 19, in connection with the slaying July 19 of Lyuh Woon Hyung, Leftist but anti-Communist political leader.

Police said Han possessed an American Army .45-caliber weapon of the type with which Lyuh was killed.

Lyuh was struck by two of three bullets fired into the rear of his automobile, and died in a hospital two hours later.

BURMA PARTY HEADS SEIZED

More Than 200 Arrested In Moychit Roundup

Rangoon, July 24 (AP)—A wholesale roundup of Myochit party members is proceeding upcountry with total arrests well over 200, police sources disclosed today as authorities strove to stamp out any further plotting such as resulted in last Saturday's assassination of seven Burmese Cabinet members.

Stores of arms and ammunition have been seized in the roundup, informants said. Authoritative sources said prominent figures arrested included Ba Yin, right-hand mand of U Saw, Myochit party leader who already had been seized after a gun battle in Rangoon; Aung Tha, a member of the party executive committee; Pa Sein, former Myochit secretary, and H. W. Grey, an Anglo-Burmese who formerly was a personal assistant to U Saw.

Officials Are Reticent

Ba Maung, inspector general of Burma police, refused to confirm or deny that the arrests had been made in line with official reticence in the case.

The police chief likewise refused to confirm or deny that San Yan Naung, arrested as a suspect in the assassinations, had been killed while trying to escape at Daiku, 90 miles north of Rangoon.

Burmese newspapers published photographs of the suspect on a slab in a morgue, and other official sources said the slain man was San Yan Naung, 30-year-old commander in the Galon army of which U Saw is commander-in-chief. Yan Naung formerly commanded a battalion in the Burma defense Army, underground resistance organization of Aung San during the Japanese occupation. Aung San was the principal Burmese minister killed last Saturday.

Plan Found In Diary

Burmese press reports said Yan Naung sought refuge in the top story of a printery at Daiku on the night of the ministerial murders and was arrested by members of the People's Volunteer Organization who became suspicious. The People's Volunteer Organization is the private army of the Anti-Fascist People's Freedom League headed by the late Aung San.

The press said Yan Naung's personal diary disclosed the complete murder plan, with names of the instigators and colleagues in the assassination.

(Prime Minister Attlee announced in the British House of Commons the intention to proceed with plans to grant Burma complete independence, within or without the British Empire. Meantime, he said, the Burmese interim government, now headed by Thakin Nu, successor of the slain Aung San, will be recognized as having full governing powers.)

Suspect In Burma Killings Shot By 'Private Army'

Rangoon, Burma, July 24 (AP)—A man suspected of taking part in the assassination of U Aung San and six other members of the Burma Executive Council was disclosed today to have been shot to death by members of Aung San's "private army."

Official sources said the suspect was San Yan Naung, 30, a former member of the 5th Battalion of the Burma Defense Army, which Aung San commanded against the Japanese. He also had been an officer in the Galon Army commanded by former Premier U Saw, who was arrested soon after the assassinations, officials said.

Other Leaders Taken

Arrests of leaders of the opposition Myochit party, which U Saw led, continues. Upward of 200 are reported in custody. Among the latest jailed is Ba Yinon, described as U Saw's right-hand man. He was with U Saw at the time the British arrested him on charges of collaborating with the Japanese.

Aung Tha, member of the Myochit party, and Pe Sein, former party secretary, were arrested in Rangoon.

Caught In Hideout

Aung San and his slain colleagues were the de facto government leaders of Burma, currently about to achieve independence from Britain. They belonged to the dominant anti-Fascist People's Freedom League.

Members of the People's Volunteer Organization of the FPFL, which was described as Aung San's "private army," flushed the murder suspect from his hideout in Daiku, 90 miles north of Rangoon, on the night of the machine-gun killings in the council chamber at Rangoon on July 19.

San Yan Naung had sought refuge in the top floor of a printing establishment. He was reported to have had with him a personal diary, containing complete plans for the assassination of the Government leaders and names of his colleagues. One report said a "high Burmese personage" was named in the diary as the murder instigator.

As his captors were moving him by automobile to Rangoon, San Yan Naung was said to have made a "leap for life" when the car slowed for a steep grade 10 miles south of Pegu. His captors gave chase and shot him to death.

Aussies' Aid Asked In Java Dispute

Canberra, July 24 (AP)—A representative of the Indonesian Republic said today he had appealed to the Australian Government to mediate the current dispute in Indonesia.

The official, Dr. R. Usman, chief of the protocol division of the Indonesian foreign ministry, said in Canberra that he had sent the appeal to Australian Prime Minister J. B. Chifley and was now awaiting a reply.

Chifley is at present in Mackay, Queensland.

Usman said he came here June 10 as "an unofficial guest" of the Australian Government to look after the interests of Australian wives of Indonesians and other questions."

U.S. Studies Next Move In Jap-Treaty Issue

Washington, July 24 (AP)—The State Department officials today debated this Government's next moves toward drafting a Japanese peace treaty in view of Russia's rejection of American proposals that would eliminate the big-power veto in the Far Eastern peace settlement.

Officials would say only that a note expressing the Russian attitude has been received.

Secretary of State Marshall told a news conference late yesterday that when the note was received he would initiate studies to determine the proper course of action for the United States.

Diplomatic authorities said the central issue is whether the American Government should seek the collaboration of governments other than Russia in going ahead with Japanese treaty drafting.

"Separate Peace" Issue

This would mean in effect a decision to "make a separate peace" with Japan.

One Russian proposal which may get favorable action here is for an early meeting of the Soviet, British and French Ambassadors with a representative of the State Department.

The Russians want such a session to arrange for the initial Japanese treaty drafting to be taken up in the Council of Foreign Ministers—a system that would preserve their veto power.

The United States might be willing to have a discussion among the Ambassadors simply for the purpose of explaining further the American position in favor of a peace-drafting council of eleven instead of four nations and a voting system that would make decisions by two-thirds vote.

Change In Date

Diplomatic informants said that one change almost certainly will be made in the American plan. This would change the date for convening the initial treaty-drafting group from August 19 to some time in September. All British Commonwealth countries have objected to the proposed date as conflicting with a conference they have planned in Canberra, Australia.

The split over how to draft a treaty with Japan threatens to destroy what fragments of unity remain from the American-Russian wartime collaboration.

Up to this week there had been considerable hope here that Washington and Moscow would be able to devise some means for fashioning the Japanese treaty which would eliminate many of the frictions that have beset peacemaking in Europe.

While an interpretation remains to be worked out, some authorities recalled that as early as the United Nations declaration of January, 1942, the United States, Britain, Russia and other major nations at war with the Axis pledged themselves "not to make a separate armistice or peace with the enemies."

May Not Be Binding

Russia was not then at war with Japan, so it is a question whether the pledge would be considered legally binding in the present situation.

The United States had proposed July 11 that eleven nations, including the great powers, should meet at Washington or San Francisco to organize the treaty drafting. A major point of the proposal was that the nations work under a system of decisions by two-thirds vote—a procedure which would deny any one nation the right of veto.

Russian Position

In rejecting the proposal, the Soviets contended:

1. That the Japanese peace treaty, like the European treaties, should be worked out in the first instance by the Foreign Ministers Council of the great powers of the Far East—America, Britain, China and Russia. (The great powers in Europe are the Big Three plus France.)

This procedure would restore the veto because under the Council's operation unanimity is required on all decisions.

2. That the United States acted "unilaterally" by initiating proposals for a Japanese peace conference without going through Council of Foreign Minister channels.

This amounted to an accusation that the American Government was deliberately breaking established rules for peacemaking. The Soviets, in fact, argued that the precedents and procedures had been laid down in the whole series of wartime conferences at Potsdam and elsewhere.

THREE-POWER TALK ON REICH IS SHAPING UP

Marshall Favors French Participation in Parley on Industrial Levels.

Washington, July 24 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Marshall favors an early American-British-French conference on raising the level of German industrial production, State Department officials said today.

Marshall has assured the French Government that it will be fully consulted before any decisions are taken by the United States and Britain on that point. The French have protested violently against an expansion of German industry. The Secretary's assurances were given to the French Ambassador, Henri Bonnet, who had stated the French objections to him.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said, on a related subject, that there appeared to be some confusion in France still in respect to a question raised at Marshall's news conference yesterday, whether the United States was prepared to make a German disarmament treaty with Britain and France alone or whether it also wanted Russia to join such a treaty. White said it could not be emphasized too strongly that the American Government still wants Russia as a party to any such pact.

REICH STUDY HELD UP PENDING TALKS

State Department Wishes To Avoid Conflict On Ruhr

Washington, July 24 (AP)—The State Department said today it is suppressing a report on economic conditions in the American and British zones of Germany for the time being to avoid a conflict with discussions with the British on Ruhr coal production.

The report was prepared by Robert Moses, former New York city park commissioner. Robert P. Patterson, Secretary of War, said the War Department proposed that the report be released but was overruled by the State Department.

[The New York Herald Tribune said it was understood the report criticized British management of the Ruhr coal mines as inefficient. The document was said to have cited lack of adequate discipline in the mines and to have taken the view that efficiency was impaired by a British plan to nationalize the mines.]

Farewell News Conference

A State Department spokesman said the department had "suggested" that Moses's views on the Ruhr be held up at least until it is decided whether to hold the talks with the British and these had reached a point where American official views could be submitted on means to increase coal production.

Patterson's disclosure that the War Department favored releasing the report was in response to questions at a farewell news conference as he stepped out as Secretary of War.

Patterson said he did not think the report "unduly critical" of the British, adding "it was just as critical of us."

Lincoln White, press officer, told reporters later:

"Mr. Moses went to Germany for the War Department to study the question of housing. His report is on his opinion of the solution of the Ruhr problem.

"His report was submitted coincidentally with the invitation to the British to discuss with us the problem of increasing Ruhr coal production.

"What the State Department has done is to suggest that the release of Mr. Moses's report be withheld until (1) a decision is reached as to whether and when the coal discussions would take place and (2) until those discussions had reached the point where we could set forth our views as to the ways and means in which we thought Ruhr coal production could be increased."

White declined to elaborate but others suggested plans for the coal talks might be complicated by submission of American views in advance.

Marshall Sees Van Kleffens

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP).—Secretary of State George C. Marshall discussed the Dutch-Indonesian fighting today with the new Ambassador of the Netherlands, Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens. In a forty-minute conference at the State Department, Dr. Van Kleffens said he gave Mr. Marshall "a few points" on the breakdown of negotiations which resulted in what he termed the Dutch "police campaign."

The Indonesian crisis was taken up "in very general terms," Dr. Van Kleffens told reporters, along with current efforts to put the Marshall plan for European economic recovery into effect. Mr. Marshall, he said, "knows very well what's going on" in the East Indies.

Mr. Van Kleffens, who has been Netherlands delegate to the United Nations, returned Tuesday from The Hague.

REPORT BY MOSES IS 'EMBARRASSING'

Washington, July 24 (A. P.).—Robert P. Patterson, retiring Secretary of War, said today that the State Department had overruled a War Department proposal to make public a new report on economic conditions in the American and British zones of Germany.

The report was prepared by Robert Moses, New York city planner, who made a study of the conditions in Germany at the request of the War Department.

Patterson was asked at a farewell news conference about a New York Herald Tribune story which described the Moses report as "embarrassing" and said the State Department was blocking its publication. He replied:

"In the main, the story is true. Mr. Moses went over there at our request and gave us a report. The report was informative and I thought it should be released. The State Department differed with me. In these matters, of course, we're only agents of the State Department."

The Herald-Tribune, in its account, said the State Department feared that publication would "embitter the Anglo-American wrangle on how to set things right" in Germany.

Asked specifically whether he thought the Moses report was embarrassing to the British, Patterson replied: "I didn't think it unduly critical. In fact, it was just as critical of us."

HOUSE GROUP URGES U.S. TO BAN RUSSIANS

Denied Soviet Visa, Labor Unit Asks Removal Of 'Excess' Nationals

Washington, July 24 (AP)—Turned down by the Soviet Government on a trip to Russia, a House Labor subcommittee today urged "immediate removal of all excess Russian nationals" from the United States.

Representative Kersten (R., Wis.), subcommittee chairman, proposed this step to Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State.

In addition, he asked in a letter that the Secretary "adopt a strictly reciprocal policy toward Soviet nationals and authorize the residence in this country of only that number of Russian nationals as is permitted to citizens of the United States in the Soviet Union."

Applied For Visas

Kersten and Representatives Owens (R., Ill.) and Kennedy (D., Mass.) were named to a subcommittee to visit Russia in September to study education and labor conditions there.

The State Department approved, Kersten said, and provided passports. He added that he saw Nikolai V. Novikov, Soviet Ambassador, July 2 to apply for visas.

On July 19 he got a letter from Yuri M. Bruslov, chief of the consular division of the embassy, turning down the trip.

Stiff Reply To Novikov

The embassy letter said that because of "lack of hotel accommodations and some other shortages, both in Moscow and in the big educational and industrial centers of the Soviet Union caused by the war, trips of foreign tourists are net yet possible for the time being."

Kersten got off a stiff letter of reply to Ambassador Novikov today and also fired one to Marshall.

The one to Marshall concluded:

"When a congressional subcommittee is refused visas by the Russian Embassy because of 'lack of hotel accommodations,' I submit it is entirely in order for you to request the immediate removal of all excess Russian nationals, registered and unregistered, residing in our country because of the acute housing shortage in the United States."

168 Americans In Russia

Kersten said he is informed only 168 Americans, including all the embassy staff, are residing in Russia today with passports and that the number has remained almost constant for years.

Russians registered with the State Department in the United States have varied from 2,500 in 1945 to 810 this year, Kersten said. He said he suspected a "considerably larger number of Russian agents" is in the country.

Activities of Soviet citizens, as described by recent testimonies to congressional committees, Kersten wrote, seems to make advisable a substantial reduction in the number of Russians in the United States.

Testimony On Spying

The Committee on Un-American Activities has received testimony regarding Soviet spying in America.

In his letter to Novikov, Kersten objected to the subcommittee being classed as "tourists."

"As you are fully aware," he said, "the members . . . did not intend to travel as 'tourists' but we were prepared to encounter plenty of hardship in our visit to the Soviet Union."

Kersten said he believed a realistic and first-hand observation of educational institutions and industrial relations would be good for the American and Russian people.

FORMER BALDWIN AIDE JOINS STAFF OF REECE

WASHINGTON, July 24—Richard B. Walsh of Southington, Conn., today resigned as executive assistant to the vice president of Trans World Airlines to become assistant to Republican National Chairman B. Carroll Reece.

Mr. Walsh, a Navy veteran of World War II, once served as press secretary to U. S. Senator Raymond E. Baldwin when he was Governor of Connecticut.

Royall Takes Oath As Secretary Of War

Washington, July 24 (AP)—Kenneth C. Royall, a North Carolinian, became Secretary of War today by taking the oath of office from his predecessor, Robert P. Patterson.

Royall's wife and mother were among more than 150 persons who crowded into the new Secretary's office for the ceremony. Patterson read the oath to Royall as the latter promised to support the Constitution and fullfill the duties of his office.

Official spectators at the ceremony included Secretary of State Marshall, Secretary of the Navy Forrestall, Attorney General Clark, John R. Steelman, assistant to the President; Assistant Secretaries of War Symington and Peterson and General Dwight D. Eesenhower, Omar Bradley and Carl Spaatz.

U.S. A-Projects Stern Warning To World

Washington, July 24 (AP)—A world unable to agree on international control of atomic bombs was given notice by the United States today that:

1. It intends to conduct more tests of atomic weapons in the Pacific.

2. Top military officers in the field of nuclear fission now head a joint Army-Navy agency devoted to "development of atomic weapons of all types."

3. "We mean to maintain and increase the preeminence of the United States in atomic weapons until acceptable international agreements" are reached and control machinery established.

Implied Acceptance

A report of the Atomic Energy Commission to Congress contained the terse announcement of further experiments and the implied acceptance of any challenge to a world atomic armament race.

The armed forces disclosed something of the activities of the "armed forces special weapons project."

The commission announced it is "establishing proving grounds in the Pacific for routine experiments and tests of atomic weapons."

Immediate Speculation

Commission officials refused to elaborate, but there is immediate speculation:

That the test of a third atomic bomb against warships—this one exploded two or three thousand feet under water—might be forthcoming. Such a test, scheduled earlier at Bikini, was postponed indefinitely by President Truman as world powers were preparing last fall for a meeting of the United Nations Assembly.

That atom bombardiers want to know, by experiment, what the weapon would do to a simulated modern steel-and-concrete city and whether it would produce an artificial earthquake if exploded below ground.

More Powerful Bomb

That atomic scientists believe they have produced bombs vastly more powerful than those used up to now—but can't be sure unless some actual explosion tests are conducted.

Where is the proving ground to be located? The commission was tight-lipped on this. Bikini held immediate attention in speculation. The atoll, from which natives were removed prior to the 1947 experiments, is still uninhabited save for a visiting crew of scientists studying radiological and other effects of the two test bombs.

Contamination Factor

However, there have been recent reports that residual radioactivity is still a man-menacing factor in Bikini lagoon and that traces persist on the islands of the contaminated "rain" from the radioactive cloud.

Selected to direct the Armed Forces Special Weapons Project are the two military men with the longest and most intimate association with the atomic bomb—Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves and Rear Admiral William S. Parsons.

Groves headed the Manhattan District, which directed the development and manufacture of the five atomic bombs so far exploded. Parsons participated in the Los Alamos (N.M.) creation of the bombs, flew with the first atomic strike against Japan and was technical director of the Bikini tests.

"Major Attention"

The statement of the armed forces that the Sandia base in New Mexico is the "principal field installation" of the special weapons project suggested there were still others—not yet identified.

The announcement said that while the Commission is busy trying to turn atomic energy into peacetime uses, "major attention" is being given to the field of weapons.

CONFEREES VOTE TO ABOLISH CURBS ON CREDIT BUYING

Move to End Controls Nov. 1 Precipitated by Mixup Over Truman's Stand.

TO PUSH LEGISLATION

Bill Denies President Authority to Use His Emergency Powers.

WASHINGTON, July 24 — (AP) Aroused by a mixup at a White House news conference, a Senate-House conference committee voted tonight to kill all controls on installment buying on Nov. 1, 1947.

A remark by President Truman gave Congress the impression he might use his emergency powers to keep the curbs in effect. Later it was explained that he had no such intention; that it was all due to a misunderstanding.

But the conferees agreed upon a bill denying him the authority to continue such regulations after Oct. 31. Meantime they continue in effect.

Predicts Speedy Action

Senator Flanders (R-Vt), one of the conferees who ironed out differences in legislation passed by the two chambers, told reporters congress probably would ratify the agreement and send the bill to the White House before the scheduled Saturday adjournment.

The House originally had passed a bill to end the controls immediately. The Senate had proposed to permit some curbs to remain indefinitely but to end others Dec. 31.

The existing controls, which could be continued unchanged until Nov. 1 under the compromise agreement, require one third down payments, with installments running no longer than 15 months, on automobiles, stoves, mechanical dishwashers, ironers, refrigerators, washing machines, radios and some other goods.

A 20 per cent down payment, with installments limited to 15 months, is required for furniture and rugs.

Mixup at Conference

The agreement to deny the president authority to continue the controls after Nov. 1 followed a White House news conference which resulted in a mistaken belief that he might use his emergency power to keep them in force.

The curbs were applied in wartime under emergency executive powers. Some time ago the president asked Congress to give him specific authority to continue them. He said he did not believe in using his emergency powers to keep them in effect and, unless he got specific new authority, he would abolish them.

At today's news conference he said, in response to a reporter's questioning, he said he had not promised to end the controls. Federal reserve board officials, who administer the regulations, later explained that this was due to a misunderstanding; that he still planned to remove them in the absence of new legislation.

Precipitated by Remark

But before the explanation could catch up with the misunderstanding, the Senate-House conferees met. One of them, Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich), said the conferees decision to kill the controls was precipitated by Mr. Truman's press conference remark.

Federal Reserve officials said the president apparently understood his questioner to refer to all wartime controls.

They said there are other controls—all statutory—such as limitations on stock market operations and reserve requirements, and the President evidently had these in mind in answering the question. The only credit control still in force resting on executive order only, they said, is "Regulation W" relating to installment buying.

The reporter asking the question at the news conference had installment buying in mind, but referred to "credit controls" when asking if the President would end them in view of indications that Congress would not authorize an extension as he had requested.

When the President replied he had promised only to take action and this was an entirely different thing from ending the controls, reporters dug up a letter the President wrote to Marriner S. Eccles, reserve board chairman, June 5.

This said that if Congress did not see fit to provide the necessary legislative authority, he would vacate the wartime order requiring at least one-third down payment on special purchases with payments running not over 15 months.

The letter, which reserve board officials said still stands, expressed the President's belief that such regulation should not rest indefinitely in peacetime on emergency or war powers "after the Congress has had ample opportunity to consider the subject."

Further Misunderstanding

Misunderstanding arose over another subject brought up at the President's news conference. A reporter asked: "Have you given much consideration to Secretary Anderson's proposal for a world trade organization whereby the government would do their purchasing for grains and supplies for the Marshall plan?"

The President replied this is under consideration.

Never having heard of such a proposal before, reporters began digging some more. None of the interested government departments had ever heard of it.

Later, Charles G. Ross, the President's press secretary, said the President did not catch the questioner's words referring to the "Marshall Plan."

Ross said the President had in mind a proposal advanced by Anderson at a cabinet meeting as worth looking into in the future. It had nothing to do with the Marshall European aid plan, but involved a domestic organization to aid in the distribution of grain and other supplies for export in times of future surpluses.

John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, who sat with Ross during his discussion, agreed it was a misunderstanding of the reporter's question which led to the confusion. He said the President had suggested at the cabinet meeting that he might keep Anderson's suggestion in mind.

It would be a Federal government trade organization for world trade, Steelman said, and not a world trade organization.

Senators Study Charges Krug Aided Hughes

Elliott Roosevelt Is Also Named in Reports on $40,000,000 Contract

WASHINGTON, July 24 (AP).—Members of the Senate War Investigating Committee will study evidence Saturday to see whether Elliott Roosevelt, Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug and others had any connection with the $40,000,000 war-time plane contract awarded to Howard Hughes.

Senator Homer Ferguson, Republican, of Michigan, chairman of a subcommittee that gathered the evidence, said today he will lay it before the full committee. He told a reporter it includes sworn testimony of John Meyer, former vice-president in charge of public relations for some of Mr. Hughes's enterprises, as well as documents from Mr. Meyer's and Mr. Hughes's files.

Another committee member who asked not to be quoted by name, said these documents relate to the obtaining of entertainers for lavish Hollywood parties. This member said the full committee may be called upon to decide whether all of Mr. Meyer's testimony at a closed session should be spread on the record.

Senator Ferguson, whose subcommittee will begin hearings Monday, said he doubts the group will want to limit the scope of the inquiry. However, he said he doesn't believe the investigation will live up to "advance billing" given it in some quarters as an expose of Hollywood night life.

"We are interested in what happened to the government's $40,000,000, which was spent without producing a usable war-time plane," he told a reporter. "These other matters are a side issue, except as they involve money that the government might otherwise have collected as taxes."

Mr. Hughes and Henry J. Kaiser, war-time shipbuilder, obtained a contract, reputedly over Army and Navy protests, to construct plywood planes. Later this was replaced with a contract for Mr. Hughes to build a photographic-reconnaissance plane, in the prototype of which the flyer crashed several months ago.

Senator Ferguson has charged that White House "pressure" made it possible for Mr. Hughes and Mr. Kaiser to get the contract. The committee has subpoenaed records of the late President Roosevelt in what some members said is an attempt to link Elliott Roosevelt with the order that gave the business to his friend, Mr. Hughes.

Mr. Krug told reporters he had informed Senator Ferguson and Senator Owen Brewster, Republican, of Maine, chairman of the full committee, and Senator Earl Hatch, Democrat, of New Mexico, at an informal conference, that Mr. Kaiser had "put the heat of hell on everybody in Washington" to obtain a war-time plane contract.

Mr. Krug asserted the Kaiser-Hughes contract was let before he became chairman of the War Production Board in August, 1944. He said all he could tell the committee members about the contract was "hearsay."

Kaiser Denies Applying Heat

OAKLAND, Calif., July 24 (AP).—Henry J. Kaiser, Oakland industrialist, hotly denied today that he "put the heat of hell" on anybody to get war-time contracts to build a huge plywood airplane.

Furthermore, Mr. Kaiser said in an interview with "The Oakland Tribune" from his summer home at Lake Tahoe, "we received no contract for air cargo."

Mr. Kaiser said he would be in Washington Tuesday and would appear voluntarily before the War Investigating Committee.

Mr. Kaiser said he signed a non-profit contract to build the experimental plane, with Howard Hughes, motion-picture producer and aircraft designer, to do the engineering and Mr. Kaiser the production. Any pressure that may have been applied came from press and public, he said, who were disappointed when he announced plans weren't carried out "with gusto."

The war-time shipbuilder also denied any knowledge of lavish Hollywood parties Mr. Hughes is alleged to have given. He said he had not attended any such parties.

Mr. Kaiser said he presented his plan to build air cargo planes in Washington at a time when "they were sinking cargo ships faster than we could build them and there was the question of what to do with the submarine menace."

TRUMAN ALTERS HIS REPORT ON GRAIN BUYING

President Explains Remark Did Not Apply to Marshall Plan.

ROSS CLARIFIES STATEMENT

Reporter's Last Four Words Were Not Heard When Uttered at Session.

Washington, July 24 (A. P.).—The White House said today that a governmental trade organization to assist in the distribution of grain and other supplies for export in times of surplus is under consideration by his administration. Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, made this assertion this afternoon to clarify remarks by President Truman at an earlier news conference.

Ross said that Mr. Truman did not catch part of a reporter's question at the news conference, which was as follows: "Have you given much consideration to Secretary (of Agriculture) Anderson's proposal for a world trade organization whereby the Government would do their purchasing for grains and supplies for the Marshall plan?"

The President had replied that this was under consideration. Obviously, Ross explained, the President did not catch the last four words, "for the Marshall plan."

No Part of Plan.

Ross said that a proposal, advanced by Anderson during a Cabinet meeting as worth looking to in the future, "had nothing to do with the Marshall plan at all."

He added there was no plan for a world trade organization of the nature suggested by the question. Anderson's proposal looks to the future, Ross emphasized, when there may be surpluses of grains and other supplies, such as tobacco and cotton.

He said that Anderson suggested that while there were shortages today, the time would come when there would be surpluses. He thought that it might be advisable to provide machinery for their disposal, under conditions, when, because of foreign exchange or other difficulties, American exporters are unable to assume the risk of making sales to particular buyers.

Steelman Also Explains.

John R. Steelman, presidential assistant, who sat with Ross during the discussion, agreed that it was a misunderstanding of the reporter's question which led to the confusion. Steelman said that the President had suggested that at the cabinet meeting that he might keep Anderson's suggestion in mind. It would be a Federal trade organization, Steelman said, for world trade, and not a world trade organization.

As to whether the Government would buy commodities and dispose of them, or act as the agency for the producers, has not even been considered, Steelman said.

At the Agriculture and State Departments, officials said that they knew nothing of it, or could not discuss it. Several indicated that there had been strict orders that the proposal was not to be discussed.

No Choice on Secretary.

On another subject President Truman said that he was not ready to say who would be named Secretary of National Defense to head the unified armed forces. Legislation completing the unification procedure before Congress would set up the Army, Navy and Air Forces as separate branches of service. Each branch will have a secretary, but over-all supervision will be under the Secretary of National Defense, who will have Cabinet rank.

Mr. Truman was asked if Secretary of the Navy Forrestal was in line to become the Defense Secretary. He replied that he hadn't heard anything about that, but he would let the reporters know when he was ready to announce his choice.

Laughs Off Mead Rumor.

President Truman laughed off a report that former Senator James M. Mead (D.-N. Y.) might succeed Postmaster-General Hannegan as Democratic National Chairman.

Mr. Truman said that he hadn't heard anything about it when a reporter brought up the report at the President's weekly news conference. There was no further discussion of it.

The President said that he had not promised to remove controls over installment buying in the event that Congress does not approve their extension. He has only promised to take action, he said, when asked about his plans.

Asked if there was any administrative action he could take to permit entry into the United States of some of Europe's displaced persons, Mr. Truman said that no such action was possible. If it were, he said, he would have acted long ago.

BIKINI MAY BECOME ATOM-TESTING SITE

Washington, July 24 (A. P.).—A world unable to agree on international control of atomic bombs was put on notice by the United States today that:

1. It intends to conduct more tests of atomic weapons in the Pacific.

2. Top military officers in the field of nuclear fission now head a joint Army-Navy agency devoted to "development of atomic weapons of all types."

3. "We mean to maintain and increase the pre-eminence of the United States in atomic weapons until acceptable international agreements" are reached and control machinery established.

A report of the Atomic Energy Commission to Congress contained the terse announcement of further experiments and the implied acceptance of any challenge to a world atomic armament race.

The announcement was made in this single sentence: "The Atomic Energy Commission is establishing proving grounds in the Pacific for routine experiments and tests of atomic weapons."

The commission did not reveal where the proving ground is to be located, but Bikini, because it was the site of the only previous off-shore tests, held immediate attention in speculation.

Canadian Delegation To Leave For Japan

Ottawa, July 24 (AP)—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King said today a Canadian delegation headed by Gen. H. D. G. Crerar would leave for Japan Saturday to attempt a "revival of trade" with the former enemy.

The mission will seek also information to "assist the Canadian Government in the formation of its views on a Japanese peace settlement." Crerar commanded the Canadian 1st Army in the last war.

2 FORMER GI'S INDICTED ON BOMB CHARGES

Pair Accused Of Stealing Atomic Secrets In New Mexico

Santa Fe, N.M., July 24 (AP)—Two former GI's were indicted by a Federal grand jury today on charges involving atomic-bomb secrets.

Two indictments, each containing two counts, named Alexander von der Luft, 23-year-old Princeton undergraduate of Mount Lebanon, Pa., and Ernest D. Wallis, 34, Chicago photographer.

The indictments charged each with stealing and purloining property of the United States and removing and concealing public records.

Maximum Penalties

Conviction on the first count of the indictment carries a maximum penalty of $5,000 fine and five years' prison, and on the second count, $3,000 fine and two years' prison.

The indictment against von der Luft charged that between December, 1945, and March, 1946, he took fourteen different groups of written material, described individually in Army correspondence terms, and the one against Wallis that he took ten different photographs or negatives.

The two were arrested by the FBI on July 14 and are at liberty on $10,000 bonds after hearings before United States Commissioners in Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Seven Witnesses Heard

The grand pury reconvened today, heard seven witnesses and reported at 1.36 P.M. The United States attorney would not disclose names of the witnesses, but did say the group did not include three persons who were summoned and had been closely associated with the Los Alamos project.

The two former sergeants were accused of taking the secret notes and photographs with them when they left the Los Alamos project and the Army more than a year ago.

All of the papers and photographs have been recovered, the FBI said.

Announcements by the FBI and members of the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee described the ex-GI's as souvenir hunters and insisted the secrets they are charged with possessing did not get into unauthorized hands.

Big-Power Ban In Balkan-Probe Group Urged

Lake Success, July 24 (AP)—France proposed today that the five big powers and all other "interested" nations be excluded from the proposed United Nations commission which would set up a semi-permanent watch along Greece's disturbed northern frontier

French Delegate Alexander Parodi offered his suggestion informally in the United Nations Security Council which is considering an American plan for a commission of eleven nations, including the Big Five.

Parodi suggested that the commission should be composed of a smaller "neutral" group—possibly the six non-permanent members of the Security Council, with Sweden as the seventh member. The non-permanent members of the Council are Australia, Brazil, Colombia, Syria, Poland and Belgium.

Series Of Amendments

The French proposal was offered as the Council moved slowly through a long series of amendments to the original American resolution on the Balkan problem.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko, who has his own plan before the Council, sat silently throughout the morning session as the other delegates tried to whip the American resolution into a form acceptable to a majority.

Meanwhile, certain delegates expressed belief that the future of the United Nations might hinge on the outcome of the Balkan fight between the United States and Russia.

Authoritative sources said that if Russia vetoes a United States proposal to set up an international watch over the Balkan borders, Britain, the United States and other countries might feel forced to take action outside the United Nations.

Although British and American officials here were reluctant to discuss such drastic action, it was learned that the idea of establishing a border watch commission outside the United Nations was being considered as a last resort.

Might Abstain

There was still some hope among delegates that Russia would abstain when the Council votes on the United States proposal for a semi-permanent Balkan border watch.

Gromyko at times hae indicated that he would veto the plan. At other times he has indicated that he might abstain from voting and thus permit establishment of the Balkan Commission.

The seriousness of the situation was reflected in yesterday's Council session.

GROMYKO BARS PLAN ON BALKANS

French Sought Compromise On Probe Eliminating Big Five

Lake Success, N.Y., July 24 (AP)—Hopes for a compromise solution of the Balkan problem faded today when Russia turned down French proposals intended to "soften" the American plan for a powerful semi-permanent commission in the Balkans.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, breaking his silence after hours of debate by other delegates on various amendments before the Security Council, declared that Russia's opposition to the United States resolution would remain unchanged regardless of what happened to the French proposals.

Says None Change Substance

He told the Security Council that none of the amendments changed the substance of the American plan which he already had declared to be "unacceptable" to Russia. Gromyko made no reference to a series of British amendments which were discussed this morning.

The Soviet attitude was disclosed after the delegates had left unresolved a new difficulty raised by a French proposal that the Big Five powers be excluded from the proposed Balkan commission.

The French proposal was strongly opposed by the United States, China and Britain which insisted that each of the eleven members of the Security Council should be represented on the commission designed to set up a semi-permanent watch over the disturbed area.

Clash Over U.N. Powers

At one point Herschel V. Johnson, deputy United States delegate, clashed with Joza Vilfan, Yugoslav representative, over the latter's declaration that the commission would have no power to investigate without the consent of the Balkan countries.

Johnson declared that the Security Council has powers, under Chapter VI of the United Nations charter, "to investigate whether countries like it or not."

"No one nation can frustrate the will of the majority," Johnson said.

Alexandre Parodi, French delegate, suggested that the commission should be limited to a smaller "neutral" group of seven countries—the six nonpermanent members of the Security Council and possibly Sweden.

Johnson proposed that a vote on the composition of the commission be deferred until tomorrow.

France quickly won the support of the Australian delegate, Col. W. R. Hodgson, who said he would vote for a small "neutral" commission, but suggested that it be limited to the six nonpermanent members of the Security Council—Australia, Colombia, Brazil, Syria, Poland and Belgium.

Dr. Alfonso Lopez, of Colombia, objected that "it is idle to think that if the Big Five cannot agree among themselves that they will follow a nonpermanent member."

Interim Report Received

Meanwhile, the Security Council received an interim report from the subsidiary group of the Balkan Investigating Commission on recent developments along Greece's northern border. The report was restricted to a summary of testimony taken in its on-the-spot investigation of Greek charges that an international brigade had entered Greece from Albania.

Although all the witnesses testified that large guerrilla bands had entered Greece from Albania, there was no direct testimony that an international brigade was involved.

The subsidiary group indicated that its investigation was continuing.

Meanwhile, the Government of Yemen, one of the seven members of the Arab League, applied for membership in the United Nations. This brought to ten the number of applications before the United Nations.

NEW YORK, July 24—(AP) An anonymous letter writer has threatened to "blow up" Harold E. Hirshberg, Navy petty officer being tried on charges of maltreating American fellow prisoners held by the Japanese, Hirshberg's counsel said today.

Lt. Cmdr. John J. O'Neil, the defense counsel, said the writer made the same threats against Hirshberg's family, which lives in Brooklyn, and against O'Neil himself. The officer said he had turned the four-page, pencilled letter over to the FBI.

The letter was mailed from Jamaica in the Borough of Queens, O'Neil said. He added it contained "anti-Semitic and anti-Irish obscenities."

Not Mentioned at Trial

The defense counsel told newsmen of the communication outside the courtroom. It did not come up before the court martial board which is trying Hirshberg, 29-year-old chief signalman, on charges of assaulting his fellow prisoners and informing the Japanese that three of them intended to escape, resulting in beatings which caused the death of one.

Lt. (j.g.) Thomas B. Hurtt, 29, of Tacoma, Wash., testified today that he and other officers of an American prisoner of war group in the Philippines once warned Hirshberg to stop informing on his fellow prisoners.

Hurtt said he and the others told the defendant at Nielson Field, Luzon, in April, 1942, that unless he stopped running to the Japanese they would ask the Navy to court martial him if and when they returned to the United States after the war.

The witness also told the court Hirshberg sought to drive his work section especially hard to win special favors and gifts of cigarets and candy from the Japanese.

Had Jap Wife, Is Claim

Hurtt said the defendant had told him of marrying a Japanese girl in Hong Kong before the war and of having two children by her. The defense has maintained this woman was a Filipino. Hirshberg has an American wife and child in Brooklyn.

In cross-examining Hurtt, O'Neil made reference to a statement which he said the witness had made to a Lt. Cmdr. Nicholas in June last year. Nicholas was not further identified.

O'Neil said Nicholas asked if Hirshberg received special favors from the Japanese and that Hurtt replied: "I couldn't prove it if I went on the witness stand." Today Hurtt agreed he had said that.

The defense counsel said Nicholas inquired if Hirshberg informed on American prisoners and Hurtt answered: "Not to my knowledge." But today the witness asserted he did not recall having given that reply.

O'Neil said Nicholas asked if Hurtt ever saw Hirshberg strike anyone and the reply was "No, sir." Today Hurtt said he did not make such an answer.

Says Hirshberg Beaten

In other cross-examination, the lieutenant testified he saw Hirshberg beaten in July, 1944, at Camp Murphy in the Philippines along with 600 other Americans.

"We were all beaten," Hurtt said.

Hurtt told O'Neil he himself once was shoved by the defendant, adding there was a great deal of animosity against Hirshberg and "It is as strong today as it ever was among the witnesses."

The other witness at today's session, Robert H. Welch, 26, of Tulsa, Okla., a chief boatswain's mate, said Hirshberg before the war introduced a Japanese woman to him in Hong Kong and said she was his wife.

O'Neil immediately interjected, "If there is any proof of a marriage, I want the judge advocate to present it now," but the court did not rule on this request.

Welch said the defendant struck him in the face while they were loading logs at Nielson Field in February, 1943, and called him a "wise boatswain's mate."

The trial was recessed until Monday morning.

LONDON, JULY 24-(AP)-THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCED REVISED PROPOSALS TODAY FOR THE TRANSFER OF 50,000 SQUARE MILE MALAYA FROM A CROWN COLONY TO A STRONGLY CENTRALIZED FEDERATION IN WHICH NINE RULING SULTANS WILL REGAIN MANY OF THE POWERS THEY LOST TO JAPANESE INVADERS.

THE FEDERATION WILL INCLUDE THE NINE SULTAN STATES OF PERAK, SELANGOR, NEGRI SEMBILAN, PAHANG, JOHORE, KEDAH, KELANTAN, TRENGGANU AND PERLIS AND THE TWO BRITISH SETTLEMENTS OF PENANG AND MALACCA, BUT AT PRESENT WILL NOT INCLUDE SINGAPORE WHERE 380,000 OF THE AREA'S MALAYA'S 5,000,000 PEOPLE LIVE.

ANGRY NATIVE CRITICISM FOLLOWED ANNOUNCEMENT LAST YEAR OF PLANS FOR CREATION OF A MALAYAN UNION, WHICH THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT HAD NEGOTIATED WITH THE NINE SULTANS. THE SULTANS SUBSEQUENTLY RECORDED THEIR DISAPPROVAL OF THE AGREEMENTS, AND THREE OF THEM FLEW TO LONDON TO SEEK NEW TREATIES.

Vienna, Austria, July 24-(AP)-The Russian army newspaper Oester-Reichische Zeitung asserted today that American occupation elements were "destroying Austria's harvest and cattle breeding."

An American spokesman at headquarters for U.S. forces in Austria called the charge "ridiculous."

JUL 1947

The newspaper based its charge on the accusation that U.S. authorities had imposed a ban on the transport of needed livestock to the Russian-occupied eastern zone where nearly all Austrian grain is produced.

The newspaper asserted there was a greater shortage of livestock in Eastern Austria than anywhere else in the country and that this was due to the transport of cattle to the western zones. The American spokesman asked how it was "possible to export anything out of the closed Russian zone?"

The newspaper said the allied control council 18 months ago had agreed to the transport of more than 50,000 head of livestock to Eastern Austria but that less than half had been delivered.

The story quoted the ministry of agriculture as saying the division of Austria into four occupation zones and the lack of transportation were the reasons for non-delivery. The story continued that actually, "the blame lies with the eagerness of the government to veil the facts in order not to offend the American element."

MILWAUKEE, JULY 24-(AP)-HAROLD R. CHRISTOFFEL, 34, PROMINENT UAW-CIO OFFICIAL INDICTED ON PERJURY CHARGES YESTERDAY BY A DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA GRAND JURY, WAS FREED TODAY ON $5,000 BOND BY U.S. COMMISSIONER FLOYD E.JENKINS, WHO ALSO GRANTED AN ADJOURNMENT OF CHRISTOFFEL'S REMOVAL HEARING UNTIL JULY 31.

THE ADJOURNMENT WAS AT THE REQUEST OF DAN SOBEL, ATTORNEY FOR UAW-CIO LOCAL 248--OF WHICH CHRISTOFFEL IS HONORARY PRESIDENT--WHO IS ACTING AS COUNSEL FOR CHRISTOFFEL. ARRAIGNMENT HAD BEEN SCHEDULED FOR AUG.1 AT WASHINGTON.

CHRISTOFFEL WAS INDICTED ON SIX COUNTS OF PERJURY BEFORE THE HOUSE LABOR COMMITTEE LAST MARCH, WHEN HE TESTIFIED THAT HE WAS NOT A MEMBER OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY AND DENIED AFFILIATION WITH COMMUNISTS.

HIS RELEASE TODAY ON BOND CAME 24 HOURS AFTER HE FIRST SURRENDERED TO FEDERAL MARSHALS BUT WAS UNABLE TO POST BOND BECAUSE OF THE ABSENCE OF JENKINS AND OF U.S. DISTRICT JUDGE F. RYAN DUFFY.

SOBEL MADE AN UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT TODAY TO HAVE THE BOND REDUCED, ASSERTING THAT CHRISTOFFEL WAS A MAN WHO "NEVER HAD BEEN IN TROUBLE" AND WAS PROMINENT IN LABOR AND OTHER CIRCLES HERE. SOBEL SUGGESTED BOND OF $2,500 BUT WAS OVER RULED.

JAPAN

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, JULY 24-(AP)-A NEW SPLIT BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA--THIS TIME OVER DRAFTING A JAPANESE PEACE TREATY--THREATENS TODAY TO DESTROY WHAT LITTLE UNITY REMAINS BETWEEN THE GREAT POWERS.

ANOTHER PROSPECT IS THAT IT MAY DELAY INDEFINITELY WORK ON A PEACE SETTLEMENT FOR JAPAN.

UP TO THIS WEEK THERE HAD BEEN CONSIDERABLE HOPE HERE THAT WASHINGTON AND MOSCOW WOULD BE ABLE TO DEVISE SOME MEANS FOR FASHIONING THE JAPANESE TREATY WHICH WOULD ELIMINATE MANY OF THE FRICTIONS THAT HAVE BESET PEACE MAKING IN EUROPE.

RUSSIA'S REJECTION YESTERDAY OF AMERICAN PROPOSALS ALONG THIS LINE GREATLY DIMMED, IF IT DID NOT KILL OFF, THESE HOPES.

SOME OFFICIALS SAID THE MAJOR QUESTION NOW FACING THE AMERICAN AND OTHER GOVERNMENTS INTERESTED IN EARLY PROGRESS ON THE FAR EAST PEACE SETTLEMENT IS WHETHER THEY SHOULD GO AHEAD WITH A "SEPARATE PEACE"--THAT IS, A TREATY WITHOUT RUSSIA.

BUT THERE IS A QUESTION WHETHER THIS COULD BE DONE LEGALLY.

WHILE AN INTERPRETATION REMAINS TO BE WORKED OUT, SOME AUTHORITIES RECALLED THAT AS EARLY AS THE UNITED NATIONS DECLARATION OF JANUARY, 1942, THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN, RUSSIA AND OTHER MAJOR NATIONS AT WAR WITH THE AXIS PLEDGED THEMSELVES "NOT TO MAKE A SEPARATE ARMISTICE OR PEACE WITH THE ENEMIES."

RUSSIA WAS NOT THEN AT WAR WITH JAPAN, SO IT IS A QUESTION WHETHER THE PLEDGE WOULD BE CONSIDERED LEGALLY BINDING IN THE PRESENT SITUATION.

THE SOVIET REACTION TO AMERICAN PROPOSALS FOR BEGINNING WORK ON A JAPANESE TREATY AUGUST 19 WAS ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY BY THE MOSCOW RADIO.

THE UNITED STATES HAD PROPOSED JULY 11 THAT 11 NATIONS, INCLUDING THE GREAT POWERS, SHOULD MEET AT WASHINGTON OR SAN FRANCISCO TO ORGANIZE THE TREATY DRAFTING. A MAJOR POINT OF THE PROPOSAL WAS THAT THE NATIONS WORK UNDER A SYSTEM OF DECISIONS BY TWO-THIRDS VOTE--A PROCEDURE WHICH WOULD DENY ANY ONE NATION THE RIGHT OF VETO.

THIS MARKED A RADICAL DEPARTURE FROM THE GERMAN AND OTHER EUROPEAN TREATY MAKING PROCEDURES IN TWO RESPECTS. IT INCLUDED NATIONS OTHER THAN THE GREAT POWERS AND IT DENIED THE VETO PRIVILEGE.

IN REJECTING THE PROPOSAL, THE SOVIETS DID NOT COMMENT SPECIFICALLY ON THESE TWO POINTS. INSTEAD, THEY CONTENDED:

1. THAT THE JAPANESE PEACE TREATY, LIKE THE EUROPEAN TREATIES, SHOULD BE WORKED OUT IN THE FIRST INSTANCE BY THE FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL OF THE GREAT POWERS OF THE FAR EAST--AMERICA, BRITAIN, CHINA AND RUSSIA. (THE GREAT POWERS IN EUROPE ARE THE BIG THREE PLUS FRANCE.

THIS PROCEDURE WOULD RESTORE THE VETO BECAUSE UNDER THE COUNCIL'S OPERATION UNANIMITY IS REQUIRED ON ALL DECISIONS.

A3WX

2. THAT THE UNITED STATES ACTED "UNILATERALLY" BY INITIATING PROPOSALS FOR A JAPANESE PEACE CONFERENCE WITHOUT GOING THROUGH COUNCIL OF FOREIGN MINISTER CHANNELS.

THIS AMOUNTED TO AN ACCUSATION THAT THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT WAS DELIBERATELY BREAKING ESTABLISHED RULES FOR PEACE MAKING. THE SOVIETS IN FACT, ARGUED THAT THE PRECEDENTS AND PROCEDURES HAD BEEN LAID DOWN IN THE WHOLE SERIES OF WARTIME CONFERENCES AT POTSDAM AND ELSEWHERE.

AMERICAN OFFICIALS, THOUGH THEY DECLINED FORMAL COMMENT PENDING ACTUAL RECEIPT HERE OF THE RUSSIAN REPLY, FLATLY REJECTED THE KREMLIN'S ARGUMENTS. THEY CONTENDED THAT NO PROCEDURES HAD BEEN DETERMINED FOR WORK ON A JAPANESE PEACE TREATY AND THAT PARTICULARLY THE POTSDAM AGREEMENT BETWEEN PRESIDENT TRUMAN, PREMIER STALIN AND PRIME MINISTER ATLEE CREATING THE FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL DID NOT REQUIRE THAT THE COUNCIL HAVE JURISDICTION OVER PEACE MAKING IN THE PACIFIC.

SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL TOLD REPORTERS YESTERDAY THAT THE UNITED STATES WILL HAVE TO DECIDE ITS FUTURE POSITION IN THE LIGHT OF THE RUSSIAN RESPONSE AND THE REPLIES OF THE OTHER COUNTRIES.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT HAS ANNOUNCED REPLIES TO ITS JULY 11 PROPOSAL FROM FOUR GOVERNMENTS, BRITAIN, NEW ZEALAND, AUSTRALIA AND THE NETHERLANDS. SOME OTHERS HAVE UNDERSTOOD TO HAVE COME IN BUT ARE STILL BEING HELD SECRET.

ASIDE FROM THE RUSSIAN OBJECTIONS, THE ONLY CRITICISM RAISED IS THAT OF THE BRITISH COMMONWEALTH COUNTRIES WHICH SAY THE AUGUST 19 DATE CONFLICTS WITH A COMMONWEALTH CONFERENCE ON JAPAN SCHEDULED FOR A FEW DAYS LATER IN AUSTRALIA.

INDICATIONS ARE THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD AGREE TO A LATER DATE IF MOST COUNTRIES WANTED THAT, BUT RUSSIA'S ATTITUDE MAKES IT HIGHLY UNCERTAIN WHETHER ANY EARLY CONFERENCE CAN BE HELD.

WHILE RUSSIA'S REJECTION WAS A DISAPPOINTMENT TO WASHINGTON OFFICIALS, IT WAS NOT UNEXPECTED.

BROADLY IT FITS INTO THE PATTERN OF CONSTANTLY INCREASING DISAGREEMENTS BETWEEN THE WORLD'S TWO GREATEST POWERS. THESE LATELY HAVE BEEN INTENSIFIED BY THE WIDE OPEN SPLIT OVER THE MARSHALL PLAN FOR EUROPEAN RECOVERY AND THE SOMETIMES VIOLENT ARGUMENTS IN THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL OVER MEASURES TO RESTORE PEACE BETWEEN GREECE AND HER BALKAN NEIGHBORS.

VACUWYIL NOW, HOIN

JUL 1947

BALKAN NEIGHBORS.

UNTIL NOW, HOWEVER, THE MAIN FRAMEWORK OF COOPERATION AMONG THE GREAT POWERS ON STRICTLY PEACE TREATY PROBLEMS HAD REMAINED INTACT. THE LATEST SESSION OF THE FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL AT MOSCOW LAST SPRING WAS MARKED BY SHARP DISPUTE, BUT IT DID NOT PRODUCE A SERIOUS POSSIBILITY THAT ANY OF THE POWERS MIGHT MAKE A SEPARATE PEACE WITH GERMANY.

NIGHT LEAD U.N.-INDONESIAN (220)

BY FRANCIS W.CARPENTER

LAKE SUCCESS,JULY 24-(AP)-INDIA TOOK THE ROLE OF CHAMPION OF THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS TODAY, BUT SO FAR NO NATION HAS OFFICIALLY INTERVENED WITH A REQUEST FOR UNITED NATIONS ACTION.

THE DELEGATIONS OF THE BIG FIVE ARE PARTICULARLY WATCHFUL. COMMENT FROM THEM WAS GUARDED BUT A SPOKESMAN FOR THE SOVIET UNION SAID THE FIGHTING IN INDONESIA WAS IN REALITY A WAR. HE SAID THIS WAS JUST ANOTHER TROUBLE SPOT, TO BE ADDED TO THE FIGHTING IN CHINA, PALESTINE AND TO THE OTHER SORE SPOTS IN THE WORLD.

UNLESS SOME NATION ACTS SOON, THE WHOLE AFFAIR IS ALMOST CERTAIN TO HIT THE FLOOR OF THE U.N. ASSEMBLY IN SEPTEMBER.

BREAKING INTO A DEBATE ON AN ECONOMIC REPORT IN THE U.N. ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL, R.K.NEHRU, INDIAN DELEGATE, DECLARED THAT "INDIA AND ASIA SYMPATHIZE WITH INDONESIA IN HER STRUGGLE AGAINST TERRIBLE ODDS."

WITH THAT COMMENT, NEHRU STOPPED, SAYING THAT AT PRESENT HE DID NOT WANT TO BE ACCUSED OF INJECTING POLITICS INTO AN ECONOMIC DISCUSSION. THE NETHERLANDS DELEGATION IN THE COUNCIL SAT SILENT AS NEHRU SPOKE.

NEHRU'S CHIEFTAIN, PANDIT JAWAHARLAL NEHRU, SAID IN INDIA AFTER A CONFERENCE WITH FORMER PREMIER SUTAN SJAHRIR THAT THE NETHERLANDS ACTION IN INDONESIA WAS AN "INSULT TO ASIA." HE ADDED THAT IF THE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS TOLERATE IT, THEN THE UNITED NATIONS WILL CEASE TO BE.

VIRTUALLY ALL DELEGATES ATTACHED PERMANENTLY TO THE U.N. HEADQUARTERS, AGREE THAT IT IS AN "UGLY SITUATION."

MJ450PED

INDONESIAN

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 24-(AP)-THE INDONESIAN-DUTCH CONFLICT CAME BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL BRIEFLY FOR THE FIRST TIME TODAY WHEN THE INDIAN DELEGATE, R.K.NEHRU, EXPRESSED SYMPATHY FOR THE STRUGGLE OF THE INDONESIANS AGAINST "TERRIBLE ODDS."

DEPARTING FROM A TALK ON AN ECONOMIC AND EMPLOYMENT COMMISSION REPORT, NEHRU SAID THAT "INDIA AND ASIA SYMPATHIZE WITH INDONESIA IN HER STRUGGLE AGAINST TERRIBLE ODDS."

HE SAID HE WOULD NOT COMMENT FURTHER NOW FOR FEAR OF BEING ACCUSED OF INJECTING POLITICAL SUBJECTS INTO THE ECONOMIC TALKS.

IVAN KERNO, ASSISTANT SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE U.N., TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE THAT THE SECRETARIAT HAS RECEIVED NOTHING OFFICIALLY CONCERNING THE INDONESIAN STRUGGLE EXCEPT A MEMORANDUM FROM THE DUTCH GOVERNMENT INFORMING THE U.N. THAT THE NETHERLANDS GOVERNMENT HAD BEEN COMPELLED TO RESORT TO "POLICE MEASURES" AGAINST THE INDONESIANS BECAUSE OF CONTINUED "ACTS OF VIOLENCE."

MT1PED

IN SOME OF THE BLUNTEST LANGUAGE EVER USED IN A COUNCIL SESSION, HERSCHEL V. JOHNSON, U.S. DEPUTY DELEGATE, DEMANDED THAT THE COUNCIL WARN THE THREE SOVIET SATELLITES "TO KEEP ORDER IN THEIR OWN HOUSES AND LEAVE OTHER PEOPLES' AFFAIRS ALONE."

A21

"IF THERE IS AN EXPLOSION IN THE BALKANS THE WHOLE WORLD WILL SUFFER, NOT JUST THE COUNTRIES IN THE BALKANS," JOHNSON DECLARED.

AMERICAN SOURCES SAID THAT JOHNSON'S ATTITUDE HAD NOT BEEN DICTATED BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT IN A "GET TOUGH" POLICY WITH RUSSIA, BUT WAS A RESULT OF THE SLOW PROGRESS IN THE COUNCIL ON THE BALKAN PROBLEM.

BUT SOME DELEGATES WERE QUICK TO POINT OUT THAT AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVES ON OTHER U.N. FRONTS ALSO LASHED OUT YESTERDAY IN WORDS INDICATING THAT THE UNITED STATES HAD MOVED FROM A POLICY OF CONCILIATION TO ONE OF "WE'RE NOT BUDGING."

IN THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE WILLARD L. THORP MADE IT CLEAR THAT THE UNITED STATES HAS NO INTENTION OF ABANDONING THE TRUMAN DOCTRINE OF MILITARY AID TO COUNTRIES THREATENED BY COMMUNISM.

U.S., REDS CLASH OVER PROPOSED (2) BALKAN 'WATCH'

J.A. PARRIS

LAKE SUCCESS, July 25—(AP) The United States warned Russia's three Balkan satellites today that any attempt to ignore the decisions of the security council might result in the strongest kind of enforcement measures.

The warning came after Russia bluntly told the council that it had no power to force Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania to cooperate with the American-proposed United Nations border commission.

The clash developed between Russia and the United States over whether the council has the power to set up a commission to investigate border disputes in the Balkans.

Still Far from Decision

It marked the finish of four weeks debate on the Balkan problem with the council still far from a decision and brought an Australian charge that Russia and her satellites were staging a "filibuster" to delay United Nations action.

Declaring that the 11-nation body's decisions were binding, U. S. Deputy Delegate Herschel V. Johnson said "any failure would lay the non-complying states open to serious action to insure their cooperation."

"The council has the power to make investigations," Johnson asserted. "Countries are obligated to cooperate. It is the duty of the members of the United Nations to abide by the decisions."

This brought a retort from Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko that if a nation found that the work of a commission "is incompatible with its sovereignty then it can refuse to cooperate."

Earlier, Gromyko had contended that the council could do no more than make recommendations for the settlement of disputes under Chapter VI of the world charter. This chapter provides for peaceful settlement of disputes without any direct action such as sanctions or military intervention which are laid down in chapter seven.

Refuse to Cooperate

"Not even all decisions taken under Chapter seven of the charter are obligatory," the Soviet delegate declared.

Gromyko's statement added support to earlier indications that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria would refuse to cooperate with the proposed "watchdog" commission.

Dr. Oscar Lange of Poland, council president, said he had thought "the moral and political authority of this council is so great that no nation would ever wish to refuse to carry out its recommendations."

Gromyko said the American contention that the Balkan commission would have powers to enter any of the four Balkan states, even without their consent, was "contrary to the spirit and letter of the charter."

Greek Ambassador Vassili Dendramis declared that "if the Soviet thesis is allowed, then Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania would have a veto that even the permanent members don't enjoy."

Belgian delegate Fernand Van Langenhove said the charter would be stripped of its efficacy if the council was denied the power of investigation.

After Russia and Bulgaria had made lengthy attacks on the legality of the American proposal, Australian Delegate Col. W. R. Hodgson made his charge of a Soviet-Balkan "filibuster."

"This bears marks of stone-walling, something they call in this country a filibuster," Hodgson declared.

The council recessed until Monday without a vote. It appeared that it would be the middle of next week before a vote is reached on the American proposal.

Gromyko Backs Balkans On U.N. Probe (D)

Lake Success, July 25 (AP)—Russia told the United Nations Security Council today the Council had no power to force the Balkan states to co-operate with the American-proposed border commission.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko thus took sharp issue with contentions of Herschel V. Johnson, deputy United States delegate, that decisions of the Council under Chapter 6 of the United Nations Charter were binding.

Johnson immediately countered with another warning that failure of any state to comply with a decision of the Council might result in enforcement measures of the strongest kind.

"Serious Action"

"Any failure would lay the non-complying states open to serious action to insure their co-operation," Johnson said. "The Council can make such decisions under Chapter VI."

Johnson summed up his views in this way:

"The Council has the power to make investigations. Countries are obligated to co-operate. It is the duty of the members of the United Nations to abide by the decisions."

Gromyko replied that if a nation foun dthat the work of a commission "is incompatible with its sovereignty then it can refuse to co-operate."

He said that if a state refused to co-operate, the Council would have to act under Chapter VII of the Charter, which provides for sanctions and the use of force, if necessary.

Power To Recommend

Gromyko argued that the Council could do no more under Chapter VI than make recommendations for the settlement of disputes.

"Not even all decisions taken under Chapter VII of the Charter are obligatory," he declared.

Gromyko's statement added support to earlier indications that the three Soviet satellites—Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria—would refuse to co-operate with the proposed "watchdog" commission.

Indications mounted that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania will refuse to co-operate with the proposed United Nations "watchdog" commission in the Balkans if Russia withholds her veto power and permits establishment of the semi-permanent commission.

The Soviet Union's three Balkan satellites repeatedly told the Security Council yesterday that under the United Nations Charter such a commission as proposed by the United States would not have authority to cross their frontiers without the consent of their governments.

Joza Vilfan, Yugoslav representative, hammered hard at this interpretation time and again during yesterday's sessions.

Migh. Be Maneuver

Certain delegates expressed belief that it might be a maneuver to enable Russia to refrain from vetoing the American commission plan. They pointed out that this might happen:

Russia would abstain from voting on the American plan, the commission would be established by the Security Council and then the three Balkan countries would refuse to co-operate with the international border group.

If the Balkan countries were to take such a course these delegates said, then Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania would be charged in the Security Council with ignoring its decisions. This would lead to a whole new series of hearings on the Balkans.

Vote Expected

As the Council was called into session, some delegates held hopes that a showdown vote on the Balkan problem could be reached today.

Hopes for a compromise solution faded yesterday when Russia turned down French proposals intended to "soften" the American plan for a powerful semi-permanent commission in the Balkans.

Johnson clashed with the Yugoslav delegate over the latter's declaration that the commission would have no power to investigate without the consent of the Balkan countries.

BRITAIN IN UN PLEA (W) FOR PRESS FREEDOM

LAKE SUCCESS, July 25 — (AP) Hector McNeil, British minister of state, raised the question today whether any country which discriminates in news gathering in its territory should be a member of the United Nations.

In a vigorous speech to the United Nations Economic and Social Council, McNeil, a former Glasgow newsman, advocated the right of everyone to collect news in the territory of every UN member without discrimination.

"When we find a nation not permitting these facilities," he said, "we have every reason to ask ourselves whether that country has a right to membership in the United Nations."

Without a record vote, the economic and social council decided to recommend to the UN assembly that a proposed world conference on freedom of information and of the press be held in Geneva beginning next March 23. ADD

Freedom Of The Press (D) Called Peace Essential

Lake Success, N.Y., July 25 (AP). Paul Martin, Canadian Minister of National Health and Welfare, declared today the principles of freedom of information and of the press are essential to the maintenance of international peace and other objectives of the United Nations.

In a prepared address to the United Nations Economic and Social Council on the report of the United Nations Subcommission on Freedom of Information and of the Press, Martin said his Government supported the subcommission's recommendation that a projected world conference on freedom of information be held early next year. He said Canada attached great importance to this conference. F. CARPENTER

Essential To Other Freedoms

"The people and the Government of Canada believe that freedom of information and freedom of the press are not only basic freedoms in themselves but are essential to the fruitful exercise of other basic freedoms," Martin said.

He added that without adequate access to comprehensive and objective information on the world in which we live, the "very existence of democracy could be endangered."

Hits All Censorship

Martin continued:

"We are concerned lest any such existing barriers be extended, we are deeply desirous that any existing barriers be removed. I need hardly stress the relevance of this principle to freedom of information. For censorship of outgoing news is one such barrier; internal censorship is another; prohibition of imported books and periodicals is a third. Denial of visas for foreign correspondents is also a barrier, and a dangerous one." ADD

Air Surveys Proposed to Spot Clandestine Atomic Activities

LAKE SUCCESS, July 25—(AP) Proposals for aerial surveys to seek out clandestine activities in atomic energy were laid before members of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission today in a working paper drawn up by several delegates.

The aerial inspection would be one phase of a thorough system of inspection to be set up under an international treaty for control of atomic energy.

It was proposed by delegates of France, Canada, Britain, Poland, Australia, Colombia and the United States, each acting on an individual basis and not committing his government.

JUL 1947

The working group suggested that "spot aerial surveys" may be conducted in periods of two years over areas selected by an international control agency. This area would not exceed five per cent of the territory under a nation's control or 2,000 square miles, whichever is larger.

The agency may, on consent of a nation or when specifically authorized, conduct aerial surveys to vities or clear up other suspicion, vities or clear up other supicion, the paper suggested. In all cases, it added, the nation shall have notice of each aerial survey, with an opportunity to present objections or suggest modifications and with the right to examine the plane used and to send at least one observer.

The working paper, which dealt with other types of inspection, was the sixth and last of a series prepared by groups of the political committee of the atomic commission, with Russia taking no part in the drafting. The political committee will decide whether to approve the paper as official documents backed by their governments.

Albania Will Give Corfu Case to Court

By The Associated Press.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 25—Albania agreed today to appear before the International Court of Justice to answer British charges of mine laying in Corfu channel.

When Britain charged Albania with this responsibility, the Security Council recommended that two countries let the International Court settle their dispute. Albania accused Britain of acting unilaterally in bringing the case before the Court.

Ivan Kerno, Assistant Secretary General in charge of Legal Affairs, said Albania's acceptance was "a good thing for the Security Council It shows that both parties have complied with the recommendation of the Security Council. It is a good sign."

4 Hurt In Crash Of British Trade Mission Plane

London, July 25 (AP)—J. Harold Wilson, chief of the British Trade Mission to Russia, and three members of his party were injured tonight when the plane in which they were returning from Moscow crashed in landing at the London airport. No one among the seventeen aboard was killed.

Wilson, who is the British overseas trade secretary, complained of pains in his chest as he was placed in an ambulance.

Another who was injured was Thomas Cook, a Labor Member of Parliament. Lord Burghley, president of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, also was on board but was not hurt.

The plane, coming down on the brilliantly lighted field, overshot the runway and nosed into the ground. The cabin was crushed, but there was no fire.

The accident likely will delay for some time the Government's assessment of the difficult trade talks in Moscow which several times appeared on the verge of a breakdown.

Wilson had been scheduled to confer with the president of the Board of Trade, Sir Stafford Cripps, immediately upon arrival tonight. Britain has been seeking to make a deal on wheat.

The trade mission was trying to make a deal on wheat and several times the talks in Moscow appeared likely to break down. Regarding the conferences, Wilson issued this statement:

"We reached a wide area of agreement on trade matters, but we have not reached an agreement on the financial question which the Soviet government has insisted upon as a condition of any comprehensive trade agreement."

He declined to discuss the talks further pending his report to the government.

BRITISH MISSION LEAVES MOSCOW

London, July 25 (A. P.).—British Government leaders anxiously awaited today the return of a trade mission from Moscow to learn whether success or failure had climaxed the weeks of talks on Anglo-Soviet trade accord. A Board of Trade spokesman said no word had been received from Harold Wilson, chief British negotiator, on whether the effort to overcome the deadlock in the negotiations had succeeded.

Wilson and all his delegation were expected to arrive by plane late today. He was expected to report immediately to Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade.

A deadlock in the Moscow talks arose early this week over the price which the Russians quoted for wheat offered Britain, the spokesman said. Russia had indicated that she could sell Britain 6,000,000 tons of wheat and cereals, plus canned food, timber and other products during the next four years. There was no indication in London about the wheat price the Russians quoted, except that it was larger than the $1.55 a bushel this country had been paying Canada.

British Put Guests In Air-Raid Shelters

Hospitality Falters, With Hosts Outnumbered

LONDON, July 25 (AP).—Some hundreds of visitors who came from the Continent to enjoy British hospitality are getting their first taste of it in air-raid shelters—much to the embarrassment of their hosts.

The visitors, mostly children, had expected to be received in English homes and to be shown the sights and ways of English life, as part of a plan inaugurated by the World Friendship Association. Englishmen, including many children, are being received in homes in several continental countries on an exchange basis.

But at London there were not enough hosts to go around this week and many visitors who had been thinking about English beds were taken, after queuing in railway stations and restaurants, to air-raid shelters where war-time accommodation was provided.

In the air-raid shelters the visitors were unhappy. "It is very bad in England," said Diny Hoch, twenty-two-year-old nurse, from Amsterdam. "Two nights in the air-raid shelter—where it was damp and dreadful. Now we are in a hotel where the food is dreadful. I want to go back to Holland."

Whale Sausage For Britons

London, July 25 (AP)—Food-short Britain will begin using whale meat in sausages next week, the food ministry announced today.

Request Deadline August 3

Paris, July 25 (AP)—The sixteen nations in the European Economic Conference have until August 3 to turn in information on their resources and needs for use in framing requests for United States aid under the Marshall plan.

Their co-operation (steering) committee, representing all the nations in the program, set that deadline yesterday for replies to five questionnaires it approved—on food, power, metal industries, inland transportation and maritime transportation.

The committee began drawing up a questionnaire on Germany to go to commanders of all four occupation zones—United States, British, French and Russian. Russia took no part in setting up the committee organization.

The co-operation committee's time table calls for a report by September 1 to the United States, whose Secretary of State George C. Marshall on June 5 promised American aid in a European self-help program. Marshall has indicated that Congress will not be called upon to authorize such aid before next January.

Russians Charge Parley 'Terror'

Moscow, July 25 (AP)—The Communist organ Pravda loosed a bitter attack today upon British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault in which it accused them of "terrorizing" the recent sixteen-nation economic conference in Paris.

Employing the strongest words any Soviet commentator has yet used in reference to the Paris parley, the paper said:

"Like Sheep To Slaughter House"

"Bevin and Bidault shut everyone's mouth, closed the windows and doors and handled the delegates by tail and mane as if they were not representatives of the sovereign peoples of western Europe but a herd of rams being sent by Anglo-French exporters to a Chicago slaughter house.

"Western Europe never was so humiliated. Never was the downfall of the ruling bourgeoise so rapid. The want and poverty of the peoples of western Europe became the pretext for a dirty, unworthy political game."

FRANCE SPEEDS HUNT FOR URANIUM DEPOSITS

PARIS, July 25. — (AP) Frederic Joliot-Curie, France's high commissioner for atomic energy, told a news conference today that France expected to have an "atomic pile" in operation by the end of 1948.

Joliot-Curie, son-in-law of the discoverer of radium, said France was working on a dual program of atomic energy piles, one of "small" power based on a uranium and heavy water formula and the other of "great" power based on a uranium and graphite formula.

France is experiencing great difficulty in finding uranium, and 64 specialized prospectors currently are engaged in seeking deposits of the metal in metropolitan France and the colonies, he reported. One plant for processing the metal has been established at Bouchet and can produce 100 kilograms of refined uranium daily, Joliot-Curie said.

Reich Plan Revisal Is Studied

W. I. GALLAGHER

Berlin, July 25 (AP)—The United States State Department, taking a direct hand in German political and economic policy over the head of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, apparently has reversed the policy of the American Military Government in order to gain French support.

This seeming reversal, as indicated by an offer by Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State to give France a voice in setting a level of industry for the American and British zones, evoked some disappointed comment here today and may result in wide changes in the American administration of Germany.

Surprised By Action

Officials here were surprised by the State Department's action. They had not been informed of the Marshall letter to Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, replying to French protests against a British-American agreement in Berlin to raise the level of German industry to between 10,000,000 and 12,000,000 tons of steel annually. The French said revival of German industry on such a scale was a potential threat to French security, and was a question which should be settled by the four-power Foreign Ministers Council.

The Marshall letter was interpreted by the French as an invitation to a French-British-American conference which the French said yesterday they would accept.

Two Schools Of Thought

Background of the change in American policy is to be found in two schools of thought on European affairs in the State and War departments in Washington and the Military Government in Germany. These differences can be summed up in the question whether it is better for the United States to combat communism in France; to the neglect of Germany, or whether it is better to combat communism and economic chaos in Germany at the expense of French support.

The Marshall letter to Bidault indicated the French school had won out over the American Military Government school headed by General Clay, the American Military Governor, which considers Germany the greater of the two problems.

The State Department's proposal for a new conference on German industrial levels, with France included, was a sharp disappointment in military government circles who fear that new deadlocks and delays will result while Germany's precarious economy crumbles.

"Back At Potsdam"

"I think now we are right back where we were at Potsdam and the situation is far more critical," said one top official. "If we are going to have a policy let's have one and carry it out, and not reverse our field every five months."

"We seem to be trying to ride two horses going in different directions," he added.

When the Moscow Conference of Foreign Ministers failed to agree on uniting Germany this spring, largely because the question of reparations became entangled with other economic problems, the British and American military authorities set out upon an export-import program for their two zones.

Headed For Ash Can

This program involved an increase in the industrial level and had as its objective the making of Germany self-supporting by 1950 and the lifting of the occupation load from the taxpayer at home.

With the plan at the point of being announced, it was held up at French request. Military Government officials said they now believed it was headed for the ashcan.

The French Foreign Office view expressed yesterday was that any three-power conference on German industry would be a "study" with no decisions contemplated until next November's Foreign Ministers' Conference in London in which Russia will participate.

However, officials here say it is necessary to let the German people know as soon as possible what industries they can keep so uncertainty can be ended and morale lifted.

CLASH OF ARMY AND MARSHALL ON REICH BARED

State Department's Offer to Consult France Takes AMG by Surprise.

REVERSAL OF POLICY SEEN

Paris Is Held Receiving Veto on War Department Plan for Self-sufficient Germany.

W. I. GALLAGHER

Berlin, July 25 (A. P.).—A difference between policies of the United States State Department and views of the American Military Government here concerning governing Germany became apparent today.

The news of Secretary of State Marshall's invitation to France to participate in a three-Power conference on Germany's industrial level hit governing officials in Germany with sharp impact.

The United States Military Governor, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, declined to comment, but it was learned authoritatively that neither he nor any other top American Military Government official was officially informed of the State Department's sudden offer to France either before or after it was made. The only information received in Germany on the whole was a request to hold up the announcement of an American-British agreement on Germany's level of industry, reached after weeks of negotiation, these sources said.

The question of giving France a voice in deciding what the level of industry shall be for the combined American and British zones of Germany was considered by authoritative sources here as virtually a complete reversal of the policy of making the merged American and British zones of Germany a self-supporting unit through an import-export program.

Hoover for U. France Opposed.

This policy of self-sufficiency through an industrial revival in western Germany has been advocated by Herbert Hoover and numerous American business men studying Germany, and has had the strong support of the War Department.

France had opposed this policy at every turn. The French proposed a low level of German industry, coupled with international control of the Ruhr. The French position was regarded in military government quarters here as directly incompatible with the announced aims of Great Britain and the United States as far as bi-zonal Germany was concerned.

In these quarters it was pointed out that France steadfastly had refused to join the bi-zonal merger and accept joint responsibility for western Germany. They said the Marshall offer for a three-Power conference apparently would give France the same sort of veto power over the rehabilitation of the Ruhr that France has exercised in the Allied Control Council in Berlin for the last two years.

The difference between the Army and State Departments aims in Germany became apparent at the Foreign Ministers' Moscow conference last spring.

Viewpoint of the Army.

The Army school of thought, led by Gen. Clay, held that it was all important to rebuild Germany as a prosperous nation both for the economic well being of Europe and to keep Germany from going communistic. The position of Gen. Clay was subordinated at Moscow to the predominant State Department school, which held that the German problem could wait and that the most important thing was to see that France did not go communist.

Thus at every opportunity, the Americans supported the French in the six weeks of fruitless negotiations at the expense of Germany.

However, when the Foreign Ministers' conference ended without agreement, the War Department and the British Foreign Office empowered their representatives in Germany, Gen. Clay and Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, to go ahead with negotiations on an agreed level of German industry to make the combined zones self-sufficient.

The day this agreement was negotiated, signed and readied for publication, hurried messages from Washington and London halted the release. It subsequently was disclosed that this resulted from a French protest.

"I think now we are right back where we were at Potsdam and the situation is far more critical," one top official said. "If we are going to have a policy, let's have one and carry it out and not reverse our field every five months. We seem to be trying to ride two horses going in different directions."

In the two years since the war, veteran officials said, this was the first time they could recall that the American Military Government had not been kept informed of developments and moves in Washington.

The State Department's move in German policy was coupled with the recent State Department insistence that the Ruhr coal talks take place in Washington, rather than in Berlin. This was taken as indicating that Secretary Marshall and the State Department were taking direct control of policy making in Germany which previously rested with the War Department. The Ruhr talks, for example, would be in direct contrast with the handling by Clay and Robertson of the level of industry talks, in which both were empowered to reach agreements.

The Socialist Unity Party (SED) statement published in its official newspaper Neues Deutschland, charged that United States credits for Germany would "force industrial western Germany into a west bloc dangerous to the peace."

It reiterated previous Communist claims that "Germany would sell her future "for the sake of economic help" and alleged that attempts would be made to "deliver Ruhr industry to the direction of American monopoly," which would kill plans for socialization.

"The German nation previously has had most bitter experiences with American credits," the SED statement asserted, "when after World War I the American credit policies were aimed to kill socialization plans sponsored by the German workers. Instead, they strengthened the power of German heavy industries and the Junker class and thus these credits led to crisis, fascism and war."

The SED asserted that Germany should strive for a "peace economy" evolved through her own powers and said foreign aid should be accepted only on short-term basis when a German government had been established.

Russ-Zone Socialist Party Opposes U.S. Aid Plan

Berlin, July 25 (AP).—Three days after German leaders of the western zones at Frankfurt had overwhelmingly indorsed the Marshall plan for Europe, the Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity Party of eastern Germany today declared its opposition to all proposals for American credits to Germany.

The Communist-dominated party, apparently with Russian approval, also made public its own plan for Germany's rehabilitation, which closely paralleled proposals made by Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov at the Foregin Ministers Council meeting in Moscow last spring.

"Would Sell Her Future"

Falling Cigarette Prices Hit GermanBlackMarket

BERLIN, July 25 (AP).—Berlin newspapers said today that big black-market operators in Germany were in panic because of the falling black-market price of American cigarettes.

The operators speculated heavily when the American Military Government embargoed imports of cigarettes. Expecting a sharp price rise, the operators were caught in a squeeze when the quotation dropped steaadily from 1,200 to 700 marks ($120 to $70 at the official rate) for a carton.

One reason for the falling price, it was believed, is that many Germans, in the two years since the war's end, have sold most of their possessions to get black-market goods, and now lack funds for luxuries.

In addition, the Russians complicated the situation here by producing a cheap American-style cigarette selling for about 2 marks. This is about half the price black-market operators asked for one American cigarette.

Opel Plant Gets Permit, Material to Make 1,590 4-Cylinder Cars

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, July 25 (AP)—The first German passenger automobiles to be produced in the United States zone since the end of the war will start rolling off assembly lines at the Opel plant in Rueselsheim, near here, in mid-October, United States Military Government officials said today.

The plant has received authority and materials for the production of 1,590 Opel Olympias, a two-door, four-cylinder car that travels thirty miles on a gallon of gasoline and has a cruising speed of about sixty-five miles an hour.

Production is expected to start at the rate of fifteen cars a day and gradually be stepped up to fifty. Five hundred of the automobiles are intended for export, while the remainder will be sold in Germany.

U. S. Tourist in Germany To Pay 43c for 10cMark

FRANKFURT AM MAIN, July 25 (AP).—The American tourist who wants to come to see Germany's ruins is going to have to "pay through the nose," the semi-official Army newspaper "Stars and Stripes" reported today. It said the tourist will have to pay about 43 cents for thhe German mark, which is pegged at 10 cents for soldiers.

One commercial agency, arranging tours, will charge $235 for a nine-day trip through cities in the American occupation zone, and has warned its offices that tourists will have a "rugged time," staying in third-rate German hotels.

BAND 'DECIMATED,' ATHENS REPORTS (N)

Surprise Guerrilla Raid On Grevena Held Unsuccessful

L.S CHANALES

Athens, July 25 (AP)—A War Ministery spokesman announced that a force of 1,200 to 1,500 guerrillas made an unsuccessful attack on Grevena early today after a surprise march from Mount Grammos where they supposedly had been bottled up by the Greek army.

Military sources said the guerrillas were part of the band of 2,000 to 2,500 which attacked Konitsa and attempted to march on Ioannina, capital of Epirus, nearly two weeks ago.

This band, which the Greeks said came from Albania, previously had been reported surrounded and then split up into small units, some of which were last reported trying to fight their way back to another guerrilla force holding out under army attack on Mount Grammos.

Surprise Attack Repelled

Grevena, a city of 4,000 in the eastern foothills of the Pindus mountains, is 37 air miles south of Mount Grammos on the Albanian border and the same distance northeast of Konitsa.

The War Ministry spokesman said the attack on Grevena was "repelled and the guerrillas decimated."

After infiltrating through the mountains and concentrating, the guerrillas made their surprise attack at 3 A.M., officers said, and at first succeeded in driving back the outer ring of guardposts with heavy weapons. They did not succeed in getting into the town, however.

A War Ministry spokesman said that Greek Spitfires, some firing rockets, helped disorganize the attack.

90 Killed, 60 Captured

Miltary sources said the guerrillas, pursued by troops, were retreating north, southeast and west from Grevena at points about 12 miles from the city after suffering casualties of 90 killed and 60 captured.

Other activity on the guerrilla front included the routing of a band of about 600 in a major engagement west of Lamia, 125 miles north of Athens. Athens press dispatches said the band was shelled for 24 hours by artillery and attacked by fifteen aircraft and that 200 casualties were inflicted on the band.

Meanwhile, a high official in the Greek Government said "positive reports confirm" that elements of an international brigade were near the Greek border in Albania and Yugoslavia.

Contradictions About Brigade

"Naturally we do not know where they will strike, nor do we know what are their plans, but all reports have been thoroughly checked and rechecked and we have not the slightest doubt they are correct."

The official, who refused the use of his name, said the Government had decided not to make any further formal statements about an international brigade. He did not explain this decision, but presumably it was because of contradictions in recent statements by different Government sources concerning the matter.

A Government announcement on July 13 said "large contingents, including parts of an international brigade," had invaded Greece from Albania and attacked Konitsa. Five days later, Brig. Stylianos Manidakis, general staff spokesman, said there was no evidence that elements of an international brigade had participated in the attack.

Labor Battalion Near Skolpje

A foreign official source said a labor battalion of 20,000 was reported at Skolpje in Yugoslavia and suggested this might be a camouflaged international brigade.

Military sources in Ioannina were quoted in press dispatches as saying part of an international brigade was concentrated near Konispol in Albania, near the Corfu Channel and only about 37 miles west of Ioannina.

Greeks Repulse New Rebel (D) Attack

Athens, July 25 (AP)—A War Ministry spokesman said Greek Government forces, using rocket-firing planes and artillery, repelled a strong guerrilla attack today on Grevena, about 40 miles east of the Albanian border.

The Ministry said a guerrilla force of from 1,200 to 1,500 men, equipped with heavy weapons, launched the attack at 3 A.M.

The spokesman said the initial assault, forced back guard posts outside Grevena, a town of 4,000 in the Pindus Mountain foothills, southeast of the Mount Grammos border areas where Government forces have been battling leftist units for almost a month.

"Repelled And Decimated"

"The attack was repelled and the guerrillas were decimated," the spokesman said.

Military sources said the attackers were part of the guerrilla units which previously attacked Konitsa, south of the Mount Grammos region and 10 miles east of the Albanian frontier.

The Greek 2d Army Corps said at Larissa that reinforcements had been moving toward Grevena since early morning and the situation was "developing favorably." Some reinforcements already had joined the battle.

Spitfires firing rockets and machine guns were reported keeping the attackers under steady fire.

Guerilla Defeat Foreseen

Second Corps officers said the guerrillas would "either be repelled or crushed." The guerrillas had not actually entered the town, it was said.

Press dispatches said a 24-hour pounding by Greek Army artillery and aircraft had routed 600 guerrillas in a major engagement west of Lamia, 100 miles northwest of Athens. Unofficial reports said 200 casualties were inflicted on the rebels.

A United Nations Balkan subcommission still in session in Ioannina drafted a report—opposed by the Soviet and Polish delegates—for United Nations headquarters, dispatches said.

Obstruction Charged

Informed sources said this report included the subcommission's conclusions that Greek guerrillas had entered this country from Albania and that Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia had obstructed the work of the subcommission.

The Greek Government last week reported the Army had stopped a guerrilla drive on Ioannina said to have started in Albania.

Warrants were issued last night for the arrest of Nicholas Zachariades, leader of the Greek Communist party, and Miltiades Porphyrogennis, former Communist Labor Minister. The Government charged the two with "anti-national activities" and revolutionary plotting.

"Free" Government Urged

Speaking to French Communists in Strasbourg recently, Porphyrogennis urged that a "free" government be established in Greece, and Athens Government circles subsequently indicated they expected a move in that direction.

Last night, however, Constantine Rodopoulos, Governor General of northern Greece, said that the Communists "don't have the strength" to set up a provisional government.

Connally Issues Warning

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP).—Senator Tom Connally, Democrat, of Texas, told the Senate today that "irregular bands from Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria" are attempting to "overthrow the government of Greece and install therein a Communistic state."

Senator Connally, former chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said it is of the "utmost importance that the United States make good on President Truman's promise of economic and other aid to Greece and Turkey."

Greece now is the "very sensitive spot" of the world, he continued, and the American aid will enable it to resist "aggression on its borders."

Senator Connally said that "warlike nations" are trying every means to cause trouble on the Greek borders, and that the United States "must stand firm."

He said the same thing is happening to a "lesser degree in Turkey."

I. R. O. Commission Ends Swiss Session

Plans for Rehabilitation of 1,000,000 Completed

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, July 25 (AP).—The Preparatory Commission of the International Refugee Organization closed its ten-day session today with completion of plans for rehabilitation of more than 1,000,000 persons.

The organization has taken over responsibility for the care, maintenance and repatriation or resettlement of 850,000 refugees and displaced persons in Germany, Austria and Italy and 210,000 Germans in Austria.

Repatriation and resettlement is being carried on at the rate of 12,000 persons monthly. Principal receiving countries for resettlement are Canada, Brazil, Venezuela and Argentina. Displaced persons also are being received in Belgium, France, the Netherlands and Great Britain.

Total administration and operation costs for the year which began July 1 are estimated at $122,722,217, with the United States supplying 39.89 per cent of the I. R. O. budget and Britain 11.48 per cent.

Airport Back

Rome, July 25 (AP)—[illegible] chief international airport, Ciampino, south of Rome, returned to Italian ownership today after three years of Allied occupation. United States Lieut. Gen. John C. H. Lee, Allied commander in Italy, made the transfer in a brief speech. With the field went "all technical equipment and installations necessary."

Parliament Dissolved

Budapest, July 25 (AP)—President Zoltan Tildy dissolved Hungary's Parliament by decree today and announced that a new Parliament would be convened September 16. The Communist-dominated regime has tentatively scheduled elections for August 31.

Says Russia Drains Austria's Oil Fields

Gen. Steele Makes Charge; Kurasov Won't Reply

VIENNA, July 25 (AP).—Lieutenant General James Steele, representing Britain, charged at an Allied control council meeting today that Russia was exporting oil from the Zistersdorf fields to Czechoslovakia without the knowledge or consent of the Austrian government.

Liutenant General L. V. Kurasov, Russian delegate, asked by the three western powers to supply figures on the Zistersdorf production, said the matter was not on the agenda and that he had nothing to say.

France, Britain and the United States said that "serious consequences" to the Austrian economy would result if the allocations from Zistersdorf were maintained at the present level, and that the Russiance, since the oil fields are in their zone, have complete control of the allocations.

General Steel then read a statement in which he said that extracts from the Czechoslovak trade returns indicated that Russia was exporting illegally oil which was badly needed in Austria.

Lieutenant General Geoffrey Keyes, representing the United States, told General Kurasov that the United States had no desirn to exert cogtrol over the Austrian economy through the administration of the Austro-American aid agreement, as charged by General Kurasov at the last meeting.

Buying Heavy, Prices Firm at Soviet Fur Sale

100 Foreign Buyers Present, First Such Group to Visit Russia Since Before War

MOSCOW, July 25 (AP).—The international fur auction in Leningrad is going full swing with more than 100 foreign buyers present, including a large group from the United States, in the first large-scale invasion of foreign business men into the Soviet Union since before the war.

According to reports from Leningrad the auction, being held under the auspices of Soyuzpushnina, Soviet fur marketing association, is marked by heavy buying, solid prices and good furs.

Philip Dickman, representing Landis Bros. and United American Furs, said on the telephone from Leningrad that sables, ermine and Persian lamb represented the pick of the large lot being offered. Mr. Dickman said the choice items largely are being picked off by American representatives of many fur brokers and individual firms.

Long Sessions Daily

The auction formally opened July 21 with a large banquet given by Soyuzpushnina for attending buyers. Actually, however, the buyers arrived July 10 in order to inspect the lots which were on exhibition.

Since July 21 sales have been going on every day from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. This intensive schedule has tired buyers and seriously interfered with the gala social life which had been characteristic of the sales before the war.

The buyers are housed in the well-known, comfortable Astoria Hotel. Sales proceed in the famous fur auctions buildings devoted solely to Russia's large fur trade and designed particularly to handle auctions.

The sales will end tomorrow when visiting buyers will leave and Moscow's colony of American fur buyers regularly living in the Metropole Hotel in the Soviet capital will return to sit out the winter and carry on their regular, little-advertised business of handling Russia's major export to the United States.

Sales Only Eighth of Yearly Total

Business at the auction, expected to run perhaps $6,500,000, represents only about an eighth of the total annual Russian fur trades with the United States and a smaller fraction of the total of Russian fur exports to all countries.

Nine American buyers who reside regularly in Moscow do an annual business about five times as large as that being done at the auction. These buyers, in fact, represent the sole beachhead of American capitalism in Socialist Russia. There are no other resident American business men here, if one excepts American news correspondents.

In addition to the large amount of furs purchased by these buyers from Soyuzpushnina directly in Moscow, the Soviet purchasing and selling agency in the United States, Amtorg, sells almost as much fur to its American customers.

Fur is the backbone of Soviet exports to the United States. Presently no other single Soviet export gives the Soviet Union half as many dollars. More American women than by any means suspect it wear furs from Siberia, northern Russia, or Persian lambs from the Caucasus and Central Asia.

British Reported In Pursuit Of Jews' Ship

2 Explosions Shake Jerusalem; No Damage Done, Officials Say

C. DAVIDSON (N)

Jerusalem, Palestine, July 25 (AP). Two explosions started alarm sirens wailing in Jerusalem tonight as British troops rushed to emergency stations, but official sources said neither blast had caused any damage or casualties.

The first explosion occurred in the western part of the Holy City and the second, reportedly caused by a time bomb, was in the eastern part in the neighborhood of military headquarters.

Refugee Ship Reported

Meanwhile, Jewish sources said a refugee ship named "Return to Zion" was just outside Palestine's territorial waters and was being shadowed by British destroyers. This vessel reportedly was carrying 400 uncertified Jewish immigrants. There was no confirmation of a report that a second and larger ship also was approaching Palestine.

British military authorities imposed a curfew at dawn on the Jewish fishing village of Bat Yam, south of Jaffa, in an unsuccessful search for two British sergeants who were kidnapped two weeks ago at Nathanya and held as hostages for three condemned members of the Jewish underground.

150,000 Under House Arrest

The continuous search inside Nathanya today netted only a milk churn filled with electrical apparatus and leaflets of Irgun Zvai Leumi.

British quarters predicted a tightening of security controls to check the wave of violence, in which at least ten persons have been killed and 75 wounded in the last nine days.

Highly placed informants hinted that the measures would take the form of sanctions against official Jewry, widespread arrests and stricter curfews. At present some 150,000 Jews are under house arrest.

C. DAVIDSON (N)

Jerusalem, July 25 (AP)—A refugee ship named "Return To Zion," carrying 400 illegal immigrants, was reported by the Jewish underground organization, Haganah, to be nearing Palestine waters today with British destroyers "already on her track."

Haganah announced the approach of the ship simultaneously with an assertion that it had learned through its intelligence corps that the British planned to impose martial law on all Jews in the Holy Land in an effort to curb a wave of violence in which at least ten persons have been killed and 75 wounded in the last nine days.

Sanctions Predicted

Highly placed informants hinted that the measures would take the form of sanctions against official Jewry, widespread arrests and stricter curfews.

At present some 150,000 Jews in Jerusalem, Haifa and Natanya are under house arrest.

British military authorities imposed a curfew at dawn on the Jewish fishing village of Bat Yam, south of Tel Aviv, and searched the area for two British sergeants who were kidnapped two weeks ago at Natanya and held as hostages for three condemned members of the underground.

Police reported the mining last night of a British Army truck on the outskirts of Jerusalem, in which two soldiers were wounded.

Earlier in the evening—shortly before the 7 P.M. curfew—Jerusalem had its eleventh general alert in less than a week as the result of the grenading of a military vehicle in the Jewish quarter.

Immigrants A Problem

Reports from Paris indicated the British and French governments were at a loss where to land 4,500 Jewish immigrants who were intercepted last week while trying to enter Palestine aboard the "Exodus of 1947"—former Chesapeake Bay excursion steamer—and are now en route back to France. The immigrants are expected to reach France—their point of origin—today or tomorrow.

The British said the ultimate destination of the immigrants—whom they are trans-shipping in three transports, was up to the French.

A Jewish Agency spokesman said the refugees might not land at all, but stage a sitdown strike on the ships.

French Premier Paul Ramadier said France would accept them "as Jewish immigrants in transit," but "we cannot force them to leave the ships."

The immigrants, for the most part, are Polish Jews, without home or country.

Refugee Return Protested

[At Lake Success, N.Y., the Jewish Agency for Palestine protested to Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, today against British action in sending Jewish refugees back to France on the intercepted ship "Exodus of 1947."

[The letter signed by Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, chairman of the American section of the agency's executive, expressed the belief that the British move would prejudice the work of the U.N. Special Palestine Committee, which is just completing its inquiry.

[Referring to a resolution of the General Assembly, which urged all Governments to avoid actions which might inflame the situation in Palestine, Silver said:

["The action of the British Government would appear to stand in direct contradiction with the resolution of the General Assembly."]

54 Hiding In Mosque Arrested

New Delhi, July 25 (AP)—A police raiding party last night invaded a large Delhi mosque and arrested 54 Khaksars who had taken refuge within the sacred walls after drawing police gunfire in a violent demonstration.

A police announcement said the Khaksars, armed with spades, offered no resistance to the raiders who, with the exception of four officers, were all Moslems. The police removed their shoes before entering the mosque in deference to religious custom.

Indian Princes Advised Not to Stay Independent

NEW DELHI, July 25 (AP).—Viscount Mountbatten, last Viceroy of India and first Governor-General of the new Indian Union, urged the rulers of India's princely states today to surrender voluntarily a part of their sovereignty and join either the Indian Union or the new Maslem state of Pakistan.

Addressing 400 princes and other representatives of the princely states, Lord Mountbatten said that "out of 565 (princely) states, a vast majority is irretrievably linked geographically with the Dominion of India."

He urged that the princes join their territories with either the Indian Union or Pakistan and yield responsibility for defense, external affairs and communication

JUL 1947

Iran Deputy-Elect Urged To Leave

Tehran, July 25 (AP)—A parliamentary deputy from southern Iran said today that Khosrow Qashqai, deputy-elect from Fars province and leader of the armed forces of the powerful Qashqai tribes, had been "requested" by a general staff officer and members of the Royal Iranian Court to leave the country.

Diplomatic sources close to Premier Amhed Qavam and Shah Reza Pahlavi expressed the opinion that the Shah himself had "suggested" that the young tribal leader take a vacation in Switzerland "to circumvent a threatened parliamentary battle over his accreditation to the governmental body."

Army Against Him

Political enemies of the Qashqai tribes claim that Khosrow is less than the 30 years of age required of deputies. The army is strongly opposed to him because he was the leader of the rebellious tribal warriors who last September overran southern Iran as part of a tribal action that took place all the way from Bushire to Bandar Mashur, 140 miles to the northwest.

Khosrow was elected to Parliament from Fars, along with his brothers, Mohammed Hossain and Nasser—the latter leader of the powerful southern tribes. Nasser declined to accept his seat because of a tribal tradition preventing all leaders from absenting themselves from their tribes at one time.

Their election followed political conferences with Qavam and northern tribal leaders, after which it was announced that the tribes had pledged their loyalty to the Premier and the Central Government.

Aung San's Mother Appeals For Unity

Rangoon, Burma, July 25 (AP)—Daw Su—70-year-old mother of U Aung San, assassinated Burmese Executive Council member—made a nationwide appeal today for unity and urged the country to give whole-hearted support to the Anti-Fascist People's Freedom League, of which her son was leader.

Her statement was issued through AFPFL headquarters.

RANGOON, July 25 (AP)—An authoritative statement said today the wife and children of former Premier U Saw, had been taken into protective custody. U Saw, arrested with others soon after the assassinations, is head of the opposition Myochit party.

D.P.s Sail From Shanghai

SHANGHAI, July 25 (AP).—More than 700 displaced persons left Shanghai today for Europe aboard the Marine Lynx. Two-thirds of the passengers will go to Austria. Most of the others will return to Germany. The ship also carrier a small number of Poles, Czechoslovaks and Italians.

Curb On Foreign Trade Reported Lifted In China

S. MOOSA

Shanghai, July 25 (AP)—China's National Economic Council was reported today to have ordered an end to discrimination against foreign business interests.

Semi-official sources in Nanking reported the action as Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer prepared to come to Shanghai tomorrow to talk with American businessmen, who have complained of such discrimination.

The Council ruled that the Government should not adopt any regulations or taxes considered discriminatory and asserted that foreign investors were welcome, these quarters declared.

Food Program Approved

The Council, which is all-powerful in economic matters, also approved the Ministry of Agriculture's food production program which in theory would make China self-sufficient in three years.

This action was interesting in the light of Wedemeyer's fact-gathering visit to China for President Truman, a visit from which the United States may evolve a new policy toward her wartime ally.

Wedemeyer has scheduled closed meetings in Shanghai with representatives of both the American and Chinese business communities.

From the Americans he is almost certain to hear often-voiced complaints that onerous Chinese restrictions and regulations have almost trottled their import and export trade.

The American business men have been charging that the Government discriminates in favor of China's financial cliques in the granting of foreign exchange and import permits.

A majority sentiment in these business circles is against any loans to the Central Government, or at least none until trade restrictions are erased.

MONGOLS EXECUTE QUEEN AND PRINCE

Peiping, July 25 (A. P.).—The semi-official central news agency said today that the queen and a prince of the Inner Mongolian Umenghsi Banner (a league of tribes) were executed on July 20 by Haw Yiu-lung, commander of the Banner's peace preservation corps.

The agency said that Queen Chi Tsun-feng held a meeting on July 14 supporting the government's mobilization against the communists and next day sent a telegram to Nanking commending the move.

On July 16, the agency reported, she and Prince Chi Fa wu were captured and robbed by Haw and his men while en route to Paotow in Suiyuan province. On July 18, the two were jailed at Kungmiatou, sixty-six miles west of Paotow, and two days later were executed, the central news said.

CHINA ACCEPTS BID ON JAPANESE PEACE

But Would Retain Veto Power —Canada, India, Philippines Also Reply Favorably

NANKING, July 25 (AP)—The standing committee of the People's Political Council today approved Chinese participation in a preliminary Japanese peace conference but proposed that China retain veto powers.

In suggesting such a conference, with Aug. 19 as the tentative date, the United States on July 16 challenged the great powers to give up veto rights in drafting a treaty.

Russia already has rejected abandonment of the veto, while Britain and various other of the affected eleven powers have favored the conference idea but opposed the date as being too early.

The Political Council stand here was taken when the Foreign Office informed it that the preliminary conference in Washington was acceptable but that China would insist on the formal treaty sessions being held in Shanghai.

The committee approved this position but demanded that the veto be retained and that China refuse to resume trade with Japan until a treaty actually was signed. This latter view was in line with agitation in the press and among various trade guilds.

Chinese Agree On D.C. Parley

Nanking, July 25 (AP)—The Chinese Foreign Office stated today that China had agreed to participate at Washington in a preliminary conference on a Japanese peace.

[The State Department recently proposed that the preliminary conference be held in Washington or San Francisco, but Russia has objected.]

The Foreign Office statement was presented to the weekly meeting of the Peoples Political Council Standing Committee.

It added, however, that China would insist that the formal peace conference be held at Shanghai.

The committee, approving the Foreign Office position, made two proposals of its own: that China retain the veto power at the peace conference, and that China not resume trade with Japanese until a treaty is signed.

Japans Mines Get Loans

TOKYO, July 25 (AP).—A new, billion-yen loan for rehabilitation of Japan's coal mines was authorized today by General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters. This will raise to more than 2,000,000,000 yen ($40,000,000) the loans from the Japanese Reconstruction Bank for improvement of the mines. The refinancing is part of the Japanese government's campaign to increase production of coal, a major bottleneck in Japan's industrial revival.

13,963 Japanese Repatriated

TOKYO, July 25 (AP).—The United States Army announced today that 13,963 Japanese were repatriated from Soviet-controlled areas, during the week ended July 20. To date, 5,599,330 Japanese have been repatriated. More than 1,000,000 still await transportation.

India Envoy Reaches Japan

TOKYO, July 25 (AP).—Sir B. Rama Rau arrived in Tokyo Thursday to become chief of the Indian liaison mission and political representative of India in Japan, wth the rank of ambassador. He formerly was chairman of the Bombay Port Trust in charge of administration of all harbor facilities there.

FIRST PHASE WON, DUTCH SAY

Officials Claim Success In Java Campaign

S. SWINTON

Batavia, Java, July 25 (AP)—The Dutch declared today they virtually had completed the first phase of their military operations in Java, and Dutch officials indicated they now were turning to political consolidation of their position through organization of a new Indonesian Government.

Acting Governor General Hubertus J. van Mook declared in a broadcast that the institution of what he described as a "regular government" would occur as soon as possible so that the Dutch, in co-operation with the Indonesians, could work toward formation of a United States of Indonesia.

Guerrilla Warfare Seen

High Republican circles in the Indonesian capital of Jogjakarta gave no sign, however, that the forces of the republic were preparing to abandon the fight. While foreseeing the possibility that the Dutch would gain control of the main part of Java, these informants insisted the Indonesians would render the Dutch position continuously precarious with guerrilla warfare.

Van Mook's statement came after other Dutch sources said their tank and plane supported troops were rushing to isolate the Indonesian Republican stronghold of Central Java from the rich rice-producing eastern and western ends of the island.

"Greeted With Enthusiasm"

"From a military standpoint there is hardly any resistance worth the name," declared the Dutch communiqué, which listed 32 killed in The Netherlands forces from the start of military action.

"The population's attitude toward The Netherlands troops could hardly be bettered," the communiqué declared, adding that at places in West and East Java the soldiers had been "greeted with enthusiasm."

The communiqué said Dutch troops advanced over burnt-over ground through six West Java towns in the neighborhood of Tjikampek, 50 miles east of Batavia, and Bandoeng, 75 miles southeast of there.

Indonesian forces, a Republican army communiqué said, entered the North Java coastal city of Semarang—the starting point of the Dutch advance toward Jogjakarta which the Indonesians previously had claimed was thrown back.

Artillery Duel

Reporting the development of an artillery duel during the continuing Semarang engagement, the Indonesians said:

"Our forces received the full support of the population surrounding the city, and clashes were reported between Dutch troops and Indonesians serving in the Dutch Army."

This Indonesian picture of native resistance to the Dutch in the central zone contrasted sharply with van Mook's claim to a measure of popular support.

In his broadcast he proposed to "prominent Indonesian personalities" that they co-operate with him in rehabilitating the country, establishing order and building up a political organization by which the republic finally could get its place in the projected United States of Indonesia equal to the other parts of east Indonesia and West Borneo.

"Foreign Soldiers" Used

An Indonesian announcement said a half battalion of volunteer "foreign soldiers" had joined the Republican army and expressed the wish to go to the fighting fronts.

The announcement did not specify the nationality of the volunteers, but it was recalled that many Indians have been reported training with the Republican army in the mountains of Sumatra.

Qualified sources in Batavia in discussing the political aspects of the present dispute said it was "probable" up to seven separate states might spring from former territories of the Indonesian Republic following completion of Dutch military operations.

These informants predicted that the Dutch would allow separate parts of the former Republican territory to become new Federal partners in the United States of Indonesia if the populations desire. Linguistic and cultural differences between the peoples of Java and Sumatra, these sources said, made the following divisions possible:

West Java where 12,000,000 Sudanese speak their own language.

Central Java where the present Idonesian Republic might continue as a regional state.

East Java and the adjacent Island of Madoera. Much of this area is populated by the Madoerese who have a distinct culture.

Achin district of Norther Sumatra which has a clannish Moslem population.

Bataks Are Christians

Batak country and the northeast coast of Sumatra. A large part of the Bataks are Christians.

Minangkabau Land—The area around Padang, on Sumatra's west coast, and Fort de Kock. The inhabitants there preserve a matriarchal system.

South Sumatra, including the Palembang area and the rich south-central Sumatra oil fields.

Six Towns Quickly Taken

The six towns which the Dutch said their troops swept through in western Java were Poerwakarta, eleven miles south of Tjikampek; Panamoekan, on the coast twenty-seven miles northeast of Tjikampek; Madjalaja and Tjitjalengka, respectively fifteen miles southeast and fifteen miles east of Bandoeng; Pasir Boengoer, twelve miles east of Tjikampek, and Pegadan Baroe, twenty-four miles east of Tjikampek. Poerwakarta had been an important headquarters for the Republican forces.

Detailing Indonesian scorched-earth operations, a Dutch bulletin said two rubber estates captured in West Java had suffered badly and that there was much destruction at Tjitjalengka and Madjalala. The bulletin added that air reconnaissance showed the radio station at Malabar was ablaze.

Dutch artillery, an Indonesian communique said, bombarded Tegal, a north coast port forty-five miles east of Cheribon. The Dutch were reported to have taken Tegal day before yesterday.

Netherlands soldiers mopping up in eastern Java entered Djatiroto, near Probolinggo, and captured intact the largest sugar mill in the East Indies, it was officially announced.

The Indonesian news agency Antara, said there were violent clashes in Probolinggo—the same area where the Dutch claimed they were mopping up.

Both sides reported lively fighting in northern Sumatra. Indonesian communiqué said Republican troops had fought into Dutch-held Medan, one of the major cities of the island.

The Dutch bulletin said fierce tribesmen of Achin counterattacked twice against Bindjai, west of Medan, but were driven off.

Dutch Declare Central Java Is Isolated

S. SWINTON

Batavia, July 25 (AP)—A fully qualified Dutch source said today that the first phase of Dutch operations against the Indonesian republican army, aimed at isolating central Java from the rice-producing east and west, had been completed.

Reporting from the republican capital of Jogjakarta, deep in the interior, Associated Press Correspondent Harris Jackson said official republicans obviously foresaw the possibility that the Dutch would capture the main part of Java, but insisted that the Indonesians would render the Dutch position continuously precarious with guerrilla warfare.

The Dutch informant here said the next step for Dutch troops would be to mop up zones of resistance in the eastern and western parts of the island and install new administrations. Whether Dutch troops then would drive on Jogjakarta in an attempt to smash the reminder of the republic was unqué said mopping up was already begun in the eastern part of the island,

An Indonesian Army communiqué, decided, the informant said.

Mopping Up In The East

A Netherlands army communiqué reported that republican forces in central Java had penetrated Dutch defenses at Semerang on the north coast, jumpoff point for a Dutch drive on Jogjakarta. The city is 60 miles north of Jogjakarta.

"Our forces received the full support of the population surrounding the city," the Indonesian communiqué said.

A Dutch communiqué said Dutch forces which swept past six more western Java towns, including an important former republican army headquarters, found much evidence of Indonesian scorched-earth tactics.

Two Rubber Estates Damaged

The communiqué said two rubber estates captured in West Java suffered badly and there was much destruction and burning at Tjit-jalengka and Madjalaja. Air reconnaissance showed that the West Java radio station at Malabar was ablaze, the bulletin added.

The Dutch also said they were welcomed by the population. An army communiqué said that while it was true that in some places "they show themselves uncertain," in Cheribon and other places in East and West Java "our troops were greeted with enthusiasm."

"It is noticeable the population seems fully to understand the task of the Netherlands troops," the communiqué said.

"Hardly Any Resistance"

The bulletin said that in eastern and western Java, from a military standpoint, "there is hardly any resistance worth the name."

In northern Sumatra, tribesmen of Achin counterattacked twice against Bindjai west of Medan, the communiqué said, but were officially reported driven off. The remainder of Sumatra was said to be quiet.

An Indonesian Army communiqué also said that Republican forces had fought into Dutch-held Medan in northwest Sumatra. The Dutch command had previously said there was little fighting in the Medan area.

The Indonesian Army said half a battalion of volunteer "foreign soldiers" had joined the Republican army, expressing the wish to be sent to the fighting fronts. The announcement did not specify the nationalities of the volunteers. Unconfirmed reports circulated before the outbreak of hostilities said many Indians had been training with the Republican army in the mountains of Sumatra.

Official Dutch casualty figures since the start of operations were given as 32 killed, 41 wounded and seven missing. Normally these figures lag considerably behind operational reports.

The Dutch communique said the biggest sugar mill in the East Indies had been captured undamaged at Djatiroto, near Probolinggo on Java's northeast coast.

North Coast City Seized

In that same area, it added, other Dutch elements seized the north coast city of Pasoeroean, 30 miles south of Soerabaja. The ring of east Javanese territory the Dutch claim to control, now runs east, south and west around the coast to a point almost opposite Pasoeroean on the south side of the island.

In west Java, the advance through six towns was in the neighborhood of Tjikampek, 50 miles east of Batavia, and Bandoeng, 75 miles southeast of there.

These towns were Poerwakarta, 11 miles south of Tjikampek; Panamoekan, on the coast, 27 miles northeast of Tjikampek; Madjalaja and Tjitalengka, respectively, 15 miles southeast and 15 miles east of Bandoeng; Pasir Boengoer, 12 miles east of Tjikampek, and Pegadan Baroe, 24 miles east of Tjikampek.

Poerwakarta has been an important headquarters for Republican forces.

Indonesia Split Proposed

Batavia, Java, July 25 (AP)—Qualified sources said today that formation of seven separate states from former territories of the Indonesian Republic was a "probability" when Dutch troops completed military operations against the Republicans.

These informants, discussing what might be expected politically in the islands, said the Dutch would allow separate parts of Republican territory to become Federal partners in the projected United States of Indonesia, if the population so desired.

The United States of Indonesia was to include Java, Sumatra and Madoera.

Proposed Alignment

One source said the linguistic and cultural differences among the various peoples of Java and Sumatra made it probable that the federation of separate states would be chosen. If this were the case, the informants said, the states might be made up as follows:

1. Central Java, seat of the present Republic, which might continue to exist within a federation if the Republican leadership was willing to co-operate.

2. West Java, where 12,000,000 Sundanese speak a language of their own.

3. East Java and the Island of Madoera, largely populated by Madoerese, with a distinct culture of their own.

4. Atjeh (Achin), in northern Sumatra, whose population is made up of clannish Moslems.

5. The Batak country and the northeast coastal people in Sumatra, largely Batak Christians, inhabiting an area beginning about 150 miles north of Padang and running northwest across the island as far as Pematangsiantar.

6. Minangkabau Land, the area around Padang and Fort de Kock, which has a population which preserves the matriarchal system.

7 South Sumatra, including the Palembang area, and rich south-central Sumatra, which includes the oil fields of Shell and Standard Vacuum.

Communiques on Indonesia Fighting

Netherland

BATAVIA, Java, July 25 (AP)—A Netherland Army communique:

In west Java our troops reached and occupied Purwakarta, Pamanukan, Majalaya and Chichalengka, Pasir Bungar and Pagaden Baru.

Our troops reached the estates of Jipetir and Parakan Salak in the Sukabumi area. Arson had been committed on these estates.

The tunnel near Sasaksaat on the Bandung-Purwakarta railway line was found undamaged and occupied by troops. Chikalong Wetan, situated east of the Chimahi-Purwakarta line, was occupied.

In the neighborhood of previously mentioned places, Chichalengka and Majalaya, Republican armed groups destroyed and burned a great deal. Air reconnaissance showed the well-known wireless station at Malabar is on fire.

Middle Java—In middle Java, clearing actions were carried out around Banjubiru.

East Java—Pasaruan was taken by surprise and occupied. Around Probolinggo clearing action was carried out and many arrests were made. Jatiroto was occupied. The Jatiroto sugar mill was found undamaged.

During clearing sweeps in east Java a German was taken prisoner. Communications between Lumajang and Jember were brought about.

Republicans infiltrated into Mojokerto during the night of July 23-24. Our counter-measures were completely succcessful.

Sumatra—Medan—During the night of July 23-24, Republican armed groups made two attacks on Binjai, which was just occupied by Netherland troops. Netherland posts and patrols east of Medan also were fired upon.

In newly occupied areas around Medan clearing actions were carried out. Railway communications between Medan and Arnhemia were resumed.

Around Padang clearing actions were carried out without meeting any great resistance. A large amount of arms has been confiscated. Republican losses amount to several killed here.

It was reported from Palembang that Baturaja, 150 kilometers southwest of the town, has been occupied.

The population's attitude toward the Netherland troops could hardly be bettered. Here and there, it is true, they show themselves a little uncertain but elsewhere, for instance in Cheribon and in various places in west and east Java, our troops were greeted with enthusiasm.

The population around the airfield of Kalijati came running out to help with necessary repairs. In consequence this airfield was ready for use Thursday. It is noticeable that the population seems fully to understand the task of the Netherland troops.

From a military standpoint there is hardly any resistance worth the name.

Official Netherland losses from the start of the actions are thirty-two killed, forty-one wounded and seven missing.

Indonesian

BATAVIA, Java, July 25 (AP)—An Indonesian Army communique:

East Java—The Dutch have drawn back to Purworejo (northward).

Central Java—Indonesians from several directions are marching on to Semarang. At Salatiga the Dutch are held up. Guerrillas are fighting in the town. There was mortar and cannon fire southeast of Semarang. We retaliated with gunfire.

At 1200 hours a Dutch fighter crashed in the outskirts of Bojolali. The plane earlier had taken part in a raid on Jogjakarta's airfield, Maguwo, where it had been hit by ack-ack. A Dutch B-25 dropped leaflets over Chilachap, Maos and Purwokerto.

West Java—A B-25 reconnoitered over Serang and later disappeared in a western direction. The plane reappeared at 0900 hours over Serang to drop leaflets.

A further Indonesian Army communique:

East Java—July 23, 0500 hours, Indonesian troops occupy Senoman, one kilometer (a kilometer is .621 of a mile) from Mojokerto; 0600 hours, Indonesian forces occupy Mojokerto. The local Indonesian population renders full assistance to our army.

Off Krugan and Lasem, a Dutch vessel was observed on July 23 and 24. A plane flew over the ship.

Purwodadi, near Purwosari, captured by the Indonesian army July 24. The enemy is pushed back at Pasirian, nine kilometers southeast of Malang.

Central Java—Indonesian units make a swift advance in the Semarang area.

West Java—July 24, Dutch columns advancing through Sumedang and Kadipaten attack Cheribon at 1630 hours. Fighting outside and in the city.

In the night of July 24, Chichalengka was hit by ten rounds of Dutch artillery shells. Severe fighting ensued there.

Red Hits Britain, U.S. In Indonesia

Moscow, July 25 (AP)—Izvestia's political commentator "observer" today blamed the United States and Britain for the current state of affairs in Indonesia.

"The governments of the United States and Britain openly interfered in Dutch-Indonesian relations," the writer declared. "They recomended to the republican government that it accept the demands of the Dutch authorities as soon as possible."

[The Soviet writer apparently was alluding to an "aide memoire" in which the United States on June 28 urged the Indonesian republic to "co-operate without delay" in the formation of a federal government and indicated that the United States would be ready to discuss the question of economic help for Indonesia when such a government was formed.]

Accuses Dutch

"Observer" added that "there is no need to point out what such a recommendation represents."

The article then charged Dutch authorities with "selling Indonesia to American monopolists for a dollar loan."

The writer asserted that after the Dutch received "this solid support" from the United States, the Dutch launched "open military operations against the Indonesian people."

"Mass protests against the colonizers," the article concluded, "bears proof of what the world democratic public understands—that the narrow, self-interested policy of international monopolists threatens peace and security."

Joint U.S.-British Rocket Test Seen

Sydney, July 25 (AP)—The Sydney Sun quoted Australian Government circles in Melbourne today as saying that the United States might share in rocket-bomb experiments on a British empire range planned to stretch 3,000 miles over Australia and the Indian Ocean.

"No definite agreement on American participation in the empire experiments is believed to have been made," the Sun said. "Participation by the United States would come in the later stages of the experiments, when atomic heads were considered for rockets, it was suggested.

Interested In Standardization

"Defense experts pointed out that the defense organizations of the United Kingdom, the Dominions and the United States had closely followed one another's developments, all being interested in standardization of weapons."

The Sun's report followed by a few days a Washington announcement that the United States would test atomic weapons in the Pacific.

4 Policemen Killed In Philippine Ambush

Manila, July 25 (A. P.).—The Interior Department said today that four government policemen were killed Wednesday when ambushed by machine gunners in the center of San Luis, Pampanga province, home town of Luis Taruc, leader of the Hukbalahap armed peasants.

Armed Forces Merger Bill Approved as House, Senate Prepare to Adjourn Today

JUL 1947

NIGHT SESSIONS HELD TO SPEED 'MUST' MEASURES

Military Training Plan Put in Position for Vote in 1948.

SUGAR QUOTAS SET

Nomination of Murdock to NLRB Board Approved by Committee.

WASHINGTON, July 26—(Saturday)—(AP) Battling against time and each other, senators wound up another lengthy session early today.

At 12:21 a. m. Eastern Daylight Time (11:21 p. m. Eastern Standard Time) they quit work after being in session nearly 13 and one-half hours.

The pressure of the steady grind to complete pressing legislative business before scheduled adjournment tonight for the summer was beginning to tell on the work-harassed lawmakers.

It was the second extended session for the senate in two days. It had adjourned around dawn Friday morning only to resume deliberations a few hours later.

Merger Bill Goes to Truman

The house had recessed earlier after sending to President Truman his long-sought measure to achieve unification of the armed forces under a secretary of defense.

As the senators worked until early today, passage of numerous measures under procedure requiring unanimous consent, bogged down through a series of Democratic objections.

Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) began protesting a series of Republican investigation requests, saying that there is no need to investigate as long as Republicans control congress.

Finally Senator Taft (R-Ohio) moved that the Senate recess until Saturday if politics were to prevent any actions.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky tried to get Senate action on some nominations but Taft promptly objected to that.

Before the Senate quit for the night, a Senate-House conference committee reported it had agreed upon a $507,000,000 appropriation for flood control, hydro-electric navigations and other projects. The compromise is $167,000,000 more than the House voted.

Sugar Quotas Established

Around 9 p. m., EST., after long debate, the Senate sent the President a bill continuing for five years major portions of the sugar act of 1937 and establishing quotas which determine how the U. S. sugar market shall be divided up among American and foreign producers.

Then it plunged into what looked like a lengthy talk about a bill by Senator Revercomb (R-W.Va.) calling for an investigation of the immigration problem, including the issue of foreign refugees, known as displaced persons.

Previously Congress wrote its final OK on a $5,482,530,500 fund to run the Army this fiscal year—some $234,000,000 less than the President asked.

His universal military training plan was approved by the House Armed Services Committee, 20 to 0, and put on the calendar ready for action when Congress returns in January. He had wanted it passed this session, but in the closing weeks it became apparent that that could not be done.

His controversial nomination of Abe Murdock, former Democratic senator from Utah, as a member of the enlarged National Labor Relations Board was approved by the senate labor committee, 9 to 3. The committee also okayed J. Copeland Gray of Buffalo, N. Y., as the other new board member and Robert N. Denham of Washington as NLRB general counsel.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), committee chairman who voted against Murdock, expressed doubt the senate would get around to confirming the nominations before it quits tomorrow. But if not, the president could appoint the nominees to serve during the recess, for the senate knocked out of an appropriation bill a house provision which would have barred them.

GOP Lose on Vote Case

Senate Republicans conceded defeat in their effort to put through a resolution by Senator Kem (R-Mo) to investigate Attorney General Clark's handling of the Kansas City vote fraud charges. Democratic senators had fought it vigorously, although the president himself had not taken a hand.

The senate stayed in session all night last night, until 5:12 a. m. (EST) this morning, wrangling over it. Then the GOP leaders decided they could not get it through and permitted a recess for a few hours' sleep.

Kem tried to bring it up again today under procedure which required unanimous consent, but Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) blocked it. Kem spoke bitterly of a Democratic "filibuster" but Barkley called that "a gratuitous and incorrect statement."

In the house, Rep. Ploeser (R-Mo) issued a statement that the failure of the investigating resolution to pass this session will spur the Missouri Republican delegation to put it through next year.

Mr. Truman called off his regular Friday meeting with the cabinet and arranged to stand by over the weekend to handle the last minute flood of legislation from the capitol.

Stop-Dates for Wartime Laws

One resolution which he signed today sets stop-dates for 175 wartime laws. It provides, among other things, that men joining the armed services from now on will not get free schooling and other benefits under the GI bill of rights as veterans upon their discharge.

Major and minor bills and much oratory were sandwiched in as congress drove for adjournment.

Without debate, the house passed and sent to Mr. Truman's desk a bill adopting the federal mine safety code for bituminous and lignite mines. John L. Lewis already had won this code for the mines where his United Mine Workers union is the bargaining agent.

The house passed and sent to the senate a measure extending the life of the Institute of Inter-American Affairs, a government corporation, until 1950. This is a government corporation for cooperation with other American countries in health, sanitation, basic education, and food supply through agricultural development.

House passage likewise sent to the senate a bill authorizing special stamps to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the poultry industry. Sen. Baldwin (R-Conn) introduced a similar bill.

Service Merger Creates Separate Air Department

Washington, July 25 (AP)—The House gave President Truman his bill for unifying the armed forces today and put his program for universal military training in position for early action next year.

The House Armed Services Committee approved the training bill 20-0, and put it on the House calendar where it will stay until Congress meets again in January. Then it can be passed quickly—or it can be overhauled some more by the committee, if it wishes.

The bill to put the Army, Navy and Air Forces under a single Secretary of Defense went to the White House after the House, by a routine voice vote, accepted the final version worked out by a House-Senate Conference Committee. The Senate had approved it yesterday.

Creates Air Department

The measure creates an individual Department of Air on an equal footing with the Army and Navy Departments, all three headed by secretaries not of Cabinet rank. The Secretary of Defense, a Cabinet officer, will be in over-all charge of them.

It also sets up a national security council to co-ordinate military, industrial, and foreign policy activities, a central intelligence agency, and a national resources board.

Both this bill and the military training measure approved by the committee follow Mr. Truman's recommendations generally.

12 Months Called For

The training bill would apply to every able-bodied American male as soon as he becomes 18, and in any event before he becomes 21. The training would start with six months in an army, navy, or air force establishment and would be followed by the equivalent of six more months taken in various ways.

Eight Republican and twelve Democratic committee members approved the bill after opponents failed to block action by parliamentary strategy. Three voted by proxy. Thirteen others were absent.

Voting for the bill were Representatives Andrews (R., N.Y.), Thomas (R., N.D.); Bates (R., Mass.), Anderson (R., Cal.), Smith (R., Maine), Johnson (R., Cal.), Towe (R., N.J.), Norblad (R., Wash.), Vinson (D.. Ga.), Drewry (D., Va.), Thomason (D., Texas), Brooks (D., La.), Johnson (D., Texas), Kilday (D., Texas), Burham (D., N.C.), Sasscer (D., Md.), Rivers (D., S.C.), Sikes (D., Fla.), Hebert (D., La.), and Winstead (D., Miss.). Vinson, Thomason, and Hebert voted by proxy.

The committee started hearings several months ago. When it closed them last week, opponents claimed they had not been given an opportunity to be heard, but Chairman Andrews insisted that Congress, through various committees, had fully heard all views.

Provisions Outlined

In voting to send the bill to the House, committee members reserved the right to oppose it or try to change it when the showdown comes next year.

The bill contains these general provisions:

Applicability: Every male as soon as he becomes 18; deferment would be allowed for youths in high school or for some other good reason unable to start training when they are 18.

Period of training: Six consecutive months in an army, navy, or air force establishment. Followed by the equivalent of six more months of training through the National Guard, the ROTC, a reserve component, or any of several other methods.

Pay Is $30 Month

Pay: $30 a month while in basic training, plus a dependency allowance of $50 monthly for one dependent and $65 for more than one.

Uniform: To be prescribed by the President and to bear a distinctive insignia. Trainees would not actually be in the Army, Navy, or Air Force. They would be subject to active service only in case of emergency, and then only in the same manner that any other man would be inducted.

Administration: By a three-member commission appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. An executive director named by the commission would administer the details and policies of the commission. An advisory board of 10 to 25 members appointed by the President would advise the commission.

CONGRESS VOTES FUNDS FOR ARMY

JUL 1947

WASHINGTON, July 25. — (AP) Congress voted finally today to give the army $5,482,530,500 to run it during the year that began July 1, and all but completed action on a $1,530,361,400 bill to finance U. S. foreign policy in an unsettled world.

First the house, then the senate, by voice votes approved the compromise figure for the War Department. It is approximately $234,000,000 below White House requests.

Senate OKs Foreign Aid

The senate passed, and sent back to the house, a bill carrying the foreign policy money. House action tomorrow could put it on President Truman's desk on the last day of this session of congress.

In senate debate, Senator Connally (D-Tex) said that "irregular bands from Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria" are attempting to overthrow the Greek government "and install therein a Communistic state."

Connally said that the aid for Greece contained in the foreign policy money bill will enable it to resist border aggression.

The money is divided as follows:

To Greece and Turkey to help them resist Communism, $400,000,000.

For general relief in Italy, Austria, Trieste, China and Greece, $332,000,000.

For the cost of occupation and relief in Japan, Korea and Germany, $725,000,000 for 15 months.

For U. S. participation in the international refugee organization's care of displaced persons, $73,361,400.

Most of Cut Restored

The bill as it left the senate restored most of the 12.6 per cent cut the house made in the administration's request for $1,548,364,000. The house must now act on senate additions.

Actually, the foreign policy items are part of a general deficiency appropriation totalling $1,680,737,897, which is $77,538,802 more than the house voted.

Rounding out the total are scattering amounts for the Veterans Administration, National Labor Relations Board, the Commerce, Agriculture and War Departments and the Federal Security Agency.

The house, in an action which does not require senate concurrence, voted $440,000 for additional expenses of its investigating committees, raising their total to $1,072,000.

SUGAR QUOTA BILL SENT TO WHITE HOUSE

JUL — 1947

Senate Approves Measure On Division Of American Market

Washington, July 25 (AP)—The Senate tonight passed and dispatched to the White House a bill setting sugar quotas which determine how the United States market shall be divided up among American and foreign producers.

The measure also extends for five years the major portions of the Sugar Act of 1937, which expires December 31.

Included in the bill is a provision authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to withdraw certain portions of the sugar quotas of foreign governments which deny "fair and equitable treatment" to United States citizens.

Cuba Claims Cited

Senator Millikin (R., Col.) and Senator Barkley (D., Ky.) told the Senate United States citizens have "considerable claims" in Cuba which they have been unable to collect.

Senators Vandenberg (R., Mich.), Pepper (D., Fla.), McMahon (D., Conn.) and Connally (D., Texas) protested this provision as contrary to the "good neighbor policy."

But the Senate defeated by a 42-40 roll-call vote an attempt to strike it out.

Incentive payments to beet and cane growers would be continued. As at present, the Secretary of Agriculture would be required to establish the sugar prices paid to the growers and to determine minimum wages of sugar agricultural workers in this country.

Amendment Withdrawn

The Senate Finance Committee, in the interest of speeding the bill along, withdrew a proposed amendment that would have exempted the sugar beet industry from this minimum wage provision. This avoided sending the measure back to the House for a possible conference.

The following annual raw sugar quotas are set by the bill:

Domestic beet sugar 1,800,000 tons; mainland cane sugar 500,000; Hawaii 1,052,000; Puerto Rico, 910,000, and Virgin Islands, 6,000.

The Philippines are allowed to sell in the United States market 952,000 tons, much more than their expected production in the next five years.

Cuba is allowed to sell 28.6 per cent United States consumption, plus 95 per cent of the amount which the Philippines fail to supply of their quota.

Up to now, the domestic area quotas have been percentages rather than constant tonnage figures.

MEASURE TO END CREDIT CONTROLS NOV. 1 IS PASSED

WASHINGTON, July 25 — (AP) Buying on the "easy payment plan" would resume full scale Nov. 1 under legislation approved today by both the House and Senate.

Should President Truman decree it, installment purchasing on an unlimited scale could be resumed even sooner.

By voice vote the house accepted compromise legislation requiring an end to federal curbs on credit buying by the end of October.

The senate took similar action tonight, thus sending the measure to the White House.

Wartime Restrictions

Now, if a man wants to buy a car, he must pay one-third down and the balance within 15 months. Similar controls apply to other articles. They were invoked by presidential order during the war in an anti-inflation maneuver.

President Truman had asked for direct authority from congress for continuing the controls. He said last June 5 in a letter to the Federal Reserve Board: "I do not believe that such regulation should rest indefinitely in peacetime on emergency or war powers after the congress has had ample opportunity to consider the subject."

He said that lacking such legislative authority he would end the controls by cancelling the executive order setting them up.

With regard to today's house action, Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich) of the House Banking Committee told a reporter:

"We are not giving the president specific peacetime authority for control of installment buying during the next three months. We merely do not disturb the power he now has for that period of time. The bill sets a termination date for the powers. The House-Senate conferees decided that to cut off the controls abruptly might cause some embarrassment to business and industry and that 90 days was a fair period for business to adjust itself to operate without the controls."

A Senate-House committee approved the compromise in putting together varying versions passed by the two branches of congress. The house originally voted to end all controls immediately; the senate version would have authorized controls until December 31 with an easing of restrictions on credit buying.

GI BENEFITS ENDED IN NEW ENLISTMENTS

Emergency Over For 175 Laws, But 100 War Powers Remain

Washington, July 25 (AP)—The war and emergency ended tonight for 175 pieces of wartime legislation but another 100 extraordinary powers remain on the books.

President Truman signed Senate Joint Resolution 123 and thereby barred new army and navy recruits from loans, jobless pay, educational aid and other GI Bill of Rights benefits. They continue, however, for those already eligible for them.

A thick sheaf of other laws under which the nation has lived through war and reconversion became dead letters at once, or will expire in periods of one, two or more years.

Anti-Trust Suit Bar

Repealed at once were:

The wartime suspension of anti-trust prosecutions.

The power to declare new farm products entitled to Federal price support, as hogs, milk and poultry now are.

The employment of $1-a-year men.

Repealed one year hence are:

The authority to arm merchant vessels.

The authority to keep army and navy officers in temporary grades.

Allowed to lapse, but staying on the statute books in case of future war or emergency, are the laws authorizing:

The transfer of the Coast Guard to the Navy.

The placing of mandatory orders for munitions.

The death penalty for desertion.

Clark To Continue Study

"It is not possible at this time to provide for terminating all war and emergency powers," Mr. Truman's statement said. But he added that he was instructing Tom C. Clark, Attorney General, to continue studies looking to the end of the remaining war powers.

It was "T-day"—termination-of-war day—on veterans' benefits for newcomers. July 25, 1947, is the last day which may be counted for service in World War II in setting eligibility for veterans' benefits.

Persons entering the service henceforth will not be eligible for benefits under the GI Bill of Rights. If they become disabled in service, they will get compensation at about 75 per cent of the wartime rate.

Benefit Stop-Dates Set

These stop-dates are set on GI benefits for those now eligible for them:

1. Education and Job-training—Courses must be started not later than four years from today, must be completed not later than nine years hence. The Government provides training from one to four years, pays up to $500 a year plus subsistence up to $90 a month.

2. Unemployment Allowances—They stop two years from today. Jobless pay ranges up to $20 a week for 52 weeks.

3. Loan Guarantees—These will be made for ten years hence. The Government guarantees up to 50 per cent on certain home, farm and business loans.

Premium Guarantee

4. Insurance—The right to apply for Government guarantee of premium payments on commercial life insurance held by persons in service will end six months from today. Protection on all approved applications will continue up to two years after the veteran's discharge from the service.

Men and women already in the service who have not yet served the 90-day period required for eligibility to benefits will be considered eligible if they finish out the required time and are discharged honorably.

Among the additional measures affected are:

Transportation priorities on merchant ships; repealed.

Authority to censor communications with foreign countries; repealed.

Sale or lease of public lands for munitions making; repealed.

Transportation of iron ore by Canadian vessels on the Great Lakes between United States ports; repealed as of six months from today.

Public Land Sale

Temporary war housing built under the Lanham Act must be torn down two years hence.

Authority to make mandatory extensions of enlistments in all arms of the service; dropped (except that medical men educated by the Army must serve two years in active duty; also, an exception is made for the Navy, because of a technicality, but the Navy is on a strict voluntary basis).

Authority to call the National Guard into Federal service; dropped.

Authority to restrict and control the manufacture of explosives; dropped.

The ban on the sale of ships to foreigners without Maritime Commission approval; dropped.

The legislation bars the Agriculture Department from declaring any additional commodities eligible for price support. But the authority holds good until December 31, 1948, for commodities already covered.

The resolution also declares that 1947 is the last crop year in which certain nonproducing farms may be considered eligible for future crop allocations. Farms which were not worked because their operators were in the service were rated eligible for acreage allotments.

MAY AND GARSSONS GET PRISON TERMS

Given 8 Months To Two Years On Bribery Charges

Washington, July 25 (AP)—Andrew J. May, former chairman of the House Military Committee, and the munitions-making Garsson brothers were sentenced to from eight months to two years in Federal prison on war-bribe charges today despite their fervent pleas that they never handled a dishonest dime.

The Garssons, Henry and Murray, were convicted of giving—and May of receiving—$53,634.07 in bribes.

This money was turned over, the Government charged, in return for pressure brought to bear by May on the War Department and other agencies to help the Garssons' wartime munitions combine.

May Was Power In Congress

As a Democratic Congressman from Kentucky for sixteen years until his defeat last year, the 72-year-old May was a power in Congress on all matters affecting the military.

"I never did a thing in Congress that today vexes my conscience," said May in his plea for mercy today. "I'm not guilty."

Although he and the Garssons all protested that they hadn't made "a single dime" out of their relationships, they showed no emotion when Federal Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut said:

"I sentence each of you to a minimum of eight month and a maximum of two years."

Appeal Taken At Once

The defendants' lawyers appealed immediately and each of the three was let out on a $2,000 bond until the appeal is settled.

The maximum penalty could have been six years in jail plus a $30,000 fine.

Justice Schweinhaut, in explaining the absence of a fine, declared he levied none because "there has been no showing that any of them have any substance—financial means, that is."

In the presentencing appeals for mercy, the defense lawyers had said that their clients are so hard up they are paying their trial expenses with borrowed money.

Speech Made By May

By far the most impassioned speech was made by the big, bald-headed May.

"I have never violated a law—as far as I know—in the 72 years I have lived," May told Schweinhaut, who was waiting to sentence him.

"I was superintendent of a Sunday school and taught a Bible class back in Kentucky, and when I came here I attended the Baptist Church regularly.

"I have never tasted liquor, wine or beer, and I have never used tobacco in my whole life, in order to enjoy my old age without poisoning my system."

The quaver left May's voice when he said:

"I never received a dollar that was not honestly earned."

Fail To Get New Trial

Sentencing was delayed for almost two hours while the defense lawyers unsuccessfully sought a new trial on the grounds that the jury which convicted the three on July 3 was prejudiced.

Charles J. Margiotti declared that during the eleven weeks trial some of the jurors had read prejudiced news stories and had heard prejudiced radio reports of the proceedings. Furthermore, he argued, the jurors had discussed the case with each other.

Schweinhaut declared the evidence was insufficient to inquire into the jury's conduct. But on one occasion at least he seemed to pay considerable heed to what the defense lawyers were saying.

Both May and Murray Garsson were pictured by their lawyers as men very sick with heart trouble.

Long Plea For Mercy

May had been called up before the judge for sentencing, and while he was standing there, one of his lawyers, Warren Magee, began a long plea for mercy.

When he reached the part where Magee was pointing out that May had a weak heart, Justice Schweinhaut noticed that May was still standing.

He interrupted Magee to say: "Sit down, Mr. May."

May remained seated during the rest of the speech.

RUSSIA'S VISA BAR ANNOYS CONGRESS

JUL — 1947

Washington, July 25 (A. P.).—Moscow's "No" to a Russian visit by three American lawmakers rubbed raw today a new point of irritation between Congress and the Soviet Union.

The turndown produced:

1. A proposal that hundred, maybe thousands, of Russians be expelled from the United States.

2. A curt letter to Soviet Ambassador Nikolai V. Novikov about "diplomatic detterents," which as yet has drawn no comment from the Russian Embassy.

3. Complete junking of plans for the trip.

4. A rise in Congressional temperatures, especially that of Representative Kersten (R.-Wis.).

Kersten is chairman of a three-man House labor subcommittee that was supposed to go to Russia in September to study education and labor. The State Department issued passports to Kersten and to Representatives Owens (R.-Ill.) and Kennedy (D.-Mass.). But Moscow refused visas.

The reason, Kersten was told in a letter from Yuri M. Bruslov, chief of the consular division of the Soviet Embassy: "Lack of Hotel accommodations and some other shortages, both in Moscow and in the big educational and industrial centers, caused by the war."

'PRESSURE' IN HUGHES AIR QUIZ CHARGED

JUL 1947

Brewster Reports Move To Halt Probe Of War-time Plane Contracts

Washington, July 25 (AP)—Political and other "pressure" to head off an inquiry into wartime plane contracts of Howard Hughes and Henry J. Kaiser was reported today by Chairman Brewster (R., Maine), of the Senate War Investigating Committee.

"All kinds of political pressure has been brought to bear in an attempt to stop this investigation," Brewster said. "They have gone out and attempted to hire Republican lawyers to represent them.

"They seem to have a functioning organization capable of taking steps to divert the course of the hearing."

"Other Sexy Stuff"

As part of the campaign, Brewster declared, Carl Byoir, of New York, "publicity man for Hughes" and "Hollywood interests" are trying to play up a "sex angle" to "divert public attention from the real issue."

"Stories of lavish parties, pictures of bathing beauties and other sexy stuff are being fed to the newspapers and radio," Brewster remarked.

"What this committee is trying to learn is how $40,000,000 worth of taxpayers' funds were spent under airplane contracts with Howard Hughes."

Hughes Asked Inquiry, He Says

Brewster also related that Hughes himself "asked for our inquiry into his affairs" after preliminary hearings had been begun under Democratic control.

"He called me up in Kansas City on February 12 and demanded a hearing," the Senator continued. "He asked that we send men out to look over the books of his company."

"We sent two men to Hollywood and they came back and reported."

Roosevelt Files Received

This apparently was a reference to testimony gathered privately by a subcommittee headed by Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.). Members of the full committee will look it over tomorrow in advance of hearings starting Monday.

The committee today received documents from the files of the late President Roosevelt which it had requested.

Subsequently, the committee issued a statement saying the United States archivists had delivered "several papers" from Mr. Roosevelt's files to William P. Rogers, committee counsel.

Brewster said he had no idea what is included among the documents. The committee has been seeking any Roosevelt papers bearing on the Hughes contracts.

Included with the committee statement was a copy of a letter signed by Solon J. Buck, the archivist, disclosing President Truman had authorized delivery of the papers to the committee.

N.Y. Court Ruling Cited

Buck wrote Brewster that, in view of a New York court ruling that the late President's papers were the property of the Government, he had consulted Mr. Truman before releasing them.

"It is his view that disclosure of these papers would not prejudice the national interest of the United States nor would it violate the intention of the late President Roosevelt as disclosed in such documents as are available," Buck said.

Kaiser, said to have put "the heat of hell" on officials to win the wartime plane contracts for himself and Hughes, was put at the top of the witness list for the hearings.

The phrase was that of J. A. Krug, Secretary of the Interior and former chairman of the War Production Board, who appeared before the subcommittee earlier this week.

Kaiser denied in Oakland, Cal., yesterday that he put "the heat of hell" on anybody. He said then he would be in Washington Tuesday and would appear voluntarily before the committee.

Ferguson also listed these witnesses: Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore plane manufacturer; Merrill C. Meigs, former WPB official; Grover Loening, former WPB consultant; Admiral John H. Towers, former navy aeronautics chief, and Under Secretary of State Robert Lovett, former Assistant Secretary of War for Air.

Hughes issued a statement in Los Angeles denying he won the contracts by giving parties, and denying he had failed to deliver any planes.

He said two of three photo-reconnaissance planes called for by one contract had been delivered and accepted by the Army since September, 1945, plus the huge Hughes flying boat.

"If that is true," Brewster commented, "the committee will be interested in learning why the armed forces accepted planes which have not been tested and some of which have not flown."

Prototype Planes Cited

Later Brewster said he had learned in a check with the War and Navy departments that it was customary under some contracts for them to accept prototype airplanes without exhaustive tests.

"I always supposed that before the Army or Navy said that they would accept a plane they demanded that its performance as to airworthiness, maneuverability or other factors must be demonstrated," he said.

"But I find on checking that this is not true—some planes are accepted before the tests, and this evidently is what occurred on the Hughes contract."

Hughes said he already had put "$7,000,000 of my company's money" into the flying boat, plans to spend "considerably more" and that he has "no hope of ever recouping" these sums.

'Swindle,' Says Krug

Brewster made his remarks about "Hollywood interests" seeking to divert the public with a "sex angle" after the publication by some newspapers of expense account vouchers and other material purporting to have come from records of John Meyer, publicity representative for Hughes.

The material purported to list Meyer's expenses in entertaining officials.

Brewster said the committee had this material but added it had not been made public by any committee member or official.

At the same time Krug, whose name figured in some of the entertainment items, issued a statement calling the vouchers as published "a swindle of the grossest kind."

He said his "personal records are not voluminous and detailed enough to demonstrate all the inaccuracies and misrepresentations," but cited three instances.

Byoir Spokesman Comments

They concerned expenses for dinner and other entertainment purportedly furnished for him in New York and at the Kentucky Derby, and on each occasion Krug said he was not there.

In New York, a spokesman for Carl Byoir and Associates issued this statement:

"Senator Brewster is quoted as saying he is convinced that we stirred up the Hollywood aspects of this story. He or any newspaper man can instantly prove the truth or falsity of any such belief by simply asking any newspaper or press association in the country if [illegible] true."

CIO UNION RULED BY REDS, 2 TESTIFY

Witnesses Who Quit the Party, Say Small Faction Controls United Electrical Workers

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Two former Communists testified today that the Red party had contaminated the CIO United Electrical Workers from the level of top international officers down through local unions.

Jamse J. Conroy of New York and Salvadore M. Vottis of Schenectady, N. Y., informed the House Committee on Un-American Activities that a numerically "insignificant" group of Communists had accomplished the infiltration and won control.

Mr. Conroy is business agent of CIO UEW Local 1237 in New York. Mr. Vottis, who now operates a tobacco shop, formerly was financial secretary of Local 301 in the General Electric Works in Schenectady.

Each told of joining the Communist party and of breaking with it after about five years.

Mr. Vottis testified that Communists controled Local 301 and the CIO Industrial Union Council at Schenectady. He said Communists dominated the CIO UEW national conventions from 1936 through 1939, and identified as Communists Julius Emspak, international secretary-treasurer, and James Matles, organizing director.

Identifies Two as Reds

Mr. Conroy testified that William Sentner, international vice president, "openly admits" being a Communist. He also said he had attended Communist party meetings with Tom Fitzpatrick, another international vice president.

The committee finished for the time being hearings on Communism in the labor movement. The next hearings scheduled are on Communism in Hollywood, set for September.

Chairman J. Parnell Thomas, Republican, of New Jersey, accepted for committee members today a "challenge" to political warfare from President Albert Fitzgerald of the CIO-UEW.

Mr. Fiezgerald pledged yesterday that the union would redouble efforts for the defeat in 1948 of Mr. Thomas and Representatives John McDowell, Republican, of Pennsylvania; Richard B. Vail, Republican, of Illinois, and Richard M. Nixon, Republican, of California, of the committee.

Mr. Thomas and Mr. McDowell noted that the pledge was published prominently today in the Communist paper, The Daily Worker.

"The members mentioned," Mr. Thomas said, "gladly accept that challenge. But we want to make it plain that we won't be intimidated. We are going to continue to expose Communism whether in labor, education, Hollywood, atomic energy or any other field."

Mr. Vottis related incidents at UEW national conventions he attended from 1936 through 1939.

Union Conventions Maneuvered

Communist party meetings were held at the same time and strategy was outlined for running the conventions, he said. Usually the meetings were in the rooms of Mr. Matles or Mr. Emspak, he added.

Asked by Robert E. Stripling, the committee's chief investigator, whether Mr. Matles and Mr. Emspak were Communists, Mr. Vottis replied:

"Yes, they both are members of the Communist party to my knowledge."

He said he had sat in party meetings with them, that "they met in my home as members of the Communist party," and that Mr. Matles had slept there on occasions.

Mr. Stripling observed that there had been a controversy for some years as to whether Mr. Matles and Mr. Emspak were Communists.

Mr. Vottis said he had "signed up" Frank Emspak, Julius' brother, for party membership in the fall of 1935. He said Frank Emspak became president of Local 301 in January, 1937.

"The Communist party," he asserted, "was in control of the (local) union at all times."

Hhe said the Communists wrote the official reports for Leo Jandreau while the latter was president of the local, and declared they engineered contributions to Communist fronts.

Vacillating Policy Cited

"It was a question of how much we could get away with," he testified, "and how much the membership would put up with."

The witness also declared that "the Communist party controlled the CIO Industrial Union Council of Schenectady throughout." Council members, he said, were "predominantly members of the Communist party."

The council followed the party line consistently, the witness testified. For a while, he related, it condemned the late President Roosevelt as a warmonger and took stands against convoys after the "Russian-German wedding." But after Germany double-crossed Russia in 1941, he said, the council was for an "all-out war effort."

William Mastriani, American Labor party chairman in Schenectady and chief shop teward in Local 301, Mr. Vottis said, is on the Communist party's "strong-arm squad and intimidation committee" along with a Vincent Iovinelli. He said they were "ex-prize fighters."

Describes School on Hudson

The witness set the committee laughing with a description of a Communist school he attended and its ice-cream-on-the-lawn graduation exercises. This was around 1936.

The school was at Camp Nitgaidaic at Beacon-on-the-Hudson. The party decided to send him for a six-week course, he said, but he didn't get along very well because he found a great difference between Communism in the books and in action.

He and a couple of Maratime Union members, he said, "used to laugh at the comic opera scenes they put on." He said pupils got up, beat their breasts and said things about the party overthrowing the capitalistic system.

Monopoly Aim Charged

New York, July 25 (AP)—James S. Martin, recently resigned chief of the decartelization branch of American Military Government in Germany, said today "special interest groups" were trying "to push our Government into a position of having to oppose communism by sponsoring, in one form or another, monopoly of economic control in Germany."

Arriving by plane today, Martin said he resigned to try "to make clear to the American people, Congress and others that there is a possibility of an alternative to permitting the recreation of a powerful, monopolistically controlled Germany."

Names "Special Interests"

Asked to name the "special interest groups," Martin said the Standard Oil Company was the largest. He also named General Electric Company, General Motors Corporation and the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation.

Standard Oil and General Motors declined comment on Martin's statements and the other firms could not be reached immediately for comment.

Martin said these and other groups had "queered our relations with Russia, and are now well on the way to doing the same with France." He said the British argue that greater powers must be given to a central agency before Germany's economy can recover.

"The regimented economy of the extreme Left, communism, with its bureaucracy and centralization of control, is foreign to what the American people wish," Martin said.

"The equally bureaucratic economy which the extreme Right would like to see in Germany, in the form of large corporations with monopolistic controls, is equally foreign to the American way."

Council Pledges Fight On 'Godless'

Des Moines, July 25 (AP)—Resistance to "atheistic communism and all other godless materialisms" was pledged today in a statement of objectives read to the twenty-first International Sunday School Convention.

"We will resist within our borders the ideology of atheistic communism and all other godless materialisms," the statement said in part.

The statement, presented by officers of the International Council of Religious Education, said further:

"Because Marxian communism has repudiated the foundations of truth as they are in Jesus Christ and is actively endeavoring to undermine this faith and to overthrow our Christian institutions, it is a foe which we must and will oppose."

In an address at a dinner meeting tonight, J. L. Kraft, chairman of the Kraft Food Company, of Chicago, said the answer to the question of what is man's responsibility is found in the Bible quotation: "Fear God and keep His commandments."

Thomas J. Watson, head of the International Business Machines Corporation, New York city, was honored as the 1947 recipient of the national Russel Colgate award, a recognition given annually since 1944 in memory of Colgate, former president of the council.

HIGHER COSTS SEEN AS STEEL PRICES CLIMB

1947

Impact On Wide Range Of Other Products Is Predicted

Cleveland, July 25 (AP)—The steel price front cracked wide open today and raised the threat of higher consumer prices for steel products from hairpins to automobiles.

Following the lead set by American Rolling Mill Company, Republic Steel Corporation, the nation's third largest producer, boosted prices for bar, sheet, strip and other steel products. National Steel Corporation, No. 6 producer, and Alan Wood Steel Company, farther down the line, soon stepped into the higher price line.

Advanced prices were posted in the face of pleas of President Truman that the steel and other industries use extreme care in making any price increases and forego them if possible.

Most of the companies cited higher coal prices, soaring steel scrap quotations, and expanded labor costs as forcing the increases in order to maintain profitable operations.

"Will Feel Impact"

The magazine Steel said:

"Manufacturers of automobiles, washing machines, and countless other items will feel the impact of the price rise in varying degree depending upon the steel products consumed in manufacture of individual products.

"On the whole, the increases announced today average around ten per cent on published prices, and, in the case of automobile builders, it is estimated their steel costs will be upped from $10 to $15 per car."

The position of United States Steel Corporation, largest steel producer in the world, was still in question.

Statement Recalled

"Big steel" in the past has often established price patterns followed by the rest of the industry. Steel spokesmen recalled, however, that last week Benjamin F. Fairless, United States Steel president, said his company would not increase the price of steel until "a fair test" was made of cost factors created by the new coal wage agreement.

United States Steel Corporation now could point to the broken steel price front, it was suggested, and increase its prices on the theory it was merely following a pattern established by other companies.

"Armco" Gives Reason

No action was expected until Tuesday when directors of the company meet.

"Armco" asserted that prices were advanced to "realize a reasonable, although relatively low, profit on most of its production." The price boosts, according to a statement by Charles R. Hook, president, followed the "impact" of wage advances granted "Armco" steel workers, its coal miners, and other zooming production costs.

Republic Steel said an immediate price increase was "imperative" and cited a decrease of nearly 55 per cent in second-quarter income as compared with the first quarter.

Sees Inflationary Effect

President Truman, in his mid-year economic report to Congress on Monday, said:

"Increases in the price of steel would have a widespread inflationary effect.

"Steel companies should exercise extraordinary caution at this stage of our reconversion effort to see that increases in coal prices or other costs are offset as fully as possible through the savings of continuous and high-level operation."

Steel production this week has been estimated at about 93 per cent of capacity and is expected to advance still further.

Koreans Flee South From Russian Rule

Seattle, July 25 (AP)—Dr. Chang Wook Moon, director of the Office of Foreign Affairs for the South Korea Interim Government, said here that refugees from Russian-administered Northern Korea are flooding Southward at the rate of 1,000 a day and finding "paradise" at the border.

Dr. Moon, whose office is directed jointly by Koreans and Americans, arrived here yesterday on the first Northwest Airlines plane to reach Seattle from the Orient over the new great circle route.

He said his office had set up refugee camps all along the border.

"In North Korea," he said, "under Russian rule, the people suffer from shortages of food and from high prices."

Dr. Moon said he came to the United States to survey educational opportunities for Korean students.

Dr. Moon holds degrees from Simpson College, Indianola, Iowa, Columbia University and the University of Southern California.

House Approves Italian Assets Bill

Washington, July 25 (AP)—The House completed congressional action today on a measure to unfreeze more than $50,000,000 in wartime-seized Italian assets and to furnish Italy with 28 ships taken over early in the war.

The action sending the bill to the White House came on voice vote despite a protest from Representative Rich (R., Pa.) that the move will leave the claims of Americans for war losses in Italy unprotected. A clause in the bill, however, sets apart $5,000,000 of the frozen funds for that purpose.

The ships include thirteen Italian vessels, among them five which were seized by Brazil and Venezuela which later were purchased by this country to help relieve the wartime shipping strain. In addition, the measure will provide Italy with fifteen vessels from the big reservoir of surplus Liberty ships.

Representative Lodge (R., Conn.), sponsor of the bill, said it would help make Italy a "bastion of democracy instead of a nest for communism."

Australia Purchases 200 Radar Altimeters

Chicago, July 25 (AP)—United Air Lines announced today it had purchased 200 radar altimeters and would begin installation of the safety equipment on all its airliners within a few months.

The radar altimeter is an electronic device which warns the pilot by signal lights of the proximity of the ground as well as other obstacles in his path. It has an effective range of some 8,000 feet below and ahead of the plane.

U.S. Corn Shipments To Romania Canceled

Washington, July 25 (AP)—The Agriculture Department announced today cancellation of allocations totaling 34,500 long tons of corn for shipment to Romania this summer.

The Department said Romania has reported that, because of improvement in its food situation, it does not now need the corn.

Eisenhower Plans To Inspect Alaska Posts

Washington, July 25 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army chief of staff, plans to make an inspection trip to military installations in Alaska, the War Department said tonight.

While the General hopes to leave by plane within a few days, his schedule is not definite.

Eisenhower, since he became chief of staff in November, 1945, has made inspection trips to all overseas areas in which American Army forces are located except Alaska.

The Alaskan area has taken on new significance in military planning in recent months in view of the emphasis on the "polar strategy concept."

ATOM INDICTMENTS

Santa Fe., N. M., July 25 (A. P.).—Indictments returned by a Federal Grand Jury put the Government in a position today to prosecute two ex-soldiers accused of stealing atomic secrets without revealing the information involved.

The two—former Sgts. Alexander von der Luft, 23 years old, Princeton University student from Mount Lebanon, Pa., and Earnest D. Wallis, 34, Chicago photographer—were billed yesterday on simple charges of taking and concealing Government property and records.

To obtain an order removing the defendants here for trial, United States Attorney Everett M. Grantham said it will be necessary only to establish their identity as the men named in the indictments.

Both were discharged from the Army early this year after service at the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic project. Without disclosing the content, the indictments alleged Von der Luft took fourteen items of written material and Wallis made off with ten photographs or negatives.

FBI agents took the two into custody July 12 and they are at liberty under $10,000 bonds. Government officials have announced all the material was recovered without being seen by any one else.

Treasury Acts To Foil Buyers Of GI Bonds

Washington, July 25 (AP) — The Treasury hopes to foil the "sharks" who have clipped veterans by buying up GI terminal leave bonds at a discount.

A top official said today that every effort would be made to stop them from cashing the bonds when and if President Truman signs the bill making the bonds cashable after September 1.

"We will not permit these sharks to realize gains out of victimizing veterans," he said.

Identification Needed

To prevent it, the Treasury is preparing regulations forbidding payment to anyone except the veteran in whose names the bonds were made out.

Payment will be made through the banks. And they will be instructed to require positive identification — display of discharge papers, if necessary—to make sure that the bonds are not cashed by someone other than the original owner.

If the banks are properly alert, and neglect will be at their own risk—the Treasury said it believes it can stop illegal buyers. from getting any money at all.

Complaints have come from veterans relating that, hard pressed for quick cash, they indorsed their bonds over to persons who paid them only 50 to 80 cents on the dollar of bond value.

Some Taken By Merchants

Other complaints are that merchants have taken the bonds, not always at a discount, in payment on veterans' purchases.

The law, however, forbids transfer of ownership of the bonds and also protects them against levy or seizure under legal process. Over $1,800,000,000 of the bonds are outstanding and there is no way of knowing how many have been "bought" illegally.

President Truman is expected to sign the "bond cash" act in view of its unanimous passage in both houses.

Two GI's End Ten-Day Test At 25 Below Zero

Dayton, Ohio, July 25 (AP)—Two soldier "guinea pigs" today ended a ten-day stay in a 25-below-zero chamber to test an Arctic ration kit, but they must wait five more days before starting 30-day furloughs promised them for volunteering for the experiment.

Master Sergeant Harold Buffinbarger, of near-by Osborn, and Corporal Harlen Plummer, of High Point, Ohio, emerged from their frigid cubicle at 7 A.M., apparently none the worse for their experience.

Food, Exercise

They will be on special rations for five more days to complete the test, explained officers in the aero-medical laboratory at Wright field.

The men went on the special diet five days before entering the cold chamber in the experiment designed to simulate conditions aerial crash survivors would encounter in Arctic regions.

The men have lived on fare that wasn't exactly hard to take. It consisted of chocolate malted milk bars, eggnog bars, cheese bars, gum drops, soluble coffee, bouillon, water, chewing gum and cigarettes.

To keep warm they were garbed in wool sweat suits and uniforms overshoes and fur-lined parkas. Fo exercise they walked a treadmill tossed a ball back and forth and worked out on a punching bag.

Wiley to Ask Memorial To War's Service Women

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP).—Senator Alexander Wiley, Republican, of Wisconsin, said today that he excepts to introduce legislation to create a memorial to honor service women of the recent war.

He abandoned the idea of proposing an appropriate honor to the "unknown service woman of the Second World War" when informed by General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, Chief of Staff, that "the records disclose that there are no unidentified deceased women of World War II."

General Eisenhower said that of the 200,000 women who served in the Army there were twenty-one deaths as battle casualties. All were nurses and all were identified. In addition, thirty-two nurses were wounded, as were thirteen Wacs. There were no battle casualties among the 152,000 women who served in the Navy.

THE REPORT WAS DRAFTED BY THE SUB-COMMISSION IN 23 MEETINGS THIS SPRING. THE SUB-COMMISSION WAS CALLED TO FRAME A WORK SCHEDULE FOR THE WORLD CONFERENCE. THE REPORT MUST BE ACTED ON BY THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL AND THE U.N. ASSEMBLY.
PROPOSALS FOR WIPING OUT CENSORSHIP AND FACILITATING THE WORK OF NEWSMEN AROUND THE GLOBE STOOD OUT AS HIGH POINTS TO BE CONSIDERED BY THE WORLD CONFERENCE. THE SUB-COMMISSION REFUSED TO ACCEPT A PROPOSAL BY THE RUSSIAN MEMBER, Y. M. LOMAKIN, LISTING AMONG OBJECTIVES OF THE PRESS A STRUGGLE AGAINST "REMNANTS OF FASCISM AND AGAINST WAR-MONGERS."
INSTEAD, THE SUB-COMMISSION APPROVED A SUBSTITUTE WHICH INCLUDED THE GENERAL CONCEPT THAT THE BASIC OBJECTIVE OF FREE INFORMATION MEDIA IS TO "TELL THE TRUTH WITHOUT PREJUDICE AND TO SPREAD KNOWLEDGE WITHOUT MALICIOUS INTENT."

U.N.-PALESTINE
LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 25-(AP)-THE JEWISH AGENCY FOR PALESTINE PROTESTED TO TRYGVE LIE, SECRETARY GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS, TODAY AGAINST BRITISH ACTION IN SENDING JEWISH REFUGEES BACK TO FRANCE ON THE INTERCEPTED SHIP "EXODUS 1947."
THE LETTER SIGNED BY RABBI ABBA HILLEL SILVER, CHAIRMAN OF THE AMERICAN SECTION OF THE AGENCY'S EXECUTIVE, EXPRESSED THE BELIEF THAT

THE BRITISH MOVE WOULD PREJUDICE THE WORK OF THE U.N. SPECIAL PALESTINE COMMITTEE WHICH IS JUST COMPLETING ITS INQUIRY.

REFERRING TO A RESOLUTION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY WHICH URGED ALL GOVERNMENTS TO AVOID ACTIONS WHICH MIGHT INFLAME THE SITUATION IN PALESTINE, SILVER SAID:

"THE ACTION OF THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT WOULD APPEAR TO STAND IN DIRECT CONTRADICTION WITH THE RESOLUTION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY."

VIENNA, JULY 25-(AP)-AUTHORITATIVE SOURCES ESTIMATED TODAY THAT 11847 AUSTRIANS STILL ARE BEING HELD AS PRISONERS OF WAR IN RUSSIA AND THAT APPROXIMATELY 1,200 MORE ARE IN PRISON CAMPS IN YUGOSLAVIA AND ROMANIA.

THE ESTIMATE WAS MADE IN CONNECTION WITH A LETTER FROM SOVIET PRIME MINISTER STALIN, ADDRESSED TO THE FOUR COMMUNIST MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT AND PUBLISHED YESTERDAY IN THE COMMUNIST PRESS, PROMISING THAT ALL AUSTRIAN PRISONERS IN RUSSIA WOULD BE FREED THIS YEAR.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS SAID THEY HAD NOT RECEIVED A COPY OF THE STALIN LETTER, AND THE FACT THAT THE SOVIET PRIME MINISTER CHOSE TO ADDRESS THE COMMUNIST DEPUTIES RATHER THAN THE GOVERNMENT WAS REGARDED BY LEFTWINGERS AS A BOOST FOR COMMUNIST PRESTIGE. THE COMMUNISTS HOLD ONLY FOUR SEATS IN THE 165 MEMBER PARLIAMENT.

COMMUNISTS WERE FURTHER ELATED BY THE FACT THAT A GOVERNMENT COMMITTEE ON WAR PRISONERS REQUESTED THE COMMUNIST PARTY TO ASK YUGOSLAV PREMIER MARSHAL TITO FOR THE RETURN OF AUSTRIAN PRISONERS IN YUGOSLAVIA.

THE COMMITTEE ALSO WILL ASK THE AUSTRIAN POLITICAL REPRESENTATIVE IN ROMANIA TO BEGIN NEGOTIATIONS FOR RETURN OF AUSTRIAN PRISONERS HELD THERE.

HE SAID THE U.S. GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE WAS THAT INNOCENT PERSONS SHOULD BE RELEASED AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE AND THAT ASSURANCES SHOULD BE GIVEN OF "HUMANITARIAN TREATMENT" TO THOSE DETAINED.

A USUALLY RELIABLE INFORMANT SAID THE BRITISH EMBASSY HAD MADE A SIMILAR OVERTURE.

COPENHAGEN, JULY 25-(AP)-WILLIAM L.LAWRENCE, NEW YORK TIMES CORRESPONDENT, SAID TODAY HE AND HIS WIFE HAD BECOME INVOLVED IN BRITISH ARMY RED TAPE EN ROUTE TO COPENHAGEN THURSDAY AND HAD BEEN "DEPORTED" FROM THE BRITISH ZONE IN GERMANY TO HOLLAND.

"MY WIFE AND I WERE LOCKED UP IN A SMALL SHED BY THE BRITISH BORDER CONTROL," HE SAID, "AND WE WERE NOT EVEN ALLOWED TO TELEPHONE OR CABLE MY PAPER WHAT HAPPENED TO US."

LAWRENCE SAID HE LEFT LONDON FOR COPENHAGEN VIA HOLLAND AND GERMANY WEDMESDAY NIGHT NOT KNOWING THAT A TRANSIT VISA WAS REQUIRED TO PASS THROUGH BOTH COUNTRIES. THE DUTCH ISSUED 24-HOUR VISAS, BUT THE BRITISH BORDER CONTROL AT BENTHEIM IN THE BRITISH ZONE OF GERMANY TOLD THEM THEY COULD NOT PASS.

"I SHOWED MY WASHINGTON CREDENTIALS AND PRESS PASS," HE SAID, "BUT ALL THEY SAID WAS 'YOUR PAPERS ARE NOT VALID AND YOU MUST RETURN TO HOLLAND.'"

AFTER SOME ARGUING, LAWRENCE SAID, A BRITISH SOLDIER LED THEM TO A SMALL SHED CONTAINING A FEW WOODEN CHAIRS AND THEY WERE LOCKED UP. SOME HOURS LATER A GUARD RELEASED THEM AND SAID THERE WAS A FREIGHT TRAIN LEAVING FOR AMSTERDAM.

"WE WALKED ALONG THE TRACKS TO A NEARBY STATION WHERE WE GOT ROOM IN A LUGGAGE VAN OF A FREIGHT TRAIN FOR AMSTERDAM," THE CORRESPONDENT SAID.

IN AMSTERDAM THE KLM AIRLINES ARRANGED PASSAGE ON A COPENHAGEN PLANE AND THE LAWRENCES ARRIVED HERE LATE TODAY.

BY HARRIS JACKSON

JOGJAKARTA, JAVA, JULY 25-(AP)-INDONESIAN ARMY COMMUNIQUES SAID TODAY REPUBLICAN FORCES HAD FOUGHT INTO DUTCH-HELD MEDAN IN NORTHWEST SUMATRA AND PENETRATED THE NORTH JAVA PORT OF SEMARANG.

JUL 1947

THE DUTCH COMMAND PREVIOUSLY HAD SAID THERE WAS LITTLE FIGHTING IN THE MEDAN AREA.

AN EARLIER INDONESIAN COMMUNIQUE SAID REPUBLICAN FORCES HAD PENETRATED ONE SECTOR OF SEMARANG ON THE NORTHERN JAVA COAST, JUMP-OFF POINT OF A DUTCH MARCH INTO THE INTERIOR TOWARD THIS REPUBLICAN CAPITAL. SEMARANG IS ABOUT 60 MILES NORTH OF JOGJAKARTA.

"OUR FORCES RECEIVED THE FULL SUPPORT OF THE POPULATION SURROUNDING THE CITY," THE BULLETIN SAID, "AND CLASHES WERE REPORTED BETWEEN DUTCH TROOPS AND INDONESIANS SERVING IN THE DUTCH ARMY."

THE INDONESIAN ARMY SAID A HALF BATTALION OF VOLUNTEER "FOREIGN SOLDIERS" HAD JOINED THE REPUBLICAN ARMY, EXPRESSING THE WISH TO BE SENT TO THE FIGHTING FRONTS. THE ANNOUNCEMENT DID NOT SPECIFY THE NATIONALITIES OF THE VOLUNTEERS. UNCONFIRMED REPORTS CIRCULATED BEFORE THE OUTBREAK OF HOSTILITIES SAID MANY INDIANS HAD BEEN TRAINING WITH THE REPUBLICAN ARMY IN THE MOUNTAINS OF SUMATRA.

IN THE JAVA FIGHTING, THE INDONESIAN NEWS AGENCY ANTARA SAID THERE WERE VIOLENT CLASHES IN PROBOLINGGO, THE NORTHEAST COAST AREA WHERE THE DUTCH SAID THEY WERE MOPPING UP.

A HIGH INDONESIAN SOURCE CONCEDED THE DUTCH HAD REACHED A "GATEWAY" TO MALANG IN EAST JAVA AFTER PASSING LAWANG, ABOUT 12 MILES NORTH OF THAT CITY. THE REPUBLICAN YESTERDAY HAD REPORTED THE DUTCH DRIVEN OUT OF LAWANG.

INDONESIAN MILITARY INFORMANTS SAID DUTCH TROOPS FROM BATAVIA, NETHERLANDS COLONIAL CAPITAL IN NORTHWESTERN JAVA, WERE PLANNING THESE DRIVES:

(1) EASTWARD TO TEGAL, NORTH COAST PORT 45 MILES EAST OF CHERIBON, WHICH THE DUTCH REPORTED TAKING DAY BEFORE YESTERDAY.

(2) SOUTHWARD FROM TEGAL TO POERWOKERTO. FROM THERE A ROAD LEADS TO TJILATJAP HARBOR ON THE SOUTH JAVA COAST, ONLY 20 MILES AWAY.

(3) SOUTHWARD FROM CHERIBON 20 MILES TO KOENINGAN AND THEN 23 MILES FURTHER SOUTHEAST TO TASIKMALAJA, PRINCIPAL REPUBLICAN TOWN OF WEST JAVA.

(4) SOUTHWARD FROM THE BATAVIA-CHERIBON ROAD 20 MILES TO POERWAKARTA, MAIN HEADQUARTERS OF THE REPUBLICAN ARMY. (POERWAKARTA

30.24- 11145

IS NOT TO BE CONFUSED WITH PORWOKERTO.)
OFFICIAL CONVERSATIONS HERE MADE IT OBVIOUS THAT HIGH REPUBLICAN CIRCLES FORESAW THE POSSIBILITY THAT THE DUTCH WOULD CAPTURE THE MAIN PART OF JAVA.
BUT THE BRLIEF WAS REITERATED THAT THE POPULATION WOULD CARRY OUT GUERRILLA WARFARE ON THE DUTCH POSITIONS AND SUPPLY LINES IN SUCH A WAY AS TO MAKE THE DUTCH SITUATION CONTINUOUSLY PRECARIOUS.

BATAVIA, JULY 25-(AP)-H.J. VAN MOOK, ACTING GOVERNOR GENERAL, SAID IN A RADIO SPEECH TONIGHT THE LAST FIVE DAYS HAD CLEARLY SHOWN THAT THE INDONESIAN CONFLICT WAS "NOT A WAR OF A NATION AGAINST A NATION."
"WHEREVER OUR TROOPS ARRIVED, THERE WAS NO FEELING OF HOSTILITY," THE DUTCH EXECUTIVE SAID.
HE DECLARED THE NETHERLANDS ORIGINALLY DECIDED TO TAKE MILITARY ACTION "NOT BECAUSE OF THE REJECTION OF A SMALL PART OF OUR PORPOSALS XXX BUT BECAUSE OF THE REFUSAL OF REAL COOPERATION."
VAN MOOK APPEALED TO ILL INDONESIANS TO COOPERATE WITH THE DUTCH. HE SAID "REGULAR GOVERNMENT" WOULD BE INSTITUTED AS SOON AS POSSIBLE SO THE DUTCH, IN COOPERATION WITH THE INDONESIANS, COULD WORK TOWARD THE FORMATION OF THE UNITED STATES OF INDONESIA.
HE ARRANGED REBROADCAST OF THE SPEECH IN ENGLISH LATER TONIGHT ON SHORTWAVE STATIONS BEAMED TO THE UNITED STATES.

INDONESIAN CENSORSHIP (320)
BATAVIA, JULY 25-(AP)-CORRESPONDENTS IN BATAVIA NO LONGER ARE SUBJECTED TO CENSORSHIP BY THE NETHERLANDS EAST INDIES ARMY, BUT THOSE IN THE FIELD WITH DUTCH FORCES ADVANCING AGAINST THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA REPORT THEIR DISPATCHES STILL ARE CENSORED--SOMETIMES ARBITRARILY.
THE CORRESPONDENT OF A ROTTERDAM NEWSPAPER CLAIMED TODAY THAT HIS DISPATCH FROM SOEKABOEMI NOT ONLY WAS CUT BY THE ARMY CENSOR, BUT THAT WORDS HAD BEEN INSERTED WHICH CHANGED ITS MEANING.
ACTING GOVERNOR-GENERAL HUBERTUS VAN MOOK ANNOUNCED AT THE BEGINNING OF DUTCH MILITARY OPERATIONS LAST MONDAY THAT CENSORSHIP WAS BEING IMPOSED ONLY ON DISPATCHES CONTAINING MILITARY INFORMATION AND, WHEN IT WAS LIFTED TODAY SAID ITS PURPOSE HAD BEEN TO KEEP THE INDONESIAN FORCES FROM LEARNING THE NAMES OF CAPTURED TOWNS WHICH WOULD INDICATE THE LOCATION OF DUTCH TROOPS.
WHILE THE BATAVIA CENSORSHIP WAS IN EFFECT AT THE LOCAL CABLE OFFICE, NEWSMEN AGREE, ITS APPLICATION WAS GENERALLY FAIR ACCORDING TO VAN MOOK'S SPECIFICATIONS. ONLY MILITARY INFORMATION NOT CONTAINED IN DUTCH COMMUNIQUES WAS DELETED.
CENSORSHIP OF PICTURES FROM THE FIGHTING ZONES, HOWEVER, WAS MORE SEVERE.
THE PRACTICE OF HAVING A STENOGRAPHER MAKE EXCEPRTS OF OUTGOING PRESS MESSAGE FROM BATAVIA BEFORE THEY WERE DISPATCHED WAS HALTED ABRUPTLY WHEN THE ASSOCIATED PRESS CARRIED A STORY ABOUT IT. THE EXCERPTS PRESUMABLY WERE FOR THE INFORMATION OF HIGH AUTHORITIES, WHO APPEARED TO BE EXERCISING A KIND OF SURVEILLANCE ON CORRESPONDENTS.
THE SITUATION OF THE BATAVIA REPUBLICAN PRESS WAS AN ENTIRELY DIFFERENT MATTER. VAN MOOK ANNOUNCED THAT THESE NEWSPAPERS WOULD BE PERMITTED TO CONTINUE PUBLICATION, BUT DUTCH AUTHORITIES SEIZED PRESSES CLAIMED BY PRE-WAR OWNERS AND EFFECTIVELY STIFLED SUCH LEADING INDONESIAN PUBLICATIONS AS MERDEKA (FREEDOM).
THE INDONESIAN NEWS AGENCY ANTARA, WHICH VAN MOOK ALSO HAD SAID WOULD BE PERMITTED TO CONTINUE OPERATIONS, WAS CLOSED DOWN ON THE GROUND THAT IT WAS AN ORGANIZATION OF THE REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT.
THE DUTCH COMMUNIQUES ISSUED IN BATAVIA APPEAR TO BE GIVING A FAIR PICTURE OF THE FIGHTING, ALTHOUGH THEIR CASUALTY FIGURES DO NOT COINCIDE WITH THOSE IN OTHER RELIABLE REPORTS FROM THE FRONTS.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, July 25--(AP)---Foreign Minister Raul Fernandes said in an interview today he expected a mutual assistance treaty would be signed at the interamerican conference on peace and security which is to be held at the Quitandinha hotel here in the mountains near here beginning Aug. 15.

JUL 1947

He said he thought the conclusion of such a treaty would be the sole business of the conference, which would give form to the act of Chapultepec at Mexico City, and that military aspects of such a treaty, including the possible creation of "a military organ capable of giving it execution" would be left for the interamerican conference at Bogota, Colombia, next January.

Some South American diplomatic sources have said they expected attempts would be made to discuss military matters here, such as standardization of hemisphere arms.

Fernandes said he envisaged a treaty which would eliminate "neutrality as a means of conduct in case of war".

Such a pact, he said, would guarantee "permanent peace in this hemisphere" and "impose on all American republics the same obligations in the face of aggression and in so doing will give real meaning to the policy of continental solidarity."

UNDATED GREEK (950)
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

IS THERE AN "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" FIGHTING IN NORTHERN GREECE AGAINST THE TROOPS OF THE ESTABLISHED GREEK GOVERNMENT?

MORE THAN TWO WEEKS HAVE ELAPSED SINCE ATHENS REPORTED THAT ELEMENTS OF SUCH A FORCE HAD CROSSED THE ALBANIAN FRONTIER IN COMPANY WITH LEFTWING GREEK GUERRILLAS, BUT THE WORLD AT LARGE IS STILL IN THE DARK AS TO WHETHER THIS IS FACT, FANCY OR PROPAGANDA.

A SUB-COMMISSION OF THE UNITED NATIONS BALKANS INVESTIGATION COMMISSION HAS VISITED THE SCENE TO INQUIRE INTO THE SITUATION, BUT HAS NOT YET SUBMITTED A FORMAL REPORT. EFFORTS TO OBTAIN A FIRSTHAND, ON-THE-SPOT ACCOUNT FROM RELIABLE AMERICAN NEWS CORRESPONDENTS HAVE BEEN FRAUGHT WITH MANY DIFFICULTIES AND THUS FAR HAVE BEEN UNSUCCESSFUL.

HERE, HOWEVER, ARE THE FACTS AS THEY ARE KNOWN TO DATE:

FIRST REPORTS OF A PURPORTED "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" CAME ON JULY 11 FROM SALONIKA, WHERE GREEK NEWSPAPERS TOLD OF THE DISCOVERY OF 120 MEMBERS OF SUCH AN ORGANIZATION PARTICIPATING IN AN ACTION IN THE KOZONE REGION SOUTH OF MOUNT GRAMMOS.

THESE REPORTS WERE UNSUBSTANTIATED AND WERE NOT REPRESENTED AS FACTUAL OR OFFICIAL. THEY WERE GIVEN SOME CREDENCE IN ATHENS, HOWEVER, BECAUSE COMMUNIST PUBLICATIONS THROUGH EUROPE HAD BEEN PREDICTING FOR SOME MONTHS THAT AN "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" SIMILAR TO THAT WHICH FOUGHT AGAINST THE FRANCO FORCES IN THE SPANISH CIVL WAR WOULD BE SENT INTO GREECE TO FIGHT AGAINST WHAT THE COMMUNISTS CALLED THE "FASCIST" GREEK GOVERNMENT.

ON JULY 13, THE GREEK GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCED THAT MORE THAN 1,000 MEN -- "LARGE CONTINGENTS, INCLUDING PARTS OF AN INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" -- HAD CROSSED INTO GREECE FROM ALBANIA AND ATTACKED KONITSA.

ON JULY 14, VASSILI DENDRAMIS, GREEK AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES, PRESENTED A PETITION FROM HIS GOVERNMENT TO THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL URGING SPEEDY ACTCON ON THE BALKANS CASE BEFORE THE COUNCIL IN VIEW OF THE "DRASTICALLY MORE SERIOUS" CONDITIONS ON THE GREEK-ALBANIAN BORDER.

DENDRAMIS MENTIONED THE EXISTENCE OF AN "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" TO SUPPORT HIS DESCRIPTION OF THE "DRASTICALLY MORE SERIOUS" SITUATION, BUT HE DID NOT SAY SUCH AN ORGANIZATION WAS ACTUALLY PARTICIPATING IN THE FIGHTING. HIS PETITION SAID ONLY THAT IT WAS "KNOWN" THAT ON ALBANIAN SOIL NEAR THE BORDER "SUPPLIES AND MEDICAL SERVICES ARE CONCENTRATED, AS WELL AS SUBSTANTIAL FORCES, INCLUDING UNITS OF AN INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE OF IRREGULARS AND COMMUNISTS."

JUL 1947

ON THE SAME DAY AN ANNOUNCEMENT ISSUED AT ATHENS AFTER AN EMERGENCY MEETING OF THE GREEK AIR AND NAVY MINISTERS WITH THE ARMY CHIEF-OF-STAFF ASSERTED THERE WERE "FOREIGN ELEMENTS" AMONG THE "INVADERS" FROM ALBANIA, BUT TERMED REPORTS OF AN "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" PARTICIPATING IN THE "INVASION" OPERATIONS ONLY "RUMOR."

ON JULY 15, THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE ANNOUNCED THAT IT WAS INVESTIGATING THE REPORTS OF AN "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" IN ACTION IN NORTHERN GREECE AND INFORMED SOURCES SAID THERE MIGHT BE A JOINT BRITISH-AMERICAN PROTEST TO THE UNITED NATIONS IF THE REPORTS PROVED CORRECT. THE BRITISH PRESS PUBLISHED REPORTS THAT THE PURPORTED BRIGADE HAD BEEN RECRUITED FROM BULGARIA, YUGOSLAVIA, ITALY, FRANCE AND ALBANIA AND HAD BEEN TRAINED IN SOUTHERN FRANCE--BUT THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT CATEGORICALLY DENIED THAT ANY SUCH RECRUITING HAD BEEN CONDUCTED IN FRANCE AND THAT ANY BRIGADE HAD BEEN TRAINED ON FRENCH SOIL.

THAT SAME DAY, THE MOSCOW RADIO, QUOTING A DISPATCH FROM ATHENS BY THE SOVIET NEWS AGENCY TASS, DECLARED THE PURPORTED "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" WAS MERELY "GROUPS OF PARTISANS." AT THE SAME TIME, THE MOSCOW RADIO BROADCAST A MONTH-OLD REPORT FROM THE GREEK GUERRILLA LEADER GENERAL MARKOS VIFIADES THAT BRITISH PILOTS WERE PARTICIPATING IN AIR RAIDS AGAINST THE GUERRILLA FORCES AND ASSERTED THAT ANGLO-AMERICAN "INTERVENTION" IN GREECE HAD "TAKEN ON THE CHARACTER OF DIRECT PARTICIPATION IN THE CIVIL WAR WHICH THE MONARCHO-FASCISTS ARE WAGING AGAINST THE PEOPLE."

ALSO ON JULY 15, GREEK WAR MINISTER GEORGE STRATOS REFUTED A PREVIOUS GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCEMENT THAT THE "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" WAS ONLY RUMOR BY REPORTING THAT 20 GUERRILLA PRISONERS ADMITTED THE "INVASION" FORCES INCLUDED CONTINGENTS OF AN "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE."

ON JULY 16, THE MOSCOW RADIO BROADCAST A REPORT FROM THE OFFICIAL ALBANIAN TELEGRAPH AGENCY DENYING THAT AN "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" HAD CROSSED THE BORDER INTO GREECE, ATTRIBUTING THE REPORTS OF AN INTERNATIONAL FORCE TO FOREIGN NEWS AGENCIES AND NEWSPAPERS AND CALLING THEM "ABSURD, FANTASTIC AND WITHOUT ANY FOUNDATION."

BUT, ON THE SAME DAY, NAPOLEON ZERVAS, GREEK MINISTER OF PUBLIC ORDER, SAID THAT STATEMENTS FROM PRISONERS ASSERTED THAT TWO OF EIGHT BATTALIONS IN THE ATTACK AGAINST GOVERNMENT FORCES IN NORTHERN GREECE WERE "FOREIGNERS", WITHOUT SPECIFYING THE NATIONALITY OF THE "FOREIGNERS."

THEN, ON JULY 18, BRIG. STYLIANOS MANIDAKIS, SPOKESMAN FOR THE GREEK GENERAL STAFF, CONTRADICTED ALL PREVIOUS GREEK OFFICIAL AND SEMI-OFFICIAL "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" REPORTS. JUL 1947

HE TOLD THE FIRST NEWS CONFERENCE CONDUCTED BY THE GREEK GOVERNMENT'S MILITARY AUTHORITIES SINCE THE OUTBREAK OF THE FIGHTING IN THE MOUNT GRAMMOS AND KONITSA AREAS THAT THERE WAS NO EVIDENCE THAT ELEMENTS OF AN "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" HAD PARTICIPATED IN THE ATTACK, ALTHOUGH HE WAS "ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN" THAT THE ATTACK WAS AN "INVASION" AND LAUNCHED FROM ALBANIA.

ON THE SAME DAY, THE U.N. BALKANS INVESTIGATION SUBCOMMISSION REPORTED TO U.N. HEADQUARTERS THAT IT HAD BEEN ABLE TO FIND "LITTLE FIRST-HAND" INFORMATION THAT THERE WAS ANY PART OF AN "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" FIGHTING ON GREEK SOIL.

THE SUB-COMMISSION HAS NOT SUBMITTED ITS REPORT OF THE FIGHTING IN THE KONITSA REGION AND THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE HAS NOT YET ANNOUNCED THE RESULTS OF ITS INVESTIGATION THROUGH BRITISH DIPLOMATS OF THE "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" REPORTS.

WHEN HE WAS ASKED IF THE UNITED STATES HAD ANY KNOWLEDGE OF AN "INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE" ORGANIZED TO HELP GREEK COMMUNISTS FIGHTING AGAINST THE GREEK GOVERNMENT, U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE GEORGE C. MARSHALL TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON ON JULY 23 THAT THE STATE DEPARTMENT "CANNOT CONFIRM OR DENY THE EXISTENCE OF SUCH A BRIGADE.

ONE NEUTRAL SOURCE SAID IT HAD BEEN ADVISED OF A CONCENTRATION OF NEARLY 20,000 IN A LABOR BATTALION WORKING AT THE YUGOSLAV TOWN OF SKOPLJE. THE INFORMANT SAID THIS GROUP MIGHT BE A CAMOUFLAGED INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE.

A HIGH GREEK GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL, WHO MUST REMAIN ANONYMOUS, SAID IN ATHENS TODAY THAT "POSITIVE REPORTS CONFIRM" THAT ELEMENTS OF AN INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE IN ALBANIA AND YUGOSLAVIA WERE ON THE GREEK FRONTIER.

"POSITIVE REPORTS CONFIRM THAT THERE IS ALONG THE GREEK FRONTIERS INTERNATIONALBRIGADEYUGOSLAVIA AL JUL 1947

"POSITIVE REPORTS CONFIRM THAT THERE IS ALONG THE GREEK FRONTIERS IN ALBANIA AND YUGOSLAVIA ELEMENTS OF AN INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE EN MASSE," THIS OFFICIAL SAID. "NATURALLY, WE DON'T KNOW WHERE OR WHEN THEY WILL STRIKE. NOR DO WE KNOW WHAT ARE THEIR PLANS. ALL REPORTS HAVE BEEN THOROUGHLY CHECKED AND RECHECKED AND WE HAVE NOT THE SLIGHTEST DOUBT THEY ARE CORRECT."

HE SAID THE GOVERNMENT HAD DECIDED NOT TO MAKE ANY FURTHER FORMAL STATEMENTS ON THE INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE. HE DID NOT SAY WHY THE DECISION HAD BEEN MADE, BUT IT WAS UNDERSTOOD IN ATHENS THAT THERE HAD BEEN SOME CONFUSION CAUSED BY STATEMENTS ISSUED BY VARIOUS GOVERNMENT SOURCES.

NEUTRAL OBSERVERS IN THE GREEK CAPITAL EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT SOME SORT OF INTERNATIONAL BRIGADE WOULD PARTICIPATE IN INTERNAL GREEK FIGHTING, BUT NONE OF THE NEUTRAL INFORMANTS HAD POSITIVE INFORMATION.

(500) GERMAN
BY JOHN M.HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON,JULY 25-(AP)-THE INTERNAL SITUATION IN FRANCE--WHERE COMMUNISTS WERE MAKING POLITICAL CAPITAL OF THE MATTER--WAS REPORTED TODAY TO HAVE INFLUENCED THE SUDDEN DECISION HOLDING UP A BRITISH-AMERICAN AGREEMENT TO RAISE THE LEVEL OF INDUSTRY IN GERMANY.
SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL'S "STOP ORDER" ON THE AGREEMENT WORKED OUT BY GEN.LUCIUS D.CLAY AND BRITISH OFFICERS OF THE OCCUPATION FORCES HAS EVIDENTLY RUFFLED AMERICAN TEMPERS IN BERLIN EXTREMELY.
THIS IS REFLECTED IN DISPATCHES FROM BERLIN.
BUT THERE APPEARS TO BE A BELIEF HERE THAT CLAY'S STRONG OBJECTIONS TO MARSHALL'S ORDER, AND SUBSEQUENT ANNOUNCEMENT THAT FRANCE WILL BE CONSULTED, MAY BE REMOVED WHEN THE WHOLE SITUATION IS MORE FULLY UNDERSTOOD.
THE MATTER IS SO DELICATE THAT OFFICIALS HERE WILL NOT DISCUSS IT PUBLICLY. BUT HERE ARE THE MAIN POINTS OF THE BACKGROUND AND THE DEVELOPMENTS REVOLVING ABOUT THE ISSUE:
IN THE MAIN, CLAY ADVOCATES LIMITED GERMAN RECONSTRUCTION AS THE ONLY WAY TO SOLVE THE GERMAN PROBLEM--THAT IS, PREVENT GERMANY FROM GOING COMMUNIST BY MAKING IT SELF SUPPORTING. THAT IS ALSO THE WASHINGTON VIEW.
THE FRENCH, WHILE SUBSCRIBING TO THE RECREATION OF GERMAN AS A PROPERLY DEMOCRATIC NATION, INSIST THAT IT SHOULD BE KEPT INDUSTRIALLY WEAK.
ABOUT TWO WEEKS AGO, CLAY AND HIS BRITISH COUNTERPART IN BERLIN AGREED, IN LINE WITH ANGLO-AMERICAN POLICY FOR THEIR MERGED ZONES IN GERMANY, TO INCREASE THE GERMAN LEVEL OF INDUSTRY.
THE FRENCH PROTESTED IN GREAT EXCITEMENT.
THE EXACT CAUSE OF THE PROTEST WAS NOT OFFICIALLY DISCLOSED BUT WAS APPARENT.
FRENCH COMMUNISTS WERE WAGING A CAMPAIGN TO THE EFFECT THAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES HAD ABANDONED FRANCE AND WERE INTENT UPON REBUILDING GERMANY.
THE CAMPAIGN THREATENED TO WRECK WORK NOW GOING ON AT PARIS FOR EUROPEAN RECOVERY UNDER THE MARSHALL PLAN, BY RUINING FRANCE'S PART IN IT.
MARSHALL ACTED SWIFTLY.
EVIDENTLY IN COOPERATION WITH BRITISH FOREIGN MINISTER BEVIN, HE SUSPENDED ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE NEW INCREASED LEVEL OF INDUSTRY.
HE ALSO SENT FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTER BIDAULT A LETTER SAYING THAT BEFORE THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN TOOK ANY SUCH STEP, FRANCE WOULD BE CONSULTED. IT IS THAT PROMISE WHICH HAS GIVEN RISE TO PROSPECTS FOR A THREE POWER CONFERENCE ON WESTERN GERMAN PRODUCTION.

A16WX
ON THE OTHER HAND, MARSHALL HAS NOT, AS AMERICANS IN BERLIN FEAR, PROMISED THE FRENCH THAT THEY COULD HAVE A DECISIVE VOICE IN DETERMINING THE GERMAN LEVEL OF INDUSTRY.
NOR HAS HE SCRAPPED, ACCORDING TO THE BEST INFORMATION HERE, HIS INTENTION OF RAISING THE LEVEL OF INDUSTRY.
WHAT HE HAS DONE MAINLY IS TWO THINGS, AS DIPLOMATIC AUTHORITIES INTERPRET HIS MOVE:
1. HE HAS AVOIDED A POLITICAL CRISIS IN FRANCE AT A CRUCIAL STAGE OF THE MARSHALL PLAN DEVELOPMENT.
2. HE HAS GIVEN THE FRENCH A PROMISE THAT THEY WILL BE INFORMED OF, AND HAVE A CHANCE TO COMMENT ON, INCREASES IN THE LEVEL OF INDUSTRY. AND HE HAS ALLOWED TIME FOR THE FRENCH AND OTHER EUROPEANS, THROUGH ECONOMIC PLANNING IN PARIS, TO CONVINCE THEMSELVES, AS THE UNITED STATES IS ALREADY CONVINCED, THAT THERE CAN BE NO EUROPEAN RECOVERY WITHOUT SOME TRADE REVIVAL IN GERMANY.
MARSHALL IS KNOWN TO FEEL THAT HE HAS NOT GIVEN UP ANY AMERICAN OBJECTIVE OR CHANGED ANY BASIC AMERICAN POLICY BUT BY A SERIES OF TACTICAL MOVES HE HAS AVERTED DIFFICULTIES IN FRANCE.

NEW YORK, JULY 25-(AP)-LT. (N.G.) THOMAS B. HURTT, 29, OF TACOMA, WASH., TOLD THE NAVY COURT MARTIAL BOARD TRYING A CHIEF PETTY OFFICER ON CHARGES OF MALTREATING FELLOW WAR PRISONERS THAT HE SAW THE DEFENDANT BEATEN BY JAPANESE GUARDS IN JULY, 1944, ALONG WITH 600 OTHER AMERICANS.
"WE WERE ALL BEATEN," SAID HURTT, ONE OF TWO WITNESSES TO TESTIFY YESTERDAY.
THE DEFENDANT, CHIEF SIGNALMAN HAROLD E. HARSHBERG, 29, HAD BEEN ACCUSED BY EARLIER WITNESSES OF CURRYING FAVOR WITH JAPANESE GUARDS AND CAUSING THE BEATING OF FELLOW PRISONERS IN WORK GANGS FOR WHICH HE WAS RESPONSIBLE. MOST OF THE ALLEGED INCIDENTS OCCURRED IN PRISON CAMPS IN THE PHILIPPINES IN 1943 AND 1944, PRIOR TO THE MASS BEATING IN WHICH HURTT SAID HIRSHBERG HIMSELF WAS BEATEN.
ROBERT M. WELCH, 26, OF TULSA, OKLA., A CHIEF BOATSWAIN'S MATE, WAS THE LAST WITNESS TO TESTIFY BEFORE THE TRIAL WAS RECESSED UNTIL MONDAY. HE SAID HIRSHBERG STRUCK HIM IN THE FACE IN FRONT OF JAPANESE GUARDS.
WELCH TESTIFIED ALSO THAT HIRSHBERG, BEFORE THE WAR, HAD INTRODUCED HIM AT HONGKONG TO A WOMAN HE CALLED FUMIKO SAN AND SAID SHE WAS HIS WIFE. EARLIER WITNESSES HAD TESTIFIED THAT HIRSHBERG TOLD THEM HE HAD A JAPANESE WIFE, THAT SHE FOLLOWED HIM TO MANILA AND AFTER HE WAS CAPTURED COMMUNICATED WITH HIM THROUGH CAMP OFFICIALS.
HIRSHBERG HAS A WIFE AND INFANT SON IN BROOKLYN.
HURTT, ON CROSS EXAMINATION, WAS ASKED ABOUT THE DEFENDANT'S RELATIONS WITH THE CAMP COMMANDER, A LT. YOSIKOSI, SAID BY OTHER WITNESSES TO HAVE ACCORDED HIRSHBERG SPECIAL FAVORS. HURT DENIED HE HAD SEEN HIRSHBERG HAVE TEA WITH YOSIKOSI, HAD SEEN YOSIKOSI DELIVER A LETTER TO FUMIKO SAN, OR HAD SEEN YOSIKOSI DELIVER A LETTER TO HIRSHBERG.
"WAS THERE ANY ANIMOSITY AGAINST HIRSHBERG IN THE CAMP?" THE DEFENSE COUNSEL ASKED.
"THERE WAS A GREAT DEAL, SIR. AND THAT ANIMOSITY IS AS STRONG TODAY ASIT EVE WAS," HUR

TODAY AS IT EVER WAS," HURTT REPLIED.

WASHINGTON,JULY 25-(AP)-SENATOR HICKENLOOPER (R-IOWA) CHAIRMAN OF THE JOINT SENATE-HOUSE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMITTEE, SAID TONIGHT OVER ONE MILLION DOCUMENTS AT THE OAK RIDGE,TENN., LABORATORY ARE BEING CHECKED TO SEE IF ANY ARE MISSING.

RECHECK OF THE TENNESSEE LABORATORY STARTED AFTER IT HAD BEEN DISCLOSED THAT TWO FORMER ARMY SERGEANTS HAD BEEN ARRESTED AND CHARGED WITH ILLEGAL REMOVAL OF CERTAIN DOCUMENTS FROM THE LOS ALAMOS,N.M., LABORATORY.

HICKENLOOPER SAID ON A RADIO BROADCAST (WOL-MUTUAL) THAT HE IS "CONVINCED THAT THE SAFETY OF OUR ATOMIC SECRETS SHOULD BE A COMFORT TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE."

HE REPEATED A PREVIOUS STATEMENT THAT "THERE ARE NO IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS MISSING--NONE THAT WOULD HURT THE WELFARE OF THE COUNTRY OR BE OF VITAL CONCERN TO OUR SAFETY."

ASKED WHAT HE MEANT BY "IMPORTANT" DOCUMENTS, HE REPLIED:

"THAT IS JUST WHAT I MEAN. THERE ARE NO IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS MISSING. I WOULD NOT GO SO FAR AS TO SAY THERE ARE NO DOCUMENTS MISSING. THAT IS STILL TO BE DETERMINED."

Visitors Find England Is No Rest Haven

London, July 26 (AP)—Englishmen, proud of their reputation for hospitality, blushed in embarrassment today as hundreds of visitors from the Continent, here for a taste of English home life, found themselves sleeping in air-raid shelters and waiting in line in restaurants.

The visitors, here under the auspices of the World Friendship Association, were supposed to be received into British homes under an exchange basis which provides similar accommodations for Englishmen now on the Continent.

The plan worked all right until Friendship officials, swamped with a rush of continentals, mostly children, found there weren't enough hosts to go around.

"It is very bad in England," said a young Dutch nurse. "Two nights in the air-raid shelter—where it was damp and dreadful. Now we are in a hotel where the food is dreadful. I want to go back to Holland to have a good rest."

British Workers Urged To Stand By Socialists

Durham, England, July 26 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin appealed to British working people today not to let the Socialist Government fall because of Britain's economic difficulties.

"I know there is a lot of hope and feeling that a crisis will be brought about, that labor will be broght down and will have to go into a coalition government or in opposition," he told thousands of miners at a rally in this northern England town.

"First Labor Government"

"This is the first Labor Government you have got. Don't let it fall, for the sake of generations to come."

Bevin did not clarify his reference to the "first Labor Government." British governments in 1924 and 1929 bore the Labor label, but neither held a majority in the House of Commons. Both were headed by Ramsay MacDonald.

The Foreign Secretary's appeal came after a series of suggestions in the Conservative press that the Government might be forced into coalition with the Conservatives to present a united front against a possible new industrial crisis this winter.

Bevin hinted that the Government might ask miners to give up their new five-day week temporarily to speed national recovery and strengthen Britain's bargaining position in international conferences.

"May Ask For Help"

"I will never go back on your five-day week as long as I am in office," he said, "but I do say as a member of this Government that I may have to ask you . . . for a help out over a temporary period."

Thousands of the miners applauded.

Bevin reported he had not meant the United States when he said last Saturday that he did not like being "tied to the money lenders."

"Human Expression"

"I don't mean the United States or anybody else," he said. "I was uttering a very human expresssion. . . . According to one report, it upset Mr. Taft and created an international incident.

"What I meant to say . . . is that the British are independent folk. They don't like having to be in a position to borrow."

[An authoritative source in London Monday said there was "definitely on offensive connotation intended" in Bevin's speech Saturday, at a miner's picnic. This source said Bevin "simply was talking to miners in the language miners understand."]

Bevin May Attend September U.N. Session

London, July 26 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said today that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin might attend the September meeting of the United Nations General Assembly in New York.

Asked at a news conference to comment on published reports that Secretary Marshall, Foreign Minister Bidault and Bevin might meet next month in New York, the spokesman replied:

"Mr. Bevin has no plans whatsoever to visit the United States during the month of August. It is possible that he may go for the meeting of the General Assembly in September."

Future And Reich Talks

London, July 26 (AP)—British diplomats believe the economic future of Europe depends upon forthcoming attempts of Britain, the United States and France to solve the problems of western Germany.

Authoritative British sources said tonight that there are possibilities of widespread success and equally widespread failure when the three nations grapple with the questions of German industrial production and the future of the Ruhr with its giant coal potential.

They said they considered a successful conclusion of the negotiations, strengthening European economy with agreed measures on German steel, coal and chemicals, might darken the prospects of writing a German peace treaty here next November.

Russia View On [illegible]

Russia might look upon agreement as the formation of an economic bloc against her, they said.

Two sets of discussions have been scheduled.

The first, between Britain and the United States, will be held in Washington "on an official level" in the next week or two to consider means of stepping up coal production in the British-controlled Ruhr.

The second will be among France, Britain and America to consider French objections to an Anglo-American agreement to raise the level of German industrial production. They probably will be conducted through normal diplomatic channels, a British Foreign Office spokesman said.

Partition Of Europe

If, as a result of these conferences, a partition of Germany emerges, British sources stated their conviction that it was likely to mean "little else than Europe's partition."

These factors have impelled the three powers to hold their talks:

1. A continuing industrial stagnation in the Ruhr has begun to menace the economic structure of the merged Anglo-American occupation zones.

2. Dollar-short Britain, now paying 50 per cent of the upkeep of the two zones, is prepared only to shoulder twenty per cent of the burden, leaving the rest to the United States. Although such a request has not yet been submitted formally to the State Department, it will soon be raised, British informants said.

Daily Coal Production

3. Ruhr coal production has hovered around a daily average of about 220,000 tons instead of the 350,000 tons daily average which the United States believes to be necessary to avert not only repetition of last winter's fuel crisis in Germany but also collapse of any European recovery program.

4. France's protest against an Anglo-American agreement, not yet announced by the two governments, to raise the level of German industrial production and to call off further dismantlement of Germany's war industries.

Three or four British experts will fly to Washington next week. Britain had wanted to widen the scope of the Washington conference so that she could put across her demand for financial relief.

To Take Broad View

British officials said today that while the Americans still wanted the talks to be confined to stepping up coal output, they would be ready to take a broad view of the measures necessary to achieve improvements. The British are expecting that the talks will touch upon questions other than management, equipment and working conditions.

Authoritative sources said the wider problem of the control and ownership of the Ruhr mines was not on the agenda but it was certain to come up. Britain still maintains, they said, that socialization would give the German miners a greater incentive to work. In any case, they argued, it was "unthinkable" either to return the mines to former Nazi-minded owners or to hand them over to private United States interests.

France had made it clear, meanwhile, that she favors reserving decisions on Germany's industrial levels for the Foreign Ministers Council next November.

Reich Miners to Get Gift Food Parcels

Berlin, July 26 (A. P.).—Officials today announced a new British-American incentive plan to give German miners gift food parcels for digging more coal in the hope of spurring production in the vital Ruhr region. British and American Military Government officials worked the scheme out after discussions with German leaders.

UNITY HOPES FADE IN REICH

Healing Of 4-Power Split Not Expected In 1948

Berlin, July 26 (AP)—Virtually all hope has faded in authoritative quarters here that Germany will be united by four-power agreement this year or even next.

The economic tug-of-war between the United States and Russia over the Marshall plan clearly splits Germany down the middle, with western Germany falling into the orbit of the Marshall plan and eastern Germany aligned in the Soviet bloc.

Authoritative sources here do not expect to see this split healed until one of the two programs embarked upon by the two powers is proved unworkable. They do not expect this proof to be forthcoming this year, and probably not even next year, since the Marshall plan cannot even come into operation until next winter when Congress meets again.

Conferences Believed Doomed

Consequently, these sources believe the coming Foreign Ministers' conferences on Germany in New York in September and in London in November already are doomed to failure.

They point out that the split over Germany already has widened since the Foreign Ministers' conference at Moscow this spring as a result of Russia's refusal to join in the Marshall plan, and that there is nothing in prospect to change this situation between now and November. Everything indicates the differences will widen.

The more gloomy of these sources even believe that the four-power machinery in Berlin may collapse, and that the Russians may request the western powers to withdraw from this shattered capital.

Cut Traffic Arteries

The Russians could make western occupation of Berlin untenable at any time by simply cutting off the traffic arteries leading to this city through their zone.

Veteran diplomats here feel, however, that such a breakdown will not actually occur. They base this feeling on the belief that both the Russians and the western nations will shrink from closing the last door to an eventual settlement. The four-power machinery, even though inactive, could be used by either side as an "escape hatch" to save face and restore east-west cooperation once the present plans of one side fail.

More Pessimistic Now

Generally speaking, Allied negotiators and diplomats, who have been in Berlin since the end of the war, are more pessimistic than at any time since the four-power government of Germany was undertaken.

Not a few for the first time talk unofficially and among themselves of a possible war between East and West. They liken the propaganda attacks between East and West and the rising nervous tension of Europe to the war of nerves of 1937-39.

But the more thoughtful point out that Europe is unprepared and unfit physically and mentally for a showdown of force, and furthermore that all powers, both East and West, do not want a conflict.

Germans Seek A Bismark

The majority, therefore, look for a continuation of the economic and political tug-of-war until one power or the other loses out or tires of the cost and strain.

How long this test of strength will last is anybody's guess.

In this contest there are three conflicting aims.

The Russians want to sovietize Germany.

The United States wants to democratize it.

The Germans seek a Bismark to put Germany back together again.

The Russians recently doubled, then tripled, their propaganda staffs to woo German support.

Factories Go To Russia

But the Germans see a stream of factories, food and relatives going out of Germany to Russia, and are not easily won over by words. It takes a lot of whispering campaigns, radio broadcasts and newspaper articles to balance against the want of consumer goods.

The United States, too, has its troubles in Germany, although more favored by the Germans.

One of the difficulties is conflicting policies and desires.

On the one hand, the United States wants to rebuild German industry to provide a reasonable standard of living for Germans and make the western form of democracy attractive.

French Opposition

But on the other hand the United States does not want to give ammunition to French Communists for a rise to power in France. The French want the rest of Europe rebuilt first and Germany largely deindustrialized.

The State Department decision this week to call a halt, at least temporarily, to a British-American agreement to raise the level of German industry seemingly was motivated by the intention not to give French Communists any ammunition.

Most American Military Government officials, however, take the view that Germany is the key to the economic conflict in Europe, since the Ruhr has been the cornerstone of European economic life for generations.

"Hard Peace" Advocates

Many of the original advocates here of a "hard peace" for Germany have come to the conclusion that an industriously prosperous Germany is essential to Europe.

This turn in thinking since the end of the war was illustrated by the new United States directive to occupation authorities eleven days ago which supplanted the drastic reparations policy of Potsdam with instructions to rebuild German economy for the benefit of Europe.

Authorities here have no doubt that Russia will turn the industrial potential of eastern Germany to supplying her orbit.

While many western officials are convinced that the partition of Germany will continue for the time being, they also believe that nothing Russia or the West can do will keep Germany divided forever.

Rebuilt Reich Seen Aiding French Reds

Paris, July 26 (AP)—A French Government leader said today the Marshall aid-to-Europe program had cost the Communists strength and prestige in France, but that they were "already reinvigorated" by reports the United States favored speeding the industrial recovery of Germany.

Robert Lecourt, legislative whip of Foreign Minister Georges Bidault's Popular Republican movement (MRP) so declared.

He said the great danger to France of an American policy aimed at German industrial recovery was that it might create a Cabinet crisis in which the Communists might emerge triumphant. The present French Government does not include the Communist party.

Attendance Declines

Lecourt said that reports from MRP provincial headquarters showed attendance falling off at Communist meetings, but that "recent reports that America plans, for example, to double German steel production are beginning to cost us and the Socialists and the Radicals some of our advantage."

The Marshall proposal and Russia's refusal to participate in European economic planning were the chief causes of the Communist losses, Lecourt said.

The French Communists charge that the Marshall proposal is aimed at rebuilding a strong Germany. They are using the new reports of American plans for building up Germany's industrial level as additional propaganda, "which they are exploiting against Premier Paul Ramadier's Government," Lecourt said.

Invitation Accepted

"If America goes ahead with a plan to build a strong Germany, the Communists will be able to tell the people: 'You see, a Cabinet without the Communists was unable to prevent such a thing.'"

France has protested against any plan to revive Germany industrially. The French have accepted a United States invitation to talks with the Britsh and Americans on the future of German economy.

Lecourt said that should the Communists come into a position in which they could champion the French cause and blame projected German industrial revival on the rival parties, "they will be able to dictate the terms on which they come back and demand, perhaps, seven or eight portfolios" in the Cabinet.

Dargers Cited

Lecourt said he agreed with most observers that the Communists never could rise to complete power in France legally, because, he said, it was impossible for any one event to effect a radical change in the nation's political structure. At present there is no one party in France large enough to govern a lone. The Communists, for example, have parliamentary strength almost exactly equaling that of the Popular Republicans.

However, Lecourt pointed out that the Communists, by being out of the present Cabinet, have lost control over important ministries, such as Labor.

FRENCH VOICE CONFIDENCE IN FOREIGN POLICY

Paris Assembly Backs Bidault And Praises Marshall Plan

Robt Wilson

Paris, July 26 (AP)—France's National Assembly today voted confidence in Foreign Minister Georges Bidault's foreign policy and rendered homage anew to the Marshall economic plan for Europe.

The Communists abstained in the voting, which was by a show of hands, and came after Bidault had evaluated the world situation as "grave," but "not desperate."

The Communists were defeated 415 to 6 when their leader, Jacques Duclos, sought to add to the confidence motion a paragraph proclaiming:

"Germany's renaissance can come only after that of France. France's constantly affirmed priority must become a fact. Germany must receive what is indispensable for existence, but France's industrial strength must be reconstructed before hers."

Aid To Communists Seen

The resolution said the Assembly associated itself anew "with the homage rendered by the Government to the initiative" taken by Secretary Marshall in projecting his aid plan.

Meanwhile, Robert Lecourt, legislative whip of Bidault's Popular Republican movement, said he believed American policy for speeding Germany's recovery as formulated in Berlin had given the French Communist party a chance to stagger from the ropes where it was sent reeling by the Marshall plan.

"On Delicate Ground"

Lecourt—and other observers including members of Premier Ramadier's staff—said the Communists were on delicate ground when they tried to justify Russia's boycott of the Secretary of State's plan.

Now, these sources said, the Communists have got their breath back and their chances of returning to positions of power in the French Government are somewhat less remote than three weeks ago because of proposals to double the German industrial level.

Comeback Discussed

Whether the Communists actually will make a comeback, Lecourt said, was something that would have to await better diagnosis when the October municipal elections are held.

He said "the Communists will never rise to power in France legally."

No new national elections are scheduled until 1951.

16 Nations Gather Marshall Plan Data

Have Week to Chart Their Economic Needs

PARIS, July 26 (AP).—The delegates of sixteen nations and their home governments began assembling extensive economic data this week end to map the reconstruction of Europe on a co-operative basis.

In its first burst of activity, the Marshall-plan conference has completed its organization and charted its general objectives. Now it is waiting for information on all aspects of its members' individual recovery programs before tackling the task of synchronizing them.

A twelve-point questionnaire was on its way from Paris to each of the fifteen other capitals with a request that it be answered and returned before midnight Aug. 3. When the answers are received, the economic organization and its committees can begin their work in earnest.

In the interim, many of the leading delegates are returning to their capitals to work with economic experts in drafting the replies. These will furnish the raw material for future decisions within the international organization's six technical committees—for metal industries, food, inland transport, maritime transport, power and finance.

France Proposes Czech, Polish Treaties

Paris, July 26 (AP)—French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said today France had offered both Czechoslovikia and Poland long-term treaties.

He did not elaborate except to say they would be modeled along lines of the French-Soviet pact, which provides for containing any future German aggression.

Bidault, who made the statement in a national assembly foreign policy debate, added that France had received no reply from the two governments.

FRANCE BUSY ON 'A'

Paris, July 26 (A. P.).—France expects to have an "atomic pile" in operation by the end of 1948, says Frederic Joliot-Curie, high commissioner for atomic energy. In a news conference yesterday, he added that the country was hampered by the difficulty of finding uranium. Joliot-Curie, son-in-law of the discoverer of radium, said sixty-four specialized prospectors were seeking uranium deposits in France and the colonies.

The commissioner reported that France was working on a dual program of atomic energy piles, one of "small" power based on a uranium and heavy water formula, and the other of "great" power, based on a uranium and graphite formula. Joliot-Curie said a processing plant had been established at Bouchet capable of producing 100 kilograms (220 pounds) of refined uranium daily.

Red-Cartoon Lampoon

Moscow, July 26 (AP)—The Soviet press today continued its cartoon campaign against the Marshall-aid-Europe plan with a three-column drawing in Pravda showing an American capitalist at the wheel of a steamroller smashing through what was labeled "the sovereignty of small countries."

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault were pictured as lackeys on the back of the machine with Leon Blum in front, blowing a horn and waving a flag marked "clear the road."

The caption beneath the cartoon said, "How some American ministers understand the road to European unity."

Izvestia Urges Bigger Fish Catches

Moscow, July 26 (AP)—The Government newspaper Izvestia called on Russia's Far Eastern fishermen today to increase their catch this year 41 per cent over 1946.

The article said that one third of the total this year should come from the former Japanese-held areas around southern Sakhailin and the Kurile islands. It said new settlers from Siberia and European Russia had arrived by "thousands of families" in 1946 and 1947 on southern Sakhalin.

The article called for development of a fishing fleet and said "wasteful methods of exploitation" must cease. Especially criticized was the use of explosives to kill fish.

Ukraine Harvest Lags: Pravda

Moscow, July 26 (AP)—Pravda said today that the Ukraine—breadbasket of Russia—had fallen behind in harvesting its 1947 wheat crop. The Communist party and Ukrainian organizations were blamed for the lag.

The Communist party newspaper in a front-page editorial declared, "the Ukrainian Republic so far has delivered less grain per hectare threshed than any other southern district that has commenced its harvest."

Pravda said that "this has serious consequences for timely fulfillment of the State grain quota."

"During the fourth five-day period of July," Pravda said, "the Republic mowed less wheat than during the third five-day period." [A five-day period is employed by the Russians in measuring norms.]

"The situation with combine harvesting has been especially bad," Pravda continued. "The average day's work of a combine in the Ukraine is less than half the established norm and in the fourth five-day period in July this fell to 3.8 hectares per day. [A hectare equals 2.47 acres.]

"This falling-behind by the republic in threshing and delivery," Pravda said, "is explainable primarily because of grave deficiencies in the work of party and Soviet organs for organizing the harvest and first of all threshing."

Franco Told He Got 93% of Votes Cast

Referendum Approved Him as Chief of State

MADRID, July 26 (AP).—The electoral census board formally notified Generalissimo Francisco Franco today that 92.94 per cent of the votes cast on July 7 in the referendum on Spains new law of succession was in favor of the measure.

The new law confirms Franco as chief-of-state for life and empowers him to name his successor.

The board announced to him that, of the 15,219,563 ballots cast, 14,145,163 were affirmative and that there had been no protest against the validity of the vote reported from any province.

The number of negative, blank and nullified ballots was not mentioned in the board's report.

Bulgars Hit Border Inquiries In Interior

Sofia, Bulgaria, July 26 (AP)—Authoritative circles last night said the Bulgarian Government "considers that all border incidents that have actually occurred should be investigated along the border where they occurred—not in the interior of Bulgaria's territory."

The Government was reported to have requested the United Nations Balkan subcommission in Greece to take this point of view into consideration. The subcommission has been investigating Greek charges of incidents along the Bulgarian, Yugoslav and Albanian borders connected with the Greek guerrilla movement.

"Presently Greek refugees work on farms or in other enterprises," authorities said. "These refugees, according to international law, are under the control and jurisdiction of Bulgaria's sovereign rule.

"Greek authorities try to deviate the subcommission's attention to border incidents that do not exist, thereby misleading world public attention from the real reasons for the Greek civil war. The Government must cure her war pains and secure the feeding of the population after several droughty years."

Tito and Dimitrov To Meet in Belgrade

Yugoslav-Bulgarian Pact Is Forecast

Belgrade, July 26 (AP)—Marshal Tito and Georgi Dimitrov, Bulgarian Premier, were expected to begin talks over the week end in a move aimed at strengthening relations among the Balkan countries.

Informed sources assumed that the talks would end in the conclusion of a mutual-aid treaty between the two countries which Dimitrov said in a newspaper interview with a Greek Communist newspaper could be expected in "the very near future."

Authoritative sources said the Bulgarian leader would arrive here tomorrow morning and that Marshal Tito was flying from his vacation home at Bled to welcome Dimitrov.

Treaty Forecast Soon

Belgrade newspapers today carried headlines on Dimitrov's interview with a correspondent of the Greek Communist newspaper Rizospastis in which he was quoted as saying "a treaty of friendship, collaboration and mutual aid will be concluded in the near future between Bulgaria and Yugoslavia."

"Slav countries, together with all forces of world democracy, will be the most powerful barrier against all attempts to imperil peace," the Premier was quoted as saying.

This barrier, he said, could act against "attempts to prepare a new war for world mastership of one or another imperialistic country."

Depends On Democracy

Lasting Balkan peace and good neighborly relations will be achieved only when the Balkan countries have "true democracy, not formal democracy," Dimitrov said in the interview.

He added that Balkan peace will be achieved "once and forever when the interference of imperialists of international capitalistic trusts and concerns in the internal affairs of the Balkan countries" is ended.

Dimitrov declared that "not mutual ideological reasons but vital and supreme national interests of Bulgaria dictate imperatively the closest friendship and co-operation with the Soviets."

Regarding Greece, he said "we do not interfere in Greek internal affairs."

Bulgar-Yugoslav Pact In Offing

Sofia, Bulgaria, July 26 (AP)—Georgi Dimitrov, Bulgaria's Communist Premier, was quoted today in the Athens Communist paper, Rizospastis, as saying that Bulgaria in the "not distant future" would conclude a treaty of friendship, collaboration and mutual aid with Yugoslavia.

He said Bulgaria had "sincere feelings and sympathies" toward Greece, but suffered from constant Greek border provocations, though Bulgaria did "not interfere in Greek internal affairs."

"The present neo-Fascist reaction, which by means of foreign aid caused the Greek civil war," he declared, "is a constant danger for Balkan peace."

Basis Of Soviet Tie

Dimitrov said that "not mutual ideological reasons, but the vital and supreme national interests of Bulgaria dictate imperatively the closest friendship and co-operation with the Soviets."

He pronounced himself convinced that the Slav countries together with what he called other forces of world democracy would be the mightiest "barrier against attempts to prepare a new war for world mastership of one or another imperialistic country."

He said the difference between the oppositions in Bulgaria and in Greece was that Bulgaria's opposition was "anti-democratic" and aimed at a coup d' état, while Greece's was fighting for "freedom, democracy and independence."

He said he was sure good international relations could be established in the Balkans, but only when Balkan countries had "true democracy, not formal" democracy and only if they avoided interference in their internal affairs by "imperialists of international capitalistic trusts."

Clergymen Leave For Belgrade

New York, July 26 (AP)—Seven Protestant churchmen left by plane today for Belgrade, Yugoslavia, to study "general conditions" and, as explained by one of there group, "to determine if there is still freedom of religion."

The group is making the trip at the invitation of Sava N. Kosanovic, Yugoslav Ambassador to the United States, who assured them "full opportunity for consultation with Yugoslav religious leaders of all faiths."

Dr. Guy Shipler, editor of the Churchman, said they were making the trip as "an unprejudiced group" and were "primarily interested in the church situation there."

Belgium to Stop Paying Subsidy on Production

BRUSSELS, July 26 (AP).—The Belgian government has decided to end payment of subsidies for production and imports and to replace it, effective Aug. 1, by what Premier Paul-Henri Spaak described as "a policy of compensatory allocations."

The Premier explained to reporters today that the policy of subsidies "costs Belgium a yearly amount of 15,000,000,000 Belgian francs ($342,850,000), an unbearable charge for this country, as it now reaches the pre-war yearly budget."

The change in policy is expected to bring a yearly saving of 5,510,000,000 Belgian francs ($126,170,000) or 38 per cent of the present disbursement, Mr. Spaak added.

By giving a yearly allocation of 744 Belgian francs ($17) to 4,300,000 Belgian citizens whose yearly salary remains under 72,000 Belgian francs ($1,650), the government intends to compensate for the automatic increase in the prices of staple products. Chocolate, butter, meat, lard, oil margarine, and milk will be affected.

3 British Ships Visiting Russia

ISTANBUL, July 26 (AP).—The cruiser Liverpool and two destroyers of the British Mediterranean fleet left Istanbul today for a courtesy visit to Sevastopol, Soviet Black Sea port. The vessels were among eight that arrived here Monday on a formal visit to Turkey. The other five started back today to the Mediterranean.

Mrs. Peron Leaves for Nice

PARIS, July 26 (AP).—Mrs. Eva Duarte Peron, wife of the President of Argentina, Juan D. Peron, left by air this morning for Nice on the French Riviera..

Archbishop Of Cyprus Dies

Nicosia, Cyprus, July 26 (AP)—Leontius II, 51, Archbishop of Cyprus, died today after a brief illness. The Archbishop, who was elected to the post a month ago, was a member of the Cypriote delegation to London last year during discussions of possible union of Cyprus with Greece.

Powers Of U.N. Under Charter In Dispute

Lake Success, N.Y., July 26 (AP). United States and Russian differences over interpretation of the United Nations Charter threatened today to block effective Security Council action for peaceful settlement of the Balkan problem.

These differences confronted the United Nations with a major crisis over the Charter, since neither the United States nor the Soviet Union would budge from their announced positions. The differences arose in debate over the situation on the borders of Greece with Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

At the core of the latest development is an American proposal that the Security Council set up an international commission to watch over the Balkans with the power to conciliate and investigate disputes.

Chapter In Dispute

The section of the United Nations Charter in dispute is Chapter VI, which provides for peaceful settlement of disputes without using sanctions or military force against the countries involved.

Russia contends that a commission established under this chapter has only the power of recommendation and does not have the right of access to the territory of countries involved without their consent.

The United States argues that the Charter gives the Security Council the right to investigate wherever and whenever it desires, whether the countries involved like it or not.

United States Position

Herschel V. Johnson, United States deputy delegate, told the Security Council yesterday the Council's decisions were binding on all nations.

"Any failure would lay the non-complying states open to serious action to insure their co-operation," Johnson said. "The Council has the power to make investigations. Countries are obliged to co-operate."

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko replied that if a nation found that the work of a commission "is incompatible with its sovereignty, then it can refuse to co-operate."

Gromyko's statement added support to earlier indications that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria would refuse to co-operate with the proposed "watchdog" commission.

Belgian Delegate Fernand van Langenhove said the Charter would be stripped of its efficacy if the Council was denied the power of investigation.

In supporting Russia's argument, Dr. Joza Vilfan, Yugoslav representative, said "We must recognize that there can only be recommendations under Chapter VI and the recommendations are not binding and obligatory."

The majority of the Council members appeared to accept the United States interpretation of the charter.

The Council has now argued the Balkan case for four weeks and appears to be only a little closer to a vote. Most delegates believe, however, that the Council may be able to reach a decision the middle of next week. It is in recess till Monday.

United Nations And Franco

Lake Success, N.Y., July 26 (AP)—Poland is preparing a demand that the United Nations Security Council take action against Franco Spain, an authoritative source said today.

Russia's neighbor would act under the General Assembly's Franco-condemning resolution of last fall, which said if the Falangist regime remained in power after "a reasonable time" that the Security Council should consider "adequate measures."

Called "Reasonable Time"

Poland contends that almost a year is "a reasonable time" and the Security Council should act and, at a minimum, order a world-wide severance of diplomatic relations with Madrid. The maximum step, short of force, would be economic sanctions.

The Polish delegation plans first to approach Trygve Lie, secretary general, and seek to convince him that he is under obligation to bring up the case in order to implement an Assembly decision. Should Lie refuse to act, the Poles were ready to go ahead on their own.

However, in the midst of tightening lines between the East and the West in Europe, the political trend would indicate lessening rather than increasing pressure on the old friend of Hitler and Mussolini.

Time Ir Franco's Favor

Sources among key delegations here generally felt that time was playing in Franco's favor. Spain continues to be barred from United Nations membership on the ground of links with the Axis, but the United Nations has never been able to go much beyond "moral condemnation" of the regime.

Some countries have feared privately all through the long debates that the ouster of Franco might eventually bring a Communist Government into power, and this has been an underlying factor in the opposition to any major United Nations action against him.

Hoping For Recess

Raising of the Spanish question would snow under the Security Council deeper than ever before. Delegates, still hoping for their first recess in months late next month, still have the Balkan question, the Egyptian complaint against Britain, new members and the proposed global police force on their crowded calendar. They can hope to accomplish little after September 16, when the 55-nation Assembly will occupy the major attention of all delegations.

The Balkan debate will be resumed Monday, and the American delegation hopes for a vote by mid-week.

Bulgaria Seeks U. N. Seat

Sofia Reveals Step; Bid Hasn't Reached Lake Success

SOFIA, July 26 (AP).—Bulgaria has applied for United Nations membership by letter to Secretary General Trygve Lie in Lake Success, N. Y., officials said here last night.

Application Not Received

LAKE SUCCESS, L. I., July 26.—The office of the Secretary General of the United Nations said today that no Bulgarian application for membership in the U. N. has been received here.

U.N. Palestine Session Delayed

Geneva, Switzerland, July 26 (AP). The opening of the Geneva session of the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine apparently will be delayed for several days. Only three of eleven delegation heads had arrived today.

The committee originally was scheduled to begin consideration Thursday of its final report, which must be delivered to United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie by September 1.

John L. Hood, of Australia; Dr. Enrike Sabregat, of Guatemala, and Jorge Granados, of Uruguay, were in Geneva. Some of the remainder were expected to arrive late this afternoon, but it appeared unlikely that the commission would go into action before Monday.

Meeting Of U.N. Prober, Irgun Is Described

Carter L. Davidson, Associated Press correspondent in Palestine, has obtained interviews with leaders of the Jewish underground on their plans for the Holy Land. Following is a dispatch of a meeting of the commander of Irgun Zvai Leumi and the chairman of the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine, at which Davidson was present:

By Carter L. Davidson

Jerusalem, July 26 (AP)—A clandestine discussion between the chairman of the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine and Menachem Beigin, commander of the underground Irgun Zvai Leumi, will provide part of the background when UNSCOP writes its final report in Geneva.

I am now permitted to disclose the full details of the interview, at which I was present. Beigin, Polish-born commander of Irgun, and two of his lieutenants, met with Sweden's chief justice Emil Sandstroem, UNSCOP chairman. Dr. Victor Hoo, representative of United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie, and Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, United Nations trusteeship expert.

Lower-Voice Suggestion

During a three-hour chat, Sandstroem and Beigin talked quietly about the Holy Land's history, religion and politics

Sandstroem once cautioned Beigin:

"The street is near. Had we not better lower our voices?"

Beigin's answer was a chuckling: "It doesn't matter. Our men are there. They will tell us if we attract attention."

We sat for three hours around a table, chatted, sipped wine and ate fruit and cakes.

Approached By Irgun

The interview came about this way:

Visiting a Jewish city a month ago, I was approached in a coffee house by a man I had seen during a previous interview with Irgun leaders. He said his "commander is willing to meet the United Nations chairman."

He suggested that I ascertain Sandstroem's willingness to make contact "on a clandestine basis."

Sandstroem said he was willing, and the date was fixed. The chairman asked if he might bring Dr. Hoo end later requested the presence of Dr. Bunche "to make a record."

Details Arranged

Irgun approved, and details of the meeting were arranged.

Sandstroem, Hoo, Bunche and I dined privately and "went for a stroll."

A prearranged taxi awaited, and we rode to a spot on a darkened street that had been appointed. There the taxi was dismissed. A pretty girl approached, mentioned the prearranged password and took us on a circuitous walk through parks and gardens. Another taxi was two streets away.

We drove through streets for fifteen minutes, keeping to an unlighted route, and finally drew up before the place of meeting.

Introduced To Beigin

Inside we were ushered into a tastefully furnished room by a tall young Jew who was our "conducting officer" and were introduced to Beigin.

After agreeing with Beigin that no story be published until specific permission was given by Sandstroem, the chairman asked the Irgun commander to outline, "if you will be so kind," the general history and aims of his organization.

This Beigin did, in a slow, detailed fashion, with Dr. Bunche making a full record, interrupting now and again to ascertain an exact date or fact.

From time to time our "conducting officer" returned to the room and could be seen checking by signals with a ring of Irgun gunmen who surrounded the meeting place, probably the most heavily-protected spot in Palestine that night.

During the interview Beigin outlined Irgun's political aims, which he later sent in on 42 typewritten pages as a formal communiqué to UNSCOP.

Irgun's 5-Point Program

The program calls for Jewish sovereignty on both sides of the Jordan River, in both Palestine and Trans-Jordan, to be attained through this five point program:

1. Abolition of British occupation.
2. Transfer of power to "a democratic representative body of our people."
3. Repatriation to Palestine with the aid of an international body of all Jews wishing to transfer.
4. Holding of "democratic general elections after repatriation is completed."
5. Obtaining of an international loan for development of soil for use of both Hebrews and needy Arab peasants.

Back To Hotel

When the interview was finished and the amenities done, our "conducting officer" returned us in two taxies to a dark side street close by the hotel where the UNSCOP representatives stayed.

Beigin, the most wanted man in Palestine, shook Sandstroem's hand as we left, and this was his parting remark:

"I wish you luck in your deliberations, but none of us have any illusions that your decision will cause us to give up the fight."

Booby Trap Kills 2 Palestine Britons

Jerusalem, July 26 (AP)—Officials said two British soldiers were killed by a booby trap attached to an underground cable they were repairing on the outskirts of Jerusalem today.

This brought the casualty toll since late last week in Palestine to at least 12 persons dead and 75 wounded.

An army spokesman said Jewish extremists apparently had cut the cable and installed the booby trap.

A few hours before the blast soldiers searched the near-by settlement of Givat Shaul (Hill of Saul) and found large quantities of munitions, electrical equipment and materials for manufacturing mines and bombs, it was officially announced.

Six members of the colony were arrested.

400 Jews Reported Halted by British

Ship Believed Intercepted as It Neared Palestine

JERUSALEM, July 26 (AP).—Another refugee ship carrying some 400 European Jews was reported unofficially to have been intercepted by the British Navy late today just inside Palestine waters.

The ship had been reported cruising outside territorial waters for three days and was believed to have been taken into custody as it made a dash for shore.

MOSLEMS MOVE TO KARACHI

Leave New Delhi As Prelude To India's Independence

New Delhi, July 26 (AP)—The prelude to India's independence and the end of British rule will begin next week with the start of a big exodus of Moslems from this capital city to Karachi where the temporary capital of Pakistan will be established under its own Islamic green flag.

The official transfer of power from British hands to Mohammedan Pakistan will be made August 14 by Viceroy Lord Mountbatten in a colorful ceremony at Karachi.

The Viceroy will officially transfer British powers to Hindu India the following day here at New Delhi.

Work Against Time

Meanwhile, India's leaders worked against time tonight to meet the deadline when they cast off the status of a subject people with the creation of two independent dominions—a predominantly Hindu India and a predominantly Moslem Pakistan.

With less than three weeks to fill in the pattern of their independence, they are working day and night. Conferences lasting until 5 A.M. have ceased to be a rarity.

This week brought significant progress, but much remains to be done.

The Constituent Assembly, after a month-long stalemate caused by the country's fierce bloody communal conflict between Hindus and Moslems, finally got down to work drafting a constitution for the new Hindu India, which plans ultimately to abandon even dominion status.

Urged To Speed Task

The Assembly was urged to speed up its task by Jawaharlal Nehru, vice president of the Interim Govment and Congress party chief, who counseled that India needs democracy in government, but "not too much" of it.

The Assembly first adopted an official flag of freedom. The new flag will be hoisted over public buildings August 15 in solemn observance of the end of British rule.

While India's leaders rounded out their new constitution, the Moslems prepared to move to Karachi in 32 special trains.

While Moslem and non-Moslem politicians worked harmoniously with the British, Indian still fought Indian with guns, bombs, knives and torch in sporadic outbursts of communal hatred.

Notice Against Rioting

Having failed to restore peace with appeals to their followers, India and Pakistan leaders served stern notice that the rioting must stop.

They jointly announced the creation of a special Indian military force under British commanders to guarantee the civil rights of all minorities in the Punjab, the most troublesome spot.

This action reflected alarm over threats of the war-like Sikhs to fight against the stranding of any considerable number of their people in territory they consider hostile when the boundary commission divides the Punjab between India and Pakistan. The Sikh religion is akin to the Hindu.

Lahore, capital of the rich Punjab, already looks war-torn from months of rioting.

INDONESIANS ARE TRAPPED, DUTCH SAY

Main Body Of Army Reported Caught In Central Java

Batavia, Java, July 26 (AP)—Netherlands communiqués indicated tonight that Dutch troops advancing in eastern and western Java had caught the main body of the Indonesian republican army in a viselike operation against the vast central section of the island.

The Dutch admitted resistance in some places, but said that for the most part Dutch troops were advancing at will under the scorching tropical sun.

Netherlands strategy, as outlined by a senior official, was to set up civil administrations in the areas already seized before deciding whether to strike hard southward from Semarang against the Indonesian capital at Jogjakarta, deep in the central interior.

Mopping Up Resistance

American-trained Dutch Marines and infantry, reported officially to be in full control of strategic centers in the eastern portion of the island, virtually completed the first phase of their operations and now were said to be mopping up pockets of resistance.

In the western section, mechanized forces, lancing swiftly along the northwest coastal road, have captured the port of Tegal, the Dutch said. This march took Netherlands forces 40 miles beyond Cheribon and won control of a coastal stretch of 200 or more miles eastward from Batavia.

A broadcast Indonesian communiqué said the Indonesians still were resisting at Cheribon and that Indonesian guerrillas of the Laskar Rajat (people's army) had begun operations in the Batavia area.

Puppet Government

A dispatch from Jogjakarta said Indonesian officials declared the Dutch planned to set up "a Dutch puppet Government." One Indonesian official said he believed the Dutch already had a skeleton government prepared to take over, but said such a regime "will never get the support of the Indonesian people."

An Indonesian communiqué said the Dutch drive from Semarang in central Java had been stalled 30 miles to the south at Salatiga, which is astride a mountain road winding 46 miles southward to Jogjakarta. The bulletin said Indonesians had sliced behind the Dutch at Salatiga and severed their communications with Semarang, the Dutch jump-off point for this drive.

Political Consolidation

The Dutch said their policy, however, was to consolidate their territory politically, before deciding whether to make a serious drive on Jogjakarta.

General Soedirman, commander of the Indonesian Army, said in Jogjakarta that the Dutch had lost 9,000 killed, wounded and missing in the first six days of hostilities. The Dutch said Netherlands casualties through yesterday were 32 killed, 50 wounded and seven missing. Dutch communiqués on casualties often lag behind operational reports.

In east-central Java, an Indonesian army communiqué said, republican forces had recaptured Modjokerto, important communications center 25 miles south of the Soerabaja naval base.

Reporting heavy fighting in the sector, it said the Indonesians had driven back a Dutch tank spearhead driving on Lawang. Lawang is 10 miles north of Malang, which apparently still was an Indonesian stronghold. Earlier unofficial reports said the Dutch had captured it. The Dutch admitted sharpened Indonesian activity in this sector, but placed their forces at Lawang.

A Netherlands bulletin said the north coastal road commanding the approaches to eastern Java had been cleared for more than 50 miles in the Soerabaja-Probolinggo area and was reopened, re-establishing communications with the eastern part of the island.

Fighting on Sumatra apparently was on a considerably more limited scale. The Dutch said that a decision on whether to wage an intensive campaign in the areas of Sumatra still was to be decided.

Terrorism Campaign

A dispatch from Harris Jackson, Associated Press correspondent at Jogjakarta, quoted the Indonesian Ministry of Information as saying that Republican forces had penetrated parts of Medan, Sumatra's largest city, and that a battle for the city was taking shape. Earlier the Indonesian radio at Pemantiangsiantar had said Medan was in republican hands. The Dutch have reported little activity in the Medan area, saying their operations thus far have been restricted mostly to the southern oil field regions.

Dutch dispatches from northern Sumatra said that Republican forces were waging a campaign of terrorism against the Chinese population of Medan. The Chinese consul there was said to have broadcast an appeal to the republicans to halt actions which "could only bring the republic's name into disrepute."

Official Dutch messages said a Dutch column moving from smoking Arnhemia, below Medan, found the Chinese quarter completely destroyed. Many villages have been abandoned, the dispatches said.

In the southern part of Sumatra, Dutch flying columns fanned out over a broad area of the oil field region which supplies the great Shell and Standard Vacuum refineries near Palembang.

Front dispatches said there was no resistance worth noting and the only real delays came from obstructions placed in their path by the retreating Indonesians in the Palembang area. The dispatches said the Dutch advance caught the republicans so unprepared that untouched meals and forgotten weapons were found at hastily abandoned headquarters.

Dutch Mopping Up West And East Java

Batavia, July 26 (AP)—A Netherlands communiqué said today Dutch forces, moving almost at will, had cleared a broad 150-mile stretch of northwest coastal Java between Batavia and Cheribon, and indicated eastern Java now was firmly in Dutch hands.

The Indonesian republican army claimed successes both in Java and Sumatra, but most of these were denied by the Dutch.

American-trained Dutch marines and infantrymen were mopping up both in eastern and western Java, the Dutch communiqué said.

Activity Stepped Up

However, the Dutch admitted sharpened Indonesian activity in the Modjokerto area, 25 miles south of Soerabaja in east central Java. The communiqué placed Dutch troops at Lawang, 10 miles north of the republican stronghold of Malang, which unofficial reports earlier had said the Dutch had captured.

An Indonesian communiqué said republicans captured Modjokerto and that the Dutch had not passed Lawang, but that an eight-tank spearhead had been pushed back there.

The Dutch said the north coastal road stretching more than 50 miles between Soerabaja and Probolinggo was reopened, re-establishing communications with all East Java.

Big Toll Claimed

The latest republican communiqué monitored here said a 40-minute skirmish occurred yesterday at Modjokerto, and that the Dutch lost one and one half companies to the republican underground while attempting to clear the city.

In a dispatch from Jogjakarta, Indonesian capital, Associated Press Correspondent Harris Jackson quoted General Soedirman, the Indonesian commander, as estimating Dutch losses in dead, wounded and missing to date at 9,000 men. He said these included two battalions in West Java, one in Central Java, four in East Java and two in Sumatra.

A Dutch communiqué said Netherlands casualties through yesterday were 32 killed, 50 wounded and 7 missing.

Medan Seized, Report

In Sumatra, the Indonesian radio at Pemantiangsiantar said the northwest coastal city of Medan, Sumatra's largest, was in republican hands. The Dutch, who held Medan at the outbreak of hostilities, have said there was little action in the Medan area. Dutch operations in Sumatra thus far have been limited mostly to the southern oil field areas.

The Dutch said their drive in Central Java in the Semarang area was limited to a few objectives for the time being, but they denied Indonesian reports of infiltration at Semarang. The Dutch strategy, as outlined by a senior official, is to set up civil administrations in the areas already seized before deciding whether to strike hard southward from Semarang against Jogjakarta, and in areas of Sumatra, where their operations have been limited.

The conflict followed a breakdown in negotiations on how to carry out the Cheribon agreement of last March for a United States of Indonesia to become sovereign January 1, 1949, as an equal partner with the Netherlands under the Dutch crown.

The Indonesian army said it had:

1. Recaptured Tjitjalengka, about 15 miles of Bandoeng.

2. Driven the Dutch from Goenoengpati southeast of Semarang four hours after the Dutch captured the place. Semarang is on the north coast some 150 miles east of Cheribon.

3. Beaten back attacks by eight Dutch tanks on Lawang, 15 miles north of Malang, in the interior of East Java.

Earlier, an Indonesian Army communiqué said that the Republicans had taken the offensive in the Semarang sector last night and reported that Javanese and Amboinese troops with the Dutch had turned against the Dutch and battled them at Djatingaleh.

Another Indonesian communiqué said Republican units were advancing from the south and east on Medan in northern Sumatra.

DUTCH WOULD SEE SJAHRIR

He Will Be Welcomed in Holland if He Visits There, They State

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, July 26 (AP)—An authoritative source said today that it was expected that Dutch "police action" in Indonesia would ease next week, and that Sutan Sjahrir, resigned Indonesian Premier, would be welcomed to this country if he wished to come.

The informant said that the Dutch would seek to establish contact with Indonesian leaders when the fighting eased, and that Mr. Sjahrir was misinformed when he said that he probably would be thrown into jail if he visited The Netherlands.

An announcement said that Th. Lamping had been appointed Dutch Minister to India and would leave immediately for New Delhi. There was no comment on whether his departure had anything to do with Mr. Sjahrir's current visit to India.

Dutch May Seek Parley

The Hague, July 26 (AP) — The Dutch will seek contact with Indonesian republican leaders and former Premier Sutan Sjahrir as soon as the current "police action" in the Netherlands East Indies is considered eased, an authoritative source said today.

[Sjahrir, in New Delhi seeking arms and equipment for the Indonesians, said today Mahomed Ali Jinnah, governor general-designate of the projected Moslem dominion of Pakistan, had "promised us every kind of help we wanted."]

The authoritative source said he expected the armed action would ease next week. He declared the Dutch would leave untouched "the proper republican area of the capital, Jogjakarta," in central Java.

"Our main aims are to safeguard Dutch as well as foreign property and to restore the food situation and water and power installations," he said.

Chinese Make Complaint

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26 (AP) —The Dutch radio at Batavia reported today that thousands of Chinese residents were the principal victims of the Indonesian "scorched earth" policy in the current conflict in the Netherlands East Indies.

The broadcast, heard by The Associated Press in San Francisco, said the Chinese consular staff had organized teams to visit the fronts and attempt to determine losses suffered by Chinese.

It said the Consul General in Batavia already had made one such trip to areas recently reoccupied by the Dutch and had found that the retiring Indonesian forces had burned hundreds of Chinese houses.

Sympathy for Indonesia

Roxas' Party Convention Favors Self-Government Aspirations

MANILA, July 26 (AP).—One thousand delegates attending the national convention of President Manuel A. Roxas' Liberal party made a gesture to Indonesia today by declaring themselves "in sympathy with aspirations for self-determination and self-government among Colonial peoples."

The convention, which met to select eight candidates for the Philippine Senate in the November elections, included in the party platform a denunciation of Communist-led labor organizations seeking to "hamper economic rehabilitation."

India Moslems Promise Aid

NEW DELHI, July 26 (AP). — Moslem India pledged today all possible aid to the Indonesian Republic in its conflict with the Dutch, and Hindu India promised to champion the republic's case before the United Nations.

Mohammed Ali Jinnah, President of the Moslem League, following a conference with Sutan Sjahrir, said Pakistan, the projected new Moslem state, "will support them in every way that is possible for us in their resistance against this uncalled for and sudden onslaugh by armed forces of Holland."

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru promised help on Friday, but did not say how. However, J. B. Krinalani, president of the All-India Congress (Nationalist party) declared after Mr. Sjahrir addressed the Constituent Assembly today that India would use "all her influence" in championing the Indonesian case before the U. N. He said India lacked means to give other than moral support.

Chinese Puzzled By Wedemeyer

Shanghai, July 26 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, heading a special American fact-finding mission, issued a noncommittal statement on arrival here today that he had received "many and varied" suggestions from Chinese in the four days he spent in Nanking.

Some Nanking officials, who preferred to remain anonymous, said the general had kept them so busy answering his questions that they could not ask him any.

Wedemeyer, they said, was "extremely close-mouthed," and maintained such a poker face that they could not even guess his reaction to anything they had told him.

Steps Can Be Taken

Wedemeyer's written statement said his mission was interested in determining what China had done and could do through her own efforts to bring about recovery. He said he had received "definite indications" that there were "many constructive steps the Chinese can take to insure honest and efficient governmental processes and to restore economic stability."

He said his mission was "interested in seeing what constructive steps have already been taken."

One member of the mission said Wedemeyer would naturally form his own recommendations, "but you may be assured those recommendations will not become public property until they have passed through the hands of President Truman and Secretary Marshall."

Chinese Aiding Survey Work: Wedemeyer

Shanghai, July 26 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer said today his fact-finding mission for President Truman had received many suggestions from Chinese "truly interested in establishment of a stable political and economic structure within their country."

The American General issued a written statement on his arrival here from Nanking. In it he said that his original statement in Nanking that his mission wished to determine what China had done and could do through her own efforts to bring about recovery had "struck a sympathetic chord in the hearts and minds of many selfless, patriotic Chinese."

"Constructive Steps"

"I have received definite indications from such sources that there are many constructive steps that the Chinese can take to insure honest and efficient governmental processes and to restore economic stability," Wedemeyer remarked. "The members of the mission are interested in seeing what constructive steps have already been taken."

The mission's visit to Shanghai, he said, would afford "excellent opportunities to supplement information already available pertaining to financial and economic matters."

Swift Pace Criticized

Wedemeyer said his four days in China had been productive. However, he was following such a swift pace he left some Chinese officials in Nanking complaining.

At his present rate of travel, he was expected to finish his work in China in little more than four weeks and move on to Korea for an investigation there.

An official source in Nanking said that once he and his party of experts leave China only a "most unexpected development would cause them to return."

To Visit Manchuria

Wedemeyer and his team of experts plan to visit Manchuria before they depart, this source said, but it was not yet known whether they would try to reach Changchun, the capital now all but surrounded by Communists.

Some Chinese officials in Nanking expressed disappointment at their failure to do any "fact-finding" with the General.

One such official said Wedemeyer was "extremely close-mouthed" and kept the Chinese so busy answering questions that they were unable to get even a hint of his reaction to the information they furnished.

A member of the mission said Wedemeyer naturally was forming his recommendations on the basis of what he has been hearing "but you may be assured those recommendations will not become public property until they have passed through the hands of President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall."

Civil War Progress

Government dispatches, meanwhile, claimed successes on two fronts in the civil war.

The Government's Central News Agency said troops driving southward along the Peiping-Hankow railroad had occupied Tinghsein, 120 miles southwest of Peiping, after heavy artillery exchanges and bitter street fighting.

New fighting was reported in eastern Shantung province, where press dispatches said Government troops crossed the Taku River in a downpour of rain and were pressing the Communists back toward Tsimo, 20 miles north of the port of Tsingtao.

U. S. Press Executives in China

SHANGHAI, July 26 (AP).—Ten American newspaper and magazine executives, studying conditions in the Orient at the invitation of the War Department, arrived by plane today from Okinawa. They will leave by train for Nanking tonight and are due back at Shanghai Monday morning. The party will leave Thursday for Manila and a brief stopover there.

Burmese Riot Before Hall Containing Slain Leaders

RANGOON, July 26 (AP).—Thousands of Burmese screamed and fought each other today in an attempt to enter Jubilee Hall to pay homage to U Aung San and his dead executive council members whose bodies are lying in state. They were driven back by police and firemen after they had broken through a cordon at the gates leading to the hall.

It was just a week ago today that Aung San and his six colleagues were assassinated by gunmen whose identities are yet unrevealed by authorities.

Throughout the country the day was observed as one of national mourning. During the morning Governor Sir Hubert Rance personally laid a wreath before the dead officials' bier in Jubilee Hall.

Japan Flood Strands Soldiers

OSAKA, Japan, July 26 (AP).—The 8th Army said today that Lieutenant Scott Smith, of Waterbury, Conn., and five enlisted men have been stranded at the small town of Kushimoto by floods which destroyed bridges, rail lines and highways in Wakayama Prefecture, in southwest Honshu Island. Fifteen others were rescued by the American ship Lightning Maru II, which left ample supplies for the six remaining.

PRESIDENT SIGNS MEASURE MERGING MILITARY FORCES

Navy Secretary Chosen to Guide Army, Naval and Air Force Functions.

CONFIRMED BY SENATE

Extensive Conferences Seen Necessary Before Program Can Begin.

WASHINGTON, July 26—(AP) President Truman made unification of the armed forces an actuality today and named James V. Forrestal to head them as secretary of defense.

The President signed into law the bill Congress finally gave him after two years of urging and issued an executive order assigning the functions and responsibilities of the three co-equal branches—the departments of the army, navy and air force.

So eager was Mr. Truman to get the thing done that he delayed his departure for his dying mother's bedside for 17 minutes in order to sign the legislation aboard his plane here. Even without that delay, however, he would not have reached Grandview, Mo., before his mother's death.

Last Member of FDR's Cabinet

One reason for the haste was so that the Senate might confirm Forrestal's nomination to the new cabinet post before its adjournment.

Less than 12 hours later the Senate confirmed Forrestal's appointment by unanimous consent. Senate rules had to be suspended so that the nomination could be approved on the same day it was received.

The pugnacious, square-jawed Forrestal, as secretary of the navy, was the last member of the late President Roosevelt's cabinet still in office. His selection as secretary of defense had been generally expected.

Law Effective Immediately

While the law and the executive order are effective immediately, officials said extensive conferences among the army, navy and air departments will be necessary before the program can be translated into terms of offices, functions and men.

This is provided for in the President's executive order which said that "in order to facilitate the accomplishments of the foregoing mission the armed forces shall formulate plans and make coordinated preparations."

Aside from Forrestal's nomination, Mr. Truman made no immediate move to fill other posts set up under the law. At least for a time the acting civilian chiefs of the three departments will be: Kenneth C. Royall for army, John L. Sullivan for navy and J. Stuart Symington for air. Sullivan is undersecretary of the Navy and Symington assistant secretary of war for air.

1. To support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign or domestic.

2. To maintain, by timely and effective military action, the security of the United States, its possessions and areas vital to its interest.

3. To uphold and advance the national policies and interests of the United States.

4. To safeguard the internal security of the United States as directed by higher authority.

5. To conduct integrated operations on the land, on the sea and in the air necessary for these purposes.

In order to facilitate the accomplishment of the foregoing missions the armed forces shall formulate integrated plans and make co-ordinated preparations. Each service shall observe the general principles and fulfill the specific functions outlined below, and shall make use of the personnel, equipment and facilities of the other services in all cases where economy and effectiveness will thereby be increased.

Section II—Functions of the United States Army

GENERAL

The United States Army includes land combat and service forces and such aviation and water transport as may be organic therein. It is organized, trained and equipped primarily for prompt and sustained combat incident to operations on land. The Army is responsible for the preparation of land forces necessary for the effective prosecution of war, and, in accordance with integrated joint mobilization plans, for the expansion of peace-time components of the Army to meet the needs of war.

The specific functions of the United States Army are:

1. To organize, train and equip land forces for:

Text of Truman Order on Functions of Services

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP).—The complete text of a Presidential executive order signed today by President Truman, assigning functions and responsibilities of the armed services under the Army-Navy-Air forces unification law:

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the United States, and as President of the United States and commander in chief of the armed forces of the United States, I hereby prescribe the following assignment of primary functions and responsibilities to the three armed services:

Section I—The Common Missions of the Armed Forces of the United States

A. Operations on land, including joint operations.

B. The seizure or defense of land areas, including air-borne and joint amphibious operations.

C. The occupation of land areas.

2. To develop weapons, tactics, technique, organization and equipment of Army combat and service elements, co-ordinating with the Navy and the Air Force in all aspects of joint concern, including those which pertain to amphibious and air-borne operations.

3. To provide, as directed by proper authority, such missions and detachments for service in foreign countries as may be required to support the national policies and interests of the United States.

4. To assist the Navy and Air Forces in the accomplishment of their missions, including the provision of common services and supplies as determined by proper authority.

Section III—Functions of the United States Navy

GENERAL

The United States Navy includes naval combat and service forces, naval aviation and the United States Marine Corps. It is organized, trained and equipped primarily for prompt and sustained combat at sea. The Navy is responsible for the preparation of naval forces necessary for the effective prosecution of war, and in accordance with integrated joint mobilization plans for the expansion of the peace-time components of the Navy to meet the needs of war.

The specific functions of the United States Navy are:

1. To organize, train and equip naval forces for:

A. Operations at sea, including joint operations.

B. The control of vital sea areas, the protection of vital sea lanes and the suppression of enemy sea commerce.

C. The support of occupation forces as required.

D. The seizure of minor enemy shore positions capable of reduction by such landing forces as may be comprised within the fleet organization.

E. Naval reconnaissance, anti-submarine warfare and protection of shipping. The air aspects of those functions shall be co-ordinated with the Air Force, including the development and procurement of aircraft and air installations located on shore, and use shall be made of Air Force personnel, equipment and facilities in all cases where economy and effectiveness will thereby be increased. Subject to the above provision, the Navy will not be restricted as to types of aircraft maintained and operated for these purposes.

F. The air transport necessary for essential internal administration and for air transport over routes of sole interest to naval forces where the requirement cannot be met by normal air-transport facilities.

2. To develop weapons, tactics, technique, organization and equipment of naval combat and service elements, co-ordinating with the Army and the Air Force in all aspects of joint concern, including those which pertain to amphibious operations.

3. To provide, as directed by proper authority, such missions and detachments for service in foreign countries as may be required to support the national policies and interests of the United States.

4. To maintain the United States Marine Corps, whose specific functions are:

A. To provide marine forces together with supporting air components for service with the fleet in the seizure or defense of advanced naval bases and for the conduct of limited land operations in connection therewith.

B. To develop, in co-ordination with the Army and the Air Force those phases of amphibious operations which pertain to the tactics, technique and equipment employed by landing forces.

C. To provide detachments and organizations for service on armed vessels of the Navy.

D. To provide security detachments for protection of naval property at naval stations and bases.

E. To provide, as directed by proper authority, such missions and detachments for service in foreign countries as may be required to support the national policies and interests of the United States.

5. To assit the Army and the Air Force in the accomplishment of their missions, including the provision of common services and supplies as determined by proper authority.

Section IV—Functions of the United States Air Force

GENERAL

The United States Air Force includes all military aviation forces, both combat and service, not otherwise specifically assigned. It is organized, trained and equipped primarily for prompt and sustained air offensive and defensive operations. The Air Force is responsible for the preparation of the air forces necessary for the effective prosecution of war except as otherwise assigned, and, in accordance with integrated joint mobilization plans, for the expansion of the peace-time components of the [illegible] Force to meet the needs of [illegible]

The specific functions of the United States Air Force are:

1. To organize, train and equip air forces for:

A. Air operations, including joint operations.

B. Gaining and maintaining general air supremacy.

C. Establishing local air superiority where and as required.

D. The Strategic Air Force of the United States and strategic air reconnaissance.

E. Air lift and support for air-borne operations.

F. Air support to land forces and naval forces, including support of occupation forces.

G. Air transport for the armed forces, except as provided by the Navy in accordance with Paragraph 1 F of Section III.

2. To develop weapons, tactics, technique, organization and equipment of Air Force combat and service elements, co-ordinating with the Army and Navy on all aspects of joint concern, including those which pertain to amphibious and air-borne operations.

3. To provide, as directed by proper authority, such missions and detachments for service in foreign countries as may be required to support the national policies and interests of the United States.

4. To provide the means for co-ordination of air defense among all services.

5. To assist the Army and Navy in accomplishment of their missions, including the provision of common services and supplies as determined by proper authority.

HARRY S. TRUMAN

The White House,
July 26, 1947.

Forrestal Gets Defense Post

Washington, July 26 (AP)—President Truman today sent to the Senate the nomination of James V. Forrestal to be Secretary of Defense under the new armed-forces unification setup.

Forrestal's nomination went to Capitol Hill shortly after Mr. Truman signed legislation unifying the Army, Navy, Marines and Airforces under one Cabinet officer.

The measure was signed in a dramatic ceremony at Washington National Airport just before the President took off for Grandview, Missouri.

Truman Delays Flight

Mr. Truman delayed his hurriedly arranged flight home to await arrival of the unification bill, which passed Congress only yesterday.

Wiry, tight-lipped James Forrestal, younger in appearance than his 55 years, is known as builder and boss of the greatest Navy in world history.

He has "fired" admirals from top jobs with the abruptness of a mine explosion, but supports efficient administrators and men who plan far head.

Roosevelt Appointee

Born in Beacon, N.Y., he is former president of a New York bond-selling house and the only Roosevelt Cabinet Minister still in Mr. Truman's official family.

He came to Washington in 1940 as an administrative assistant to President Roosevelt; two months later became the Navy's first Under Secretary—a war-created post.

He was appointed Secretary following the death of Frank Knox in 1944 and guided the Navy through the rest of the war years.

Signed In Plane

The legislation creating his post and joining the services under him was signed by Mr. Truman in the presidential plane, the Sacred Cow, at Washington National Airport.

Capitol officials bearing it arrived fifteen minutes after the President's scheduled departure time, accompanied by a police escort.

With half a dozen pens in his hand, Mr. Truman walked up the ramp into his plane and signed the measure two minutes later.

The President ordered that the pens be given to the retiring Secretary of War, Robert P. Patterson, the new War Secretary, Kenneth Royall, the Secretary of the Navy and Defense Secretary-Designate Forrestal; Stuart Symington, Assistant Secretary of War for Air; Chairman Gurney (R., S.D.), of the Senate Armed Services Committee, who steered the bill through the Senate, and Clark Clifford, special counsel to the President.

TRUMAN ASKS VETERANS NOT TO CASH BONDS

Signs Terminal Leave Bill, But Advises Of Interest Available

Washington, July 26 (AP)—President Truman signed a bill today allowing war veterans holding terminal-leave bonds to cash them any time after September 1, but advised them not to do it.

"I wish to emphasize strongly that it is to the veterans' best interest that they keep their bonds if they do not absolutely need to cash them now," his statement said.

Can Draw Interest

"Almost $2,000,000,000 of bonds are outstanding. If a sizable proportion of these bonds should be redeemed in the near future, general inflationary pressures, which we have been endeavoring to control, would receive a substantial boost. Several hundred million dollars poured into the spending stream would exert a strong upward pressure on prices.

"If, on the other hand, veterans choose the wise course, hold their bonds and continue to draw 2½ per cent interest, their dollars will buy more when they cash their bonds after inflationary conditions have eased."

The Administration had opposed the bill for cashing the bonds; John W. Snyder, Secretary of the Treasury, testified against it. But the House and Senate passed the measure without a dissenting vote, and Mr. Truman signed it just before he left for Grandview, Mo.

Plans Made With Banks

Mr. Truman noted that the Treasury Department is making arrangements with banks and other financial institutions in order that bonds can be cashed in local communities without cost to veterans.

A Treasury official said yesterday that banks will be instructed to require positive identification of those cashing the bonds, so as to prevent any money going to "sharks" who have purchased the bonds at a discount.

A number of complaints have been heard that, although the bonds by law are not transferable, some persons bought up bonds from needy veterans for as little as 50 cents on the dollar.

The bonds were issued to some 9,000,000 veterans to compensate for earned but unused leave time as members of the armed forces. They were to mature five years after the date of a veteran's discharge.

The delay was proposed as an anti-inflation maneuver. However, congressional supporters of cashing them now argued that the interest they carry is in itself an inflationary item.

The bonds were issued under a 1946 act to compensate enlisted personnel for accrued leave time, up to 120 days, which they failed to obtain while in service. Officers had been getting the pay in cash all along, by remaining on the service pay rolls on "terminal leave" after their return to civilian life.

The new law gives the bondholders the option of retaining them at interest or cashing them, and allows applicants for new bonds to take either cash or bonds. If they elect to take cash, they will receive in addition accrued interest from the date of their discharge. The bill also extends until September 1, 1948, the deadline for applying for terminal-leave pay.

President Roosevelt declared the "limited emergency" on September 8, 1939, shortly after Europe was plunged into war, and the "full emergency" of May 27, 1941, when most of the continent was falling prey to Hitler.

The end of World War II itself, for international purposes and for domestic matters tied up with foreign affairs, probably cannot be declared until the peace treaties are signed, these officials said.

Linked to the war and emergencies are such powers as the authority to impose priorities on transportation; to seize alien property in this country, to curb "trading with the enemy," and to preserve much of the wartime "streamlining" of the War, Navy and other departments.

"Orderly Reconversion"

In signing Senate Joint Resolution No. 123, Mr. Truman announced that he was asking Attorney General Clark to continue studies on all problems "involved in declaring the end of the war and the end of existing emergencies."

"We should complete the orderly reconversion of the machinery and operations of the Government to a peacetime basis as rapidly as possible," his statement said.

There was every sign he would move cautiously, however, since the problem reaches beyond the Government. Many private contracts and labor agreements were drawn to remain in force for the "duration," or some stated time thereafter.

'National Emergency' May Be Ended Soon

Washington, July 26 (AP)—Government lawyers plunged back into their studies today to learn whether the 8-year-old state of national emergency can be ended soon.

Some 175 war and emergency powers designed to remain in force for the "duration" or longer were erased at a single stroke yesterday.

One effect of that action, President Truman's signature of a joint congressional resolution, is to prevent any new recruit to the armed forces, today and thereafter, from benefiting under the GI Bill of Rights.

Reverse Procedure

But for more than 100 other war powers, the emergency is still on. Some Administration officials said they think it may be possible to nullify it "fairly shortly."

Mr. Truman could do that by proclamation. That would simply reverse the procedure under which

Marshall's Foreign Relief Pleas Criticized

Washington, July 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall will have to be an "A-1 salesman" if he convinces Americans they should "hand out several billion dollars to peoples abroad," Representative Arnold (R., Mo.) said today.

"Marshall, a good soldier, but judging from his experience and results in China, a very poor business manager of nations, is already beginning his softening-up campaign by practicing his sales talk behind closed doors on leaders of Congress," Arnold said in a statement.

House Passes Foreign-Aid Measure 1947

Washington, July 26 (AP)—A $1,675,000,000 fund to finance the Administration's foreign-aid program passed the House and went to the Senate today as Congress paced steadily toward adjournment of its session on schedule tonight.

The bill, one of three large money bills which must be cleared before the lawmakers begin their vacation, was $258,000,000 below estimates in President Truman's requests. It includes $400,000,000 for aid to Greece and Turkey, $332,000,000 for relief in liberated European countries, $600,000,000 for army administration and relief in occupied countries, and $7,361,400 for the International Refugee Organization.

In addition, it carries money for miscellaneous Federal agencies.

May Be Special Session

Earlier today Senator Taft (R., Ohio) said a resolution adjourning Congress tonight will leave the way open for leaders to ask a special session although he does not expect one.

Congressional leaders "will get together in October and look things over then," Taft said. "I do not expect a special session before Congress reconvenes next January. but conditions may look different."

Republican leaders were optimistic about winding up the final day's work without undue delay.

The House disposed of one of its chores by passing by voice vote a bill continuing Federal support prices for wool. It went to the White House.

May Act On Perlman

Taft expected the Senate to have time to act on pending nominations. This would come after appropriation bills and Senate-House conference agreements on disputed legislation.

Among presidential appointments awaiting Senate action are three officials of the expanded Labor Board and Philip B. Perlman, of Maryland, to be solicitor general.

"We won't get to those until everything else is cleared up," Taft said.

GOP Confident

Republican leaders running the congressional show for the first time in fifteen years were confident they could meet the adjournment deadline without difficulty.

But, if necessary, they stood ready to resort to the often-used legislative device of stopping the official clocks short of midnight to make the July 26 quitting date official.

The adjournment resolutions were due to go into the hoppers as soon as it became certain that the remaining "must" bills were in the clear.

In that category were a rivers and harbors appropriation bill and the annual Agriculture Department apprporiation bill.

House In Good Shape

The House approached its finale fresh from a normal quitting hour yesterday, but Senators assembled groggily after their second straight after-midnight tussle. They ended a session of nearly 13½ hours early today, a marathon which followed the eighteen-hour session terminated early Friday.

Senate-House conference committees agreed late last night on differences on both the rivers and harbors and foreign-aid bills and placed them in a position for a speedy, final okay by both chambers.

The rivers and harbors bill left the House with a total of $339,186,869, which the Senate boosted to $539,927,449 by adding some more projects. The Senate-House compromise figure is $507,000,000.

The House already has approved a compromise $613,046,826 agriculture supply bill, and prompt Senate ratification was expected.

Still a fourth appropriation bill, a $110,058,500 supplemental measure for miscellaneous agencies, awaited final Senate action.

House May Get Vets' Bill

There was an off-chance that the House might take up a Senate-passed bill increasing allowances for veterans' on-the-job training.

The Senate passed the job-training measure last night along with a group of other measures, including one extending for five years the sugar production and control program already passed by the House.

It gives domestic producers a fixed production quota rather than a percentage of domestic needs and permits the Agriculture Department to make adjustments in Cuban and other nondomestic quotas to meet seasonal needs.

Western senators hoped to gain approval today of a bill renewing for two years premium payments on production of copper, lead and zinc. It has passed the House, which added manganese to the list. The subsidy program expired last June 30.

In another windup action the Senate last night completed congressional work on legislation fixing November 1 as deadline for ending wartime controls on "time payment" credit purchases. That also went to President Truman's desk.

Europe Reported Fearing U.S. May Quit Plan For Aid

Washington, July 26 (AP)—A State Department official reported tonight "a very definite element of fear" in Europe that the United States might not go through with the Marshall aid plan and thus leave open to Russian retaliation those countries supporting it.

Samuel Reber, acting deputy director of the Office of European Affairs, also declared that Italy might go Communist next winter unless unemployment, cold and hunger are relieved by American economic assistance.

Reber pictured the Communist party as waging an anti-American campaign in Italy with "unlimited funds."

In a broadcast, Reber said the people of Europe are caught in a great fear—"a fear of Russia and a fear of what we will not do."

'VOICE' INVESTIGATION IS VOTED BY SENATE

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—The Senate authorized tonight an investigation of the State Department's foreign information programs, including the controversial "Voice of America" broadcasts.

The authorization was rushed through in the waning minutes of the session after the House had refused to go along with a proposal for a joint Senate-House investigation.

Senator Taft, Republican, of Ohio, who had opposed passage in the Senate of the Mundt Bill to authorize the information program, called up a substitute by Senator H. Alexander Smith, Republican, of New Jersey, to permit an inquiry by a special Senate committee.

Senator Hatch, Democrat, of New Mexico, who has tried several times to get Senate action on the Mundt bill, told a reporter he would continue the fight next year. He said results of the investigation could be helpful in giving Congress more information.

Senator Taft, in blocking motions to take up the Mundt bill by unanimous consent, argued that funds had already been provided for the program for the fiscal year which began July 1. He noted that there was an agreement not to challenge the spending of this money.

Crerar Going To Tokyo

Ottawa, July 26 (AP)—Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, head of a special Canadian trade mission to Japan, took off today in an RCAF Liberator for Tokyo. Crerar, now retired, formerly commanded the Canadian 1st Army in France.

Canada Seeks Treaty Date

Ottawa, July 26 (AP)—Canada has asked the United States if it would be possible to change the date of a proposed meeting of the Far Eastern Commission on the Japanese peace treaty, now set for August 19, the External Affairs Department said today, because that date clashes with a British Commonwealth meeting on the same subject in Australia.

ATOM TRIALS DELAYED

Santa Fe, N. M., July 26 (A. P.).—The Government may not seek to try two former G. I.'s accused of stealing atomic documents and pictures before early next year, United States Attorney Everett M. Grantham said today.

A Federal Grand Jury has indicted former Sgts. Alexander von der Luft, 23 years old, of Mt. Lebanon, Pa., and Earnest D. Wallis, 34, of Chicago, on charges of removing and concealing the secret information while stationed at the Los Alamos, N. M., atom bomb laboratory.

Announcing that he would not ask a setting of the cases at the current United States District Court session here, Grantham said that they would not be called until next fall at the earliest and possibly not until a winter term to be convened after January 1 in Albuquerque.

Eisenhower To Make Alaska Inspection Trip

Washington, July 26 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Army's chief of staff, will fly to Fort Riley, Kan., tomorrow on the first leg of an inspection trip to army installations in Alaska.

At Fort Riley, the General will visit his brother, Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Kansas State College. He will proceed to Great Falls, Mont., Monday and expects to arrive at Anchorage, Alaska, Tuesday.

He will be away from three to four weeks on the trip which, the War Department said today, "is a continuation of his plan to see at first hand the operations of the Army in the field." The chief of staff already has made several inspections in the United States, in Europe, and in the Pacific.

Accompanying him to Alaska will be several division chiefs and other army experts, including Maj. Gen. Alfred Gruenther, deputy commandant of the National War College; Brig. Gen. Henry B. Sayler, chief of ordnance research; and Col. H. J. Matchett, member of the Army Manpower Board.

Iowa Farmers Plan Study Trip To Europe

Des Moines, July 26 (AP)—About 20 Iowa Farm Bureau leaders plan to finance their own trip to Europe this fall to study the need for the Marshall plan, to analyze the food situation and to make observations with regard to the economic and political situations.

"The fact that twenty Iowa farmers are willing and ready to spend their own money and take time to study the causes and results of war is conclusive proof that isolationism does not have a very strong foothold in the mid-West," declared Allan B. Kline, Farm Bureau president.

It is anticipated that the group will leave Des Moines about September 1 and return October 1.

Satellites Of Soviet 'Woo U.S. Slavs'

Washington, July 26 (AP)—Representative McDowell (R., Pa.) said today the embassies here of Russia's satellite nations were evidently spending "tremendous amounts" in this country to court 5,000,000 persons of Slavic descent.

Apparently, McDowell said, the Soviet Government is supplying at least some of the money.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities, of which McDowell is a member, is looking into fifth-column operations as a result of secret testimony from Dr. Mladen Giunio-Zerkin, former member of the Yugoslav Army and of the Yugoslav embassy staff in London.

Broad Inquiry Set

McDowell said he and a subcommittee heard Giunio-Zerkin for two days last week and the "revelations were startling."

A public hearing for presentation of the former diplomat's story was postponed. Meanwhile, the committee decided to make a broad investigation of what all nations in the Russian orbit may be doing in the way of possible fifth-column activity in America.

An attempt is being made through the Communist party in the United States and "through satellite embassies," McDowell said, to try to "gain control of Slavic groups and sell them on the Pan-Slavic idea—that the Slavs should stick together."

Others To Testify

McDowell said he had sent letters to twenty Slavic leaders of unquestioned loyalty to the United States asking their co-operation and offering them an opportunity to appear at hearings later on.

Apparently all twenty are "pretty much concerned" about fifth-column maneuvers among Slavs, he said.

Other persons who may be unwilling to testify will be subpoenaed, McDowell said.

A date for the hearings has not been selected. Probably they will be held sometime this fall.

Altered B-29 Can Hold Big Bomb 1947

Washington, July 26 (AP)—The Army Air Forces said today that alterations to a B-29 enabling it to carry a king-size 42,000-pound bomb—the heaviest bombload ever projected for an airplane—had been completed.

The modification of the Superfortress was made at the Wichita (Kan.) division of the Boeing Aircraft Company.

The huge bomb, it was learned, actually was developed in 1945 by the Army's Ordnance Department and two bombers were delivered in that year, with a number of others on order at that time.

Test Is Scheduled

A test drop of the giant missile is scheduled for some time this fall, presumably at one of the AAF's bombing ranges.

In describing the converted Superfortress, an AAF statement said:

"A Boeing B-29A was selected for the project and major modifications were ordered. A portion of the body section under the wing was cut away to make sufficient space for the huge case of the bomb.

"Aluminum alloy reinforcements were placed throughout the bomb-bay area. The rear bomb-bay doors were removed entirely and the front bay doors were cut away to allow the nose of the bomb to protrude.

Held By Two Chains

"When the bomb is attached to the Superfortress, approximately half of the missile hangs below the normal surface of the fuselage.

"The bomb is held in place by two movable link chains, each approximately 4½ inches in width. When the bomb release is activated, one end of each chain falls free, allowing the bomb to drop from the airplane."

While today's announcement did not give dimensions of the altered bomb bay for the B-29, reporters who had seen the aircraft said the converted bomb bay was at least 27 feet long.

Wide-Area Blast

The bomb is designed for demolition over a wide area by exploding it to produce the fullest lateral blast of the standard high explosive with which it is charged.

The modification to the B-29 for carrying the 42,000-pounder is somewhat different from changes made to about half a dozen other Superfortresses during the war for the purpose of dropping the British "tall boy" bomb used at that time.

In that modification, the bomb was carried within the fuselage of the airplane, with the bomb-bay doors closed until the moment of release. The girth of the 42,000 pounder, however, is too great to swing it up into the body of the Superfortress.

PROBERS SEEK PLANE FIRM'S PUBLICITY MAN

Ask State Department To Help Find Hughes's Former Aide

Washington, July 26 (AP)—Senators investigating Howard Hughes's wartime plane contracts enlisted State Department aid today to find a missing witness who previously had told of lavish entertainment for a high Government official.

The witness is John Meyer, former publicity director for Hughes. A Senate war investigating subcommittee, which opens hearings Monday, questioned him in private June 3 and 4, but now has lost track of him and believe he is out of the country.

Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.), chairman of the subcommittee, said the State Department has agreed to ask Meyer to return if he can be found and "if he does not, they will cancel his passport."

Most Countries Covered

Ferguson said Meyer's passport covers all countries except the occupied ones and that he apparently obtained visas for France and England. He also has been variously reported as in South America and Canada.

If Meyer does not turn up by July 30, Ferguson added, Hughes will be asked where he is and why he does not appear.

Ferguson made public a letter from William P. Rogers, committee counsel, to Noah Dietrich, vice president of the Hughes Tool Company, in which Rogers said he understands that Meyer "is out of the country on business for the Hughes Aircraft Company."

"For Reasons You Know"

"For reasons which you well know," Rogers wrote, "it may appear to the committee that Meyer is being kept out of the country to avoid public questioning about certain expense accounts of the Hughes Tool Company."

Rogers said also that Meyer's passport application said he wished to visit Ireland, France, England, Italy, Greece, Egypt, Palestine, and Switzerland.

The Michigan Senator declined to make public Meyer's testimony, but committee members who have seen transcripts of it described as fantastic the story he told, supplemented with expense vouchers, of paying girls up to $125 to go out to dinner in New York and Hollywood night spots with "very important persons."

The committee has subpoenaed some of those mentioned by Meyer, including Judy Cook, California swimmer.

$6,000 Reported Spent

Members said that according to Meyer's story, he entertained lavishly. Some 27 expense vouchers which he turned in to the Hughes Tool Company showed he had spent a total of $6,000 on 27 occasions when he had one influential official as his guest.

The committee has declined to name any of the persons mentioned in the testimony or in published copies of expense vouchers found in the Hughes company files.

However, J. C. Krug, Secretary of the Interior, asserted in a statement yesterday that he was not present at three affairs at which Meyer purportedly listed expenditures for Krug's entertainment.

Krug called the circulation of the purported expense vouchers "a swindle of the grossest kind."

Committee members said Meyer had testified that Krug "never did one single thing" for the Hughes company.

Committee members quoted Meyer as saying he often gave expensive presents to girls who aided in entertaining, listing on one occasion the gift of $135 in Nylon hose. He made one cash loan of $1,000 to an army officer, which was repaid, Meyer was said to have testified. He was represented as denying that he ever made any political contributions, although he was said to have told of giving one official two shoe ration stamps.

Ferguson Makes Inquiry

Committee members said Meyer testified that he was a friend of Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President, and had introduced him to his present wife, Fay Emerson, former movie actress.

Asserts He's Being Made Victim of Grossest Kind of Swindle—Hearing Opens Monday.

JUL 1947

Washington, July 26 (AP).—Howard Hughes was reported today to have denied specifically to the Senate War Investigating Committee that Elliott Roosevelt had anything to do with Government award of a $40,000,000 wartime plane contract to Hughes and Henry J. Kaiser.

A member of the committee told a reporter privately he was present when Hughes testified behind closed doors several weeks ago that the son of the late President contributed nothing toward obtaining the contract.

Senator Ferguson (R.-Mich.) said that a sub-committee he heads has been looking into reports that Elliott may have played a part in obtaining White House backing for the contract—described as having been stoutly opposed by the armed services. That apparently was one of the objectives of the committee in issuing a subpoena for certain papers in the files of the late President Roosevelt.

Most Of Papers Delivered

Most of these papers were delivered to the committee yesterday by Solon J. Buck, United States archivist, with the explanation in a letter to Brewster that President Truman had approved the action because "it would not violate the intention of the late President Roosevelt, as disclosed in such documents as are available."

Presumably, the committee hoped to find among these documents support for the contention of Ferguson and some other Republican members that White House "pressure" had been used to obtain approval of the contracts after the War Production Board and other agencies had ruled against them.

Only Consulted He Says

Hughes explained, the committee member said, that the younger Roosevelt had consulted with him on the technical aspects of building a photo-reconnaissance plane on a contract granted after the original agreement for construction of a plywood ship.

At that time Roosevelt was an army colonel in charge of a squadron of photo-reconnaissance planes.

The committee has summoned six witnesses to the hearing Monday, including Kaiser and Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore plane builder.

MOSCOW, JULY 26-(AP)-HAROLD WILSON, BRITISH SECRETARY FOR OVERSEAS TRADE, TOLD NEWSMEN BEFORE LEAVING MOSCOW FOR LONDON YESTERDAY THAT BRITISH-SOVIET TRADE TALKS HAD BEEN BROKEN OFF BECAUSE OF INABILITY OF THE CONFEREES TO AGREE UPON FINANCE TERMS.

WILSON SAID THAT DESPITE AN ACCORD ON ALL TRADE MATTERS, HE AND THE RUSSIANS HAD BEEN UNABLE TO SETTLE THE QUESTION OF TERMS FOR REPAYMENT OF THE 1941 BRITISH CREDIT BY THE SOVIET UNION.

THE 31-YEAR-OLD DIPLOMAT SAID HE WOULD "BE GLAD" TO RETURN TO MOSCOW, BUT OTHER BRITISH OFFICIALS EXPRESSED DOUBT THAT WILSON WOULD BE BACK SOON AND TOOK IT FOR GRANTED THAT THE WHOLE DEAL WAS OFF, AT LEAST FOR THIS YEAR.

WILSON SAID THE TALKS HAD PROCEEDED IN A FRIENDLY VEIN BUT INDICATED HE HAD NO AUTHORITY TO MAKE FURTHER CONCESSIONS.

"ANY FURTHER MOVE," HE SAID, "IS UP TO THE RUSSIANS."

THE SECRETARY SAID HE WOULD MAKE A FULL REPORT TO THE BRITISH CABINET AND HOUSE OF COMMONS NEXT WEEK.

UNDER THE PROPOSED TRADE PACT, BRITAIN WOULD HAVE RECEIVED 1,000,000 TONS OF WHEAT FROM THE SOVIET 1947 HARVEST, AS WELL AS QUANTITIES OF TIMBER, FISH AND CANNED GOODS. IN EXCHANGE BRITAIN WOULD HAVE SENT RUSSIA MACHINERY AND ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT.

JUL 1947

LONDON, JULY 26-(AP)-HAROLD WILSON, BRITISH SECRETARY FOR OVERSEAS TRADE, WAS HURT IN A CRASH LANDING AT THE LONDON AIRPORT LAST NIGHT AS HE RETURNED FROM TRADE TALKS IN MOSCOW.

THREE OTHERS IN HIS PARTY AMONG THE 17 ABOARD THE PLANE WERE INJURED ALSO, AMONG THEM THOMAS COOK, LABOR MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT. LORD BURGHLEY, PRESIDENT OF THE INTERNATIONAL AMATEUR ATHLETIC FEDERATION, ESCAPED HARM.

WILSON, WHO SAID HIS CHEST HURT, WAS TAKEN AWAY IN AN AMBULANCE. HE HAD HEADED THE TRADE MISSION TO MOSCOW, WHICH HAD SOUGHT AN AGREEMENT BY WHICH BRITAIN WOULD HAVE GOT RUSSIAN WHEAT AND OTHER RAW MATERIALS IN EXCHANGE FOR INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTS.

"WE REACHED A WIDE AREA OF AGREEMENT ON TRADE MATTERS," WILSON SAID LATER IN A STATEMENT, "BUT WE HAVE NOT REACHED AN AGREEMENT ON THE FINANCIAL QUESTION WHICH THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT HAS INSISTED UPON AS A CONDITION OF ANY COMPREHENSIVE TRADE AGREEMENT."

IN LANDING, THE TRANSPORT OVERSHOT THE RUNWAY AND NOSED OVER BUT DID NOT CATCH FIRE. THE CABIN WAS CRUSHED.

PRECEDE DURHAM DAY

LONDON, JULY 26-(AP)-FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN WARNED BRITISH LABOR TODAY IT MUST PRODUCE MORE OR RISK THE FALL OF THE LABOR GOVERNMENT AND A WEAKENING OF BRITAIN'S POSITION IN WORLD AFFAIRS.

"MY GOD, WORKING MEN AND WOMEN, THIS IS THE FIRST LABOR GOVERNMENT YOU HAVE GOT. DON'T LET IT FAIL, FOR THE SAKE OF GENERATIONS TO COME," BEVIN TOLD THOUSANDS OF PICNICKING COAL MINERS AT DURHAM, NORTHERN ENGLAND.

"YOUR LABOR GOVERNMENT IS CARRYING ON IN FOREIGN AFFAIRS WITHOUT THE TOOLS TO DO THE JOB AND I MUST BE HELPED OUT," HE ADDED.

HE EXPLAINED THAT INCREASED PRODUCTION WOULD ENABLE BRITAIN TO GIVE FOREIGN CREDITS WHICH IN TURN WOULD "HELP OUR DIPLOMACY."

THE FOREIGN SECRETARY, A FORMER TRADE UNION LEADER, HINTED HE MAY ASK THE MINERS TO GIVE UP, TEMPORARILY, THEIR NEWLY WON FIVE DAY WEEK TO BOOST OUTPUT. COAL IS THE KEY TO BRITAIN'S ECONOMIC PROBLEMS.

SOME CONSERVATIVE NEWSPAPERS HAVE SUGGESTED THAT UNLESS PRODUCTION IS INCREASED THE BRITISH PEOPLE WILL SUFFER HARDSHIPS THIS WINTER AND, IN THEIR SUFFERING, TURN LABOR OUT OF OFFICE AND DEMAND NEW LEADERS.

"I KNOW THERE IS A LOT OF HOPE AND FEELING THAT A CRISIS WILL BE BROUGHT ABOUT, THAT LABOR WILL BE BROUGHT DOWN, WILL HAVE TO GO INTO A COALITION GOVERNMENT OR IN OPPOSITION," BEVIN SAID.

BEVIN DID NOT EXPLAIN HIS DESCRIPTION OF THIS REGIME AS "THE FIRST LABOR GOVERNMENT." GOVERNMENTS IN 1924 AND 1929 BORE THE LABOR LABEL BUT LACKED A WORKING MAJORITY IN COMMONS. RAMSAY MACDONALD, THE FORMER LABOR PRIME MINISTER, WAS REPUDIATED BY LABOR AFTER HE JOINED CONSERVATIVES IN A COALITION.

BEVIN TOLD THE MINERS: "I WILL NEVER GO-BACK ON YOUR FIVE DAY WEEK AS LONG AS I AM IN OFFICE, BUT I DO SAY AS A MEMBER OF THIS GOVERNMENT THAT I MAY HAVE TO ASK YOU X X X FOR A HELP OUT OVER A TEMPORARY PERIOD."

THE FIVE DAY WEEK WAS INTRODUCED LAST SPRING AND SINCE THEN CABINET MINISTERS AND UNION LEADERS HAVE SAID PRODUCTION WAS NOT FULLY SATISFACTORY.

BEVIN'S PREDECESSOR, CONSERVATIVE ANTHONY EDEN, IN A PREPARED SPEECH AT WEST WYCOMBE, DECLARED THAT "WISE AND INSPIRING LEADERSHIP" WAS NEEDED AND THAT LABOR HAS DIVIDED THE NATION WHEN "A UNITED EFFORT" IS INDICATED.

"THE NEXT MAJOR BATTLE FOR THE FUTURE OF BRITAIN WILL BE FOUGHT THIS WINTER. X X X THERE WILL BE NONE OF THE STIR AND INSPIRATION OF VISIBLE DANGER AND IMMINENT PERIL. BUT THE RESULT OF DEFEAT FOR US CAN BE MORE DEADLY THAN DEFEAT IN WAR ITSELF," EDEN DECLARED.

EDINBURGH, SCOTLAND, JULY 26-(AP)-THE MAYOR OF GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., GEORGE WELSH, TALKED WITH THE LORD PROVOST OF EDINBURGH, SIR JOHN FALCONER, AT THE CITY CHAMBER TODAY ABOUT MUNICIPAL PROBLEMS.

WELSH PRESENTED HIS DAUGHTER, MRS. WELDON (FIRST NAME UNAVAILABLE) AND HIS GRAND DAUGHTERS, JOAN AND SHIRLEY WELDON.

WELSH CAME TO EUROPE TO ATTEND THE WORLD CONGRESS OF LOCAL AUTHORITIES IN PARIS. AFTER THE CONFERENCE HE CHOSE TO VISIT SCOTLAND, LAND OF HIS BIRTH, INSTEAD OF MAKING A TOUR OF GERMANY WITH OTHER AMERICAN OFFICIALS.

THE DANGER IN TALK OF GERMAN RECOVERY, HE SAID, WAS THAT IF THE NATION AGREED WITH THE COMMUNISTS ON THE ISSUE -- AND FRANCE HAS A DEEP DREAD OF GERMAN INDUSTRIAL RECOVERY -- "THEY WILL GAIN IN POLITICAL STRENGTH AT OUR EXPENSE."

THE QUESTIONNAIRE COVERED SUCH TOPICS AS:

DIFFICULTIES DUE TO THE WAR, INCLUDING SHORTAGE OF FOOD, EQUIPMENT, RAW MATERIALS, TRANSPORT, AND DISRUPTION OF NORMAL CHANNELS OF TRADE.

EFFORTS WITHIN EACH COUNTRY FOR ITS OWN RECONSTRUCTION, INCLUDING THE OBJECTIVES, RESULTS AS OF JULY 1, AND METHODS EMPLOYED.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE RECONSTRUCTION OF OTHER NATIONS, INCLUDING ASSISTANCE BOTH GRANTED AND RECEIVED.

NATIONAL RECOVERY PROGRAMS FOR THE PERIOD OF 1947 TO 1951 INCLUSIVE, COVERING OBJECTIVES, MEANS AND DIFFICULTIES.

DEFICITS AND SURPLUSES IN FOOD AND RAW MATERIALS, INCLUDING ESSENTIAL [redacted] OF PRODUCTION.

BERLIN- [redacted] LEADERS

AMERICAN COAL OFFICIALS SAID THEY HOPED THE BONUS OFFER WOULD BOOST HARD COAL PRODUCTION TO 250,000 TONS DAILY OR BETTER.

THE PRESENT DAILY OUTPUTS AVERAGES ABOUT 218,000 TONS.

EACH UNDERGROUND WORKER IN THE HARD COAL MINES WILL RECEIVE A "10-IN-ONE" RATION PACKAGE FROM U.S. ARMY STOCKS IF HIS MINE REACHES OR EXCEEDS ITS PRODUCTION TARGET WITHIN THE 11 WEEKS STARTING JULY 28

THE TARGET FOR EACH MINE IS THE HIGHEST LEVEL OF PRODUCTION IT HAS REACHED OVER A CONSECUTIVE FOUR-WEEK PERIOD SINCE THE OCCUPATION BEGAN.

IN ADDITION, THE MINE SHOWING THE HIGHEST PERCENTAGE OF INCREASED OUTPUT OVER THE TARGET WILL WIN A "10-IN-ONE" FOOD PACKAGE FOR ALL EMPLOYEES, WHEREVER THEY WORK. THE PACKAGE CONTAINS THE EQUIVALENT OF 40,000 CALORIES.

THEY EXPECT A GRADUAL ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL EVOLUTION TO UNITE GERMANY AGAIN.

EACH OF THE BIG FOUR HAS LABORED TO PUT SHATTERED GERMANY BACK TOGETHER AGAIN IN HIS OWN IMAGE, WITH THE SAME RESULTS OF ALL THE KINGS HORSES AND ALL THE KINGS MEN WHO WORKED OVER HUMPTY DUMPTY.

AND WHILE THEY HAVE THUS LABORED ACRIMONIOUSLY AND FUTILELY, IT HAS GROWN ON THE GERMANS WITH INCREASING FORCE THAT NONE OF THESE PLANS WOULD WORK WITHOUT GERMAN COOPERATION.

THIS SENSE OF POWER IS NOW TEMPERED BY DEFEATISM, BUT IT MAY AWAKEN EVER MORE QUICKLY AND THAT IS THE TIME WHEN MANY GERMANS HOPE FOR A NEW BISMARCK TO STEP IN.

NUERNBERG, GERMANY, JULY 26-(AP)-ERNST VON WEIZSAECKER, FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE IN THE NAZI FOREIGN MINISTRY AND FORMER NAZI AMBASSADOR TO THE VATICAN, HAS BEEN BROUGHT TO NUERNBERG FROM THE FRENCH ZONE IN CONNECTION WITH THE FORTHCOMING TRIAL OF GERMAN FOREIGN OFFICE OFFICIALS.

VON WEIZSAECKER WAS HANDED OVER TO U.S. WAR CRIMES AUTHORITIES

BY FRENCH OFFICIALS AT THE REQUEST OF BRIG.GEN.TELFORD TAYLOR, AMERICAN CHIEF PROSECUTOR. HE WAS BROUGHT FROM LINDAU YESTERDAY.

U.S. OFFICIALS SAID THAT VON WEIZSAECKER WOULD BE REEXAMINED REGARDING HIS KNOWLEDGE OF THE ACTIVITIES OF THE FOREIGN OFFICE. TWO MONTHS AGO HE WAS QUESTIONED BY DR.ROBERT KEMPNER, WHO IS PREPARING THE CASE AGAINST FOREIGN OFFICE LEADERS.

WARSAW, JULY 26-(AP)-A POLISH GOVERNMENT SPOKESMAN SAYS A UNITED STATES DECISION TO CUT OFF AMERICAN RELIEF TO POLAND MEANS THAT WORKERS IN THIS COUNTRY MUST GO UNDERNOURISHED ANOTHER YEAR.

THE DECISION, A FOREIGN MINISTRY PRESS ATTACHE ADDED YESTERDAY, IS DEEMED BY THE GOVERNMENT "UNJUST AGAINST AN ALLY AND AGAINST A COUNTRY WHICH SUFFERED SO MUCH IN THE WAR."

HOWEVER, AN OFFICIAL PROTEST AT THE MOVE WAS CONSIDERED UNLIKELY.

(U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE GEORGE C. MARSHALL ANNOUNCED IN WASHINGTON WEDNESDAY THAT THE U.S. HAD DECIDED AGAINST GIVING POLAND SOME $15,000,000 SHE WAS TO HAVE RECEIVED IN A $350,000,000 RELIEF PROGRAM FOR VARIOUS COUNTRIES, BECAUSE SHE HAD BEEN FOUND TO HAVE A SUFFICIENT FOOD SUPPLY.)

MOSCOW,JULY 26-(AP)-PREMIER GEN. ENVER HOXHA OF ALBANIA WAS AUTHORITATIVELY REPORTED TODAY TO HAVE LEFT MOSCOW AFTER A 10-DAY VISIT IN THE SOVIET UNION. HE HAD A CONVERSATION WITH PRIME MINISTER STALIN AND WAS GUEST OF HONOR AT A KREMLIN RECEPTION.

OTHERS IN THE PARTY WERE REV.WILLIAM H.MELISH, ASSOCIATED RECTOR OF THE CHURCH OF HOLY TRINITY, BROOKLYN; REV.EMORY BUCKE, EDITOR OF THE ZION'S HERALD; REV.GEORGE BUCKNER, EDITOR OF THE WORLD CALL OF THE DISCIPLES OF CHRIST; DR.SAMUEL TREXLER, PRESIDENT OF THE LUTHERAN SYNOD OF NEW YORK; CLAUDE WILLIAMS, DIRECTOR OF THE PEOPLES INSTITUTE OF APPLIED RELIGION, BIRMINGHAM,ALA., AND PHILIP ELLIOTT, OF THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF BROOKLYN.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., JULY 26-(AP)-ALBANIA IS WILLING TO APPEAR BEFORE THE INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE AT THE HAGUE TO REPLY TO BRITISH CHARGES THAT SHE SOWED MINES IN CORFU CHANNEL. JUL

HER AGREEENT IN THE MATTER WAS MADE PUBLPWRQMBOERDAY AT UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS HERE. BRITAIN FILED THE CASE WITH THE COURT AT THE TIME THE SECURITY COUNCIL RECOMMENDED THAT THE TWO COUNTRIES LET THE INTERNATIONAL BODY SETTLE THEIR DISPUTE. 1947

THE BRITISH MADE THE CHARGES BEFORE THE U.N. SECURITY COUNCIL AFTER TWO BRITISH DESTROYERS WERE DAMAGED BY MINES IN CORFU CHANNEL NEAR ALBANIA LAST OCT.22 AND 44 ROYAL NAVY SAILORS WERE KILLED.

IN AGREEING TO GO TO COURT, ALBANIA STATED THAT HER ACQUIESCENCE AT THIS TIME COULD NOT CONSTITUTE A PRECEDENT FOR THE FUTURE.

IVAN KERNO, U.N. ASSISTANT SECRETARY GENERAL IN CHARGE OF LEGAL AFFAIRS, SAID ALBANIA'S ACCEPTANCE WAS "A GOOD THING FOR THE SECURITY COUNCIL" AND SHOWED "THAT BOTH PARTIES HAVE COMPLIED WITH THE RECOMMENDATION OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL."

ALBANIA'S ACCEPTANCE OF THE JURISDICTION OF THE COURT CAME TWO DAYS AFTER AMERICAN, AUSTRALIAN AND FRENCH DELEGATES IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL DEMANDED THAT ALBANIA SHOW WHY SHE HAD FAILED TO ACCEPT THE SECURITY COUNCIL'S RECOMMENDATION THAT SHE APPEAR BEFORE THE COURT.

DIVISION OF THE PUNJAB HAS BEN ORDERED BY THE ELECTORATE.

XXX ARRESTED.

THE ARMY SAID THE RAILWAY LINE WAS SABOTAGED TONIGHT NEAR BEN YAMINA, SOUTH OF HAIFA, BY A BOMB PLACED ON THE TRACKS. EXTENT OF THE DAMAGE WAS NOT KNOWN.

THREE BRITISH TRANSPORT SHIPS, THE EMPIRE REST, EMPIRE SHELTER AND EMPIRE COMFORT, RETURNED TO HAIFA HARBOR TONIGHT WITHOUT BRINGING ANY JEWISH IMMIGRANTS FROM CYPRUS. THEY WERE AT CYPRUS WAITING TO LOAD LEGAL IMMIGRANTS FROM THE DETENTION CAMPS THERE THIS WEEK WHEN THEIR SISTER SHIP, THE EMPIRE LIFEGUARD, WAS SUNK BY A TIME BOMB AT HAIFA'S DOCK AFTER BRINGING 261 JEWS FROM CYPRUS.

30.24-11163

PARIS, JULY 26-(AP)-THREE BRITISH TRANSPORTS, BEARING 4,500 THWARTED JEWISH IMMIGRANTS BACK FROM PALESTINE, WERE TWO DAYS OVERDUE AT A "FRENCH SEAPORT" ON THE MEDITERRANEAN COAST TODAY AND THE MYSTERY DEEPENED AS TO THEIR WHEREABOUTS.

THE PARIS NEWSPAPER L'INTRANSIGEANT SAID THE JEWS, PASSENGERS ON THE INTERCEPTED PRESIDENT WARFIELD, RENAMED EXODUS OF 1947, WERE BEING TAKEN TO ST.LOUIS, A SMALL PORT NEAR MARSEILLE.

THE PARIS PRESSE HAD A CONTRADICTORY REPORT THAT THE REFUGEES WERE BEING TAKEN TO SETE, 100 MILES WEST OF ST.LOUIS, WHENCE THE IMMIGRANTS SAILED SECRETLY JUST TWO WEEKS AGO ONLY TO ENCOUNTER A BRITISH BOARDING PARTY IN A SEA FIGHT.

REPORTS FROM VILLEFRANCE-SUR-MER, WHERE THE SHIP EARLIER WAS BELIEVED HEADED, SAID THE SUSPICION WAS GROWING THAT THE BRITISH NAVY WAS TAKING THE JEWS TO GENOA, ITALY, FOR RETURN TO GERMANY. BUT THE BRITISH COLONIAL OFFICE IN LONDON SAID THIS WAS NOT TRUE.

FRANCE HAS AGREED TO ACCEPT THE IMMIGRANTS TEMPORARILY AND GIVE THEM "HUMANE TREATEMENT" BUT PREMIER RAMADIER HAS DECLARED THE FRENCH WOULD NOT MAKE THEM GET OFF THE TRANSPORTS.

JEWISH AGENCY REPRESENTATIVES SAID THE JEWS MIGHT STAGE A SITDOWN STRIKE ON THE SHIPS AND DEMAND TO BE TAKEN BACK TO PALESTINE.

JOGJAKARTA, JAVA, JULY 26-(A[illegible]GEN.SOEDIRMAN, COMMANDER OF THE INDONESIAN ARMY, SAID TODAY A DUTCH DRIVE ON THIS REPUBLICAN CAPITAL WAS STALLED FOR THE FOURTH DAY AT SALATIGA, 46 MOUNTAINOUS ROAD MILES NORTH OF JOGJAKARTA.

THE FORMER SCHOOL TEACHER SAID THE INDONESIAN ARMY HAD SUCCEEDED IN CUTTING DUTCH COMMUNICATIONS BETWEEN SALATIGA AND THE JUMP-OFF POINT OF THE NETHERLANDS ARMY DRIVE, DUTCH-HELD SEMARANG ON THE COAST, 30 MILES TO THE NORTH.

(DUTCH OFFICERS IN BATAVIA SAID THE DRIVE IN CENTRAL JAVA WAS ONE OF LIMITED SCOPE, AND THAT NO DECISION HAD BEEN REACHED YET ON WHETHER A FULL-SCALE ASSAULT TOWARD JOGJAKARTA WOULD BE UNDERTAKEN).

SOEDIRMAN ESTIMATED THAT THUS FAR IN THE FIGHTING THE DUTCH HAD LOST 9,000 IN DEAD, WOUNDED AND MISSING. HE SAID NINE BATTALIONS WERE LOST BY THE DUTCH IN THE MAIN SECTORS OF THE JAVA AND SUMATRA FIGHTING.

(A DUTCH COMMUNIQUE TODAY, ISSUED IN BATAVIA, PLACED DUTCH LOSSES UP TO YESTERDAY AT 32 KILLED, 50 WOUNDED AND SEVEN MISSING).

THE INDONESIAN MINISTRY OF INFORMATION HERE SAID THAT IN COASTAL NORTHWEST SUMATRA, REPUBLICAN FORCES HAD PENETRATED PARTS OF MEDAN, THE ISLAND'S LARGEST CITY, AND THAT A MAJOR BATTLE FOR THE CITY WAS TAKING SHAPE. THE INDONESIAN RADIO AT PEMANTIANGSIANTAR SAID PREVIOUSLY THAT MEDAN WAS IN REPUBLICAN HANDS.

IN EAST CENTRAL JAVA, THE REPUBLICANS CLAIMED THE CAPTURE OF MODJOKERTO, A COMMUNICATIONS CENTER 25 MILES SOUTH OF THE ONCE-POWERFUL DUTCH NAVAL BASE AT SOERABAJA. HOWEVER, THEY ADMITTED THAT THE DUTCH DRIVE ALONG THE NORTH COAST WAS PROCEEDING RAPIDLY.

THE REPUBLICAN ARMY COMMUNIQUE REPORTED HEAVY FIGHTING 36 MILES EAST OF THE PORT OF CHERIBON IN NORTHWEST JAVA, AND ONE REPUBLICAN MILITARY SOURCE SAID THE DUTCH ACTUALLY HAD PUSHED EIGHT MILES MORE TO THE EAST, REACHING TEGAL, A PORT CITY.

MODJOKERTO WAS TAKEN IN THE HEAVIEST FIGHTING THUS FAR, THE INDONESIANS SAID. THE INFORMATION MINISTRY SAID THE DUTCH FIGHTER PLANES "TOOK REVENGE BY MACHINEGUNNING THE TOWN."

BATAVIA, JULY 26-(AP)-A NETHERLANDS COMMUNIQUE:

IN THE WEST NETERHLANDS TROOPS REACHED A BRIDGE NEAR LOSARI, SITUATED HALF WAY ALONG THE CHERIBON-TEGAL ROAD (EAST OF CHERIBON).

ON THE NORTH COAST, INDRAMAJOE, 60 KILOMETERS NORTHWEST OF CHERIBON, WAS OCCUPIED.

SOUTH OF BANDOENG, BANDJARAN AND SOREANG, BOTH ABOUT 15 KILOMETERS FROM BANDOENG, WRE CC TEEITH

JUL 1947

FROM BANDOENG, WERE OCCUPIED WITHOUT ANY SONSIDERABLE RESISTANCE.

REPORTS FROM MIDDLE JAVA (SEMARANG AND SALATIGA) STATE INCREASING NUMBERS OF INHABITANTS ARE RETURNING TO THE VILLAGES FROM WHICH THEY PREVIOUSLY WERE DRIVEN.

IN EAST JAVA, THE TOWN OF LAWANG WAS OCCUPIED. SOERABAJA IS ONCE MORECONNECTED OVERLAND WITH OOSTHOEK (EAST JAVA) BY THE PROBOLINGGE ROAD.

INCREASED REPUBLICAN ACTIVITY IS REPORTED FROM THE MODJOKERTO SECTOR.

SUMATRA -- IN THE PALEMBANG AREA, THE CLEARING OF OBSTRUCTIONS AND ROADBLOCKS TEMPORARILY SLOWED DOWN THE ADVANCE. HARDLY ANY RESISTANCE WORTH MENTIONING WAS MET WITH, EXCEPT IN THE KOMMERING RIVER AREA, WHERE IT WAS OVERCOME WITHOUT ANY DIFFICULTY. WITHIN A VERY SHORT TIME ENGINEERS REPAIRED A NUMBER OF DAMAGED BRIDGES.

THE POPULATION EVERYWHERE IS SHOWING A MORE THAN FRIENDLY ATTIDUDE.

SINCE OUR PREVIOUS LIST OF CASUALTIES, THERE WERE NO NETHERLANDS TROOPS KILLED. THE NUMBER OF MISSING REMAINED THE SAME. DURING THE LAST 24 HOURS NINE MEN WERE WOUNDED. TOTAL CASUALTIES TO DATE ARE: KILLED, 32; MISSING, SEVEN; WOUNDED, 50.

JOGJAKARTA, JAVA, JULY 26-(AP)-GENERAL SOEDIRMAN, COMMANDER OF THE INDONESIAN REPUBLICAN ARMY, SAID AT A NEWS CONFERENCE TODAY DUTCH CASUALTIES NOW TOTALED 9,000.

SHANGHAI, JULY 26-(AP)-THE CHINESE PRESS, SEVERELY CRITICAL FROM THE FIRST OF DUTCH MILITARY OPERATIONS AGAINST THE INDONESIANS, LASHED OUT AT THE DUTCH ANEW TODAY.

CHUNG HWA SHIH PAO, ORGAN OF THE YOUNG CHINA PARTY, COMMENTED EDITORIALLY THAT "WE SINCERELY HOPE AND PRAY THAT THE INDONESIAN PEOPLE WILL GAIN ULTIMATE VICTORY."

JUL 1947

THE INFLUENTIAL INDEPENDENT TA KUNG PAO SAID THAT "IN THIS AGE, THE COLONIAL SYSTEM CAN NO LONGER EXIST" AND CONDEMNED THE DUTCH ACTION AS "A GRAVE MISTAKE WHICH MADE THE NETHERLANDS RESPONSIBLE FOR UNDERMINING PEACE."

"WE ARE AFRAID THE DESIRE OF THE NETHERLANDS TO PRESERVE INDONESIA AS A DUTCH COLONY CANNOT BE REALIZED," TA KUNG PAO ADDED.

KARUIZAWA, JAPAN, JULY 26-(AP)-NEARLY 500 MORE GERMANS WILL BE REPATRIATED FROM JAPAN IN MID-AUGUST--AND THEIR GOING WILL CAUSE NO SORROW AMONG THE JAPANESE WITH WHOM THEY ONCE PLANNED TO SHARE THE WORLD.

NEXT MONTH.S CONSIGNMENT INCLUDES 140 GERMAN EMBASSY OFFICIALS, AMONG THEM FORMER AMBASSADOR HEINRICH STAHMER; 198 "OBJECTIONABLE" GERMANS, MANY OF THEM NAZI PARTY MEMBERS; AND 144 "NON-OBJECTIONABLE" GERMANS.

THIS GROUP WILL BE THE SECOND TO LEAVE JAPAN. SOME 1,200 ALREADY HAVE BEEN REPATRIATED. BETWEEN 1,000 AND 1,500 WILL REMAIN TO BE SENT HOME.

MAYOR TSUNEO SATO OF THIS MOUNTAIN RESORT TOWN NEAR TOKYO IN WHICH SOME 20 GERMANS ARE LIVING, SAID IN AN INTERVIEW HE WOULD BE DELIGHTED WHEN THE GERMANS LEFT.

"THE JAPANESE DO NOT LIKE THEM," HE SAID, EXPLAINING THAT THE GERMANS WERE ARROGANT.

SATO OBSERVED THAT THE GERMANS--WHO DRAW SUPPLEMENTARY FOREIGNERS' RATIONS, INCLUDING MEAT, BUTTER, BREAD, FLOUR AND SUGAR--COMPLAIN BITTERLY ABOUT THEIR TREATMENT.

"THEY WERE DEFEATED ALSO," THE MAYOR REMARKED. "THEY SHOULD BE WILLING TO SHARE THE CONSEQUENCES."

SATO SAID MOST OF THE GERMANS HERE WANTED TO REMAIN. THEY TOLDD HIM, HE SAID, THAT THEY WERE AWARE OF CONDITIONS IN GERMANY.

ON THE OTHER HAND, ONE GERMAN SCHEDULED TO BE REPATRIATED--A NAZI PARTY MEMBER AND ONE OF THE GERMAN EMBASSY STAFF--DECLARED MANY OF HIS COUNTRYMEN WISHED TO GO BACK TO AID IN GERMAN REHABILITATION AND RECONSTRUCTION.

TOKYO, JULY 26-(AP)-DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER HERBERT V.EVATT OF AUSTRALIA FLEW HERE TODAY FROM OSAKA AND WAS GREETED AT THE AIRPORT BY GENERAL MACARTHUR WITH A "WE ARE DELIGHTED TO HAVE YOU HERE."

EVATT AND HIS PARTY CAME IN MACARTHUR'S PERSONAL PLANE, "BATAAN". THE SUPREME COMMANDER ARRIVED AT THE AIRPORT AS THE PLANE WAS TAXIING TO A PARKING PLACE.

EVATT IS IN JAPAN TO CHECK THE PROGRESS OF THE OCCUPATION.

WITH EVATT WERE MRS.EVATT, LT.GEN.H.C.H.ROBERTSON, COMMANDER OF BRITISH OCCUPATION FORCES, AND W.MACMAHON BALL, BRITISH COMMONWEALTH MEMBER OF THE ALLIED COUNCIL FOR JAPAN. MRS,MACARTHUR ACCOMPANIED HER HUSBAND TO THE AIRPORT TO GREET THE PARTY.

EVATT AND HIS WIFE WERE SCHEDULED TO LUNCH AT MACARTHUR'S EMBASSY RESIDENCE AND THEN DINE TONIGHT WITH BALL.

ALSO IN THE GREETING PARTY WERE GEORGE ACHESON, JR., AMERICAN AMBASSADOR AND CHAIRMAN OF THE ALLIED COUNCIL; A.D.F.GASCOIGNE, CHIEF OF THE UNITED KINGDOM LIAISON MISSION; SIR WILLIAM WEBB, CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE INTERNATIONAL TRIBUNAL, AND E.H.NORMAN, HEAD OF THE CANADIAN MISSION TO JAPAN.

TOKYO,JULY 26 (AP)-AUSTRALIAN DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER H.V.EVATT MET TOP MILITARY AND DIPLOMATIC OFFICIALS IN TOKYO, INCLUDING THE PRINCIPAL SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE, DURING SOCIAL ENGAGEMENTS TODAY.

THE AUSTRALIAN WILL REST TOMORROW AND BEGIN HIS ROUND OF OFFICIAL CONFERENCES MONDAY WHEN HE IS SCHEDULED TO VISIT GENERAL MACARTHUR AT HIS OFFICE.

EVATT MET LT.GEN.KUZMA DEREVYANKO, SOVIET REPRESENTATIVE ON THE ALLIED COUNCIL FOR JAPAN, DURING A FORMAL DINNER GIVEN BY W.MACMAHON BALL, BRITISH COMMONWEALTH REPRESENTATIVE ON THE COUNCIL. OTHER COUNCIL MEMBERS AND DIPLOMATS ATTENDED.

GENERAL MACARTHUR ENTERTAINED AT A LUNCHEON FOR LEADING AMERICAN AND AUSTRALIAN OFFICIALS. EVATT REMARKED TO CONFIDANTES LATER THAT HE CONSIDERED THE AFFAIR A TRIBUTE TO AUSTRALIA AS WELL AS A REUNION WITH MACARTHUR, WHOM HE HAD NOT SEEN SINCE 14.

JUL 1947

MACARTHUR, WHOM HE HAD NOT SEEN SINCE 1944.

THE TWO MEN BECAME WELL ACQUAINTED WHILE MACARTHUR WAS DIRECTING FIGHTING FROM AUSTRALIAN HEADQUARTERS.

EVATT AND MRS.EVATT WILL VISIT A JAPANESE KABUKI PLAYHOUSE TOMORROW. MRS.EVATT, A DIRECTOR OF THE SYDNEY ACADEMY OF ARTS, HAS EXPRESSED A DESIRE TO SEE A JAPANESE DRAMA.

WASHINGTON, JULY 26-(AP)-HOUSE CONSIDERATION OF A BILL TO REQUIRE THAT ALL MEMBERS OF THE COMMUNIST PARTY IN THE UNITED STATES REGISTER WITH THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT AS FOREIGN AGENTS WAS BLOCKED TODAY BY REP. MARCANTONIO (AL-NY).

CHAIRMAN WOODRUFF (R-MICH) OF THE HOUSE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE ASKED FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT TO BRING THE BILL, SPONSORED BY REP. MUNDT (R-SD) BEFORE THE HOUSE.

MARCANTONIO OBJECTED THAT "THE BILL DOES VIOLENCE TO EVERY DEMOCRTIC CONCEPT, AND I MUST FIGHT IT AT EVERY STEP."

WASHINGTON,JULY 26-(AP)-SENATOR CHAVEZ (D-NM) TOLD THE SENATE TODAY HE IS PRETTY SURE THAT "LAW AND ORDER WOULD BE MUCH BETTER SERVED" IN PALESTINE IF THE BRITISH WERE FORCED TO GET OUT, LEAVING THE JEWS AND ARABS TO SETTLE THEIR OWN AFFAIRS.

IN A BLAST AT WHAT HE CALLED THE "NUMEROUS IMPERIALISMS RAMPANT IN THE WORLD," CHAVEZ SINGLED OUT THE DUTCH AS WELL AS THE BRITISH AND SAID BOTH ARE USING AMERICAN LEND-LEASE EQUIPMENT IN INDONESIA AND PALESTINE.

JUL 1947

"IT IS OUR MONEY, OUR ARMAMENTS, IT IS OUR EQUIPMENT THAT ARE BEING USED FOR THE SUBJUGATION OF PEOPLES WHO DESERVE FREEDOM AND INDEPENDENCE IN NO LESS DEGREE THAN WE DESERVE THEM OURSELVES," HE SAID.

AS FOR THE SITUATION IN PALESTINE, CHAVEZ SAID:

"PEACE AND ORDER WOULD BE BETTER SERVED NOT ONLY IN PALESTINE ALONE BUT THE WORLD OVER IF THE BRITISH WERE ONCE AND FOR ALL COMPELLED TO WITHDRAW FROM PALESTINE, AND IF THAT COUNTRY WOULD AT LONG LAST BE OPENED TO ITS RIGHTFUL OWNERS, THE HEBREW PEOPLE, FOR THEM TO REBUILD THE HOLY LAND AS THEIR FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATE."

WASHINGTON,JULY 26-(AP)-A TWO-YEAR EXTENSION OF THE GOVERNMENT SUBSIDY UPON PRODUCTION OF COPPER, ZINC AND LEAD WON SENATE APPROVAL TONIGHT WITH MANGANESE TO BE ADDED TO THE PROGRAM. THE MEASURE NOW GOES TO THE WHITE HOUSE.

BY A VOICE VOTE THE SENATE ACCEPTED WITHOUT CHANGE HOUSE-APPROVED LEGISLATION EXTENDING THE PREMIUM PAYMENT PLAN UNTIL JUNE 30, 1949 AND AUTHORIZING USE OF $70,000,000 OF FUNDS BY THE RECONSTRUCTION FINANCE CORPORATION TO MAKE THE PAYMENTS.

CHAIRMAN MILLIKIN (R-COLO) OF THE SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE TOLD THE SENATE THAT THE TWO-YEAR EXTENSION IS NECESSARY TO AVOID CLOSING DOWN OF A LARGE NUMBER OF "MARGINAL AND HIGH-COST MINES."

HE SAID THE AMOUNT OF PAYMENTS WILL BE DETERMINED BY THE SECRETARY OF COMMERCE ON THE BASIS OF 52 MONTHS EXPERIENCE UNTIL THE PLAN EXPIRED LAST JUNE 30. METALS MINED SINCE THEN WOULD SHARE IN THE PREMIUM PLAN. THE PAYMENTS, MILLIKIN ADDED, MUST BE "TAILORED" TO STAY WITHIN THE $35,000,000 YEARLY ALLOWANCE.

MANGANESE WAS ADDED TO THE PREMIUM PLAN ON THE HOUSE FLOOR AND MILLIKIN SAID IT IS ESTIMATED THIS WILL REQUIRE $1,500,000 OF THE PREMIUM FUNDS THE FIRST YEAR AND $3,000,000 THE SECOND.

MILLIKIN SAID THE PROGRAM TO AVOID "DANGEROUS DEPENDENCE" UPON FOREIGN SOURCES.

WASHINGTON,JULY 26-(AP)-ARMY AIR FORCES OFFICIALS SAID TODAY THAT WHILE THE ORGANIZATIONAL STRENGTH OF THE AIR ARM IS BEING BUILT TOWARD AN ULTIMATE 55-GROUP FORCE A MANPOWER SHORTAGE WILL PREVENT ATTAINMENT OF FULLY EFFECTIVE STRENGTH FOR SOME TIME.

IT IS HOPED THAT THE 55 GROUPS WILL BE IN EXISTENCE BY THE END OF THE YEAR BUT, AAF OFFICIALS TOLD A REPORTER, THIS DOES NOT MEAN THAT THOSE UNITS WILL HAVE ENOUGH MANPOWER BY THEN TO PUT THEM AT ANYTHING LIKE FULL COMBAT EFFECTIVENESS. PRESENT STRENGTH OF THE AAF IS ABOUT 310,000 MEN AND OFFICERS.

IT IS RECALLED THAT THE STRATEGIC AIR COMMAND RECENTLY WAS ABLE TO PUT ONLY ABOUT 130 B-29S INTO THE AIR FOR A MASS "RAID" ON THE EAST COAST, ALTHOUGH IT HAD ON HAND MANY TIMES NUMBER OF SUPERFORTRESSES.

THE 55-GROUP FORCE IS A FIGURE SCALED DOWN BY ECONOMY REQUIREMENTS FROM THE ORIGINAL PROPOSAL OF THE AAF FOR AN INTERIM FORCE OF 70 COMBAT GROUPS.

JUL 1947

THE AAF SAID TODAY THAT 36 GROUPS ARE NOW OPERATING. INCLUDED ARE EIGHT GROUPS OF "VERY HEAVY BOMBARDMENT" AIRCRAFT OF THE B-29 TYPE, THREE LIGHT BOMBER GROUPS, TWO TACTICAL RECONNAISSANCE, ONE LONG RANGE MAPPING GROUP, ONE LONG RANGE PHOTO RECONNAISSANCE AND SIX TROOP CARRIER GROUPS. SEVENTEEN OF THESE UNITS ARE WITHIN THE UNITED STATES, WITH THE REMAINDER STATIONED OVERSEAS.

THE PHYSICAL CHANGEOVER OF THE ARMY AIR FORCES INTO THE "UNITED STATES AIR FORCE", AN AUTONOMOUS ORGANIZATION, UNDER THE UNIFICATION BILL SIGNED TODAY BY PRESIDENT TRUMAN, WILL BE A SLOW, DELIBERATE PROCESS, OFFICIALS SAID. PRESERVATION OF AAF EFFICIENCY DURING THE CONVERSION IS A MAJOR GOAL, IT WAS ASSERTED.

SUPPLEMENTARY LEGISLATION TO SUPPLY NEW RATINGS OF ENLISTED PERSONNEL IN THE USAF, NOW BEING PREPARED, IS ONE OF THE MANY DETAILS TO BE WORKED OUT. WHILE ONE SUGGESTION IS THAT ENLISTED MEN AND NONCOMMISSIONED PERSONNEL BE GIVEN VARIOUS RATINGS OF "AIR MEN" THIS HAS NOT BEEN FINALLY AGREED UPON, IT WAS SAID. THE AAF SAID THAT NO CHANGE IN UNIFORM "IS ANTICIPATED," ALTHOUGH THERE HAVE BEEN REPORTS THAT EVENTUALLY SUCH CHANGES WOULD BE MADE.

THE USAF WILL HAVE ITS OWN PERSONNEL ORGANIZATION, INCLUDING A SEPARATE PROMOTION LIST FOR OFFICERS.

MEN PRESENTLY ASSIGNED TO THE ARMY AIR FORCES OR UNDER CONTROL OF THE AAF HEADQUARTERS WILL BE CONTINUED UNDER CONTROL OF THE CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE USAF, IRRESPECTIVE OF THE BRANCH IN WHICH THEY ARE PRESENTLY COMMISSIONED OR ASSIGNED. UNDER THE PRESENT SETUP SOME PERSONNEL FROM OTHER BRANCHES, SUCH AS THE SIGNAL CORPS AND ORDNANCE DEPARTMENT, HAVE BEEN ATTACHED TO THE ARMY AIR FORCES.

WHILE THE USAF WILL DO ITS OWN PROCURING OF AIRCRAFT AND OTHER ITEMS OF PECULIAR NEED TO THE AIR ARM, OFFICIALS SAID THAT OTHER MATERIAL WHICH ALSO IS USED BY MORE THAN ONE BRANCH OF THE ARMED FORCES WOULD CONTINUE TO BE PURCHASED BY WHATEVER ORGANIZATION HAS THE PRIMARY INTEREST IN THE ITEM.

WASHINGTON, JULY 26-(AP)-REP.FULTON (R-PA), A MEMBER OF THE HOUSE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE, INTRODUCED TODAY A MEASURE DESIGNED TO KEEP CONGRESS POSTED ON SECRET AGREEMENTS BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND OTHER NATIONS.

UNDER HIS PROPOSAL, WHICH WILL NOT COME UP FOR ACTION UNTIL CONGRESS RECONVENES, A SEVEN-MEMBER HOUSE SPECIAL COMMITTEE WOULD BE CREATED WITH POWER TO STUDY:

"EXECUTIVE AGREEMENTS, WRITTEN OR ORAL, MADE BY THE PRESIDENT OR X X X EXECUTIVE BRANCH OF THE GOVERNMENT WITH THE CHIEF OF STATE X X X OF ANY FOREIGN NATION WITHOUT THE AUTHORIZATION OR KNOWLEDGE OF THE CONGRESS WHICH BIND, COMMIT OR OBLIGATE THE UNITED STATES TO ANY FOREIGN NATION X X X ."

FULTON TOLD NEWSMEN THE BILL IS DESIGNED TO PROVIDE A CONTINUING CHEC[illegible]N [illegible]AT HAPPENS AT INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCES. HE SAID THE MEA[illegible]LD ALLOW THE PROPOSED COMMITTEE TO GO THROUGH THE COR[illegible]NCE OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

LIBERIA GETS PORT AS BIRTHDAY GIFT

JUL 1947

Washington, July 26 (A. P.).—Little Liberia celebrated its 100th anniversary as a sovereign State today—receiving an $18,000,000 modern harbor from the United States as a birthday gift.

Three ships of a naval detachment which took an American delegation to Monrovia, the capital, were the first deep water vessels to enter the city's new port, the State Department reported.

Built with lend-lease funds, the harbor is expected to open a new era of economic development for the West African republic established by Negro slaves freed in the United States before the civil war.

Officials reporting the harbor job as virtually complete explained that the port's operation revenues are earmarked for eventual repayment of the cost and the Unites States expects to profit from assurances of ready access to such strategic materials as rubber and vegetable oils.. Another wartime American gift to Liberia was the country's only highway, built largely by the Army Air Forces.

Brig.-Gen. Benjamin Davis, sole Negro general officer in the United States Army, heads the American delegation to the centenary celebration at Monrovia.

WEST JAVA THREATENED WITH FIRE

Indonesians Say They Will Burn Rich Dutch Plantations

Batavia, Java, July 27 (AP)—The Indonesians threatened tonight to transform the rich plantations of western Java into "roaring oceans of fire," as the Dutch announced that Netherlands troops with tank and plane support had sealed off that end of the island.

Members of the plantation workers union resolved to fire 500 rubber, quinine, tea and coffee plantations in western Java if the Dutch moved against these estates, the Indonesian news agency Antara said.

Ten Years For Restoration

Soeparno, a union official, was quoted as saying if these estates were set afire the Dutch would have to send more than 500,000 laborers from The Netherlands and work for more than ten years to restore production. He added:

"Let no Dutchman nurse the illusion he will ever find his plantations and estates in an undamaged condition."

While the Dutch tightened their grip on the western end of the island, other units quickly expanded their bridgehead on the northern coast by occupying Tegal, 175 miles southeast of Batavia, a Dutch communiqué said. In this operation Dutch Marines went ashore and joined with army units which had thrust overland from the west.

Described As City Of Ashes

But the Indonesians implied the Dutch victory there was a costly one as far as the wealth of the island was concerned, adding that Dutch troops found Tegal, an important Java port, had been transformed into a city of ashes as part of the republic's scorched-earth policy. The Indonesians claimed that heavy fighting still was going on in the neighboring city of Brebes, on the Cheribon-Tegal road.

Both sides accused their opponents of violating principles of humane warfare. The Dutch communiqué said the Republican forces, counterattacking with artillery support near the village of Genoeksari in the Semarang area of the central front, had used Indonesian women as shields.

The bulletin added that the Republican troops there were "repulsed with losses" and the Dutch struck out in a movement to clear the area on the distant approaches to the Republican capital of Jogjakarta.

Charge Dum-Dum Bullet Use

An Indonesian communiqué said two Dutch fighter planes, strafing the east-central front communications center of Malang, had used dum-dum bullets.

The Indonesians also announced that in East Java, 25 miles south of the port of Probolinggo, American-trained Dutch marines and Indonesian units were fighting in the town of Loemadjang. The Indonesian report accused the Dutch of killing all Indonesians wearing colored shirts resembling those of army uniforms.

In this region, the Dutch were consolidating their hold on eastern Java, which they pinched off three days ago.

Orders Three Ports Opened

Faced with the scorched-earth tactics of the Indonesians, the Dutch announced steps to get to world markets the great stores of raw materials captured by Netherlands troops.

The Netherlands Navy ordered the Java ports of Cheribon, Probolinggo and Banjoewangi—all three occupied by Dutch troops—opened to normal trade Monday, January regulations under which all ships were forced to submit to inspection by the Dutch before entering these ports now are abrogated, the announcement said.

Simultaneously the Dutch Navy slammed the door shut on all sea traffic along the east coast of Sumatra between Amphitrite Bay and Langea Bay. A blockade was declared there to halt the smuggling of arms to republican forces, a communiqué said.

[In editorial comment in the Soviet press, one writer, A. Belskaya, charged that the United States and Britain were supporting the Dutch by arms, military missions and diplomatic pressure on the Indonesian republic to submit to Dutch demands.]

Cut Off From Sumatra

The Dutch seal-off of western Java came when a motorized force sped 25 miles southwest of Soekaboemi and reached Palaboehanratoe on Wijnkoops Bay, a Netherlands army communiqué said. This move divided the Republican forces on Java from those battling the Dutch on Sumatra.

Just to the east Dutch units 20 miles south of Bandoeng seized the power station at Pengalengan, the bulletin said.

Dutch occupying detachments were withdrawn from Soekalaja and Tjitjalengka, burned-over towns 15 miles southeast and 15 miles east of Bandoeng, respectively. The Dutch said no resistance was met at either place before the withdrawal. The Republican radio said yesterday, however, that Indonesian troops had retaken both towns.

Further Drive Hinted

A hint that the Dutch might be planning to extend still further their North Coast holdings was contained in a Republican communiqué which said Dutch vessels had approached the port of Rembang, approximately half way between Semarang and Soerabaja.

The Indonesians said the Dutch were suffering heavy losses in the area just east of Semarang where Republican troops were pictured as pouring artillery and small-arms fire against an opposing Netherlands force consisting of two infantry battalions supported by four tanks, three aircraft and armored cars.

Recounting the fighting in eastern Java, a Dutch announcement said a Netherlands task force thrust nine miles south from Lawang to Singosari and rescued a large number of Chinese hostages carried off by the republican army. Lawang is 18 miles northeast of Malang.

This communiqué indicated the Dutch army was not in Malang.

Republican informants in Jogjakarta said, however, that the Dutch were pressing closer to Malang and the loss of the city was considered almost a certainty. Travelers who left Malang yesterday morning by train said the Dutch were not yet in the city.

Medan, largest city in Sumatra, has fallen to republican troops, a high Indonesian military source said. The informant added that the road between Medan and the Dutch-held Port of Belawan, fifteen miles away, had been cut off.

The Dutch claim they have a 25-mile bridgehead in the Medan area.

Little Hard Fighting Observed As Dutch Advance In Java

[This dispatch, presenting a Dutch viewpoint of fighting in Indonesia, was written by a veteran Dutch newspaperman who has been accompanying the Dutch Army since hostilities began a week ago.]

By HANS MARTINOT

With Dutch Forces Beyond Cheribon, Java, July 27 (AP)—I have seen virtually no hard fighting during this past week as I accompanied Dutch forces which pushed from Bandoeng through the beautiful, cloud-capped Preanger Mountains up to Cheribon, where tonight they are fanned out far down the coast of northwest Java.

Along the Bandoeng-Cheribon road, which Indonesian coolies built at the order of Governor General Dafdels nearly a century ago, there are only a few cars of war.

Seven Blackened Homes

I noticed two wrecked automobiles with republican license plates, three burning carriages and at Soemedand, a little mountain village in the area of many sugar factories, seven blackened, wrecked homes.

There were no bodies along the road.

At the end of the road—at Cheribon—the Indonesian army did not have time to put its scorched earth policy into effect. There still was warm rice on the table when Dutch soldiers burst into what had been a republican barracks.

Dutch troops slashed in against the town from three sides so swiftly that not a stone was damaged and losses on both sides were light. A sniper hiding in a tree killed one Dutch officer. Five others died when mines blew up while they were clearing a road.

Less Than 100 On Other Side

On the Indonesian side, Dutch officers told me, less than 100 were killed here.

Before coming here to the Cheribon front I was with the forces which took Soekaboemi. Not one Dutch soldier was killed taking the important railway station there. Six republicans were killed.

A few hours before the Dutch entered, the republicans gave a frightening example of what the scorched earth policy can mean. Chinese stores and homes were the particular target—why I do not know, but I personally confirmed it.

Rubber and sugar storehouses were flaming. Three thousand Chinese lost everything but their lives.

Other Fiery Indications

Elsewhere tonight there are other fiery indications of the scorched earth.

The flames have not yet died out in Sindang Laout, an important sugar factory a few miles outside Cheribon. There were fires in Tegal, 40 miles east of Cheribon, which a Dutch motorized unit captured late yesterday afternoon.

It is difficult to tell what the reaction of the people is. They do not appear hostile. Little children cheered the Dutch soldiers, perhaps because the soldiers threw them candy from their rations.

Several elderly men and women, with Javanese courtesy, offered gifts of fruit. But what the people feel beneath the surface remains uncertain.

Crops Given Good Care

This rice bowl area of northwest Java is in excellent condition. Crops are well planted and the soil shows signs of good care. A Dutch civil official claimed that many of Cheribon's officials were willing to co-operate.

A local sultan at Cheribon proudly pulled out his ceremonial carriage, a multi-colored wooden horse on four wheels, and showed it to soldiers, simultaneously describing how he had been held prisoner by the republicans for six days for "underground activities."

Chinese stores already have been reopened. Two British-captained vessels in port sailed on orders from Dutch authorities.

After carrying out reconnaissances, occupying detachments were withdrawn from Mayalaya and Chichalengka in connection with fresh duties elsewhere. Our occupation met no resistance and we suffered no losses.

Communications were restored between Purwakarta and Jikalong Wetan.

Middle Java: Together with marine landing parties our troops occupied Tegal.

Republican groups carried out an attack near Genuksari in the eastern part of the occupied area around Semarang. The attackers used Indonesian women as a shield. They were repulsed with losses. Subsequently our troops carried out a clearing sweep in this area where they were somewhat hampered by Republican artillery fire.

East Java: Netherlands troops were dispatched from Lawang, thirty kilometers northeast of Malang, to Singosari, fifteen kilometers further toward Lawang to rescue a large number of Chinese that were carried off from Lawang and interned at Singosari. The expedition was completely successful.

Constant reports of Japanese in the service of the Netherlands side are without any foundation in fact.

Total Netherlands casualties up to and including July 26 are forty-one killed, seventy-five wounded, and eight missing. These figures also include several delayed reports.

Indonesian

BATAVIA, Java, July 27 (AP)—Indonesian Republican Army Communique:

East Java: July 26, Malang was attacked from the air by two fighters with dum-dum bullets.

July 27, Lumajan was attacked from land fightings. In the town everyone wearing a colored shirt was taken prisoner and killed. The Moslem way of greeting with the fingers was prohibited.

The Dutch approached the harbor of Rembang.

Central Java: July 27, at the station of Grumbung east of Semarang fighting is going on with two battalions, four tanks, forty trucks and some armored cars. Losses of the enemy are not few, not only because of our small arms fire but also on account of artillery fire. The Dutch supported by tanks and three planes attacked Kedungjati. From the air Karangawen was machine gunned by four planes. Tegal was set afire.

West Java: Ardjuna and Chitatang were attacked from the air. Sindangwangi north of Chichalengka was reoccupied by us.

A later Indonesian Communique:

East Java: July 26, in Singosary severe fighting was taking place as mentioned previously. Dawarblangong at 8:15 A. M. was attacked by 800 enemy soldiers and an armored unit.

At 7:00 P. M. the enemy was driven back and pursued by the Indonesians.

At Gempolkerep and Gembong there was fighting.

South of Mojokerto at Brangkal Indonesians resume the attack July 27. In the Sutji area west of Surabaya the Dutch attack and we resist with artillery support. At 3:00 P. M. Grissee is shelled by Dutch warships for two hours. Our casualties are three severely injured, two slightly injured and several houses and buildings damaged.

Central Java: July 27, the Dutch attempt to check the Indonesian drive to Semarang from the east. This attempt was supported from the air and sea. Tanks support the Dutch on land.

The Dutch are active in operations to encircle Tegal. Troops to this end are called up from Jatibarang.

There is fighting at Slawi.

Sumatra: July 23, our troops engage the Dutch at Kali Itik. The Dutch strength is six tanks and three truckloads of infantry.

One Indonesian automobile is shot up by a Dutch gun and the Dutch retreat to Lam Butih.

July 26, we are successful in a push toward Padang. Tanah Bengkok is recaptured.

Java Communiques

Netherland

BATAVIA, Java, July 27 (AP)—Netherlands Army communique:

West Java: Our troops occupied Palabuhanratu in Wijnkoops Bay, forty kilometers southwest of Sukabumi and the power station of Lamajang near Pengalengan, thirty kilometers south of Bandung.

No bridges in the road to Palabuhanratu were damaged. Heavier resistance than usual was met at the occupation of the Lamajang power station. To all appearances the power station was undamaged.

Britain, Reds Break Off TradePact Negotiations

London Unable to Guarantee 'Certain Heavy Goods,' Moscow Reports.

LONDON, July 27 — (AP) The Moscow radio said tonight British-Soviet trade negotiations in Moscow had broken off because Great Britain could not guarantee the delivery of certain heavy goods and because the negotiators could not agree on credit terms.

The broadcast, heard here by the Soviet monitor under difficult radio listening conditios, indicated the heavy goods in question were rails and pipe.

The radio denied reports that the price of grain, which the British sought from Russia, was the cause of the trade conference breakdown, declaring that the British and Russian negotiators agreed on a price for grain which was less than Britain now pays to Argentina or Canada for grain.

Reds Seek Easier Terms

The Soviet Union proposed a reduction in interest rates on 1941 credits to one-half of one per cent per year and the prolongation of payments to 15 years from the beginning repayments—that is, from 1944—the radio said.

These terms, the broadcaster said, were "no worse than those which Great Britain only recently granted to France on the prolongation of the war-time debt."

"The British side rejected a compromise proposal of the Soviet side on these questions," the broadcast said. "In order to reach an agreement, the Soviet side withdrew its proposals for a prolongation of credits already granted and proposed only half this sum should be prolonged, agreeing to preserve the previous period of repayment for the other half.

"The British side rejected this proposal also and proposed only one-quarter of the credits should be prolonged, which was clearly unacceptable to the Soviet side."

Another reason for the breakdown, the radio said, was the "lack of a guarantee the British government would ensure delivery to the Soviet Union of certain heavy goods in the amounts stated."

Russia is known to want machinery from Britain, in exchange for wheat, other foods, and timber.

British sources said they had no information on the reason the talks stalled, and it was uncertain here whether they might resume later.

Harold Wilson, chief of the British trade mission which went to Moscow to conclude the pact, previously was quoted as saying agreement was not reached "on the financial question" involved.

European Coal Crisis Expected To Last Until '49

Agency Official Says U. S. Will Be Called On to Fill the Gap if Dollars Last

LONDON, July 27 (AP).—Europe's fuel situation may be "not quite so critical" next winter as last, but emergency imports of American coal—if there are dollars to pay for them—probably will be needed until 1949, a European Coal Organization official said today.

"If the Marshall plan works, Europe probably will want all of the 36,000,000 to 40,000,000 tons of coal that could be delivered from the United States in 1948," the coal organization official said at an interview. "Only by '49, if the coal production problems of Germany and Britain have been solved in the meantime, can we expect a reduction in the demand for United States shipments."

The official, who asked not to be identified by name but who is close to top-level planning in the eighteen-nation E. C. O., stressed that his calculations for next winter did not include possibilities of increased coal output from the German Ruhr, soon to be discussed by the United States and Britain at Washington.

The only factors in his forecast, he said, were the present level of American coal exports to Europe, which reached a record of more than 3,200,000 tons in June, and a similar upward trend on a smaller scale of coal exports from Poland. If both trends hold, he said, E. C. O. officials think the position in most European countries at the Oct. 1 start of the fuel winter should be "slightly better" than at the same time last year.

If the dollars are available, a level of 3,000,000 tons a month or better is envisaged from now at least until March, 1948, "and probably for the rest of the calendar year," he added.

For the eighteen months he estimated the European importers, biggest of which are France and Italy, would need about $1,000,000,000 to pay for the American coal at about $20 to $22 a ton, delivered.

The E. C. O., a voluntary allocation organization formed soon after victory in 1945 to meet Europe's fuel emergency, goes out of existence Jan. 1, but its functions are to be taken over by the United Nations European Economic Commission at Geneva.

Russia Grants Credit For Albanian Buying

London, July 27 (AP)—Moscow announced today "a small credit" to Albania for the purchase of light industrial equipment and agricultural machinery.

Col. Gen. Enver Hoxha, the Communist Premier of Albania, has been conferring in Moscow. A Tass communiqué said "an exchange of opinion took place also on other questions of interest for the Soviet Union and Albania" prior to Hoxha's departure yesterday.

"In view of the great destruction and heavy losses wrought upon Albania by the Italian and German Fascist invaders and meeting the request of the Albanian Government to render Albania economic and other assistance, the Soviet Government has given Albania a small credit, on account of which the Soviet Government will supply Albania with equipment for light industry and agricultural machinery," the communiqué said.

The agreement was the latest of several recently reached between eastern European states and the Soviet Union and among the eastern states themselves, in apparent furtherance of what some observers in London have called a "Molotov plan" to offset the Marshall proposals in western Europe.

DE GAULLE ASSAILS REDS' POWER BID

RENNES, France, July 27—(AP) Gen. Charles de Gaulle said today that Russia was responsible for the "alarming" world situation and charged French Communists with "exclusively" serving Moscow orders.

Russia, he said in an address here, dominates a bloc of 400,000,000 people bordering on Sweden, Turkey and Italy and whose frontier "is only 500 kilometers (300 miles) from ours."

Assails Russia

"Combining her military and economic pressure with the interior action of men who are entirely submissive to her," de Gaulle said, "Soviet Russia has already established, or is trying to establish by intermediaries, a regime of totalitarian dictatorship, which is only the dependence and emanation of its own, on certain allied nations—Poland, Yugoslavia, Albania—or on certain defeated countries—Prussia, Saxony, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria."

He added that Russia "holds at her discretion Czechoslovakia, Finland, Romania and Poland."

De Gaulle accused French Communist of sponsoring strikes and playing class against class in France and her empire, "while our future is engaged in a very dangerous international duel and, by force, an enormous eastern bloc is forming in Europe."

He declared that the French Communist party was made up of men "who have taken a vow of obedience to the orders of a foreign enterprise of domination, directed by the masters of a grand slave power. Their end is to rise to dictatorship in our country, as their counterparts have been able to do elsewhere with the support of that power."

He appealed for recruits to join his national unity movement, the rally of the French people, which he said he had formed in order that France might obtain a solution of the German problems and also take the leadership "of those who wish to remake Europe in equilibrium and freedom."

Service in Belgium Held for G. I. Dead

5,600 in Cemetery To Be Returned to U. S.

HENRI-CHAPELLE, Belgium, July 27 (AP).—A symbolic farewell to the fallen American soldiers of World War II was expressed today in a benediction ceremony on the eve of the first exhumation project to be carried out on European soil.

Premier Paul-Henri Spaak and other Belgian dignitaries addressed a gathering of their countrymen who assembled at the military cemetery in Henri-Chapelle, where 17,319 Americans are buried. They carried flowers to their adopted tombs and then listened while high-ranking Belgian officials expressed the nation's gratitude and affection for the American heroes.

After 5,600 of the bodies have been exhumed and sent back to the United States, others from cemeteries scattered throughout the Continent will take their place, as Henri-Chapelle is destined to remain one of the ten permanent American military cemeteries in Europe.

Premier Spaak told the gathering, "The American bodies buried in our soil will be taken care of with the same feelings of affection that they would receive if they were buried in the States."

ALBANIAN 'PLOT' OF ARMY LEADERS REPORTED NIPPED

ATHENS, July 27.—(AP) Greek government circles said today a report had been received from Ioannina that a plot involving about 1,200 officers and soldiers of the Albanian army had been discovered and squelched.

There was no precise information as to the aims of the plotters, but informants said they were believed to be opposed to Col. Gen. Enver Hoxha, the Communist premier of Albania. A member of parliament named Radoviskika was described as the leader of the alleged plot. He was an underground resistance leader during the war.

Report Arrests Made

The report received here said arrests had been made and that troops had been confined behind barbed wire.

Meanwhile, a Greek liaison officer with the United Nations Balkan investigation subcommission arrived in Athens and declared that "after hearing witnesses and visiting yesterday the invasion points near Konitsa, the commission—with the exception of the Soviet and Polish delegates—is perfectly satisfied that the recent invasion (of Greece) was organized and supported in Yugoslavia and Albania."

He said a report to that effect would be submitted shortly to the UN security council.

Reports from the Second Greek Army Corps said a Communist band trapped near Verdicoussa on Mount Hassia, in Thessaly, had been decimated, with 40 dead counted, including the band's leader, and 22 prisoners taken.

Military authorities at Lamia said another band of guerrillas—about 150 strong—had been wiped out in a fight on Mount Parnassus, during which a dozen planes supported the government forces.

Dimitrov in Belgrade For Talks With Tito

BELGRADE, July 27 (AP).—Bulgarian Premier Georgi Dimitrov arrived here today and was greeted by Premier Marshal Tito. Mr. Dimitrov, in a brief speech of welcome to the crowd at the railway station, said the peoples of Bulgaria and Yugoslavia were linked in brotherhood.

The two Premiers will hold talks which may lead to a mutual treaty.

REDS SEEK BIGGER NAVY

MOSCOW, July 27 — (AP) The Soviet press observed Russia's navy day today by emphasizing that the Red fleet should be built up with "new modern ships of all types."

Naval experts writing for various Russian publications said the chief function of the Russian navy was guarding the country's coastline against possible invaders.

'WON'T BE LONG,' CHIANG SAYS

Early Defeat Of Communists Predicted To Editors

Nanking, July 27 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek told a group of visiting American editors and publishers today that there was "no possibility" of peace negotiations with the Chinese Communists, and inveighed in strong terms against what he called "misleading" and "unfriendly" reports about China by American correspondents.

[Despite the long breakdown in peace efforts, this is apparently the flattest public statement Chiang has yet made on the subject.]

The Americans, who are touring the Far East as guests of the United States War Department, arrived in Nanking today. They were to return to Shanghai tonight.

Spoke For Publication

Chiang said his statement was for publication. He has spoken only off the record to several previous touring groups.

"It is apparent since failure of the Marshall mission of mediation," the Chinese Government chief declared, "that the Communists are determined to continue their policy of open military rebellion and there is no possibility of resumption of peace negotiations.

"I assure you that in spite of the difficulties and complications of this problem, the Chinese Government will be able to solve it—and it will not take very long."

Just before meeting with the editors, he had made a four-minute speech to a conference of provincial governors, in which he said, "We must continue to struggle for existence or die"; condemned "big influential families" for not paying their taxes in kind, and said they should send their able-bodied sons to join the army as an example to others.

Cites Wedemeyer Mission

Chiang told the Americans, "I am fully aware of the importance and significance of relations between the United States and China and of the presence of the Wedemeyer mission in China."

He added that the new national Constitution would become effective as planned next December 25, as "the Government must fulfill its wartime promises of ushering in constitutional government and a program of personal liberties regardless of the Communist problem."

Chiang further told his visitors:

"I have been worried and deeply concerned over certain United States correspondents in China, who, because of their dissatisfaction with conditions in the postwar period here, have written certain reports and articles which are not only critical of the efficiency and moral practices of the Chinese Government, but even are misleading the American public to believe that the Chinese people as a whole are not respectable and do not deserve the friendship of the United States and other countries.

Madame Chiang Speaks

"Our Government welcomes any constructive criticism of the Government, but if such criticism goes to the extreme of hurting the honor and self-respect of the people, I find it a great source of worry that it will in time affect the friendly relations between our two countries.

"The Chinese people always have been friends of the United States and grateful for the assistance of your country.

"I appeal to you publishers for co-operation in solving this problem, which is a serious obstacle in the way of Chinese-American co-operation."

30.24-11169

After Chiang left to keep a Government appointment, Madame Chiang told the editors her husband was "not bitter, but is anxious to solve a problem which is bothering him deeply."

Kuomintang Instructions

While Chiang was making his critical comments, the Associated Press learned from a most reliable source that the Central Executive Committee of his governing party, the Kuomintang, had issued instructions to all party newspapers to stress desirability of quick clarification of American policy toward China.

This directive said further "wavering" by the United States would only benefit the Communists and might "harm the traditional friendship between the United States and China."

It said some foreign writers had fallen unwitting victims to Communist propaganda and had criticized "China's only lawful government in a most irresponsible manner."

The newspapers were advised to carry everything possible about Communist sabotage and to stress the Chinese-American wartime cooperation and the part Americans "should" play in China's rehabilitation.

TWO JEWISH SHIPS, 1,100 ON BOARD, NEAR HOLY LAND

British Reported Ready to Board Craft, Deport Passengers.

NEW VIOLENCE FLARES

Reuters Office Again Raided; Two Soldiers Wounded by Bomb.

HAIFA, Palestine, July 27—(AP) Two immigrant ships reportedly carrying 1,100 uncertified Jews steamed toward the Holy Land under the shadow of British warships tonight and those aboard the vessels faced immediate deportation to detention camps in Cyprus.

The Hebrew resistance movement, Haganah, announced that the immigrant ship, "Return to Zion," carrying about 400 visaless Jews was approaching the coast along with a second vessel bearing the names, "Those Who Fell at Ez Zib." The latter ship was reported to be carrying some 700 immigrants.

Unofficial sources claimed the "Return to Zion" had been intercepted by British naval patrols. It was expected that the vessel would be boarded and brought into Haifa harbor sometime during the night or early tomorrow morning, these sources said.

Shadowed By British

The ship, "Those Who Fell at Ez Zib," was being shadowed by the royal navy and might be intercepted and brought to Haifa sometime tomorrow, Jewish sources said. The vessel was named for the 14 members of Haganah who were reported missing after the blowing up of a railway bridge near the Palestine-Lebanon border last year.

One British source suggested the two ships might attempt to rendezvous outside the three-mile limit and transfer all their passengers to one vessel in an effort to prevent one of the ships from being confiscated by the British.

The Palestine government announced officially that the passengers of both ships would be deported to Cyprus.

Meanwhile, the city of Haifa, with more than 50,000 Jews under dusk-to-dawn curfew, remained quiet. It was the end of the ninth day of Av, when world Jewry observes a day of fasting and lamentation for the destruction of the first and second temples of Jerusalem.

Few residents of the city knew of the approaching vessels, as news from Haganah sources has been censored in Palestine and official sources remained silent.

The harbor area still was not manned by the British military forces which usually cordon off the dockyards several hours prior to the arrival of immigrant ships and supervise the trans-shipment of the visaless Jews to Cyprus aboard British troopships.

Three such vessels, Empire Comfort, Empire Rest and Empire Shelter, are berthed in the outer harbor.

Jewish sources said the "Return to Zion" was a small, Mediterranean vessel which was believed to have come from a North African port. The British navy has not announced the whereabouts of the two ships.

4,500 Near France

(In France, the prefecture of the Rhone Department announced that 4,500 Polish Jews from the "Exodus 1947" would be landed Monday at Port de Bouc, 30 miles west of Marseille, after an unsuccessful effort to run the British blockade into the Holy Land. The Jews left the French port of Sete July 11 and their vessel was rammed and boarded by the British off Haifa July 18. Many were reported sick as a result of their two weeks at sea).

Other events in Palestine:

The first Jewish postwar passenger boat, the Kedmah, with practically an all-Jewish crew, reached Tel Aviv from London with 195 Jews bearing immigration certificates. The Kedmah is scheduled to make regular runs between Haifa and Marseille.

Ten men penetrated the Tel Aviv branch office of the Shemen oil factory, overpowered the staff and escaped with about $4,800.

Martial law was lifted from the coastal town of Natanya and its surrounding villages, a forenight after it was imposed to help the British army in its search for two British sergeants kidnaped and held as hostages for three condemned members of Irgun Zvai Leumi. Irgun said in a broadcast heard in the area that the two sergeants were alive and well.

Map Civil Disobedience

In another broadcast, Irgun appealed to Palestine Jews to violate the curfew as part of a new plan of civil disobedience. It also urged non-payment of taxes, boycott of British courts, establishment of Jewish courts, severance of all social and professional ties with British people in Palestine and unification of all Hebrew fighting forces.

A reliable source said the Tel Aviv office of Reuters, British news agency, was raided again today by a group of young men believed to be members of one of the Jewish extremist groups.

Three young men armed with pistols entered the Reuters office, bound and gagged two employes and fled with a quantity of office equipment, including a typewriter and a duplicating machine.

The same Reuters office was raided six weeks ago and similar material was stolen.

Two British soldiers were wounded today when a bomb exploded behind a wall in Jerusalem's Jaffa road.

Ambush Is Third At Spot In Manila

Manila, July 27 (AP)—One United States Army sergeant was shot dead and another was wounded critically late last night by unknown persons in the third fatal ambush within a month at the same spot on the Manila road near the Bulacan-Pampanga provincial boundary.

The driver of a jeep in which the two soldiers were riding escaped injury. All three were members of the 4th Signal Service group, the same as a staff sergeant who was killed and another who was wounded the night of July 21. All names were withheld by the Army.

On June 28 Captain and Mrs. Irving Plough were wounded and their baby was killed.

Indonesians May Get Medical Aid

SINGAPORE, July 27 (AP)—Governor General Malcolm MacDonald's office said today that the Singapore and Malayan Union Governments were "urgently considering" the establishment of an organization to collect and deliver medical supplies requested in a radio appeal by the Indonesian Red Cross. A statement said the Dutch Government had agreed to a British request to arrange for the airplane delivery of medical supplies.

HALF OF PLEAS OF MARSHALL ARE GRANTED

Bills Approved By Congress Include Those Bearing On U.S.-Soviet Clash

Washington, July 27 (AP)—Only half the legislation George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, recommended to Congress as "urgent" was passed in the session which closed today.

However, the bills which were approved included almost all bearing upon the American conflict with Russia—chief among them authority and money for the $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish program.

Administration officials said the record was by no means a bad one for foreign policy co-operation between the Democratic Administration and the Republican-led Congress.

Marshall sent to Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, on January 29 a list of ten matters for congressional action which he called "urgent items in order of priority." He attached an additiona list of seventeen items which he marked "important for this session of Congress." Thirteen of the latter failed of passage.

Standing Of Proposals At End

Later, additional legislation was presented by the Secretary or President Truman for urgent action, so that in effect the original list of ten was expanded to fourteen. Here is how the fourteen "urgent" proposals stood when Congress finished up:

Passed:

1. Continuation of relief programs after the end of UNRRA. Congress approved and appropriated $332,000,000 for the task, $18,000,000 less than the State Department recommended. The cut was designed by Congress to deny relief to Hungary and Poland, the only two prospective relief recipients in the Soviet sphere.

2. Ratification of peace treaties with Italy, Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria. These treaties now await only ratification by Russia; France and Britain already have acted.

3. Legislation for American membership in the international refugee organization. The United States formally joined the organization shortly after Congress acted. The United States' share of $73,000,000 also was appropriated.

4. Legislation to carry on America's part in a children's aid fund left over from UNRRA.

5. Tax exemption for gifts from American citizens to the United Nations.

6. The Greek-Turkish program.

7. Authorization for a United Nations trusteeship arrangement by which the United States has taken over control of former Japanese-held islands in the Pacific.

Italian Property Returned

8. Return of Italian property in the United States. The chief result was to release Italian assets frozen during the war. The bill was part of Marshall's plan for strengthening Italy economically against communism.

Not approved:

1. Ratification of the Anglo-American petroleum agreement for international supervision of oil company operations of the two countries, mainly in the Middle East.

2. Admittance of 400,000 displaced persons into the United States over the next four years.

3. Adherence to the constitution of the World Health Organization.

"Voice Of America" Fails

4. Legislation to authorize "Voice of America" broadcasts and other cultural relations activity outside the western hemisphere. Known as the Mundt bill, this finally failed of Senate approval when the Senate at the last minute voted instead an investigation of the State Department's cultural relations activities. However, funds to carry on a curtailed information and cultural program were appropriated.

5. Diplomatic privileges and immunities for the staff and delegates of the United Nations.

6. An "inter-American military co-operation program" under which the administration planned to supply arms to other American countries.

Wool Bill Is Killed

State Department officials said one of the most important issues settled in favor of their policies was that which arose over import fees and quotas on wool. An import duty provision of wool price legislation was killed when President Truman vetoed the bill.

The State Department opposed it on the ground that such restrictions would have killed all prospects for success of the American-sponsored tariff-reducing World Trade Conference at Geneva.

One bill Marshall regarded as "important" which failed of passage was authorization for the President to send United States military and naval missions to foreign governments.

St. Lawrence Plan Failed

This was presented with the argument that it was necessary for maintenance of American missions in Iran and China. However, officials said the President's remaining war powers permit the assignment of these missions despite failure of Congres to act.

The "important" list included the St. Lawrence waterway and power development agreement, which failed to go through, but otherwise items on the list were relatively minor. Of the seventeen total, four were passed and the rest failed.

Those passed dealt with the Cuban sugar quota, renewal of a Federal charter for the Institute of Inter-American Affairs, authorization for United States agencies to furnish equipment to international organizations such as the United Nations, and authority for the President to make an agreement with the United Nations for its permanent site in this country.

FDR's Son Had Power to 'Ram' Contract 'Down Someone's Throat,' Prober Asserts

War Investigating Group to Open Hearings Today into Hughes Dealings.

WASHINGTON, July 27 — (AP) Senator Ferguson (R.-Mich.) delving into wartime activities of Howard Hughes and Elliott Rooseveit, pictured the son of the late President with the power to "ram" a scout plane contract for Hughes "down somebody's throat," it was disclosed today.

But this contention of the senator who heads a war investigating sub-committee was disputed by a witness, John Meyer, a publicity man who was employed by Hughes.

Hughes, Hollywood millionaire, had previously denied that Roosevelt helped him and Henry J. Kaiser obtain the original contract for construction of an enormous cargo flying boat.

To this Meyer added the assertion, in testimony taken June 3 behind closed doors, that while continuation of the subsequent photo-reconnaissance (scouting) plane contract held by Hughes alone probably depended on Roosevelt's recommendation, "he couldn't force it down any throats."

Hearings Open Today

The testimony, made available newsmen by a committee member, was taken preliminary to the opening tomorrow of public hearings by Ferguson's group digging into circumstances of the Hughes-Kaiser contract for the cargo plane.

The sub-committee also wants Meyer as a witness in these hearings, and has enlisted the aid of the State department. Meyer is reported out of the country.

Meyer testified at the closed hearing that he was friendly with Roosevelt and often entertained him as publicity chief for the Hughes Tool company, parent organization of the Hughes enterprises.

Roosevelt, a colonel in the photo-reconnaissance division of the air corps during the war, headed a group of War department officials who inspected Hughes' photo-reconnaissance plane at the factory in California.

At the closed hearing, Ferguson asked Meyer why he entertained Roosevelt.

Meyer replied: "We got a contract in which he was sent out there as chief of the mission. The contracts probably depended upon his recommendation. He recommended it, but he couldn't force it down any throats."

Disrupted by Witness

Ferguson: "That is what you say, Mr. Meyer, and you know different. You know he could ram it down somebody's throat."

Meyer: "No, senator."

Ferguson: "You mean to say the son of the President of the United States, under the conditions under which he was operating, could not ram this down somebody's throat?"

Meyer: "I doubt it."

Ferguson: "What did he know about an airplane?"

Meyer: "Well, it wasn't our fault that he was assigned to the mission."

Ferguson: "All right, I know that it was not."

Hughes previously had testified that Elliott had nothing to do with the granting of the original contract he and Kaiser obtained for construction of a huge cargo flying boat. Kaiser later withdrew from the project.

Hughes said when he obtained a subsequent contract to build photo-reconnaissance planes he had "considerable discussion with Elliott Roosevelt with reference to the actual execution or non-execution of the contract."

Denies Payments

"In other words," Hughes continued, "Roosevelt was in charge of the photographic division, to the best of my knowledge, and he was the man I had to sell the airplane to, but I do not recall any conversation with him on this point of reimbursement charges."

Chairman Brewster (R.-Me.) of the full committee asked:

"Were there any payments to him or for his account at any time?"

"No, not at any time," the witness said.

George Meader, a committee counsel, asked Hughes whether Roosevelt "was of any assistance to you in securing a continuation of that cargo plane project" in Washington in 1944.

"I can say he absolutely was not," Hughes replied. "I do not even remember if he was in Washington at the time."

Meyer subsequently testified that when he met Roosevelt in New York in August, 1943, the latter told him at that time he was recommending the Hughes reconnaissance plane to the War department.

7 Korean Camps Set Up For Red-Zone Refugees

WASHINGTON, July 27. (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur reported today that seven emergency camps have been set up in the American zone of Korea to care for the thousands of refugees fleeing across the border daily from Soviet-occupied northern Korea.

His report on military government activities in Korea during the month of April estimated that some 3,000 persons a day were entering southern Korea through one border town alone.

To provide ahaven for the refugees from the Russian zone, General MacArthur said, three emergeny feeding stations and four permanent camps have been established at the border. Increased efforts also were made to settle refugee families on farm lands in southern Korea, to reduce the expense of public assistance.

Bill on Secret Pacts

Measure to Keep Congress Posted Introduced, to Come Up in Fall

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP).—Representative James G. Fulton, Republican, of Pennsylvania, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, yesterday introduced a measure designed to keep Congress posted on secret agreements between the United States and other nations. The proposal will not come up for action until Congress reconvenes.

A seven-member House special committee would be created with power to study: "Executive agreements, written or oral, made by the President or . . . executive branch of the government with the chief of state . . . of any foreign nation without the authorization or knowledge of the Congress which bind, commit or obligate the United States to, any foreign nation." . . .

Alaska Newsprint Plan Is Sent to White House

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP).—Legislation designed to establish a newsprint industry in Alaska was approved by the Senate yesterday and sent to the White House. The bill authorizes the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture to sell timber in the Tongas National Forest of southeast Alaska to paper companies. Forest Service officials said the legislation will permit establishment of five $30,000,000 paper mills in the territory.

The bill authorizes the department to contract with paper companies to furnish them a perpetual supply of timber to be cut on a sustained yield basis. Officials testified before Congressional committees that the plan would furnish timber in perpetuity to the mills and lead to the establishment at each mill of a town of 6,000 or more persons.

VET, ENGLISH GIRL SET WEDDING DATE

NAUGATUCK, July 27 — (AP) Wedding bells will ring on Aug. 1 for an American war veteran and his British bride-to-be, whom he wooed and won by mail, they announced today.

The couple, Elbert Schukie, who served five years in the Army, 26 months of the time in the South Pacific, but who never went to England, and Miss Edith Ellen Wilkins, 27, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, have been getting acquainted here.

They met for the first time on July 17 when Miss Wilkins came to Naugatuck after a trip across the Atlantic on the S.S. Marine Tiger.

Mrs. Rose Pelkie, herself an English bride, played the role of "cupid" in the romance by letter carrier. She lives in an auto trailer next door to Schuckie's in a trailer camp here and showed the young veteran a photograph of Miss Wilkins, a long-time friend, last September.

She introduced the pair by mail, and the correspondence reached a climax recently with Schuckie's proposal of marriage and Miss Wilkins' acceptance. Miss Wilkins, a former waitress in a London restaurant, said that so far only the date for the wedding had been set.

Schuckie is employed as an iron worker here.

'IKE' VISITS BROTHER

MANHATTAN, Kas., July 27—(AP) Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff, landed at Ft. Riley's Marshall Field after a flight from Washington today and drove here this afternoon for an overnight visit with his brother, Milton, president of Kansas State college.

General Eisenhower, enroute to Alaska on an inspection trip, will leave Marshall Field tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock for Great Falls, Mont.

He plans to arrive at Anchorage Tuesday.

M'MAHON URGES SECURITY STUDY

Proposes All Nations Make Inventory of Forces to Avoid War.

NEW YORK, July 27 — (AP) Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.), urging a "moratorium on world tension," tonight proposed an inventory of what each nation considers its essential security needs, so that a workable peace can be developed.

"Such lists might be many and various," he said in an address to a graduating class at Fordham university. "But surely that would contain certain things in common—reasonable access to economic supplies, freedom from political or economical interference from outside, a measure of international trade, some advance toward internationally recognized civil liberties—

"In short," he added, "the substitution of a live and growing international law for the present rule of force in anarchy."

The Senator said such a security inventory should be submitted to the United Nations General Assembly at its fall meeting for debate and action.

Urges Steps for Peace

"It is to be hoped," McMahon declared, "that the 'security inventories,' when toted up, would show general agreement on the great principle that world peace cannot be created and maintained without adequate machinery to enforce peace.

"It is to be hoped that all nations will gladly accept something that goes beyond the demonstrably inadequate mechanism which is all they have now.

"In this way the burning question of peace with justice can be put fully and openly to Russia."

And an outline of what this country regards as its security needs, McMahon continued, "should create the atmosphere in which an American appeal for world peace and for adequate machinery would not fall on deaf ears."

And because of the difficulties which have plagued the United Nations, particularly through the big nations' right to use the veto power in the Security Council, McMahon said, Europe is trembling in the balance.

Fearful of Future

"Another winter without plan or direction will result in Europe's complete disintegration," the Connecticut lawmaker prophesied.

"We now are fully aware," he continued, "that the death of order and a free society brings to the burial rites as gladsome heirs the Communist associates of Moscow who are ever ready to participate in the spreading of Russia's influence and power."

Classing Bernard Baruch's "cold war" description of American relations with Russia as an "apt" term, McMahon said that "in all seriousness that if ways and means are not found and devised to stop that cold war, hot war will come and the world will end in cold ashes."

SEVERSKY PRAISES ARMED-FORCE UNITY

Says It Can Become Instrument Of Unmatched Strength

New York, July 27 (AP)—Major Alexander P. de Seversky, aircraft designer and long-time exponent of air power, said today unification of the nation's armed forces "can become an instrument of unmatched strength under our democratic conditions."

"What airmen have fough for all their lives has finally become a reality," he said in a statement. "Air force has been emancipated and put on a basis of equality with the Army and Navy."

Advantages Can Be Lost

He said, however, that "the immense advantages of autonomy for the three departments—Army, Navy and Air—can easily be lost, or even turned into liabilities, if the development of any of them is cramped by regimentation from above."

The airman urged that "each defense component be placed under the most qualified and independently minded leadership and encouraged to develop its strategic potential to the maximum." Only in that way, he added, "can we make sure that each of them will make a contribution in proportion to its true strategic significance."

Identical With Nazi Setup

De Seversky said that "it may come as startling news to the average layman that our new defense setup is essentially identical with the one that was in force in Nazi Germany," and pointed out that "the late Reich had autonomous army, navy and air force, headed by Hitler as a kind of secretary of defense, with a supreme command equivalent to our joint chiefs of staff."

"But there is no cause for alarm in the parallel," he added. "A system that failed dismally under a totalitarian regime, with its extreme of regimentation, can become an instrument of unmatched strength under our democratic conditions."

Marshall To Address U.N. Group

New York, July 27 (AP)—George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, has accepted an invitation to address the American Association for the United Nations in New York September 14, the organization announced today.

SHOWDOWN NEARS IN UN ON CRITICAL BALKAN PROBLEM

HARRIS

LAKE SUCCESS, July 27 — (AP) A weeks-long fight between Russia and the United States over the Balkan problem neared an end today with the future of the United Nations possibly hinging on the outcome.

A showdown test on the ability of the UN security council to act effectively in the peaceful settlement of disputes which might threaten world peace is expected to come Tuesday or not later than Thursday.

At that time the council will vote on a Russian-opposed U. S. proposal for establishing a semi-permanent border watch over the Balkans. The American plan was introduced after a UN inquiry commission found Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania primarily responsible in supporting guerrilla warfare in Greece.

Important Issue

UN delegates made no attempt to minimize the seriousness of the situation and some expressed the opinion that a defeat of the U. S. proposal would have grave effects on the world organization.

All delegates looked to Russia for the answer. They agreed that the Soviet alone holds the power to strengthen or weaken the council's position in world affairs.

Delegates were divided on whether Russia would veto the commission plan or abstain from voting and permit the creation of a border watch. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko may express his disapproval by abstention, because of the consequences a evto might bring. This idea gained among certain delegates after he and Russia's three satellites argued last week that eevn if the commission were established Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania would not be bound to cooperate with it.

This argument involves an interpretation of the UN charter and is expected to be threshed out further tomorrow. The majority of council members agree with the U. S. interpretation that decisions taken by the security council are binding on all parties.

30.24- 11171

In answering Gromyko and the three Soviet satellites, U. S. Deputy Herschel V. Johnson warned them that if they ignored a decision of the council they would lay themselves open to the strongest enforcement measures.

Provisional Agenda for U. N. General Assembly

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 27—Following is the provisional agenda of the second regular session of the United Nations General Assembly, which will convene Sept. 16 at Flushing Meadow, Queens. Most of the data in brackets are taken from explanatory notes furnished by the United Nations Press Section. Items may be submitted at least twenty-five days before the opening date of a regular session. Forty-three items have already been submitted. The order in which items are listed is not necessarily the order in which they will be taken up.

1. Opening of the session by the chairman of the Brazilian delegation. [The chairman of the delegation from which the President of the previous session was elected presides until the Assembly elects a President for the session. Dr. Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil presided at the special General Assembly held April 28 to May 15.

2. Appointment of the Credentials Committee.

3. Election of the President.

4. Constitution of the main committees and election of officers. These are: I. Political and Security Committee (including the regulation of armaments); II. Economic and Financial Committee; III. Social, Humanitarian and Cultural; IV. Trusteeship Committee; V. Administrative and Budgetary Committee; VI. Legal Committee.

5. Election of Vice Presidents. [The seven Vice Presidents are elected by secret ballot without nominations.]

Report of Council Jurisdiction

6. Notification by the Secretary General, under Article 12, Paragraph 2, of the Charter [of any matters relative to the maintenance of international peace and security being dealt with by the Security Council. The Assembly is barred from considering such items.]

7. Adoption of the agenda. [Adoption is by majority vote. Items may be added to or deleted from the agenda by a majority of the members present and voting.]

8. Opening the general debate.

9. Report of the Secretary General on the work of the organization.

10. Report of the Security Council.

11. Report of the Economic and Social Council.

12. Report of the Trusteeship Council.

13. Reports from the specialized agencies.

14. Headquarters of the United Nations: Report of the Secretary General. Resolution 100 (1) of 14 Dec., 1946. [The resolution referred to recorded the Assembly's gratitude for the gift from Mr. John D. Rockefeller Jr. of $8,500,000 with which to purchase the East River site for permanent headquarters. The resolution also authorized the Secretary General to lease the structures then on the site until demolition work was undertaken, or to undertake demolition. A report from the Secretary General prepared in consultation with the Director of Planning and his staff will cover an analysis of the site, buildings and locations, preliminary cost estimates, etc.]

15. Agreement between the United Nations and the United States of America regarding the headquarters of the United Nations: Report of the Secretary General (Resolution 99 (1) of 14 Dec., 1946.)

Procedure and Organization

16. Procedures and organization of the General Assembly. (a) Report of the committee on procedures and organization (Resolution 102 (1) of 15 Dec. 1946; (b) simultaneous interpretation: Report of the Secretary General [The resolution referred to in (a) dealt with measures to economize the time of the Assembly. As regards (b), the Assembly last December deferred a decision on the question of simultaneous interpretation until the second session. It called for continuance of "the present practices"—consecutive translation in plenary session and some committees—but for an increase in the number of conference rooms equipped with simultaneous interpretation apparatus.]

17. Rules governing the admission of new members: Reports of the committee of the General Assembly and of the Security Council. Resolution 36 (1) of 19 Nov. 1946. [By the resolution referred to the Assembly requested the Council to appoint a committee to confer with a committee of the Assembly "with a view to preparing rules governing the admission of new members which will be acceptable both to the General Assembly and to the Security Council. Joint conferences of the two committees have been held since May 28. On June 26, the Assembly committee unanimously adopted draft proposals relating to rules of procedure for admission of new members. After the Council has considered the proposals, the Assembly committee will draft them in final form for the Assembly.]

18. Admission of new members (if recommendations are received from the Security Council). [The membership committee of the Council is re-examining the applications of Albania, Mongolia, Trans-Jordan, Ireland and Portugal, which were rejected last year. It will consider the new applications of Hungary, Italy, Austria, Rumania and Yemen.]

19. Relations of members of the United Nations with Spain. (Resolution 39 (1) of 12 Dec. 1946.) [This resolution recommended that the Franco Government be debarred from membership of international agencies in relationship with the United Nations and from participation in activities arranged by the United Nations. It recommended that, if within a reasonable time there was not established a government that derived its authority from the consent of the governed, the Council should consider measures to be taken to remedy the situation. Finally, it recommended that all members of the United Nations recall from Madrid their Ambassadors and Ministers plenipotentiary and to report to the next session of the Assembly what action they have taken.]

Indian Question Renewed

20. Treatment of Indians in the Union of South Africa. (Resolution 44 (1) of 8 Dec. 1946.) [The resolution declares that the "General Assembly is of the opinion that the treatment of Indians in the Union should be in conformity with the international obligations under the agreements concluded between the two Governments and the relevant provisions of the Charter and therefore requests the two Governments to report at the next session of the General Assembly the measures adopted to this effect."]

21. Question of Palestine: Item submitted by the United Kingdom. [On April 2, 1947, the United Kingdom asked that the question of Palestine be placed on the agenda at its next regular session, when, it said, the United Kingdom would ask the Assembly to make recommendations concerning the future government of Palestine.]

22. Report of the special committee on Palestine (Resolution 106 S-1) of 15 May, 1947.

23. Termination of the mandate over Palestine and the recognition of its independence as one state: Item submitted by Saudi Arabia and by Iraq.

24. Convocation of a general conference, under Article 109 of the Charter, to abolish the privilege of the veto: Item submitted by Argentina. [Article 109 says in part: "1. A general conference of the members of the United Nations for the purpose of reviewing the present Charter may be held at a date and place to be fixed by a two-thirds majority of the members of the General Assembly and by a vote of any seven members of the Security Council. Each member of the United Nations shall have one vote in the conference. 2. Any alteration of the present Charter recommended by a two-thirds vote of the conference shall take effect when ratified in accordance with their respective constitutional processes by two-thirds of the members of the United Nations, including all the permanent members of the Security Council."]

Election to Security Council

25. Election of three non-permanent members of the Security Council. [The terms of Australia, Brazil and Poland expire at the end of 1947, and three members to replace these are to be elected. Retiring members are not eligible for immediate re-election. Election is by secret ballot. A two-thirds majority is required.]

26. Consideration of proposed new trusteeship agreements, if any: resolution 9 (1) of 9 Feb. 1946 and 63 (1) of 14 Dec. 1946.

27. Election of additional members of the Trusteeship Council. [As the United States is now an administering country, it will be necessary to elect two more non-administering countries to the Council to insure the balance between administering and non-administering powers.]

28. Information from non-self-governing territories. (a) Summary and analysis of information transmitted under Article 73 (e) of the Charter: Report of the Secretary General. [Article 73 (e) calls on members responsible for the administration of non-self-governing territories to transmit regular reports on economic, social and educational conditions in those territories. Information has so far been submitted by the United States, the United Kingdom, Australia, the Netherlands, France and Belgium.] (b) Information transmitted under Article 73 (e) of the Charter: Report of the ad hoc committee. [The Assembly recommended that information submitted in the course of 1947 should be summarized, analyzed and classified by the Secretary General. It also invited the Secretary General to convene some weeks before the opening of the second session an ad hoc committee to examine his summary and analysis of the information with a view to aiding the Assembly in its consideration of this information. The committee will meet Aug. 28.

29. International Children's Emergency Fund: (a) Report of the Economic and Social Council; (b) Annual audit of the accounts of the fund submitted by the Secretary General.

30. Draft convention on genocide: Report of the Economic and Social Council. (Resolution 96 (1) of 11 Dec., 1946. [The Committee on the Development and Codification of International Law decided that it could pronounce no opinion on the draft convention, as it had not been submitted to member governments and their opinions on it had not been received.]

31. Telecommunications: Report of the Secretary General.

32. Proposals to increase the membership of the Economic and Social Council to twenty-four: Item submitted by Argentina.

Social Council Elections

33. Election of six members of the Economic and Social Council. [The Council consists of eighteen nations, serving for three years. The six whose terms expire the end of this year are Cuba, Czechoslovakia, India, Norway, the Soviet Union and the United Kingdom. They are eligible for immediate re-election. Election is by secret ballot of the Assembly, a two-third majority of members present and voting being required.]

34. Progressive development of international law and its eventual codification: Report of the committee on the Progressive Development of International Law and its Codification. (Resolution 94 (1) of 11 Dec., 1946.)

35. Plans for the formulation of the principles of the Nuremberg Charter: Report of the Committee on the Progressive Development of International Law and its Codification (Resolution 95 (1) of 11 Dec., 1946.)

36. Draft declaration on the rights and duties of states proposed by Panama: Report of the Committee on the Progressive Development of International Law and its Codification. (Resolution 38 (1) of 1 Dec., 1946.)

37. Co-ordination of the privileges and immunities of the United Nations and of the specialized agencies: Report of the Secretary General (Resolution 22 (1) D of 13 Feb., 1946.)

38. Installation of the Assistant Secretary General in Charge of Administrative and Financial Services [Byron Price of the United States.]

39. Financial administration of the United Nations. (a) Budget of the organization for the financial year 1947 (b) budget estimates for the financial year 1948; (c) report of the advisory committee on administrative and budgetary questions; (d) report of the committee on contribution (Resolution 69 (1) of 14 Dec. 1946); (e) report of the board of auditors (Resolution 74 (1) of 7 Dec. 1946); (f) budgetary and financial relationships with specialized agencies: Report of the Secretary General. (Resolution 81 (1) of 14 Dec. 1946; (g) adoption of the permanent financial regulations: Report of the advisory committee (Resolution 80 (1) of 11 Dec. 1946.)

Subsidiary Bodies

40. Appointments to fill vacancies in the memberships of subsidiary bodies of the General Assembly, (a) Advisory committee on administrative and budgetary questions; (b) committee on contributions; (c) board of auditors.

41. Organizational and administrative matters. (a) United Nations joint staff pension schemes; Report of the United Nations Staff Benefit Committee. (Resolution 82 (1) of 15 Dec., 1946, and Section E of the provisional regulations); (b) United Nations joint staff pension scheme. Appointment of an investments committee: Report of the Secretary General (Section 25 of the provisional regulations.) (c) United Nations flag. Item submitted by the Secretary General. [An official seal and emblem of the United Nations was approved by the second part of the first session. This emblem is carried on United Nations stationary, publications, etc. So far there is no official United Nations flag. It will be for the Assembly to decide whether a United Nations flag is needed and then to decide the nature of the flag to be adopted.]

42. Charter Day and United Nations Peace Day: Item submitted by the Secretary General. [It will be proposed that the United Nations proclaim June 26, anniversary of the signing of the Charter, as Charter Day and that Oct. 24, anniversary of the coming into effect of the Charter, be proclaimed as United Nations Peace Day.]

43. Organization of a United Nations postal service: Item submitted by Argentina.

BRITAIN--ALREADY PULLING OUT OF INDIA, BURMA AND GREECE--WILL HAVE TO REDUCE ITS ARMED FORCES AND OVERSEAS COMMITMENTS MUCH FURTHER UNLESS THE HOME FRONT STIFFENS TO A DEGREE NOT NOW IN SIGHT.

LABOR M.P.'S WHO WANT THE PRIME MINISTER TO BRING THIS PICTURE BEFORE THE PUBLIC IN "BLOOD AND SWEAT, TOIL AND TEARS" TERMS WERE PROMINENT AMONG THOSE WHO INVITED HIM TO ADDRESS THEM AT A SPECIAL MEETING BEHIND CLOSED DOORS NEXT WEDNESDAY.

ATTLEE ACCEPTED. NO OFFICIAL INKLING WAS GIVEN OF THE LINE HE WOULD TAKE IN ANSWER TO HIS "FRIENDLY" CRITICS, BUT THE POSSIBILITY THAT HE MIGHT OFFER TO RESIGN--IF CALLS FOR STRONGER LEADERSHIP PERSISTED--WAS FREELY DISCUSSED.

JUL 1947

BEVIN--A LEADING CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED ATTLEE SHOULD THE PRIME MINISTER STEP DOWN--AND THE OTHER PROMINENT POLITICAL FIGURES WHO SPOKE OVER THE WEEKEND WERE IN GENERAL AGREEMENT ABOUT THE REASONS BRITAIN IS SLIDING TOWARD THE BRINK OF CRISIS:

1. THE MULTI-BILLION DOLLAR AMERICAN LOAN IS RUNNING OUT MUCH FASTER THAN BRITAIN EXPECTED: IT WILL BE EXHAUSTED AS EARLY AS DECEMBER, BY MANY ESTIMATES: AND--

A57

2. PRODUCTION OF GOODS FOR EXPORT IS NOT RISING FAST ENOUGH TO MEET BRITAIN'S IMPORT DEBT, OFFICIALLY RECKONED AT MORE THAN $1,600,000,000 THIS YEAR. A MAJOR REASON IS--

3. COAL PRODUCTION, UNDER THE FIVE-DAY WEEK INTRODUCED LAST SPRING, IS NOT YET HIGH ENOUGH. HORNER, SPEAKING FOR THE MINERS, SAID YESTERDAY THE TARGET OF 200,000,000 TONS THIS YEAR PROBABLY COULD NOT BE REACHED.

ON WEDNESDAY, AFTER HIS SESSION WITH THE LABORITES, ATTLEE IS SCHEDULED TO RECEIVE A DEPUTATION OF MINE WORKERS' LEADERS WHO ARE ASKING SPECIAL INDUCEMENTS, SUCH AS MORE FOOD AND HOUSES FOR THE MEN, TO SPUR PRODUCTION.

SHOULD THE PRIME MINISTER GRANT THESE, HEADS OF OTHER UNIONS ARE PRIMED TO ASK SIMILAR CONCESSIONS FOR THEIR MEMBERS. THE MORE THAT IS CONSUMED AT HOME, THE LESS THERE WILL BE FOR THE EXPORT DRIVE. THE LESS BRITAIN EXPORTS, THE LESS FOOD SHE CAN IMPORT.

NOT ALL THOSE WHO DEMAND "ACTION AND LEADERSHIP" FROM THE PRIME MINISTER ARE READY TO SAY WHAT ACTION HE SHOULD TAKE OR IN WHICH DIRECTION HE SHOULD LEAD.

LONDON, JULY 27-(AP)-PRAVDA PROTESTED AGAIN TODAY AGAINST ALLEGED "UNILATERAL ACTIONS" BY THE UNITED STATES FOR REVIVAL OF INDUSTRY IN THE RUHR AND DECLARED THAT "DAWESIFICATION OF EUROPE WILL BE REALIZED ON AN EVEN GREATER SCALE THAN 20 YEARS AGO AND WITH EVEN GREATER PENETRATION OF AMERICAN CAPITAL."

(THE DAWES PLAN FOR PAYMENT OF REPARATIONS BY GERMANY AFTER THE FIRST WORLD WAR WAS DISCARDED AFTER FIVE YEARS.)

THE COMMENTARY, QUOTED BY MOSCOW RADIO, SAID THAT ACCORDING TO AMERICAN PLANS "DURING THE COMING FIVE YEARS THE RUHR WILL BE ADMINISTERED BY A SPECIAL ANGLO-AMERICAN BODY UNDER THE CHAIRMANSHIP OF AN AMERICAN; DURING THIS PERIOD THE MAGNATES OF GERMAN INDUSTRY WHO FINANCED HITLER ARE TO PRESERVE THEIR PROPERTY RIGHTS."

PRAVDA QUOTED W.AVERELL HARRIMAN, U.S. SECRETARY OF COMMERCE, AS SAYING IN LONDON THAT THE ECONOMIC NEEDS OF GERMANY WOULD BE GIVEN PRIORITY OVER THE NEEDS OF BRITAIN, AND THAT "ALREADY IN THE NEAR FUTURE A BROAD FLOW OF AMERICAN CREDITS FOR THE REVIVAL OF THE RUHR IS TO FOLLOW."

BRITISH AND AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVES ARE TO CONFER SOON IN WASHINGTON ON THE PROBLEM OF BOOSTING COAL OUTPUT IN THE RUHR. THE BRITISH WANT TO NATIONALIZE THE MINES, BUT THE AMERICAN POSITION THUS FAR HAS BEEN THAT NATIONALIZATION WOULD RESTRICT COAL PRODUCTION. THEY WANT TO POSTPONE A DECISION FOR SEVERAL YEARS, UNTIL GERMAN ECONOMIC CONDITIONS BECOME STABILIZED.

for most dutchmen, the biggest shock of the whole chain of events in indonesia has been the unfavorable reaction of the world press. after the first day of fighting dutch editors were more interested in what the world press said than in reports of the fighting.

some editors took foreign commentators to task as for being superficial and not being acquainted with all the facts. left wing papers said holland at one stroke had lost all the good will it built up with so much effort during the war.

NANKING, SUNDAY, JULY 27-(AP)-LT. GEN. ALBERT C. WEDEMEYER'S MISSION HAS GIVEN NATIONALIST CHINA A BADLY-NEEDED PSYCHOLOGICAL SHOT IN THE ARM.

WEDEMEYER'S PRESENCE ON A FACT-FINDING MISSION FOR PRESIDENT TRUMAN HAS CREATED A NEW SPIRIT OF HOPE, DISPELLING A GENERAL DESPONDENCY WHICH SETTLED OVER ARMY AND POLITICAL LEADERS AS A RESULT OF THE DETERIORATING MILITARY AND ECONOMIC SITUATION.

IT IS HARD TO SAY JUST HOW SEVERE THE RELAPSE WILL BE IF WEDEMEYER'S VISIT FAILS TO PRODUCE THE COMMONLY EXPECTED LARGE-SCALE HELP FOR GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK.

BUT, IN ANY CASE, THE FACT THAT THE GENERAL IS HERE FOR MR. TRUMAN AND SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL HAS REVIVED A BELIEF IN THE AVERAGE CHINESE OFFICIAL IN THE GOVERNMENT'S ABILITY TO WORK ITSELF OUT OF A DESPERATE SITUATION.

THERE IS A NOTICEABLE CHANGE IN EVERY GOVERNMENT OFFICE IN NANKING.

EVEN IN THE FIELD REPORTS, ARMY COMMANDERS SAY THE SOLDIERS HAVE BEEN STIMULATED BY WEDEMEYER'S MISSION AND ITS HOPES FOR ASSISTANCE IN SETTLING THE CIVIL WAR.

DESPONDENCY AMONG HIGH GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS BECAME SO GENERAL A FEW WEEKS AGO THAT IT CAUSED GRAVE CONCERN TO NATIONALIST LEADERS. AS A RESULT, SOME OF THE MOST BITTER OPPONENTS OF COMMUNISM SPOKE OF COMPROMISES OR OF A DIVIDED CHINA.

SOME OBSERVERS SAY THE CHANGE FROM THAT FEELING RESULTED IN PART FROM THE FACT THAT GOVERNMENT OFFICERS AND EMPLOYES WERE GIVEN SOMETHING TO KEEP THEM BUSY--PREPARING REPORTS FOR THE AMERICANS.

THEY SAY ALSO THAT PART OF THE REVIVAL OF GOVERNMENT MORALE IS DUE TO THE EXPECTATION OF AMERICAN HELP.

BURDETT ASKED A SEA CAPTAIN TO DELIVER HIS COLLECTION OF WAR TROPHIES TO HIS FATHER, T. BURDETT, 1526 DIVISION AVENUE, ENUMCLAW, WASH.

WHEN THE SKIPPER ARRIVED ON THE WEST COAST IN MARCH, 1943, CUSTOMS OFFICIALS CONFISCATED THE PROPERTY. THE ELDER BURDETT GOT ONLY A RECEIPT.

UPON HIS RETURN TO THE UNITED STATES, YOUNG BURDETT SET OUT TO RECOVER THE TROPHIES. HE WAS ESPECIALLY CONCERNED ABOUT THE MOTHER-OF-PEARL HANDLED SWORD, WHICH HE VALUED AT $1,300.

THE AMERICAN LEGION, WHICH INTERESTED ITSELF IN THE CASE, PREPARED THIS DIARY OF BURDETT'S DEALINGS WITH THE GOVERNMENT:

DECEMBER, 1943--CUSTOMS COULDN'T HELP HIM. BESIDES, THE TROPHIES HAD BEEN HANDED OVER TO NAVAL INTELLIGENCE.

FEBRUARY, 1944--NAVY INTELLIGENCE WAS SORRY. BESIDES, THE MATERIAL HAD GONE TO AN ARMY SALVAGE BASE IN CALIFORNIA.

MARCH, 1944--THE SALVAGE BASE REGRETTED THE MATTER. THE SWORD HAD BEEN FORWARDED TO THE ABERDEEN PROVING GROUNDS IN MARYLAND.

MARCH, 1944--THE PROVING GROUNDS SAID BURDETT WOULD HAVE TO APPLY TO THE ARMY CHIEF OF ORDNANCE IN WASHINGTON. BESIDES, THE SWORD WOULD BE HARD TO FIND AMONG ALL THE STUFF AT ABERDEEN.

DECEMBER, 1944--AN OFFICER AT THE ORDNANCE CHIEF'S OFFICE SAID BECAUSE 18 MONTHS HAD ELAPSED SINCE THE TROPHIES WERE BROUGHT INTO THE COUNTRY, THERE WAS NO WAY OF RECOVERING THEM. BESIDES, THEY WERE BEING USED FOR TRAINING PURPOSES.

FEBRUARY, 1945--THE ARMY TECHNICAL INTELLIGENCE BRANCH IN WASHINGTON REPLIED, TO A LETTER FROM BURDETT, THAT HE HAD NOT OBTAINED PROPER AUTHORITY FOR BRINGING THE WEAPONS INTO THE UNITED STATES. BESIDES, THE MATTER NOW WAS TWO YEARS OLD.

MARCH, 1947--MARINE CORPS HEADQUARTERS COULDN'T HELP. BESIDES, U.S. CODES HOLD THAT CAPTURED ENEMY EQUIPMENT IS GOVERNMENT PROPERTY.

AT THIS POINT, BURDETT APPEALED TO THE AMERICAN LEGION. HIGHER ECHELONS OF THE SERVICES WERE APPROACHED, AND MARINE HEADQUARTERS SAID OK THIS WEEK. SO DID THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

BURDETT, DISCHARGED FROM THE MARINES IN SEPTEMBER, 1945, AS A STAFF SERGEANT, IS TO RECEIVE HIS SWORD WITHIN A MONTH, THE LEGION SAID--BY EXPRESS FROM ABERDEEN. SIXTY-FOUR OTHER SAMURAI SABERS ARE STILL IN STORAGE THERE.

DUTCH SEIZE OIL AND COAL

Gains Made In Sumatra Producing Sections

SWINTON

Batavia, Java, July 28 (AP)—The Netherlands Army said today Dutch military columns, driving 100 miles in a week, had captured important coal and oil areas in southern Sumatra.

Other Dutch troops knifed through western Java in an effort to isolate another big section of Indonesian territory, it was announced.

NIGHT

The Indonesian Army also reported successes, declaring that republican troops had captured a Dutch force of 763 men with all its weapons at Soekaboemi, near Bandoeng, and had penetrated the southern outskirts of Bandoeng, in western Java, and there "engaged the Dutch forces in street fighting."

India To Ask U.N. Action

[In New Delhi, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Vice President of the Indian interim Government, announced that India would bring the Indonesian hostilities to the attention of the United Nations tomorrow in an effort to halt the fighting as soon as possible.]

The Dutch, in two communiqués, said their troops in Sumatra had captured, virtually intact, the oilfield town of Batoeradja, 80 miles southwest of their jumping-off place at Palembang, and also the Boekit Assam coal mines, 20 miles farther on.

The announcement said occupation of the Shell and Standard Vacuum oil holdings at Batoeradja was being consolidated and that the attitude of remaining oilfield personnel appeared "favorable."

Two Oil-Well Fires Put Out

Two oil well fires in the Standard Vacuum Maatschappy field in south Sumatra, 70 miles southwest of Palembang, were reported by a company official tonight to have been extinguished. He said the fires were put out after burning from early Saturday afternoon to midmorning Sunday. He said he assumed the fires were set as part of the Indonesian scorched earth policy.

The Dutch said that, while retreating Indonesians burned several villages on the road to Sekajoe, northwest of Palembang, large quantities of arms were captured.

A Dutch amphibious force was reported to have captured a republican battery on Bankoed Bay, near Padang, on Sumatra's southwest coast. Indonesian sources said their troops had filtered into Medan, on the northwest coast of Sumatra, but the Dutch said this declaration was "fantastic."

Troops Supplied By Air

The Dutch said their columns in Java and Sumatra were moving so swiftly that in some cases they outran their supply lines and had to be supplied by air.

The columns which seized the Boekit Assam coal mines, the Dutch Army said, also swept through Moerara Enim and Lahat, 90 and 100 miles southwest of Palembang, thus nearly sealing off a large portion of eastern Sumatra.

Other Dutch troops, communiqués said, reached Pengalengan, 18 miles south of Bandoeng and only 20 miles from the south coast of Java. Should these troops reach the coast they would cut off another big segment of western Java. Yesterday the Dutch said their forces had reached the south coast at Palaboehanratoe, 78 miles farther to the west, isolating that area.

Paratroop Use Reported

Skirmishing also was reported underway between Dutch and Indonesian forces on the terraced mountain slopes of Linggadjati, where nine months ago the Dutch and Republican Governments negotiated the Cheribon agreement for a United States of Indonesia.

The Indonesians also reported the first use of Dutch parachute troopers since hostilities began. A republican communiqué said a small force dropped last Friday at Lamadjang, 20 miles south of Bandoeng, but was wiped out. The town was said to have been demolished by artillery fire.

Scorched Earth Threats

The Dutch communiqués today suggested that the army's strategy was to chop up Sumatra and Java into small pieces, isolated from each other. The Government's announced intention is to mop up such isolated areas, restore civil administration and get the bottled-up stockpiles of raw materials moving into trade channels, before going on to new operations.

Thus far, the Dutch said they have not tried to seize Jogjakarta the Indonesian republic's capital, but have limited their operations in central Java to the area around Semarang.

The Indonesian radio broadcast renewed threats of a sweeping scorched earth policy and Dutch air reconnaissance reported that almost every major building in the beautiful East Java resort city of Malang had been destroyed. Malang is 12 miles south of Lawang, farthest point of one Dutch advance.

An Indonesian Army commentator broadcast an assertion that the Dutch were employing four divisions and two brigades equipped with mechanized weapons.

The commentator asserted the republicans had killed "several hundred of Dutch soldiers" and had shot down five Dutch planes. Antara, the Indonesian news agency, said 430 Dutch soldiers were reported killed and wounded Wednesday night during an Indonesian attack on Modjokerto, in East Java. The reports said at least 150 Dutch troops were slain in the attack, made by 1,500 Indonesians.

Dutch Seize Oil, Coal Areas On Sumatra

STANLEY SWINTON

Batavia, Java, July 28 (AP)—Dutch military headquarters announced today sweeping new successes in eastern Sumatra, reporting the capture virtually intact of vital coal and oil regions more than 100 miles from the jumping-off point of Dutch troops at Palembang.

The advances were announced as the Netherlands Navy ordered the Java ports of Cheribon, Probolinggo and Banjoewangi opened to normal trade in an effort to get great stores of captured raw materials moving to world markets.

In two separate communiqués, the Dutch announced that they had captured the rich Sumatra oilfield town of Batoeradja, 80 miles southwest of Palembang, and the important Boekit Assam coal mines, 20 miles to the southwest.

DAY

No Resistance

Batoeradja was seized intact without resistance, the announcement said. It asserted that the occupation of the Shell and Standard Vacuum oil holdings there was being consolidated. The attitude of the remaining oilfield personnel "seems favorable.," it added.

The Dutch said they had captured large quantities of arms in the south Sumatra operations, but said the retreating Indonesians had burned several villages on the road to Sekajoe, some 62 miles northwest of Palembang.

Midway on the southwest coast of Sumatra, near Padang, a small Dutch amphibious force was reported to have captured a Republican battery on Bankoed Bay which had been harassing Dutch shipping.

Called Fantastic

The Dutch described as "fantastic" a Republican radio report that Indonesian troops had filtered into Medan, on the northeast coast of Sumatra.

The columns which seized the Boekit Assam mines also swept through the towns of Moerara Enim and Lahat, situated, respectively, 90 and 100 miles southwest of Palembang, thus virtually slicing off a large segment of eastern Sumatra.

In western Java, Dutch troops thrust south to Pengalengan, 18 miles south of Bandoeng and only 20 miles from the south coast of the island.

Hole Consolidated

Yesterday the Dutch reached the south coast at Palaboehanratoe, 78 miles farther west. Should they drive through the last 20 miles from Pengalengan to the south coast, another huge area of west Java would be isolated from the Indonesian republic.

In the north coast of Java the Dutch consolidated their hold on the port of Tegal, 40 miles east of Cheribon.

A republican army communiqué said that Tegal had fallen only after stiff fighting and reported the town had been put to the torch. The Dutch, however, asserted that republican forces "threw away their uniforms and weapons and cheered the oncoming Netherlands troops."

Planes Drop Supplies

So fast were Dutch columns movthrough both Java and Sumatra that they were reported far ahead of their supply lines in many cases and aircraft were called upon to drop supplies to them.

Sandwiched in between the two main Dutch-held areas in Java is a republican area from which the Indonesians claim their forces are carrying out infiltrations behind the Dutch spreaheads at numerous points.

There has been no indication from Dutch communiqués, however, that these infiltration tactics have had any important results.

Few Oil Tanks Fired

In Sumatra, consolidation of their position in the oil fields has been the first Dutch consideration. Army sources said there had been some Indonesian infiltrations there and that a few oil tanks had been fired.

Netherlands Troops Capture Oil and Coal Districts in Sumatra Drive

DAY

New Delhi, July 28 (A. P.).—Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, vice-president of the Indian Interim Government, announced today that India would press Indonesia's case before the United Nations, probably tomorrow morning, and expected the support of certain other powers.

At the same time, Nehru announced that India "almost immediately" would bar Dutch aircraft from landing on Indian airfields, and flying over India. India's goal is to bring the quickest possible end to the fighting and assure that justice is done, Nehru said at a news conference.

"We are not at war with the Dutch Government," he said, "and we do not intend to be at war with the Dutch Government or any other government."

India, Nehru said, will not send arms to Indonesia because such an act would be "tantamount to declaring war" upon the Dutch. However, he said, his country was contemplating closing ports to all Dutch shipping and certainly would bar aircraft of any country which might attempt to carry supplies to the Dutch.

Nehru said that India turned first to Britain and the United States, and in recent days has exchanged formal and informal communications with Australia and "we now propose in a few hours" to carry the case formally to the U. N.

India Demands U.N. Act to Halt Indonesia War

Nehru Says Appeal Will Be Made Today; Dutch Planes Are Barred From India

G. MILTON KELLY

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI, July 28.—India intends to bring the Indonesian problem before the United Nations tomorrow morning and to press for an early end to the fighting in the Netherlands Indies, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, vice-president of the executive council in the Indian interim government, announced today.

He told a news conference that India "almost immediately" will bar Dutch planes from Indian airfields and from flying over India, and is contemplating closing Indian ports to Dutch shipping. He said India "certainly" would bar planes of any country attempting to carry supplies to the Dutch.

The Dutch K. L. M. line uses Indian fields on the route between Holland, Singapore and Batavia.

Mr. Nehru said he would ask Ceylon to take action similar to India's with regard to shipping and planes.

The government of Pakistan (the Moslem state to be set up in India) cannot begin to function until the British hand over power, as they are to do Aug. 15, but Mr. Nehru took great pains to emphasize that all he was doing was with the indorsement of Pakistan. Mohammed Ali Jinnah, Governor General-designate of Pakistan, is on record as saying that Pakistan intends to back Indonesia with more than words when Pakistan comes into official being.

Mr. Nehru declared emphatically that India intends to take no steps which might lead to war. He said: "We are not at war with the Dutch government, and we do not intend to be at war with the Dutch government, or any other government."

India's goal, Mr. Nehru continued, is to bring the fighting in Indonesia to an end as swiftly as possible and to make certain that justice is done. He said India will not send arms to Indonesia, because that would be "tantamount to declaring war" upon the Dutch.

In presenting the Indonesian case to the United Nations, Mr. Nehru said, India expects the support of other powers. He said India had not acted previously because "we though the best way was in conjunction with other powers."

He said India turned first to Great Britain and the United States, and later to Australia. "We now propose in a few hours" to present the Indonesian affair to the U. N., Mr. Nehru said, adding that he meant tomorrow morning, unless "something happens" such as an end to hostilities.

Mr. Nehru angrily enunciated again the policy that armed action by any Western power on Asiatic soil is an "insult" to all Asia, which Asia must resent and resist.

Moslem Issue Raised

CAIRO, July 28 (AP)—Sheikh Hassan El Banna, Moslem Brotherhood leader, today cabled the Dutch Minister in Cairo protesting the Dutch "attack" on Indonesia, which he described as an "unfriendly act against the Arab and Islamic world."

The Moslem leader asserted that the brotherhood would "lay responsibility on the Netherlands for killing many Moslems in independent Moslem Indonesia."

Sheikh El Banna also cabled to Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary General, asking "on behalf of the Arab and Islamic world that the United Nations interfere to stop aggression."

BATAVIA, Java, July 28 (AP)—A Netherlands Army communique:

On July 28 Pengalengan, thirty kilometers south of Bandung, was occupied.

After offering slight initial resistance, Republican troops in Tegal threw away their uniforms and weapons and cheered oncoming Netherlands troops.

In South Sumatra, Murara Enim and Lahat, situated respectively 150 and 165 kilometers southwest of Palembang, were occupied. The Bukit Assam coal mines were reached at the same time. The Netherlands advance is now a distance of 165 kilometers beyond Palembang.

The Netherlands air force made extensive reconnaissance flights and dropped food supplies to troops at the front.

Indonesian

BATAVIA, July 28 (AP)—An Indonesian Republican Army communique:

East Java: July 26—Singasari was recaptured.

One Dutch company moved toward the Suchi area. Two sections moved toward Semampir, west of Surabaya. One section attacked Banjaranjar. Fighting ensued for two hours. The Dutch retreated.

Six trucks supported by motorcycles attacked Lusari, north of Singasari. Two trucks were destroyed, one motorcycle captured, twenty-five Dutch soldiers killed and twelve Indonesians wounded. Four Dutch trucks on the way back were attacked by a mobile motor brigade of Indonesians. Two more Dutch trucks were destroyed.

One tank was destroyed between Salatiga and Ambarawa. Communications between Salatiga and Ambarawa were cut off.

West Java: Lamajang near Pengalengan was attacked from the air. Lamajang was completely destroyed during this air raid.

The Dutch dropped one section of paratroops at Lamajang which immediately was attacked by the Army and the people.

July 26: In Soreang fighting continued. Lemburawi is in the hands of the Indonesians.

Indonesian Republican Army communique No. 22 as broadcast from Jogjakarta and recorded today in Batavia by an unofficial monitor:

East Java: July 27—Two sections of Dutch troops engaged the Indonesians at Gunung Triti and Pasirian.

July 28—Indonesians attacked the Dutch near Cherme and the Dutch retreated after offering some resistance. Fighting at Cherme is continuing. Indonesians are continuing to attack Dutch positions on all fronts.

Central Java: July 27—Dutch naval vessels approached Chilachap and an artillery duel ensued. Hits were recorded on the stern of a Dutch vessel, which withdrew listing heavily. Indonesians checked a Dutch advance at Linggapeora, north of Bumiaju, where fighting is progressing. Fighting continues at Lembangan, near Prupek. Advance Dutch patrols based at Salitaga have been seen to be made up mostly of heihos (former slave laborers of the Japanese) and Japanese. Dutch troops followed in armored cars. All men under the age of 50 are being forced to take part in the fighting under threat of being shot by the Dutch.

July 28—Fighting continues at Majawetan. The Dutch used nineteen tanks and thirty truckloads of infantry. The trucks bore markings of the Indonesian Red Cross and Central Food Distribution Administration. When they moved toward Indonesian positions, the foremost trucks were loaded with women.

Skirmishes occurred at Chilimus, between Cheribon and Kuninga, and at Linggadjati. The Indonesians are on the offensive in the southwest sector of the Semarang front. Dutch attempts to repair damaged bridges were frustrated. Indonesians resisted a fresh Dutch attack against Jagadalam, southeast of Semarang. Ambarawaka was attacked by Dutch mortars. Nine bombs were dropped on Mirasaba by Dutch planes.

West Java: 763 soldiers in Dutch service surrendered to the Indonesian Army with their weapons.

Chiparaj was recaptured by the Indonesians on July 25. Indonesians now have entered the southern part of Bandung, where clashes are taking place within the city.

RUSSIANS ASKED BRITISH TO EASE '41 LOAN TERMS

Wanted 40 Per Cent Cash Payment Waived, Cripps Tells Parliament

SO TRADE TALKS COLLAPSED

Cabinet Official Says Concessions Would Have Involved Heavy Losses to England.

London, July 28 (A. P.).—Sir Stafford Cripps told Parliament today that British-Russian trade treaty negotiations broke down in Moscow last week because of Soviet demands for revision of the 1941 loan agreement. Russia owes Great Britain £55,000,000 ($220,000,000) under terms of the civil credit agreement.

Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, said British negotiators offered a number of concessions, but "we could not go the whole way the Soviet Government demanded as a condition of an agreement."

The British had hoped for wheat, timber and canned fish. The Russians wanted heavy machinery, rails and pipes. The Moscow radio asserted that the talks broke down because Britain would not guarantee some deliveries and because credit terms could not be reconciled.

The British delegation headed by J. Harold Wilson returned Friday from Moscow after five weeks of intensive and detailed negotiations.

Hopes Failure Is Temporary.

Cripps said the British Labor Government wished to expand trade with Russia and said he hoped the disappointing failure was only "temporary." He did not mention the Moscow radio report, which a spokesman for the Board of Trade called "very Russian-sided."

Cripps indicated that success had been almost in sight when the talks collapsed on Soviet credit demands. He explained: "We had succeeded in reaching agreement on all matters within the trade field, including quantities, prices and terms and conditions of shipment. Contracts for building timber and pit wood were signed and that for cereals was drawn up and practically ready for signature. Agreement also was reached on the quantities of equipment to be bought by the Soviet importing organization from British firms. He said the Russians specifically "asked for a reduction in the rate of interest to a half of one per cent, a waiving of the obligation to pay 40 per cent cash paymnet in respect to all contracts not yet signed and for an adjustment in the terms of the repayment of the credit so as to spread the payments over twelve annual installments instead of five."

Couldn't Go Whole Way.

"While we were prepared to meet the whole of their requests for reducing the rate of interest to a one-half of 1 per cent, to waive the 40 per cent cash payment in respect to all contracts not yet signed and to go some way, at heavy cost, toward meeting the Soviet request for lengthening the period of repayment of all advances, we could not go the whole way the Soviet Government demanded as a condition of an agreement," he said.

"The concessions we were prepared to make involved us in a heavy loss in the next three or four years and, in view of our serious overseas financial position, we could not meet what the Soviet Government, after moving some way to meet us, stated were their minimum terms.

"In view of the failure to agree, the position is that the trade agreement, which was practically complete in draft, was not signed and, for our part, the financial conveyances we were prepared to offer were withdrawn, leaving the terms of the 1941 agreement in full force."

Cripps said that before the talks broke down, the Russians offered to supply "really substantial quantities of cereals over the next four years," beginning with 1,000,000 tons of the 1947 harvest.

Trade-Deal Report 'Russian-Sided'

London, July 28 (AP)—A Board of Trade spokesman today described as "very Russian-sided" a Moscow radio report blaming Britain for the breakdown of negotiations for an Anglo-Soviet trade agreement.

The spokesman, the Foreign Office and other authoritative British sources declined further comment.

Harold J. Wilson, chief British negotiator who returned from Moscow last week, was expected to report on the negotiations in the House of Commons soon.

Wilson planned to report to Prime Minister Attlee and the Cabinet today.

Moscow radio said the talks broke up because Britain would not guarantee delivery of some capital goods offered and because the negotiators could not agree on credit terms.

Both Britain and Russia had hoped for an agreement whereby Britain would send Russia heavy machinery, rails and pipes in exchange for Soviet wheat, timber and tinned salmon.

British officials regarded the projected pact as politically important because it would have linked Russia and the West in times when many such links were breaking.

Well-informed Britons did not rule out the possibility that Wilson's return was another move in a long bargaining process. There was increasing doubt, however, that this was the case.

Attlee Calls Cabinet Leaders On New Crisis

Britons Speculate On Chances Of Prime Minister Weathering Latest Economic Storm

London, July 28 (AP)—Politicians and voters weighed tonight the chances of Britain's Labor Government weathering the nation's growing economic storm after the pro-Labor London Daily Mirror called on Prime Minister Attlee to resign.

Attlee summoned his top ranking ministers—including Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary, and Herbert Morrison, Government leader in the House of Commons—to a conference at No. 10 Downing Street to discuss economic policy.

The same subject is expected to be discussed Wednesday when Attlee meets with Labor members of Parliament in a caucus. The Mirror said the invitation extended Attlee to attend the caucus was "more in the nature of a summons."

"Mr. Attlee Should Go"

In its editorial, the first of its kind from any strongly pro-Government newspaper, the Mirror called for the naming of a new Labor Prime Minister and said:

"There is no constant, central control of Government. Mr. Attlee leaves it to others. . . . His cabinet system should go. So should Mr. Attlee."

The Prime Minister's residence declined comment on the editorial.

These questions occupied the attention of political circles:

1. Will Attlee's Government be driven by economic necessity to take Conservatives and Liberals into partnership, as did the last previous Labor Government under Ramsay MacDonald in 1931?

Views Of Conservatives

2. Or will Attlee's Cabinet, accepting its heavy majority in the House of Commons as a five-year mandate from the people, continue to shoulder the burden of postwar recovery by itself until its term of office expires in 1950?

Some Conservatives said publicly they expected 1931 to repeat itself, and the possibility was recognized in a week-end speech by Bevin, who begged the nation's workers not to let this happen.

For the past two weeks political columnists have discussed the possibility of a coalition government. Conservatives have no united policy on this subject. Some want a coalition, others want no part of the present Government's troubles and still a third group would prefer a general election in the hope of reducing the Labor party's majority or returning to power themselves.

Conditions Are Different

The prevailing non-partisan opinion was that Labor could "carry on" alone or call a general election, perhaps before the end of this year, rather than call on its opposition for help.

Conditions today are vastly different—in some cases exactly the opposite—of what they were in 1931, although Britain's economic plight is no less serious.

Then there was unemployment soaring toward 3,000,000; goods piling up in warehouses for lack of buyers; a heavy drain on the Bank of England's gold, and a world-wide slump made worse by the Wall Street crash.

Now an acute shortage of labor is the problem. Britain is far short of her export goal and her people can't buy what they want. Gold trading is strictly controlled.

There is this further obstacle to a coalition. After MacDonald formed such a Cabinet, the Labor Party Congress amended the party's constitution so as to prevent any future Labor Government from taking a step of this sort without the approval of the Labor party as a whole.

Before a coalition could be formed now a special Labor Party Congress would have to be called, and it was believed the chances of getting approval for a coalition would be remote.

Bevin's Name Mentioned

Both Labor and Conservative newspapers have mentioned Bevin as a probable successor to Attlee in case of the latter's retirement.

Bevin, a former trade-union leader, was backed in some quarters last winter for a job as a so-called "economic czar" because of his success in mobilizing Britain's workers during the war.

Britain's economic troubles have been complicated by the fast expenditure of the dollar loan, expected to be exhausted in December, and by the nation's failure to produce enough coal and export products.

A wave of selling hit the stock market today, and the Conservative Evening Standard blamed "increasing nervousness over the economic outlook." Prices dropped sharply in leading industrial stocks.

ATTLEE ASKED TO QUIT

London, July 28 (A. P.).—Declaring that Prime Minister Attlee had failed to cope with the nation's pressing economic problems, the Daily Mirror urged him to resign today and suggested that the rank and file of the Labor party force him out if he failed to do so.

The Mirror—a strong supporter of Labor—asserted that Attlee had "devised a Cabinet system which merely 'passes the buck' to Government departments" and complained that "there is no constant central control of the Government."

"His Cabinet should go," the Mirror said editorially. "So should Mr. Attlee. The need for a change is obvious and urgent."

De Gaulle Charges Stalin's Tools Try To Enslave France

By the Associated Press.

RENNES, France, July 28.—Gen. Charles de Gaulle accused French Communists yesterday of exclusively serving Moscow's orders and deliberately trying to foment strik and encourage class hatred.

"Combining her military and economic pressure with the interior action of men who are entirely submissive to her," Gen. de Gualle said, "Soviet Russia has already established, or is trying to establish by intermediaries, a regime of totalitarian dictatorship, which is only the dependence and emanation of its own, on certain allied nations—Poland, Yugoslavia, Albania—or on certain defeated countries—Prussia, Saxony, Romania, Hungry, Bulgaria."

Gen. de Gualle charged that the French Communist party was composed of men "who have taken a vow of obedience to the orders of a foreign enterprise of domination, directed by the masters of a grand slave power."

13,000,000 Gift Packages From U. S. in Last 13 Months

BERLIN, July 28 (AP).—In the last thirteen months private citizens in the United States have sent to needy civilians in Germany nearly 13,000,000 gift packages, conservatively estimated to have contained more than 100,000,000 pounds of food, clothing and other items.

This private relief does not include the thousands of CARE (Co-operative for American Remittances to Europe) packages which have been paid for in the United States and delivered to Key Germans In Soviet Zone Are Vetoed By U.S.

Berlin, July 28 (AP)—United States authorities have informed the Russians that the five German minister-presidents in the Soviet occupation zone will be unacceptable as candidates for any future central government of Germany because of a "malicious" charge that the Western occupying powers have nurtured Fascism, authoritative American sources said today.

By this action the Americans stamped a veto upon at least three leading officials of the Soviet-sponsored, Communist-dominated Socialist Unity party (SED), which holds most key posts in the Russian zone's German administration.

Refused Council Audience

Their attack was contained in a statement submitted to the Allied control authority in connection with the request that they be given an audience in the control council to discuss Germany's problems.

In this statement, the eastern zone Germans—with the apparent tacit approval of the Russians—accused the United States and Britain of tearing Germany apart and of failure to remove leading Nazis, the informants said.

When this statement reached the Allied co-ordinating committee, together with recommendations submitted by minister-presidents of the three western zones, American and British anger blazed.

Disqualified By Such Talk

The American representatives t old the Russians that such language would not be tolerated from the Germans and that any German official who held such attitudes toward any of the occupying powers disqualified himself from consideration for participation in any central German Government setup under four-power supervision.

Taking no notice of the hundreds of millions of dollars worth of food supplied to Germany at the expense of British and American taxpayers, the Soviet zone officials demanded immediate seizure of large estates in "those sections of Germany where crops from large estates unjustly enrich the remaining junkers and estate owners."

They advocated a land law revision like that carried out in the Russian zone and also demanded approval of reparations out of current industrial production, such as the Russians are extracting from Germany.

Russians Are Offended

Authoritative sources said the Russians also were offended at the tone of recommendations made by the western zone Germans.

These Germans, whose all-Germany meeting in Munich several months ago was boycotted by the eastern zone, complained that "for two years the German people are waiting in vain for clarification of their fate."

Their sharpest remark was:

"If it was a violation of international law that Hitler ravaged the world with a criminal war, it equally violates established principles of international law to deny peace and adequate means of existence of a democratic Germany."

They asked immediate economic unification of Germany, pump priming loans to supply food and materials, and limitation on coal exports to "guarantee a minimum supply for household and heating needs."

They also pleaded for the release of 2,000,000 German prisoners of war still held in captivity—"many perishing from hunger, exhaustion and homesickness." Their statement mentioned no occupying power, although Russia still holds most of these prisoners.

FIVE GERMANS BLACKBALLED

Report Says U.S. Acted Against Soviet-Zone Officials

Berlin, July 28 (AP)—Authoritative American sources said today that the United States has blackballed the five German minister-presidents in the Russian occupation zone from holding office in any future central government for Germany.

These informants said American authorities had informed Soviet officials that the German minister-presidents would be unacceptable because of a "malicious and insulting" accusation that the Western occupying powers have fostered fascism.

Contained In Statement

At least three of the Germans are leading officials of the Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity (SED) party, whose members hold most key posts in the Russian zone's German administration.

The American sources said the attack which impelled the United States action was contained in a recent statement submitted to the Allied Control Authority requesting an audience to discuss German problems.

The statement, apparently submitted with at least the tacit approval of the Russians, accused the United States and Britain of tearing Germany apart and of nurturing fascism by failing to remove leading Nazis.

"Combines In Existence"

"In our view," the statement said, "the causes of Germany's distress are that in many parts of Germany Nazi elements are allowed in leading economic organizations on a large scale, combines remain in existence, and big estate owners still dominate the country."

...out of warehoused stocks ...e. It also is apart from im-orts of hundreds of millions of ollars worth of grain and other oodstuffs from the United States, aid for by United States and ritish taxpayers.

As soon as the statement was ceived, informants said, Ameri-n representatives informed the ssians that such talk was in-lerable and that any German offi-cial holding such views toward any occupying power would be dis-qualified as a candidate for partici-pation in any central German Government established under four-power supervision.

Russians Were Offended

Well-qualified informants said the Russians were offended at the tone of recommendations made by Western Zone German officials some time ago at a Munich meeting boycotted by Russian Zone Germans.

That meeting recommended immediate unification of Germany, pump priming loans for food and materials, limitation of coal exports and release of 2,000,000 German prisoners of war. Russia holds most of these prisoners.

The later statement of the Russian Zone Germans attacked the United States British zone economic merger, advocated immediate seizure of large estates in "those sections of Germany where crops from large estates unjustly enrich the remaining Junkers and estate owners," advocated a land law revision similar to that carried out in the Russian zone and demanded approval for payment of reparations from current production.

Reich Miners Ask Early Ruhr Decision

Essen, July 28 (AP)—On the eve of the Washington three-power Ruhr coal talks, the German coal miners' union appealed to the conference today to make an early decision about the future status of the German coal industry.

In a statement made public by the chairman of the industry and the mining union, the Ruhr miners warned against a possible return of the mines to their "previous owners or any other private capitalistic successors."

"The miners maintain their demand for socialization," the statement continued. "Fuel-supply difficulties threaten to become insurmountable this coming winter, if the Ruhr mines and the German coal-mining industry in general is not organized in the form of its own democratic coal agency, with equal participation of the workers."

The statement urged German control of the entire German coal industry.

The German miners appealed to the Washington three-power conference "to bring about an early decision in this direction."

Anti-Red Plot Reported Smashed in Albania

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, July 28.—Advices from Ioannina, in northern Greece, reported today that the Albanian government had squelched a plot apparently aimed at Col. Enver Hoxha, Communist premier of Albania, and had arrested about 1200 members of the armed forces.

The border advices, which were sketchy, said a member of the Albanian parliament named Radoviskika, an underground resistance leader during the war, was a leader of the alleged plot.

Russian Girls Wear Hosiery From Poland

Warsaw, Poland, July 28 (AP)—The well-dressed Russian girl is going heavily for Polish hosiery.

Fifty thousand pairs of silk stockings were exported to the Soviet Union in a single month.

The journal Economic Daily also reported that between April 20 and May 20, 90,000 pounds of rayon yarn, 100,000 meters of cotton fabrics and 17,000 meters of woolen fabrics were sent to the United Kingdom.

Other exportations included 40,000 pounds of artificial yarn to Switzerland, 55,000 meters of woolen fabrics to Yugoslavia and 1,000,000 meters of cotton fabrics, plush and carpets to Sweden.

WHEAT CROP GOOD IN SOVIET

Tass Says 1,000,000 Bushels Were Ready For Britain

Moscow, July 28 (AP)—A Tass communiqué presenting the Soviet side of the recently halted British-Russian trade talks gave the Russian people today the first authoritatively published news that this year's wheat crop in the Soviet Union generally is excellent.

The Soviet news agency's report said the U.S.S.R. could have sold Britain 1,000,000 tons out of this year's harvest and 1,500,000 tons out of the 1948 crop.

The communiqué also brought good news to the people of eastern European nations, who hope to buy or trade grain with the Soviet Union this year.

Some Express Relief

Representatives of several countries watched the British-Soviet trade talks as closely as they could. Some of them expressed relief when the talks broke down, reasoning that if the Soviet Union sold Britain large amounts of grain, this might cut into the total they hoped to get.

If Russia was in a position to offer Britain 1,000,000 tons of grain this year, it was believed she probably was equipped to furnish grain to Finland, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Yugoslavia, Romania, Hungary, Albania, Bulgaria and, perhaps, France, Norway and Austria.

It also was of interest to the Soviet people that, from the tone of the communiqué, the Soviet Union apparently desired to do business with Britain. They reasoned from this that the door definitely was still open to western European nations and even to the United States for strict country-to-country business deals despite Russia's refusal to participate in the Marshall proposal.

May Enter World Markets

As grain from the already harvested winter wheat crop poured into flour mills, the newspaper Soviet Agriculture criticized the way the Ukraine was harvesting the crop, saying that threshing was behind in Kharkov, Krovograd and other regions. Concrete measures should be taken, the newspaper added, to speed up the threshing and delivery of grain.

Some Moscow observers speculated that the Soviet Union might enter the world grain markets in the future on a large scale and eventually become a competitor of the United States and Canada in volume exports.

It also was reported by one well-informed Moscow diplomat that the Russians at one time during the trade talks with the British had mentioned a figure many times 1,000,000 tons as the possible grain export from the Soviet Union in 1950, the last year of the Russians' fourth five-year plan.

It was pointed out that the effect of such a development on international wheat prices could be considerable.

Soviet Grain Crop Excellent

Wheat Pouring Into Mills—Eastern Europe Expects to Get Some of It.

Moscow, July 28 (A. P.).—The Soviet people received today the first authoritatively published news that this year's wheat crop is generally excellent. The news was given in a Tass communique which presented the Soviet side in the recently halted British-Russian economic and trade talks.

Specifically what appealed most to the people was Tass' report that the U. S. S. R. could have sold Great Britain 1,000,000 tons of this year's harvest and 1,500,000 tons out of the 1948 crop.

Grain from the already harvested winter wheat is pouring into the flour mills. In Moscow, bread from the new harvest is in stores and restaurants.

It was also of interest to the Soviet people that, from the tone of the communique, the Soviet Union apparently desired to do business with Britain. From this they reasoned that despite the Russian refusal to participate in the Marshall proposal, the door definitely was still open to western European nations and even to the United States for strict country-to-country business deals.

Good News for Eastern Europe.

The communique also brought good news to the people of eastern European nations who hope to buy or trade grain with the Soviet Union this year. If Russia is in a position to offer Britain 1,000,000 tons this year, she probably is equipped to furnish grain also to Finland, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Yugoslavia, Romania, Hungary, Albania, Bulgaria and perhaps France, Norway and Austria.

Representatives of several countries watched the British-Soviet trade talks as closely as they could. Some of them, reasoning that if the Soviet Union sold Britain large amounts of grain this might cut down the total they hoped to get, expressed relief as the talks broke down.

3 IRGUN MEN MAY DIE TODAY

Action To Be Taken Despite Threats, British Say

Jerusalem, Palestine, July 28 (AP). Violence flared over Palestine tonight as the British, defying a Jewish underground threat to "bathe the Holy Land with blood," prepared to execute three condemned members of Irgun Zvai Leumi.

While an official British announcement that the extremists would die tomorrow did not specify the time or place of the executions, a Government source said unofficially the Irgunists would be hanged in Acre Prison between 3 A.M. and 4 A.M. (8 P.M. and 9 P.M., E.S.T., Monday).

In retaliation for the death sentences imposed on the three Jews, two kidnapped British sergeants were placed on trial before an Irgunist court composed of former Polish laywers and, a Jewish underground source said in Tel Aviv, had been condemned to death.

Confirmed By Leader

The sentences were affirmed by Menachem Beigin, Irgunist commander-in-chief, the source said. He added it was "unlikely that they (the sergeants) will be executed until the final disposition of the case of our three soldiers."

The three Irgunists—Meir Nakar, Yacoub Weiss and Absolom Habib—were convicted on charges that they took part in the May 4 prison delivery at Acre, in which 251 prisoners were liberated and sixteen persons killed. Two other Irgunists were sentenced to life imprisonment on the same charges.

In what appeared to be a last desperate drive to free the kidnapped sergeants—Slifford Martin and Mervin Paice, who were abducted July 12 at Natanya as hosstages for the doomed underground members—British troops and police combed eight Jewish areas near Tel Aviv tonight.

Troops Cover Area

Large number of troops in heavy armored vehicles fanned out over the Tel Aviv area. In Palestine, Jewish residents stocked great quantities of extra household supplies, apparently fearing a house curfew may be ordered.

Six persons were wounded tonight, four of them seriously, in an explosion outside an open-air theater in the 1st British Infantry Camp in Tel Litvinsky, near Tel Aviv.

The blast was the sixth terrorist attack in Palestine during the day. Four of them occurred in Palestine where a hand grenade was thrown, without damage or casualties, at two military vehicles. An explosion occurred near an ice plant. Elsewhere, attackers fired on a police car in King George avenue and four men sprayed automatic weapon fire at troops guarding the district commissioner's office.

Three Bombs Found

In Sarafand, site of a British military camp in Southern Palestine, soldiers found three unexploded phosphorous bombs.

The British decision to hang the three Jews was taken despite clemency pleas of relatives to a United Nations special commission and to Palestine's High Commissioner, General Sir Alan Cunningham.

Isaac Halevi Hertzog, Palestine's chief rabbi, sent a last-minute appeal to Cunningham tonight, asking that the death sentences be commuted "in view of the tense political situation in Palestine and because the Palestine problem now is under consideration by the United Nations."

Prison Guard Increased

It was reported unofficially that a heavy military guard had been placed around the Acre Prison area.

Charges Against Sergeants

If carried out as scheduled, the executions will be the first in Palestine since Dov Bela Gruner and three other Irgun men were hanged at Acre April 16.

Underground informants in Tel Aviv said before the British announcement that the trial of the two sergeants was being conducted along the same lines as the British military court which convicted and sentenced the Irgunists.

They said the charges against the sergeants included: "being a member of an armed force illegally occupying Palestine; illegally carrying weapons in the uniform of the enemy; being members of a force conspiring to oppress the rightful citizens of Palestine."

Both Martin and Paice were members of a special army investigating squad.

Jews Sent To Cyprus

In Haifa, meanwhile, 800 of 1,100 visaless Jews—who arrived aboard two small wooden vessels early today after a futile effort to run the British blockade—were sent to Cyprus detention camps. Officials said the others would be sent as soon as ships became available.

The two vessels, sent by Hagana in an effort to break the British blockade of the Holy Land, were picked up off the coast yesterday by British naval craft.

One of the ships carried 396 oriental Jews from a North African port while the other, carrying Middle Europeans, came from a Yugoslav or Italian port, it was said.

Four Terrorist Acts Reported

Four incidents of terrorism were reported tonight in Jerusalem. A hand grenade was thrown, without damage or casualties, at two military vehicles; an explosion was reported near an ice plant; attackers fired on a police car in King George avenue and four men sprayed automatic weapon fire at troops guarding the district commissioner's office.

In Sarafand, site of a British military camp in southern Palestine, soldiers found three unexploded phosphorous bombs.

2 Refugee Ships Escorted Into Haifa Harbor

Haifa, July 28 (AP)—British naval forces escorted into Haifa harbor today two small wooden vessels jammed with approximately 1,100 uncertified Jewish immigrants and immediately transferred most of them to waiting British ships for deportation to Cyprus.

Both refugee ships were sponsored by Haganah, Jewish underground organization, in a new campaign to smash the British blockade barring Jewish immigration to the Holy Land.

The first ship to arrive today was the 300-ton motor-powered caique "Return to Zion"—originally named the Luciana—loaded with 396 immigrants who a Jewish source said had come from a North African port. The vessel carried a sign reading "Haganah ship" and flew the Zionist flag.

122 Children, 71 Women

Her passengers, who included 122 children and 71 women, were transferred quickly to British deportation ships, singing the "Hatikvah"—national Jewish anthem—as they walked the necessary 100 yards along the pier.

Four men and a woman, the first passengers to be removed, refused to budge and were carried off by troops of the British 6th Airborne Division. The remainder of the immigrants made the transfer without resistance.

Two ill men and five women were taken to a Government hospital.

Most of the passengers, said to be chiefly Oriental Jews, were young and most were in rags. Many were barefooted.

Second A Schooner

The second ship to arrive was the three-masted schooner Bruno, of Rome, which had been renamed "The Fourteen Heroes of Ez Zib" in memory of the members of the Jewish underground who died while blowing up a bridge last year near the Lebanon border.

Towed into port with disabled engines two hours after the arrival of the "Return to Zion," she was unloaded without incident. Her 700 passengers appeared to be mostly Middle-European Jews and Jewish sources said it was believed they had embarked in Yugoslavia or Italy. They were well supplied with canned milk from the United States and Denmark, with Argentine tinned beef and other food.

Of the total of 1,100 persons carried by the two ships approximately 300 were detained temporarily in Haifa pending arrival of additional British transports for the voyage to Cyprus.

British officials at the dock said neither ship resisted when naval forces boarded them in Palestine waters.

Curfew In Kefer Sava

Jerusalem, July 28 (AP)—A curfew was imposed on the Jewish settlement of Kefer Sava in the Palestine coastal plain today while police and the military searched the area.

Authorities were believed to be looking for two British sergeants, abducted recently by Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish extremist organization, and held as hostages for three condemned members of the underground.

Authorities also began searching today for arms and suspected extremists in some of the western and eastern suburbs of Jerusalem.

Refugees May Refuse To Leave British Ships In French Port

Marseille, France, July 28 (AP)—Three British ships carrying 4,500 Jewish refugees back from Palestine were expected to arrive in southern French waters early tomorrow, but Jewish sources predicted they would refuse to disembark.

French officials were preparing printed notices to be distributed among the refugees telling them they did not have to leave the British vessels, but that if they chose to do so, they would be assured food, shelter and medical attention.

Nearly 1,000 of the refugees, most of them Polish Jews, were reported ill.

May Refuse To Leave Ship

Jewish sources here said they were confident the refugees, barred from entrance into Palestine by British authorties, would refuse to leave the ships and that the British would be forced to transport them to Cyprus, where illegal immigrants to the Holy Land usualy are held until they can be admitted to Palestine under the quota.

The 4,500 refugees embarked from Sete, France, without immigration visas on the Exodus of 1947, formerly the S.S. President Warfield.

Intercepted by the British Navy, they were transferred to the British vessels and sent back to France rather than to Cyprus.

The British ships returning the refugees to France have been cruising 50 miles off the French coast, but the Destroyer Cardigan Bay which escorted them put into Marseille today and its chief officer, Capt. G. K. Collett, conferred with naval, army and hospital authorities in the city.

Consulate Is Guarded

The British Consulate in Marseille was guarded by eight French policemen.

Hospitals in Marseille and nearby towns have been prepared to receive the sick refugees, and a former United States Army camp at Malas has been readied for the others in case they disembark.

The French News Agency reported that tracts urged young men of Marseille to rendevous in the early morning hours and travel to Port-de-Bouc, where the British ships are to dock, saying it was necessary to oppose the landing of the refugees. The agency did not say who distributed the tracts.

Port-de-Bouc is 30 miles west of Marseille.

1,000 Jews Off Warfield Sick, French Say

Marseille, France, July 28 (AP)—French authorities said today that nearly 1,000 of 4,500 Jews, cruising offshore in three British deportation ships after being turned back from Palestine, were ill or needed medical care.

The Jews had approached Palestine without immigration visas in the Exodus of 1947, formerly the S.S. President Warfield, a Chesapeake Bay steamer. Their landing from the deportation vessels was scheduled for tomorrow.

The refugees departed from a French port for Palestine and the British shipped them back.

Guarded By Three Ships

Two British corvettes and the destroyer Cardigan Bay shepherded the refugee ships.

The Cardigan Bay put into harbor and its chief officer, Capt. G. K. Collett, had a long conversation with naval, army, hospital and other authorities of Marseille. He appeared to be in a rage when he returned to ship. The points of disagreement were not disclosed. Sailors on the destroyer said London had ordered them not to talk.

Eight French policemen guarded the British consulate, which remained closed today.

600 Hospital Beds Sought

Marseille hospitals were instructed to prepare 600 beds to receive sick jews and other hospitals in the vicinity were notified. For those not ill, the French prepared the camp of Malas, built by the United States Army as a staging area for troops. The camp is a few miles from Port-de-Boc, 30 miles east of here, where the refugees are expected to disembark.

The refugees, most of them Polish Jews, will be landed by launch from the three ships—the Empire Rival, Ocean Vigour and Runnymede Park. They were intercepted while trying to enter Palestine aboard the former Chesapeake bay steamer, President Warfield, which they renamed "Exodus 1947."

Nation Can Solve Red Problem, Chiang Says

Nanking, July 28 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek told a group of American editors yesterday that there would be no peace with the Communists and expressed confidence in his Government's ability to meet the Red problem.

Chiang, however, voiced "deep concern" on another matter: the "misleading" reports by certain American correspondents "will in time affect the friendly relations between our two countries."

The generalissimo declared that the Communists "are determined to continue their policy of open military rebellion and there is no possibility of resumption of peace negotiations."

"Won't Take Very Long"

But, he added, that although the problem was difficult "the Chinese Government will be able to solve it—and it will not take very long."

Of the writings of some American correspondents, Chiang said:

"I have been worried and deeply concerned over certain United States correspondents in China, who, because of their dissatisfaction with conditions in the postwar period here, have written certain reports and articles which are not only critical of the efficiency and moral practices of the Chinese Government, but even are misleading the American public to believe that the Chinese people as a whole are not respectable and do not deserve the friendship of the United States and other countries.

Hits Type Of Criticism

"Our Government welcomes any constructive criticism of the Government, but if such criticism goes to the extreme of hurting the honor and self respet of the people, I find it a great source of worry that it will in time affect the friendly relations between our two countries.

"The Chinese people have always been friends of the United States and grateful for the assistance of your country."

Burma Revolt Plot Reported Blocked

Opposition Myochit Party Said to Plan Coup

RANGOON, July 28 (AP).—Authoritative sources said today a plot to overthrow the Burmese government had been frustrated with the prompt dispatch northward of an armed police striking force from Rangoon.

Coinciding with these reports it was learned officially that "very large" numbers of armed Burmese police were rushed from Rangoon to the regions of Tharrawaddy, Prome, Pegu and Insein during the week end.

Unofficially, but from authoritative sources, it was stated that the alleged plot was planned by a "certain party."

At the same time the newspaper "Rangoon Daily" reported today that the government had received information that the Myochit party — opposition group — had planned to stage uprisings in the areas to which the police striking forces were sent. There was no denial of the newspaper's report that the Myochit party had planned to seize all police stations, shoot and capture government officials and then march on Rangoon.

A Chinese press report said that Premier Chang Chun would accompany American Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer on a tour of Government-held areas of Manchuria, but there was no confirmation. Wedemeyer, in China on a fact-finding mission for President Truman, was scheduled to return to Nanking today from Shanghai, where he talked with American business men and Chinese political leaders.

Writing Palestine Report

Geneva, July 28 (AP)—The United Nations Special Committee on Palestine began correlating today the evidence it accumulated in the Holy Land, and preparing the report it must submit to the United Nations by September 1. The eleven delegates met in private session at the old League of Nations building.

Russ Tokyo Delegate 'Returning To Moscow'

Tokyo, July 28 (AP)—Informed sources said today Lieut. Gen. Kuzma Derevyanko, Soviet representative on the Allied Council for Japan, would return to Moscow soon.

The Russian mission here would say only that a letter had been sent to the council secretariat and that any announcement would have to come from that source. The secretariat said no letter had yet been received.

Sources speculated that Derevyanko was being recalled for consultation on the United States proposal for an early peace with Japan. It was expected his place would be filled temporarily by his chief deputy, Maj. Gen. K. Kislenko.

The government's latest sake (rice wine) regulation provides that drinkers must forfeit approximately three-days' rice ration to obtain a quart of the wine.

Jap Denies Allowing Atrocities In Camp

Yokohama, July 28 (AP)—Warrant Officer Mitzuo Inagaki, former commander of a prisoner-of-war camp near Osaka, pleaded innocent today to charges of failing to restrain subordinates from committing atrocities against Allied soldiers.

The charges listed the death of Warrant Officer Geoffrey Worrel, of Ramsey, Isle of Man, England, who was forced to work while ill, and the torturing of J. A. McDonald, Golspie, Scotland.

Filipinos Delay Puppet's Trial

Manila, July 28 (AP)—The treason trial of José Laurel, puppet President of the Philippines during the Japanese occupation, was postponed indefinitely today by the first division of the People's Court on motion of defense counsel.

Solicitor General Lorenzo Tanada, newly-nominated candidate for the Senate on the Liberal party ticket, did not appear in court to contest the motion for deferment of hearing.

Quintin Paredes, Laurel's counsel, asked the delay pending the outcome of a Supreme Court ruling on the return of documents allegedly taken by the United States Army's Counterintelligence Corps from Dr. Hilario Moncado, collaborator subject.

The ruling was expected to form a precedent for parallel contentions by Laurel and Jorge Vargas, puppet ambassador to Japan, that their rights were jeopardized by United States Army seizure of confidential documents.

Reinforcements Sought For China Coal Mines

Nanking, July 28 (AP)—The Ministry of Economic Affairs appealed to the army today to send reinforcements to protect the Chiaotso coaling mining area of Honan province from encircling Communist forces.

An official source said men and equipment still in Government hands. They are located along the north bank of the Yellow River, 80 miles northwest of Kaifend.

Wedemeyer Tour

Meanwhile, Government dispatches from southwestern Shantung province said part of an invading Red force under Gen. Liu Po-cheng was retreating across the Yellow River into Hopeh province under strong Government pressure.

Out On Bail In Shanghai

Shanghai, July 28 (AP)—Frederick Mysberg, Netherlands national sentenced to a year in jail for violating the Chinese currency law, was released on bail today to enter a hospital. Mysberg, who has appealed to the Supreme Court, has served five months.

Japs May Eat—Or Drink

By the Associated Press

TOKYO, July 28.—Residents of Japan's six major cities, including Tokyo, were given a choice today between eating and drinking.

Filipino Courts to Try Japs.

Manila, July 28 (A. P.).—War crimes trials of Japanese military and civilian personnel are expected to be resumed next month—this time under jurisdiction of the Philippines Republic. About 100 cases involving 300 Japanese have been docketed.

Rio Parley Bid To Nicaragua Is Withheld

Board of Pan American Union Snubs Regime That Engineered Coup

Somoza Supported Uprising Last May

Cuba Threatens Boycott of Meeting to Protest New U. S. Law on Sugar

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The governing board of the Pan American Union decided today by majority vote that Nicaragua should not be invited to the Rio de Janeiro Inter-American Conference opening Aug. 15.

A Pan American Union official made the announcement after a two-hour discussion by the board this afternoon.

He said that a number of those who voted against extending an invitation expressed the view that the way should be left open for Nicaragua to be represented at the meeting if the Central American country has a change of government which is recognized by a majority of the American republics.

Elections are scheduled for Sunday.

The current Nicaraguan regime is headed by Benjamin Lacayo Sacasa, but is generally considered to be under the control of General Anastasio Somoza, a former "strong-man" president.

General Somoza engineered a coup d'etat last May 26, deposing President Leonardo Arguello, who succeeded him.

Rule Not Recognized

The State Department announced on June 19 that the United States, after discussions with various Latin-American nations, had decided to withhold recognition from the Sacasa government in Nicaragua, although relations with that country might be "clarified" if General Somoza were to arrange for an election. A number of Latin-American nations, particularly in Central America, had already withheld recognition, and all later joined in the stand.

As a result, the machinery for issuing invitations to the Rio conference, sponsored by the Pan American Union, was stalled, with the date for convening it drawing ever nearer. Brazil, the host nation, had asked the Pan American Union to issue the invitations, Brazil not wishing to take upon itself sole responsibility for omitting Nicaragua.

The Pan-American Union board was reported on July 7 to be rent by differences of opinion over an invitation to Nicaragua, the issue not being settled until yesterday's action.

Washington's Stand

Meanwhile, Mr. Arguello, who took office May 1, has been reported taking refuge in the Mexican Embassy in Managua, the Nicaraguan capital. The State Department has said the United States has no formal relations with the Nicaraguan Embassy in Washington, and instructed the American Embassy in Managua to withhold relations with the government there, a policy first outlined on June 5.

In general, the United States, for reasons of diplomatic persuasion [illegible] seldom withholds recognition from any new government, even though it may have come into power in an irregular manner, provided it is in effective control of the country and is prepared to discharge its international obligations—this on the thesis that some form of contact is better than none. However, in respect to Latin America, the older policy of non-recognition has been retained in form, to be applied in certain instances as an indication of displeasure with the events concerned.

U.S. REPLIES ON HUNGARY

Says Aid Went To Freely Elected Government

Washington, July 28 (AP)—The State Department said today that the United States, in its efforts to help Hungary, sought to assist a freely elected government in that country, rather than any "reactionary elements."

Lincoln White, department press officer, thus commented on assertions made by Hungary's Communist Vice Premier, Matyas Rokosi, in an interview with Daniel de Luce, Associated Press Correspondent. Rakosi said that the United States has tried to help "reactionary, anti-Democratic forces."

Forced Out By Communists

The freely elected government to which White referred was chosen in late 1945. In May, 1947, the minority Communists with the support of the occupying Red Army took over control and Premier Ferenc Nagy was forced out.

Concerning Rakosi's contention that the Communists put Hungary "on its feet," White noted that the stabilization of Hungary's currency last year followed the voluntary return by the United States of $32,000,000 Hungarian gold. This gold had been stolen by the Nazis from Hungary's national bank, and later was captured by the American 3d Army in Austria.

White's only comment on what Rakosi had to say about the Communists' part in Hungary's postwar recovery was to note the return of the gold last year.

All Sugar Rationing Is Ended

JUL 1947

Wholesale and Industrial Users Freed by New Order—Price Controls Remain.

Washington, July 28 (A. P.).—The Department of Agriculture announced the end of sugar rationing at 11 A. M., Eastern standard time, today because of a lack of funds to finance the program. The action ends rationing to industrial and institutional users. Rationing to housewives was ended two months ago.

However, price controls are being kept and controls on the amount of supplies which industrial users may have on hand were instituted.

In announcing this action, the department said Congress failed to appropriate funds necessary to continue work of the Sugar Rationing Administration. It said that office is being closed down immediately and all rationing employees are being dismissed today.

The department said all orders suspending sugar rationing to alleged violators of rationing rules are revoked. Likewise, all suspension order proceedings now pending were ordered ended. Persons under subpœna or notice to appear in such proceedings are now released from making their appearance.

New Inventory Controls.

Briefly, the new inventory controls, restricting the amount of sugar industrial users may have on hand, provide:

1. A general limitation of sugar inventories for any person (other than household users) to a maximum of 2,000 pounds;

2. A limitation for any industrial or institutional user of 140 per cent of the quantity used during the corresponding and next succeeding month ending June 30, 1947;

3. A limitation for all wholesalers or retailers to quantities equal to those sold by them during the preceding calendar month.

No limitation was placed on inventories of primary distributors, that is refiners, sugar mills and importers.

Ample Stocks on Hand.

The end of industrial sugar rationing today found most northeast refiners with ample stocks on hand. Shipments fell off sharply in July from the June spurt which followed ending of household rationing.

In the week ended June 21, first full week after household sugar was freed of controls, 269,960 tons were moved by refiners, beet processors, importers and mainland sugar cane mills. Deliveries in June were made at the rate of about 10,000,000 tons a year, as dealers and housewives alike filled empty shelves.

In the week ended July 19 shipments totaled 173,849 tons, indicating to trade sources that the unusual demand following ending of household rationing had been supplied.

Refiners in this area reported they have caught up on deliveries of bulk sugar and are looking for new business. Deliveries of consumer packages are still a few days behind, they said.

They reported sugar demand in the South, largely household, has not dropped off as noticeably as in the Northeast where industrial and urban houhehold consumers are concentrated.

Trade sources said the record Cuban crop, most of which has now reached refiners here, should make it possible to meet all probable needs. They expected no immediate rush that would tax facilities and said the Government's retention of inventory controls should discourage any tendency to hoarding.

Holland Loan By World Bank Expected Soon

Second Credit Scheduled for Reconstruction Program; Denmark Advance Seen

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP).—The World Bank is expected to grant within the next few weeks its second loan—a credit of $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 for the Netherlands.

Diplomatic officials said today that consideration of the Dutch application is far advanced, with only relatively minor details standing in the way of approval.

The loan would represent about one-third of the amount the Netherlands is seeking to finance a three-year program of reconstruction.

The Dutch government has applied for a total of $535,000,000 to finance purchases of raw meterials, equipment and machinery.

The initial installment is intended to take care of Netherlands needs during the current fiscal year. The exact amount depends on the last-minute negotiations now going on.

In granting only part of the credit sought, the bank would be following the precedent set in its first loan, a credit of $250,000,000 to France. The French wanted $500,000,000 to buy goods for reconstruction.

A third World Bank loan is expected by diplomatic officials soon after the Dutch request is acted on. This would be about $50,000,000 for Denmark which needs funds to modernize its industry and agriculture.

A dollar shortage has caused The Netherlands to liquidate about $60,000,000 of American assets recently. The Dutch government the Netherlands to liquidate about stantial amount" of the $540,000,000 in American properties remaining.

Because it always has been considered a good risk, the Netherlands has been granted three loans by the Export-Import Bank during the last two years. These, totaling $300,000,000, have been spent.

SAYS BOYS VANISH IN RUSSIAN ZONES

Washington, July 28 (A. P.).—The Right Rev. Mgr. James H. Griffiths of New York said today that clergymen visiting in Europe were "reliably informed that more than 5,000 young boys have disappeared off the streets of Berlin in the Russian zone."

Mgr. Griffiths is one of thirteen Catholic, Protestant and Jewish clerics just returned from a thirty-five-day visit to Europe at the invitation of the War Department. They held a mass news conference before reporting to Secretary of War Royall.

Mgr. Griffiths, chancellor of the Roman Catholic Ordinariate which selects Catholic chaplains for the armed forces, said the clerics also were given to understand that young boys were disappearing from Vienna streets.

He stressed that his information about the youths, whom he described as between 12 to 17 years of age and showing qualities of leadership, was authentic as far as the Berlin reports were concerned. He said he was not able to identify these sources but they were absolutely reliable.

CLERGYMEN URGE 1947 REICH RECOVERY

13 Americans Feel It Is Essential For World

Washington, July 28 (AP)—Thirteen clergyman representing Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths returned today from a 35-day visit to Europe convinced that "the recovery of Germany must be an essential part of every plan for the recovery of Europe and hence of the world."

This conviction was expressed in a joint statement. These clergymen and one who is still in Copenhagen went to Europe at the invitation of the War Department.

Separate Political Unit?

The clergymen said, "America may be confronted with this dilemma: Either to reorganize western Germany as a separate economic and political unit, or to pour endless sums into diseased, starving and dismembered Germany. The implications of this are likely to affect the life of every man, woman and child."

The Right Rev. Msgr. James H. Griffiths, New York, chancellor of the Catholic military ordinariate which directs military chaplains, said that "we are reliably informed that over 5,000 young boys disappeared—picked up on the streets of Berlin in the Russian zone."

He added he understood this also was hapening in Vienna.

The boys were those 12 to 17 years of age who especially showed leadership, he said. He did not say what had become of them.

There was no dissent from the statement by the Most Rev. Bryan J. McEntegart, of New York, bishop of Ogdensburg, that "the Marshall plan offers the only hope for Europe."

Understanding Wanted

Bishop Pierce Corsen, resident Methodist bishop of the Philadelphia area, said, "we are in danger of taking entirely too lightly the movement of Russia since the proposal of the Marshall plan.

"It is very evident that Russia has indicated the course she intends to pursue. That leaves us one course only—to implement the Marshall plan."

Bishop William J. Walls of the A.M.E. Zion Church, Chicago, said the fear of another war causes leaders in Europe to want understanding as well as money.

Dr. Harold J. Ockenga, pastor of the Park Street Church, Boston, said the American high command in Germany is in agreement that "it is either the Marshall plan or the iron curtain for Europe."

Co-Operation Need Cited

Rabbi James Heller of the Isaacmy Temple, Cincinnati, said it seemed to him that American occupation forces either had to organize the part of Germany outside the Russian zone "or abandon Germany to Russia."

Dr. Stewart M. Robinson, of Elizabeth, N.J., chairman of the Presbyterian Commission on Army Chaplains and pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, said administration is "blocked by nonco-operation of Russia."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Quinn, pastor of the Church of Our Lord Christ the King, Cincinnati, and vicar delegate of the military ordinariate, said the visit to displaced persons camps resulted in the conclusion the happiness and well being of displaced persons can come only through finding them a new home.

Comment On GI Morality

Asked about morality among American troops, Dr. Alfred Carpenter, of Atlanta, director of the chaplain commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, said the morality of the GI's compares favorably with that of civilians at home.

Dr. Carl Mundinger, president of St. Johns College, Winfield, Kan., noted that the troops are in a country where young women are starving and many have no hope of marrying and they grew up under Nazi anti-moral teachings.

The Rev. August M. Hintz, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Sioux Falls, S.D., deplored curtailment of appropriations for the Army. He related that many GI's in organizing baseball teams and other recreation facilities for Germans dig down into their own pockets.

Dr. Wilford O. H. Garman, pastor of the Calendar Memorial Church, Wilkinsburg, Pa., reported evidence of spiritual awakening in Europe.

ANGLO-U. S. TALKS ON RUHR TO OPEN

Washington, July 28 (A. P.).—The State Department said today that British-American discussions on ways to increase Ruhr coal production probably will begin late this week.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, told a news conferene he understands that the agenda for the talks will be limited to questions directly related to the problem of how to raise the output of the German coal mines. An Anglo-American disagreement on this point had delayed the beginning of the conversations. The British had suggested including discussion of finance, level of industry and other topics, but the State Department had declined to talk about these.

White said he knew nothing about a report that British Foreign Minister Bevin would visit Washington in September.

The British-American coal discussions comprise the first United States effort to contribute, with Britain's help, to European recovery under the Marshall plan.

Meanwhile, it was learned that the latest row between the State Department and Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in Germany, had revived official talk of replacing American military control in Germany with a civilian administration.

Bitter French Protests

The newest Clay-State Department split arose over an order from Marshall delaying a Berlin announcement by Clay and his British counterpart of a new increase in the German industrial level for their two zones.

Marshall acted after bitter French protests were received. His main objective was to prevent French Communists from disrupting the Marshall plan by capitalizing on charges of an American-sponsored revival of Germany.

If a civilian government were set up in the American zone in Germany, it would leave the Army only a police role.

Controls Funds

The War Department on various occasions has asked the State Department to take over, but Marshall's diplomatic advisers have hesitated to jump into a disagreeable and extremely complicated task.

The military-civilian splits are attributed by diplomatic officials at least partly to the cumbersome method by which the State Department is responsible for overall German policy, but can deal with Clay, the operating head in Germany, only by going through the War Department.

The War Department, having no final right to override the State Department, nevertheless controls money allotments to the American zone.

While officials here were reluctant to discuss the situation in the light of the approaching coal conference, they acknowledged that in bringing the talks to Washington they sought to get them directly under control of the State Department instead of the influences that normally prevail in American quarters in Berlin.

Seen As Maneuver

Meanwhile, Clay said in Berlin Saturday that he expected the Washington talks to take up proposals for new Ruhr mine management methods, based on an all-Ger-

U.S. Near First Direct Marshall-Plan Action

1947 JUL

Washington, July 28 (AP) — The United States is nearing its first direct effort to contribute to European recovery under the Marshall plan.

The goal is to boost, with Britain's help, coal production from Germany's Ruhr mines.

Officials said that negotiations undertaken in London to iron out preference differences were expected to result in the opening of Anglo-American coal talks here before the week end.

Far Below Normal

Secretary of State Marshall is known to consider these talks of prime importance on the ground that the extent of European recovery will be governed largely by the quantity of coal available from the Ruhr mines. They are now producing far below their prewar normal.

man board created jointly out of the American and British zones.

State Department informants, however, say they know of no plan for such a proposal to be brought up definitely. Some suggested that its advocacy in Berlin at this time was a maneuver designed to gain support for it.

In any event, officials indicate a growing conviction that the situation of suspicion and antagonism which characterizes many common problems between Berlin and Washington is one that will have to be cleared up fairly soon, as German problems become more urgent in relation to the rest of Europe.

Forrestal Sizes Up New Job

JUL 1947

Calls Unification the Most Decisive Step in History of U. S. Military Policy.

Washington, July 28 (A. P.).—James Forrestal, who will be the United States first Secretary of National Defense, declared today that the unification of Army and Navy under a single department is the "most decisive step" in military policy since the formation of the republic.

The Navy Secretary told his first news conference since being named to head the overall United States military establishment that "we have a blueprint and a charter but the blueprint and the charter have to be manned by people." He added:

"In my judgment, this constitutes the most decisive and definitive step in the formulation of a national military policy since the formation of the republic."

Forrestal said it has not yet been decided whether he will have his offices in the Pentagon (War Department building) or elsewhere, nor has the date of his taking official oath as America's first secretary of defense been decided.

Forrestal said that the new set-up of a separate Army, Air Force and Navy under the overall control of the Secretary of Defense will save money in the long run and be beneficial in the sense of "getting the most out of our money."

Unification will cost more in the beginning, he said, adding, "it is my hope the added expense will be nominal." The biggest job ahead of him today he told newsmen laconically is to "get people."

So far as possible he plans to keep existing services and groups undisturbed, he said, and hinted that his tenure of office as Secretary of Defense might not exceed one year.

When asked whether he intended to stay in the job for some time, he said, "I would hope it wouldn't be long."

When pressed for his interpretation of "long," he laughed and said, "when you are looking forward a year looks long, but looking backward seven years [Forrestal's service with the Navy Department has run seven years] it seems short."

FORRESTAL HAILS ARMY-NAVY MERGER

Defense Secretary Seeks Aides to Get Plan in Operation.

WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP) James V. Forrestal, the nation's first over-all secretary of defense, hinted today that his idea is to confine the job to top-level coordination of the services and stay out of operating detail.

The indication of his intentions emerged indirectly in a news conference in a discussion of finances.

Forrestal said that at first the unification of the armed forces under a single cabinet officer, provided for in a new law signed Saturday, will add to rather than reduce the cost of the military establishment. Then he added:

Seeks to Curb Expenses

"I hope the added administrative expense will be nominal.

"It is my hope that it will not add a large number to the federal payroll because I think to some extent the success of this job will be reflected in the smallness of its administrative staff."

The new secretary's indication of plans to restrict his set-up was taken as indicating a good deal of autonomy for the three coordinate branches of the armed forces, on the theory that the deeper he goes into direct administrative affairs the bigger force he will need.

Yet to be picked are the three non-cabinet secretaries of the army, navy and air who will take over those phases of the nation's defense business. Forrestal apparently was talking mostly about his own staff, however, when he commented that the first big job in making the new set-up work is to "get people."

In the new post Forrestal will be responsible for the master defense plan of the United States, but he cautioned at the news conference that the task of piecing together a general military policy will be a long time.

"It can't occur overnight," he said, adding that the unification law will not "produce immediate or miraculous results."

Forrestal told his audience of reporters that in his judgment the armed forces unification law "constitutes the most decisive and definitive step taken by this country in the formation of a national military policy since the foundation of the republic."

"It is a law which reflects an accommodation between many divergent points of view, but it's a workable law," he said, adding that that is the "essence" of the American system.

Rues Congress Failure To Give World Sense

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP).—Looking back on the first session of the Eightieth Congress, Representative Earl Wilson, Republican, of Indiana, regretted today that "somehow we couldn't pass a law to put some common sense into the heads of the people in the rest of the world."

"If they would apply themselves to working, instead of conniving," he added in a statement, "the future would rise like a new sun to warm the world." For every European "who might still have a spark of independence burning inside him," he said, "many hope for nothing better than to attach themselves to some dole list for the rest of their lives."

"Europe, as she now stands, holds but one future promise—another war," he said, adding that the answer to the question "Must we fight?" lies in the Kremlin.

CONGRESS GROUP TO STUDY FOREIGN BROADCAST NEEDS

WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP) Senators and representatives decided today to make a joint investigation of the State Department's foreign information service, including "Voice of America" broadcasts, and to visit Europe in the fall to study its effectiveness.

The Senate and House separately authorized investigations. The chairmen of the inquiry committees, Senator Smith (R-N.J.) and Rep. Mundt (R-S.D.) got together today and decided to operate as a unit here and overseas.

Raps Russian Stand

They also issued a joint statement saying:

"It is utterly absurd for this country to be spending billions of dollars for the relief of the devastated countries of the world, only to have Russia and her satellite countries interpret it as this country having imperialistic designs."

The committee will ask every congressman who goes abroad this summer or fall to seek information that might be helpful. The committee wants answers to questions such as these:

What evidence is there that the people and policies of America are misunderstood or are being misrepresented deliberately by other Nations?"

What propaganda are Russia, Britain, France and other countries using outside their own borders, and to what extent is information directed against the U. S.?

Do people abroad listen to American broadcasts?

EXPORT GRAIN ALLOCATED

44,936,000 Bushels Will Be Sent Abroad in September

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The Department of Agriculture today allocated 1,197,500 long tons of grain and grain products—the equivalent of about 44,936,000 bushels—for export to shortage areas in September.

This compares with 1,364,500 long tons, or about 52,337,860 bushels, allocated for August.

The September allocations included no corn.

The Government now plans to export upward of 500,000,000 bushels of grains during the twelve months ending on June 30, 1948.

The allocations in terms of tons of all grains and grain products:

Austria 45,000 tons, Belgium 17,000, Bolivia 4,000, Brazil 10,000, Cuba 20,000, Egypt 12,500, France 71,500, Greece 45,000.

India 105,500, Ireland 8,500, Italy 149,500, Mexico 24,000, the Netherlands 46,000, Norway 17,000.

British-American zones in Germany 310,000, the French zone in Germany 29,000, Japan and Ryukyus 95,500, Korea 34,000, the Philippines 5,000, Portugal 8,500.

Switzerland 17,000, Trieste 8,500, United Kingdom 71,500, British areas in the Pacific 8,500 and miscellaneous 35,000.

The allocations include 32,701,000 bushels of wheat, 9,482,000 bushels of flour and wheat equivalent, and 2,753,000 bushels of other grains.

EISLER QUOTED ON COMMUNIST EXPENSE LINK

Witness Says Defendant Admitted Party Paid Part Of Costs Here

Washington, July 28 (AP)—James M. McInerney, Justice Department attorney ,testified today that Gerhart Eisler acknowledged four months ago that part of his expenses in this country in the 1930's were paid by the American Communist party.

Eisler, whom the House Committee on Un-American Activities describes as the Kremlin's top agent in the United States, is on trial charged with passport fraud.

Over Defense Objections

Specific allegations are that in applying for an exit permit for a trip outside the United States he failed to reveal Communist affiliations, his use of aliases, or the fact that he had been in the United States before.

McInerney, acting first assistant in the Justice Department's criminal division, said also that Eisler acknowledged that the American Communist party paid his ship passage for trips to Europe in 1935 and 1936, and that he had traveled on a passport issued in the name of Samuel Liptzin.

The witness, testifying over defense objections, said Eisler gave the information at an enemy alien hearing in New York last March.

Defense Counsel Wins Point

McInerney said Eisler related that he came to this country in 1933 with $800 provided by the German Communist party, with the purpose of raising money for anti-Hitler forces in Germany and of obtaining an American passport for use in anti-Fascist work in Europe.

The Justice Department official quoted Eisler as saying he received "$120 or $130 a month if needed" from the American party organization, and as estimating that it came to about $1,000. Most of his support, Eisler was quoted as saying, came from a "minimum amount" set aside for his use from the anti-Hitler funds he collected.

Defense counsel won permission, over Government objections, to see the transcript of the enemy alien hearing before cross-examining McInerney.

32 Jet Fighters For National Guard

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—A new $2,500,000 order for 32 jet fighters to be used in equipping the air arm of the National Gard was announced today by the Army Air Forces.

They will bring to 86 the number of jet fighters purchased for the air guard.

The jets being supplied are P-80Bs (The letter following the numeral indicates changes made from the first type of the series). While experimental models of the jets have reached the P-80R, which recently established the world speed record of 623.8 miles on hour, production models are nearer the type being purchased for the guard.

The P-80B carries more firepower than the preceding models, mounting six machine guns in the nose, each capable of firing 1200 rounds a minute.

Secretary Of War Will Visit Germany

Washington, July 28 (AP)—Kenneth C. Royall, Secretary of War, will fly to Germany tomorrow for a six-day visit, the War Department announced tonight. He plans to confer with Gen. Lucius Clay, heading the American occupation forces, and meet American military government officials.

Hughes-Kaiser Probe Studies Diary Entry

Washington, July 28 (AP)—A wartime Government official's private diary notation that aircraft experts wanted to "undertake to eat" all planes produced by Henry J. Kaiser held top billing for today 's opening of public hearings by a Senate War Investigating subcommittee.

The committee called Merrill C. Meigs, former deputy director of the War Production Board's aircraft division, as its first witness.

Chairman Ferguson (R., Mich.) said the long-pending inquiry is aimed at finding out why the Government spent $40,000,000 on contracts with Kaiser and Howard Hughes for planes not yet in use by the armed services.

Plan Held Impractical

Meigs, in testimony taken at earlier secret hearings, is said to have reported a strong belief within the WPB that Kaiser's plan for a supercargo plane was not practical as a wartime venture.

Citing estimates that it would take 52 months to build such a plane, Meigs added that Kaiser had created such a public demand for action to offset then-prevalent submarine sinkings that it finally was decided to let him and Hughes have a try at it.

Consulting a diary he kept during that period, Meigs recorded the following observation after a conversation with Donald Douglas, aircraft builder:

"I have never seen Kaiser, but all the people who know anything about aircraft say they all want to undertake to eat all of the airplanes he ever will build."

Martin To Testify

Hughes, millionaire movie producer and flyer, also was disclosed to have told the committee in earlier testimony that, as he remembered it, the Douglas, Consolidated and Martin aircraft companies had declined to go along with Kaiser.

Hughes then joined the wartime shipbuilder in construction of a huge cargo flying boat under a contract signed November 16, 1942.

Glenn L. Martin, head of the Martin company, was on the list of today's witnesses. There were indications that he would be asked if and why his company turned down Kaiser's proposal.

Ferguson has charged that "White House pressure" was exerted to force award of the contract over the opposition of the Army and Navy.

Hughes Aide Is Heard

Admiral John H. Towers, former chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, has been summoned to testify on that service's views. Kaiser will get his chance to tell his side of the story tomorrow.

Meanwhile, it was revealed that the committee received secret-session testimony from John Meyer, publicity man for the Hughes enterprises, disputing contentions that Elliott Roosevelt might have rammed "down somebody's throat" a reconnaissance plane contract given Hughes after he and Kaiser had dropped their association.

Meyer was questioned by Ferguson at a hearing June 3 as to why he had entertained Roosevelt, son of the late President.

The publicity man replied that young Roosevelt, then a colonel, had inspected the Hughes plant as head of a War Department group.

"You Know Different"

"The contracts probably depended upon his recommendation," Meyer added. "He recommended it, but he couldn't force it down any throats."

"That is what you say, Mr. Meyer, and you know different," Ferguson replied. "You know he could ram it down somebody's throat."

Meyer demurred.

"You mean to say," Ferguson demanded, "the son of the President of the United States, under the conditions under which he was operating, could not ram this down somebody's throat?"

"I doubt it," the witness said.

Meyer, reported to be out of the country, is being sought by the committee to testify Wednesday. State Department help in locating him has been asked. And William P. Rogers, committee counsel, has threatened to summon Hughes to explain "Meyer's whereabouts and his unavailability" if the employé does not appear.

Tells Of Spending $6,000

Meyer, who identified vouchers indicating that he spent as much as $6,000 in entertaining one public official on 27 different occasions, was asked by Rogers at a hearing June 4 whether he "ever at any time gave any money to any public official in behalf of any of the Hughes companies.

"Never in any way, shape or form," the publicity man replied.

He said he had played gin rummy with one public official but didn't think his losses had "amounted to anything."

EX-WPB ADVISER FURTHER QUIZZED ON FDR SON'S ROLE

Avoids 'Yes' or 'No' Answer on Whether Elliott Exerted Pressure.

DENIES FINDING FRAUD

Brewster Answers Hughes' Charge of Getting 'Free Rides.'

WASHINGTON, July 28 — (AP) A wartime aviation adviser to the government today avoided a "yes" or "no" answer as to whether Elliott Roosevelt exerted any pressure in the award of $40,000,000 of aircraft contracts to Howard Hughes and Henry J. Kaiser, but he said "the White House" did not.

Grover Loening, former special consultant to the War Production Board, told the Senate War Investigating Committee that he "never encountered any pressure from the White House" to reverse WPB recommendations against granting the contract.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla) said then that he had noted newspaper references to possible influence on the part of Elliott, son of the late President. In reply to this, Loening said only:

"Please refer to my statement. I said I never encountered any pressure from the White House, period."

Never Found Fraud

Earlier, Pepper had asked Loening whether there was any fraud or bribery in connection with the contracts for huge flying boats and photo-reconnaissance planes.

"I never found any fraud or bribery—just in my opinion poor judgment, over-optimism and in Kaiser's case a surprising pre-occupation in publicity effects," Loening replied.

The 58-year-old witness, reading from prepared notes, also said he "never used the courtesy" of John Meyer, publicity man for Hughes, "as I had my own girl friends in Hollywood with which to pass those necessary relaxing moments that any normal man should do to keep a good sane balance on his health and his work."

Meyer to Testify Again

Meyer told the committee behind closed doors in advance of the hearing about lavish entertainment provided for officials. The committee has been seeking him for further testimony and it announced today that he will be on hand Thursday.

In another development today, Senator Brewster (R-Me), chairman of the full committee, said he accepted free air transportation from Hughes only because Hughes had asked him to hurry back to Washington from Kansas City for a conference in connection with the committee's work. This was in reply to an open letter from Hughes to Brewster in which the Hollywood millionaire asserted that Brewster "bummed off of me" free trips which normally would have cost $1,400.

Merrill C. Meigs, former War Production Board official who preceded Loening, testified that the Hughes-Kaiser project for 400-ton flying boats was completely fantastic" but that he knows of nothing fraudulent or corrupt about the contract.

Meigs told the committee that the WPB aircraft division which he headed recommended against it. But he said he knows of no "political pressure" which caused Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman at the time, to approve the contract despite advice to the contrary.

Critical of Huge Plane

Loening said the huge wooden cargo plane "probably will fly" and "probably will break many records" but he would "worry very much about wing and tail flutter" if it were flown very fast.

"I should say," he remarked, "that after the plane had been flown and many pictures made of its crew and Mr. Hughes, that probably it will be run up on a beach and stay there like any other movie set."

Loening testified that on Oct. 11, 1943 the aircraft production board decided to cancel the Kaiser-Hughes contract. But he said that on Nov. 1, the board decided to let it run another 30 days until a board examined progress of the project.

On Jan. 26, 1944, Loening continued, that board recommended unanimously that the contract be cancelled, but that was not done.

"Why was it so difficult to cancel this contract?" asked Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the subcommittee conducting the hearings.

"I think that one reason was that the very effective and plausible manner that Mr. Hughes had in appearing before the board," Loening replied.

When Meigs said Kaiser got the contract even though aircraft experts said it would be a "complete impossibility" for him to turn out the planes called for in the 10 months he fixed, Ferguson asked:

"Was anything ever done like this before?"

"Never," Meigs answered.

Meigs agreed with Senator Hatch (D-NM), however, that there was always the possibility that Kaiser might make good on his promise.

"Was there anything fraudulent, corrupt or anything wrong with this contract?" Hatch inquired.

"No, not to my knowledge," the witness replied.

To Cover all Phases

In a statement opening the hearing, Ferguson said the committee intends to go into all phases of the Kaiser-Hughes contracts. He said attention would be given first to a flying boat contract which has cost the government about $18,000,000.

Another phase, of the investigation, Ferguson added, will cover a contract for two experimental model photo - reconnaisance planes which thus far, he added, have cost the government $22,000,000.

Hughes' open letter, published in and copyrighted by the Los Angeles Examiner, said that in his 13 years in the airplane business he has lost $14,000,000 "so I don't think I have been defrauding the government."

The letter, addressed to Brewster, urged him to "tell when this investigation was really born."

"Why not tell," it continued, "that this investigation was really born on the day that TWA (Trans World Airlines) first flew the Atlantic? On the day when TWA first invaded Juan Trippe's territory—on the day when TWA first challenged the generally accepted theory that only Juan Trippe's great Pan American Airways had the sacred right to fly the Atlantic."

Hughes is heavily interested in TWA.

Hughes Explains Purpose of Parties

LOS ANGELES, July 28—(AP) Howard Hughes today said "my purpose in entertaining government officials was to give them the same treatment as other aviation companies and thus keep in a competitive position."

Hughes denied at a news conference that he had given parties for government representatives "to influence those who could see that I got the flying boat contract."

"That's utterly ridiculous," he said. "All the parties in question occurred after the contract for the flying boat was signed.

"Why don't they investigate all aircraft companies," Hughes asked. "Why do they pick on me alone? I know they all do it. I was assured that this investigation would be an investigation of entertainment of government officials by the aviation industry, but that was wrong. It seems to be an investigation of the Hughes company alone."

Hughes declared the $25,000,000 plywood flying boat, now nearing completion in Long Beach harbor was accepted by the government five months ago. He said he did not know when the plane would be flown or taxied.

Hughes said that Johnny Meyer, a representative of the Hughes company, would be available for questioning at any time by the congressional committee investigating the flying boat contract.

ASSERTS BREWSTER GOT FREE FLIGHTS

Hughes in Open Letter Puts Cost of Rides at $1,400— Invited, Says Senator

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Howard Hughes said today that Senator Owen Brewster, Republican, of Maine, had accepted his "hospitality" to the tune of $1,400 worth of free plane travel. Mr. Brewster replied that he did so only to accommodate Mr. Hughes with a conference.

The Senate War Investigating Committee, of which Senator Brewster is chairman, is looking into Mr. Hughes' wartime plane contracts. It has received evidence that a publicity man for Mr. Hughes laid out some expensive entertainment.

Mr. Hughes addressed an open letter to Mr. Brewster which was published in and copyrighted by The Los Angeles Examiner. It said:

"And while you are at it, Senator, why not tell about the two airplane trips you bummed off of me?"

"Yes, since you now claim it so reprehensible and horrible for anyone to accept my hospitality, don't you feel just a little tainted when you realize that you specifically requested from me and accepted $1,400 worth of airplane transportation—consisting of a round trip in a luxurious private airplane from Washington, D. C., to Morgantown, W. Va., on Feb. 10, 1947, and a second round trip from Washington, D. C., to Columbus, Ohio, on Feb. 11?"

Says Hughes Called Him

Mr. Brewster told reporters that he was in Kansas City after delivering a Lincoln Day speech when Mr. Hughes called him from Washington requesting an immediate conference there. The Senator related that he told Mr. Hughes he had speeches to make in Morgantown and Columbus before returning to Washington, and that Hughes then offered to fly him to these engagements.

He bought a ticket to Washington on Mr. Hughes' TWA airline and came back to the capital, he added.

After the conference, Mr. Brewster said, he was flown to Morgantown in the "executive plane" of Jack Frye, then president of TWA. He also returned to Washington in Mr. Frye's plane and the next day Mr. Hughes flew Senators Brewster and John W. Bricker, Republican, of Ohio, to Columbus. Mr. Hughes went back to Washington immediately and the following day Mr. Frye's plane picked up Mr. Brewster for the return trip.

Text of Hughes Letter

The text of the Hughes letter was as follows:

"Dear Senator Brewster:

"While you are telling, why don't you tell all?

"Why don't you tell about the time you invited me to lunch in your suite at the Mayflower Hotel and the proposition you put to me?

"Why don't you tell about the flight Juan Trippe made to the Coast to see me, and the two-day conference we had? (April 12 and 13, 1947.) Why don't you tell what we were talking about? (Juan Trippe is president of the Pan American Airways System.)

"And, incidentally, since you think it is so horrible for any one to accept my hospitality, why don't you tell about the $1,400 worth of airplane trips which you requested and accepted from me? (February 10 and 11, 1947.)

"You know, Senator, if you hadn't gone too far overboard, I might have been willing to take a certain shellacking in this publicity spree of yours.

"Yes, I might have been willing to sit back and take a certain amount of abuse simply because I am only a private citizen while you are a Senator with all sorts of rights and powers to subpoena me, make me drop my work, and travel 2,500 miles back there to Washington and otherwise cause me no end of inconvenience.

"So I sat back and let you do the talking for five days. But one thing you said, which just appeared in the papers, sort of stuck in my mind.

"Nothing to Hide"

"You said that I asked you to send someone out here to check through my books. Now, you know, that statement is true. I did make that request because I have nothing to hide and I have done nothing I am ashamed of.

"I am sorry if certain men are embarrassed because they have been entertained by me. But if they are embarrassed, that's because they are in politics, and politics is a strange game.

"However, I am not a politician, I am just an ordinary citizen. I entertain whomever I please. There is no law against it.

JUL 1947

"I worked pretty hard for what money I have, and I didn't make it from the Government—and I didn't make it from airplanes.

"All in all, in my transactions with the Government I have made no profit whatsoever.

"Furthermore, I and my companies have paid taxes to the Government totaling $25,000,000. And I have paid salaries to employes totaling $300,000,000.

"As far as the airplane business is concerned, I have been in it thirteen years and this is the result: I have lost $14,000,000.

"So I don't think I have been defrauding the Government.

"Nevertheless, in other fields of endeavor, I have made a little money, and since I am just an ordinary citizen with the same rights as the next man, I entertain whom I please. As I said, there is no law against it.

"Now Senator, to get back to your statement, you also said that I telephoned you in Kansas City and told you to make this investigation of my airplane projects. Well, Senator, that's pretty nearly true. I did tell you to go ahead with the investigation, because I was not afraid of it and I had been threatened long enough.

"Whole Truth" Is Urged

"But Senator, since you are telling that much, why give the impression that the investigation was initiated on that day?

"Why not tell the whole truth?

"Why [illegible] when this investigation w[illegible] born?

"Why [illegible] that this investigation was [illegible] born on the day that TWA [illegible] World Airline) first flew [illegible] Atlantic? On the day when [illegible] first invaded Juan Trippe's t[illegible]y—on the day when TWA [illegible]t challenged the generally ac[illegible]d theory that only Juan Trippe[illegible] Great Pan American Airways had the sacred right to fly the Atlantic?

"And why not tell about my answer: That I would have to think it over for thirty days, and that I would let Mr. Trippe know at the end of that time?

"And why not tell about Mr. Trippe's flight to the Coast to see me, and how Mr. Trippe and Mr. Dietrich and I spent two days closeted in conference at Palm Springs, Calif. (April 12 and 13, 1947), and why not tell what we were talking about for those two days? (Noah Dietrich is executive vice president of the Hughes Tool Company.)

"And while you are at it, Senator, why not tell about the two airplane trips you bummed off of me?

"Yes, since you now claim it so reprehensible and horrible for anyone to accept my hospitality, don't you feel a little tainted when you realize that you specifically requested from me and accepted $1,400 worth of airplane transportation—consisting of a round trip in a luxurious private airplane from Washington, D. C., to Morgantown, W. Va., on Feb. 10, 1947, and a second round trip from Washington, D. C., to Columbus, Ohio, on Feb. 11?

"Yes, Senator, the regular charter price for those flights is $1,400. But you didn't pay anything for them, did you?"

Brewster Goes Too Far, Says Hughes Reply

Los Angeles, July 28 (AP)—Howard Hughes, in a signed article appearing in the Los Angeles Examiner today and copyrighted by the newspaper, made public a statement regarding a Senate committee investigation of Government plane contracts awarded to him and Henry J. Kaiser.

The Hughes article was in the form of an open letter addressed to Senator Brewster (R., Maine), chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee.

"You know, Senator, if you had not gone too far overboard, I might have been willing to take a certain shellacking in this publicity spree of yours," Hughes said in one part of his letter.

Only A Private Citizen

"Yes, I might have been willing to sit back and take a certain amount of abuse simply because I am only a private citizen while you are a Senator with all sorts of rights and powers to subpoena me, make me drop my work, and travel 2,500 miles back there to Washington and otherwise cause me no end of inconvenience.

"So I sat back and let you do the talking for five days. But one thing you said, which just appeared in the papers, sort of stuck in my mind.

"You said that I asked you to send someone out here to check through my books. Now, you know, that statement is true. I did make that request because I have nothing to hide and I have done nothing I am ashamed of.

No Profit On Planes

"I am sorry if certain men are embarrassed because they have been entertained by me. But if they are embarrassed, that's because they are in politics, and politics is a strange game.

"However, I am not a politician. I am just an ordinary citizen. I entertain whomever I please. There is no law against it.

"I worked pretty hard for what money I have, and I didn't make it from the Government—and I didn't make it from airplanes.

"All in all, in my transactions with the Government I have made no profit whatsoever.

"Furthermore, I and my companies have paid taxes to the Government totaling $25,000,000. And I have paid salaries to employés totaling $300,000,000.

Has Lost 14 Million

"As far as the airplane business is concerned, I have been in it thirteen years and this is the result: I have lost $14,000,000.

"So I don't think I have been defrauding the Government."

In another portion of the letter, Hughes said:

"And, incidentally, since you think it is so horrible for anyone to accept my hospitality, why don't you tell about the $1,400 worth of airplane trips which you requested and accepted from me?"

Hughes said the airplane transportation consisted of "a round trip in a luxurious private airplane from Washington, D.C., to Morgantown, W.Va., on February 10, 1947, and a second round trip from Washington, D.C., to Columbus, Ohio, on February 11.

In conclusion, the letter stated: "Yes, Senator, the regular charter price for those flights is $1,400. But you didn't pay anything for them, did you?

"Sincerely,

"HOWARD HUGHES."

ATOM SUSPECT'S BAIL CUT

Wallis Waives Extradition and Agrees to New Mexico Trial

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—Ernest D. Wallis, 34-year-old Chicago portrait photographer and former Army sergeant charged with removal of photographs and negatives containing atomic bomb secrets from the Los Alamos (N. M.) bomb project, today waived a removal hearing.

Wallis appeared briefly before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and agreed to appear for trial in New Mexico when summoned. His bond was reduced from $10,000 to $5,000 at the request of his attorney, Jesse N. Brown, who said it was "out of proportion to the situation" and "a hardship."

Otto Kerner Jr., United States Attorney, said no date had been set for trial.

The charge is taking and concealing Government property and records.

Wallis was arrested by FBI agents July 11 after negatives and photographs had been recovered from a drawer in his studio here.

Also charged with removal of records from the Los Alamos project is Alexander von Der Luft, 23, Princeton University student from Mount Lebanon, Pa., who is at liberty under $10,000 bond.

JOHNSTON HITS SOVIET BOYCOTT

Says Paris Parley Ban Bares Iron Hand.

Chicago, July 28 (A. P.).—Eric Johnston said today that "political commissars" will go along with any economic assistance that Russia delivers to the war-stricken nations of Europe. Declaring that the Soviet Union "wants not only complete political domination but also absolute economic domination" over her "vassal States," the president of the Motion Picture Association of America added:

"The people of western Europe see what's happening in the East and are fearful that they will be next unless Russia is told that she can go so far and no farther."

In a speech prepared for a meeting of the National Association of Credit Jewelers, Johnston declared that Russia's recent boycott of the Paris conference of European nations on the Marshall plan has "intensified the struggle between the two worlds—a free, democratic society on one hand and a frozen totalitarian society on the other." He continued:

"Russia's iron-handed orders to her vassal States not to participate in the Paris conference dissipated the last vestige of the fiction that she did not interfere in the sovereignty of those vassal States."

Sees Red Cause Hurt.

Johnston said that during his recent visit to eleven European countries he found that the people of the "vassal States" wanted to be represented at the conference and that "in every country I visited I found the boycott had hurt the cause of the Communist party."

Commenting on Russia's five-year economic plan, announced after Secretary of State Marshall disclosed America's projected plan for aiding European recovery after Europe drafts a plan to help itself, Johnston said:

"Russia is dangling her current large wheat crop and her natural resources before the hungry eyes of a starving continent as bait, but as always she has a large crop of political commissars as well. She is saying that she can give Europe everything the United States can give it and more, but when she delivers assistance, political commissars go along with it."

He added: "We can't delay too long" in giving assistance. But, he said, this country's program of aid "must be determined by the looks of the balance sheet after a reckoning of what Europe can do for herself and a reckoning of what we can spare to help her help herself."

2-World Concept Is Seen Probable by Eisenhower

By The Associated Press.

BILLINGS, Mont., July 28—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today that "it looks more and more as though the United States will have to accept a two-world concept when we have been working for a one-world plan."

The Army Chief of Staff made the statement to a reporter during a refueling stop here on the way to Alaska to inspect military posts.

He conferred with Tom Campbell, Hardin, Mont., wheat operator, who told him that Big Horn County will have the biggest wheat crop in history this year.

General Eisenhower commented that "food is the number-one step in the Marshall Plan.

"Food will give Europe the chance at the degree of stability needed to work out its problems," he said.

U.N.R.R.A. Relief Ship To Reds Blocked by China

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 28 (AP).—A story of hunger and fruitless efforts to get United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration supplies through to the starving in the Communist zones in China was brought here today by Chief Officer William D. Haining of the relief ship Wan Shen.

In a shipboard interview he blamed Chinese Nationalist forces for deliberately hampering the activities of U. N. R. R. A., especially in Shantung Province, a food-starved district.

(U. N. R. R. A., strictly non-partisan in the Chinese situation, allocated 20,000 tons of supplies to Shantung Province, but only 2,000 tons are reported to have reached the relief stations.)

Haining, a veteran merchant marine officer, was injured aboard the Wan Shen when she was attacked by planes last April while entering a Communist-held port. "The Nationalist government admitted it was two of their planes that attacked us," he said. "They have apologized and stated that compensation will be paid."

German Refugee Dies In 8-Story Plunge

Cincinnati, July 28 (AP)—A 25-year-old German refugee, identified by Coroner Edwin Reed as Rudolph Schmoller, of Berlin, plunged to death yesterday from the eighth floor of the Y.M.C.A.

Schmoller's pajama-clad body landed in a vacant lot, where it was found by a filling-station attendant. A window of Schmoller's room was open.

Dr. Reed said Schmoller roomed with Max Kupferstein, 25, also of Berlin, who reported they had come to Cincinnati several months ago from New York city through sponsorship of a refugee-placement organization.

Dr. Reed said Kupferstein, at work when Schmoller's body was found, reported his companion earlier had complained of feeling sick.

WITNESS TELLS OF HIRSHBERG'S DEATH BOAST

Testifies That Signalman Said He Had Japs Kill One Man

New York, July 28 (AP)—Navy Chief Signalman Harold E. Hirshberg, 29, of Brooklyn, charged with mistreating fellow prisoners of the Japanese, was accused by a witness at his court-martial today of saying "I had one man killed (by the Japs) and I can have another."

The witness, Charles Lester Pruit,, 26, chief carpenter's mate, of Sweetwater, Tenn., testified that Hirshberg got into difficulty with a fellow prisoner at a coal-mine work camp in Japan in 1944, and that after the incident Hirshberg told the witness he had had a man killed and could have it done again.

Involved In Fight

Back in 1943, the witness continued, Hirshberg had been involved in a fight at Nielson Field, Luzon, with George Garrett, an Army private of Waco, Texas, who was tortured to death by the Japs in 1944.

Pruitt, now stationed at Port Hueneme, Cal., and a fellow prisoner of Hirshberg at Nielson Field and at Camp Murray, also on Luzon, said that after the fight with Garrett, Hirshberg told the witness that he (Hirshberg) would survive imprisonment "if it cost the life of every man under him" in his work details.

The court-martial also heard testimony by Gerald Lee Anderson, 26, former seaman first class of Nicholasville, Ky., a fellow prisoner who worked under Hirshberg at Nielson Field.

"Got What He Deserved"

Anderson said that in April, 1944, a month after Garrett was killed, Hirshberg told him he had reported Garrett unfavorably to the Japs, and that Hirshberg said Garrett "got what he deserved because he was nothing but a no-good thief anyhow."

30.24-11187

It was disclosed today that Hirshberg received an Army unit decoration last Friday for participation with a unit in the defense of Corregidor.

Today's testimony opened the second week of Hirshberg's trial on charges that he beat fellow prisoners and informed on prisoners who were planning to escape while he was a section leader.

House Newsprint Group Urged To Visit Canada

Montreal, July 28 (AP)—Members of the United States House of Representatives special committee on newsprint have been urged by Canada's newsprint industry to visit this country.

In a telegram sent to Representative Clarence Brown (R., Ohio), chairman of the committee, R. M. Fowler, president of the Newsprint Association of Canada, said he had been informed that the committe might visit the Dominion in the near future.

Marshall To Receive Freedom House Award

New York, July 28 (AP)—For his proposal for economic reconstruction in Europe, Secretary of State George C. Marshall will be awarded the 1947 Freedom House award at a dinner here October 19.

Freedom House, an organization of citizens dedicated to peace, announced that award yesterday. Citations will be awarded Dunkirk, N.Y., and Norwalk, Conn., for their efforts to make the individual aware "of his responsibilities to the world community."

OUTER MONGOLIAN U.N. MOVE FOUGHT

China Warns Of Veto Intent, Charges Sinkiang Invasion

Lake Success, N.Y., July 28 (AP)—China turned down Outer Mongolia's bid for United Nations membership today with an unprecedented blast, which drew a Russian retort that certain Far East parties might like to force a United Nations investigation similar to the Greek case.

Announcing a certain Chinese veto on the Outer Mongolia application, Dr. Shuhsi Hsu charged in a warm meeting of the United Nations Security Council membership committee that the Outer Mongolian Republic had carried out a "full-dress invasion with paraphernalia of modern warfare, including aircraft."

Supported Last Year

In the harshest words China has yet pronounced against a neighbor in the United Nations, Dr. Hsu said the "armed invasion" of the Chinese province of Sinkiang by the applicant state "has not ended even today." He said China had cast aside doubts last year and supported the Mongolian Peoples Republic.

Alexei N. Krasilnikov, Russian participant in the heated exchanges in the committee last week over Albania, called the Chinese statement "distorted" and "false." He said that a regiment of Chinese soldiers penetrated about 12 miles into Outer Mongolian territory and was thrust out by the Outer Mongolian soldiers who never crossed the Chinese border.

He also declared that the bodies of five Outer Mongolian men who had been tortured were found in the area occupied by the Chinese troops.

Called Provocative Actions

"Such provocative actions on the part of the Chinese troops and certain incidents are to remind us of similar action on the northern border of Greece," Krasilnikov said. "It is possible there are parties in the Far East who would like to repeat what has happened in Greece, also to distract the world from the civil war in China and what is going on in China.

"It is possible there are parties in China who would like to create circumstances to make it necessary for an investigation commission. . . . The Soviet delegation believes the committee will not consider seriously these distorted accusations."

To Study Text First

Dr. Hsu, who sat smiling as the Russian spoke, said he would reply after studying the text.

Hayden Raynor, United States delegate, supported by the British delegate, said there was a complete vacuum of information about Outer Mongolia and its international relations. He said it maintains diplomatic relations only with Russia and had been recognized only by Russia and China. He questioned whether it is an independent state.

Krasilnikov replied that everyone had had an opportunity to learn the facts about Outer Mongolia.

As the Security Council took up the Balkans case once more, the committee passed over Albania's application temporarily. The committee received notification that Albania had submitted to the International Court of Justice in the Corfu mine case but the United States said there were about four other items it questioned about Albania.

Seven Support Trans-Jordan

Seven delegates, from Syria, Britain, United States, China, Brazil, France and Belgium supported the application of Trans-Jordan but final action was held up for Russia to speak. Russia vetoed the Trans-Jordan application last year and there has been no announced change in her attitude.

There are eight other applications on file and papers from Bulgaria are said to be en route to the United Nations.

The United Nations Economic and Social Council today voted to accept a Cuban invitation to hold the proposed international trade conference in Havana November 21, 1947. The Council's recommendation must be submitted to the General Assembly for final approval.

Balkan Vote Test Of U.N. Power

Lake Success, July 28 (AP) — A consensus of delegates indicates that a far-reaching decision may come tomorrow on the Balkan problem, and with it a test of the United Nations' powers for effective action in the peaceful settlement of disputes.

As the United Nations Security Council prepared to convene late this afternoon, delegates said they expected a vote tomorrow, or not later than Thursday, on an American proposal to set up an international "watch-dog" commission over the Balkans.

Border Inquiry Made

The vote on the plan will climax a weeklong fight between Russia and the United States over the Balkan problem, which was brought to the Council by Greece and resulted initially in an inquiry into Balkan border incidents.

When a United Nations inquiry group found Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania primarily responsible for supporting guerrilla warfare in Greece, the United States demanded that the Council establish a semi-permanent investigation commission on the Balkan borders.

Russia May Use Veto

Russia, along with her three satellites, immediately opposed the United States plan and said she could not accept it, thus giving rise to the possibility that she might use her power of veto in the Council to prevent such action.

With a showdown now near between the United States and Russia, delegates made no attempt to minimize the consequences of a Soviet veto. They expressed the opinion that a defeat of the United States proposal would have grave effects on the world organization.

Serious If Soviet Doesn't Veto

Some delegates were hopeful that Russia would refrain from using the veto and simply abstain from voting. This would permit creation of the commission, but for the record it would show that Russia did not approve.

The possibility that Russoia might take this course opened up another line ofspeculation which also was heavy with serious consequences.

Some delegates considered that Russia would abstain and that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania would then ignore the Council's majority decision.

"Not Bound To Co-Operate"

They believed that the grounds for such a move might have been laid last week when Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko argued that under the United Nations Charter the Balkan countries were not bound to co-operate with the commission if it is set up.

This argument was based on a conflicting interpretation of the United Nations Charter. Gromyko contended that the Council can only make recommendations under the section of the Charter to which the problem is confined and that the Balkan countries can ignore recommendations.

The United States and other delegations, however, argue that all Council decisions are binding and that failure to comply would invite the strongest enforcement measures.

Dutch Rebuke For India

Lake Success, N.Y., July 28 (AP)—The Netherlands delivered a sharp rebuke to an Indian representative today for injecting the Indonesian question into a debate in the United Nations Economic and Social Council.

R. K. Nehru, Indian delegate, touched off the exchange by expressing for the second time, India's deep sympathy for the Indonesians. Nehru also denounced the use of force by European powers to suppress independence moves in Asia.

J. W. Beyen, Netherlands representative, challenged the propriety of raising the issue in the Economic and Social Council which is barred by the United Nations Charter from discussing political problems.

Refuses Propaganda Move

He said this was the second time the Indian delegate had injected this question into the Economic and Social Council debate, although declaring each time that he did not "want to indulge in political propaganda."

The only explanation for the Indian delegate's action, Beyen said, is that he "seems to be carried away by his emotions."

Beyen asserted that Nehru's remarks were "out of order" and would seem to "invite a reply." He said, however, that he would not enter into a debate on the question.

"I hope," he added, "that we will stick to subjects that should be discussed here, leaving other subjects to be discussed where they belong."

Formal Complaint Expected

Meanwhile, United Nations officials expected India to file a formal complaint on the Indonesian question with the Security Council, although no information was available here except press dispatches from New Delhi quoting an Indian Government announcement.

The Indian delegation was in close touch with the Indian Embassy in Washington throughout the day, but up to tonight, said no instructions had been received. Nehru referred to these press reports briefly in his remarks before the Economic and Social Council.

THIRD NIGHT LEAD PALESTINE

JERUSALEM, TUESDAY, JULY 29-(AP)-BRITISH MILITARY AUTHORITIES ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT THREE CONDEMNED MEMBERS OF IRGUN ZVAI LEUMI, JEWISH UNDERGROUND ORGANIZATION, HAD BEEN HANGED AT ACRE PRISON THIS MORNING.

THE HANGINGS WERE CARRIED OUT IN DEFIANCE OF AN IRGUN THREAT TO KILL TWO KIDNAPED BRITISH SERGEANTS, WHOM THE EXTREMIST GROUP HAS BEEN HOLDING AS HOSTAGES SINCE JULY 12.

A JEWISH UNDERGROUND SOURCE IN TEL AVIV SAID LAST NIGHT THAT IN ANTICIPATION OF THE EXECUTIONS THE TWO SERGEANTS HAD BEEN TRIED BEFORE A IRGUNIST COURT COMPOSED OF FORMER POLISH OFFICERS AND SENTENCED TO DEATH.

THE SOURCE SAID MENACHEM BEIGIN, IRGUNIST COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, HAD CONFIRMED THE SENTENCES ON THE SOLDIERS AND THAT THEY WOULD BE EXECUTED IF THE HANGINGS WERE CARRIED OUT.

THE THREE IRGUNISTS -- MEIR NAKAR, YACOUB WEISS AND ABSALOM HABIB --WERE CONVICTED ON CHARGES OF PARTICIPATING IN THE MAY 4 PRISON DELIVERY AT ACRE, IN WHICH 251 PRISONERS WERE LIBERATED AND 16 PERSONS KILLED. TWO OTHER IRGUNISTS WERE SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT.

A HEAVY GUARD WAS THROWN AROUND ACRE PRISON PRIOR TO THE HANGINGS, WHICH BEGAN AT 4 A.M. (9 P.M. EST MONDAY). IT WAS THE SECOND LARGEST HANGING OF JEWISH EXTREMISTS IN RECENT PALESTINE HISTORY--FOUR HAVING DIED ON THE GALLOWS AT ACRE LAST APRIL 16.

SHORTLY THEREAFTER FOREIGN MINISTER JUAN A. BRAMUGLIA CALLED ON THE 21 AMERICAN REPUBLICS AND THE HOLY SEE TO COOPERATE IN ATTAINING THE GOAL.

MEXICAN FOREIGN SECRETARY JAIME TORRES BODET SAID IN HIS MESSAGE TO THE ARGENTINE FOREIGN OFFICE THAT IT WOULD BE NECESSARY TO WORK UNCEASINGLY THROUGH ECONOMIC COOPERATION TO ATTAIN THE GOAL OF PEACE SOUGHT BY ARGENTINA.

"CONSEQUENTLY," THE MEXICAN REPLY SAID, "THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT FEELS THE APPEAL WHICH YOUR EXCELLENCY (BRAMUGLIA) RECOMMENDS NEEDS, IN ORDER TO BE FRUITFUL, A SOLID EFFORT OF ALL OF US IN ORDER TO REACH THE HEARTS OF THE PEOPLE."

THE NOTE SAID MEXICO WAS PLEASED WITH ARGENTINA'S PROPOSAL FOR ECONOMIC COOPERATION, ADDING:

"I DESIRE TO EXPLAIN THAT MY COUNTRY, IN MANIFESTING SUPPORT FOR THE NOBLE PURPOSES OF ARGENTINA, DOES SO WITH THE AMPLEST SPIRIT OF HUMAN SOLIDARITY, CONTINENTAL FRATERNITY AND WITHOUT ALTERING ITS LINE OF CONDUCT IN RELATION TO THE VATICAN WHICH, IN THE ECCLESIASTICAL FIELD, REPRESENTS IN AN HONORABLE MANNER A RELIGIOUS FAITH WHICH THE GOVERNMENT OF MEXICO RESPECTS IN ACCORD WITH ITS PRINCIPLES OF RELIGIOUS BELIEF BUT WHICH, OWING TO THE PRECEPTS OF OUR CONSTITUTION, CANNOT BE ACCEPTED IN THE SPHERE OF POLITICAL ACTIVITIES."

WASHINGTON, JULY 28-(AP)-SENATOR ELMER THOMAS (D-OKLA) WILL SAIL FROM NEW YORK AUG. 8 FOR GENEVA AS A CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATE TO THE INTERNATIONAL FOOD AND AGRICULTURE ORGANIZATION CONFERENCE WHICH BEGINS AUG. 18, HE SAID TODAY.

THE SENATOR PLANS TO GO TO OKLAHOMA LATE THIS WEEK TO SPEND A FEW DAYS IN TULSA, OKLAHOMA CITY AND LAWTON.

THOMAS, A DELEGATE FROM THE SENATE AGRICULTURE COMMITTEE, OF WHICH HE IS RANKING MINORITY MEMBER AND FORMER CHAIRMAN, ATTENDED A SIMILAR CONFERENCE LAST YEAR.

SENATOR MOORE (R-OKLA) SAID TODAY HE IS LEAVING FOR OKLAHOMA WEDNESDAY.

HE HAS NO PLANS UP TO NOW FOR SPEAKING ENGAGEMENTS, HE TOLD A REPORTER, AND ADDED HE EXPECTS TO BE BACK HERE IN OCTOBER.

MOORE SAID HE HAS FIXED NO TIME FOR HIS PROPOSED INVESTIGATION TO DETERMINE WHETHER THE FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION USED PUBLIC FUNDS TO OPPOSE LEGISLATION SPONSORED BY HIMSELF AND REP. RIZLEY (R-OKLA).

THE LEGISLATION, WHICH WAS BLOCKED BY A SENATE SUBCOMMITTEE FOR THIS SESSION AFTER PASSING THE HOUSE, WOULD PROHIBIT THE FPC FROM TAKING JURISDICTION OVER PRODUCTION AND GATHERING OF NATURAL GAS AT THE POINT OF PRODUCTION AND FROM DETERMINING FINAL USE OF GAS BY CONSUMERS.

WASHINGTON,JULY 28-(AP)- "WHAT HAVE WE GOT AGAINST FRANCO THAT DOESN'T GO DOUBLE FOR STALIN?" REP.MASON (R-ILL) ASKED TODAY AS HE ASSERTED THE STATE DEPARTMENT IS INCONSISTENT IN DEALING WITH SPAIN AND RUSSIA.

"WE DON'T HAVE TO ADMIRE THE DICTATORSHIP IN SPAIN," MASON SAID IN A STATEMENT, "BUT WE MUST RECOGNIZE THE FACT THAT FRANCO HASN'T DONE ANY HARM TO OTHER NATIONS.

"THE STALIN DICTATORSHIP IN RUSSIA, ON THE OTHER HAND, HAS TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF THE CONFUSION AND CHAOS RESULTING FROM THE WAR TO VASTLY EXTEND ITS POWER TO OTHER NATIONS AND TO FORCE SUBSERVIENCE UPON THEM."

MASON SAID STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS BASED THEIR REFUSAL TO HAVE NORMAL DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH FRANCO ON THE ASSISTANCE HIS REGIME RECEIVED FROM ITALY AND GERMANY, BUT HE ASSERTED STALIN ALSO "TOOK AN ACTIVE PART IN THE SPANISH CIVIL WAR."

"COMPETENT AUTHORITIS AGREE," MASON SAID, "THAT THE FALL OF FRANCO WOULD LEAD TO THE SEIZING OF SPAIN BY THE COMMUNISTS. A COMMUNIST SPAIN WOULD GO FAR TO ASSURE A COMMUNIST FRANCE AND A COMMUNIST ITALY."

"WHY HAND OUT BILLIONS IN EUROPE TO BLOCK COMMUNISM ON THE ONE HAND AND ENCOURAGE THE SPREAD OF COMMUNISM ON THE OTHER?" HE ASKED.

WASHINGTON,JULY 28-(AP)-THE UNITED STATES RECEIVED ASSURANCE IN ADVANCE OF THE FIGHTING IN INDONESIA THAT THE REPUBLICAN FORCES WOULD "TAKE EVERY CARE" TO PROTECT AMERICAN NATIONALS AND PROPERTY.

STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS SAID TODAY THE INDONESIAN REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT GAVE THE ASSURANCES IN REPLY TO AN AMERICAN NOTE DISPATCHED EARLY THIS MONTH EXPRESSING CONCERN OVER SAFETY OF AMERICANS AND POSSIBLE SABOTAGE OF THEIR PROPERTY IN EVENT OF A BREAK WITH THE NETHERLANDS.

THE REPLY SAID THAT SHOULD DAMAGE OCCUR THE RESPONSIBILITY WOULD REST ON THE DUTCH FOR STARTING HOSTILITIES.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT WAS PARTICULARLY CONCERNED OVER THE POSSIBILITY OF "SCORCHED EARTH" TACTICS IN THE SUMATRA OIL FIELDS. ONE AMERICAN CONCERN HAS AN ESTIMATED $100,000,000 INVESTMENT IN THE PALEMBANG FIELD.

DISPATCHES HAVE SAID THAT THE SCORCHED EARTH POLICY WAS BEING APPLIED AT LEAST TO SOME EXTENT AS THE DUTCH MILITARY FORCES ADVANCED IN THAT AREA.

THE NOTES WERE NOT PUBLISHED TEXTUALLY.

THE AMERICAN COMMUNICATION WAS SENT TO THE JOGJAKARTA GOVERNMENT BECAUSE IT WAS IN PHYSICAL CONTROL, BEFORE THE FIGHTING STARTED JULY 21, OF THE OIL FIELDS. THE INDONESIANS ALSO CONTROL AREAS IN JAVA, SUMATRA AND ELSEWHERE WHERE AMERICANS HAVE INVESTMENTS IN PLANTATIONS AND MINING ENTERPRISES.

SOVIET VETO KILLS U.S. PROPOSAL FOR PEACE IN BALKANS

Border Watch Plan Had Been Approved by Majority of Delegates.

RED ACTION ASSAILED

'Abuse of Power,' Johnson Declares; To Map New Campaign.

LAKE SUCCESS, July 29—(AP) Russia invoked the big power veto late today to kill a United States proposal for creation of an 11-nation border commission designed to bring peace to the Balkans.

The United States said the Soviet action created a "grave situation" and obtained immediate adjournment of the United Nations Security Council to allow delegates to consult their home governments.

Abuse of Power, Says U. S.

Herschel V. Johnson, deputy American delegate, labeled the veto the 11th by Russia in UN history, a "simple abuse of power." He served notice at a special news conference that the United States would immediately renew its fight for a solution to Balkan disorders.

A few hours later Johnson announced that he would leave for Washington tomorrow morning for talks with Secretary of State Marshall and other members of the State department.

An American delegation spokesman said Johnson had obtained a postponement of tomorrow afternoon's council session until 2 p.m. (E.S.T.) Thursday.

The UN charter requires that the Big Five agree on all major issues so when Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko calmly raised his hand in dissent, he killed a resolution approved by nine of the 11 council delegates.

Poland joined Russia in voting against the resolution.

Gromyko attempted to get the floor to deliver a speech he had been writing out in long hand throughout today's sessions but the council voted 8 to 1 with Poland dissenting to uphold the American move to adjourn. The next meeting was set for tomorrow (3 p. m. E.D.T.), but there was some talk in council circles that this session might be postponed until delegates receive instructions.

Gromyko Silent

Gromyko left UN headquarters immediately after the meeting and had no comment.

Throughout the previous debates Gromyko had laid all the blame on the present Greek government and defended Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria, the three Soviet satellites accused by a Balkans investigating commission of fomenting the frontier incidents.

Johnson called Gromyko's veto "a challenge to the prestige and authority of the United Nations as a guardian of the peace."

"By abuse of the veto power, one member has frustrated the will of the majority," Johnson told reporters. "As soon as practicable the United States will state in the council what the next step will be. We are not going to let the thing go by default."

This was the second Russian veto on a Balkan commission, the first coming Sept. 20, 1946 when Gromyko turned down an American-sponsored resolution for an investigating commission. However, he abstained when the commission finally was set up last December.

A British spokesman termed the Russian veto today the "logical outcome of Soviet policy in the Balkans as evidenced in the obstruction of the work of the commission" sent into the Balkans last winter. He added that it is "further evidence that the Soviet government is not willing to lift a finger to solve the unrest in the Balkans."

Red Proposal Pending

Killing of the U. S. proposal left the council with only one resolution to consider on the long-hanging Balkan disorders. That motion, authored by Russia, merely calls on Greece, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania to settle their differences. It also demands that all foreign troops get out of Greece and the UN supervise all aid to Greece.

Speculation centered around two possible moves:

1—Poland was reported readying a watered-down version of the American proposal for presentation to the council tomorrow. This would be designed to satisfy Russia but obviously would be unacceptable to the United States.

2—If council action finally is stalled, Greece might invite the nine council members supporting the American proposal to send representatives into Greece's troubled border areas as a commission of their own.

Gromyko's action killed the entire American proposal growing out of a report of an on-the-spot commission sent into the turbulent Balkans last January by the council. The proposal had been under debate for more than a month and speculation ran high as to whether Russia would veto or abstain on the final ballot.

Gromyko last used the veto March 25 to kill a council decision finding Albania had knowledge of laying mines in the Corfu Channel which damaged two British warships. The only other veto in council history was by France, when Alexandre Parodi associated himself with a Russian veto in the Spanish case in June, 1946.

Catches Delegates Off Balance

The Russian veto caught most of the delegates off balance, coming as it did after Gromyko had abstained all during the preliminary voting. In this period the delegates went through the resolution setting up and empowering the commission point by point and in all instances Gromyko abstained.

Poland opposed some of the sections and abstained on others but without the power of veto the Polish ballots could not dent the heavy majority. Syria, France and Australia abstained on various sections.

Today's voting was in a tense atmosphere before nearly 600 spectators crowded into the public section. A morning meeting had been given over to final arguments.

Still on the council table was a Russian resolution which calls for immediate evacuation of all foreign troops from Greece and U. N. supervision of aid to Greece.

The Russian action climaxed months of discussions on the Greek case. The original complaint was presented by the Greek government which charged that Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria were fomenting trouble on the northern borders. The report of the commission generally supported the charges.

The council voted last Dec. 19 to set up the special commission which went into the Balkans in January and remained three months. Debate on the report opened June 27 with American delegate Warren R. Austin delivering one of his strongest speeches in support of the American proposal.

U.N. Showdown On Balkans Expected

Lake Success, July 29 (AP)—A showdown between the United States and Russia on the critical Balkan problem was expected today in the United Nations Security Council.

As the Council was called into session, the question uppermost in delegates' minds was:

Will Russia veto or abstain from voting on a United States proposal to establish a "watchdog" commission over the strife-torn borders of the Balkans?

Minor Amendments

The way for a vote on the American proposal appeared to have been cleared yesterday when the Council tentatively accepted a series of minor amendments to the United States proposal.

The only question remaining before the Council began voting on the American plan was the size of the proposed commission. The United States has suggested an eleven-man commission, representative of all the nations on the Security Council. The French have suggested that the commission be composed of only the six nonpermanent members of the Council.

Although Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko remained silent throughout yesterday's debate, the Russian delegate was expected to make a major speech today, giving the Russian position and revealing what course he would take in the voting.

Some Expect Veto

Delegates hesitated to speculate on what Gromyko would do. Some delegates believed he would abstain and thus permit the Council to establish the commission. Others felt he would veto the plan.

As one official of the Big Five said: "The chips are now down and Mr. Gromyko holds the spot of calling the play."

But whatever Gromyko does, the British and American delegations appeared ready to take action.

It was understood that if Russia vetoed the plan steps would be taken immediately to bring the problem before the Council again under a more active section of the World Charter.

Charges By Greece

The Council scheduled two sessions today in an attempt to wind up the five-week fight on the Balkan issue which was brought before the eleven-nation body by Greece, which charged that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania were threatening the peace of that area.

A United Nations inquiry commission, sent into the Balkans, reported that Russia's three satellites were responsible for the support of guerrilla warfare in Greece.

Taking the commission's report as a basis for action, the United States demanded that the Security Council set up a commission to stand watch over the Balkans for at least two years and have the power to conciliate disputes and investigate border incidents.

Russia Raises Point

Russia told the Council that she could not approve such a plan.

Since then Russia has hammered on the thesis that the Security Council can only make recommendations and cannot take action. This thesis was based on a Soviet interpretation of the charter. The majority of the Council members disagree with Russia on this point.

Some delegates felt that Russia might be taking this line in order to avoid a veto. Thus, they said, Russia could abstain from voting and then the three Balkan countries could refuse to abide by the Council's decision. This would mean that they would refuse to co-operate with the commission and not give the group access to their territories.

NEW AID BID GIVEN RUSSIA

France Rebuked For Raising Issue In U.N. Session

Lake Success, N.Y., July 29 (AP). France made a new bid today for Russian co-operation in the Marshall plan and the Soviet bloc answered with a sharp blast at her for injecting the American-aid plan into a United Nations debate.

The main Soviet attack was delivered by L. I. Kaminsky, delegate from White Russia, who told the economic and social council that the United Nations had been completely bypassed on the Marshall plan and declared that, for that reason, the Security Council had no right to discuss it.

Georges Boris, French delegate, had gone into the Marshall program at length, but after the strenuous White Russian attack no other delegate referred to it during the three-hour session except Alexander P. Morozov, Soviet delegate.

Refers To Molotov Stand

Morozov made no mention of the new French bid for co-operation, declaring only that "the position of the Soviet Union with respect to the plan has been fully stated by the Soviet Foreign Minister, Mr. Molotov, at the Paris conference."

At that time Molotov refused to co-operate with Britain and France in plans to implement the Marshall program.

The issue was raised during a discussion of a report on the second session of the Economic Commission for Europe which began in Geneva immediately after the collapse of the Three Power Conference early this month.

Asked About Withdrawal

Russia's attitude on the commission's report led Hector McNeil, British Minister of State, to ask Morozov directly whether the Soviet Union intended to withdraw from the commission, but he received a noncommittal reply.

"I do not recommend to any member of the Council," Morozov said, "to seek any hidden meaning where there is none."

Boris, in launching the debate, expressed France's deep concern over dangers of a divided economic world and said that France did not consider the split as irrevocable.

"My Government has said and says again that all the doors remain open," he declared. "The people of France hope and believe that the temporarily interrupted co-operation will be re-established soon."

Kaminsky promptly objected to any discussion of the Marshall plan, asserting that the Economic and Social Council "should not become a forum for the diffusion of propaganda on the Marshall plan."

He said the Economic and Social Council and all other United Nations organs had been "circumvented" as far as the American aid program was concerned. He added that the Marshall plan, "as it envisages the reconstruction of Europe, is closely linked with the German economy which also has no place on the agenda."

Despite his declaration that the German economy had no place in the discussions, Morozov devoted most of his speech to charges that the Economic Commission for Europe was interfering illegally in German affairs.

Opposes Consultations

He vigorously opposed approval of a commission resolution giving the commission the right to continue consultations with Allied control authorities in the four occupation zones of Germany. This, he said, infringed on the powers of the four-power Control Council in Berlin.

He was challenged, however, by both McNeil and Willard L. Thorp, United States Assistant Secretary of State, who contended that this whole issue already had been decided at the last session of the Economic and Social Council.

Feb. 16, 1946—By Russia (Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky) on United States proposal that would have, in effect, dismissed the Soviet charges against Britain and France for keeping troops in Syria and Lebanon.

June 18—By Russia (Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko) on the recommendations brought in by the Security Council subcommittee investigating the Spanish question.

June 26—By Russia (Mr. Gromyko) on a British-Australian resolution to keep the Spanish question on the agenda "without prejudice" to the rights of the General Assembly.

June 26—By Russia and France (Mr. Gromyko and Alexandre Parodi) on a contention that the aforementioned British-Australian resolution was procedural and, therefore, not subject to the veto.

June 26—By Russia (Mr. Gromyko) on a re-introduction by Australia of the British-Australian resolution that had just been vetoed.

Aug. 29—By Russia (Mr. Gromyko) on the application of Trans-Jordan for membership in the United Nations.

Aug. 29—By Russia (Mr. Gromyko) on the application of Ireland for membership in the United Nations.

Aug. 29—By Russia (Mr. Gromyko) on the application of Portugal for membership in the United Nations.

*Aug. 29—By Britain and the United States (Sir Alexander Cadogan and Herschel V. Johnson) on the application of Albania for membership in the United Nations.

*Aug. 29—By Britain and the United States (Sir Alexander and Mr. Johnson) on the application of Outer Mongolia for membership in the United Nations.

Sept. 20—By Russia (Mr. Gromyko) on a United States resolution calling for an investigation of border incidents along Greece's entire northern frontier. An investigating commission was, however, established by the Council on Dec. 19, with Mr. Gromyko abstaining.

March 25, 1947—By Russia (Mr. Gromyko) on a British resolution charging that a minefield in the Corfu Channel—which killed forty-four British sailors and severely damaged two British destroyers—could not have been laid without the knowledge or connivance of Albania.

July 29—By Russia (Mr. Gromyko) on a United States resolution to maintain in existence for two more years the Balkan investigating commission, giving it powers of conciliation as well as investigation.

*These two votes are not considered vetoes by several delegations, among them those of the United States, Britain and China, who hold that a resolution not receiving a majority of seven votes would fail to carry anyway. The Soviet delegation contends that any negative vote by one of the Big Five powers is a veto, whether decisive or not.

FIELDS STRAFED, INDONESIANS SAY

Transport Of Medical Supplies Reported Downed

By STANLEY SWINTON

Batavia, Java, July 29 (AP)—American-built Dutch fighter planes strafed Republican airfields on Java today, a Republican communiqué said, as the Jogjakarta radio announced nine persons, including three British citizens, were killed when an Indian transport plane bringing medical supplies to the Indonesians was shot down.

The Dutch strafing attacks apparently were in swift retaliation for an Indonesian one-plane attack upon Dutch-held Semarang.

The Republican communiqué said two Dutch P-40's strafed the Jogjakarta airfield, then attacked the Soerakarta airfield 39 miles northeast of the Republican capital. The Republicans said the same two planes killed two persons when they strafed the central Javanese village of Klaten.

Took Off From Singapore

A special broadcast by the Jogjakarta radio said the Indian transport, a Dakota which had taken off from Singapore with two tons of medicine for the republic, was fired upon today by two Dutch fighters as the transport approached the landing strip at Jogjakarta.

The radio said the flight, arranged to take supplies to the Indosenian Red Cross, had previously been cleared with the Dutch consul general at Singapore. The republicans claimed the Dakota carried the Indian markings PTCLA.

[In Singapore, H. H. Schweizer, representative for the International Red Cross, said the Dakota reported shot down at Jogjakarta was not sponsored by International Red Cross.]

No Dutch Report

The official spokesman of the Netherlands East Indies Government in Batavia said Dutch military headquarters had no report of any plane being shot down at Jogjakarta. He said Dutch fighter planes had been in action throughout Java after the Indonesian plane had bombed Semarang but that no report had been received on any such action as was described by the Jogjakarta radio.

The Republican broadcast said the Dutch fighters attacked with machine guns and that the transport crashed in flames.

Among the dead identified in the announcement were former Wing Commander Constantine, who had been flying between Singapore and Jogjakarta since his discharge from military service; Mrs. Constantine; former Squadron Leader Hazelhurst, and four prominent Indonesians — Adi Soetjipto, Hadji Soemarno Wirjokoesoeme, Dr. Abdulrachman Saleh and a man named Arifin.

Dutch Extend Grip

Meanwhile, the Dutch extended their grip on the rich resources of Java and Sumatra. Some republican sabotage was reported in oil fields, but the Dutch said otherwise the general situation was "developing favorably."

This correspondent, during a flight over southwest Java in a Dutch B-25 photo-reconnaissance plane, observed wide application of the Indonesians' scorched earth policy.

There was no sign of war or uneasiness in the agricultural areas of the island near Batavia and in the unoccupied western tip of Java.

Counted 200 Fires

But when we flew down toward the sea past Wijnkoops Bay, fires were seen everywhere for three quarters of an hour. I saw at least three rubber estates ablaze. I counted 200 fires and then stopped counting.

Our course extended east to Tasikmalaja, north across Java to Cheribon and then west again. From Tasikmalaja on there was a flaming area.

A highly placed Dutch informant said that in the region southeast of Bandoeng several villages had been destroyed and many estates wrecked.

Unions Are Blamed

He said the demolitions in this area were being carried out by estate laborers under orders from SOBSIE (Central Federation of Indonesian Trade Unions).

Between 20 and 30 per cent of all the scorched earth activity is now being carried out by unions, informants say.

At Probolinggo on the northeast coast of Java, only 50,000 out of 165,000 tons of warehouse space remained after republican fires, according to an official communiqué.

An army communiqué said 50 per cent of the harbor facilities at the north Java port of Tegal, including the electric power building, was destroyed before the Dutch arrived.

Chinese Quarter Destroyed

A whole Chinese quarter was burned down at Soekaboemi, Java.

In the Standard Vacuum Oil Company's south Sumatra oilfields at Pendopo, two wells were set afire by Indonesian saboteurs but were soon extinguished, it was said.

The age-old tension between the Indonesians and the Chinese has flared since the Dutch-Indonesian fighting began, with Chinese civilians said to be the heaviest sufferers, both in Java and Sumatra, from the scorched-earth tactics. The Chinese consul general has made an appeal to the republic to show mercy to the Chinese.

There are signs that the scorched-earth policy is increasing, as the republic said it would. The Republicans claim they are unable to match the weight of modern weapons the Dutch obtained from Britain and America but say they plan to make victory economically useless to the Dutch, if possible.

A Netherlands army communiqué said today Dutch casualties so far were 50 killed, 86 wounded and 9 missing. General Soedirman, Indonesian commander, Saturday put Dutch losses at 9,000 since fighting started July 20.

Unsuccessful Negotiations

The Dutch said the republicans had cut off the water supply to Salatiga, between Semarang and Jogjakarta. However, the communiqué added, life was getting back to normal economically in the Semarang vicinity and in the Padang area of West Sumatra, where the population was reported returning to the villages and the rice fields.

The Dutch reported the republicans were "developing a certain amount of activity in the Tjerme sector," about 12 miles west of Soerabaja, on the northeast coast of Java.

Meanwhile, the Netherlands commission general, which negotiated with the Indonesian Republic unsuccessfully during a ten-month period before the outbreak of hostilities, has been summoned back to The Hague for discussions, an official announcement in Batavia said. Willem Schermerhorn, head of the mission, and Max van Poll are expected to leave by plane tomorrow morning. Informed Dutch sources predicted the commissioners would not return to Indonesia.

[Qualified official sources in New Delhi announced tonight that "certain developments" had caused the Indian Government to postpone an appeal to the United Nations on behalf of the Indonesians. Pandit Jewaharlal Nehru, vice president of the Indian interim Government, had said yesterday his Government proposed to make the appeal "in a few hours."

[The source declined to contradict a report in Capital circles that the postponement resulted from fresh hope the United States and Britain were preparing to take the lead in pressing for cessation of hostilities in Indonesia. The Indian Government did fulfill Nehru's announced intention of excluding Dutch aviation from India.

[In Manila, President Manuel A. Roxas made it clear the Philippine Republic was sympathetic with the Indonesians in their struggle with the Dutch. He took that position in a message to Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine delegate to the United Nations, who had requested a clarification of policy and an opinion on the possibility the Philippines might mediate Dutch-Indonesian differences through the United Nations.]

DUTCH COMMUNIQUE

BATAVIA, July 29 (AP)—A Netherlands Army communique:

Clearing sweeps continue to be carried out in areas under our control whereby any roving Republican gangs or small groups are driven off or scattered.

West of Surabaya, Republican troops are developing a certain amount of activity in the Tjerme sector. A Republican attack on Netherlands posts in that place was beaten off.

No Republican activities on a larger scale have taken place.

It is reported that the power station at Tuntang is still supplying Jogjakarta, Surakarta and Magelang with water. On the other hand the Republicans have cut off the water supply to Salatiga.

The Netherlands casualty figures for the whole action now reach a total of fifty killed, eighty-six wounded and nine missing.

Dutch Report Java War 'Developing Favorably'

Batavia, July 29 (AP)—Dutch military authorities, busily extending their hold on the rich resources of Java and Sumatra, today reported scattered instances of republican sabotage in oil-field areas and elsewhere, but said that the general situation was "developing favorably."

The republic's air force, reported at the outbreak of hostilities to consist of about 40 Japanese planes, was declared in a broadcast Indonesian communiqué to have bombed Dutch positions in Semarang and Salatiga and returned unharmed.

Seven Reported Killed

Semi-official Dutch dispatches said seven persons were killed and seven wounded by the bombing and strafing of Semarang.

Hundreds of fires, set as part of the Indonesian scorched earth policy, crackled across the rice lands and rubber plantations of southweset Java.

The Netherlands Army meanwhile said its casualties had reached 50 killed, 86 wounded and nine missing—a total of 145—since hostilities began July 20. (General Soedirman, Indonesian commander, Saturday estimated Dutch losses at 9,000. His army reported 763 soldiers in Dutch service surrendered yesterday).

Power Station Destroyed

The Dutch military, issuing two communiqués, said that in the captured North Java port of Tegal, some 35 miles east of Cheribon, a bank, a power station and half the docks had been destroyed.

[A republican communiqué issued in the Indonesian capital of Jogjakarta said a Dutch warship on Saturday bombed Pekalongan, 30 miles east of Tegal.]

In South Sumatra, the Dutch Army reported, fires engulfed four wells in the Peosapo fields, two of them caused by sabotage and two of them ignited from burning grass. Standard Oil officials were quoted as saying the fires, on the flank of the fields, were of minor importance.

Water Supply Cut Off

The army said the republicans had cut off the water supply to Salatiga, about half the 60 miles to Semarang on the north coast and were committing sabotage on telephone communications in the Semarang area.

Economically, however, the communiqués said, the Semarang vicinity is returning to normal. The population was reported going back to villages and rice fields and, with connections restored between the city and the hinterland, food prices were said to be falling.

[In Jogjakarta the Republican Army said its air force bombed Dutch positions in Semarang and Salatiga today and, though chased by two Dutch fighters, "returned unharmed" to its base there.

What Natives Report

[In a review of the first week of conflict, the Indonesian news agency Antara said Republican forces were threatening Semarang from east and west; had halted the Dutch at Salatiga and Ambarawa, some ten miles northwest, and had isolated Dutch pockets at Salatiga, Ambarawa and two other places on the route to Jogjakarta.

[A Jogjakarta dispatch said a Dutch plane dropped several bombs on the airport there soon after daylight today.]

The Dutch communiqués reported village life was getting back to normal also in the Padang area of West Sumatra, where they said the population was helping find land mines, and the people were returning home in large numbers in East Sumatra.

In the latter area, however, they said, unrest existed and the republican forces were attacking in border sections.

[The Indonesian Army said the Dutch were on the defensive in the Padang sector. It said they had suffered a serious blow in the fall of Medan in northern Sumatra. The Dutch have insisted they still hold Medan.]

Unrest In East Sumatra

The Dutch reported that Republican troops were "developing a certain amount of activity in the Tjerme sector," about 12 miles west of Soerabaja on the north coast of east Java. The communiques said a Republican attack on Netherlands posts there had been beaten off.

[An Indonesian commuiqué said Indonesians attacked the Dutch near Tjerme yesterday and the Dutch, after offering some resistance, retreated.]

Burnt-Earth Policy Of Java Described

By Stanley Swinton

In a Dutch Warplane Over Republican Java, July 29 (AP)—The threatened scorched-earch policy of the Indonesian Republic is a flaming reality today over a huge part of southwest Java, one of the richest areas of this island.

Hundreds of fires are crackling across the ridged, green hills between Wijnkoops Bay and Tasikmalaja, more than [illegible] miles to the east.

From the glass nose of this B-25

JUL 1947 DAY JUL 1947 DAY JUL 1947

photo reconnaissance plane, I have been looking across Republican territory in the cut-off tip of West Java during the past four hours. Most of the time, Lieut. Nol Van der Veen, pilot from The Hauge who was trained during the war at Jackson, Miss., kept the plane flying lower than 100 feet.

Rubber Estates Ablaze

I have seen at least three rubber estates ablaze. On others, the gray-trunked rubber trees have been cut down and lie in a crazy tangle on the ground.

Scores of other fires are burning in what crew members told me were tea and quinine growing areas.

One rubber mill was burning, sending up a tower of black smoke.

I quit counting after seeing more than 200 fires.

Dozens of fires which cast their pall of smoke over hundreds of square miles seemed to have been set without logical reason, just the scorched earth for the scorched earth's sake. It was apparent that many were racing across brush areas of no economic importance.

Others were normal burnings of rice straw expected at this season, and I made allowances for these. But far more important was the obvious large scale destruction of estates.

No Signs Of Battles

Rarely over an area where flames were burning did I see human beings during this first complete flight by a reporter across West Java. There was no sign of battles and no bullets menaced us.

Twice we saw field artillery pieces standing below at Dutch road blocks. Once I saw a republican gun on a road. But there was no republican infantry—only fingers of flame scrabbling up the hillsides and across groves of rubber trees.

This plane was specially provided through the Dutch commander, Lieut. Gen. S. Bijvoor. It now is pointed back towards its base at Tjililitan after flying west to Tangerang, north to the Java Sea, south again across the cut-off republican tip of West Java to the Indian Ocean at Wijnkoops Bay, east across 120 flaming ridged hills to the republican base at Tasikmalaja and then north across Java to Cheribon and now westward once more.

Water Buffalo Stampede

As we flew across alternating green and brown paddy fields with their crazy quilt pattern of dikes, water buffalo stampeded in frightened awkward lurchings.

The first signs of destruction were a tTangerang, 15 miles west of aBtavia, where we flew over the empty ruins of hundreds of houses whose Chinese residents died in a massacre just a year ago.

A few trees were felled across a road, but beyond this, there was no sign of war or uneasiness in this northeast quarter of Java running up to the sea. Peasants with great sloping straw hats looked up at us, apparently curious but unafraid, from their work in the flat coastal rice fields. Native bazaars in the villages were thronged.

Fires Everywhere

It was the same as we doubled back across the unoccupied western tip of Java and stabbed down to the sea. But flying in across the ridged green hills from Wijnkoops Bay, flames danced across the hills below us.

For tLe next three quarters of an hour, there were fires everywhere. Roads were clogged with trees. Once I saw a tank trap below.

At one point, I saw a lone man dive into a ditch as the plane approached. Otherwise there was nothing but the noise of the two engines, clouds of smoke and irregular lines of flame.

INDIA DELAYS U. N. PLEA FOR INDONESIANS

New Delhi, July 29 (A. P.).—An official spokesman said tonight that "certain developments" had caused the interim Government of India to postpone an appeal to the United Nations on behalf of the Indonesian Republic.

Vice-President Jawaharlal Nehru had said that such an appeal would be presented to the U. N. in New York today, protesting against Dutch hostilities in the Indies.

Today's spokesman declined to say what the developments were. He refused to contradict a report which had gained currency here that the postponement resulted from fresh hope that the United States and Britain were preparing to take the lead in pressing for a stoppage of the warfare.

The Government did, however, fulfill Nehru's announced intention of excluding Dutch aviation from India. An official announcement said that the Dutch Embassy was notified that a temporary agreement permitting Dutch planes to land over or fly in India had been withdrawn. The British Government was so informed.

Manila 'Favors Indonesians'

Manila, July 29 (AP).—President Manuel A. Roxas made it clear today the Philippines Republic is in sympathy with Indonesians in their struggle with the Dutch "as with all other colonial peoples who are fighting for independence."

We made the Government's position official in a message to Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippines delegate to the United Nations who had requested a clarification of policy.

Romulo also had asked Roxas's opinion as to the possibility of the new republic mediating Dutch-Indonesia differences through machinery of the United Nations. Presidential Secretary Emilio Abello said the administration still is studying the prospect.

Indonesia Buying Australia Drugs

Canberra, Australia, July 29 (AP). Dr. Randit Usman, Indonesian Republican consular representative in Australia, said today medical supplies would be bought in Australia and flown by way of Singapore to the republic, now fighting the Dutch.

In a public statement, Usman declared he had authorized trustees of Indonesian funds in Brisbane to withdraw £1,000 ($4,030) for the purchase of these supplies.

Adding that this quantity would be "only a drop in the sea," he appealed to Australians to give medicine, drugs and surgical equipment to the Indonesian Red Cross.

Britain May Cut Armed Forces In Crisis

London, July 29 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today Great Britain might reduce her armed forces and dip into her £640,000,000 ($2,560,000,000 gold and dollar reserve as emergency measures to meet the prospective winter economic crisis.

Left Wing Labor Party members have been urging the Government to cut down the army, navy and air force, which had 1,297,300 men at the start of the month.

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the British imperial general staff, was to cut short his Far Eastern tour and fly home within a few days to advise the Labor Government concerning reduction of the armed forces, these informants said.

Called Stopgap

Whitehall sources said tapping the gold and dollar reserve would be a stopgap between the time when the $3,750,000,000 loan from the United States is exhausted late this year or early next and the time when the projected Marshall plan or some other United States program of financial aid to Europe became effective. (Congress, adjourned until January, would have to approve and appropriate any additional funds for Europe.)

A wave of selling dropped some British securities as much as $4 yesterday on the London stock exchange. The Financial Times attributed the bearishness to "disquiet over the economic situation with possible political repercussions."

Election Held Possible

The possibility that Prime Minister Attlee's Government might call a new general election was considered seriously. The Labor party's Daily Herald said talk of a possible coalition government was "fantastic."

Newspapers criticized the Government, saying it was allowing the country to "drift" into a crisis. Labor party members of Parliament were to meet in a closed session tomorrow with Attlee.

Montgomery was to have gone to Tokyo to visit Gen. Douglas MacArthur on August 5. He left Britain June 21, and has spent most of his time in Australia and New Zealand.

Acts On Own Initiative

Whitehall sources said Montgomery was returning on his own initiative.

The acute need for greater production, stressed last week end by leaders of all major political parties, may well mean that Britain's armed forces will have to be cut to provide more men for coal mines and factories, official quarters said.

Reduction of the armed forces has long been urged by Labor party critics of Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's politics, but the Government, backed solidly by the Conservatives, has delayed the stop in view of the world situation.

Other Signs Of Crisis

Today's indication that the cut is being considered now came amid such other "crisis" signs as an all-out Government effort to boost coal production, and persistent talk of a possible Government shakeup.

Prime Minister Attlee held an unheralded meeting with senior Cabinet members last night, presumably to discuss the economic situation.

Many Labor M.P.'s as well as a large segment of the conservative and nonpartisan press are urging Attlee to give "stronger" leadership and to warn the public to cut their low living standard still lower.

BRITISH WEIGH CUT IN ARMED FORCES

May Dip Into Gold Reserves to Combat Economic Crisis.

LONDON, July 29—(AP) Authoritative sources said today Britain might reduce the size of her armed forces—a step which could have far reaching effects on her role as a world power—to meet a prospective economic crisis this winter.

Such an action, the informants continued, ultimately might be coupled with a cabinet decision to dip into Britain's "rainy day" gold and dollar reserve of $2,560,000,000.

As signs of the nation's economic troubles multiplied, a new drive of selling, attributed by financial writers to fears for the nation's future, hit London stock markets.

General Election Rumored

Rumors spread again—and were denied authoritatively—that Prime Minister Attlee's labor government might either call a general election to seek a new mandate from the people or invite the conservative party to join in an emergency coalition cabinet.

Attlee, replying to a routine parliamentary question based on a newspaper report, said in the House of Commons: "I see startling information about myself in the nswpapers which is totally inaccurate." He did not elaborate.

The government disclosed that Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, chief of the imperial general staff, now in New Zealand, would cut short his Pacific tour because of "the pressure of business in London." It was reported that he would advise the government on the reduction of Britain's army, navy and air force, which had 1,297,300 men at the start of the month.

BRITAIN ASKS HALT TO SOVIET GRABS

London, July 29 (A. P.).—The British Foreign Office said tonight Britain had asked the Soviet Union to cease urther acquisition of German or Italian assets in Hungary pending a four-Power decision whether the property involved in fact was legitimately that of the former Axis Powers.

Britain, in a note handed to the Soviet Government in Moscow yesterday by Ambassador Sir Maurice Peterson, asked also to be informed of the manner in which provisional transfers to Russia of German and Italian assets already might have been carried out in Hungary, the Foreign Office spokesman said.

The note said a satisfactory definition of the term "German or Italian assets" was considered fundamental and that Britain would not agree to the acquisition by any allied Power "of property stolen by the German or Italian governments or nationals."

The note added that the British interpretation of such assets would not include property deriving from duress or "any act of plunder carried out under the cloak of legislation."

British Offer Russ Housing-Idea Swap

London, July 29 (AP)—Britain has offered to share with Russia the discoveries of her scientists since the war in methods of housing construction, to try to meet a common need for vast rebuilding.

The British Trade Mission to Moscow, which bargained for Soviet timber for this country's housing program, has also delivered a Government invitation for a Soviet housing mission to visit British reconstruction areas.

If the Russians accept, an announcement in the Board of Trade Journal said, the mission's attention will be called to new methods of housing construction in concrete, particularly to types being developed in rural areas.

'Very Doubtful'

Leeds, England, July 29 (AP). The Archbishop of York, Dr. Cyril Garbett, said today "America is only likely to come to our help if she is convinced that we shall survive as a great power—and at present she is very doubtful about this."

Writing in his diocesan leaflet, the Archbishop said that something "like a miracle can avert the stark reality of what may easily prove the greatest economic crisis the nation (Britain) has ever had to face."

Eva Going To Switzerland

Bern, Switzerland, July 29 (AP)—The Swiss Government announced tonight that Señora Eva Duarte Perón, wife of President Juan D. Perón of Argentina, would visit Switzerland next Monday. Señora Perón is now staying on the French Riviera, following a visit to Paris, and previously had visited Spain, Italy and Portugal on her current European tour.

Sweden Complains To Soviet

Stockholm, July 29 (AP)—The Swedish Foreign Office complained formally to the Soviet Government today that two Russians, one of them W. Konnov, deputy military attaché, took an unauthorized 320-mile bicycle trip through Sweden which gave them views of military defense areas close to the Finnish frontier.

Romania Bars Opposition Party

Bucharest, July 29 (A. P.).—The Romanian Parliament today approved by vote of 295 to 1 the Government's decision to bar the opposition National Peasant party.

The Parliament acted against the party—which claims to represent 70 per cent of the nation and holds thirty-three of the Legislatures' 430 seats—after the Communist Interior Minister, Techari Georgescu, read an "indictment" of the party.

The decision implies immediate barring of the party, closing of all its premises and confiscation of all its property.

Dimitrov Denies Atom-Bomb Fear

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, July 29 (AP). Georgi Dimitrov, premier of Bulgaria, told a crowd of Yugoslavs at Zagreb today that "we are not afraid of atom bombs," not of "threats of new aggressions and war."

The leader of a visiting delegation of Bulgarian officials said "this can only intimidate those who have weak brains and weak nerves. The Slav people were enslaved for many centuries and have learned to fight. Their leaders have been built up in partisan detachments, in struggles, in prisons and concentration camps where they withstood the difficult tests. Such peoples cannot be frightened."

Dimitrov has emphasized repeatedly during his current visit that his presence in Yugoslavia is of "much greater import than just an ordinary visit of friendship."

4 Get Death Sentence From Yugoslav Court

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, July 29 (AP). Four persons, two of them Franciscan monks, were sentenced by a Zagreb court yesterday to be shot as spies and remnants of the wartime Ustashi terrorist organization.

Four other monks were sentenced to terms of from seven to fifteen years at forced labor, with loss of civil rights and rights of pension. One woman defendant was sentenced to nine years.

Sentenced to death were Franciscan Serafim Rajic, Franciscan Matija Vodanovic, Ivan Matoshic, and Ivitsa Saloman. The nine defendants were charged by the prosecution with having placed a bomb in the storeroom of a factory near Zagreb last February, causing the deaths of three persons. The court declared Saloman was a former Gestapo agent and Matoshic a former Ustashi member.

RUSSIA SIGNS BELGRADE PACT

Trade Accord Reported Reached With Yugoslavia

Moscow, July 29 (AP)—The Russians announced today that trade and credit arrangements had been concluded with Yugoslavia.

One accord provided Russian credit for Yugoslavia's purchase within the Soviet Union of equipment for metal, oil, chemical and timber industries.

In addition, a two-year agreement was signed for an exchange of goods under which Yugoslavia would send Russia lead, zinc, pyrites, tobacco, hemp, plywood and farm products. Russia would send Yugoslavia cotton, paper, cellulose, oil products, coal, coke, metals, automobiles, tractors, fertilizers and other equipment.

Other Pacts Reviewed

[Amounts of credits and trade volume were not specified.]

The pattern of Soviet economic relations with eastern European nations has been developing rapidly during the last few weeks. An extensive trade agreement signed with Czechoslovakia, economic help was extended to Albania and a trade agreement was reached with Hungary. A Polish trade group was in Moscow working out other agreements.

[All the European countries within the Soviet orbit rejected participation in the Marshall proposal for United States financial aid in economic reconstruction of Europe.]

Small Credits Advanced

The pattern has been of increasing trade between Russia and the eastern European countries and the advancement of comparatively small credits by the Soviet Union to certain of these countries when it was necessary to assist in the fulfillment of their economic plans.

Eastern European nations in the Soviet sphere, meanwhile, have been taking steps to increase trade between themselves and develop mutual economic relations. The program has been gaining momentum.

Offerings by the Soviet Union to Great Britain of large quantities of grain, timber and fish during unsuccessful trade talks in Moscow indicated also that Russia was willing to do large scale business with England and other Western countries if she could get her own terms.

Tass Report On Breakdown

A communiqué issued through the Tass agency on the failure of British-Soviet negotiations last week said the breakdown was caused by British unwillingness or inability to guarantee the delivery of essential equipment the Russians desired, and to failure to agree on an extension and easing of conditions for repayment of the 1941 British credit to the Soviet Union.

Students of Soviet economics said the growth of trade between eastern European countries was related also to the postwar economic development of Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia and other eastern nations.

Industrial Output Rise

The Soviet Union during the last two years has been steadily increasing industrial production. Official, but not detailed, figures noted a fifteen per cent industrial production rise in Russia during the second quarter of this year, compared to the same period of 1946.

The agreements in the course of a month with Yugoslavia, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Albania apparently indicated a determination on the part of Russia and other eastern countries to accelerate by their mutual efforts their economic development.

Russ-Nazi Peace Talks Denied

London, July 29 (AP)—A denial that Russia ever engaged in separate peace negotiations with Germany was published in the Moscow newspaper Izvestia today under the byline of Alexandra Kollontay, former Soviet Minister to Sweden.

Mme. Kollontay was replying to a June 8 article in Liberty magazine, which said a Soviet Foreign Ministry official, A. M. Alexandrov, arrived in Stockholm early in 1943 with instructions to sound out the Germans on a separate peace.

"The question of a separate peace between the U.S.S.R. and Germany never was raised, nor could have been raised," the woman diplomat wrote in an article broadcast by Moscow radio.

Says He Was In Australia

She declared Alexandrov was in Australia at the time and never had been in Stockholm.

Dr. Paul Schwarz, former member of the German Foreign Service, was the author of the Liberty article. It said Russia offered to help Germany's war effort elsewhere in return for a free hand behind a line running from Riga to the Dardanelles.

Mme. Kollontay said the article was a "malicious slander" aimed at "confusing public opinion and sowing mistrust among the United Nations."

She said she was "gravely ill and stayed in the Red Cross clinic" at Stockholm during the period of the reported negotiations.

Moscow Denies Story of '43 Bid For Nazi Peace

Never Tried to Quit War, Mrs. Kollontay Asserts; Assails 'Liberty' Article

MOSCOW, July 29 (AP) —. Mrs. Alexandra Kollontay, former Soviet Minister to Sweden, denied flatly in a letter to the government newspaper "Izvestia" today that the Soviet Union had ever tried to make a separate peace with Germany during the war.

Replying to an article in "Liberty" magazine, which asserted that efforts had been made by Soviet representatives in Stockholm in 1943 to get peace with Hitler, the sixty-eigh-year-old retired diplomat said, "The question of a separate peace between the U.S.S.R. and Germany never arose, and could not have arisen."

She declared that the "malicious slander" of the "Liberty" article was "designed to confuse public opinion and plant distrust between the United Nations." (The article appeared in the July 5 issue of "Liberty" and was written by Paul Schwarz and Guy Richards.)

Mrs. Kollontay continued: "It lacks not only truth but logic, because in 1943 Soviet troops, after the German defeat at Stalingrad, launched an offensive on the entire front, and 1943 is recognized by every one as the year of a break in the course of the war which secured victory for the Allies.

"The heirs of Fascism—savagely hating the Soviet Union for its consistent, frank policy of establishing a firm, democratic peace—employ any slander, hoping the readers of their papers have a short memory and that many facts about the great war have been forgotten by large numbers.

"I am sure democratic public opinion in the United States and throughout the world will understand where this anti-Soviet propaganda is being fabricated and for which goal it is heading."

Mrs. Kollontay said the authors of the "Liberty" article stated that A. M. Alexandrov, of the Soviet Foreign Ministry, came to Stockholm in 1943 to set peace feelers in motion, and that she assisted. She said that Mr. Alexandrov, at the time mentioned by the "Liberty" writers, was in Australia as counselor of the mission and that she was gravely ill at a Red Cross clinic.

Mrs. Kollontay said that she, Herschel V. Johnson, then American Minister to Sweden, and Sir Victor Alexander Mallet, the British Minister, had well understood rumors of a separate peace that were put out by Adolf Hitler during the war, accusing at one time or another the Soviets, the British and the Americans of trying to make peace.

Squeaky Whisper Reaches Moscow

Moscow, July 29 (AP)—The first midnight broadcast of the "Voice of America" came through to the Russian capital tonight as a squeaky ether whisper. It was drowned out by atmospheric noises and loud signals of European stations.

United States Embassy personnel, sitting at monitoring sets and the best type Russian short-wave radios, could not find the program.

The broadcast, sent from New York and relayed by Munich, was heard by the Associated Press only on the nineteen-meter band.

When the "Voice of America" first initiated its broadcasts to the Soviet Union, they came through poorly, but later on there was improvement in reception.

The 9 P.M. American program tonight was received clearly. It was the first time the hour-long "Voice of America" program to Russia had been split into two parts, the first section being devoted to news and the second featuring dance music.

Need In Europe 'Not Getting Across'

Berlin, July 29 (AP)—The need for food and clothing in Europe is "not getting across," Paul F. French, executive director of CARE, told a news conference here. He said contributions to private relief agencies are decreasing.

CARE, formed by 28 American welfare organizations, has delivered more than 1,200,000 packages of food to the French, British and American zones of Germany in the last year, French said.

AUGUST ACTION, GRISWOLD HOPE

Greek Work Could Start Next Month, Mission Chief Says

Athens, July 29 (AP)—Dwight P. Griswold, chief of the United States aid mission to Greece, said today Greek reconstruction could get under way, at least on a small scale, before the end of August if American engineers arrive within the next few days.

Griswold, disclosing details of the program at a news conference, said contracts of the engineering management type would be let in Washington, whereby American firms would send representatives to Greece to prepare the plans with the Greek Government. The American firms, he added, then would check the local labor situation, sublet the work to Greek contractors, and begin operations.

Three Preliminaries

Roy L. Cochran, deputy chief of the mission, said there were three preliminaries to Greek reconstruction:

1. Approval of the Greek budget, possibly on an interim basis rather than for the usual fifteen-month period. The mission, Cochran said, is studying the budget now, with the exception of military expenditures and certain other emergency items.

2. A preliminary approximate distribution of funds for reconstruction.

3. Discussions with Greek Government officials and final agreement on the program.

Griswold said that the mission, which he described as basically operational rather than a research organization, would carry out the first of a series of orientation trips next week, with three airplane stops in the Peloponnesus. Trips to northwestern and northeastern Greece also have been planned.

Cabinet Rift

"It is hoped the agricultural people will meet farmers, engineers will contact roadmen, and the mission medical men, medical officials," he said.

Meanwhile an apparent Cabinet rift between Premier Demetrios Maximos and Gen. Napoleon Zervas, Minister of Public Order, came to a climax last night when Zervas reportedly left a Cabinet meeting in anger, appeared settled today. The two men exchanged letters giving mutual explanations. Both letters were approved at a two-hour emergency Cabinet meeting.

Last night's incident was said to have been the climax of growing dissension between Zervas and the high command over the efficiency of the Greek Army in its operations against anti-Government guerrillas.

Crux of the argument was said to have been an article in Ethniki Floga, Zervas's weekly newspaper, by a former military man charging the army was inadequate to suppress the guerrillas, repel serious invasion and guard the frontier.

Greek military authorities in Salonika were quoted in press dispatches today as saying Government forces had repelled a strong guerrilla attack on Amyntaion, in western Macedonia, killing 105 attackers and wounding many others.

U.S. Engineers Held Key To Greek Plans

Athens, July 29 (AP) — Dwight Griswold, head of the American Greek-aid mission, said today that small-scale reconstruction could start in Greece by late August if United States engineers reached the country this week.

[The Greeks will receive about $300,000,000 of a recent $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid appropriation by the United States Congress to help stem communism.]

Griswold declared contracts of an engineering management type let in Washingtno would provide for United States firms to prepare the program with the Greek Government, the nsublet the work to Greek contractors.

"American Gauleiter"

The left-wing KKE Politburo issued a proclamation describing Griswold as the "American Gauleiter" coming to Greece to "enforce the colonial policy of American trusts and monopolies." The assertion said the Government was "neo-Fascist" and that a national catastrophe would result. It called on "Communists and KKE supporters to stand by the bastions of the anti-Fascist struggle and spare no effort or sacrifice."

Roy L. Cochran, Griswold's deputy, said the mission was studying the Greek budget as a preliminary to reconstruction activities, which the regime must approve.

Premier, Minister Clash On Army

Athens, July 29 (AP)—Napoleon Zervas, Greek Minister of Public Order, was reported today to have left a Cabinet meeting in anger last night after a heated discussion of army organization and tactics with Premier Demetrios Maximos.

The incident was said to have climaxed growing dissension between Zervas and the high command over the efficiency of the army, engaged in hostilities with anti-Government guerrillas in northern Greece. A report that Zervas would resign could not be confirmed.

The discussion was reported to have arisen over an article in Zervas's weekly paper, Ethniki Floga, signed by a former military man who is a friend of Zervas's and declaring that the nation "has no army."

Army "Inadequate"

This article said the present composition of the army was inadequate to suppress the guerrilla movement, repel serious invasion and guard the frontier.

It alleged that mountain divisions had no anti-aricraft, no anti-tank guns, no heavy machine guns and no mortars, while the guerrillas often were equipped with new British heavy weapons.

An authoriative source said today that War Minister George Stratos would meet with his chief of staff and three army corps commanders tomorrow at Volos, 1st Army headquarters, to discuss the military situation.

3 Jews Hanged Despite Threat From Irgun

Jerusalem, July 29 (AP)—The British hanged three Jews today in defiance of a Jewish underground threat to retaliate with the execution of two British hostages and "bathe the Holy Land with blood."

A British military announcement said Meir Nakar, Yacoub Weiss and Absalom Habib were put to death between 4 and 5 A.M. in Acre Prison on Palestine's north coast for their part in the May 4 break there in which 251 prisoners were freed and sixteen were killed.

A Jewish underground source said last night that Irgun Zvai Leumi, of which the three were members, had tried British Sergeants Clifford Martin and Mervin Paice and condemned them to death for being members of a force "illegally occupying Palestine" and "conspiring to oppress the rightful citizens of Palestine." The sergeants were kidnapped July 12 at Natanya.

Advises Against Retaliation

The Jewish National Council, Vaad Leumi, broadcast a warning to Irgun over the Government-operated radio, declaring that "any act of retaliation against two innocent British soldiers would be an unpardonable sin, as well as a crime against Palestine Jewry."

This source said that, while Irgun Commander-in-Chief Menachem Beigin had confirmed their sentences, it was unlikely they would be executed "until the final disposition of the case of our three soldiers."

The judges, he reported, were one-time Polish lawyers.

Eight Vicinities Searched

Irgun had held Martin and Paice since their kidnapping and British soldiers and police searched eight Jewish vicinities near Tel Aviv last night in an evident effort to liberate the sergeants.

The hunt for the hostages continued throughout Palestine today, but many Government officials expressed fear they would not be found alive.

Meanwhile, a reliable source said the Palestine Government, widening its war on violence, planned to enact a law to permit destruction of houses connected with suspected underground attacks.

In the Arab revolt of 1936-39, the military and police blasted houses from which gunfire or other attacks came.

Houses Ordered Forfeited

Last week the military commander of the Haifa district ordered five houses near the scenes of attacks forfeited. Thirty-three families put out of the houses were sheltered temporarily in schools. They have asked the Palestine Supreme Court to return their homes.

Among Palestine executions of recent years, today's hanging was exceeded only by that of last April 16, in which Dov Bela Gruner and three other Jews were put to death in the same prison.

Empty Pillbox Blown Up

Less than three hours before the executions, an empty pillbox near the prison was blasted—apparently, officials said, by a mine. No casualties were reported.

Before the three Jews went to the gallows, a heavy guard was set up around the prison and soldiers and police blocked off Tel Aviv, about 60 miles south of Acre.

The trap was reported sprung on Nakar at 4 A.M., on Weiss at 4.23 and on Habib at 4.44. An unofficial source said police escorted families of the condemned men to the prison late last night.

The executed men were taken to Safad, north of the Sea of Tiberias (Galilee), where relatives buried them near the four Jews hanged in April.

Grenade Thrown At Car

Only an hour after news of the hangings had been made public, a grenade was thrown at a police armored car in Jerusalem, giving rise to a 35-minute general alarm on sirens.

A little later, police shot and wounded a Jewish youth trying to flee a check post here.

Six instances of violence were reported in the Holy Land yesterday. The only extensive casualties, however, occurred in the 1st British Infantry camp at Tel Litvinsky, near Tel Aviv. An explosion outside an outdoor theater there last night wounded six persons.

TENSE PALESTINE AWAITS FATE OF BRITISH HOSTAGES

Sergeants Threatened with Death in Reprisal for Hangings.

SEARCH INTENSIFIED

Tel Aviv May Be Placed Under Curfew if Men Aren't Freed.

JERUSALEM, July 29 — (AP) Rumor-ridden Palestine waited tensely tonight to see whether Irgun Zvai Leumi would carry out the threatened execution of two British army sergeants in reprisal for the hangings of three members of the Jewish underground.

As the day passed, both the British military and the Palestine police became more optimistic over chances that the sergeants, Mervyn Paice and Clifford Martin, might still be found alive. They were kidnaped July 12 at Natanya and have been held as hostages by Irgun.

However, renewed appeals from Jewish groups — including Vaad Leumi, the Jewish National Council—that the two be liberated were taken in some quarters to reflect Jewish fears that the sergeants might meet the same fate at the hands of the underground as the three Irgun members who went to the gallows early today for participation in an attack on Acre Prison May 4.

Speculate on Fate

One military source said there was a feeling in army circles that if Irgun intended to execute the two sergeants it would have done so immediately after the hanging of the three Jews.

"Irgun would have executed the men in a spectacular fashion so as to gain a maximum of publicity," this informant said. "There also is a belief by army officials that Irgun's execution of the two now would be regarded as cold blooded killings by many of the neutral members of the Jewish community, and especially in America."

However, growing fear was reported from the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv that Irgun would execute the two sergeants in reprisal for the hanging of the three underground members—Meir Nakar, Yacob Weiss and Avsalom Habib.

One report widely circulated in Tel Aviv was that the retaliation had been timed by Irgun "to coincide 24 hours to the minute after the terrorists were hanged." Another report was that Irgun was delaying the execution of the sergeants "because of difficulty in finding a Christian chaplain."

Shortly after dark in Tel Aviv, bands of Irgunist youths roamed the city's rialto asking night clubs, coffee houses and moving picture theaters to close "in mourning for the three Hebrew soldiers murdered by our enemy." Some theaters and about half a dozen coffee houses shut up for the night.

Tel Aviv Searched

The military, in armored cars and troop carriers, made brief but widespread spot checks in Tel Aviv. The roaming patrols briefly would block up intersections, check the identity cards of passersby and search houses in the immediate vicinity.

The searches, with the accompanying mounting tension, brought from many Jewish sources an expression of fear that Tel Aviv might be put under curfew or martial law unless the sergeants were freed or found alive.

The military also hunted through 10 miles of the coastal plain between Tel Aviv and Haifa without result during the day.

In Jerusalem there were widespread rumors which were branded as false by the army and police that the sergeants had been found hanged near Gaza, in southern Palestine. A similar report placing the site near Tel Aviv also was denied.

However, the army did take extra security precautions, increasing patrols and guards in the area of Zion Square after there were persistent reports that Irgun might attempt to hang the soldiers in the heart of Jerusalem.

DEPORTED JEWS NOW REFUSE TO LAND IN FRANCE

French Take Poll Aboard Ship Arriving From Palestine.

BRITISH AUTHORITIES PROTEST

Refugees Voice Determination Not to Go Ashore Alive—Two Debark Out of 4500.

Port-de-Bouc, France, July 29 (A. P.).—Jewish refugees aboard one of three British vessels which had brought 4,500 of them back here from Palestine voted today "not to go ashore alive," French officials said, and the British authorities here protested that the vote was not a representative one.

The Jews were polled by the French aboard the Ocean Vigor which, with the two other transports, steamed into French waters this morning. Twelve days ago the Jews were taken into custody by British naval men while attempting to reach Palestine aboard the Exodus of 1947 (the former President Warfield). They had sailed from Sete, France, on July 10.

The British authorities said the vote was a collective one and that each refugee should be allowed to express himself individually. The French said they considered the poll final for the Ocean Vigor group.

Two Persons Land.

The French News Agency said that two persons, a man and a woman each 50 years old, landed voluntarily from the transport Runnymede Park.

The three vessels anchored just outside the tiny petroleum port, thirty miles west of Marseille, at 7:30 A. M., and requested medical inspection and a pilot.

The medical officers announced after boarding the first ship that there was no sign of contagious illness aboard which would prevent the refugees from landing. Aboard the quarantine boat was the Secretary-General of the Bouches-du-Rhone, who carried with him the printed text of a welcome to the refugees from the French Government.

Nearly 1,000 of the refugees have been reported ill, and arrangements to give them medical care have been made here. Barracks have been prepared in the Port-de-Bouc area and hospital facilities were waiting in Marseille, some seventy miles away, for those needing attention. Ambulances and three special trains waited in the tiny port for the Jews to debark. The hotels were crowded with Jewish Agency representatives and newspaper men.

In addition to the Runymede Park the vessels assigned to bring the Jews here from Palestine were the Empire Rival and the Ocean Vigour.

Crowds of Jewish men, women and children thronged the forward decks of the ships, which were enclosed with wire grills, but they showed little or no emotion and evinced only slight interest in the waiting flotilla of small fishing craft hired by the scores of reporters assembled here to await their arrival.

Paris, July 29 (AP)—The French press agency reported today from Port de Bouc that 4,500 Jewish refugees who arrived there this morning aboard three British transports had refused to land in protest against being denied admission to Palestine.

The agency quoted a spokesman for the refugees as saying "they will only get us off here dead."

The agency said M. Colaveria, secretary general of the Bouches-du-Rhone Prefecture, declared he was getting in touch with Premier Paul Ramadier immediately.

"Official Silence"

The dispatch said it was planned to land only one passenger—a woman suffering from lung congestion.

The agency added that "in spite of official silence the correspondent of the AFP is in a position to affirm that the emigrants are refusing to leave the ships—the women and the sick likewise refusing."

4,500 Jews Refuse To Leave Palestine Deportation Ships

Port de Bouc, France, July 29 (AP). The 4,500 Jewish refugees who have been returned to France after an abortive attempt to enter Palestine staged a sit-down strike tonight and refused to leave their ships.

Through what British officials here described as a "collective poll," the passengers aboard three British troopships which arrived today have refused to step ashore to the soil they left earlier this month in hopes of reaching the Holy Land.

British and French authorities here said they were at a loss as to what would be the next move. One British official excluded any idea of forcing the refugees to leave the ships by force.

Six Go Ashore

However, despite the Jews' decision to remain aboard—which was accepted by the French and unopposed by the British local authorities here, who said they merely would report to London—six of the passengers went ashore late tonight.

One woman recuperating from pneumonia was taken ashore on a stretcher. She was followed by three other ailing women and a Romanian Jew and his wife who elected to land.

British authorities have termed the refugee vote to remain aboard the vessels an unrepresentative one, contending it was made on a collective basis. One British official, declaring that each refugee should be allowed to express himself individually, said: "In such a vote we are sure more than half would decide to land."

30.24- 11199

15 American Crew Members

Those aboard the vessel, Ocean Vigor, began conducting their poll soon after the three ships reached this small port 30 miles west of Marseille.

Among those choosing to remain aboard were some fifteen American members of the crew of the former Chesapeake Bay liner President Warfield, renamed the Exodus of 1947, according to British sources, were placed with the refugees by mistake.

[The French News Agency reported that food supplies in all three ships virtually were exhausted and said British officials had urgently requested stocks from the French.

[British officials apparently had not expected an extended delay off the French coast, the agency said.

[French charity organizations planned to send bread, tinned milk and other foodstuffs to the ships tomorrow, the agency said.]

Anchored beside the Ocean Vigor were the Runnymede Park and the Empire Rival. French doctors and nurses went aboard all three vessels during the day distributing milk to children and pregnant women, believed to number more than 100. The doctors reported that there were no indications of contagious disease among the passengers on the Ocean Vigor.

The refugees were taken in custody twelve days ago by British naval men while attempting to reach Palestine. They had sailed from Sete, France, July 10.

600 Children Aboard

There were indications the French would attempt to persuade Jewish leaders to permit the disembarkment of the 600 children aboard the ships until a decision is reached regarding the entire convoy.

Conflicting figures were given on the number of ailing refugees. British officials said there were 22 seriously ill and no wounded aboard. Some Jewish representatives in Port de Bouc said 500 to 600 of the 4,500 refugees were ill or wounded.

The Jewish representatives said the refugees were confined in holds of the vessels and only allowed out on deck in cages. The British said many Allied soldiers had traveled in the same holds and added that the women and children had been given the complete liberty of the ships during the entire voyage.

Newsmen were barred from the ships by agreement between the French and British.

World Curb Palestine Writers

LONDON, July 29 (AP).—Lyall Wilkes, a Labor M. P., suggested today that the Palestine government withdraw facilities "from the Palestine correspondents of United States newspapers who continue to print incitements to terrorism in Palestine." He will ask the comment of Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin on Aug. 6.

London, July 29 (AP)—British Army casualties in Palestine between August 1, 1945, and June 30, 1947, totaled 79 killed and 180 wounded, F. J. Bellenger, Secretary for War, told Commons today. Twenty eight were killed and 110 wounded in the first six months of 1947, he said.

China Opposes Foreign Aid, Wedemeyer Is Told

Nanking, July 29 (AP)—Representatives of the Democratic League told Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer today that the Chinese people are bitterly opposed to any foreign assistance which would likely prolong the civil war, "whether it comes from the United States or the Soviets."

Lo Lung-chi, league spokesman, said after a conference with Wedemeyer's American fact-finding mission that he was convinced the investigation was impartial "but we are more interested in what happens after they return to Washington."

Conferences were also held with representatives of the Young China party and with independents. A spokesman for the fact-finding mission said that "important information" about the Chinese situation is being contributed by unofficial sources and that it complements or supplements information from Chinese and American officials.

Nanking Conferences Set

Wedemeyer and his group planned daily conferences in Nanking this week. They will leave Friday or Saturday for a week-long tour of North China and Manchuria—including visits to Mukden, Peiping, Tientsin and Tsingtao.

The mission spokesman said that upon their return to Nanking they would visit Formosa, a formerly Japanese-controlled island which is considered potentially important in the restoration in China's sagging economy. The length of stay in Formosa has not yet been determined.

Meanwhile, the lull in China's civil war continued. The Chinese press dispatches at Peiping reported the Communists were training troops for a sixth major offensive in Manchuria. One report said that the Reds, after the battle of Szepingkai, failed to withdraw northward across the Sungari River as on previous drives and were now preparing for a new thrust.

3,400 Bodies Recovered

The independent Tientsin newspaper Ta Kung Pao reported Government troops were still digging for bodies in the debris at Szepingkai and that 3,400 have been recovered and cremated thus far.

Since Government forces recaptured Szepingkai June 30 and set out in pursuit of two Communist columns there have been no reports of major engagements in Manchuria.

U.S. Fact Finding In China Called Interference

Shanghai, July 29 (AP)—The daily Cheng Yen Pao today editorially accused the United States, through the medium of the Wedemeyer fact-finding mission, of "interference in China's domestic politics."

The newspaper, reputedly owned by a dissident member of the Kuomintang (Government party), said:

"To fact find is hardly a compliment. . . . It is not glorious that one state should investigate another that is on an equal footing."

Termed An Investigator

The editorial said Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer "seems to have assumed the position of an investigator. This is hardly a friendly gesture, but rather interference in China's domestic politics.

"You, our American friends were responsible for urging us to swallow insults, to yield to circumstances, to compromise and to have pity. When our forebearance and compromise inevitably led to disturbance and chaos, it was you who directed endless criticisms at us as being completely hopeless.

"You have been the author of our unrest, but once more you, our American friends, are coming to China to investigate conditions like a procurator investigating a suspect."

The editorial charged the United States with responsibility for China's loss of Mongolia, for the deprivation of China of half its sovereign rights over Port Arthur and Dairen and over the two main railway systems in Manchuria and for "elevating the Communist party and intensifying the civil war."

China Protests Java Violence

NANKING, July 29 (AP).—George Yeh, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs charged today that repeated acts of arson and violence inflicted on Chinese nationals by the Indonesian Army in Java constitute a serious offense against international law and humanity."

The Foreign Minister distributed Mr. Yeh's statement, which calls on Indonesian authorities "to consider the serious consequences of such lawless acts on the part of their troops and to order these troops to refrain strictly from further acts of this kind against the defenseless and neutral Chinese population."

Mr. Yeh urged that "at the same time the Netherlands government fulfill its moral and legal obligation in regard to the protection of Chinese lives and property throughout the Netherlands East dies."

China Farmers Think The Color Did It

Shanghai, July 29 (AP)—Chinese farmers are noted more for their practicality than for their aesthetic appreciation.

Therefore UNRRA's chemists in the UNRRA pesticides manufacturing plant here, where UNRRA is training young Chinese to produce insect-killing sprays and dusts, were puzzled at requests that DDT dust, pyrethrum powder and other chemicals be tinted rose and azure and maize. But the reason was purely practical.

When UNRRA first distributed bug poisons in China, it used American-made pesticides which had been tinted according to various state laws.

The pink and blue poisons did their work—and the farmers were convinced it was the color that did it!

Allies In Tokyo Hail Steel-Mill Settlement

Tokyo, July 29 (AP)—Occupation headquarters hailed as a victory for "peaceful conciliation procedures in Japan" the settlement today of an 80-day steel mill labor dispute which had threatened to bring about a strike of 18,000 steel workers and the disruption of Japanese industry.

The settlement provided for an average wage of 2,300 yen a month, 800 yen more than the Government had recommended.

Labor and management representatives appointed by the Government negotiated the settlement. Headquarters officials took no direct part in negotiations.

Deny Trip Is Off.

Tokyo, July 29 (A. P.).—Lieut. Gen. C. H. C. Robertson, commander of British occupation forces in Japan, today denied reports from London that Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery had canceled his visit to Japan.

A. D. F. Gascoigne, head of the British liaison mission here, said "it is news to me" when told of the report and added that the British staff in Japan is preparing to receive Montgomery as scheduled.

Jap 'Had No Say' In Truk Executions

Guam, July 29 (AP)—Lieut. Com. Hidehiro Kamikawa denied today that he had anything to do with the execution of American prisoners on Truk or that he had been present when some of the Americans were bayoneted to death.

Kamikawa denounced previous witnesses who had pointed him out during his trial with eighteen other Japanese defendants, charged with the torture slaying of eight Americans, and declared their testimony had been pure invention.

"Couldn't Sway Superior"

He said he had protested the executions to Capt. Hiroshi Iwanami, principal defendant, but, being only a lieutenant at the time, had been unable to influence his superior.

Iwanami, charged with initiating the torture deaths, in which the Americans were given medical and shock tests, testified that he first visited the naval hospital at Truk with a Commander Okiyama and was shown the eight prisoners who already were scheduled to become test victims.

Reds Pose Brazil Problem

Tribunal Refuses Decision on Abolishing Deputies' Seats

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 29 (AP).—Brazil's Supreme Electoral Tribunal ruled itself incompetent today to decide whether Congressional and City Council seats held by Communists should be abolished, in view of the recent outlawing of the Communist party.

The Communists have one Senator, Luis Carlos Prestes, who is the party's secretary general, and sixteen members of the Chamber of Deputies.

The tribunal voted 4 to 2 that it had no right to judge the question, which was asked by the administration party in Congress. Various members of Congress had indicated their reluctance to pass on the subject in the Chamber of Deputies and Senate. Now, however, it is expected Congress must make a decision.

PARIS, ARGENTINA COMMERCIAL PACT PROTESTED BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 29 — (AP) The United States has objected in vain to what it considers a discriminatory clause in a commercial treaty recently concluded between France and Argentina, diplomatic officials said today.

The officials said the French and Argentine governments rejected the American objection and signed the pact last week in Paris in the presence of Mrs. Eva Peron, wife of the Argentine president.

5-Year Pact

Under this five-year agreement, Argentina will extend France $148,200,000 in credit to buy food and other supplies from the South American republic.

The United States maintained that a shipping clause in the pact would discriminate against merchant shipping from other countries. This provision, it argued, would tend to restrict competition.

Under the clause France and Argentina promised to use each other's vessels exclusively in transporting goods between the two countries. This clause is interpreted as applying not only to products puchased with the credit but to all purchases, public and private.

Officials here said Argentina turned down the American objections on the ground that the clause was necessary to rebuild her merchant marine. France told the State department her urgent need for economic assistance made it necessary for her to accept the shipping provision.

Argentina is understood to have insisted that the clause be included in the treaty since similar provisions are contained in pacts between Argentina and other countries.

The State department is studying the text of the France-Argentina accord to determine what further steps to take.

TVA Tour Being Made By Egyptian Official

Knoxville, Tenn., July 29 (AP)—Saleh Pasha, Egyptian Minister of Public Works, arrived last night on a three-day tour of TVA facilities before he meets with the United Nations Security Council on August 5.

Expressing a belief that the Nile Valley in Egypt will some day mirror development of natural resources in the Tennessee Valley, he said he wanted to "see the great industries created by the power of Tennessee."

He will appear before the Security Council to seek removal of English troops from Egypt and Sudan. He is accompanied on his visit here by J. T. Yarnell and William W. Crittenden, New York engineers, and Mohammed El-Koshairy and S. El Shazly, Egyptian engineers.

Leahy Signaled Go-Ahead On Cargo Plane Contract, Kaiser Tells War Probers

CRAFT NEVER GOT IN AIR TO THWART SUBMARINE PERIL

Went to Chief of Staff on Nelson's Suggestion, Witness Says.

QUIZZED BY SENATORS

Testifies Note to F.D.R. Got Contract for 'Baby Flat Tops.'

WASHINGTON, July 29—(AP) Henry J. Kaiser testified today that Admiral William D. Leahy, presidential chief of staff, flashed the go-ahead on a multi-million dollar wartime contract for 200-ton cargo planes which never got into the air to thwart the submarine menace.

He also said that he obtained a wartime order for 100 small aircraft carriers by sending a note to President Roosevelt after the navy turned thumbs down on the contract. Kaiser declared that these baby flat tops "practically won the war."

Quotes Nelson's Advice

Kaiser told the Senate War Investigating Committee that he did not seek White House intervention to obtain the cargo plane contract in 1942, but that War Production Board Chairman Donald M. Nelson asked him to get Leahy's approval.

Leahy was chief of staff to the late President Roosevelt and serves in the same capacity to President Truman. The senate committee is investigating $40,000,000 worth of contracts awarded to Kaiser, West Coast industrialist, and Howard Hughes, Hollywood millionaire and plane designer.

Kaiser said he had no recollection of sending a note to Mr. Roosevelt in connection with the contract for huge flying boats, such as the one he sent to get the baby flat top order.

He also testified that his efforts to put these big planes into mass production to block the U-boat campaign met with a "mysterious kiss-off."

The contract that Kaiser and Hughes received was for three flying boats, but this later was cut to one. It still is under construction and thus far has cost the government $18,000,000.

The committee received from a Kaiser aide a memorandum dated Sept. 11, 1942, relating that Nelson accompanied Kaiser to the White House to see Leahy.

The memorandum stated that while Leahy was "very much for the idea" of cargo planes, he wanted it "definitely understood that whatever he was agreeing to was on the basis that nothing would interfers with the offensive military program."

The memo said also:

"Mr. Nelson stated that it would not, and assured the admiral several times that he personally would assume full responsibility for the program as outlined, namely the three planes, not interfering with any military program, and that the offensive operations came first."

"One Reason for Delay"

Senator Cain (R-Wash) wanted to know why the Hughes flying boat still hasn't been completed after five years of effort.

"One reason for the delay," Kaiser replied, "is that the War Department wouldn't furnish what we call GFM—government furnished materials.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla) commented that the plane when completed will belong to the government and Hughes will have nothing to show for it but several years of hard work.

"And a couple of years of abuse and slander, plus a loss of $7,000,000 of Hughes' own money which went into the project," Kaiser put in.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the subcommittee conducting the investigation, asked Kaiser how he got the contract despite opposition of the army, navy and other war agencies.

Kaiser replied that Nelson, Admiral John H. Towers and Robert Lovett then assistant secretary of war, all had backed the proposal to build huge cargo planes.

Chad F. Calhoun, a Kaiser company vice president, volunteered that Kaiser was assured of a WPB "letter of intent" leading to a contract after conferring less than 15 minutes at the White House with Leahy.

"You wanted to have White House backing?" Ferguson inquired.

Calhoun commented that Leahy was an important military personality—"at least he was all dressed up in a uniform."

Says Jones Praised Hughes

Kaiser and Calhoun detailed how they checked with Jesse Jones, then secretary of commerce and head of the government's wartime defense plant corporation, about Howard Hughes.

Kaiser said Jones gave Hughes the highest praise as "a genius."

Ferguson then wanted to know whether Kaiser was concerned about the fact that the huge flying boats were to be built at the Hughes plant at Culver City, Calif., "some twenty miles from the water and yet they could not be put into the air except from the water."

Kaiser replied that was an "engineering decision" over which Hughes had direction. Senator Hatch (D-NM) recalled Hughes' testimony at an earlier closed committee session. He said Hughes had testified it was easier to build the big flying boat and move it to the water than move the entire aircraft plant the same distance.

Kaiser said that Hughes was so intensely interested in the design project that after the government spent $16,000,000 Hughes added "seven million of his own money."

Kaiser made it plain at the end of his testimony that Hughes, not Kaiser, was responsible under the contract for the huge flying boats.

"From November 16, 1942 I assumed no responsibility," Kaiser said.

Kaiser said he also had put some of his own money into completion of the big flying boat, did not know how much and would supply that later.

Kaiser testified at a stormy session that a former War Production Board official was in league with aircraft manufacturers to keep him out of the business.

"Frame-up", Says Kaiser

"In my opinion," he said, "it was a beautiful frame-up to kill the aircraft cargo program, and it succeeded."

At the outset today Kaiser lost a hectic half-hour argument over his demand that he be allowed to present a prepared statement to the committee, and protested that he has been the victim of a "smear campaign."

Then, in reply to questions, Kaiser testified that he sent a brief note to President Roosevelt in 1942 in connection with a proposal to build small aircraft carriers.

This testimony developed when Senator Ferguson asked Kaiser whether he ever had gone "to the White House" about his cargo plane proposition.

Kaiser said he could not remember, but that he had talked to the late Marvin McIntyre, secretary to President Roosevelt, about building small aircraft carriers, known as baby flat tops, for the navy.

The west coast industrialist recounted that McIntyre had suggested that if Kaiser would "write a little letter of about four paragraphs" that McIntyre would "lay it on the chief's desk."

The next day, Kaiser said, he received a call from Admiral Emory S. Land, chief of the Maritime Commission, who asked:

"What the hell have you been doing?"

FDR Letter Got Action

Mr. Roosevelt's letter, Kaiser told the committee, caused top navy officials to "reverse" themselves and "I got an order for 100 carriers." This, he added, later was cut to 50. He said that finally the navy "turned the heat of hell on us to produce more."

In reply to further questions, Kaiser said he knew of no such note in connection with flying boats.

"They told me that was hopeless," Kaiser said.

Merrill C. Meigs, former chief of WPB's aircraft division, testified yesterday that government experts regarded Kaiser's flying boat as "fantastic" and recommended against it, but that they were overruled by Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman.

It was Meigs who Kaiser said was in league with "certain aircraft manufacturers" to keep him out of the business.

Ferguson asked Kaiser whether he had design plans for cargo planes when he entered into negotiations with WPB in 1942. Kaiser replied that he probably had only sketches, and added:

"All I had when I came (to the navy) with an aircraft carrier that practically won the war was a picture—a wash drawing."

Kaiser testified under the heat of a battery of flood lights. At times confusion was rampant as Kaiser, his aide, Chad F. Calhoun, and senators talked at the same time.

Foreign-Voice Broadcasts Cut 40%

Washington, July 28 (AP)—A 40 per cent cut in the State Department's Voice of America overseas broadcasts was announced by Assistant Secretary William Benton today along with other major changes to make the enterprise fit the smaller budget decreed by Congress.

Broadcasts will be reduced from 55 to 33 hours a day, and Danish and Swedish will be dropped from the list of 26 languages in which the programs are now beamed abroad.

Effective at 11 A.M. today a new system of "block programming" goes into effect to concentrate the broadcasts into the best evening listening hours in each country and to permit staff reductions.

Funds Ctu To $6,900,000

Congress reduced funds for this year from $8,400,000 to $6,900,000. It directed also that part of the operations be turned over to private radio concerns.

The State Department plans for reducing the scope of the programs came as two congressional committees mapped a joint on-the-spot check in a dozen European countries as to the effectiveness of the broadcasts.

Benton listed these changes:

Dutch language programs to the Netherlands will eliminated, but programs to Indonesia in that language will be continued.

Latin America Trimmed

Broadcasts to Latin America will be most severly reduced—from eighteen hours and fifteen minutes to nine hours daily, mostly in English-language programs.

Broadcast to the Far East will be cut from 9 hours and 45 minutes to six hours in English, and English-language broadcasts to Europe from 28 hours and 30 minutes to seventeen hours daily.

Benton said various operations would be turned over as rapidly as possible to private companies, but the Department will continue directing from its New York headquarters the programs for ten countries—Russia, Bulgaria, Romania, Yugoslavia, Australia, Hungary, Polin, Greece, Korea, China, and a short daily program to Germany.

Staff To Be Halved

The present staff of more than 500 of the international broadcasting division, mostly in New York, [illegible] will be reducted to about 225. Private specialists let out.

Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), chairman of a Senate committee designated to make the study for his chamber, said his group and a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee will leave about November 1 to study this country's propaganda efforts abroad. Representative Mundt (R., S.D.), heads the House group.

Smith said:

"I am deeply concerned with the Voice of America program and have been endeavoring through this session of Congress to collaborate with Secretary of State Marshall in strengthening his hand in the delicate international dealings which lies immediately ahead."

Cites Russian Charges

"To me it is utterly absurd for this country to be spending billions of dollars for the humane and economic relief of the devastated countries of the world only to have Russia and her satellite countries interpret it as this country having imperialistic designs."

Smith said the congressional groups will travel together. They plan to visit France, Britain, the Baltic and Scandinavian countries, Italy, Greece, Turkey, Austria, Germany and Spain.

Before the European phase of the inquiry starts, he said, the groups will look into the New York office of the Voice of America program, where the broadcasts were prepared.

VOICE OF AMERICA BROADCASTS TO SOVIET EXPANDED

WASHINGTON, July 29 — (AP) A new 30-minute program of news and music hereafter will stream out over the "Voice of America" aimed directly at the Moscow area. It steps up by 50 per cent this country's official broadcasting to the Russians.

Prepared in Russian, the new program is scheduled to reach Soviet ears at midnight, Moscow time, beginning tonight, State department officials said in announcing the plan. It was indicated the expansion came at the suggestion of Walter B. Smith, U. S. ambassador to Russia.

The present program, begun in February, runs from 8 to 9 p.m. Moscow time and will continue.

Won't Cost Any More

The new venture won't cost any more, it was said, because the present staff will do the work, but the State department began a 40 per cent reduction in broadcasts to other countries, conforming with a reduction in its budget by Congress.

Assistant Secretary William Benton announced that broadcasts will be trimmed to 33 hours a day from the present 55 hours. Danish and Swedish will be dropped from the list of 26 languages in which broadcasts are now beamed abroad.

Other economies will be effected, including a staff reduction. The funds were trimmed from $8,400,000 to $6,900,000. Congress directed that some operations be shifted over to private radio companies.

The department said the present staff of more than 500 of its international broadcasting division will be reduced to about 225.

Effectiveness of this country's propaganda efforts in Europe will be studied this winter by two congressional committees. One from the Senate is headed by Senator Smith (R.-N. J.) and one from the House by Rep. Mundt (R.-S. D.).

Broadcasts to Soviet Expanded

All Other Voice of America Programs Cut to Meet Pared Propaganda Budget.

JUL 1947

Washington, July 29 (A. P.).—The expansion of American official broadcasts to Russia was ordered today by the State Department as it cut back other programs because of the reduced funds allocated by Congress.

Officials said that beginning tonight a new thirty-minute Voice of America program of news in the Russian language and music will be beamed to the Moscow area. A one-hour program of news, music and features which started last February will continue unchanged.

Cut in Broadcasts.

The new half-hour broadcast was timed to reach Moscow at midnight. The present program is heard from 8 to 9 P. M., Moscow time.

The expansion, officials indicated, results from the recommendations of Ambassador Walter B. Smith. The new broadcast, to be prepared by the present staff, is to involve no additional cost.

Meanwhile, Assistant Secretary William Benton announced a 40 per cent cut in broadcasts in other languages, along with other major changes to trim the overseas broadcasting enterprise to fit the smaller budget decreed by Congress.

Broadcasts will be reduced from 55 to 33 hours daily and Danish and Swedish will be dropped from the list of twenty-six languages in which the programs are beamed abroad. At noon today a new system of "block programming" went into effect to concentrate the broadcasts into the best evening listening hours in each country, and to permit staff reductions.

Other Changes Listed.

Congress reduced the funds for this year from $8,400,000 to $6,900,000. It directed also that part of the operations be turned over to private radio concerns.

The State Department plans for reducing the scope of the programs came as two congressional committees mapped a joint on-the-spot check in a dozen European countries as to the effectiveness of the broadcasts. Benton listed these changes:

Dutch language programs to the Netherlands will be eliminated, but programs to Indonesia in that language will be continued.

Broadcasts to Latin America will be most severely reduced—from eighteen hours and fifteen minutes to nine hours daily, mostly in English language programs.

Private Operation.

Broadcasts to the Far East will be cut from 9 hours and 45 minutes to 6 hours in English, and English language broadcasts to Europe from 28 hours and 30 minutes to 17 hours daily.

Benton said that various operations would be turned over as rapidly as possible to private companies, but the department will continue directing from its New York headquarters the programs for ten countries—Russia, Bulgaria, Romania, Yugoslavia, Australia, Hungary, Poland, Greece, Korea, China, and a short daily program to Germany.

The present staff of more than 500 of the international broadcasting division, mostly in New York, will be reduced to about 225. Private contractors are expected to employ many language and other specialists let out.

Blandy Parley Role Hints At New Atomic Bomb Tests

Washington, July 29 (AP)—Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, the Navy's top expert on atomic bombs, sat in today at a secret top-level army and navy conference, leading to unofficial speculation he may direct some new A-bomb tests.

There was no confirmation. James V. Forrestal, Secretary of the Navy, who soon is to take the oath as the nation's first Secretary of Defense, refused to discuss the purpose of the meeting.

Royall Attends Session

Kenneth C. Royall, Secretary of War, delayed a trip to Germany in order to attend. Also present was Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of staff to President Truman.

Blandy, now commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, directed two atomic bomb tests last year at Bikini atoll in the Pacific. Last Wednesday the Atomic Energy Commission announced without elaboration that it "is establishing proving grounds in the Pacific for routine experiments and tests of atomic weapons."

Presumably Blandy would at least be consulted as to the site of further tests and might again head them. He was today awarded a gold star as the equivalent of a fourth Distinguished Service Medal for his work in the Bikini operation.

The accompanying citation, read by Forrestal, said:

"Admiral (then Vice Admiral) Blandy displayed sound judgment, broad vision and initiative in organizing, planning and directing the activities of a joint army-navy task force during Operation Crossroads.

"Successful in completing an operation of vast scope and great importance to the future defense of the United States, he rendered distinctive service to the Navy and to his country."

BRAZIL APPLIES TO WORLD BANK

Other Requests for Loans Are Also Announced.

Washington, July 29 (A. P.).—John J. McCloy, president of the World Bank, said today that Brazil has made a "tentative request" for a loan for use in power development. He told a news conference that the amount of the proposed loan has "not been fixed." A two-man economic mission of the bank has been sent to Brazil to discuss the request.

McCloy said the bank's dealings with Brazil have absolutely no connection with the trip by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder to that country. Snyder is now in Brazil on what he described in advance as a "social visit," but financial matters also are expected to engage his attention.

McCloy also told reporters that:

1. The Netherlands application for a $535,000,000 loan over a three year period is "pretty well along" toward completion, although the amount the bank will actually lend is "not set."

[Diplomatic officials predicted yesterday the amount will be $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 and that the loan by the bank—whose only loan to date is $250,000,000 to France—will be granted in a few weeks.]

2. The bank will not be passing on "the merits or demerits" of the trouble in Indonesia, where Dutch soldiers are fighting Republican troops. It will judge the Netherland's application only as to whether it is a "sound, productive loan" with reasonable prospects of repayment.

Results of Sale Please.

3. The bank, pleased with results of the recent sale of securities to American investors, does not plan any future sale in the "immediate future" and will give the market "a breathing spell."

4. Britain has not applied for any loan from the World Bank nor intimated that it will, despite the rapid exhaustion of the $3,750,,000,000 loan granted the British by the United States, a year ago.

5. An application by Denmark for a $50,000,000 loan from the bank is nearing the agreement stage. It was indicated a loan to Denmark will follow the proposed loan to the Netherlands.

6. The bank views coal as extremely important to the revival of Europe. If funds to stimulate production are needed—whether to England, Poland or the German Ruhr or elsewhere—the bank will be "glad to consider an application from member countries, or their agencies."

France Has Balance.

7. France still has a "substantia amount" left of the $250,000,000 loaned her by the bank in June and the understanding is that the money will last until about the end of this year at least.

8. The bank would "necessarily have to correlate its action "with the Marshall plan for aid to European countries which try to help each other if the plan "eventuates and is on a substantial scale."

RUHR COAL TALKS PUT OFF A WEEK

Washington, July 29 (A. P.).—The State Department said today that the British Government has officially expressed willingness to hold the long-debated Ruhr coal production conference in Washington. It was reported that the British delegation will leave next week end to come here.

This means another delay in opening the talks which top American officials had expected to begin this week. Originally the conference was supposed to begin early last week. Uncertainties had developed about the meeting after the British announced demands that either it should include German problems other than coal, such as food and financing, or else it should be held in Berlin.

[In London a British Foreign Office spokesman had said earlier today that his Government was "still awaiting amplification" of the agenda. He denied reports from Washington that Britain would abandon plans for nationalizing the Ruhr mines.]

The United States rejected Britain's counter-proposals and today's report by Michael J. McDermott, State Department press officer, means that the British have formally agreed to the American proposal for coal talks in Washington. In addition McDermott said that American Ambassador Lewis Douglas at London had just cabled the State Department that he had been informed that the British delegation is planning to leave England next week end so that the talks will start early next week.

World Bank Lists Fiscal Year Deficit

Member Countries Are Told of $938,647 Loss

WASHINGTON, July 29 (AP).—The World Bank has notified its forty-four member countries that it operated at a deficit of $938,647 for the fiscal year ended June 30, John J. McCloy, president, announced today.

The bank's expenses for the period—consisting principally of $1,043,288 for salaries — were $2,142,276.35 while income was listed as $1,203,629.34.

Mr. McCloy said the extent of the deficit was due to the fact that there was no income from loans until June 9, when the bank's initial $250,000,000 credit to France was ratified.

Mr. McCloy asserted today that Brazil has made a "tentative request" for a loan for use in power development. He told a news conference that the amount of the proposed loan has "not been fixed." A two-man economic mission of the bank has been sent to Brazil to discuss the request.

Mr. McCloy said the bank's dealings with Brazil have "absolutely no connection" with the trip by John W. Snyder, Secretary of the Treasury, to that country. Mr. Snyder is now in Brazil on what he described in advance as a "social visit," but financial matters also are expected to engage his attention.

Wild Dog of Bikini Is Captured

Animal on Island Since 'A' Blast Last Year Being Brought to United States for Scientific Study.

Washington, July 29 (A. P.).—The Navy finally has captured the wild dog of Bikini.

The animal has been roaming the island since the atomic bomb explosion last summer.

After its capture in a ham-bone baited trap, the dog appeared to be in good condition on its diet of crabs, clams and other food picked up on the island.

She will come back to the United States aboard the Navy's scientific resurvey laboratory ship, the U. S. S. Chilton, to take her place with pig 311 and a goat, two other survivors of the Bikini A-bomb blast, the Navy said today.

A Navy party is conducting a six-week survey of the lingering radio activity on Bikini and in the ships that lie under the lagoon.

GROUP TO SURVEY GLOBAL AID NEEDS

WASHINGTON, July 29—(AP) A 19-member special house committee was named by Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) today to undertake an unprecedented global survey of what can be done to get the world back on its feet economically.

The committee tentatively plans to sail August 27 for London, where base headquarters will be set up. From there three subcommittees will fan out for on-the-spot studies—one to France and the Low Countries, another to Germany and Austria and a third to Italy, Trieste and Greece.

Eaton Heads Group

Rep. Eaton (R-N.J.), chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, was named head of the special group, but he will remain at home to help coordinate its findings with that of special foreign affairs subcommittees planning overseas inquiries.

To Rep. Herter (R-Mass.), one-time aide to Herbert Hoover in relief work after World War I, will fall the task of directing the study as vice chairman of the special group. He said it would remain in Europe five weeks before returning to report to Congress.

In addition Eaton and Herter, these members were named to the special committee: Representatives Jenkins (R-O.), Wolverton (R-N.J.), Andresen (R-Minn.), Case (R-S.D.), Kunkel (R-Pa.), Vorys (R-O.), Vursell (R-Ill.), Macy (R-N.Y.), Nixon (R-Calif.) Colmer (D-Miss.), Richards, (D-S.C.), Walter (D-Pa.), Cooley (D-N.C.), Mahon (D-Tex.), Brooks (D-La.), Keogh (D-N.Y.) and Monroney (D-Okla.)

In announcing the list, Martin declared in a statement that "the congress will need all the authentic information it can get on the European and Far Eastern conditions. It will also need the best judgment of first hand observers."

Seen 'Significant Change'

At a news conference later, Eaton and Herter elaborated. The former hailed the plan as a "significant change," with the house taking a direct hand in molding foreign policy rather than leaving it exclusively to the chief executive and the senate.

He said that this had become necessary "since the problems of the modern world are primarily those of economic rehabilitation, since the United States is the only solvent country which can solve them, and x x x since all appropriations must originate in the house."

Herter told reporters that the committee itself would concentrate its immediate attention upon the problems of the western world, hoping to obtain information on the near mid-and far east from other congressional committees going abroad.

In addition to the three area subcommittees to be set up, Herter said that two other groups would be created one to look into the finances of Britain and the Dominions, the other primarily concerned with agricultural problems and crop estimates.

Hirshberg Feared Death at Hands Of Americans, Witness Testifies

NEW YORK, July 29 — (AP) A Navy officer testifying at the court martial of Harold E. Hirshberg, charged with maltreating fellow American war prisoners, said today Hirshberg claimed to have been transfered to a hospital detail because the Japanese learned other Americans wanted to kill him.

The witness was Lt. (j. g.) Arthur Joseph Feher, 28, of Brooklyn, who said he met Hirshberg, 29-year-old navy chief signalman, when the two worked as prisoners at the hospital of Bilidid camp in Manila in 1944.

Feared Death, Says Witness

Feher said Hirshberg told him he was transferred from his job as section leader of a work detail "because the Americans were going to kill him" and the Japs knew it.

Witnesses at the trial have testified Hirshberg informed on fellow prisoners to the Japanese and had a number of them beaten, resulting in death for one of them.

Feher claimed Hirshberg was "notorious around any camp in the Philippines." He said also the dedendant told him he intended to get back home "even if no one else gets back."

Navy Warrant Officer Roy M. Washburn, 26, of Berkeley, Calif., told the hearing board that he was a member of Hirshberg's work section in 1943 at Nielson Field, Luzon, and that the defendant told him:

"Give me two weeks more and I'll have every damned man in this camp under my thumb."

Tell of Garrett's Death

Two witnesses today testified regarding the death of Pvt. George Garret, of Waco, Tex. A specification in the charge against Hirshberg said Garrett was killed by the Japanese after the defendant told them he intended to escape.

Navy Warrant Officer Floyd Conn, 29, of Indianola, Ia., said he saw Garrett, with a rope around his neck and "all humped up and about gone," being led from the guard house by Japanese.

Conn said he later saw Garrett's grave and that a Jap guard known to the Americans as "Hoghead" indicated to Conn that Garrett had been bayoneted to death.

S/Sgt. Isaac B. Piercy, 29, of Unicoi, Tenn., said he saw a fight between Garrett and Hirsberg and added that the defendant later told him that "Garrett will never get back to the United States alive."

The judge advocate and prosecutor, Lt. Cmdr. Fred H. Frey, has presented 15 witnesses so far in the trial, now in its second week. Frey said he would present several witnesses tomorrow and then rest his case.

The organization's steering committee voted unanimously to send questionaires to the occupation zone commanders, but an official spokesman said it did NOT mean placing them on an equal basis since Germany is an occupied country and NOT a sovereign nation.

The questionaires covered both resources and needs and asked for reports on what efforts had been made toward self-recovery, toward recovery of other states, what they were prepared to contribute to a common pool, and finally, what they needed from the United States.

BERLIN, JULY 29-(AP)-INFORMED SOURCES PREDICTED TODAY THE U.S. STATE DEPARTMENT WOULD TAKE OVER INCREASING AND DIRECT CONTROL OF AMERICAN OCCUPATION POLICIES IN GERMANY.

ALTHOUGH OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION WAS LACKING, MOST QUARTERS EXPECTED THAT SECRETARY OF WAR KENNETH C. ROYALL WOULD OUTLINE THIS NEW PROGRAM TO GEN. LUCIUS D. CLAY, THE COMMANDER OF THE OCCUPATION, DURING HIS VISIT TO GERMANY. ROYALL IS ENROUTE BY PLANE.

OFFICIALLY, ROYALL'S VISIT HERE WAS DESCRIBED AS AN INSPECTION OF THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT SETUP.

HOWEVER, THE SUDDEN ANNOUNCEMENT TODAY OF HIS TRIP CAME AS IT WAS INCREASINGLY APPARENT THAT THE WAR DEPARTMENT AND THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT'S AIM IN REBUILDING GERMANY WITH A NEW LEVEL OF INDUSTRY WERE COMING IN CONFLICT WITH THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S PROGRAM OF APPEASING FRENCH FEARS THAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES WOULD BUILD A GERMANY WHICH MIGHT AGAIN THREATEN HER SECURITY.

MEANWHILE, SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL'S DECLARATION SOME TIME AGO THAT THE STATE DEPARTMENT SHOULD TAKE OVER FROM THE WAR DEPARTMENT IN MAKING POLICY AND ADMINISTERING OCCUPIED GERMANY HAS BEEN FOLLOWED BY MOVES IN THAT DIRECTION.

PRINCIPALLY AMONG THESE HAS BEEN THE SHIFTING TO WASHINGTON, IN STATE DEPARTMENT HANDS, OF A PROJECTED MEETING TO INCREASE RUHR COAL PRODUCTION AND WASHINGTON ORDERS TO POSTPONE THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF A NEW AMERICAN-BRITISH LEVEL OF INDUSTRY AGREEMENT FOR GERMANY UNTIL FRANCE COULD BE HEARD.

IT HAS BECOME APPARENT THAT SECRETARY MARSHALL, IN HIS RESHIFTING OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT TO PLAY A STRONGER HAND, IS CENTRALIZING CONTROL IN WASHINGTON ON BOTH POLICY MAKING AND LARGE ADMINISTRATIVE MATTERS THAT AFFECT POLICY.

JERUSALEM, JULY 29-(AP)-THE JEWISH AGENCY ANNOUNCED TODAY IT HAD RECEIVED A MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNMENT OF FRANCE WHICH DECLARED THERE WAS NO EXISTING AGREEMENT BETWEEN BRITAIN AND FRANCE CONCERNING THE LIMITATION OF JEWISH IMMIGRATION TO PALESTINE.

THE AGENCY QUOTED THE MESSAGE AS SAYING THAT AN EXCHANGE OF NOTES BETWEEN BRITAIN AND FRANCE, THE ONLY DOCUMENTS IN WHICH THE TWO GOVERNMENTS DISCUSSED THE QUESTION OF JEWISH IMMIGRANTS, CONCERNED MATTERS WHICH WOULD APPLY TO ANY IMMIGRANTS, REGARDLESS OF RACE OR RELIGION.

THESE NOTES, THE MESSAGE WAS QUOTED, CONCERNED ORDERS TO FRENCH AUTHORITIES TO VERIFY THE AUTHENTICITY OF VISAS FOR ANY DESTINATIONS AND TO ASSURE THE APPLICATION OF CONVENTIONS CONCERNING THE SAFEGUARDING OF HUMAN LIVES AT SEA.

TEL AVIV, PALESTINE, JULY 29-(AP)-THIS ALL-JEWISH METROPOLIS WAS A CITY OF APPREHENSION TODAY, AGITATED BY RUMOR AFTER WILD RUMOR CONCERNING THE FATE OF TWO BRITISH SERGEANTS HELD AS HOSTAGES BY IRGUN ZVAI LEUMI, THE JEWISH UNDERGROUND ORGANIZATION.

ONE RUMOR WAS THAT THE TWO SERGEANTS, MERVYN PAICE AND CLIFFORD MARTIN, HELD BY IRGUN AS HOSTAGES FOR THE THREE JEWS WHO WERE HANGED IN JERUSALEM THIS MORNING, ALREADY HAD BEEN FOUND DEAD IN GAZA.

ANOTHER, SPREADING JUST AS SWIFTLY, HAS THE SERGEANTS FOUND SAFE IN JERUSALEM.

A THIRD SAID THE TWO HAD BEEN FOUND IN A CAVE ON THE NORTH COAST.

EACH SUCCEEDING RUMOR WAS ACCEPTED BY THE PUBLIC, BUT THE POLICE BELIEVED NOTHING.

THERE ARE NO BRITISH ON TEL AVIV'S STREETS TODAY SAVE THOSE IN ARMORED CARS. EVEN THE AMERICANS WERE STAYING IN THEIR HOTELS, RATHER THAN RISK AN UNDERGROUNDER'S MISTAKE.

RANGOON, BURMA, JULY 29-(AP)-ARMED BURMESE POLICE, STRIKING NORTHWARD FROM RANGOON, WERE REPORTED TODAY TO HAVE FRUSTRATED A PLOT TO OVERTHROW THE BURMA GOVERNMENT, ONLY RECENTLY REORGANIZED FOLLOWING THE JULY 19 ASSASSINATIONS OF ACTING PREMIER U AUNG SAN AND SIX CABINET MINISTERS.

DETAILS OF THE ACTION WERE SKETCHY, BUT IT WAS LEARNED OFFICIALLY THAT "VERY LARGE" NUMBERS OF ARMED BURMESE POLICE WERE RUSHED FROM RANGOON TO THE REGIONS OF THARRAWADDY, PROME, PEGU AND INSEIN DURING THE WEEKEND.

THE NEWSPAPER RANGOON DAILY REPORTED THAT THE MYOCHIT PARTY HAD PLANNED TO SEIZE ALL POLICE STATIONS, SHOOT AND CAPTURE GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS IN THE AREAS TO WHICH THE POLICE FORCES WERE SENT, THEN MARCH ON RANGOON.

AFTER THE JULY 19 ASSASSINATIONS POLICE ARRESTED FORMER BURMESE PREMIER U SAW, LEADER OF THE MYOCHITS, AND 19 OF HIS LIEUTENANTS.

JUSTICE BAT U (CQ) HAS BEEN NAMED TO PRESIDE OVER THE TRIBUNAL THAT IS BEING APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATE THE ASSASSINATIONS. THE TRIBUNAL WILL CONSIST OF SEVEN MEMBERS, THE MAJORITY OF WHOM WILL BE JUDGES IN THE RANGOON HIGH COURT.

RANGOON POLICE DISCLOSED THAT ON SUNDAY NIGHT THEY HAD ARRESTED U TUN MYAT, A PROFESSIONAL FORTUNE TELLER WHOM THE ASSASSINS ALLEGEDLY CONSULTED BEFORE COMMITTING THE KILLINGS.

POLICE SOURCES SAID THAT TUN MYAT ADMITTED ADVISING THE ASSASSINS TO ACT ON SATURDAY AS AUNG SAN WAS BORN ON THAT DAY.

POLICE ALSO SAID THAT THE DRIVER OF THE MURDER JEEP HAD BEEN ARRESTED AND THAT HE NAMED FIVE OTHERS--ALL MYOCHIT PARTY MEMBERS--AS THE KILLERS.

TOKYO, WEDNESDAY, JULY 30-(AP)-DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER HERBERT V. EVATT OF AUSTRALIA SAID TODAY HIS COUNTRY WOULD STRONGLY RESIST ANY ATTEMPT TO APPLY A SINGLE NATION VETO POWER TO THE JAPANESE PEACE TREATY.

FIRMLY ENDORSING THE UNITED STATES PLAN FOR AN 11-NATION CONFERENCE, EVATT TOLD FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS THE JAPANESE TREATY COULD BE COMPLETED BY "EARLY 1948."

EVATT SAID THE MAIN GOALS OF THE PEACE TREATY SHOULD BE "TO ESTABLISH SECURITY FROM FUTURE AGGRESSION OF A CHARACTER FROM WHICH WE SUFFERED, WHILE AT THE SAME TIME ATTEMPTING TO RAISE THE STANDARDS OF LIVING OF ALL THE PEOPLES OF ASIA AND THE PACIFIC."

ANSWERING A QUESTION AT A LUNCHEON MEETING, EVATT SAID AUSTRALIA WANTED A PRELIMINARY PEACE CONFERENCE THIS FALL, WITH A FINAL CONFERENCE IN FEBRUARY OR MARCH OF 1948.

EVATT SAID A TREATY SHOULD ESTABLISH AN ALLIED SUPERVISORY AUTHORITY IN JAPAN "IN ORDER TO CONSOLIDATE IMPORTANT GAINS ALREADY MADE AND INSURE BONA FIDE OBSERVANCE OF TREATY PROVISIONS AND ESPECIALLY TO PREVENT ANY RE-ESTABLISHMENT OF A WAR POTENTIAL."

THIS SUPERVISION "SHOULD HAVE AS ONE OF ITS FUNCTIONS THE COORDINATION OF THE JAPANESE ECONOMY WITH PACIFIC EAST ASIATIC REGIONS ...IT WOULD BE UNJUST IF JAPAN OBTAINED PRIVILEGES DENIED TO COUNTRIES WHICH JAPAN DEVASTATED DURING THE WAR."

EVATT SUPPORTED THE PROPOSED PARTICIPATION OF ALL 11 NATIONS IN THE PEACE TREATY WHO FOUGHT JAPAN AND SAID AUSTRALIA BELIEVES ITS WAR PARTICIPATION "ENTITLES THAT COUNTRY TO RECOGNITION NOT AS A SUBORDINATE BUT AS ONE OF THE PARTIES PRINCIPLE IN MAKING THE TREATY ...AND NO COUNTRY ASIDE FROM THE UNITED STATES IS ENTITLED TO A GREATER REPRESENTATION."

TOKYO, JULY 29-(AP)-THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCED TODAY IT WOULD RETURN TO THE TIGHT ECONOMIC CONTROLS OF WARTIME, INCLUDING THE SUSPENSION OF NON-ESSENTIAL PRODUCTION, IN AN EFFORT TO STOP INFLATION.

THE ECONOMIC STABILIZATION BOARD DISCLOSED THE OUTLINE OF A COMPREHENSIVE PROGRAM TO CONTROL EVERY VITAL RESOURCE FOR INDIVIDUAL LIVING AND FOR INDUSTRY. IT WILL BE ENFORCED, THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID, BY STRICT LICENSING WHICH WILL REQUIRE PRODUCERS TO CONFORM TO GET A CONTINUING SUPPLY OF RAW MATERIALS.

THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT CONTROL MACHINERY WILL BE STRENGTHENED AND THE ECONOMIC POLICE GIVEN MORE AUTHORITY TO MOVE AGAINST BLACK MARKETEERS AND PROFITEERS. PRODUCTION OF WHAT IS CONSIDERED "NON-URGENT GOODS" WILL BE SUSPENDED.

THE PROGRAM IS EXPECTED TO BE PUT INTO FORCE SHORTLY, BUT OFFICIALS SAID THAT THE EXACT DATE HAD NOT BEEN SET.

THE STRONGEST CONTROLS AT THE OUTSET WILL BE APPLIED TO FOODSTUFFS, CLOTHING, SOAP AND FUEL FOR INDIVIDUALS. FOR INDUSTRY THE TOP CATEGORIES WILL BE COAL, IRON AND STEEL, FERTILIZERS, FARM IMPLEMENTS, TEXTILES, RUBBER AND LEATHER.

JUL 1947

THE ANNOUNCEMENT, CLIMAXING A SERIES OF GOVERNMENTAL EFFORTS TO BOLSTER THE PLUNGING ECONOMY, CAME AS THE DELAY IN DISTRIBUTION OF TOKYO'S FOOD RATION PASSED THE 24TH DAY, EXCEEDING BY ONE DAY THE DELAY DURING THE "CRITICAL SUMMER" OF 1946. THE BANK OF JAPAN RECENTLY PASSED THE 140,000,000,000 YEN MARK, MORE THAN FIVE TIMES THE ISSUE WHEN THE WAR ENDED.

ATOMIC
BY FRANK L. WHITE
TOKYO, WEDNESDAY, JULY 30-(AP)-A SUPERSECRET JAPANESE REPORT ON THE FIRST ATOMIC BOMB AT HIROSHIMA IN 1945 SHOWED THAT THEIR SCIENTISTS QUICKLY RECOGNIZED THAT THE UNITED STATES HAD LOOSED AN ATOMIC WEAPON AND THAT THEY HAD AN INKLING OF HOW IT WAS ACHIEVED.

I HAVE JUST SEEN THE ONLY KNOWN COPY OF THIS LONG-HIDDEN REPORT, WHICH WAS ORDERED DESTROYED BY THE JAPANESE HIGH COMMAND BEFORE THE ALLIED FORCES OF OCCUPATION ARRIVED.

HOWEVER, ONE JAPANESE OFFICER WHO MADE PART OF THE INVESTIGATION AT HIROSHIMA AFTER THE HISTORIC BOMBING OF AUG. 6, 1945, PRESERVED A COPY OF THE REPORT AND OF PHOTOGRAPHS.

AFTER DISCOVERING THE PHOTOGRAPHS AT KURE 10 DAYS AGO IMMEDIATELY STARTED A SEARCH FOR THE REPORT, WHICH HAS JUST BEEN PLACED IN MY HANDS.

JUL 1947

THE REPORT DETAILS HOW THE JAPANESE DISCOVERED THAT DESTRUCTION AT HIROSHIMA WAS ACCOMPANIED BY RADIATION EFFECTS, THEN CONTINUES:

"THE POSSIBILITY OF THE ATOMIC BOMB AS PRINCIPLE:

"IT IS POSSIBLE TO CONSIDER AN EXPLOSION MECHANISM EMITTING A TREMENDOUS AMOUNT OF ENERGY X X X A CHAIN REACTION THAT UPON ARTIFICIAL DISINTEGRATION OF A U (CAP (URANIUM) NUCLEUS BY A NEUTRON... ANOTHER U ATOM WOULD BE DESTROYED BY THIS NEUTRON.

"HOWEVER, THE THICKNESS OF URANIUM OXIDE THROUGH WHICH THE NEUTRON HAS TO PASS BEFORE IT MAKES A CHAIN REACTION HAS A LOWER LIMIT, SO IT WILL NEED AN ENORMOUS AMOUNT OF URANIUM OXIDE FOR A FAST NEUTRON.

"IF WE USE SUCCESSFULLY THE NEUTRONS REFLECTED AND REPEATED WITH SOME METHOD, OR A SLOW NEUTRON MADE BY MEANS OF COVERING THE NEUTRON SOURCE WITH WATER OR PARAFFIN, THE AMOUNT WILL BECOME HANDY FOR USE.

"MOREOVER, IF IT WERE FOR U (URANIUM) SEPARATED BY CERTAIN METHODS, ONE TO 15 KILOGRAMS (2.2 TO 33 POUNDS) OF IT WOULD BE SUFFICIENT TO GIVE RISE TO THE CHAIN REACTION.

"AS FOR THE TECHNICAL PROBLEMS IN PRACTICE TO REALIZE THE ABOVE PRINCIPLES WE CANNOT BUT LEAVE THEM ALL TO INVENTORS IN THE FUTURE."

THE REPORT, WHETHER TECHNICALLY OF ANY ACCURACY OR NOT, WAS ENOUGH TO CONVINCE THE HIGH COMMAND IN TOKYO THAT THE UNITED STATES HAD OUTSTRIPPED THE WORLD IN DEVELOPMENT OF ATOMIC ARMAMENTS.

WITHIN A FEW DAYS AFTER THE REPORT FROM HIROSHIMA WAS RECEIVED, THE JAPANESE BEGAN PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

THE REPORT SAYS AN OFFICIAL INVESTIGATION BY EXPERTS FROM THE NEARBY KURE NAVAL BASE WAS BEGUN AT HIROSHIMA THE SAME DAY OF THE BOMBING.

THE FIRST GROUP WAS JOINED THE NEXT DAY BY A TEAM SENT IN BY THE HIGH COMMAND, WHICH WAS STUNNED BY NEWS OF THE FORCE OF THE MYSTERIOUS BLAST THAT COULD DESTROY HALF THE BUILDINGS IN HIROSHIMA AND KILL 46,000 PERSONS OUTRIGHT. (LATER COMPLETE FIGURES PUT THE DEAD AT 78,000.)

JUL 1947

DISCOVERY THAT X-RAY FILMS IN HIROSHIMA HOSPITAL HAD BEEN RUINED BY RADIATION APPARENTLY GAVE THE JAPANESE THE FIRST CLUE TO ATOMIC RADIATION, THE REPORT SAID.

THIS WAS FOLLOWED BY THE DISCOVERY THAT A JAPANESE CIVILIAN HAD MADE A PHOTOGRAPH OF THE EXPLOSION, AND THE RADIATION DOTS APPEARED PLAINLY ON THE NEGATIVE.

THE REPORT'S FORM INDICATES THAT IT TOOK AT LEAST A COUPLE OF WEEKS TO PREPARE, BUT JAPANESE SOURCES SAID THE FIRST PRELIMINARY INFORMATION WAS RUSHED WITHOUT DELAY TO THE HIGH COMMAND IN TOKYO.

THE REPORT SAID A FEW MOMENTS BEFORE THE BLINDING FLASH, ONE OR POSSIBLY TWO U. S. PLANES DROPPED THREE BATTERY-OPERATED BROADCASTING DEVICES BY PARACHUTE ON HIROSHIMA'S OUTSKIRTS.

THE REPORT SPECULATES THAT THESE DEVICES, CONTAINING A VARIETY OF INSTRUMENTS, WERE RECOVERED BY THE JAPANESE. IT SPECULATES THEY WERE EITHER TO SET OFF THE BOMB OR TO RECORD ITS FORCE. DETAILED DRAWINGS OF THESE DEVICES ACCOMPANIED THE REPORT.

MOST OF THE DETAILS WERE DEVOTED TO DETERMINING THE HEIGHT OF THE EXPLOSION AND THE RADIUS OF ITS EFFECTS. THE REPORT COVERED 13 LEGAL SIZE PAGES.

BATAVIA, JAVA, JULY 29-(AP)-THE INDONESIAN REPUBLICAN RADIO SAID A TRANSPORT PLANE BEARING RED CROSS MEDICAL SUPPLIES WAS SHOT DOWN TONIGHT BY TWO DUTCH FIGHTER PLANES AND THAT NINE PERSONS, INCLUDING AT LEAST THREE BRITISH CITIZENS, WERE KILLED.

THE BROADCAST, IDENTIFYING THE PLANE AS AN INDIAN DAKOTA, SAID THE PILOT, FORMER RAF WING COMMANDER CONSTANTINE, AND THE CO-PILOT, FORMER RAF SQUADRON LEADER HAZELHURST, BOTH WERE KILLED. IT SAID CONSTANTINE'S WIFE WAS FOUND DEAD IN THE PLANE, A MACHINEGUN BULLET THROUGH HER HEAD.

THE BROADCAST SAID DUTCH FIGHTERS OPENED FIRE AS THE TRANSPORT WAS CIRCLING JOGJAKARTA FOR A LANDING, AND THAT THE TRANSPORT CRASHED IN FLAMES.

AN INDONESIAN NAMED ABDUL GANI WAS THE LONE SURVIVOR. HE WAS QUOTED AS SAYING THE ATTACK WAS A COMPLETE SURPRISE AND THAT HE SAVED HIMSELF AT THE LAST MINUTE BY JUMPING.

THE BROADCAST SAID THE DUTCH CONSUL GENERAL AT SINGAPORE HAD CLEARED THE PLANE'S CARGO OF MEDICINES.

A RADIO SPEAKER WHO IDENTIFIED HIMSELF AS PETER RADCLIFF, A FORMER BRITISH ARMY COLONEL, GAVE WHAT HE SAID WAS AN EYE WITNESS ACCOUNT:

"I SAW A SOLITARY TRANSPORT PLANE APPROACHING. IT CIRCLED AT LOW ALTITUDE WITH LANDING GEAR DOWN. SUDDENLY FROM THE EAST TWO FIGHTER PLANES APPROACHED. THEY WERE MODERN AND FAST AND THEY COULD NOT HAVE BEEN OTHER THAN DUTCH.

JUL 1947

"THERE WERE FOUR BURSTS OF FIRE. THEN SILENCE. I HEARD THE TRANSPORT PLANE CRASH. AT 8 P.M., PRIME MINISTER SJARIFOEDDIN CALLED ME. HE TOOK ME TO THE HOSPITAL. THERE I LEARNED FIRST HAND THE PLANE HAD BEEN PRIVATELY OWNED AND TOTALLY UNARMED. IT CARRIED TWO TONS OF MEDICAL SUPPLIES. RADIO MALAYA PREVIOUSLY ANNOUNCED IT WAS COMING. EVEN THE DUTCH RADIO AT BATAVIA SAID THE PLANE WOULD ARRIVE WITH THESE SUPPLIES."

THE PLANE WAS REPORTED TO HAVE CRASHED IN A RICE FIELD TWO AND A HALF MILES SOUTH OF JOGJAKARTA. VILLAGERS HELPED EXTINGUISH THE FLAMES. THE INDONESIAN RED CROSS TOOK CHARGE OF THE CASUALTIES.

(THE INDONESIAN NEWS AGENCY ANTARA SAID A SINGAPORE BROADCAST SAID THAT TWO AMERICANS, WHO WISHED TO REMAIN ANONYMOUS, WERE SENDING MEDICAL SUPPLIES ON A PLANE THAT WAS TO HAVE ARRIVED TUESDAY AFTERNOON IN JOGJAKARTA. WHAT RELATION THIS MIGHT HAVE, IF ANY, WITH THE JOGJAKARTA CASE WAS NOT EXPLAINED.)

JOGJAKARTA, JAVA, JULY 29-(AP)-A MEEK LOOKING LITTLE JOURNALIST WHO TURNED GUERRILLA FIGHTER IS THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC'S LOUDEST PROPAGANDA GUN.

"KILL THE DUTCH! CUT THEIR THROATS! SMASH THEIR HEADS WITH STONES!" SHOUTS 27-YEAR-OLD MAJ.GEN. SOETOMO TO INDONESIANS IN NIGHTLY BROADCASTS OVER THE INDONESIAN RADIO.

THE BROADCASTS ARE RELAYED BY THE REPUBLIC'S "VOICE OF INDONESIA" TO A NETWORK OF INDONESIAN STATIONS IN AREAS THE DUTCH HAVE NOT OCCUPIED. THE MESSAGES ARE RELAYED TO THE PEOPLE BY LOUDSPEAKERS INSTALLED AND LEFT BY THE JAPANESE.

REPUBLICAN PROPAGANDA EXPERTS BELIEVE THESE PROGRAMS ARE EFFECTIVE IN AROUSING THE FIGHTING SPIRIT OF THE ILLITERATE MASSES OF THE JAVANESE PEOPLE WHOSE AID THE REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT HOPES TO ENLIST IN A SCORCHED EARTH CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE DUTCH.

TO THE WESTERN EAR, THIS BLOOD AND THUNDER ORATORY SOUNDS CRUDE. BUT SOETOMO'S PROPAGANDA CAMPAIGN IS CALCULATED TO AROUSE PASSIONS OF THE MOST ELEMENTAL ANE ENDURING SORT. JUL 1947

THERE IS EVIDENCE THAT THE DECISION TO EMPLOY SOETOMO IN THE PROPAGANDA CAMPAIGN WAS MADE ONLY AFTER CONSIDERABLE DISCUSSION IN GOVERNMENT CIRCLES. SOME IN THE GOVERNMENT SAID THEY FELT THAT SUCH A LINE, IF FOLLOWED, WOULD STIR UP FORCES DIFFICULT TO STEM WHEN AND IF NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE DUTCH FOR INDONESIAN INDEPENDENCE ARE RESUMED.

FOR THIS REASON SOETOMO'S NIGHTLY ADDRESSES, SANCTIONED AS THEY ARE BY THE GOVERNMENT, LEND WEIGHT TO THE THEORY THAT THE REPUBLIC PLANS A LONG -- AND IF NECESSARY, BLOODY -- WAR TO SECURE RECOGNITION.

A NEWSMAN WHO WAS IN SOERABAJA BEFORE AND DURING THE JAPANESE OCCUPATION, SOETOMO CUT HIS PROPAGANDA TEETH ON THE ARRIVAL OF THE BRITISH FOLLOWING TOKYO'S SURRENDER. AS LEADER OF THE PEMBERONTAKAN RAKJAT (PEOPLES' REVOLUTIONARY ARMY) IN EAST JAVA, HE DIVIDED HIS TIME BETWEEN DIRECTING HIS FORCES AND RESORTING TO THE MICROPHONE. THEN THE BRITISH, AS WELL AS THE DUTCH, WERE THE OBJECTS OF HIS WRATH.

WHEN THE IRREGULARS WERE INCORPORATED INTO THE REPUBLICAN ARMY SOME MONTHS AGO, SOETOMO WAS GIVEN THE RANK OF MAJOR GENERAL. AT THE SAME TIME, THE GOVERNMENT, NEGOTIATING WITH THE DUTCH, MUFFLED HIS PROPAGANDA. THE MUZZLE NOW HAS BEEN REMOVED.

JOGJAKARTA, JAVA, JULY 29-(AP)-THIS IS THE CAPITAL OF A COUNTRY AT WAR BUT THAT FACT DOES NOT SEEM TO UPSET MANY OF ITS PEOPLE VERY MUCH. JUL 1947

THE GIRL ACROSS THE STREET STILL PRACTICES ON HER PIANO LESSONS EVERY MORNING. MOST OF THE PEOPLE ARE IN BED BY MIDNIGHT, AND THEY DO NOT GET UP TOO EARLY. THE BLACKOUT HAS REMOVED MOST OF THE LIGHTS FROM THE STREET, BUT EVEN BEFORE THE FIGHTING STARTED THE EXTREME SCARCITY OF AUTOMOBILES MADE MOVING AROUND AT NIGHT DIFFICULT.

ALONG THE BANK OF THE LITTLE STREAM THAT THREADS THROUGH THE TOWN, JUST IN FRONT OF THE BUILDING THAT HOUSES THE MAIN OFFICES OF THE INDONESIAN REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT, NATIVE WOMEN STILL WORK IN PRIMITIVE FASHION ON THE STREETS. THE MARKETS ARE CROWDED.

DURING AN AIR RAID THE HEAD OF THE INDONESIAN AIR FORCE, HIMSELF A VETERAN OF THE PRE-WAR DUTCH AIR FORCE, LEANED OVER THE FENCE IN FRONT OF HIS HEADQUARTERS TO CHAT WITH A HIGH-RANKING INDONESIAN ARMY OFFICER ACROSS THE STREET. THIS SAME AIR COMMODORE WAS ONLY TOO GLAD TO LEND ME HIS CAR DURING A RECENT AIR RAID.

THESE PEOPLE ARE WELL AWARE OF THE OUTSIDE WORLD AND ANXIOUS FOR ITS SUPPORT. IN ADDITION TO EXPRESSIONS FROM THEIR LEADERS, THERE ARE READY SMILES FROM MANY PEOPLE I PASS ON THE STREET WHO SEE "U.S. CORRESPONDENT" ON MY ARM BADGE. MANY PEOPLE SPEAK ENGLISH. ALL OF THEM WANT TO KNOW IF THE UNITED STATES IS GOING TO DO ANYTHING TO STOP THE FIGHTING.

ABOUT THE PRESIDENTIAL PALACE--WHERE PRESIDENT [redacted] SOEKARNO HIMSELF NO LONGER LIVES--THERE IS AN AIR OF EASY INFORMALITY. GUARDS, CABINET MEMBERS, AND REPORTERS STROLL IN AND OUT. A CORRESPONDENT CAN ALWAYS GET A MEAL.

JOGJAKARTA GOVERNMENT OFFICES ARE BUSTLING WITH ACTIVITY, BUT THERE DOES NOT SEEM TO BE TOO MUCH SYSTEM. COMMUNIQUES, SCHEDULED TO BE ISSUED FIVE TIMES DAILY AT FOUR-HOUR INTERVALS, FREQUENTLY DO NOT APPEAR AT ALL. JUST AS FREQUENTLY THEY ARE HOURS LATE.

EVERYWHERE EXCEPT ON THE FOOD FRONT ONE MUST MAKE SHIFT. THE DUTCH BLOCKADE HAS REDUCED THE STOCKS OF MANUFACTURED ARTICLES TO ALMOST NOTHING.

THE GOVERNMENT IS PROUD THAT IT CAN FURNISH EACH CABINET MEMBER WITH AT LEAST ONE AUTOMOBILE. TRANSPORT IS THE MAJOR PROBLEM. CLOTHES ARE VERY SCARCE AND EXPENSIVE. BUT THERE IS PLENTY OF FOOD. THE COOKING IS BETTER THAN BATAVIA CAN OFFER, AND THE PRICE IS MUCH LESS. JUL 1947

SMILE THOUGH THEY DO AT AN AMERICAN, VERY YOUNG SOLDIERS WITH THEIR UNWIELDY RIFLES ARE VERY EARNEST ABOUT THEIR JOBS. YOUNG MEN WHO CAN SPEAK ENGLISH LEAVE NO DOUBT THEY ARE READY TO FIGHT AS LONG AS NECESSARY FOR AN INDEPENDENT INDONESIA. NO CRITICISM OF THE GOVERNMENT IS HEARD, THE FIGHTING APPARENTLY HAVING QUIETED EFFECTIVELY ALL POLITICAL QUARRELS.

THE INDONESIANS SEEM TO BE LONG ON SPIRIT BUT OBVIOUSLY VERY SHORT ON EQUIPMENT, GUNS AND AMMUNITION. THEIR FIELDS ARE FERTILE AND MORE INTENSIVELY CULTIVATED THAN MOST IN THE ORIENT. BUT ACCORDING TO REPORTS FROM CENTERS WHERE THE DUTCH ARE MAKING PROGRESS, THE PEOPLE DO NOT HESITATE TO DESTROY THEIR CROPS AND SCORCH THEIR EARTH. #

RIO DE JANEIRO, JULY 29-(AP)-BRAZIL'S SUPREME ELECTORAL TRIBUNAL, WHICH OUTLAWED THE VOMMUNIST PARTY A FEW MONTHS AGO, RULED ITSELF INCOMPETENT TODAY TO DECIDE WHETHER COMMUNIST-HELD CONGRESSIONAL, LEGISLATIVE AND CITY COUNCIL SEATS SHOULD BE ABOLISHED.

BY THIS ACTION, TAKEN ON A FOUR TO TWO VOTE, THE TRIBUNAL APPARENTLY LEFT UP TO THE BRAZILIAN CONGRESS THE DECISION WHETHER TO ABOLISH COMMUNIST SEATS AND HOW SUCH VACANCIES SHOULD BE FILLED.

A SIMILAR DECISION APPARENTLY MUST BE FACED BY THE RIO DE JANEIRO FEDERAL DISTRICT CITY COUNCIL, 18 OF THE 50 MEMBERS OF WHICH ARE COMMUNISTS, AND BY THE VARIOUS STATE LEGISLATURES.

THE COMMUNIST REPRESENTATION IN CONGRESS CONSISTS OF ONE SENATOR, LUIS CARLOS PRESTES, WHO IS THE PARTY'S SECRETARY GENERAL, AND 16 MEMBERS OF THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES.

A DECISION BY THE TRIBUNAL ON THE STATUS OF THE COMMUNIST-HELD SEATS WAS ASKED BY THE ADMINISTRATION PARTY IN CONGRESS AFTER VARIOUS SENATORS AND DEPUTIES INDICATED THEIR RELUCTANCE TO PASS ON THE SUBJECT.

VOICE OF AMERICA (350)

WASHINGTON, JULY 29-(AP)-TWO CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES TODAY MAPPED A JOINT ON-THE-SPOT CHECK IN A DOZEN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES OF THE EFFECTIVENESS OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S "VOICE OF AMERICA" BROADCASTS.

SENATOR H. ALEXANDER SMITH (R-NJ), CHAIRMAN OF A SENATE COMMITTEE DESIGNATED TO MAKE THE STUDY FOR HIS CHAMBER, TOLD A REPORTER HIS GROUP AND A HOUSE FOREIGN AFFAIRS SUBCOMMITTEE WILL LEAVE ABOUT NOV. 1 TO STUDY THIS COUNTRY'S PROPAGANDA EFFORTS ABROAD. REP. MUNDT (R-SD), HEADS THE HOUSE GROUP.

SMITH SAID:

"I AM DEEPLY CONCERNED WITH THE VOICE OF AMERICA PROGRAM AND HAVE BEEN ENDEAVORING THROUGH THIS SESSION OF CONGRESS TO COLLABORATE WITH SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL IN STRENGTHENING HIS HAND IN THE DELICATE INTERNATIONAL DEALINGS WHICH LIE IMMEDIATELY AHEAD."

"TO ME IT IS UTTERLY ABSURD FOR THIS COUNTRY TO BE SPENDING BILLIONS OF DOLLARS FOR THE HUMANE AND ECONOMIC RELIEF OF THE DEVASTATED COUNTRIES OF THE WORLD ONLY TO HAVE RUSSIA AND HER SATELLITE COUNTRIES INTERPRET IT AS THIS COUNTRY HAVING IMPERIALISTIC DESIGNS."

SMITH SAID THE CONGRESSIONAL GROUPS WILL TRAVEL TOGETHER. THEY PLAN TO VISIT FRANCE, BRITAIN, THE BALTIC AND SCANDINAVIAN COUNTRIES, ITALY, GREECE, TURKEY, AUSTRIA, GERMANY AND SPAIN.

BEFORE THE EUROPEAN PHASE OF THE INQUIRY STARTS, HE SAID, THE GROUPS WILL LOOK INTO THE NEW YORK OFFICE OF THE VOICE OF AMERICA PROGRAM, WHERE THE BROADCASTS WERE PREPARED.

SENATE AUTHORITY FOR AN ON-THE-SCENE INQUIRY INTO THE PROGRAM'S EFFECTIVENESS CAME AFTER SENATOR TAFT (R-OHIO) AND OTHERS BLOCKED EFFORTS TO COMPLETE CONGRESSIONAL ACTION ON THE MUNDT BILL, WHICH WAS PASSED BY THE HOUSE AND APPROVED BY THE SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE. THIS BILL WOULD GIVE BASIC LEGAL AUTHORIZATION TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S WARTIME INFORMATION PROGRAM.

SMITH SAID THE LAWMAKERS WILL TRY TO CHECK PARTICULARLY ON (1) RUSSIAN PROPAGANDA EFFORTS DESIGNED TO "MISINTERPRET" THIS COUNTRY'S AIMS, (2) HOW BRITISH AND FRENCH INFORMATION PROGRAMS COMPARE WITH OURS, (3) WHETHER THE AMERICAN PROGRAMS ARE EFFICENTLY MANAGED, AND (4) WHETHER EUROPEANS AND UNITED STATES DIPLOMATIC REPRESENTATIVES ABROAD CAN SUGGEST IMPROVEMENTS FOR THE AMERICAN PROGRAM.

WASHINGTON, JULY 29-(AP)-SECRETARY OF WAR KENNETH ROYALL LEFT BY PLANE FOR EUROPE TODAY TO GET FIRST HAND INFORMATION IN THE AMERICAN OCCUPATION ZONE IN GERMANY ON PROBLEMS AFFECTING BOTH THE WAR AND STATE DEPARTMENTS.

A BRIEF WAR DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THAT SINCE THE NEW SECRETARY NEVER HAS HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO INSPECT THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT SETUP IN GERMANY HE WISHES TO CONFER ON THE SCENE WITH GEN. LUCIUS CLAY, U.S. MILITARY GOVERNOR IN GERMANY.

HOWEVER, ROYALL, WHO RECENTLY SUCCEEDED ROBERT P. PATTERSON AS SECRETARY OF WAR, IS FAMILIAR WITH MANY OF THE PROBLEMS AS FORMER UNDER SECRETARY OF WAR.

JUL 1947

AMONG THESE PROBLEMS IS THE MOST EFFECTIVE WAY OF REHABILITATING GERMANY. MAJ. GEN. WILLIAM H.DRAPER, ECONOMIC ADVISOR TO CLAY, HAS BEEN IN WASHINGTON CONFERRING WITH WAR AND STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS.

THERE HAVE BEEN SOME REPORTS HERE OF DIFFERENCES BETWEEN CLAY AND STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS, AS WELL AS OF FRICTION BETWEEN CLAY AND MEMBERS OF HIS STAFF OVER ADMINISTRATIVE DETAILS.

ROYALL IS EXPECTED TO CANVASS THE TROUBLED RUHR COAL SITUATION, AND GERMAN FOOD SHORTAGES, AND INSPECT SOME MILITARY INSTALLATIONS TO GET A FIRSTHAND VERSION ON THE CONDITION OF AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY.

HE DESCRIBED THIS RIGHT AS SOMETHING THAT IS "UNLIMITED, INDIVIDIBLE AND MAY NOT BE SUSPENDED" IN SPEAKING AT THE THIRD NATIONAL FORUM OF LABOR, AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRY SPONSORED BY THE UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING.

"IF THE AMERICAN PRESS BECOMES DERELICT IN ITS DEVOTION TO THE RIGHT OF THE PEOPLE TO KNOW, OR IF IT FAILS TO USE ITS FREEDOM TO LET THE PEOPLE KNOW, IT HELPS TO DESTROY FREEDOM," THE VETERAN NEWSPAPERMAN SAID.

"THEREFORE, THE ROLE OF THE PRESS IN SHAPING NATIONAL POLICY IS AN ACTIVE AND AN ESSENTIAL ROLE. FOR UNLESS THE PEOPLE KNOW, THEY CANNOT UNDERSTAND. WHERE THERE IS NO UNDERSTANDING, THERE IS MUSUNDERSTANDING."

THE PRESS ALSO HAS THE DUTY, MARTIN ADDED, OF MAKING THE INTERRELATIONSHIPS OF FACTS CLEAR, THE MORAL OBLIGATION TO EXPOSE ANY WILLFUL DISTORTION AND THE RESPONSIBILITY TO CLARIFY THE READERS' THINKING.

JUL 1947

HE USED AS AN ILLUSTRATION THE PLAN OF SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL FOR EUROPEAN AID, SAYING THE PRESS MUST PRESENT ALL FACTS ABOUT THE PLAN, THE ATTITUDES OF OTHER NATIONS, BACKGROUND CONDITIONS, ARGUMENTS FOR AND AGAINST AND "CALM BUT VIGOROUS EDITORIAL DISCUSSION."

"WE KNOW THAT OUR STRENGTH, LOYALTY, DEVOTION AND COURAGE WILL BE STERNLY TESTED IN THE DAYS TO COME," HE SAID. "WE FURTHER KNOW THAT IN THE SHAPING OF NATIONAL POLICY, WHEREVER IT APPLIES, WE ALL HAVE THE FREE MAN'S RIGHT TO BE HEARD, AND THE FREE MAN'S DUTY TO BE UNSELFISH, REASONABLE AND BOTH AWARE AND CONSIDERATE OF THE RIGHTS AND NECESSITIES OF OUR FELLOW CITIZENS."

THE ORGANIZATION, WHICH HAS ANNOUNCED A WORLD EXPANSION PROGRAM AND HAS SENT CONSULTANTS TO THE MAJOR INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCES ON PEACE SINCE THE END OF THE WAR, DEVOTED ONE FORUM TO A DISCUSSION OF THE UNITED NATIONS.

INTERNATIONAL PRESIDENT CLIFFORD D.PIERCE OF MEMPHIS, TENN., ANNOUNCED PLANS FOR EXTENDING LIONISM IN EUROPE AS A "FORCE AGAINST COMMUNISM."

AMONG THE MORE THAN 16,000 CONVENTION DELEGATES ARE REPRESENTATIVES OF EVERY STATE, HAWAII, CANADA AND 17 LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES. IMPORTANT SPEECHES ARE BEING TRANSLATED INTO SPANISH FOR MORE THAN 800 DELEGATES FROM CENTRAL AND SOUTH AMERICA.

THOUSANDS LINED DOWNTOWN STREETS YESTERDAY AS THE LIONS PARADED IN 15 COLORFUL DIVISIONS. THE OPENING DAY'S CEREMONIES ENDED WITH A TEXAS NIGHT PARTY AND A STATES NIGHT DANCE LAST NIGHT.

IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN THAT BEAUTIFUL MARJORIE WARD, STANDING ATOP A GORGEOUS FLOAT, AND ATTIRED IN A CHARMING TWO-PIECE SWIM SUIT, HAD OBSTRUCTED THEIR VIEW.

THE OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE JUDGES AT CONVENTION HEADQUARTERS LAST NIGHT WAS THAT THE $250 PRIZE FOR THE BEST COMMERCIAL FLOAT IN THE PARADE WENT TO "KANSAS, STATE OF PLENTY."

THE EYE-FILLING MISS WARD GRACED THIS VEHICLE.

BUT A RECHECK TODAY DISCLOSED AN ERROR, SOMEWHERE, AND THE OFFICIAL RECORD WILL SHOW THAT THE $250 GOES TO "ARKANSAS, STATE OF PLENTY."

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 29-(AP)-THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL AGREED TO BEGIN VOTING LATE TODAY ON A UNITED STATES PROPOSAL TO SET UP A WATCH COMMISSION OVER THE BALKANS.

THE COUNCIL CONCLUDED DISCUSSION ON THE BALKAN PROBLEM SHORTLY BEFORE LUNCH, THUS PAVING THE WAY TOWARD A CLIMAX OF A MONTH-LONG FIGHT BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA.

WITH RUSSIAN MAINTAINING A 24-HOUR SILENCE, A MAJORITY OF THE COUNCIL MEMBERS EXPRESSED APPROVAL OF A U.S. PROPOSAL THAT THE PROPOSED COMMISSION BE COMPOSED OF ELEVEN MEMBERS.

WHETHER THE SOVIET UNION WOULD INJECT THE VETO ON THIS PART OF THE AMERICAN RESOLUTION WAS STILL A MATTER OF CONJECTURE.

THROUGHOUT THE MORNING SESSION SOVIET DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER ANDREI A.GROMYKO WORKED BUSILY ON A SPEECH.

GROMYKO LET THE YUGOSLAV, BULGARIAN AND ALBANIAN REPRESENTATIVES CARRY THE BRUNT OF THE DISCUSSION TODAY. THEY AGAIN DECLARED THAT THE COMMISSION WOULD NOT BE CONSTITUTIONAL AND THAT UNDER THE CHARTER THEY WOULD NOT BE BOUND TO COOPERATE WITH IT IF ESTABLISHED. THIS WAS THE LINE WHICH THEY HAVE CONSISTENTLY EMPHASIZED SINCE LAST THURSDAY.

U.S. DEPUTY DELEGATE HERSCHEL V.JOHNSON OPENED THE FIRST OF TWO COUNCIL SESSIONS TODAY BY INSISTING THAT THE PROPOSED COMMISSION SHOULD BE COMPOSED OF ELEVEN MEMBERS. HE MADE IT CLEAR HE WOULD FIGHT ALL ATTEMPTS TO SET UP A SMALLER COMMISSION.

CALLING NEWSMEN INTO A CONFERENCE IMMEDIATELY AFTER SOVIET DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER ANDREI A. GROMYKO HAD PREVENTED ESTABLISHMENT OF AN AMERICAN-PROPOSED BORDER COMMISSION FOR THE BALKANS, JOHNSON SAID:

"THE ACTION RUSSIA HAS TAKEN IS SIMPLE ABUSE OF POWER, A SIMPLE ABUSE OF THE VETO. IN THIS CASE IT IS CONTRARY TO THE UNDERSTANDING AMONG THE BIG FIVE ON THE USE OF THE VETO AT THE TIME THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER WAS FRAMED AT SAN FRANCISCO."

JOHNSON SAID THERE WERE "VARIOUS ALTERNATIVES" FOR PURSUING THE BALKAN PROBLEM BUT SAID HE WAS NOT PREPARED TO DISCUSS THEM NOW. HE MADE IT CLEAR THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD SEEK FURTHER ACTION.

BY SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON, JULY 29-(AP)-THE POSSIBILITY OF A GREEK REQUEST FOR CONTINUING INTERNATIONAL AID WITH ITS BORDER PROBLEMS HAS LED HERE TO INFORMAL DIPLOMATIC TALK OF A BALKAN "WATCH DOG" COMMISSION OUTSIDE THE UNITED NATIONS.

DIPLOMATS FAMILIAR WITH THE TALKS REPORT BRITISH-AMERICAN INTEREST IN THE IDEA AS AN ALTERNATIVE FOR THE UNITED NATIONS COMMISSION WHICH WAS DEFEATED IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL TODAY BY A RUSSIAN VETO.

THE DISCUSSIONS HERE HAVE CONSIDERED THE POSSIBILITY THAT SEVERAL NATIONS MIGHT BE INVITED TO TAKE PART IN KEEPING AN EYE ON THE GREEK BORDER WARFARE. IF SUCH A COMMISSION WERE SET UP IT MIGHT BE A TEMPORARY MEASURE, PENDING FURTHER DISCUSSION OF THE ISSUE IN THE UNITED NATIONS.

INITIALLY, THE UNITED STATES HAD PROPOSED TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL THAT AN 11-NATION U.N. COMMISSION BE SET UP TO MAKE A CONTINUOUS REVIEW OF GREEK TROUBLES FOR THE NEXT TWO YEARS. AFTER WEEKS OF DEBATE DURING WHICH THE RUSSIAN DELEGATE, ANDREI GROMYKO, TOOK LITTLE PART, THE PROPOSAL WAS DEFEATED BY GROMYKO'S VETO, THE 11TH VETO CAST BY RUSSIA IN U.N. AFFAIRS.

HERSCHEL V. JOHNSON, DEPUTY AMERICAN DELEGATE TO THE COUNCIL, CALLED GROMYKO'S VOTE TODAY A "SIMPLE ABUSE OF POWER." JOHNSON HAS BEEN SUMMONED TO WASHINGTON TO CONFER TOMORROW WITH STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS ON THE SITUATION CREATED B THE RUSSIAN VETO. PRESUMABLY THE FINAL U.S. DECISION ON A NON-U.N. COMMISSION MAY BE IRONED OUT DURING JOHNSON'S VISIT.

DIPLOMATS POINT OUT THAT A NON-U.N. COMMISSION WOULD BE LIMITED IN TWO WAYS; 1. IT COULD NOT REPORT DIRECTLY TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL SHOULD GREEK BORDER TROUBLES INCREASE, AND 2. IT COULD NOT ENTER THE TERRITORY OF GREECE'S THREE NEIGHBORS--ALBANIA, YUGOSLAVIA AND BULGARIA--WHERE GREECE HAS SAID THE SOURCE OF HER TROUBLE LIES.

BUT SUCH A COMMISSION COULD REPORT TO WHATEVER GOVERNMENTS AGREE TO PARTAKE OF THE "WATCH DOG" JOB. THOSE NATIONS THEN WOULD BE FREE, UNDER U.N. RULES, TO BRING GREEK TROUBLES BEFORE THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 29-(AP)-THE RUSSIAN BLOC TODAY REBUKED FRANCE FOR BRINGING THE MARSHALL PLAN INTO A UNITED NATIONS DEBATE AND DELIVERED A VIGOROUS ATTACK AGAINST THE ECONOMIC COMMISSION FOR EUROPE FOR ALLEGEDLY INTERFERING IN THE ECONOMIC AFFAIRS OF GERMANY.

THE SOVIET ATTACK WAS LAUNCHED JOINTLY BY SOVIET DELEGATE ALEXANDER P.MOROZOV AND WHITE RUSSIAN REPRESENTATIVE L.I.KAMINSKY SHORTLY AFTER FRANCE MADE A NEW BID BEFORE THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL FOR RUSSIAN COOPERATION IN THE MARSHALL PLAN.

MOROZOV MADE NO DIRECT REFERENCE TO FRANCE'S BID, BUT DECLARED RUSSIA'S POSITION ALREADY HAD BEEN MADE CLEAR BY SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV AT THE THREE POWER CONFERENCE IN PARIS. AT THAT TIME MOLOTOV REFUSED TO GO ALONG WITH BRITAIN AND FRANCE ON THE MARSHALL PLAN.

KAMINSKY DECLARED "THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL HAS NO RIGHT TO DISCUSS THE MARSHALL PLAN" AND SAID THE COUNCIL "SHOULD NOT BECOME A FORUM FOR DIFFUSION OF PROPAGANDA ON THE MARSHALL PLAN." HE SAID THE AMERICAN PROGRAM WAS "CLEARLY LINKED WITH THE GERMAN ECONOMY, WHICH ALSO HAS NO PLACE ON THE AGENDA."

MOROZOV PROVOKED A CLASH BY BRITISH MINISTER OF STATE HECTOR MCNEIL BY DECLARING THAT "NEITHER THE ECONOMIC COMMISSION FOR EUROPE NOR ANY OTHER ORGAN OF THE UNITED NATIONS CAN MAKE A GOVERNMENT TAKE A DECISION WHICH DOES NOT CORRESPOND TO ITS INTERESTS."

MCNEIL SAID THE QUESTION ABOUT THE POWERS OF OTHER ORGANS OF THE U.N. WAS "NOT A MATTER TO BE DISCUSSED HERE." AS FAR AS THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL OR ITS ORGANS WERE CONCERNED, HE ADDED, "THERE CAN BE NO QUESTION OF THEIR DECISIONS BEING ENFORCED ON ANY GOVERNMENT."

"THERE IS NO QUESTION OF SOVEREIGNTY BEING INFRINGED OR DECISIONS BEING IMPOSED," HE DECLARED 1947 "NEVER. NEVER. NEVER."

MOROZOV DEVOTED MOST OF HIS SPEECH TO AN ATTACK ON THE ECONOMIC COMMISSION FOR EUROPE, ONE OF WHOSE RESOLUTIONS, HE SAID, "IS A CLEAR INFRACTION OF THE PRINCIPLE THAT QUESTIONS CONCERNING GERMANY AS A WHOLE COME WITHIN THE COMPETENCE OF THE ALLIED CONTROL COMMISSION."

"NO COMMISSION CAN MAKE ANY ATTEMPTS TO SUPERSEDE OR REVISE DECISIONS OF THE GOVERNMENTS WHO BEAR THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR GOVERNING GERMANY," HE SAID. "THE GOVERNMENT OF THE SOVIET UNION WILL INSIST ON NON-INTERFERENCE BY THE ECONOMIC COMMISSION IN GERMANY."

MCNEIL SAID THE E.C.E. HAD STAYED WELL WITHIN THE TERMS OF ITS

INSTRUCTIONS, WHICH AUTHORIZED IT TO CONSULT WITH EITHER THE ALLIED CONTROL COMMISSION IN BERLIN OR WITH OCCUPATION AUTHORITIES IN EACH OF THE FOUR ZONES. HE SAID THESE CONSULTATIONS COULD NOT BE CONSIDERED AS "INTERFERENCE."

THE APPEAL WAS MADE BY FRENCH DELEGATE GEORGES BORIS AS THE UNITED NATIONS ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL LAUNCHED A GENERAL DEBATE ON THE ECONOMIC COMMISSION FOR EUROPE.

BORIS SAID DISTRUST BETWEEN RUSSIA AND THE WESTERN POWERS WAS PARALYZING EUROPEAN ECONOMIC RECOVERY. HE BLAMED THE FAILURE OF THE RECENT THREE POWER CONFERENCE IN PARIS ON THIS DISTRUST AND URGED THAT THE BIG POWERS MAKE EVERY EFFORT TO DEVELOP "FREEDOM FROM DISTRUST."

SPEAKING OF RUSSIA'S CONTENTIONS THAT THE BRITISH-FRENCH PLAN OF IMPLEMENTING THE MARSHALL PLAN WOULD INTERFERE WITH NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTIES, BORIS SAID:

"WE HOPE THIS ATTITUDE WILL CHANGE WHEN DISTRUST DISAPPEARS."

Greeks Tell Of Promises Of Communist Paradise

By L. S. CHAKALES

Kozani, Greece, July 30 (AP)—Two former members of a guerrilla band who voluntarily surrendered to authorities said today that discipline and morale were maintained in the leftist "democratic army" by promises of a Communist "paradise."

They said the leftist bands do not have enough to eat, but apparently have plenty of arms and ammunition which, they added, comes from their "friends" in Albania and Yugoslavia.

George Apostolides, 24, who surrendered six days ago, said he was wounded in an action last April and was transported across the border into Albania where he was treated at a hospital maintained for Greek guerrillas.

Claim Forcible Recruiting

Apostolides said he was forcibly recruited from the village of Percona, near Kastoria, last February and told by leaders of the "democratic army" there was a "paradise" in "democratic Albania and Yugoslavia" and that a similar "paradise" would be created in Greece.

He said he could not observe conditions in Albania because "I never saw anything except four walls in a hospital ward and we always traveled at night and they never let us raise the canvas cover of the truck to see outside."

He said he and fifteen other wounded were met at the Albanian border by Albanian soldiers and trucks.

Captured By Guerrillas

Constantin Kitis, 27, from a village near Ptolemais, 20 miles north of here, said he and 50 other Greek soldiers were captured by the guerrillas in fighting near Karditsa in February.

He said the guerrillas asked whether they wanted to return or stay and "fight for democracy."

"We all said we wanted to go back," he declared, "but then they said we couldn't go."

Kitis said any expression of discontent brought the suggestion from their officers, "Perhaps you would like to be transferred."

"Marched Off Down Hill"

He said when anyone suspected of lacking faith in the aims of the democratic army he would be picked up during the night and "marched off down the hill."

When anyone asked about the missing soldier the next morning, Kitis said the answer would be, "He has been transferred."

I talked with six ragged soldiers of the guerrilla bands who told of a forced march from the Albanian border near Konitsa and an attack on Grevena, 20 miles southwest of here, five days ago. More than 70 prisoners from this band were brought here yesterday in trucks.

Anastasios Pardelos, 26, from near Kastoria, said his battalion was supplied by two Albanian soldiers and he presumed they were in Albania.

Four Days Without Food

He said they had been four days without food when the assault on Grevena began.

Pardelos said his leader, a Captain Ypsilanti, "told us we are going to hit Grevena and take it without fail. There we would eat and make up for what we had missed. He said we were 4,000 strong while only 500 defenders were at Grevena. Ypsilanti said a new government would be formed in Grevena and a route would be opened to Albania.

"We were given white armbands the night before the attack. Our leaders said when we entered Grevena we were to shoot every person not wearing a white armband."

The guerrillas never penetrated Grevena. Artillery and machine-gun fire kept them at bay until dawn, when planes blasted them with rockets and gunfire. The Government estimated the force of 1,200 to 1,500 lost 500 in casualties.

Kozani, Greece, July 30 (AP)—Ragged remnants of the guerrillas who marched on Grevena in Northwest Greece five days ago and met disaster are incarcerated today in a girls' school in this western Macedonian village.

Worn by hunger, their clothing in tatters and the soles of their shoes almost gone, they told wearily of a grim forced march from the mountains near the Albanian border which ended in the rout of their forces.

Believed In Albania

I talked with six of the more than 70 who were brought here in trucks yesterday. All of them said they were equipped and supplied in the mountains near the frontier, but that they did not know whether they had been in Albania at the time.

Anastasios Pardelos, 26, guerrilla from near-by Kastoria, said two Albanian soldiers brought the supplies for his battalion, and he assumed at the time that he was in Albania.

[Reports that an international brigade invaded Greece for the recent battles in the northwest have not been substantiated. The Greek Government made the charge on July 13 and it was repeated by Greek authorities later, but on July 18 a Greek general staff spokesman said no international brigade was involved. On the same day, the United Nations subcommission investigating the Balkans said it found little first-hand evidence to support the charge.]

Town Attacked 3 Times

These remnants of the "democratic army" said they were told before their attack that they numbered 4,000 men; that Grevena was defended by only 500 Greek soldiers and that its conquest would be easy.

I have just arrived here from Aminteon, a village of 3,000 on the shore of Lake Petron which the guerrillas have attacked three times since last Saturday. Each time they were driven off by soldiers, gendarmes and armed peasants.

Now there are four new, stone-fortified positions in the village, glistening amid the ruins of gutted houses. The defenses were thrown up because the village fears renewed assaults.

"Won't Sleep Tonight"

Aminteon lies astride the main route to Phlorina, opposite the Yugoslav border.

To the west lies Mount Vitsi, rocky headquarters of the principal guerrilla forces in this area of northern Greece. To the north, across the lake, is Mount Kaimakthilan, guarding what is believed in Aminteon to be a guerrilla supply route.

"We won't sleep tonight or other nights," an aged peasant woman told me before I left there. "I can't forget what happened to the others."

I was told that this is what happened to some of the others:

Zacharia Ralkou, 42, and her son, Pantelis, 18, had fled from a village 9 miles away to take refuge in Aminteon. Both were found after the attacks with their throats cut.

Begged For Her Life

Thedota Nicholascritu, 74, was machine-gunned to death while running for her home.

Marina Gerogiou, 28, was shot and wounded. She begged for her life. Then she was shot to death. Her body was thrown in the street, saturated with gasoline and set afire.

Five men and five women were herded into a room in a two-story building and beaten by three guerrillas when they denied their house was a defense point Then the guerrillas opened fire with submachine guns, killing or wounding all.

The guerrillas set fire to the building. Three of the wounded, a woman and two men, managed to crawl out before the building burned to the ground.

Seized Guerrillas Tell Of Attack In Greece

[L. S. Chakales, native of Pittsburgh, who has been in Greece for the AP since 1944, is in northwestern Greece investigating the results of the guerrilla warfare. In this dispatch he tells the story of prisoners from a defeated guerrilla force and of what he found in a village recently attacked.]

Fisheries Once Supplying Japan Now Controlled by Russians

THOS P. WHITNEY

MOSCOW, July 30—(AP) D. Pavlov, vice-minister of the Soviet eastern fish industry, wrote yesterday in the government newspaper Izvestia that Russia now controlled almost completely fisheries which were one of the most important sources of Japan's food supply.

The article did not mention the words Japan or international relations, but it obliquely pointed out the strength of the Russian position vis-a-vis Japan.

Fish is one of the major items of Japanese diet. A very large part of Japan's fish supply came, before and during the war, from the northern Pacific and the Okhotsk sea fisheries.

Judging from publication of the article on the Soviet Far Eastern fish industry, the Russians might have chosen this time for a reminder that, since the war, the Russians control those fisheries. Whether this was the actual significance or not, it was a fact that if the Japanese wanted any fish at any future time from those waters, they would have to ask the Russians.

Before the war, the Japanese leased fishing concessions from Russia along the Okhotsk sea shores and at Kamchatka. The Japanese considered the leases of great importance and went to considerable lengths on various occasions to keep them. The leases were lost as a result of the war.

Other Japanese fisheries on South Sakhalin and the Kurile islands also were important before and during the war. Both areas have been incorporated into the Soviet Union. Izvestia said thousands of families from Siberia and other parts of the Soviet Union already had settled there.

The Japanese obviously are not likely to be fishing anywhere in these waters or getting fish from them except by agreement with the Soviets.

Gen. Lee's Talk In Rome Church Hit By Soviets

Moscow, July 30 (AP)—The Soviet magazine New Times said today Pope Pius XII permitted the use of St. Paul's church pulpit by Lieut. Gen. John C. H. Lee, acting supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean, to make an address against "the forces of new democracy."

[The address to which the article evidently referred was made July 13, not in a Catholic church but in St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Rome. In teh address the American general said unity of British and Americans was a necessary defense against "anything the ungodly may launch against us."]

The periodical said Lee had made a speech urging "Anglo-American union for the suppression of progressive forces."

"The Pope of Rome is intending to establish Christian peaec among nations with the help of American battleships," the article said, "and an American general is calling for a pogrom-crusade against the forces of new democracy. That is a picture which should furnish much food for thought among honest Catholics who are for peace and friendship among nations."

Haile Selassie Kin Sentenced To Die

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, July 30 (AP)—Ras Haile Selassie Gugsa, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, was sentenced today to death for high treason in connection with collaboration with the Italians during World War II.

He was expected to appeal.

The chieftain, who married the Emperor's daughter, Zenab Wark, joined the Italian invaders of Ethiopia before the war, was given a puppet kingdom in the northern provinces, and later was reported fighting alongside the Duke of Aosta against the British.

His arrest was ordered as long ago as 1941 by the Emperor himself.

SIAM RATIONS RICE

Bangkok, July 30 (A. P.).—The Siamese Government decided today to impose nationwide rationing of rice on the country, traditionally one of the world's major rice-producing areas, with the conclusion of the tripartite rice agreement tomorrow. The decision was reached at a meeting of Siamese ministers with the British and American ambassadors today.

Any letdown of controls over rice production and distribution would lead to wholesale smuggling to areas abroad willing to pay exorbitant rates, the Government believes. All rice exported is at a fixed rate of £20 (approximately $80) a ton.

Under the present agreement, Siam is exporting only about a third of the amount promised, yet domestic shortages already have resulted in rationing in twenty-two of Siam's seventy provinces.

China Seeks Food From U.N. Council

Nanking, July 30 (AP)—Minister of Food Yu Fei-peng was quoted by the Chinese press today as saying China had asked the United Nations Food Council for 390,000 tons of food to relieve serious shortages in seventeen major Chinese cities. Among the cities were Shanghai, Nanking, Peiping, Tientsin, Canton and Amoy.

Australia Backs U.S. On Jap Parley

Tokyo, July 30 (AP)—Deputy Prime Minister H. V. Evatt swung Australia behind the United States today in the quest for a speedy eleven-nation peace conference on Japan at which the veto power would be eliminated.

Australia, he said, would "strongly resist" any attempt by one power or a group to apply the veto, but he voiced the hope Russia would participate in the proposed conference.

Addressing the Tokyo Correspondents Club, Evatt said Australia "believes the Marianas and Caroline Islands should be under United States control." He proposed beginning peace discussions in September, either at Pearl Harbor or San Francisco, with final deliberations starting in February, 1948.

Pacific Security

Evatt, who also is Australia's Minister of External Affairs, said the negotiators should complete in four months a treaty with the main purposes of providing security in the Pacific and attempting to raise standards of living of all peoples of Asia and the Pacific.

The formal treaty, he said, should be followed by Allied supervision over Japan for an indefinite period—perhaps ten years—and control of both her imports and exports.

U.S. Air Might On Upgrade In Far East

Tokyo, July 30 (AP)—The combat readiness of the Far East Air

JUL 1947 30.24-11217

Forces is 100 per cent greater a year ago and is "definitely on upgrade," Lieut. Gen. Ennis Whitehead declared today.

The FEAF commander made his statement to the Associated Press as final preparations went ahead for the mightiest United States Air Forces display in the Orient since the end of the war.

450 Planes In Show

That will come Friday on Army Air Forces Day when more than 450 warplanes from the Philippines, Guam and Okinawa will fly over Tokyo.

The veteran commander looks back on the year after V-J day as one of the toughest in his career, when the powerful air forces that had helped knock out Japan were riddled by demobilization.

Men Helc Over Points

"I had 15,000 men in the 5th Air Force alone with more than 225 points, when only 85 were required for discharge," he recalled.

"By the latter part of 1946," Whitehead said, "the situation began to improve as trained personnel arrived.

"Today we have achieved remarkable stability in personnel and it has been reflected in our combat readiness."

'Uninjured' Japs Taken Ill Fleeing Hiroshima

By Frank L. White

Tokyo, July 30 (AP)—A hitherto unpublished Japanese official report on the atomic bombing of Hiroshima in 1945 says that thousands who apparently survived the blast began dropping as they fled the flaming city.

I have just seen the only known extant copy of this report, which also discloses that Japanese scientists quickly guessed that an atomic bomb had hit Hiroshima and that uranium was the agent used.

The compilation of this report was begun by experts on the scene the day the bomb hit and, when surrender came, the Japanese high command ordered it destroyed.

Photographs Saved

But a Japanese officer who helped compile it saved a copy, along with photographs. I discovered the photographs at Kure ten days ago and that led down a trail which at last uncovered the report itself.

This supersecret report said that all persons within range of the blinding flash were so stunned that even anti-aircraft battery gunners forgot to shoot as they marveled at the monstrous white cloud mushrooming over the city.

Fires Set In Forest

Immediately after the blast, thousands who escaped a direct scorching or injury began to suffer from a strange sickness, the report continued. Although unmarked, they began falling while trying to get out of the city.

The Japanese noted that the bomb caused very few fires except in the forest on the hills behind Hiroshima. They attributed the fire which raged through shattered houses in the center of the city to such causes as electrical shorts and overturned cooking fires.

Japanese investigators reported they found dead fish in a pond in the city and in the river which flows through town, and dead birds in the forest.

The blast apparently got rid of insects too. No flies were seen on corpses and "those who had to camp out in the ruins never suffered from mosquitoes for as long as three nights."

Radioactivity High

As soon as traces of ray damage were noted, the Japanese sent Geiger counters to Hiroshima. The report said that on August 11, radioactivity ran as high as 120 counts a minute near the blast center, as against a normal count of 27.

Confronted with the evidence of radiation, the scientists guessed it was an atomic bomb that was dropped, and speculated that the bomb contained from 2 to 33 pounds of uranium.

After discussing the principles of an atomic bomb, the report added:

"As for the technical problems in practice to realize the above principles we cannot but leave them all to inventors in the future."

But the scientists knew that the United States already had the bomb, and within a few days Tokyo began peace negotiations.

U.S.-Russ Air Korea Views

Seoul, Korea, July 30 (AP)—The two chief delegates to the joint United States-Soviet Commission told Koreans today they hoped to settle their differences concerning what Korean groups will be consulted by the commission in laying the ground work for a provisional government for all of Korea.

Speaking to a crowd in Nam San Park, Maj. Gen. Albert E. Brown, chief American delegate, reiterated the American view that the Korea provisional government will belong to all people and to all political parties. To deny to a large group, and to parties representing them, the right to participate "would be an injustice to which the American delegation can never agree," he said.

Agreement Forecast

Col. Gen. T. F Shtikov, chief Soviet delegate, told the audience that "every day of struggling against the Moscow decision (on the governing of Korea) is one more day separating the Korean people from creation of their own democratic government."

Shtikov declared that Korea would have had its own government last year "if the joint commission had encountered unanimous support on the part of all parties and social organizations of South Korea"—the American-occupied zone.

Brown and Shtikov agreed that their divergent views on consultation of political and social organizations could be overcome. The Russians have objected particularly to consultation of Rightist South Korean groups which have opposed the Allied trusteeship.

U. S. Missionaries Arrive in Korea

Seoul, July 30 (A. P.).—Nine missionaries have debarked at Inchon from a hospital ship to take up duties in Korea.

The Rev. Elda Daniels, Dr. Florence Murray and Ada Sandell, all of Toronto, representatives of the Church of Canada, will teach at Ehwa College in Seoul. Major Clesson W. Richardson and his wife of Marlboro, N. H., will work in the Salvation Army hospital in Chungchong, Namdo province.

Robert C. Mills of Decatur, Ga., Seventh Day Adventist, will become secretary-treasurer of the Chosen Union Mission. Charles L. Philipps and his wife of 156 Fifth avenue, New York, will serve as Presbyterian missionaries. George Waldo Munson of Napa, Cal., will manage a publishing house.

Dutch, Indonesian Versions Of Plane Attack Differ

BATAVIA, Java, July 30. — (AP) The Netherlands army, referring to Indonesian charges that two Dutch fighters had shot down a mercy transport plane carrying medical supplies to the Republic, said today that the identity of the aircraft had not been clearly established.

It would be a cause of "great regret" to the Netherlands East Indies government, the army declared, if it should develop that the plane was an unarmed transport carrying medical supplies from India.

State Funeral Held

The Dutch communique was issued as the Indonesians gave a state military funeral in the Republican capital of Jogjakarta to the nine persons—three British, five Indonesians and one Indian—who were killed yesterday when the two-engine airplane went down.

The Dutch version of the incident, given in the communique and the statements of the two fighter pilots, was at variance with the account given by the Republicans. The only point of complete agreement was that the event took place near the Jogjakarta airport.

This was the Dutch account:

After a Republican plane dropped two bombs on Dutch-occupied Semarang yesterday, Dutch planes carried out reconnaissance flights over Republican areas.

Over Jogjakarta a reconnaissance flight observed a twin-engine aircraft. This plane, which one of the fighter pilots said he presumed at the time was a Betty or Helen (Japanese) type bomber, took evasive action coming down to tree-top level from 5,000 feet. Both fighter pilots — Australian-trained Lt. B. J. Ruesink, 27, and Sgt. Maj. W. E. Eekelens, who was trained at Jackson, Miss.—said they fired warning bursts but that these shots could not have hit the larger plane.

The twin-engine aircraft struck the trees and crashed, they said.

The Indonesian account as given by the Republican radio at Jogjakarta:

The Indian-owned plane, a Dakota, had taken off from Singapore with two tons of medicine. As it approached the landing strip the Dutch fighter planes attacked with machineguns and the transport crashed in flames. The Dakota carried the Indian markings PT-CLA.

Red Cross Flight

Dr. S. H. Algunied, Indonesian Red Cross representative, told newsmen in Singapore that the plane was on a flight initiated by the Indonesian Red Cross and that the Dutch knew it was flying to Jogjakarta with two tons of medical supplies.

The Dutch communique said the two-engine plane was seen only in silhouette by the fighter pilots. The bulletin added that no official agreement had been reached for permission to fly medical supplies to the Indonesian Republic although consultations were in progress between British Dutch authorities.

The Indonesian News agency Antara quoted Abdul Gani, an Indonesian described as the sole survivor of the crash, as saying "I heard the man next to me groaning. He probably was hit by a machinegun bullet. In a moment I realized our plane was cut in halves and had caught fire. I managed to jump out of the burning plane at the last moment."

(In New Delhi B. Patnaik, Indian legislator and wartime transport pilot, said he was asking the Indian government to demand 10,000,000 rupees damages from the Netherlands for the lives of the nine persons killed in his Dakota plane. A rupee is worth about 30 cents.

(Patnaik urged that vigorous diplomatic representations be made to the Dutch government.)

DUTCH LASH OUT TO SLICE SUMATRA

Northern Capital Falls as Troops Knife Through Minefields.

BATAVIA, Java, July 30—(AP) Dutch troops bolstered by an amphibious operation lashed out from the Medan area today, the Netherlands army announced, and drove into the rich tobacco and rubber region of Sumatra, the big island northwest of Java.

Knifing their way through minefields and road blocks, the Dutch forces captured Pematangsiantar, the Republican capital for northern Sumatra and the home of an important Indonesian radio station, it was announced.

Resistance Encountered

At Pematangsiantar the Dutch had pushed 62 miles south of Medan and had only about 110 airline miles to go to slice off the entire northern end of Sumatra. Sizeable Lake Toba blocked the Dutch path directly to the west, however.

The fighting on Sumatra overshadowed military developments in Java where the Dutch reportedly were continuing their efforts to isolate Republican forces in the interior of the central portion of the island.

The Indonesians announced that a Dutch air and sea attack had been launched against the south coast city of Tjilatjap. This move apparently was designed to "soften up" the last important Republican-held port on Java where the Dutch previously had pushed the Indonesians back from the major north coast cities.

A Dutch warship, two Mitchell bombers and three fighter planes made the attack on Tjilatjap, 90 miles west of Jogjakarta, a broadcast Republican communique said. The bulletin said one Dutch bomber was shot down.

Report Is Unconfirmed

There was no Dutch confirmation of the report. For some time now the Indonesians have listed Tjilatjap as a major Dutch objective either by an overland drive from the north coast port of Tegal or by an amphibious landing.

Below Semarang on the north-central Java front, the Indonesians said their troops were threatening the key towns of Salatiga and Ambarawa from several directions. It was in this region that the Indonesians previously reported they had parried a Dutch drive toward Jogjakarta, the Republican capital. The Dutch communique said Dutch troops had occupied Kaliwoengoe, 12 miles west of Semarang.

In northern Sumatra the Dutch sent troops splashing ashore from landing craft near Loeboekpakam while other Netherlands units pushed from Medan 12 miles to the west, the Dutch communique said.

On the way to Pematangsiantar the Dutch swarmed over Tebingtinggi, 36 miles beyond Medan, the bulletin said, and moved into the rich region which includes the Goodyear Rubber Wingfoot estate.

Two Towns Fired

The Dutch reported that Republican units falling back in the Medan area set fire to Loeboekpakam and Baoegngen.

In the Padang region, near the center of Sumatra's west coast, the Dutch said their troops seized key bridges near Pasaroesang, 14 miles to the north.

A dispatch from Soerabaja in eastern Java told of a powerful Dutch offensive in that end of the island. Dutch troops clad in camouflaged uniforms, and supported by American - made half - tracks, tanks and field guns pushed south from Lawang at sunup toward the former resort city of Malang, 15 miles away.

The Republicans burned at least three villages in the path of this column. The Belgian-owned Faroka cigaret factory at Malang had been set afire, the Dutch communique said.

Dutch mop-up units were said to have reopened communications between Djember and Banjoewangi in the extreme eastern end of Java.

Dutch Reoccupy Town

In western Java, other Dutch forces were reported by Netherlands sources to have penetrated the area south of the communications center of Bandoeng and to have reoccupied Tjitjalenka, eight miles to the southeast. The informants said Tjiwidej 12 miles southwest of Bandoeng, also was taken.

Republican infiltration groups attacked Dutch posts at Buitenzorg, one of the major Netherlands bases in western Java, and at Soemadang, said a Dutch report which claimed the attacks were easily repulsed.

The Dutch reported capturing papers which they said showed that 78 railway cars full of Lee Enfield rifles and machineguns recently were sent to Jogjakarta from Tegal. Presumably these arms were smuggled into Indonesia from abroad.

DUTCH STEP UP ATTACK IN JAVA AND SUMATRA

Amphibious and Air-Sea Assaults Mark Progress of War in Indies

BRITISH BAR SUPPLY SHIPS

Embargo on Military Needs Is Announced by Bevin in Parliament

Batavia, July 30 (A. P.).—The Dutch announced today that they had launched a new amphibious operation near the northern end of Sumatra, and the Indonesians an dair attack on Tjilatjap, the last important Republican-held port on Java.

A broadcast Republican communique said a Dutch warship, two Mitchell bombers and three fighter planes carried out the attack on Tjilatjap on the south coast of Java, ninety miles west of Jogjakarta. It said that one Dutch bomber was shot down. The Dutch did not confirm this report.

The communique said that the Dutch forces swarmed ashore at Loeboekpakam, thirty-six miles southeast of Medan, itself near Sumatra's north coast some 275 miles from the island's northwestern tip. At the same time, the communique reported, Dutch forces burst eastward from their Medan positions into a rich agricultural region of Sumatra.

[In London today Foreign Secretary Bevin said that Great Britain had prohibited the supplying of war materials to the Dutch East Indies from British territories in the Orient and that none "will be permitted from this country." He spoke in reply to questions in the House of Commons after the Communist London Daily Worker had charged that British-made war supplies, including Bren guns and helmets, were being loaded on the Dutch ship Saparoea at Southampton.]

Dutch Forces Advance.

Meanwhile today the Dutch attack in the Medan region of Sumatra stabbed into an important rubber and tobacco growing area which includes the Goodyear Rubber Company's Wingfoot estate, Dutch military spokesmen said. These troops encountered minefields and roadblocks and at first a "certain amount of resistance," before speeding their advance, the informants added.

The Dutch reported that the Republicans set fire to Loeboekpakam and Baoegngan, villages inland from Medan.

In western Java the Dutch forces were reported to have penetrated the area south of Bandoeng. In the same area, the informants said, Tjiwidej, twelve miles southwest of Bandoeng, was taken.

A dispatch from Soerabaja in east Java today said that Dutch troops with American-made tanks and field guns had moved out of Lawang at sunup and officers forecast the capture by nightfall of Malang, interior resort town fifteen miles south of Lawang.

Explain Air Assault.

Earlier today the Dutch Army said that it would be a cause of great regret to the Dutch East India Government should it develop that the plane reported shot down by Dutch fighters near Jogjakarta was really an unarmed transport carrying medical supplies from India.

The destruction of the plane was announced yesterday by the Indonesian republic's radio at Jogjakarta, which said that nine persons were killed in the crash.

Headquarters said that two Dutch fighter pilots yesterday reported intercepting a plane which they believed to be a former Japanese "Betty bomber" and seeing the plane crash near Jogjakarta after warning bursts from their guns. The statement added:

"If it is indeed the case that the aircraft shot down was a Dakota loaded in Singapore with medical supplies for Jogjakarta, those responsible have been guilty of culpable carelessness."

The Dutch said that they had no advance notice that any plane bearing medical supplies was en route to Jogjakarta, however.

The Dutch pilots were Lieut. B. J. Ruesink, 27 years old, trained in Australia, and Sergt.-Major W. E. Erkelens, trained at Jackson, Miss. They flew companion P-40s. Both denied their bullets hit the plane, saying that the pilot crashed into a tree in trying to get away after they had fired warning shots.

"I probably could not have seen a Red Cross on the side of the plane, since it was taking crazy, evasive action and going 350 miles an hour," Ruesink told reporters, adding that he was still not convinced that the craft was a Dakota.

ENGLAND BANS ARMS FOR DUTCH EAST INDIES

LONDON, July 30—(AP) Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said in the House of Commons today that no war materials intended for the Netherlands East Indies would be permitted to leave England.

In Southampton dock workers twice today stopped loading a Dutch cargo ship with British surplus war goods, but each time returned to work on the advice of union leaders.

A British foreign office spokesman said he was not sure whether this ship would be allowed to depart inasmuch as loading began before Bevin spoke in Commons.

In Rotterdam about 3,000 dock workers staged a six-hour strike as a protest against the Dutch government's action in Indonesia. While this was going on a Dutch troop ship with 2,230 men aboard left Rotterdam for Batavia without incident.

Dutch Express Australian Step

THE HAGUE, the Netherlands, July 30 (AP).—A Foreign Office spokesman said today it was regrettable that Australia was submitting the Indonesian dispute to the United Nations.

He recalled that British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin had offered mediation.

The spokesman said he was amazed that the Australian action was taken under Chapter 7 of the U. N. Charter, which refers to "aggressive actions from one state against another." He said Australia apparently shared with the Indonesian Republic a wrong conception that the republic already must be regarded as a sovereign state.

Communiques on Java Fighting

Netherland

BATAVIA, Java, July 30 (AP)—A Netherland Army communique:

West Java: A few attacks on Netherland posts were reported by armed Republican groups or not easily definable gangs, among other places at Buitenzorg and Sumerang. The attacks were repulsed without difficulty.

Chiwidej (twenty kilometers southwest of Bandung) was occupied and a Netherland detachment again was placed at Chichalengka (fifteen kilometers southeast of Bandung).

Middle Java: Kaliwungu (twenty kilometers west of Semarang) was occupied by our troops against slight resistance.

July 29, Republican aircraft of Japanese origin dropped two bombs on the northwestern town boundary of Semarang. Seven Indonesian civilians were killed and seven wounded.

East Java: Communications between Jember and Banjuwangi are open.

Air reconnaissance brought to light that Republicans destroyed or set on fire the following buildings among others in Malang: the Town Hall, high school buildings, district court buildings, various buildings belonging to the barracks of the Thirteenth Battalion and the Eighth Battalion, Mulo school, station railway yard buildings housing the east of station Faroka, a cigarette factory, houses and shops on both sides of the Malang-Lawang road.

North Sumatra: From Medan our troops advanced in an eastern direction. Landings took place northeast of Lubungpakam (twenty kilometers east of Medan). Lubungpakam was occupied, following which the town of Tebingtinggi (sixty kilometers southeast of Medan) was occupied.

Pematangsiantar (100 kilometers southeast of Medan) was successfully occupied. No resistance of any importance was encountered.

Middle Sumatra: Our troops occupied bridges near Pasarusang (twenty-three kilometers north of Padang).

Total Netherlands casualties to date are killed, fifty-one; wounded, 110; missing, nine.

Indonesian

BATAVIA, July 30 (AP)—An Indonesian Army communique, as broadcast from Jogjakarta and recorded here:

East Java—On July 29 Kepanjen, twelve kilometers south of Malang, was attacked by a Dutch fighter plane which dropped bombs and grenades. Most of the grenades did not explode. At Ngrabetan, west of Surabaya, the Dutch fired mortars.

Central Java—On July 29 our units continued to carry out attacks on Dutch positions. Dutch infantry and artillery launched an attack at Kaliwungu, west of Semarang.

Tuesday's attack on Dutch positions at Semarang, Salatiga and Ambarawa by the Indonesian Air Force had satisfactory results.

On July 30 two P-40's attacked Maguwo field at Jogjakarta with machine guns. One plane was hit by our anti-aircraft. One B-25 bomber approached Maguwo field.

India Demands U.N. End Indonesia War

India demanded formally today that the United Nations Security Council act to settle the fighting between Dutch and Indonesian forces.

The Indian complaint was handed to Dr. Oscar Lange, of Poland, president of the Council, and Adrian Pelt, acting secretary-general of the United Nations, by Sam-arendranath Sen, Indian representative.

Meanwhile, Australia also was expected to file a separate Indonesian complaint later in the day.

At Canberra, Australian Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley said the Australian step was being taken in the hope that "not only will hostilities cease, but that the Security Council will prove its worth in dealing quickly and effectively with a situation of this kind."

Action "Regrettable"

At The Hague, a Netherlands Foreign Office spokesman said Australia's action was "regrettable." Recalling mediation offered previously by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, the Dutch spokesman said the Australian action could not help possible British efforts.

Militarily, the Dutch reported further advances in the islands. They announced they had launched a new amphibious operation near the northern end of Sumatra, and the Indonesians reported a combined Dutch sea and air attack on Tjilatjap, last important Republican-held port of Java.

A broadcast Republican communiqué said a Dutch warship, two Mitchell bombers and three fighter planes carried out the attack on Tjilatjap, on the south coast of Java, 90 miles west of Jogjakarta. It said one Dutch bomber was shot down. The Dutch did not confirm the report.

U.S Equipment

At the same time, the Dutch reported their forces burst eastward from their Medan positions into a rich agricultural area.

A dispatch fom East Java said Dutch troops, including American-trained Marines and equipped with American-made half tracks, tanks and field guns took off at sunrise in a drive south from Lawang toward Malang, resort town 15 miles away.

An Indonesian Army communiqué broadcast from Jogjakarta, republican capital, said Indonesian units yesterday continued their attacks on Dutch positions in central Java, while Dutch infantry and artillery launched an attack at Kaliwoengoe, west of Semarang.

"Greatly Regretted"

Funeral services, attended by high Republican Government officials, were held in Jogjakarta today for the nine persons killed yesterday when an Indian Dakota transport plane which the Indonesians said carried medical supplies was shot down by two Dutch fighter planes over the Republican capital.

An official statement issued by the Dutch in Batavia said that, "If it is indeed the case that the aircraft shot down was a Dakota loaded in Singapore with medical supplies for Jogjakarta, those responsible have been guilty of culpable carelessness, the serious outcome of which is greatly regretted by the N.E.I. Government."

The Dutch said they had had no advance notice that any plane with medical supplies was en route to Jogjakarta. Two of their fighter pilots said they fired warning shots at a plane in that area, but denied that they hit it, saying that it crashed into a tree in taking evasive action.

Damages Sought

A dispatch from New Delhi said B. Patnaik, member of the Orissa legislative assembly and wartime transport pilot, was asking the Indian Government to demand 10,000,000 rupes (about $3,000,000) damages from the Neitherlands for the lives of those killed in the transport plane, which he said belonged to him.

In Singapore, two American import-export traders said $500 worth of sulfa drugs, bandages and cotton donated by them was aboard the transport.

FDR Overrode Order Killing Flying Boat Project, Jones Says

JUL 1947

RFC CANCELLED PLANE CONTRACT, PROBERS TOLD

President Ordered Construction Continued; Army, Navy Opposed Plan.

COERCION CHARGED

Hughes Calls on Brewster to Reveal Offer to End Probe.

WASHINGTON, July 30 — (AP) Jesse H. Jones told senators today that the late President Roosevelt overrode cancellation of a $40,000,000 flying boat project assigned to Howard Hughes and ordered construction continued.

Jones, former Secretary of Commerce and onetime head of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, appeared before the Senate War Investigating commitee. He testified that Mr. Roosevelt decided in 1944 that the "experience to be gained" from completing one 200-ton cargo plane—which has yet to take to the air—would be too great to throw away.

Cancelled by RFC

Jones said the contract was cancelled by RFC early in 1944, and that at a cabinet meeting in February of that year, Mr. Roosevelt ordered it renewed.

At that time the flying boat already had cost the government about $13,500,000 the big Texan testified. Jones said he signed the original contract not knowing it was opposed by the Army and Navy but because he was directed to by the War Production board.

The Senate committee is investigating $40,000,000 worth of wartime plane contracts let to Hughes, millionaire Hollywood aircraft producer and motion picture executive.

Jones testimony came after:

1. Hughes, in Hollywood, issued a statement demanding that Senator Brewster (R.-Me.) "give the public the facts concerning his abortive attempt to intimidate and coerce me by offering to call off this investigation if I would agree to merge trans world airline with Juan Trippe's Pan American Airways."

2. Senator Brewster replied by saying anyone interested in this should read "Chapter 6 in the Book of Nehmiah," that he had nothing further to say. This Bible chapter contains a verse saying "there are no such things as thou sayest but thou feignest them out of thine own hand."

No Truth Says Brewster

Later, in a broadcast (ABC) tonight, Brewster said "there is no truth in the suggestion" by Hughes. He added that the committee had replied to the Hughes statement by inviting Hughes to appear in person and make his charges under oath so "we can determine what this is all about."

3. Glenn L. Martin, Baltimore plane manufacturer, testified that shipbuilder Henry J. Kaiser proposed to him in July, 1942 the formation of a six-company combine to manufacture 500 flying boats for the government. Martin said that Kaiser agreed this would not fit the approved Army-Navy program, but claimed he would get an O.K. by going to "high places" and that he alone could get the contract.

Senator Ferguson (R.-Mich.) chairman of a sub-committee conducting the investigation, announced that he has instructed Hughes to be ready to testify either Thursday "or by 10 o'clock Friday morning."

"I sent him a wire to that effect and also called him on the telephone in California," Ferguson told a reporter.

He said Hughes told him he was busy working on one of the planes whose construction the committee is investigating, and that he "did not say he would or would not be here."

Ferguson said the committee decided to call Hughes this week because John Meyer, the plane builder's publicity man, will not be able to return from Paris in time to testify Thursday as scheduled.

Jones said that when the RFC cancelled the Hughes project, it asked for a report on the feasibility of converting the enormous plywood craft to metal construction.

The former cabinet officer said that to his knowledge, Mr. Roosevelt had nothing to do with the original award of the cargo plane contract to Hughes and Kaiser in 1942.

In a memorandum of Feb. 18, 1944, put with the committee record, Jones wrote in connection with the cargo plane contract that he had talked to Mr. Roosevelt "after the cabinet meeting today's and that "the President thought the experience gained was of too much value to throw away the money already expended and that the contract should not be cancelled."

The former cabinet officer testified that a week earlier Donald M. Nelson, chief of the War Production board, had advised him he had decided to cancel the contract. It was awarded in 1942 at Nelson's insistence and after approval, Kaiser testified yesterday, by Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of staff to Mr. Roosevelt. Kaiser and Hughes were originally associated in the project.

"So you cancelled the contract?" Ferguson asked.

"Bingo," Jones replied.

Hughes touched off the latest exchange with Brewster by calling on the Maine senator to "give the public the facts" concerning what he called "an abortive attempt" by Brewster to get him to agree to merge his TWA company with Pan American Airways.

Asks for Answers

Hughes' statement called on Brewster to answer publicly this question: "Did you or did you not offer to call off this entire investigation if I would agree to merge TWA with Pan American Airways and support your community airline Bill?"

Brewster recalled today that hearings were held but no action taken at this session of congress on bills, in which he has been interested, to create a single United States airline for overseas operating by grouping private airlines under one "government flag" line. Pan American favors the proposal, TWA opposes it.

Chapter 6 of the Book of Nehemiah, which Brewster cited in reply to Hughes, relates the efforts of various characters to divert Nehemiah from building a wall for the defense of Jerusalem.

One verse reads:

"And I sent messages unto them saying, 'I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down; why should the work cease whilst I leave it to come down to you." And further:

"Yet they sent unto me four times after this sort and I answered them after the same manner. Then sent Sanballat, his servant unto me in like manner the fifth time with an open letter in his hand.

"Then I sent unto him saying there are no such things as thou sayest, but thou feignest them out of thine own hand."

Six-Company Combine

Martin, head of the plane-building firm which bears his name, told the committee that Kaiser approached him in July 1942 with the proposal to form a six-company corporation to turn out 500 flying boats somewhat like the Mars cargo plane designed by Martin.

Martin testified that Kaiser told him there would be "good profit" in the proposed combine, and that he had replied that he was busy filling contracts for the Army and Navy and was interested only in a "reasonable profit."

In reply to a question by Senator O'Connor (D-Md), Martin said Kaiser offered to provide one-sixth of the men needed and one-sixth of the capital.

"He said he could get the order for the ships and I probably could not get the order," Martin recounted. "He didn't explain how. He said such an order wasn't within my reach or that of the other airplane manufacturers, but he could get the order."

Under further questioning, Martin quoted Kaiser as saying he would "go to high places to get the order," but that the West coast industrialist "didn't say what the highplaces were and I did not ask because it was his business and not mine."

Martin said he told Kaiser he was "not interested in undertaking to force a program beyond a program that had been approved (by the Army and Navy), but that if I was directed to join such a combine I would do so."

Hughes Reports Probe 'Offer'

Los Angeles, July 30 (AP)—Howard Hughes issued a statement today demanding that Senator Owen D. Brewster (R., Maine), chairman of a Senate War Investigating Committee, "give the public the facts concerning his abortive attempt to intimidate and coerce me by offering to call off this investigation of my airplane projects if I would agree to merge T.W.A. (Trans World Airlines) with Juan Trippe's Pan American Airways."

In Washington, Senator Brewster said he would have no comment until he had seen the complete text of Hughes's statement.

In New York, an aide of Trippe said the Pan American line did not plan at this time to comment on Hughes's statement.

Four Questions

The Hughes statement added:

"I direct these four questions at Senator Brewster and demand an answer:

1 At lunch in your suite at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D.C., did you or did you not offer to call off this entire investigation if I would agree to merge T.W.A. with Pan American Airways and support your community airline bill?

2. Did I or did I not reply that I had already promised Juan Trippe that I would give him my answer in 30 days?

3. And did Juan Trippe subsequently make a flight across the country to see me, and spend two days closeted in secret conference with me at Palm Springs, Cal., or did he not?

4. And when you returned from Europe thereafter, did Juan Trippe tell you to hold up and not push this investigation for a while, as he and I were still trying to get together, or did he not?

Considered Proposal

The text of the statement said that "Hughes considered this proposal for 30 days because it appeared to him that Brewster had sponsored the investigation in the first place at Trippe's direction." The statement continued:

"Brewster was perfectly frank and laid the cards on the table."

"Under these circumstances, and since the threat of the investigation obviously was created in the first place to maneuver me into the merger with Pan American Airways, I did not consider that my giving in to their demands would necessarily be dishonest on my part.

"In other words, since I felt that the birth of the investigation was illegitimate, I did not consider that its elimination would be a crime.

"However, I wanted to think it over carefully and be sure my interpretation was correct.

"I never did reach a final decision on the morals, because, at the end of our negotiations, the merger deal which Juan Trippe offered was not one that I considered equitable from the standpoint of the other stockholders in my company, T.W.A."

Refers To Scripture

Washington, July 30 (AP)—Senator Brewster (R., Maine) cited Nehemiah's Biblical account of how Sanballat "thought to do me mischief" today as his reply to Howard Hughes's contention that a Senate investigation of his war contracts is an effort to force a merger of two airlines.

Brewster told reporters:

"I smiply refer anyone interested to Chapter 6 in the Book of Nehemiah."

He added that he had "nothing further to say" and that he saw no point in "going any further in this."

Brewster cited no verses. An edition published by the American Bible Society summarizes the chapter in these words:

"Sanballat practiseth by craft, by rumors, by hired prophecies, to terrify Nehemiah. The work is finished to the terror of the enemies. . . ."

Concerns Jerusalem Wall

The chapter recounts the efforts of Sanballat and Tobiah and Geshem, the Arabian, to divert Nehemiah from the work of building a wall for the defense of Jerusalem.

"And I sent messages unto them saying, I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down: Why should the work cease whilst I leave it to come down to you," one verse reads, followed by:

"Yet they sent unto me four times after this sort and I answered them after the same manner.

"Then sent Sanballat, his servant unto me in fine manner the fifth time with an open letter in his hand."

Hughes wrote Brewster an open letter Monday, charging Brewster, chairman of the Senate War Investigating Committee, had accepted free air transportation from him worth $1,400.

Further Quotation

Another verse reads:

"Then I sent unto him saying there are no such things as thou sayest, but thou feignest them out of thine own hand."

Brewster held an impromptu news conference to cite this chapter of Nehemiah as his answer to Hughes.

Earlier, Brewster had declared he did not intend to "engage in running contorversy" with Hughes and commented on Hughes's second statement in three days, "They seem to be running a serial out there."

He said that if he and Hughes carried on a continuous crosscountry exchange "we would be using up all the transcontinental wire for the next week or two."

U.S. PROTESTS TO REDS OVER TAKING ASSETS

Seeks Light on Removal of Axis Property From the Balkans.

CITES TREATY PROVISIONS

Note to Molotov Says Austrian Goods Cannot Be Seized on Pretext They Are German.

Washington, July 30 (A. P.).—The United States has protested to Russia against Soviet removal of former German and Italian assets from the defeated Balkan states—Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania.

Under-Secretary of State Robert Lovett told a news conference today that a note had been delivered to Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov in Moscow yesterday asking full information regarding such transfers of property.

Lovett said the State Department took the position in its note that:

1. All removals of property to Russia before the Hungarian, Bulgarian and Romanian peace treaties come into effect are "of provisional character."

2. Austrian assets in these countries cannot be seized on the ground that they are German properties pending Allied agreement on a definition of German assets.

3. Only removals made in accordance with peace treaty provisions can be recognized by the United States as legal.

Signer of Treaties.

The note said the United States is concerned because it was one of the signers of the peace treaties with Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania and thus holds responsibility for enforcement of the pacts' provisions.

In discussing Italian assets in these countries, the note said disposal of such properties is specifically provided for in the peace treaty.

Dispatches from London said the British Government had delivered a similar protest to the Russians yesterday. Lovett told reporters in answer to questions that he does not know the value of the properties involved but assumes it is considerable, otherwise the United States would not have taken the matter up with Moscow.

U.S. PROTEST GIVEN RUSSIA

JUL

Note Assails Seizure Of Assets In Balkan Countries

Washington, July 30 (AP)—The United States protested to Russia today against Soviet seizure of German and Italian assets in the Balkans in apparent violation of peace treaties.

The action was announced by Robert A. Lovett, Under Secretary of State, at a news conference as State Department officials began conferences on the Greek situation. The aim of these conferences is to reach a decision on what the United States should do next as a result of Russia's veto in the Security Council of an American proposal to create a United Nations watchdog commission on the Greek border.

Constantine Tsaldaris, Greek Foreign Minister, meanwhile, told the Associated Press that he regards the Soviet veto as one more evidence of the extent to which "world peace is at stake" in the Greek crisis.

May Seek U.N. Airing

The fast-moving developments involving American relations with the Soviet Union in eastern Europe gave rise to new speculation among authorities here that the United States may eventually seek a United Nations airing of the whole Soviet effort to extend and consolidate political and economic powers in that section of Europe.

While the latest note to Russia was carefully worded and avoided sensational charges, officials commenting on it privately said that the Soviet Union appears to be trying to grab as much as possible of the industrial resources of Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania before the Balkan peace treaties actually come into force.

Those treaties have yet to be ratified formally by Russia although they were signed by Russia as one of the drafting powers along with Britain, the United States and France.

Viewed As "Provisional"

The American letter to Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Soviet Foreign Minister, declared that the United States Government "cannot regard transfers (of German and Italian assets in the three ex-enemy Balkan countries) made prior to coming into force of the treaties as being more than of provisional character."

The note requested that the United States be notified of all "provisional transfer of assets" and that it be consulted in accordance with peace treaty provisions.

Actually, officials here appeared to have little hope that Russia would comply. The note appeared to be mainly one more addition to the record which the American Government has been building up of Soviet conduct in southeastern Europe.

Might Reopen Greek Case

Lovett's news conference also developed these points:

1. Herschel V. Johnson has come to Washington from New York, where he argued the Greek case for the United States in the Security Council, and is participating here in a series of extraordinary talks among American officials. Speculation centered on the possibility that the United States would reopen the case in the Security Council by claiming that the situation has become an active threat to world peace.

2. Lovett said that the State Department is giving the Greek matter earnest and continuing attention.

3. Questioned about the sharp differences which arose last week between the American commander in Germany, General Lucius Clay, and the State department over temporary suspension of the announcement of a new level of industry for the British-American zones of Germany, Lovett said that there was no basic misunderstanding on American aims. His comment indicated that some action on the issue would be taken after consultation with the French whose protest caused the suspension.

4. Lovett said he had no information on reports that British Foreign Minister Bevin and French Foreign Minister Bidault planned to come to Washington for conferences on various subjects, including Germany.

Indian Peace Discussed

5. Referring to another troubled part of the world be declared that the American government earnestly desires that the strife between the Netherlands government and the Indonesian Republic should be composed as soon as possible. To this end he said the United States has been conferring with a number of governments as to the steps which might be taken to restore peace.

6. The undersecretary also indicated that the proposed meeting of 11 nations to begin work on a Japanese peace treaty would be delayed beyond the Aug. 19 opening date, which the United States originally suggested. British Commonwealth countries, with a conference scheduled in Australia later in August, did not like the American suggestion for opening time.

Tsaldaris made his comment on the Soviet veto action in response to inquiry as to what he thought about it. The prime minister who has been in frequent consultation with State department officials declared:

"Since I presented my country's case before the Security Council eight months ago, the daily course of events, that is, the aggressive attacks against Greek territory and yesterday's veto, prove how serious the situation is. As I have repeatedly told the world, these developments show how directly this question is an international one and how much world peace is at stake."

UNRRA HALTS AID TO NORTHERN CHINA

JUL 1947

WASHINGTON, July 30. — (AP) UNRRA today announced it had cut off relief supplies to North China's war zones two days ago and had given both sides 15 days to approve a plan for letting shipments proceed in safety to Communist-held areas.

"The action followed a statement by the Chinese government that it was no longer able to protect the distribution operation in war zones, thus stopping the movement of UNRRA supplies into Communist territory," the international relief agency said in a statement.

Seeking "not to discriminate against any group of needy Chinese," UNRRA said its Central committee decided to place before Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek plans to permit shipment into Communist-held territory 50,000 tons of supplies still undelivered out of 83,000 tons agreed upon. If he agrees, the Communists will be asked for their guarantee.

Specifically, the area affected by the suspension is all of China, including Manchuria, north of the 34th parallel. Supplies for both Communist and Nationalist-held areas of North China are being impounded in custody of the UNRRA China office, the announcement said.

UNRRA said that Nationalist air forces had made several attacks on relief ships headed for Communist ports despite "continued assurances" of cooperation by the Nationalist government.

It also cited "many interferences" with movement of UNRRA supplies and personnel into Communist areas, "including supplies needed in the repair of the Yellow river dikes."

Communist military activities has also "on occasion" interfered with distribution, UNRRA said.

UNRRA, a temporary agency, closed out its relief program in Europe June 30, but it was said at that time that concluding operations in China would take several months.

DUTCH DENY U.N. POWER IN JAVA ROW

Van Kleffens Calls Australian And Indian Complaints Unfounded

Washington, July 30 (AP)—The Netherlands Ambassador, Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens, said today the Indonesian issue is outside the jurisdictions of the United Nations.

Dr. Van Kleffens, former Foreign Minister and his Government's United Nations representative, told a news conference that the Australian and Indian complaints to the Security Council are unfounded.

Both Australia and India appealed to the Security Council today to take urgent action to halt the fighting in Indonesia.

Like Dispute With State

"Our dispute with the Indonesian republicans is like a dispute between your Federal Government and one of your states," Van Kleffens asserted.

The new envoy interrupted the conference at one point to receive a telephone call. Returning, he said he had just been advised from the Hague that there is "not a word of truth" in published reports that the Netherlands Government is preparing to ask Britain to mediate.

Van Kleffens said that all political parties in the Netherlands, except the Communists, support the Government's resort to force in Indonesia.

Indonesia No Exception

Asked whether he believes communist pressure is involved in the situation, he said:

"Do you know any country where they are not exerting pressure? It would be surprising if Indonesia were an exception."

Van Kleffens, in response to another question, said he does not know whether he will be directed to serve again as his Government's United Nations representative. He added that he considers the job as Ambassador a full-time one.

Red Veto Shows Peace In Peril: Tsaldaris

Washington, July 30 (AP)—Greek Foreign Minister Constantine Tsaldaris said today that Russia's veto of proposed Security Council surveillance of troubled Greek borders shows "how much world peace is at stake."

The Greek Minister made his comment to a reporter as top American foreign officials began a series of important conferences on the crisis brought about by the Soviet veto of an American plan for the United Nations to set up a "watch dog" border commission.

Weighing Next Move

Under Secretary of State Robert Lovett told a news conference that Herschel V. Johnson, American spokesman in the Security Council debate on Greece, was joining State Department conferences aimed at determining the next move the United States should take.

Johnson came from New York especially to join in the talks here and Lovett agreed that the procedure was extraordinary.

The Under Secretary would not, however, indicate what steps may be taken, but said only that the Greek matter is receiving the State Department's earnest and continuing consideration.

Tsaldaris Sees Proof

Tsaldaris, reached at the Greek Embassy here, gave a reporter this reaction to yesterday's Soviet veto:

"Since I presented my country's case before the Security Council eight months ago, the daily course of events—that is, the aggressive attacks against Greek territory and yesterday's veto—prove how serious the situation is. As I have repeatedly told the world, these developments show how directly this qnuestion is an intternational one and how much world peace is at stake."

Tsaldaris aded that he was consulting his Athens Government for advice.

GREAT BRITAIN DRAWS ON AMERICAN LOAN

JUL 1947

WASHINGTON, July 30. — (AP) Hard-pressed Great Britain has drawn another $300,000,000 of the $3,750,000,000 loan granted by the United States just one year ago.

The withdrawal, announced by the Treasury today, leaves Britain only $1,000,000,000 of the fund originally expected to last at least three years.

This is the fourth British draft on the credit this month, and brought July withdrawals to a total of $700,000,000, or twice as much in any single month previously.

Britain's heavy use of the money bears out predictions in official quarters on both sides of the Atlantic, that the entire $3,750,000,000 will be gone before the end of this year—more than twice as quickly as was expected when the loan was granted.

'Sensational' Film Red Probe Seen

JUL 1947

Washington, July 30 (AP)—The investigation of communism in Hollywood, scheduled by the House Committee on Un-American Activities to begin September 23, got advance billing today as stupendous and colossal.

Almost, that is.

"It will be sensational," Representative Nixon (R., Cal.) predicted.

A member of the committee, Nixon said:

"We intend to name names and produce witnesses who will testify they have seen some persons prominent in Hollywood at Cummunist meetings and who will report what they said."

Just A Wee Bit Pink

Just how many first-magnitude stars will be brought into the hearings is not yet certain. Nixon said he thought most big-name star figuring in the inquiry would be listed as tinged with pink rather than as bright red Communists.

The key figures in the Communist movement in Hollywood are not well known nationally, Nixon said, but are important in the movie industry.

Nelson indicated a personal view that the committee might accomplish more by training its fire on Communists in the Government, education, labor and other fields. But he said the Hollywood inquiry should be of value in giving the movie capital a dose of preventive medicine.

Spotlighting Communist influences there, he said, may serve to prevent Communists, in the event of another depression, from stirring up the people "through this important medium for influencing public opinion."

Small Bits In Films

Nixon said little evidence had been uncovered that Communists had ever been able to get a complete party-line picture produced. But there have been instances of small bits of Red propaganda getting into films, he said, and the committee will try to trace how they got there.

Whether any actual Hollywood Communists or fellow travelers will testify at the hearings, even under subpoena, will develop later. Nixon said they might follow the party line of refusing to testify on grounds they would incriminate themselves.

TELLS OF 30 B-29S TO FLY 'A' BOMBS

Washington, July 30 (A. P.).—The United States had at least thirty B-29 bombers fitted to carry atomic bombs when the war ended, Glenn L. Martin said today.

Martin, Baltimore aircraft manufacturer, made the statement during testimony to the Senate War Investigating Committee. The subject was brought up incidentally at the committee's hearing on aircraft contracts awarded to Henry J. Kaiser and Howard Hughes.

Senator O'Conor (D.-Md.) asked whether the Martin company helped make the planes which carried the atomic bombs over Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Martin said that the company constructed the planes at its Omaha plant. They had to be fitted with special bomb-bay doors, he said, and added: "I am sure I can say now that we had thirty ships ready to carry atomic bombs" at the war's end.

TRUMAN SIGNS MONEY BILLS

JUL 1947

Foreign Relief Is Included in Appropriations.

Washington, July 30 (A. P.).—President Truman today signed a $1,658,902,197 appropriation bill carrying funds to implement his foreign-aid program. Almost all of the money is for expenditure abroad, the aggregate being $266,781,626 below the President's budget estimates.

For aid to Greece and Turkey the bill carries $400,000,000, while for relief of liberated European nations it provides $332,000,000, and for Army administration and relief in occupied areas $600,000,000.

Other allotments include: International Refugee Organization $71,073,900; liquidation of the lend-lease program, $500,000; surplus property care and handling overseas, $35,348,000; Office of Rent Control, $18,074,000; automobiles for disabled veterans, $5,000,000; strategic and critical materials stockpiling, $100,000,000, plus $75,000,000 in contractual authority; wage and hour division of the Labor Department, $500,000, and War Agency Liquidation, $175,000.

The Agriculture Department's $613,146,826 appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1948 also was signed today. The sum is $192,094,782 below the President's budget requests. Major items include $65,000,000 for the Federal school lunch program, $265,000,000 for soil conservation payments to farmers, and $5,000,000 for the Rural Electrification Administration, in addition to $225,000,000 in loan authorizations.

President Truman also signed a $35,400,000 appropriation bill to finance a score of miscellaneous Government corporations during the current fiscal year.

Of the total $18,700,000 is for the Tennessee Valley Authority. Other large beneficiaries are the National Housing Agency and the Institute of Inter-American Affairs. Besides making direct appropriations the bill limits the amount of operating revenues that many other agencies may use for administrative expenses.

WORLD FACING CRISIS, YOUTH GROUP IS TOLD

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30 — (AP) The president of the Youth for Christ International today told a meeting of the organization's leaders that either the world will go back to God in the next 12 months or "we are all going to Hell."

The speaker, Dr. Torrey Johnson of Chicago, added:

"The world is facing its greatest crisis and the next 12 months will tell the story."

Dr. Johnson, recently returned from a visit to Germany, said every nation and every person constituted a challenge and a fighting front for the gospel.

"Young people must be prepared to live and fight a spiritual warfare for Christ," he said.

Eisenhower Sees Plane Tests

WICHITA, Kan., July 30 (AP).—Flight tests of the new Boeing XL-15 liaison airplane, developed for the Army Ground Forces, began this week and included a demonstration before the Army's Chief of Staff, General of the Army Dwight Eisenhower, at Fort Riley, Kansas, Monday, the Boeing Airplane Company announced today. The plane will be delivered to the Army Air Forces for performance tests next month prior to delivery to the Ground Forces for service tests. A second XL-15 also is scheduled for August delivery to the A. A. F., and Boeing holds an A. A. F. contract for construction of a service test quantity of ten similar planes, to be known as YL-15s.

Douglas Chandler Gets Life Term for Treason

BOSTON, July 30. — (AP) Douglas Chandler, 58, Chicago-born writer, today was sentenced to life imprisonment and fined $10,000 for treason after he defiantly told the court he had not changed a bit from the opinions he spouted for the Nazis over the German radio during the war.

Brushing aside his counsel's plea that he was insane, Chandler personally addressed the court just before Federal Judge Francis J. W. Ford imposed sentence.

Shows No Emotion

Standing erect, Chandler showed no emotion as he heard the sentence except to swallow noticeably. Chief Defense Council Claude B. Cross immediately filed a motion for a stay of execution of sentence and it was taken under advisement.

Judge Ford, a Harvard classmate of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, said he was taking into consideration the government's stress on the importance of propaganda as a weapon of war and asserted he was satisfied the sentence would serve as a "deterrent to others who might be inclined to commit a crime of a similar nature."

Oscar R. Ewing, special government prosecutor, had demanded the death penalty with the assertion anything less would "encourage the commission of similar crimes in the future."

While conceding he did not know the effect of Chandler's broadcasts over the German radio under the pseudonym of "Paul Revere," Ewing declared that if death were not decreed in this case then "we should erase the death sentence from our treason statutes."

Chandler shifted uneasily in a chair during Ewing's arguments but later seemed to adopt a more defiant attitude.

Given an opportunity to speak, Chandler rose slowly, fished eye glasses from a pocket of his neatly-pressed suit and at the very outset denounced his court-appointed counsel by implication for his "censorship and editing" of his statement.

Asserting he was convicted "because of my beliefs," Chandler said in a soft voice with a tinge of a British accent:

"I thought before the trial and recommended to my counsel that I should take the stand to establish the truth of my beliefs, particularly as to the danger to my country from the conspiracy of world Jewry.

"My counsel thought me insane because of those beliefs and have defended me on that ground.

"I am, of course, not insane, But I was convinced by my counsel that I would not be regarded as a prophet in my own country, and I have permitted them, therefore, to defend me on the grounds chosen by them."

Chandler, declaring he wanted to tell the court today his beliefs but was dissuaded by his counsel, said:

"It is the tragedy of my life, not that I am here facing punishment, but that the warnings which I gave my country were not and are not yet accepted. Time, however, will vindicate me."

Dared to Speak

Asserting he was not asking for clemency, Chandler said, "if I must die because I dared to speak the truth as I see it, then let me die. If I die for my beliefs, they will not die with me."

Chandler's pretty 22-year-old daughter, Laurette, was in the courtroom in the same seat she occupied during his month-long trial. She showed no emotion.

Before imposing sentence, Judge Ford denounced Chandler as a man who knew well what he was doing when he served as a tool of the Nazi propaganda office in trying to undermine the American war effort and create doubt, loneliness and suspicion in the minds of the troops.

Branding Chandler as a "snob" who had been a failure in everything and "lived on the bounty of his first wife" for years after going to Europe in 1932, Judge Ford said:

"He was quite willing to associate with people that he would call interesting people—people of his own type—and was willing to adopt any ideology to gain a place with them."

Special Prosecutor Ewing told the court that Chandler undoubtedly harbored ideas of becoming possibly a fuehrer in this country if Germany won the war and Judge Ford agreed that the defendant had visualized a high place for himself with a Nazi victory.

Describing Chandler's crime as "like that of one who stabs his mother," Ewing said it was the judgment of Attorney General Tom Clark and himself that "the only penalty which will prevent the commission of similar offenses in the future is the death penalty."

INDONESIA HEARING BY UN IS ORDERED

JUL 1947

Lange Rules for Immediate Action by Security Council.

LAKE SUCCESS, July 30—(AP)—Dr. Oscar Lange of Poland, president of the United Nations Security Council, tonight ordered an immediate hearing on the Indonesian question which was laid before the council this afternoon by Australia and India.

Lang put the case on the council's provisional agenda for tomorrow afternoon's meeting, previously scheduled on the Balkan question. The council itself will decide which issue gets priority.

Night Session Looms

UN officials said they were prepared to schedule the council's first night session tomorrow night to take up either of the issues, if the council decides this is desirable.

The Australian and Indian delegations, acting almost simultaneously, told the council the strife between Dutch and Indonesian forces threatened world peace but a Dutch spokesman in Washington said the UN had no jurisdiction.

Lange declared the case would be treated "as a matter of urgency" which would permit action without the normal three-day delay. Besides the Indonesian and Balkans cases, the council is committed to take up Egypt's complaint against Britain next Tuesday.

The Indian delegation urgently summoned V. K. Krishna Menon, former delegate to the General Assembly, from London as a special representative to present India's case.

The Netherlands was expected to be represented by Dr. Eelca Van Kleffens, former member of the Security Council, who is now ambassador to Washington. Van Kleffens said in Washington, however, that he was not sure whether he would be asked to serve.

He told a news conference that the Indonesian question was outside the scope of the United Nations, since in his opinion, Indonesia is not a sovereign country.

Australian Delegate Col. W. R. Hodgson, who filed the Australian complaint with Lange in Manhattan at the same time an assistant brought a copy to UN headquarters, requested a special meeting of the council to act on the Indonesian problem.

"The Australian government," Hodgson said, "considers that these hostilities constitute a breach of the peace under article 39 (of the UN charter) and urges that the council take immediate action to restore international peace and security.

"In view of the urgent circumstances I am instructed to request you to call immediately a meeting of the Security Council for the consideration of this communication."

Appeals for Speed

The Indian complaint, submitted by Eamarendranath Sen, Indian liaison officer, did not specifically request a special council meeting but appealed for all possible speed.

"In view of the urgency of the matter," the Indian letter said, "the council has been requested to take it up for consideration as soon as possible."

Australia recommended that the council, as a provisional measure, call on the Netherlands and Indonesian government "to cease hostilities forthwith and commence arbitration" in accordance with the agreement signed by the two governments last March 25.

It was disclosed in Canberra by J. B. Chifley, Australian Prime Minister, that he had acted after consultations with the United States, Britain and India in an effort to bring about a negotiated solution.

Dutch Official Amazed

In The Hague, a Netherlands Foreign Office spokesman expressed regret that the question was being brought before the United Nations. He said he was amazed that the Australian action was taken under Chapter VII of the United Nations Charter which refers to "aggressive actions from one state against another." The Indians brought their complains under Chapter VI on the peaceful settlement of disputes.

The Australian brief is the first to be filed under Chapter VII which provides for enforcement measures ranging from economic sanctions to the use of military force.

REDS TO USE VETO TO KEEP 3 FROM UN MEMBERSHIP

LAKE SUCCESS, July 30—(AP) Russia said today she would use the big power veto again to blackball United Nations membership applications from Ireland, Portugal and Trans-Jordan.

Soviet Deputy Delegate Alexei N. Krasilnikov calmly told the Security Council's Membership committee that none of the three had diplomatic relations with Moscow and therefore could not qualify.

Block Move Starts

Krasilnikov then moved to block consideration of applications from Austria, Italy, Romania and Hungary on the grounds that the peace treaties had not been ratified. This step drew an immediate objection from the United States, which insisted on full discussion leading to a subsequent vote.

All the major powers except Russia have ratified the treaties with Italy, Hungary and Romania. The Austrian treaty has not been written yet because of differences in the Big Four on German assets in Austria.

Russia already has cast the veto 11 times in the UN's short history, three of the earlier ones being on the original applications by Ireland, Portugal and Trans-Jordan and the latest coming yesterday on the American proposal for a Balkan border watch.

The United States, Britain, China, Belgium, Syria, France, Brazil and Colombia each said they would support the trio before Russia served the notice of another blackball. Australia was absent from the meeting and the 11th member, Poland, had no instructions on Ireland and Trans-Jordan, but joined Russia in opposing Portugal.

The actual veto would come in the council next month when the committee submits the report on all applicants.

The other countries being considered are Albania and Outer Mongolia, opposed last year by a majority of the committee, and Yemen, which apparently will be admitted.

China Hits Request

China spoke against the Outer Mongolian request today and accused Russia of sponsoring "a second front" against the Chinese government through Outer Mongolia's invasion of Sinkiang.

Declaring that "all statements made by the Soviet delegate are Outer Mongolian lies," China's Dr. Shuhsi Hsu said tersely:

"The Soviet delegate would have demonstrated a better insight into the political situation in the Far East if he had come with the statement that Outer Mongolia invaded Sinkiang as a diversion for the rebels in northeast China (Manchuria) and as a second front against the Chinese government."

The committee will decide next Friday on the Soviet demand to table Austria and the former Axis countries.

The United States position, learned from a highly reliable source, was understood to be this:

The United States will plump for the immediate admission of Austria and Italy, contending that legal difficulties should not stand in the way. In turn the American delegation will "strongly question" the eligibility of Soviet satellites Hungary and Romania. In this discussion there are indications that the United States will initiate a blunt discussion of the type of government now prevailing in those two countries.

Will Veto 3 U.N. Applications, Russ Say

Lake Success, July 30 (AP)—Russia served notice today that it would veto Ireland, Portugal and Trans-Jordan again when the United Nations membership applications of those three nations go to a formal vote in the Security Council.

The Council test will come in August and the repeated blackballs would boost the Soviet veto total to fourteen. Late yesterday the Russians vetoed the American proposals for a Balkan investigating commission.

Alexei Krasilnikov, deputy Soviet delegate, laid down Moscow's position after China accused Russia of sponsoring "a second front" against the Chinese Government through Outer Mongolia's invasion of Sinkiang.

U.S. Objects

Krasilnikov also formally moved o block consideration of applications from Austria, Italy, Hungary and Romania on the grounds that the peace treaties had not been ratified. The Austrian treaty has not been drafted but pacts with the other three have been ratified by all the big powers except Russia.

The United States immediately objected and said it wanted full-scale discussions now. A highly placed source indicated that the Americans would plump for the admission of Austria and Italy this year regardless of treaty delays, but would "strongly question" Hungary and Romania, both regarded as Soviet satellites.

Addressing the United Nations membership committee in opposition to Outer Mongolia's application for membership, strongly supported by Russia, Dr. Shushi Hsu said:

"The Soviet delegate would have demonstrated a better insight into the political situation in the Far East if he had come with the statement that Outer Mongolia invaded Sinkiang as a diversion for the rebels in northeast China (Manchuria) and as a second front against the Chinese Government."

Charge "Unfounded"

Replying to Soviet charges that China invaded Outer Mongolia to divert world attention to her northern border, Hsu said common sense would show such a charge was "unfounded."

"Just think of the struggle the Chinese Government is having with the rebels in northeast China, or Manchuria, as it is called abroad. China simply could not afford to pick a quarrel with Outer Mongolia at a time the rebels in northeast China had launched an attack in an attempt to cut Changchun from Mukden."

Dr. Hsu declared that Outer Mongolia's application, rejected last year by majority vote, should be turned down again, because "Outer Mongolia has shown herself to be not peace-loving by invading Chinese territory, by attacking Chinese armed forces and by continuing her attacks even after the Chinese Government initiated discussions to have the case settled peacefully."

U.S. Takes Steps To Meet Soviet Balkan Veto

Lake Success, July 30 (AP)—The United States moved swiftly today to cope with the stalemated Balkan problem following Russia's veto of an American proposal for United Nations action to settle the dispute between Greece and her northern neighbors.

Herschel V. Johnson, United States deputy delegate on the Security Council, hurried to Washington for a series of conferences with Secretary of State George C. Marshall and other State Department officials.

Johnson was scheduled to meet first with Under Secretary of State Robert A. Lovett and others at noon and to begin drafting two possible alternatives for again tackling the Balkan problem within the United Nations.

These proposals would then be submitted to Marshall.

Council Session Off

Before leaving for the Washington talks Johnson obtained a postponement of a Security Council session scheduled for today.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was to have given at that time his reasons for vetoing the Unied States proposal for an eleven-nation border commission designed to bring peace to the Balkans. He was also to have explained a Russian proposal on the Balkans.

The Council is now scheduled to meet tomorrow to hear Gromyko, whose proposal calls for the evacuation of all foreign troops from Greece and the establishment of a commission to supervise foreign aid to Greece.

"Very Grave Situation"

Immediately after Gromyko had vetoed the American plan, which had grown out of a United Nations inquiry group's report that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania were primarily responsible for Greek guerrilla warfare, Johnson declared that Russia had "created a very grave situation."

He asked for an immediate adjournment of the Council to allow delegates to consult their governments. Later he announced he would leave this morning for conferences in Washington to decide on the next step by the United States.

Neither Johnson nor any member of the American delegation here would give a hint as to what action was contemplated, but there were these possibilities within the framework of the United Nations:

1. The United States could charge Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania with a breach of the peace, a threat to the peace or an act of aggression. Under the United Nations Charter the Security Council could then institute sanctions or use military force, if necessary. But this course would probably just invite another Russian veto.

2. The United States, under Article 106 of the Charter, could call for consultation among the five major powers with a view to joint action to maintain international peace and security. Unable to use the veto here, all Russia could do would be to turn down the invitation. The other powers, however, could meet and decide on setting up a commission to stand inside and watch over the Greek borders.

3. A third course would be for the United States, Britain or Greece to bring the Balkan case before the General Assembly, where there is no veto. Although the Assembly could take no action it could establish a border commission and recommend that the countries involved co-operate. But the Balkan countries coud refuse to co-operate

If all courses of action within the United Nations failed, some delegates believed that a commission outside the world organization would be established.

The possibility that Greece might eventually request such action has already led to informal talks in Washington.

Although Britain was understood to be interested in the idea more than two weeks ago, American officials were said to have brushed it aside, believing the Soviet Union would abstain from voting yesterday.

Those familiar with the Washington talks believed that they might be reopened as a "realistic view" of the situation. Several nations might be invited by Greece to take part in keeping an eye on the border warfare. But such a commission could be only temporary, with a view to further discussion of the issue in the United Nations.

Gave British Minor Role: Halsey

New York, July 30 (AP)—Fleet Admiral William F. Halsey says that British naval units were given unimportant objectives in the final phase of the Pacific war to prevent any postwar claim that Britain had taken part in the climactic blow against the Japanese fleet.

In the eighth of a series of articles in the Saturday Evening Post, out today, the former commander of the mid-Pacific striking force recalled American carrier strikes in July, 1945, against the Jap naval base at Kure after which the enemy fleet "had ceased to exist."

Attack Entirely American

"At Mick Carney's (Rear Admiral Robert B. Carney, Halsey's chief of staff) insistence, I assigned the British an alternate target, Osaka, which also offered warships, but none of prime importance," said Halsey.

"Mick's argument was that although this division of forces violated the principle of concentration and superiority, it was imperative to forestall a possible postwar claim by Britain that she had delivered even a part of the final blow that demolished the Japanese fleet.

"In America's Best Interests"

"I hate to admit a political factor into a military equation—but Mick forced me to recognize that an exclusively American attack was in America's best interests."

Settling Of 30,000 Jews In Surinam Approved

New York, July 30 (AP)—Settlement of 30,000 homeless European Jews in Surinam (Dutch Guiana) has been approved by the Surinam Legislative Council and the Netherlands Parliament, the Freeland League for Jewish Territorial Colonization announced today.

LONDON, JULY 30-(AP)-FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN SAID TODAY BRITAIN HAD PROHIBITED THE SUPPLYING OF WAR MATERIALS TO THE NETHERLANDS EAST INDIES FROM BRITISH TERRITORIES IN THE ORIENT AND THAT NONE "WILL BE PERMITTED FROM THIS COUNTRY."

HE MADE THE STATEMENT IN ANSWER TO QUESTIONS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS AFTER THE COMMUNIST NEWSPAPER DAILY WORKER CHARGED BRITISH-MADE WAR SUPPLIES, INCLUDING BREN GUNS AND HELMETS, WERE BEING LOADED ON THE DUTCH SHIP SAPAROEA AT SOUTHAMPTON.

JUL 1947

LONDON, JULY 29-(AP)-THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN, IN AN EDITORIAL ON RECENT IMPORT RESTRICTIONS BY ARGENTINE AND MEXICO, SAID TODAY SUCH A TREND BY LATIN AMERICAN NATIONS, A "RAPID AND RATHER SURPRISING EXTENSION OF THE DOLLAR CRISIS," IS GOING TO MAKE IT HARDER FOR BRITAIN TO LIVE.

AFTER AN EXPLANATION OF HOW LATIN AMERICA, SAVED FROM WAR DEVASTATION, WAS NEVERTHELESS IN GREAT NEED OF CAPITAL GOODS, THE PAPER STATED THOSE COUNTRIES HAVE "AMBITIOUS SCHEMES FOR INDUSTRIALV AND, WITH THE IDEA THAT TO IMPORT NON ESSENTIAL GOODS IS TO SQUANDER THEIR MONETARY RESERVES, HAVE NOW RESORTED TO A SYSTEM OF IMPORT PERMITS.

JUL 1947

THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN FOUND BRITAIN WAS PARTLY TO BLAME FOR THIS POSITION, AND POINTED OUT THAT ARGENTINA HAD INCREASED HER IMPORTS FROM BRITAIN BY 40 PERCENT, BUT RAISED HER PURCHASES FROM UNITED STATES THREE AND A HALF TIMES OVER 1946, THOSE FROM BELGIUM EIGHT TIMES, AND HAD ITALY JUMPING FROM NIL TO FOURTH LARGEST SUPPLIER OF ARGENTINA'S IMPORTS.

BRITAIN, THE PAPER SAID, "CANNOT DO ALL SHE NEEDS TO DO WITHOUT INCREASED AMERICAN AID TO THE WORLD. BUT THERE IS STILL MORE THAT WE MUST DO OURSELVES."

THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN EXPRESSED THE OPINION THAT THE FAILURE OF BRITISH RECOVERY HAS HELPED TO CREATE THE DOLLAR-SHORTAGE IN LATIN AMERICA. "AND WE CANNOT LOOK ONLY TO THE UNITED STATES TO PUT IT RIGHT. THERE ARE STILL MANY GOODS OF WHICH WE COULD SELL MORE IF WE COULD PRODUCE MORE."

THE PAPER POINTED OUT THAT LATIN AMERICAN IMPORT RESTRICTIONS ARE THE RESULT OF SPENDING OF WAR SAVINGS, AND SAID THE SITUATION WAS AGGRAVATED BECAUSE, DUE TO EUROPE'S LACK OF PRODUCTION, LATINAMERICAN COUNTRIES HAD TO PAY HIGH PRICES FOR UNITED STATES GOODS.

LONDON, JULY 29-(AP)-CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER HUGH DALTON SAID TONIGHT BRITAIN'S RATE OF USE OF SCARCE DOLLARS HAD NOT CHANGED APPRECIABLY SINCE THE FREE CONVERTIBILITY OF STERLING, UNDER TERMS OF THE AMERICAN LOAN, CAME INTO EFFECT JULY 15.

"THERE HAS BEEN NO SUBSTANTIAL CHANGE IN THE DRAIN ON OUR DOLLAR RESERVES IN THE FORTNIGHT SINCE JULY 15, COMPARED WITH THE IMMEDIATELY PRECEDING PERIOD," DALTON SAID IN A WRITTEN REPLY TO A PARLIAMENTARY QUESTION.

JUL

THE TREASURY, MEANWHILE, DISCLOSED THAT DRAFTS OF STANDARD AGREEMENTS FOR MAKING STERLING FREELY CONVERTIBLE INTO ANY OF THE WORLD'S CURRENCIES HAVE NOW COME TO HAND OF THE 14 COUNTRIES WITH WHOM BRITAIN HAD TO REACHED FINAL AGREEMENTS BY THE JULY 15 DEADLINE.

RUSSIA, RUMANIA, BULGARIA, TURKEY, IRAN, YUGOSLAVIA, GREECE, HUNGARY AND AUSTRIA HAVE RECEIVED THE DRAFTS AND ARRANGEMENTS SHOULD BE COMPLETED "FAIRLY COMFORTABLY" BY SEPT. 15, WITHIN THE TWO MONTHS EXTENSION GRANTED BY THE UNITED STATES FOR THE 14 COUNTRIES, A SPOKESMAN SAID.

DIRECT EXCHANGES ALREADY ARE TAKING PLACE WITH FRANCE, DENMARK AND INDIA, WHICH, WITH PARAGUAY AND CHINA, MAKE UP THE FIVE REMAINING STATES WITH WHICH CONVERTIBILITY STILL IS TO BE ARRANGED, THE SPOKESMAN ADDED.

NIGHT LEAD ATTLEE
BY JACK SMITH

LONDON, JULY 30-(AP)-INFORMED SOCIALIST SOURCES SAID PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE TOLD LABOR LEGISLATORS TODAY BRITAIN WILL SLASH HER ARMED FORCES IN GERMANY, COMPLETELY WITHDRAW TROOPS FROM ITALY AND GREECE, SCALE DOWN HER STANDARD OF LIVING AND CALL FOR LONGER WORKING HOURS IN KEY INDUSTRIES IN A "DO OR DIE" BID TO SAVE THE NATION'S FALTERING ECONOMY. -A00-

THE DISCLOSURES, ENVISAGING A "BELT TIGHTENING" IN A NATION ALREADY PLAGUED BY SHORTAGES, CAME IN A CLOSED "CRISIS" MEETING OF LABOR MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT IN WHICH ATTLEE SQUELCHED HIS CRITICS AND WON WHAT AMOUNTED TO A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE FOR HIS GOVERNMENT.

ACTING IN A CRISIS ATMOSPHERE, THE PRIME MINISTER PREPARED TO BROADCAST TO THE NATION ON AUG. 10 AT 9 P.M., LOCAL TIME. A CROWD OF HUNDREDS GATHERED OUTSIDE HIS OFFICE AT NO.10 DOWNING STREET AND PRICES TUMBLED AGAIN IN A WAVE OF SELLING IN THE STOCK EXCHANGE. NEWSPAPERS WARNED THAT THE SITUATION, COMPOUNDED OF LOW PRODUCTION AND FAST EXPENDITURE OF BRITAIN'S U.S.DOLLAR LOAN EXPECTED TO RUN OUT ABOUT CHRISTMAS, WOULD CAUSE SUFFERING THROUGHOUT THE NATION. (THE U.S.TREASUR SAID BRITAIN HAD ABOUT $1,000,000,000 OF HER $3,750,000,000 LOAN LEFT).

A COMMUNIQUE ISSUED AFTER THE PARTY MEETING SAID ATTLEE HAD OUTLINED "THE BROAD LINES" OF HIS PLANS AND THAT ALL LABOR MP'S PRESENT HAD EXPRESSED "COMPLETE SATISFACTION" WITH HIS STATEMENT.

PREVIOUSLY UNDER FIRE IN THE PRESS ON CHARGES OF "DAWDLING", AND URGED BY THE SOCIALIST DAILY MIRROR TO RESIGN, ATTLEE LEFT THE LEGISLATORS FOR AN IMMEDIATE MEETING WITH MINE UNION LEADERS WHERE HE ASKED THE MINERS TO WORK AN EXTRA HOUR EACH DAY OF THEIR FIVE DAY WEEK AT TIME AND A HALF PAY IN ORDER TO BOOST THE COAL PILE-KEY TO THE RECOVERY DRIVE.

AN INFORMED SOURCE SAID ATTLEE IN HIS STATEMENT HAD DECLARED BRITISH OCCUPATION FORCES OF 200,000 TO 300,000 MEN IN GERMANY WOULD BE REDUCED QUICKLY AND CONSIDERABLY, AND THAT BRITISH TROOPS WILL BE WITHDRAWN FROM GREECE AND ITALY ALMOST IMMEDIATELY.

A14

POLITICANS AND POLITICAL WRITERS SAID ATTLEE'S PERSONAL PRESTIGE SOARED WITHIN THE LABOR PARTY AFTER THE CAUCUS, AT WHICH ACCORDING TO WELL-INFORMED SOURCES, HE OUTLINED THESE PLANS FOR CLOSING THE GAP BETWEEN BRITAIN'S EXPORTS AND IMPORTS:

1. A LARGE VOLUME OF INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION, HITHERTO CHANNELLED INTO THE DOMESTIC MARKET, WILL HEREAFTER BE SOLD EXCLUSIVELY IN OTHER COUNTRIES.

2. IMPORTS WILL BE REDUCED DRASTICALLY. AMERICAN MOVIES AND TOBACCO WILL BE ESPECIALLY AFFECTED.

3. TO HELP IN DRIVING MANPOWER FROM NON-ESSENTIAL TO ESSENTIAL INDUSTRIES, NEARLY ALL OF WHICH ARE UNDER-MANNED, THE GOVERNMENT WILL "STARVE" THE NON-ESSENTIAL PLANTS OF RAW MATERIALS AND POWER.

4. BRITAIN WILL SLASH HER DOLLAR EXPENDITURES IN OCCUPIED GERMANY.

5. WORKERS IN VIRTUALLY ALL ESSENTIAL INDUSTRIES WILL BE ASKED TO WORK LONGER HOURS.

LONGER WORK SCHEDULES PRESUMABLY COULD NOT BE PUT INTO FORCE IN OTHER INDUSTRIES UNTIL MINERS BEGIN WORKING LONGER TO PROVIDE MORE FUEL.

ATTLEE CONFERRED WITH THE MINE UNION LEADERS FOR THREE HOURS.

A STATEMENT ISSUED AFTER THE MEETING SAID "THERE WAS A FULL AND FRANK DISCUSSION OF POSSIBLE WAYS OF INCREASING THE OUTPUT OF COAL IN ORDER TO MEET THE NEEDS OF THE COUNTRY IN THE PRESENT ECONOMIC SITUATION."

MINE LEADERS PREVIOUSLY HAD INDICATED THAT THEY WOULD COOPERATE.

INFORMED SOURCES SAID ATTLEE WILL ANNOUNCE FULL DETAILS OF HIS PLANS IN OPENING A DEBATE ON THE ECONOMIC SITUATION IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS NEXT WEDNESDAY.

HIS PRECISE PLANS FOR BRITISH TROOPS OVERSEAS REMAINED A SECRET.

BRITAIN'S FORCES IN GREECE TOTAL ABOUT 5,000 HER STRENGTH IN ITALY HAS NOT BEEN DISCLOSED.

WAR MINISTER F.J.BELLENGER TOLD THE COMMONS TONIGHT "SCARE HEADLINES" THAT FIELD MARSHALL LORD MONTGOMERY, CHIEF OF THE IMPERIAL GENERAL STAFF, HAD BEEN ORDERED HOME FROM A FAR EASTERN TOUR TO MAKE DRASTIC CUTS IN THE ARMY WERE NOT TRUE.

"FIELD MARSHALL MONTGOMERY IS COMING HOME ON HIS OWN INITIATIVE," HE SAID.

AN AUTHORITATIVE SOURCE SAID YESTERDAY MONTGOMERY WAS COMING BACK OF HIS OWN VOLITION AND WOULD CONSIDER CUTS IN THE ARMED FORCES.

BY GLENN WILLIAMS

LONDON, JULY 30-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE, THREATENED WITH A TEST OF HIS POLITICAL STRENGTH AT A TIME OF NATIONAL STRESS, WAS EXPECTED TO DISCLOSE HIS PLANS FOR MEETING BRITAIN'S LOOMING ECONOMIC CRISIS AT A CAUCUS OF HIS LABOR PARTY'S MEMBERS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS TODAY.

IMMEDIATELY AFRER THAT SESSION ATTLEE WAS SLATED TO MEET MINE UNION LEADERS TO DISCUSS METHODS OF HIKING LAGGING COAL PRODUCTION--THE HARD CORE OF THE NATION'S PRODUCTION DIFFICULTIES.

THE DAILY MIRROR--WHICH USUALLY SUPPORTS THE LABOR GOVERNMENT--SAID ATTLEE MIGHT"SHIRK THE PROBLEM" OF LEADERSHIP IN THE MOUNTING CRISIS AND CALLED UPON LABORITE MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT TO "REFORM AND REFRESH THE GOVERNMENT."

TWO DAYS PREVIOUSLY THE MIRROR HAD SUGGESTED THAT ATTLEE RESIGN.

IT WAS EXPECTED ATTLEE WOULD RECEIVE SUPPORT AT THE PARTY CAUCUS FROM LEADING FIGURES OF HIS GOVERNMENT, INCLUDING CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER HUGH DALTON AND PERHAPS DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER HERBERT MORRISON.

THE MEETING WAS SECRET, BUT SEVERAL LONDON PAPERS EDITORIALLY URGED ATTLEE TO TELL THE PUBLIC EVERYTHING HE TOLD THE PARTY MEMBERS.

NEWSPAPER SPECULATION ON WHAT HE WOULD SAY VARIED WIDELY. SO DID

ESTIMATES OF THE STRENGTH OF CRITICISM WITHIN HIS OWN PARTY.

THE LABOR PARTY ORGAN, THE DAILY HERALD, FORECAST HE WOULD LEAVE "NO DOUBT AS TO THE THOROUGHNESS OF THE GOVERNMENT'S INTENTIONS," AND PREDICTED IMPORT CUTS THAT "WILL AFFECT THE LIVES OF ALL" TO SAVE THE SWIFTLY DWINDLING PILE OF BORROWED DOLLARS ON WHICH THE NATION HAS BEEN LIVING FOR THE PAST YEAR.

THE HERALD DECLARED THE GOVERNMENT WAS "FIRMLY REFUSING TO GIVE WAY TO PANIC MEASURES URGED BY ITS OPPONENTS OR ADVOCATED BY ITS LESS STABLE SUPPORTERS", BUT SAID THERE WAS REASONABLE GROUND TO EXPECT A "FURTHER PRUNING" OF THE ARMED FORCES TO SAVE INDUSTRIAL MANPOWER AND DOLLARS--A COURSE REPEATEDLY URGED BY LEFTIST REBELS WITHIN THE LABOR PARTY.

THE DAILY MAIL PREDICTED ATTLEE MIGHT ACCEDE TO A "COMPLETE REVERSAL" OF CABINET POLICY BY PICKING AN INNTER CRISIS CABINET COMPOSED OF HIMSELF, DALTON, MORRISON, FOREIGN SECRETARY ERNEST BEVIN AND BOARD OF TRADE PRESIDENT SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS.

"APPARENTLY THIS IS THE ONLY CONCESSION THAT ATTLEE IS PREPARED TO MAKE TO THE CRITICS OF HIS LEADERSHIP WITHIN THE LABOR PARTY," THE MAIL SAID IN A STORY HEADLINED "ATTLEE WILL DEFY LABOR CRITICS TODAY."

JUL 1947

A36

THE MAIL SAID THERE ALSO HAD BEEN REVIVED DISCUSSION THAT BEVIN SHOULD TAKE "A MORE DIRECT AND ACTIVE CONTROL OF THE GOVERNMENT'S ECONOMIC AND INDUSTRIAL POLICY--NOT NECESSARILY AS PRIME MINISTER, ALTHOUGH SOME SOCIALISTS SAY FRANKLY THEY WOULD LIKE TO SEE THIS HAPPEN NOW."

THE MAIL CONDEMNED SUGGESTIONS THAT THE CABINET MIGHT DIP INTO BRITAIN'S GOLD RESERVES AS A STOPGAP, DECLARING IT "THE CRAZIEST GAMBLE EVER TAKEN WITH THE RESOURCES OF A GREAT NATION."

THE LOOMING CRISIS CONFRONTING BRITAIN IS BASED ON THESE FACTORS:

DOLLAR SHORTAGE--THE BORROWED AMERICAN DOLLARS WITH WHICH THE NATION HAS BEEN BUYING SUBSTANTIAL PORTIONS OF ITS MEAGER RATIONS WILL BE GONE AT ABOUT CHRISTMAS TIME AT THE PRESENT RATE OF EXPENDITURE. THERE WILL THEN BE THREE ALTERNATIVES: BORROW MORE DOLLARS, CUT RATIONS SHARPLY, OR BOOST EXPORT PRODUCTION ENOUGH TO TAKE UP THE ANNUAL DEFICIT OF ABOUT TWO BILLION DOLLARS.

COAL SHORTAGE--PRODUCTION CURRENTLY IS RUNNING ABOUT 696,000,000 TONS ANNUALLY, WHICH IS TOO LITTLE TO KEEP INDUSTRIES GOING AND REBUILD STOCKPILES DEPLETED LAST WINTER.

MANPOWER SHORTAGE--THE NATION IS RUNNING ON FULL EMPLOYMENT OF ABOUT 20,000,000 WORKERS FOR THE FIRST TIME IN MODERN HISTORY, GIVING WORKERS A WIDE CHOICE OF JOBS. CONSEQUENTLY MANY OF THEM ARE RELUCTANT TO TAKE BACK-BREAKING JOBS IN COAL MINES, TEXTILE MILLS AND FOUNDRIES, PREFERRING WHITE COLLAR JOBS IN THE ENTERTAINMENT INDUSTRY AND ELSEWHERE.

INFLATION--NATIONAL INCOME IS RUNNING CONSIDERABLY HIGHER THAN THE VALUE OF AVAILABLE GOODS AND SERVICES, WHICH MANY ECONOMISTS BLAME FOR THE WORKERS' APPARENT UNWILLINGNESS TO WORK AT LEVELS DEMANDED BY GOVERNMENT LEADERS BECAUSE THERE IS NOTHING TO BUY WITH EXTRA EARNINGS.

ANXIETY OVER THE SITUATION CONTINUED TO BE REFLECTED IN THE STOCK MARKET, WHICH HAS FALLEN FOR EIGHT STRAIGHT DAYS, WITH THE SHARPEST FALLS MONDAY AND TUESDAY OF THIS WEEK TUMBLING THE TIMES FINANCIAL INDEX OF INDUSTRIAL ISSUE TO A YEAR'S LOW OF 124.3. ON JULY 18 THE INDEX STOOD AT 132.3.

THE FINANCIAL TIMES REPORTED THAT STOCK EXCHANGE OBSERVERS STILL WERE UNCERTAIN WHETHER THE DECLINE HAD BEEN CHECKED, DESPITE A SLIGHTLY HARDER TURN AT THE CLOSE YESTERDAY.

"IT IS MORTIFYING," SHERTOK SAID IN A STATEMENT, "TO THINK THAT SOME JEWS SHOULD HAVE BEEN SO DEPRAVED BY THE UNPRECEDENTED DISASTERS IN EUROPE AND THE HORRIBLE INIQUITIES IN PALESTINE AS TO BE CAPABLE OF SUCH VILENESS."

PORT-DE-BOUC, FRANCE, JULY 30-(AP)-PORT AND CONSULAR OFFICIALS LOOKED TO LONDON TODAY TO LEARN THE NEXT MOVE IN THE ODYSSEY OF SOME 4,500 JEWS WHO WERE TURNED BACK FROM PALESTINE AND REFUSED TO LAND IN FRANCE.

THE REFUGEES, INTERCEPTED BY THE BRITISH OFF PALESTINE JULY 18 AFTER A VOYAGE FROM SETE, FRANCE, WERE BROUGHT TO THIS TINY MEDITERRANEAN

PORT, 30 MILES WEST OF MARSEILLE, YESTERDAY ABOARD THE BRITISH TRANSPORTS OCEAN VIGOUR, EMPIRE RIVAL AND RUNNYMEDE PARK.

BRITISH OFFICIALS ON HAND FOR THE ARRIVAL OF THE VESSELS NOTED WHAT THEY TERMED A "COLLECTIVE VOTE" OF THE JEWS TO REMAIN ABOARD. THEY SAID THEY WOULD REPORT THE SITUATION TO LONDON.

FRENCH AUTHORITIES ALREADY HAD ASSERTED THAT THEY WOULD NOT FORCE ANY JEWS TO DISEMBARK, AND ONE RESPONSIBLE BRITISH OFFICIAL HERE DECLARED THAT USE OF VIOLENCE TO CLEAR THE SHIPS WAS UNTHINKABLE.

ALL THE PASSENGERS EXCEPT SIX PERSONS IN POOR HEALTH STEADFASTLY REMAINED ON THE THREE TRANSPORTS IN A SITDOWN STRIKE AGAINST LANDING. THESE SIX--A ROMANIAN JEW, HIS WIFE AND FOUR OTHER WOMEN--WENT ASHORE LAST NIGHT. ONE WOMAN, RECOVERING FROM PNEUMONIA, WAS BORNE ON A STRETCHER.

ALL THREE SHIPS WERE REPORTED DESPERATELY LOW ON FOOD SUPPLIES. THE BRITISH APPARENTLY HAD NOT PREPARED FOR AN EXTENDED STAY IN FRENCH WATERS NOR FOR ANY FURTHER VOYAGE WITH THE REFUGEES.

FRENCH CHARITIES PREPARED TO SEND STOCKS OF CANNED MILK, BREAD, NOODLES AND OTHER FOODS TO THE RUNNYMEDE PARK EARLY TODAY, SINCE HER PROVISIONS WERE SAID TO BE NEAR EXHAUSTION. THEY WERE EXPECTED TO SUPPLY THE OTHER TWO SHIPS BEFORE NOON.

FRENCH AUTHORITIES POLLED THE SHIP'S PASSENGERS SOON AFTER THE VESSELS DROPPED ANCHOR HERE AND REPORTED THAT A LARGE NUMBER HAD VOTED "NOT TO GO ASHORE ALIVE."

BRITISH OFFICIALS SAID THE POLL HAD BEEN COLLECTIVE AND CONTENDED THAT ONLY AN INDIVIDUAL VOTE WOULD HAVE BEEN TRULY REPRESENTATIVE. BUT WHEN THE FRENCH INDICATED THEY CONSIDERED THE RESULTS FINAL, THE BRITISH DID NOT PRESS THE POINT.

A13

A BRITISH SOURCE DISCLOSED LAST NIGHT THAT 15 AMERICAN MEMBERS OF THE CREW OF THE EXODUS 1947 HAD BEEN PUT AMONG THE REFUGEES BY MISTAKE. THEY STAYED ABOARD THE SHIPS.

A LAUNCH CRUISED AMONG THE THREE TRANSPORTS LATE YESTERDAY URGING THE REFUGEES NOT TO LAND. THE BRITISH SAID THE LAUNCH HAD BEEN SENT OUT BY HAGANAH, ARMED PALESTINE JEWISH GROUP COMMITTED TO ASSISTANCE OF UNAUTHORIZED IMMIGRATION INTO THE HOLY LAND. THE BRITISH INDICATED THEY PLANNED A LOCAL PROTEST. LATER FRENCH POLICE ARRESTED THOSE IN THE LAUNCH, VERIFIED THEIR IDENTITY PAPERS AND THEN FREED THEM.

"YPSYLANTI TOLD US WE WERE GOING TO HIT GREVENA AND TAKE IT WITHOUT FAIL," YOUNG PARDELOS SAID. "THERE WE WOULD EAT AND MAKE UP FOR WHAT WE HAD MISSED. HE SAID WE WERE 4,000 STRONG, WHILE THERE WERE ONLY 500 DEFENDERS AT GREVENA. WE WERE SUPPOSED TO FIND FOOD VEHICLES AND EVERYTHING AT GREVENA. YPSYLANTI SAID A NEW GOVERNMENT WOULD BE FORMED IN GREVENA AND A ROUTE OPENED TO ALBANIA.

"WE WERE GIVEN WHITE ARMBANDS THE NIGHT BEFORE THE ATTACK. OUR LEADERS SAID THAT WHEN WE ENTERED GREVENA WE WERE TO SHOOT EVERY PERSON NOT WEARING A WHITE ARMBAND."

THE GUERRILLAS NEVER PENETRATED GREVENA. ARTILLERY AND MACHINEGUN FIRE HELD THEM OFF UNTIL DAWN, WHEN GOVERNMENT PLANES BLASTED THEM WITH ROCKETS AND STRAFED THEM WITH HEAVY MACHINEGUN FIRE. BY AFTERNOON OF THAT DAY THE GUERRILLAS WERE FLEEING NORTHWARD ON A PERIMETER NINE MILES FROM GREVENA.

THE GUERRILLA PRISONERS INDICATED TO ME THAT MOST OF THE MEMBERS OF THE LEFTIST FORCE HAD BEEN FORCIBLY RECRUITED DURING THE PAST FEW MONTHS. THEY SAID THE MAJORITY OF THEM WOULD HAVE DESERTED IF THEY HAD THE OPPORTUNITY.

"THEY WATCHED US ALL THE TIME," PARDELOS SAID, "BUT THAT WAS NOT SO IMPORTANT. THEY ALWAYS MOVED IN TERRITORY WE KNEW NOTHING ABOUT. WE NEVER COULD BE SURE IN WHICH DIRECTION TO GO AND WHETHER WE WOULD RUN INTO A FRIENDLY VILLAGE. ALL WE COULD DO WAS WAIT. NANKING, JULY 30-(AP)-THE KUOMINTANG-CONTROLLED CENTRAL DAILY NEWS SAID TODAY THAT A MANCHURIAN OFFICIAL, URGING AMERICAN AID TO CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S GOVERNMENT, HAD TOLD LT.GEN.ALBERT C.WEDEMEYER THE UNITED STATES MUST "WATCH CLOSELY SOVIET AMBITIONS IN MANCHURIA."

THE NEWSPAPER SAID MO TEH-HUI, STATE COUNCILLOR FROM MANCHURIA, MADE THE STATEMENT IN AN INTERVIEW WITH WEDEMEYER, HERE ON A FACT-FINDING MISSION FOR PRESIDENT TRUMAN WHICH MAY DETERMINE U.S. POLICY TOWARD CHINA.

MO WAS QUOTED AS SAYING THE UNITED STATES MUST GIVE THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT ACTIVE ASSISTANCE IN THE WAR AGAINST CHINESE REDS IN ORDER THAT "WORLD PEACE NOT BE ONLY A CASTLE IN THE AIR." HE ADDED THAT THE GOVERNMENT WOULD NEVER SURRENDER MANCHURIA AND THAT THERE WAS "NOT THE SLIGHTEST SENTIMENT AMONG MANCHURIAN PEOPLE FOR SEPARATION FROM CHINA."

MEANWHILE, THE GOVERNMENT REAFFIRMED IN A LETTER TO AMERICAN AMBASSADOR JOHN LEIGHTON STUART ITS POLICY OF NON-DISCRIMINATION AGAINST FOREIGN INTERESTS IN CHINA.

STUART HAD SENT A QUESTIONNAIRE REQUESTING CLARIFICATION OF CHINA'S INDUSTRIAL POLICY TOWARD FOREIGN CAPITAL AS CONTAINED IN PREMIER CHANG CHUN'S ECONOMIC REFORM PLAN. IN A WRITTEN REPLY, THE GOVERNMENT SAID AMERICAN INVESTMENTS WERE DESIRED IN BOTH GOVERNMENT AND PRIVATE INDUSTRIES--"AT LEAST THOSE NOT OF A MONOPOLIST NATURE."

THE GOVERNMENT SAID AMERICAN FIRMS AND INDIVIDUALS MIGHT INVEST IN SUCH BRANCHES OF CHINESE INDUSTRY AS THE MANUFACTURE OF DYNAMOS, AIRPLANES, MACHINE TOOLS AND STEAMSHIPS. THE ONLY EXCEPTION, IT SAID, WOULD BE THOSE INDUSTRIES "RESERVED BY LAW FOR EXCLUSIVE CHINESE CAPITAL."

THE STATEMENT SAID GOVERNMENT MONOPOLIES WERE LIMITED TO IMPORTANT RAILWAYS, ARMAMENT INDUSTRIES AND MINES ESSENTIAL TO NATIONAL DEFENSE. IT ADDED THAT DESPITE FOREIGN EXCHANGE CONTROLS, THE GOVERNMENT WOULD HELP FOREIGNERS TO SEND AT LEAST PART OF THEIR PROFITS TO THEIR NATIVE COUNTRIES.

THE WAR FRONTS WERE QUIET, BUT THE WAR OF WORDS WENT ON. INFORMATION

SECOND LEAD PLANE (400)

BATAVIA, JAVA, JULY 30-(AP)-THE DUTCH ARMY SAID TODAY IT WOULD BE A CAUSE OF "GREAT REGRET" TO THE NETHERLANDS GOVERNMENT SHOULD IT DEVELOP THAT A PLANE REPORTED DOWNED BY DUTCH FIGHTERS NEAR JOGJAKARTA WAS INDEED AN UNARMED TRANSPORT CARRYING MEDICAL SUPPLIES FROM INDIA.

SHOOTING DOWN OF THE PLANE AS IT CAME IN FOR A LANDING WAS ANNOUNCED YESTERDAY BY THE INDONESIAN GOVERNMENT RADIO AT JOGJAKARTA, WHICH SAID NINE PERSONS WERE KILLED IN THE CRASH.

COMMENTING UPON THE INDONESIAN BROADCAST, AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT FROM NETHERLANDS ARMY HEADQUARTERS SAID THAT TWO DUTCH FIGHTER PILOTS YESTERDAY HAD REPORTED INTERCEPTING A PLANE WHICH THEY BELIEVED TO BE A FORMER JAPANESE "BETTY BOMBER" AND SEEING THE PLANE CRASH NEAR JOGJAKARTA AFTER WARNING BURSTS FROM THEIR GUNS.

THE STATEMENT DECLARED, HOWEVER, THAT THE IDENTITY OF THE PLANE WAS "NOT CLEARLY ESTABLISHED" AND ADDED:

"IF IT IS INDEED THE CASE THAT THE AIRCRAFT SHOT DOWN WAS A DAKOTA LOADED IN SINGAPORE WITH MEDICAL SUPPLIES FOR JOGJAKARTA, THOSE RESPONSIBLE HAVE BEEN GUILTY OF CULPABLE CARELESSNESS, THE SERIOUS OUTCOME OF WHICH IS GREATLY REGRETTED BY THE NEI GOVERNMENT."

THE DUTCH PILOTS WERE AUSTRALIAN-TRAINED LT.B.J.RUESINK, 27, AND SGT.MAJ.W.E.ERKELENS, WHO WAS TRAINED AT JACKSON, MISS. THEY FLEW COMPANION P-40S. BOTH DENIED THEIR BULLETS HIT THE PLANE, SAYING THE PILOT CRASHED INTO A TREE IN TRYING TO GET AWAY AFTER THEY FIRED WARNING SHOTS.

"I PROBABLY COULD NOT HAVE SEEN A RED CROSS ON THE SIDE OF THE PLANE SINCE IT WAS TAKING CRAZY EVASIVE ACTION AND GOING 350 MILES AN HOUR," RUESINK TOLD NEWSMEN, ADDING THAT HE WAS STILL UNCONVINCED THE CRAFT WAS A DAKOTA.

THE DUTCH SAID THEY HAD NO ADVANCE NOTICE THAT ANY PLANE BEARING MEDICAL SUPPLIES WAS EN ROUTE TO JOGJAKARTA.

"UNDER PRESENT CONDITIONS," THE DUTCH STATEMENT DECLARED," THE MILITARY AIR FORCE NATURALLY HAS RECEIVED INSTRUCTIONS TO PUT A STOP TO ALL REPUBLICAN AIR ACTIVITIES.

"ANY AIRCRAFT FLYING ABOVE REPUBLICAN TERRITORY WITHOUT CLEAR IDENTIFICATION MARKS AND WHOSE PILOT ACTS AS THOUGH HE WERE TRYING TO REMAIN UNOBSERVED OR ATTEMPTING TO ESCAPE, IS RUNNING A SERIOUS RISK."

THE OFFICIAL DUTCH VERSION OF WHAT HAPPENED YESTERDAY IS THIS:

AFTER A REPUBLICAN PLANE DROPPED TWO BOMBS ON DUTCH-OCCUPIED SEMARANG YESTERDAY, THE DUTCH AIR FORCE WAS ORDERED TO PREVENT ANY REPETITION. RECONNAISSANCE FLIGHTS WERE CARRIED OUT OVER REPUBLICAN AIRFIELDS IMMEDIATELY.

IN THE LATE AFTERNOON, THE LAST RECONNAISSANCE FLIGHT OBSERVED A TWIN-MOTORED PLANE FLYING LOW OVER THE TREES TOWARD JOGJAKARTA AIRPORT. A DUTCH FIGHTER PILOT'S REPORT OF WHAT OCCURRED SAID:

"NEAR MAGOEWO (JOGJAKARTO AIRPORT) A REPUBLICAN MACHINE WAS SIGHTED ESCAPING LOW ACROSS THE TREES. A SALVO WAS FIRED, FOLLOWING WHICH THE MACHINE STRUCK AGAINST A TREE AND CRASHED. IT PRESUMABLY WAS AN AIRCRAFT OF THE HELEN (JAPANESE) TYPE."

IN A SECOND REPORT MADE AT THE REQUEST OF DUTCH HEADQUARTERS THE PILOT SAID THE WRECKED PLANE WAS "A TWIN MOTOR AIRCRAFT, PRESUMABLY A BETTY (ALSO JAPANESE) OR HELEN TYPE, COLOR DARK GREEN, NO IDENTIFICATION MARKINGS OBSERVED."

BY STANLEY SWINTON

BATAVIA, JAVA, JULY 30-(AP)-THE DUTCH, ENGAGED SINCE JULY 20 AGAINST THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC, TODAY REPORTED A NEW AMPHIBIOUS OPERATION AIMED NEAR THE NORTHERN END OF SUMATRA, BIG ISLAND NORTHWEST OF JAVA.

A NETHERLANDS ARMY COMMUNIQUE SAID DUTCH FORCES HAD SWARMED ASHORE FROM LANDING CRAFT AT LOEBOEKPAKAM, 36 MILES SOUTHEAST OF MEDAN, ITSELF NEAR SUMATRA'S NORTH COAST SOME 275 MILES FROM THE ISLAND'S NORTHWESTERN TIP.

AT THE SAME TIME, THE COMMUNIQUE REPORTED, DUTCH FORCES BURST EASTWARD FROM THEIR MEDAN POSITIONS INTO A RICH AGRICULTURAL REGION OF SUMATRA.

EARLY IN THE CURRENT HOSTILITIES, DUTCH MARINES TOOK CONTROL OF A SERIES OF STRATEGIC POINTS IN EAST JAVA THROUGH LANDINGS ON THE EAST AND NORTH COAST UNDER PROTECTION OF NAVAL SHELLING.

A DISPATCH FROM SOERABAJA IN EAST JAVA TODAY SAID DUTCH TROOPS WITH AMERICAN-MADE TANKS AND FIELD GUNS HAD MOVED OUT OF LAWANG AT SUNUP AND OFFICERS FORECAST THE CAPTURE BY NIGHTFALL OF MALANG, INTERIOR RESORT TOWN 15 MILES SOUTH OF LAWANG.

THIS DISPATCH SAID THE FORCES, AMONG THEM MARINES TRAINED IN THE UNITED STATES, PASSED THROUGH AT LEAST THREE VILLAGES DESTROYED BY INDONESIAN REPUBLICANS IN LINE WITH A "SCORCHED EARTH" POLICY, AND THERE WERE REPORTS MALANG WOULD BE FOUND IN A SIMILAR STATE.

BATAVIA,JAVA,JULY 30-(AP)-DUTCH AIR FORCE SOURCES SAID TODAY THAT A FORMER JAPANESE "BETTY BOMBER" HAD CRASHED NEAR JOGJAKARTA YESTERDAY AS A RESULT OF ACTION TAKEN BY TWO DUTCH P-40 FIGHTER PILOTS, BUT DISCLAIMED ALL KNOWLEDGE OF THE REPORTED SHOOTING DOWN OF AN UNARMED TRANSPORT.

THE INFORMANTS ISSUED THEIR STATEMENT IN COMMENTING ON A JOGJAKARTA RADIO BROADCAST YESTERDAY REPORTING THAT AN INDIAN-OWNED DAKOTA TRANSPORT HAD BEEN SHOT DOWN AT JOGJAKARTA WHILE BRINGING MEDICAL SUPPLIES TO THE INDONESIAN REPUBLICAN CAPITAL.

THE DUTCH STATEMENT SAID THE NETHERLANDS PILOTS WHO REPORTED THE CRASH OF THE "JAPANESE BETTY" DENIED FLATLY THAT THE PLANE COULD HAVE BEEN A DAKOTA.

ACCORDING TO THE DUTCH PILOTS' STORY, THE PLANE WHICH THEY IDENTIFIED AS A "BETTY" TOOK EVASIVE ACTION AS THEY APPROACHED.

"A DUTCH PILOT FIRED A WARNING BURST AND WITHOUT BEING HIT THE PLANE CRASHED INTO A TREE," THE INFORMANT SAID.

DUTCH AIR FORCE OFFICIALS SAID IT WAS EXPECTED THAT THE TWO DUTCH PILOTS CONCERNED WOULD BE FLOWN TO BATAVIA TODAY FROM THEIR BASE AT SEMARANG TO TELL THEIR VERSION OF THE INCIDENT TO NEWSMEN.

(ADVANCE FOR USE AT 11:30 P.M., EASTERN STANDARD TIME, TODAY, WEDNESDAY JULY 30.)
(ADVANCE)..BATAVIA, JAVA, THURSDAY, JULY 31-(AP)-THE NETHERLANDS GOVERNMENT TODAY SET UP AS AUTONOMOUS TERRITORIES IN THE PROJECTED UNITED STATES OF INDONESIA THE MAJOR TIN PRODUCING ISLANDS OF BANGKA AND BILLITON AND THE STRATEGIC RIOUW ARCHIPELAGO, SINGAPORE'S SOUTHERN GUARDIAN AND AN IMPORTANT WORLD SOURCE OF BAUXITE.

ALL THREE TERRITORIES WERE CONSIDERED PART OF THE NOW EMBATTLED INDONESIAN REPUBLIC UNDER THE LINGGADJATI (CHERIBON) AGREEMENT.

DEMOCRATIC COUNCILS WILL BE ELECTED FOR EACH OF THE THREE AREAS AND WILL WORK IN CONSULTATION WITH DUTCH RESIDENTS, THE NETHERLANDS COMMUNIQUE SAID. ALL THREE AREAS HAVE LARGE CHINESE POPULATIONS.

THE ISLAND OF BANGKA IS SITUATED EAST OF SUMATRA AND BEFORE THE WAR SUPPLIED BETWEEN 10 AND 14 PERCENT OF THE WORLD'S TIN. IT HAS A POPULATION OF 225,000, OF WHICH 45 PERCENT IS CHINESE.

THE IMPORTANCE OF BANGKA MAY BE GAUGED BY DUTCH ESTIMATES THAT BANGKA, BILLITON AND SINGKEP WOULD SUPPLY 49,000 TONS OF TIN IN 1949, WHICH THEY SAID WOULD BE ONE-QUARTER OF THE WORLD'S PRODUCTION FOR THAT YEAR.

THE NEARBY ISLAND OF BILLITON, WHERE 35,000 WORKMEN CURRENTLY ARE STRIKING FOR HIGHER WAGES AND MORE RICE, NOW IS PRODUCING 600 TONS OF TIN A MONTH WITHOUT NATIVE LABOR. IT HAS A POPULATION OF 73,000, 40 PERCENT OF WHOM ARE CHINESE.

THE ABYRINTH ISLANDS, WHICH MAKE UP THE RIOUW ARCHIPELAGO, HAVE GREAT BAUXITE DEPOSITS. ON TWO OF THE ISLANDS AN EXPLORATION COMPANY HAS PRODUCED 150 TONS OF BAUXITE ORE SINCE THE END OF THE WAR. BAUXITE IS USED IN THE MANUFACTURE OF ALUMINUM AND ALMOST ALL THE ARCHIPELAGO'S SUPPLIES GO TO THE UNITED STATES.

THE DUTCH ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THE POWERS TO BE GIVEN THE THREE NEW NATIVE GOVERNMENTS WOULD EMPHASIZE "THE COMPLETELY NEW RELATIONS WHICH HAVE COME INTO BEING" IN THE LAST FEW MONTHS.

SOERAKARTA, JAVA, JULY 30-(AP)-THIS CENTRAL JAVA CITY, ONE OF THE GATEWAYS TO THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC'S CAPITAL OF JOGJAKARTA, IS WAITING FOR DUTCH TROOPS WHO ARE ONLY 35 MILES AWAY--WAITING WITH HOME MADE BAMBOO SPEARS AS ITS CHIEF WEAPONS OF DEFENSE.

THERE IS HARDLY A MALE INDONESIAN IN SOERAKARTA WITHOUT A BAMBOO PIG STICKER, GENERALLY LONGER THAN ITS POSSESSOR IS TALL.

EACH SPEAR END HAS BEEN SHARPENED TO A POINT. INDONESIANS CARRY THEM EVERYWHERE. THEY LEAN AGAINST THE DOOR OF EVERY HOUSE. EACH OF THE CITY'S TAXIS, HORSE-DRAWN VEHICLES AND CYCLES HAS ONE HANDY FOR THE DRIVER OR RIDER IF THE DUTCH APPEAR UNEXPECTEDLY.

THE CHINESE HAVE THEIR OWN PROTECTION--A CHINESE FLAG HUNG ON EVERY CHINESE HOME. SOME CHINESE CHILDREN EVEN HAVE THE DISTINCTIVE SUN EMBLEM ON THEIR COLLARS.

ONE SEES FAR FEWER SOLDIERS HERE THAN IN JOGJAKARTA. OFFICIALS SAID MOST OF THEM WERE AT THE FRONT WHERE THE DUTCH DRIVE ON THE INDONESIAN CAPITAL HAS BEEN STOPPED FOR ALMOST A WEEK.

I WENT FROM ONE GOVERNMENT OFFICE TO ANOTHER HERE VAINLY SEEKING TRANSPORT TO THE FRONT. I WAS TOLD REPEATEDLY THERE WERE NO AUTOMOBILES AVAILABLE. WHEN I SUGGESTED NEGOTIATING THE 35 MILES ON A BICYCLE, I WAS REMINDED THAT ON A BICYCLE I WOULD BE TOO CONSPICUOUS A TARGET FOR SPEAR CARRYING NATIVES, TO WHOM AN AMERICAN WOULD LOOK LIKE A DUTCHMAN.

ABOUT ALL I COULD LEARN CONCERNING THE FRONT WAS THAT THE DUTCH HELD SALATIGA, BUT HAD NOT BEEN ABLE TO ADVANCE FROM THERE AND THAT A 15-MILE STRETCH OF ROAD IMMEDIATELY SOUTH OF SALATIGA HAD BEEN RIDDLED BY THE INDONESIANS WITH TRENCH HOLES AND OTHER TANK TRAPS.

IT WAS OBVIOUS MY SAFETY WAS A MAJOR HEADACHE TO ARMY AND CIVILIAN OFFICIALS ANXIOUS TO KEEP ME ALIVE. FINALLY I WAS ORDERED NOT TO LEAVE MY HOTEL UNLESS IN AN AUTOMOBILE WITH AN ARMED ESCORT--ONLY THERE NEVER WAS A CAR AVAILABLE.

OFFICERS PREDICTED THAT MALANG--REPORTED LARGELY DESTROYED UNDER THE INDONESIAN SCORCHED EARTH POLICY--WOULD BE IN DUTCH HANDS BY NIGHTFALL.

AMERICAN-MADE HALF TRACKS, TANKS AND FIELD GUNS WERE MUCH IN EVIDENCE AMONG THE DUTCH FORCES MOVING TOWARD MALANG.

AT LEAST THREE VILLAGES THROUGH WHICH THEY PASSED EN ROUTE HAD BEEN BURNED TO THE GROUND BY RETREATING INDONESIANS.

JOGJAKARTA, JAVA, JULY 30-(AP)-THE INDONESIAN REPUBLIC GAVE A MILITARY FUNERAL TODAY TO NINE PERSONS--FOUR BRITISH, FOUR INDONESIANS AND ONE INDIAN--KILLED YESTERDAY WHEN TWO DUTCH FIGHTERS MACHINE-GUNNED A DAKOTA TRANSPORT PLANE CARRYING MEDICAL SUPPLIES TO THE REPUBLIC.

PREMIER AMIR SJARIFOEDDIN, GEN.SOEDIRMAN, COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE INDONESIAN ARMY, AND AIR COMMODORE SURIDARMA HEADED THE CROWD WHICH FILLED A PUBLIC HALL FOR THE SERVICE.

THE HONOR GUARD WAS FROM THE INDONESIAN AIR FORCE. A CROWD LINED THE STREET OUTSIDE.

WREATHS WERE HEAPED ABOUT THE RUDE WOODEN COFFINS ARRANGED IN A ROW IN THE CENTER OF THE HALL. FLIGHT JACKETS AND HELMETS LAY ON TOP OF THE THREE CASKETS OF INDONESIAN AIR FORCE PILOTS WHO WERE ABOARD THE PLANE.

NATIONAL FLAGS COVERED THE COFFINS. CASKETS OF THE BRITISH VICTIMS WERE DRAPED WITH HASTILY-MADE UNION JACKS.

A STATEMENT FOR THE GOVERNMENT BY PRESIDENT SOEKARNO AND PREMIER SJARIFOEDDIN SAID:

"THIS INCIDENT IS STRIKING PROOF OF THE DUTCH ATTITUDE TOWARD THE INDONESIANS. SUCH AN ATTITUDE CANNOT AND WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED BY THE INDONESIAN PEOPLE. WE MUST SHOW OUR ESPECTS TO THE DEAD, AND THE BEST WAY TO DO THIS IS TO CONTINUE OUR STRUGGLE IN FIGHTING THE DUTCH."

JUL 1947 30.24-11235

IN ANNOUNCING HIS GOVERNMENT'S INTENTION TO BRING THE MATTER BEFORE THE SECURITY COUNCIL, THE PRIME MINISTER SAID:

"AUSTRALIA TAKES THIS ACTION 10 DAYS AFTER HOSTILITIES COMMENCED IN INDONESIA BECAUSE IN ACCORDANCE WITH ARTICLE 33 OF THE UNITED NATIONS CHARTER THE PARTIES TO ANY DISPUTE ARE OBLIGED FIRST OF ALL TO SEEK A SOLUTION BY NEGOTIATION OR MEDIATION.

"STRENUOUS ATTEMPTS HAVE BEEN MADE IN CONSULTATION WITH OTHER GOVERNMENTS, PARTICULARLY THE UNITED KINGDOM, THE UNITED STATES AND INDIA, TO BRING ABOUT A SOLUTION IN THIS WAY. HOWEVER, IT IS FELT THAT FURTHER DELAY IS NOT JUSTIFIED BECAUSE OF THE LOSS OF LIFE BEING SUSTAINED."

JUL 1947

"THIS IS THE FIRST TIME IN THE HISTORY OF THE COUNCIL THAT THIS ARTICLE (39) HAS BEEN INVOKED," THE AUSTRALIAN PRIME MINISTER SAID, "AND IT IS THE HOPE OF THE GOVERNMENT IN TAKING THIS ACTION THAT NOT ONLY WILL HOSTILITIES CEASE BUT THAT THE SECURITY COUNCIL WILL PROVE ITS WORTH IN DEALING QUICKLY AND EFFECTIVELY WITH A SITUATION OF THIS KIND."

CHIFLEY SAID AUSTRALIA IN PAST CASES HAD FOLLOWED THE POLICY OF ACTING UNDER CHARTER ARTICLE 34, PERMITTING SECURITY COUNCIL INVESTIGATION OF "ANY SITUATION WHICH MIGHT LEAD TO INTERNATIONAL FRICTION."

"HOWEVER, THE SITUATION IN INDONESIA DIFFERS FROM ANY PREVIOUSLY BROUGHT BEFORE THE SECURITY COUNCIL," HE POINTED OUT. "HOSTILITIES ARE BEING CARRIED ON. INVESTIGATION IS NOT REQUIRED TO ESTABLISH THE CRUCIAL FACT. X X X "

THE PRIME MINISTER SAID "AUSTRALIA'S ACTION HAS BEEN TAKEN AFTER CLOSE CONSULTATION WITH THE GOVERNMENTS OF THE UNITED KINGDOM, NEW ZEALAND AND INDIA."

-PDQ-

CHIFLEY SAID:

"IN MAKING THIS MOVE, AUSTRALIA STILL MAINTAINS THE JUDICIAL ATTITUDE WHICH IT ALWAYS HAS MAINTAINED IN CONSIFERING ANY SITUATION BEFORE THE SECURITY COUNCIL. NO ATTEMPT WILL BE MADE TO PREJUDGE THE ISSUE AND A DISCUSSION OF THE MERITS OF THE CASE WILL BE AVOIDED.

"THE AUSTRALIAN REPRESENTATIVE WILL FIRST ASK THAT THE NECESSARY STEPS BE TAKEN TO TERMINATE HOSTILITIES; SECOND, WITHOUT DISCUSSING THE MERITS OF THE SITUATION, THAT BOTH PARTIES ACT UPON ARTICLE 17 OF THE LINGGADJATI (CHERIBON) AGREEMENT WHICH SPECIFICALLY PROVIDES THAT IN THE EVENT OF DISAGREEMENT BETWEEN THE TWO PARTIES ARISING FROM THE LINGGADJATI AGREEMENT, A THIRD PARTY BE NAMED AS ARBITRATOR, OR FAILING THAT, THE MATTER SHOULD BE REFERRED TO THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE INTERNATIONAL COURT."

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 30-(AP)-INDIA DEMANDED FORMALLY TODAY THAT THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL ACT TO SETTLE THE FIGHTING BETWEEN DUTCH AND INDONESIAN FORCES.

THE INDIAN COMPLAINT WAS HANDED TO DR. OSCAR LANGE OF POLAND, PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL, AND ADRAN PELT, ACTING SECRET

-ADD-

PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL, AND ADRIAN PELT, ACTING SECRETARY-GENERAL OF THE U.N., BY SAMARENDRANATH SEN, INDIAN REPRESENTATIVE.

MEANWHILE, AUSTRALIA ALSO WAS EXPECTED TO FILE A SEPARATE INDONESIAN COMPLAINT LATER IN THE DAY.

THE TWO DELEGATIONS WILL ACT INDEPENDENTLY, ALTHOUGH THEIR GOVERNMENTS HAVE BEEN IN CLOSE CONSULTATION ON THE INDONESIAN FIGHTING.

AN INDIAN SPOKESMAN SAID HIS DELEGATION HAD RECEIVED INSTRUCTIONS FROM NEW DELHI TO MOVE IMMEDIATELY TO BRING THE QUESTION BEFORE THE SECURITY COUNCIL. HE SAID THE CASE WOULD BE BROUGHT UNDER CHAPTER VI OF THE CHARTER WHICH PROVIDES FOR PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES.

THE AUSTRALIAN CASE WILL BE BROUGHT UNDER CHAPTER VII OF THE CHARTER, WHICH PROVIDES FOR ENFORCEMENT MEASURES RANGING FROM ECONOMIC SANCTIONS TO THE USE OF MILITARY FORCE, A SPOKESMAN SAID.

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 30-(AP)-BRITAIN TODAY BROUGHT TO THE ATTENTION OF THE UNITED NATIONS THE REPORTED EXECUTION OF TWO BRITISH SOLDIERS AS HOSTAGES BY THE PALESTINE UNDERGROUND ORGANIZATION, IRGUN ZVAI LEUMI.

P.H.GORE-BOOTH, BRITISH REPRESENTATIVE, TOLD THE SOCIAL COMMITTEE OF THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL THAT THIS WAS A "REVIVAL OF THE BARBARIC PRACTICE" WHICH HAD BEEN FOLLOWED BY NAZI GERMANY.

"SOME OF US HAD HOPED," HE SAID, "THAT SINCE NAZI GERMANY WAS DEFEATED, SUCH CRIMES AS GENOCIDE HAD BECOME A THING OF THE PAST AND THAT THERE MIGHT BE NO NEED FOR INTERNATIONAL CONVENTIONS PROHIBITING OR CONDEMNING THEM. THOSE HOPES HAVE BEEN DISAPPOINTED. X X X

"I AM NOT GOING TO ASK FOR A RESOLUTION. CONGRESS-FOREIGN (430)
BY ALEX H.SINGLETON

WASHINGTON, JULY 30-(AP)-PLANS OF A POWERFUL, SPECIAL HOUSE COMMITTEE FOR SURVEYING GLOBAL ECONOMIC REQUIREMENTS BEGAN TAKING SHAPE TODAY WITH EMPHASIS ON WESTERN EUROPE'S NEEDS HIGH ON ITS AGENDA.

WHILE STILL IN ITS TENTATIVE STAGE, THE BROAD OUTLINE APPEARS TO BE BASED ON THE THEORY THAT FIRST CONSIDERATION IN ANY FUTURE AMERICAN AID PROGRAM MUST BE GIVEN TO BOLSTERING THE WESTERN COUNTRIES, GETTING GERMANY'S INDUSTRY BACK INTO GEAR, AND PERHAPS RESTRENGTHENING BRITISH FINANCES.

THIS MUCH IS CLEAR:

1. THE FULL COMMITTEE--MINUS ONLY REP. EATON (R-NJ)--WILL SAIL FROM NEW YORK AUGUST 27 FOR A FIVE-WEEKS ON-THE-SPOT SURVEY OF CONDITIONS IN EUROPE. IT WILL BE UNDER THE DIRECTION OF REP. HERTER (R-MASS), FORMER AIDE TO HERBERT HOOVER IN RELIEF WORK AFTER WORLD WAR 1.

2. BASE HEADQUARTERS WILL BE SET UP IN LONDON WITH A STAFF OF FINANCIAL EXPERTS TO COORDINATE THE FINDINGS OF VARIOUS SUBCOMMITTEES AND PERHAPS ATTEMPT TO MEASURE THEM AGAINST THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE MARSHALL PLAN--IF AN AGREEMENT ON THAT EUROPE-MUST-HELP-ITSELF-FIRST PROPOSAL HAS BEEN REACHED BY THEN.

JUL 1947

3. ONE SUBCOMMITTEE OF THE FULL GROUP WILL INSPECT MEANS OF GETTING GREATER PRODUCTION FROM THE RUHR COAL MINES. THIS WILL BE HELD AGAINST THE BACKGROUND OF COMING ANGLO-AMERICAN CONFERENCES ON RUHR COAL PRODUCTION, NOW FAR BELOW THE PREWAR NORMAL.

4. ANOTHER GROUP WILL STUDY THE BRITISH FINANCIAL POSITION. IN DISCLOSING THE INTENTION TO MAKE THIS SURVEY, HERTER SAID THAT IT WILL ALSO INCLUDE THE DOMINIONS. THIS MAY LEAD TO A GEMERAL PLAN FOR SWELLING BRITISH-AMERICAN TRADE THROUGH INCREASED EXCHANGE OF AMERICAN DOLLARS FOR RAW MATERIAL FROM THE DOMINIONS.

5. STILL ANOTHER SUBCOMMITTEE WILL STUDY EUROPE'S AGRICULTURE PROBLEMS. THIS WILL INVOLVE ESTIMATES ON CROPS, RESERVES OF FOOD, THE SHORTAGE OF FERTILIZER WHICH HAS HELD DOWN PRODUCTION, AND WARTIME DECIMATION OF LIVESTOCK.

6. THREE "AREA" SUBCOMMITTEES WILL FAN OUT TO MAKE STUDIES OF PARTICULAR AREAS--ONE TO FRANCE AND THE LOW COUNTRIES, ANOTHER TO GERMANY AND AUSTRIA, AND A THIRD TO ITALY, TRIESTE AND GREECE.

JUL 1947

7. ALL MEMBERS WILL REASSEMBLE IN LONDON, POOL THEIR FINDING, THEN LEAVE ABOARD SHIP ABOUT OCTOBER 4 AND START WRITING A REPORT TO CONGRESS.

IN SELECTING THOSE WHO WILL MAKE THE SURVEY--UNPRECEDENTED IN PEACETIME--HOUSE SPEAKER MARTIN (R-MASS) PICKED FROM MEMBERS OF KEY CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES, AMONG THEM FOREIGN AFFAIRS, APPROPRIATIONS, ARMED SERVICES, BANKING, COMMERCE, RULES, AGRICULTURE AND WAYS AND MEANS.

THE MEMBERS, IN ADDITION TO EATON AND HERTER, ARE REPS. THOMAS A. JENKINS (R-OHIO), WOLVERTON (R-NJ), AUGUST H.ANDRESEN (R-MINN), FRANCIS CASE (R-SD), KUNKEL (R-PA), VORYS (R-OHIO), VURSELL (R-ILL), MACY (R-NY), NIXON (R-CALIF), COLMER (D-MISS), RICHARDS (D-SC), WALTER (D-PA), COOLEY (D-NC), MAHAN (D-TEXAS), BROOKS (D-LA), KEOUGH (D-NY), AND MONRONEY (D-OKLA).

HERTER TOLD NEWSMEN THAT THE STAFF WORK OF ORGANIZATION HAD BEEN STARTED EVEN BEFORE THE FULL MEMBERSHIP OF THE COMMITTEE WAS ANNOUNCED.

"I AM INSTRUCTED BY MY GOVERNMENT TO COMMUNICATE TO YOU ITS VIEWS ON THE SUBJECT OF TRANSFER TO THE SOVIET UNION OF GERMAN AND ITALIAN ASSETS IN EX-ENEMY COUNTRIES--IN HUNGARY, BULGARIA AND ROMANIA.

"INASMUCH AS TRANSFER TO THE SOVIET UNION OF GERMAN ASSETS IN FORMER SATELLITE COUNTRIES IS PROVIDED FOR BY PEACE TREATIES (ARTICLE 28 OF HUNGARIAN TREATY, ARTICLE 24 OF BULGARIAN TREATY AND ARTICLE 26 OF ROMANIAN TREATY), THE U.S.GOVERNMENT CAN NOT REGARD TRANSFERS MADE PRIOR TO COMING INTO FORCE OF TREATIES AS BEING MORE THAN OF PROVISIONAL CHARACTER.

"FURTHERMORE, THE U.S.GOVERNMENT CAN RECOGNIZE ONLY TRANSFERS MADE IN ACCORDANCE WITH TREATY TERMS, WHICH IS TO SAY, AS PROVIDED BY THE CONTROL COUNCIL FOR GERMANY. IN THIS CONNECTION IT IS THE VIEW OF THE U.S.GOVERNMENT THAT AUSTRIAN ASSETS IN THESE COUNTRIES CAN NOT BE CONSIDERED GERMAN AND THAT THEIR FINAL DISPOSITION IS NECESSARILY DEPENDENT ON AGREEMENT TO THE DEFINITION OF THE TERM 'GERMAN ASSETS' IN RELATION TO AUSTRIAN PROPERTY.

"IN SIMILAR MANNER, TRANSFER OF ITALIAN ASSETS IN HUNGARY, BULGARIA AND ROMANIA IS GOVERNED BY ARTICLE 74 OF ITALIAN TREATY AS LIMITED BY PARAGRAPH 6 BY ARTICLE 79 AND THE U.S.GOVERNMENT CAN RECOGNIZE ONLY SUCH TRANSFERS AS ARE MADE IN ACCORDANCE WITH THESE TREATY PROVISIONS AFTER ENTRY INTO FORCE OF THE TREATY.

"AS GENERAL PRINCIPLE, BENEFICIAL RIGHTS OF U.N.COUNTRIES IN ANY GERMAN ASSETS ARE NOT TO BE TRANSFERRED.

"WITH RESPECT TO WAIVER BY EX-ENEMY STATES OF CLAIMS AGAINST GERMANY AND ITS NATIONALS (ARTICLE 30 OF THE HUNGARIAN TREATY, ARTICLE 26 OF BULGARIAN TREATY, AND 28 OF ROMANIAN TREATY) THE U.S.GOVERNMENT CONSIDERS THAT WAIVER, IN CASE OF CLEARING ACCOUNTS, APPLIES TO NET BALANCES AND NOT TO EX-ENEMY STATES' DEBT ALONE.

"AS SIGNATORY POWER OF TREATIES OF PEACE WITH HUNGARY, BULGARIA AND ROMANIA AND THUS JOINTLY RESPONSIBLE WITH OTHER SIGNATORIES FOR ENFORCEMENT OF TREATIES PROVISIONS, THEU.S.GOVERNMENT DESIRES TO BE INFORMED REGARDING ANY PROVISIONAL TRANSFER OF ASSETS WHICH MAY BE EFFECTED PRIOR TO THE COMING INTO FORCE OF TREATIES AND TO BE CONSULTED IN CONNECTION WITH ANY DISCUSSIONS WHICH MAY GROW OUT OF THE APPLICATION OF TREATY PROVISIONS GOVERNING TRANSFER OF GERMAN ASSETS.

"THE U.S.GOVERNMENT WOULD WELCOME AN EXPRESSION OF VIEWS OF THE SOVIET GOVERNMENT WITH RESPECT TO THE FOREGOING."

VETO

BY JOHN M.HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON,JULY 30-(AP)-RUSSIA'S VETO OF A UNITED NATIONS WATCHDOG COMMISSION FOR THE TROUBLED GREEK BORDER SENT UNITED STATES OFFICIALS ON A HUNT TODAY FOR SOME NEW AMERICAN MANEUVER.

HERSCHEL V.JOHNSON, THIS COUNTRY'S SPOKESMAN IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL ARGUMENT OVER THE GREEK CASE, WAS SUMMONED TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT FOR TOP LEVEL CONSULTATIONS.

JOHNSON TOLD REPORTERS IN NEW YORK AFTER THE VETO ACTION THAT "WE ARE NOT GOING TO LET THE THING GO BY DEFAULT."

ONE POSSIBILITY KNOWN TO BE UNDER CONSIDERATION HERE WOULD HAVE THE EFFECT OF GOING OUTSIDE THE UNITED NATIONS IN ORDER TO PUT INTERNATIONAL OBSERVERS IN GREECE. ACCORDING TO THIS PLAN, GREECE WOULD INVITE SECURITY COUNCIL MEMBERS INDIVIDUALLY TO SEND OBSERVERS TO THE COUNTRY.

WHILE BOOTH THE UNITED STATES AND BRITAIN ARE KNOWN TO HAVE GIVEN THIS IDEA SOME FAVORABLE STUDY, AUTHORITIES MAKE CLEAR THAT THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT WOULD GREATLY PREFER TO KEEP THE WHOLE GREEK CASE WITHIN THE UNITED NATIONS.

HENCE THE LINE OF ACTION CONSIDERED MOST PROBABLE IS FOR THE UNITED STATES TO MAKE SOME NEW PROPOSAL FOR SECURITY COUNCIL ACTION, ON THE BASIS THAT GREEK TROUBLES WITH ALBANIA, YUGOSLAVIA AND BULGARIA HAVE REACHED THE POINT OF DISTURBING WORLD PEACE AND THEREFORE REQUIRE DECISIVE ACTION BY THE U.N.

THE RUSSIAN VETO WAS NOT UNEXPECTED HERE.

IN FACT, WITH THREE OF THE SOVIET SATTELITE COUNTRIES INVOLVED IN AIDING THE GREEK COMMUNIST GUERILLAS WHO ARE TRYING TO OVERTHROW THE ATHENS GOVERNMENT, OFFICIALS SAID ANY OTHER SOVIET COURSE WOULD HAVE BEEN HARD TO IMAGINE.

JUL 1947

A6WX

HOWEVER, UNTIL THE VETO FINALLY WAS INVOKED YESTERDAY, STATE DEPARTMENT AUTHORITIES KEPT OPEN A HOPE THAT THE SOVIET UNION MIGHT SIMPLY HAVE ABSTAINED FROM VOTING.

DIPLOMATS HERE NOTED THAT THIS WAS THE SECOND TIME WITHIN A FEW WEEKS THAT THE RUSSIANS HAVE ACTED IN A WAY WHICH CLEARLY AND DECISIVELY SET THEM APART FROM THE WESTERN DEMOCRACIES.

THE FIRST OF THE TWO INCIDENTS OCCURRED AT PARIS WHEN SOVIET FOREIGN MINISTER MOLOTOV FLATLY REJECTED THE MARSHALL PLAN FOR EUROPEAN RECOVERY.

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE TWO DEVELOPMENTS TAKEN TOGETHER, SOME DIPLOMATIC EXPERTS HERE SUGGEST, IS THAT THE SOVIETS NOW APPEAR TO HAVE REACHED THE POINT AT WHICH THEY NO LONGER CONSIDER IT NECESSARY TO MAKE A SHOW OF STRIVING FOR UNITY WITH THE WESTERN DEMOCRACIES.

JUL 1947

THESE INCIDENTS HAVE STIMULATED DISCUSSION AMONG AUTHORITIES AS TO (1) WHETHER RUSSIA IS GENUINELY INTERESTED IN TRYING TO MAKE THE UNITED NATIONS WORK, AND (2) PARTICULARLY WHETHER THE VETO IN THE GREEK CASE DOES BASIC HARM TO THE UNITED NATIONS AS A PEACE KEEPING ORGANIZATION.

IN GENERAL, THE PREVAILING OFFICIAL OPINION HERE IS THAT RUSSIA IS VITALLY INTERESTED IN THE UNITED NATIONS FOR TWO REASONS.

FIRST, SHE IS INTERESTED IN USING HER MEMBERSHIP TO PREVENT ANY ACTIONS BY THE ORGANIZATION WHICH WOULD BE CONTRARY TO THE PURPOSES AND OBJECTIVES OF THE SOVIET UNION.

SECOND, SHE IS INTERESTED IN THE VARIOUS UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZA-

TIONS, ESPECIALLY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND SECURITY COUNCIL, AS PLATFORMS FROM WHICH TO DELIVER RUSSIAN IDEAS TO THE REST OF THE WORLD.

JUDGED BY THESE CONCLUSIONS, THE GREEK VETO WAS--FROM THE RUSSIAN POINT OF VIEW--A LOGICAL USE OF SOVIET POWER TO PREVENT AN ACTION BY THE SECURITY COUNCIL WHICH WOULD HAVE BEEN CONTRARY TO SOVIET INTERESTS.

A7WX

THE AMERICAN RESOLUTION WOULD NOT ONLY HAVE SET UP A BORDER COMMISSION TO KEEP WATCH ON THE ACTIVITIES OF ALL COUNTRIES ON BOTH SIDES OF THE STRIFE-RIDDEN GREEK BORDERS, IT ALSO WOULD HAVE FIXED THE BLAME FOR THESE ACTIVITIES ON RUSSIA'S SATTELITES.

THE UNITED STATES SOUGHT THE COMMISSION IN THE BELIEF THAT ITS VERY PRESENCE WOULD HAVE TENDED TO DISCOURAGE THE FLOW OF MATERIAL ASSISTANCE FROM THE SATTELITE COUNTRIES TO THE GREEK COMMUMISTS AND THAT THIS IN TURN WOULD HAVE HAD A PACIFYING EFFECT ON THE WHOLE TROUBLED SITUATION.

THE SOVIET VETO EFFECTIVELY PREVENTED THAT RESULT. WHETHER IT COVERS A RUSSIAN INTENTION TO CONTINUE OR EVEN TO EXPAND THE ACTIVITIES OF THE SATTELITE COUNTRIES REMAINS TO BE SEEN.

ONE THING THE VOTE DID MAKE CLEAR, HOWEVER, IS THAT THE UNITED NATIONS CANNOT BE MORE EFFECTIVE IN DEALING WITH INTERNATIONAL DISPUTES THAN THE MEMBER GOVERNMENTS INTEND IT TO BE. THIS IS THE KIND OF SITUATION WHICH THE FRAMERS OF THE U.N. CHARTER HOPED AT SAN FRANCISCO WOULD NOT ARISE, AT LEAST IN THE ORGANIZATION'S EARLY YEARS.

THEY ENVISIONED THE SECURITY COUNCIL AS AN AGENCY IN WHICH THE GREAT POWERS WOULD OPERATE WITH GOOD WILL TO SETTLE DISPUTES AMONG SMALL NATIONS, IN WHICH THE POWERS THEMSELVES WERE NOT DIRECTLY INVOLVED.

VAN KLEFFENS TOLD AN INQUIRER HE DOES NOT THINK AUSTRALIA'S PRIME MINISTER WAS MOTIVATED BY UNFRIENDLY FEELINGS IN REFERRING THE INDONESIAN ISSUE TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

AUSTRALIA, HE SAID, IS DEEPLY CONCERNED BECAUSE OF A DESIRE FOR SECURITY AGAINST ANY FUTURE ATTACK FROM THE NORTH LIKE THE JAPANESE INVASION FOLLOWING PEARL HARBOR.

BUT HE ADDED THAT AUSTRALIA "MAY REGRET THE ACT LATER ON."

VOICING HOPE THE DUTCH MILITARY CAMPAIGN WILL BE COMPLETED SOON, VAN KLEFFENS SAID THE NETHERLANDS THEN WOULD "LIKE VERY MUCH" FOR THE UNITED STATES TO HELP REACH A SETTLEMENT IN ANY WAY FEASIBLE.

ALREADY, HE SAID, THE WAY HAS BEEN OPENED FOR RESTORATION OF NORMAL EXPORT TRADE. AN AMERICAN SHIP IS DUE TO SAIL IN A FEW DAYS WITH A CARGO OF RUBBER FROM THE JAVA PORT OF CHERIBON, HE REPORTED.

VAN KLEFFENS REPORTED THAT HE HAD RECEIVED MANY MESSAGES FROM AMERICANS DEMANDING, "WHO DO YOU DENY THE INDONESIANS THEIR FREEDOM?"

HIS RESPONSE, HE SAID, IS:

"IT IS WE WHO WANT TO BRING THESE PEOPLE FREEDOM, WHICH IS BEING DENIED THEM BY TERRORISTIC CONDITIONS IN INDONESIA."

THE NETHERLANDS, HE SAID, IS WILLING AT ANY TIME TO START NEGOTIATIONS AFRESH WITH ANY INDONESIAN AUTHORITIES IN A POSITION TO HELP MAINTAIN ORDER, PROVIDED THE INDONESIAN REGIME WILL FREE DUTCH, INDO-EUROPEAN AND OTHER HOSTAGES, GIVE UP SEPARATE TREATIES WITH FOREIGN COUNTRIES, END EFFORTS TO EXPAND CONTROL OVER THE SEPARATE STATES OF BORNEO AND EAST INDONESIA, AND END A BLOCKADE OF DUTCH-HELD CITIES.

HE ESTIMATED THAT SOME 10,000 PERSONS ARE STILL BEING HELD HOSTAGE, INCLUDING 00 WHITE DUTCH. MANY OF THESE, HE SAID, HAVE BEEN HELD SINCE THE JAPANESE 1942 INVASION.

THE ENVOY TERMED INDONESIAN THREATS TO APPLY A "SCORCHED EARTH" POLICY OVER THE ISLANDS "EXAGGERATED," ALTHOUGH HE SAID THERE MIGHT BE CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE. DAMP TROPICAL VEGETATION, HE EXPLAINED, IS NOT VULNERABLE TO SUCH TACTICS.

NIGHT LEAD COURT MARTIAL (450)
BY FRED KRIEG

NEW YORK, JULY 30-(AP)-A NAVY COURT MARTIAL TRYING A CHIEF SIGNALMAN ON CHARGES OF MALTREATING FELLOW PRISONERS AND REPORTING THEIR ESCAPE PLANS TO THE JAPANESE HEARD TODAY THAT AN AMERICAN ARMY PRIVATE WAS BAYONETTED TO DEATH FOR REPORTING A JAPANESE GUARD WHO STOLE AMERICAN PRISONERS' FOOD.

HAROLD E. HIRSHBERG, 29, THE DEFENDANT, IS ACCUSED IN ONE SPECIFICATION OF TELLING JAPANESE AUTHORITIES AT CAMP MURPHY, LUZON, PHILIPPINE ISLANDS, OF THE ESCAPE PLAN OF ARMY PRIVATE GEORGE GARRETT OF WACO, TEX., WHO WAS KILLED BY THE JAPANESE "ON OR ABOUT MARCH 1, 1944." THE PROSECUTION CONTENDS THAT GARRETT'S DEATH WAS DUE TO THE REPORTING OF HIS ESCAPE PLAN.

HOWEVER, AN AFFIDAVIT OF A FELLOW PRISONER, WHICH THE COURT MARTIAL BOARD REFUSED TO ADMIT AS EVIDENCE BUT FROM WHICH DEFENSE COUNSEL READ EXCERPTS INTO THE RECORD, STATED THAT GARRETT WAS BAYONETTED BY LT.YOSHI KOSHI, CAMP COMMANDER, BECAUSE HE REPORTED A JAPANESE SERGEANT FOR STEALING FOOD FROM THE PRISONERS' GALLEY.

THE MATERIAL WAS OFFERED BY THE PROSECUTION, BUT DEFENSE COUNSEL IMMEDIATELY READ INTO THE RECORD THE PORTION CONCERNING GARRETT'S DEATH BEFORE A COURT DECISION WAS GIVEN WHETHER IT SHOULD BE ADMITTED AS EVIDENCE. THE PART READ TO THE COURT WAS ALLOWED TO STAND IN THE RECORD, HOWEVER.

A CERTIFICATION OF DEATH, SIGNED BY MAJ.GEN.EDWARD F.WITSELL, ADJUTANT GENERAL, AND CERTIFIED BY SECRETARY OF WAR ROBERT P.PATTERSON, JULY 21, STATED GARRETT DIED FEB. 9, 1944, OF A BAYONET WOUND IN THE LEFT CHEST.

THE CERTIFICATION, ADMITTED FOR EVIDENCE, SAID THE DATE WAS DETERMINED AS THE RESULT OF AFFIDAVITS OF THREE WAR PRISONERS AND FROM JAPANESE PRISON CAMP RECORDS VERIFIED BY THE RED CROSS.

THE COURT REFUSED TO ADMIT ANY AFFIDAVITS INTO EVIDENCE, BUT

INSTRUCTED THE JUDGE ADVOCATE, LT.COMMANDER FRED H.FREY, TO SUBPOENA AS WITNESSES ANY MEN WHO MADE THE STATEMENTS THAT DEFENSE COUNSEL, LT.COMMANDER JOHN J.O'NEIL, MIGHT WISH TO HAVE APPEAR. THE EXHIBITS ORIGINALLY HAD BEEN OFFERED BY FREY.

B35

FREY SAID HE WOULD CLOSE THE PROSECUTION TOMORROW WHEN THE COURT RECONVENES AT 1 P.M., AND O'NEIL SAID HE WAS READY TO PROCEED IMMEDIATELY WITH THE DEFENSE. O'NEIL SAID HE EXPECTED TO CONCLUDE IN TIME FOR SUMMATIONS BY BOTH SIDES AUG. 8.

HIRSHBERG HAS PLEADED INNOCENT TO NINE SPECIFICATIONS CHARGING HIM WITH HAVING BEATEN FELLOW PRISONERS AND OF HAVING INFORMED ON GARRETT, AND ON TWO OTHER PRISONERS PLANNING ESCAPE, BOTH OF WHOM IT IS CHARGED WERE BEATEN BY THE JAPS.

THE 16TH PROSECUTION WITNESS, TESTIFYING TODAY ON THE SEVENTH DAY OF THE TRIAL, WAS CHIEF WATER TENDER HERBERT MILTON LINTON, 24, OF (717 MULBERRY ST.) READING, PA.

AFTER LINTON TESTIFIED THAT HE HAD OBSERVED A FIGHT BETWEEN HIRSHBERG AND GARRETT IN JULY, 1943, AT NIELSON FIELD, LUZON, AND SAID THAT HIRSHBERG TALKED WITH JAPANESE GUARDS "ALL THE TIME," O'NEIL TOLD THE COURT DURING CROSS EXAMINATION THAT LINTON WAS "HOSTILE TO THE DEFENSE."

O'NEIL TURNED TO LINTON AND ASKED:

JUL 1947

"DO YOU LIKE HIRSHBERG?"

"SOMETIMES HE WAS A GOOD FELLOW. SOMETIMES HE WAS MEAN," LINTON ANSWERED.

"HOW DO YOU FEEL TODAY?" O'NEIL INQUIRED.

"I DON'T THINK TOO MUCH OF HIM," WAS LINTON'S ANSWER.

(ADVANCE FOR PMS OF WEDNESDAY, JULY 30)

(ADVANCE) BERLIN, JULY 29-(AP)-GERMANS GENERALLY REGARD THE OFFICIAL WAR ON THE BLACKMARKET AS HOPELESS BECAUSE IT LACKS PUBLIC SUPPORT.

WITH FINANCIAL REFORM IN GERMANY STILL APPARENTLY NO CLOSER TO REALITY, INFLATED BLACKMARKET PRICES GRADUALLY ARE BECOMING ACCEPTED BY THE GERMANS AS NORMAL. THEY ARE PRICES BASED ON AVAILABILITY OF GOODS--AND THERE ISN'T AN ITEM OF COMMODITY GOODS TODAY WHICH IS ANYWHERE NEAR SUFFICIENT SUPPLY.

JUL 1947

WHILE GERMANS ARE RECOGNIZING BLACKMARKET PRICES AS CORRECT FROM THE VIEWPOINT OF PRESENT ECONOMIC CONDITIONS, THE SITUATION AT THE SAME TIME IS WORKING A TERRIFIC HARDSHIP FOR THE AVERAGE WORKER.

THE WAGE OF THE AVERAGE WORKER RUNS FROM ONE REICHSMARK PER HOUR TO 1.20 REICHSMARK. ON THHE BASIS OF A 48-HOUR WEEK, THIS AVERAGE ROUGHLY 90 MARKS. GERMANS SAY THEY ARE ABLE TO BUY WHAT THEIR RATION CARDS CALL FOR WITH THAT WAGE, BUT THAT IT ISN'T ENOUGH TO LIVE ON.

THE NORMAL WORKER THEREFORE IS CLAMORING FOR HIGHER WAGES. EMPLOYERS, WHO HAVE BEEN STICKING FAST TO THE WAGE AND PRICE CONTROLS SET DURING THE WAR, ALSO ARE BEGINNING TO SEE THAT THEY MAY HAVE TO BOOST WAGES. ALLIED AUTHORITIES, TOO, ARE GIVING THE SUBJECT CONSIDERATION.

JUL 1947

MEANTIME, THE AVERAGE GERMAN HAS BEEN SELLING HIMSELF OUT--HIS RUGS, JEWELS, FURNITURE, GLASSWARE--TO SPECULATORS IN ORDER TO GET MONEY TO BUY ON THE BLACKMARKET. FOR MOST GERMANS, THOSE RESOURCES, TOO ARE AT OR NEAR AN END.

EVASION OF THE LEGAL MARKET ACTUALLY IS BEING COUNTENANCED BY GERMAN AUTHORITIES.

WHEN A GERMAN GOES TO THE BERLIN CITY GOVERNMENT, FOR EXAMPLE, FOR A PERMIT TO BUILD, HE HAS NO TROUBLE GETTING IT. BUT INSTEAD OF GIVING HIM A PERMIT (BEZUGSCHEIN) TO BUY THE NECESSARY MATERIEL AS IS REQUIRED, HE IS TOLD TO "GET THE MATERIEL YOURSELF."

SO HE TURNS TO THE BLACKMARKET.

ON THE LEGAL MARKET, A CUBIC METER OF WOOD WOULD COST APPROXIMATELY 60 REICHMARKS. ON THE OOPEN OR BLACKMARKET IT COSTS 500 TO 600 REICHSMARKS. THE DIFFERENCE IS THAT THE BUILDER CAN GET IT ON THE BLACKMARKET.

PRICE CONTROLS CONSTANTLY ARE BEING EVADED. FOR EXAMPLE, WHEN LAND OR A HOUSE IS SOLD TODAY, THE PRICE CONTROL AUTHORITIES SAY IT MUST BE AT THE 1936 PRICE LEVEL.

"BUT THAT IS A DISHONEST PRICE," GERMAN BUSINESSMEN SAY, "BECAUSE IF A GERMAN SELLS A HOUSE FOR 120,000 REICHSMARKS TODAY, HE CAN'T GET THE SAME RETURN IN VALUE AS HE DID IN 1936.

"AS A RESULT, NO ONE WILL SELL ACCORDING TO THE LIST PRICE. THEY

30.24- 11241

SET THE PRICE IN MARKS AT THE 1936 LEVEL. BUT THEN DEMAND AS A PREMIUM SOMETHING IN THE FORM OF REAL PROPERTY, USUALLY JEWELS, WHICH THEY CAN CASH AFTER MONEY REFORM."

JUL 1947

DESPITE THE FACT THAT THE MASS OF GERMANS NO LONGER BELIEVE IN ANYTHING OR NOURISH ANY HOPES, THE WISE ONES NOW ARE PUTTING WHAT MONEY THEY HAVE INTO RE-CONSTRUCTING RUINS.

THEY ARE DOING IT ROOM BY ROOM, USING WHAT MATERIEL IS AVAILABLE IN THE RUINS AND WHAT CAN BE OBTAINED BY BARTER OR ON THE BLACKMARKET.

USUALLY, THE OWNER WITH THE HELP OF A COUPLE OF FRIENDS DOES THE WORK. AND HE DOESN'T HAVE TO BOTHER PUTTING UP A "FOR RENT" SIGN.

Britons Found Hanged in Palestine; Bodies Are Blasted by Booby Trap

Two Corpses Blown to Bits as Soldiers Move to Cut Them Down—Kidnaped Men 'Executed' by Irgun.

JUL 1947

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON.
Chief, Associated Press Bureau in Palestine.

NAC

Natanya, Palestine, July 31 (A. P.).—The blackened and blood-stained bodies of two young British sergeants were found hanged to twin eucalyptus trees in a forest preserve about four miles south of this seacoast resort today.

When British soldiers started to cut them down, a booby trap exploded It blasted the bodies of Sgts Clifford Martin and Mervin Paice to bits and scattered the pieces over hundreds of yards.

[Martin and Paice were kidnaped on July 12 and held by Irgun Zvai Leumi, the Jewish underground, as hostages for the three Jews condemned to hang for their part in the jail delivery at Acre on May 4, in which sixteen persons were slain. The Jews were hanged on Tuesday and Irgun yesterday announced that the hostages likewise had been hanged.]

Thrown to Ground by Blast.

The booby trap had been concealed behind Martin's body. It wounded one Grenadier Guardsman in the face and threw several bystanders to the ground, including the Associated Press photographer, James Pringle, and myself. Pringle's camera was ruined. The blast uprooted the two death trees and sprayed the area with a blanket of dirt and debris.

The scene of the hangings is an isolated eucalyptus grove in one of several Government forestry reserves in the Plains of Sharon, scene of many battles in Biblical times.

Died by Strangulation.

Pinned to the bodies were Hebrew-language inscriptions telling of the "arrest" of the two men and their "trial, conviction and execution in the name of the Jewish struggle for a homeland."

A stench of death permeated the whole area. The faces of both young Britons showed that death was caused by slow strangulation by rudely fashioned nooses. The ropes were looped around limbs close to the four-inch-thick trunks of the trees. The men's hands were tied behind them. Their feet were wired together and their eyes were blindfolded by their shirts. Their undershirts and Army trousers were stained with blood which had poured from gashes cut into their necks by the knotted half-inch ropes.

The blast of the booby trap recalled a warning of Irgun, conveyed to reporters by telephone calls yesterday, not to go near the bodies.

Sees Jewish Hopes Ruined.

Near by but unhurt when the booby trap exploded was the Mayor of Natanya, Oved Ben Ami, who had received information from Hagana, the moderate Jewish defense organization, that the bodies were in the area. Tight-lipped and pale, obviously fearing that Natanya would again come under military rule, he declared: "This is the most brutal crime they've done yet. All we've built for and prayed for, now lies in the dust."

Military personnel in the Natanya area, hearing the circumstances in which the bodies were found, hastened to their bases.

A British civil authority said, however, that there was little chance that martial law would be imposed on the area immediately. "There will be some searches, of course, and the populace may be inconvenienced a bit, but no military control is planned, at least for the present," he said.

The area was cordoned off and dogs were turned loose in an attempt to pick up the trail of the killers.

FIVE JEWS KILLED BY BRITISH TROOPS IN TEL AVIV RIOT

Tommies, Enraged by Hangings, Fire Indiscriminately from Armored Cars.

NEW VIOLENCE FEARED

Haganah Joins in Denouncing Brutal Execution of Two Sergeants.

JERUSALEM, July 31—(AP) The hanging of two British sergeants and the booby trap mutilation of their bodies by a Zionist underground gang brought a bloody response from enraged British troops tonight as five Jews were killed and at least 18 wounded by gunfire from armored cars in the streets of Tel Aviv.

The blackened and bloody bodies of the two 20-year-old sergeants, Clifford Martin and Mervyn Paice, who were seized as hostages by Irgun Zvai Leumi nearly three weeks ago, were found today swinging at the end of nooses in an eucalyptus grove of Natanya. A booby trap exploded and scattered bits of flesh for 100 yards when the first body was cut down.

Greater Violence Feared

Following the finding of the bodies, the terror-racked Holy Land reprisal and counter-reprisal would reprisal and counter-reprisal would far exceed the violence of the past several weeks.

Palestinians did not have long to wait and tonight, a reliable source said, Jews and British soldiers clashed in the streets of the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv and indiscriminate shooting began from armored cars.

NIGHT

The raking of two buses by gunfire caused most of the casualties, the source said. Three persons were killed in one bus and one in another, while a fifth person died in a hospital of bullet wounds. At one time, eight armored cars opened up with their guns, the informant reported.

The dead were two women, two men and a young boy. Damage to shops and other property was placed at $100,000. Late tonight all British troops and British police patrols were withdrawn from Tel Aviv and the tension eased.

In Jerusalem sirens sounded a general alarm at 11:50 p.m., when gunfire was heard near the central police station. The all-clear signal was given a few minutes later. There were no casualties.

A Jewish source said that Haganah, moderate Jewish underground group, was fearful of the result of the Tel Aviv incident—bloodiest single episode in the past weeks' history of Holy Land violence—and ordered its members, which it calls the "Jewish National Defense Army," on a "stand by" basis throughout the country.

Haganah, which termed the hangings of the sergeants as "the most foul act of Irgun murderers yet," was said to believe that the Stern Gang, Irgun's rival in Zionist violence, "may try to kidnap other British soldiers."

Jews Beaten

Prior to the soldiers' gunfire raid in Tel Aviv, five British soldiers stopped their jeep on a street of the Jewish city and began attacking Jews with sticks and stones. The streets quickly were emptied of pedestrian and motor traffic. Business establishments closed their doors and public transportation ground to a halt.

A Tel Aviv cafe was shot up and windows in buildings along the length of one street were smashed. Armored cars were the only vehicles in sight.

The bells of Bethlehem, birthplace of Christ and the traditional cradle of peace and good will, were ordered by the town's Arab mayor to ring a requiem tonight for Sgt. Martin and Sgt. Paice.

The Arab population of Palestine mourned the soldiers and one of its spokesmen, Dr. Hussein Fakri Khalidi, declared that "even in the darkest days of the Arab revolt of 1936 never did such an act darken civilization's record in this part of the world."

In the grove in Natanya, notes in Hebrew from the Jewish underground pinned into the dead flesh of the sergeants, said this was a "military execution by the Jewish resistance," but Natanya's mayor, Oved Ben Ami, called it the "most brutal crime they have done yet."

Hangings Denounced

The Jewish Agency and the Jewish National Council in Jerusalem called the hangings "dastardly murder."

The booby traps blasted the hanged bodies to pieces, wounded in the face the grenadier guardsman who was cutting them down, uprooted the twin eucalyptus trees and knocked to the ground several bystanders, including Associated Press Photographer James Pringle and Correspondent Carter L. Davidson.

The whole area was permeated by a sickening stench from the decomposing bodies when found this morning in the isolated grove four miles south of the resort city and diamond center of Natanya. Doctors estimated the two 20-year-old British soldiers had been hanged 24 hours before, or at about the time that Irgun had issued a "communique" saying the threatened reprisals for Britain's execution of three Jewish terrorists had been carried out.

The grove was in the heart of one of several government forestry preserves in the Plains of Sharon, scene of many battles of Biblical times.

Police and soldiers searched for hours yesterday in the general area after the issuance of the Irgun communique without finding the bodies, and then ended their search because Irgun had warned that the execution area had been mined.

Grim Sight

The men had been hanged to the end of two-foot ropes attached to branches close to the trunks of four-inch trees.

The faces showed the agony of strangulation. The eyes were blindfolded by the men's own shirts, and hands and feet were bound. The undershirts were stained with blood which had dripped from gashes cut in the men's necks by the half-inch ropes. The pants were the same the men were wearing when they were kidnaped July 12 from in front of a Natanya coffee house as hostages for Meir Nakar, Yacoub Weiss and Absolom Habib, three young Jews who were hanged Tuesday for the Acre Prison raid of May 4.

Inscriptions attached to the bodies gave an account of their "arrest" and their "trial, conviction and execution in the name of the Jewish struggle for the homeland."

After a hour-long search of the area for mines, a British soldier started to cut the bodies down. The booby trap exploded from behind the body of Martin, spraying the area with dirt, debris and flesh.

Police tried to impose censorship on pictures at the scene, but Pringle managed to hand some film to a courier for delivery to Jerusalem.

Among those knocked over by the blast was Mayor Ben Ami, who was the first to learn of the finding of the bodies through a tip from Hagana, the illegal Jewish defense organization which had tried to prevent the hangings.

"Most Brutal Crime"

Pale and shaken, Ben Ami said "this is the most brutal crime they have done yet. All we have built for and prayed for now lies in dust."

Paice, dark-haired and grey-eyed, left England August 6, 1946, after completing his infantry and intelligence training. In his spare time he studied music and played a clarinet. He is survived by his parents, two brothers, one a Royal Signals officer, and a sister.

Martin, fair-haired and blue-eyed, enlisted in September, 1944, and transferred to the Intelligence Corps last year. Until twelve years old he had lived in Egypt. His father, at present an invalid, is a former warrant officer in the Australian Army. His mother is Italian.

'Cold-blooded And Dastardly Murder,' Jones Says

SMITH

London, July 31 (AP)—Britain's Colonial Secretary called the execution of two British army sergeants by Palestine's Jewish underground a "cold-blooded and dastardly murder" today. Another Government source hinted at stern new measures to quell violence in the Holy Land.

Simultaneously, the Government informant said the Government would send the 4,500 Jewish refugees of the Exodus 1947 expedition to the British zone of Germany and later possibly to Africa if they persisted in refusing to land at Port de Bouc, France.

NIGHT

"A Dastardly Act"

Crying "horror and revulsion," Arthur Creech Jones, Colonial Secretary, announced the Irgun Zvai Leumi executions of Sergeants Mervyn Paice and Clifford Martin to the House of Commons. Both Conservative and Labor members cheered when he declared the Government would do all in its power to bring "the authors and conspirers" of the executions to justice.

"I express the deep feeling of horror and revulsion shared by all of us here at this barbarous crime," Creech Jones declared. "In the long history of violence in Palestine there has scarcely been a more dastardly act than the cold-blooded and calculated murder of these innocent young men after holding them a hostages for more than a fortnight.

"This was an outrage against men discharging a service in fulfillment of international obligations and was abhorrent in the eyes of all civilized persons everywhere and must surely mean the final condemnation of the terrorists by their own people.

Indignation Runs High

"We can only hope that this latest act will stir the Jewish community in Palestine to root out this evil from their midst."

Creech Jones spoke after a Cabinet meeting at which, Government informants said, the "entire situation" in Palestine was reviewed. One source said the Cabinet would be "guided by public opinion" in future decisions regarding security measures.

Public indignation in Britain, fanned by banner line newspaper stories about the executions, ran high.

Telegrams of condolence poured in to the families of the dead soldiers. The Jewish Agency for Palestine issued a statement condemning "the dastardly murder of two innocent men." The Zionist Federation of Great Britain and Ireland issued a similar statement.

Government Is Blamed

At Bristol, home town of Sergeant Paice, 20, the Lord Mayor and Rabbi A. Freedman released statements deploring the executions.

"We do blame the Government," said Frederick Kemp, son-in-law of Mrs. F. R. Martin, mother of the other dead sergeant, also 20 years old. "Surely they know how desperate these people are and they could have waited until our boys were safe before executing the terrorists."

Mrs. Martin collapsed when she heard the news and was reported in serious condition at her home in Coventry.

May Be Taken "By Force"

After the Cabinet met, an authoritative informant said the Jewish refugees who failed to crack the British blockade of Palestine aboard the vessel President Warfield, renamed Exodus 1947, would be taken "by force" to Hamburg, Germany, if they stuck to their vow to go ashore nowhere except in Palestine.

After that, this informant said, the group would be resettled in "some other British-controlled area, possibly in Africa." Three hundred Jews deported by the British from Palestine several months ago were settled in Kenya, at Gil Gil, near the Ethiopian border.

Britain offered many years ago to create a Jewish national home in another of its African territories, Uganda, inland from Kenya, but Jewish leaders held out for Palestine.

ACTION OF JEWS HELD 'MURDER'

British Colonial Secretary Condemns Hangings.

SM 17H

London, July 31 (A. P.).—The British Government officially condemned today what it called the "cold-blooded and dastardly murder" of two British Army sergeants by Irgun Zvai Leumi, Palestine underground organization.

Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones, speaking in Parliament for the Labor Government, announced the executions and commented: "I express the deep feeling of horror and revulsion shared by all of us here at this barbarous act."

A Government source said that the Cabinet had reviewed the whole situation in the tense Holy Land at a noon meeting. The informant said the Cabinet had decided to send the 4,500 Jewish refugees of the Exodus 1947 expedition to the British zone of Germany, and perhaps later to some other British area, possibly in Africa, if they persisted in refusing to disembark at the French city of Port-de-Bouc. The Jews, mostly from Poland, were taken there after the British fleet blocked their attempt to enter Palestine without visas.

Papers Banner Hangings.

The Government source said the Cabinet's decision regarding the internal situation in Palestine, a British mandate from the first world war, would be "influenced by public opinion." He did not elaborate.

British newspapers bannered the Palestine hangings, which the Irgun Zvai Leumi carried out after the British hanged three of its members earlier in the week for taking part in a prison delivery.

"In the long history of violence in Palestine, there has scarcely been a more dastardly act than the cold-blooded and calculated murder of these innocent young men, after holding them as hostages for more than a fortnight," Creech Jones told the House of Commons.

"This was an outrage against men discharging a service in fulfillment of international obligations and was abhorent in the eyes of all civilized persons everywhere and must surely mean the final condemnation of the terrorists by their own people.

"We can only hope that this latest act will stir the Jewish community in Palestine to root out this evil from their midst."

Eden Poses Question.

Anthony Eden asked, for the Conservative opposition, if "in view of these terrible acts," the Labor Government would "take unrelenting steps to see to it that both the authors and conspirers are brought to justice?"

The House cheered his question.

Creech Jones replied that the Palestine mandate government, police and military authorities "will do and are doing everything in their power to secure that end."

Oliver Stanley, as an official spokesman for the Conservative party, associated the opposition with Creech Jones's expression of sympathy for the dead men's family.

The widowed mother of one of the executed sergeants, Clifford Martin, collapsed in Coventry and was reported in a serious condition.

Clayton And Cripps Confer In Paris

JUL

Paris, July 31 (AP)—William L. Clayton, United States Under Secretary of State, continuing his series of European economic conferences, met tonight with Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the British Board of Trade, at dinner at Clayton's hotel.

The purpose of their conversation was reported to be a general exchange of views on topics currently being examined by the International Trade Conference in Geneva, including the question of tariffs between the United States and the British Empire.

Sir Stafford, British delegate to the Geneva conference, will return to London tomorrow to confer with his Government, British sources said.

Palestine Historical Report To Be Discussed

Geneva, Switzerland, July 31 (AP). Emil Sandstroem, chairman of the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine, said tonight that the group would begin discussion immediately of the historical section of its report.

Asked at a news conference if the committee report to United Nations would be unanimous, the Swedish justice replied: "That is impossible to say."

A subcommittee representing ten of the eleven nations participating will tour Jewish displaced persons camps in Europe. Peru, which has no alternate delegate here, abstained.

Sandstroem said that, in general terms, the report would first deal with the historical background of the Palestine question, then with an analysis of "several possible solutions" and finally with implementations of the solution recommended.

The committee wound up its investigation in Palestine last week.

"What we have seen and heard has urged upon us the necessity for a speedy solution," Sandstroem said. "A clear picture of the situation was something new for us individually."

Constituent Assembly Votes Ratification Of Italian Peace Treaty

Rome, July 31 (AP)—With Communist deputies abstaining and left-wing Socialists in opposition, the Constituent Assembly authorized the Government tonight to ratify the Italian Peace Treaty. The vote was 262 to 68.

The final decision came after three days of often acrimonious debate and a last-minute effort to delay the vote. Of 410 deputies present out of a membership of 556, 80 abstained. The formal decree read as follows:

NIGHT

"The Government of the Republic is authorized to ratify the peace treaty between Allied and associated powers which Italy signed at Paris February 10, 1947, conditioning Italy's ratification to that of all the powers nominatively mentioned in Article 90 of the treaty."

The treaty specifies that ratification instruments must be deposited by all Big Four powers with the French Foreign Office before the treaty becomes operative. Russia is the only Big Four power which has not ratified thus far.

Must Recognize Ethiopia

The treaty assesses Italy $360,000,000 in reparations, divided as follows: Russia, $100,000,000; Yugoslavia, $125,000,000; Greece, $105,000,000; Ethiopia, $25,000,000, and Albania, $5,000,000.

Italy also loses her African colonies of Eritrea, Somaliland and Libya and is required to recognize the independence of Albania and Ethiopia. She loses the Dodecanese Islands to Greece, the port of Trieste becomes an internationalized territory under United Nations control and she loses minor border areas to France and Yugoslavia.

The treaty limits Italy's armed forces to a total of 297,500 men, 200 tanks, 67,500 tons of warships, exclusive of two battleships, and 350 planes, 200 of them fighters, the others of a noncombat variety. Three battleships, five cruisers, eight destroyers and other vessels of the Italian navy are to be distributed among Big Four powers.

256,983 Germans Released by Russia

Berlin, July 31 (A. P.).—Russian authorities announced today that 256,983 German war prisoners and civilian internees had been repatriated from the Soviet Union in the last twelve months.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov told the Foreign Ministers Council at Moscow last spring that the Russians still held approximately 900,000 German war prisoners.

Coal Output Dips

ESSEN, July 30 (Delayed) (AP).—Ruhr coal production decreased 4,000 tons the first working day after announcement of a food-parcel incentive plan for miners, mining officials disclosed. Production Monday was 223,937 tons, compared with 227,621 the previous Monday.

North German control officials said they could not account for the drop, except that possibly the miners passed part of the working day in discussing the promised extra food

Vince Nagy Flees Hungary

Anti-Red Reported in Austria; Not Related to Ex-Premier

BUDAPEST, July 31 (AP).—Hungarian informants said today that Vince Nagy, deputy leader of the defunct Szabadsag Party, had fled the country, fearing arrest for anti-Communist speeches.

He is no relation of former Premier Ferenc Nagy. He was said to have left two days ago and was believed to be in the United States zone of Austria. His party, led by Dezso Sulyok, recently dissolved itself and abandoned Parliament.

U.S. Craft For Greeks

Athens, July 31 (AP)—Rear Admiral John A. Snackenberg, chief naval attaché of the American aid-Greece mission, said today he expected an agreement to be concluded within a week for transfer of six American patrol boats to the Greek navy—the first request received from the navy under the aid program.

The vessels, of approximately 450 tons each, are less than 3 years old, Snackenberg said, adding that the naval division of the aid mission was surveying and processing Greek navy statements of material requirements for the coming year under the $12,000,000 alloted for naval needs.

These requirements, the admiral said, included machinery, spare parts, fuel, medical supplies, general stores and technical equipment.

NIGHT

To Serve As Administrators

Dwight Griswold, head of the mission, said today that American experts working in liaison with Greek ministries and Government organizations would not be limited to advisory functions but would serve as administrators.

Greek press reports said the Greek Government was objecting to this, desiring the experts to serve only as consultants.

Guerrilla fighting continued in northern Greece.

Near Kozane, in western Macedonia, Maj. Gen. Christos Mandas, commander of the 15th division of the Greek Army, narrowly escaped death when a mine exploded 30 yards in front of his staff car. Ten soldiers were hurt, one of them gravely.

A press report from Salonika said guerrillas attacked Alexandroupolis in western Thrace but had "been unable to reach their objective." The dispatch said Government troops were dispatched to the scene to prevent, if possible, the escape of the guerrillas into Bulgaria.

Fighting On Bulgar Border

Another Salonika press report said 40 guerrillas were killed and 60 wounded in heavy fighting north of Xanthe, near the Bulgarian border, across which the dispatch said the bodies were taken.

The Ministry of Public Order said 63 guerrillas surrendered voluntarily in the Peloponnesus during recent mopping-up operations. It said orders had been issued for the release of 279 deportees from concentration camps after they signed "of their own free will a declaration condemning the Communist rebellion and disavowing KKE (Greek Communist party) methods."

Eight guerrillas sentenced to death by a military court at Serrai were executed today.

'Voice' Broadcast Heard More Clearly

Moscow, July 31 (A. P.).—The second midnight "Voice of America" broadcast to the Soviet Union was heard farily clearly by radio listeners here last night.

Although the musical portion of the program was distorted by interference, the news was clearly audible and reception generally was much better than for the first midnight broadcast the night before last.

Forts Flying Here From Tokyo

Eight Super-Craft Leave for Washington on 7,086-Mile Air Force Day Test.

Tokyo, July 31 (A. P.).—Eight superfortresses took off today on a one-stop flight to Washington in a display of long-distance United States aerial might for Army Air Force Day tomorrow.

The last of the big ships took off at 3:09 P. M. (2:09 A. M., Eastern daylight time). Their only scheduled stop will be Anchorage, Alaska. The squadron expects to show up over Washington by noon tomorrow.

The pilots expected to cover the gruelling 7,086 miles across the North Pacific, Alaska, Canada and a northern arc of the United States in about thirty-one hours. A maximum of three hours hours was expected to be consumed in refuellling at Anchorage.

'Don't Spare Horsepower.'

Shortly before their departure, the crews of the eight ships received this message from their commander, Brig.-Gen. Roger M. Ramey, chief of the Eighth Air Force: "Bring 'em on home and don't spare the horsepower."

The departure was from the Yokota air field, thirty miles west of Tokyo. Here the flyers had been undergoing intense training since their arrival from the United States on July 2.

The purpose of the flight is to train the men in fast, long-distance operations and is timed so that it will wind up right in the middle of Air Force Day in the Untied States.

The bombers are scheduled to be met by a jet fighter escort from Andrews Field, Md., over Martinsburg, W. Va., at 12:38 A. M. (Eastern daylight time) tomorrow, if all goes well. The jets will accompany them across Washington's skies in a low-level flight between the Pentagon Building and the Washington Monument.

In charge of the bomber squadron is 32-year-old Lieut.-Col. Howard F. Hugos, a veteran of fifteen bombing missions over Japan during the war.

Can Use Aleutian Bases.

In the first perilous 3,566-mile hop to Anchorage the squadron will have the benefit of Aleutian air bases, should any plane develop engine trouble.

The route from Anchorage, on the last 3,520 miles to Washington, will go by way of the Gulf of Alaska; Watson Lake, Alaska; a point near Edmonton, Canada; Regina, Canada; Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Detroit, Cleveland, Martinsburg and Washington.

Hugos said he was prepared to take a shorter route if the squadron runs behind schedule. This would include the western part of Lake Superior, Sault Ste. Marie, Lake Huron and Lake Erie and a point near Philadelphia to Martinsburg.

The heavily-laden Superforts carried 160 men, including ground and maintenance crews which serviced the ships in Japan, and nine newspaper and radio newsmen.

Montgomery Cuts Australian Visit

Sydney, July 31 (A. P.).—Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, chief of the Imperial General Staff, arrived here from New Zealand today and planned to depart for England tomorrow for important conferences on Britain's manpower program.

Montgomery cut short his New Zealand visit and canceled a trip to Japan because of the urgency of the impending talks.

Malang Is Captured by Dutch

Resort City in East Central Java Burned by Retiring Indonesian Forces.

Batavia, July 31 (A. P.).—The Dutch Army announced tonight the capture of fire-scarred Malang, former resort city which is the key to east central Java.

"The town is a wilderness," the first semi-official dispatch said. "Important buildings, factories, a convent and cinemas were blown up and burnt days ago. Shops were pillaged and the city is dead."

More than 100,000 Indonesians left Malang ahead of the Dutch forces, the dispatch said. Only the Chinese and Eurasians stayed behind, it continued, adding: "Everywhere Malang presented a picture of desolation. According to the population, looting commenced a week ago and also demolitions of public buildings by the 'Revolutionary Army.' These included members of the regular Indonesian forces and other organizations made up of people from the island of Celebes. The local authorities were powerless. Indonesian snipers left the town today."

Report Warship Sunk.

In a broadcast communique the Indonesian Republicans said earlier that the Dutch were within mortar range of the city and that the Indonesians were applying the scorched-earth policy.

On the other hand, the Republicans also asserted that their forces were within twelve miles of Batavia and had reoccupied the perimeter towns of Tangerang, Serpong and Tjimene. The Dutch, however, dismissed this claim as nonsense, and the Associated Press reporter found no sign of Republican activity in the general region about Batavia.

In an earlier broadcast, the Republicans declared that Indonesian shore batteries sank a Dutch warship off Tjimiring, in Central Java. The Indonesians also said that the Dutch had occupied Lahat, in Sumatra, west of Palembang, but that Indonesian troops had halted this advance.

The Indonesians said that another column of the Dutch Army, equipped largely with United States lend-lease and surplus war supplies, had cut nearly halfway across the waist of Java in a drive from Tegal, on the north coast, to the region of Bobotsari, thirty-five miles to the southeast. The Republicans asserted that the Dutch were using a company of Japanese in the attack.

Autonomous Territories.

Meanwhile, the Dutch authorities, who since July 20 have been reducing the Republic's territory by military means, moved today to do the same thing by political action as well.

The Dutch established the islands of Bangka and Billiton and the Riouw archipelago, as autonomous territories in the projected United States of Indonesia. These territories all had been regarded as part of the Republic—along with Java, Sumatra and Madoera—under the Cheribon agreement of last March, which provided for a U. S. I. to become a sovereign and equal partner of the Netherlands under the Dutch crown on January 1, 1949.

[Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand today joined Australia in asking that the Indonesian question be submitted to the Security Council of the United Nations, BBC, as monitored by NBC, said today.]

Indonesia Advance By Dutch

Batavia, Java, July 31 (AP)—The scorched city of Malang, seat of the Indonesian Republic's Parliament, fell to the Dutch today, the Netherlands Army announced, and other Dutch columns raced toward the blazing town of Tjilatjap, chief republican port of the South Java coast.

A high Dutch official said Dutch columns spearing southward across west central Java from Tegal were within 20 miles of Tjilatjap, the last important Republican-hald port in Java. A Republican communiqué acknowledged tonight that Dutch columns were "advancing" on two fronts south from Tegal.

Would Cut Republic In Two

This official said there was an "80 per cent chance" that other Dutch troops already had, or by tomorrow would have, landed on the south coast near Tjilatjap to seize the port and prevent further destruction. Capture of this port would cut the Indonesian Republic in two virtually at its center.

Semi-official Dutch dispatches from the resort city of Malang, considered the key to east central Java, said: "The town is a wilderness. Important buildings, factories, convents, cinemas were blown up days ago. Shops have been pillaged and the city is dead."

An earlier communiqué from the Indonesian Army said "the scorched-earth policy has been applied since yesterday" in Malang. It said the city had been under Dutch mortar fire and had been strafed by Netherlands planes. One hundred thousand Indonesians were reported to have fled the city ahead of the Dutch troops.

Columns Veer Eastward

Malang, once considered Java's most beautiful city, lies 50 miles due south of the naval base of Soerabaja and approximately 125 miles west of Java's eastern tip. The Dutch say they hold most of the eastern end of the island.

A Dutch informant said columns moving southward from Tegal today suddenly veered to the eastward and raced in a semi-circular drive through mid-Java without encountering opposition.

A strategic railway bridge across the Serajoe River was captured intact, this informant said, and the near-by town of Banjoemas, 8 miles south of Poerwokerto, also was taken without opposition. Banjoemas frequently was a meeting place for the executive committee of the Indonesian Parliament.

Official Denies Speed Up

A party of Chinese journalists returning from the north-central front said the Dutch reached Poerwokerto, 40 miles from Tegal, yesterday. The Indonesians conceded that the Dutch were more than halfway across Java in that vicinity, near Bobotsari, 35 miles southwest of Tegal.

In reply to a question, a Dutch official said today that the Dutch had not speeded their military operations in order to present a fait accompli before the United Nations Security Council can act on appeals to study the Indonesian dispute. He said the drive was moving so swiftly only because there was so little opposition.

He said no decision had yet been reached as to whether to move on the Republican capital of Jogjakarta after the capture of Tjilatjap.

Claim Towns Reoccupied

An Indonesian communiqué said Republican forces had reoccupied three towns about 20 miles west of Batavia and were proceeding toward that seat of Dutch administration "from various sides." The towns were identified as Tangerang, Serpong and Tjimene. The Dutch said this report was "nonsense."

The communiqué also said Indonesian shore batteries had sunk a "Dutch warship" off Tjimiring, in central Java, while anti-aircraft batteries downed a Dutch B-25 bomber during a combined sea-air attack on Tjilatjap. They said another Dutch B-25 was shot down at Boemiajoe, midway between Tegal and Tjilatjap.

The Indonesians said their forces had reoccupied Soekaboemi, west of Bandoeng, and had halted Dutch forces which occupied Lahat, in Sumatra, west of Palembang.

Both sides accused the other of using Japanese troops and weapons.

Picture Of Desolation

Semi-official dispatches said only Chinese and Eurasian residents remained in Malang as the Dutch forces rolled in.

"Everywhere Malang presented a picture of desolation," one Dutch dispatch said. "According to the population, looting commenced a week ago and also demolitions of public buildings by the 'revolutionary army.' These included members of the regular Indonesian forces and other organizations made up of people from the island of Celebes. Local authorities were powerless. Indonesian snipers left the town today."

An unofficial observer who flew over burning Malang yesterday said the town hall was virtually destroyed and that the Court of Justice, used by the Indonesians as a high school, had been put to the torch.

Call To Drop Arms

Netherland planes flew over the eastern end of Java today, dropping pamphlets instructing Republican troops to throw down their arms and raise their hands when Dutch patrols approach. The pamphlets said that after registration any persons who surrendered would be permitted to return home, with only "criminal extremists" being jailed.

Dutch officers said three Republican battalions surrendered in East Java recently, with only a few being kept prisoner.

The Dutch reported fighting continued on Sumatra. A communiqué said Republican forces counterattacked Loebaeknakam, in North Sumatra, immediately after the Dutch entered, but were repulsed. Another force counterattacked Dhirak, in the south, the Dutch said.

INDONESIAN COMMUNIQUES

BATAVIA, July 31 (AP)—An Indonesian Army communique, as recorded here from a Jogjakarta broadcast:

East Java—Our pressure on Lawang was intensified.

West Java—On July 29 Tangerang, Serpong and Chimene were reoccupied by our troops. From several directions our troops are marching on to Batavia.

On July 30 Sukabumi was reoccupied by our troops. We remain in full control of Majalaya and Chiparaj.

An Indonesian Army broadcast communique as heard by an unofficial monitor:

East Java—A Dutch Catalina dropped grenades at Arjosari, north of Malang.

Last night Malang was heavily grenaded and machine-gunned.

Reconnaissance flights over Malang and Aepanjen were made by Dutch planes. Scorched earth tactics have been applied since last night.

Central Java—Dutch units are at Srongojoso, including one company of Japanese soldiers. Fighting goes on southeast of Baumiaju.

Sumatra—After having occupied Lahat, the Dutch headed for Tebingtinggi. Fighting ensued in which thousands of people took part in support of our forces. The Dutch were repulsed, losing one truck. Several Dutch and Japanese were killed. Our losses were one killed.

Padang Front—Fighting occurred at Tabing, where the Dutch carried away fifteen persons. One person was shot.

The Dutch approached Muarakatjang with one tank and three trucks. Fighting ensued and the Dutch were repulsed.

Pilot Downed in Java Got British Warning

London, July 31 (A. P.).—A Foreign Office spokesman said today that the pilot of the Indian plane shot down in Java by Dutch fighters on Tuesday ignored a warning to fly along only a prescribed route with its cargo of medical supplies. The plane went down in flames near Jogjakarta, the Republican capital.

The spokesman said that the Singapore authorities gave the warning to A. N. Constantine, former R. A. F. wing commander, who died with his wife in the flaming wreckage.

At Jogjakarta today Christian burial services were read for the English by an Indonesian Catholic priest. Premier Amir Sjarifoeddin and a large crowd attended.

Filipinos Against Force.

Manila, July 31 (A. P.).—Members of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Philippine House of Representatives urged the Netherlands today to cease using force in Indonesia.

In a public statement, the committee said that "repression" could not solve a political question and the Netherlands would do better to develop a relationship with the Indonesians similar to that between the United States and the Philippines.

Senators Told Contract Gives Hughes Use of Flying Boat for 4 Years

By C. B. Allen

WASHHINGTON, July 31.—A subpoena calling for the immediate appearance of Howard Hughes, California aircraft designer and motion-picture producer, was issued late today by a subcommittee of the Senate special war investigating committee inquiring into war-time contracts for the still unflown 200-ton Kaiser-Hughes flying boat.

The action was taken by Senator Homer Ferguson, Republican, of Michigan, subcommittee chairman, after Mr. Hughes had failed to give assurance that he would appear voluntarily, as requested, at tomorrow morning's session. Senator Ferguson had planned to put Mr. Hughes on the stand simultaneously with John W. Meyer, press agent, who already has told subcommittee executive sessions of lavish entertainment for high government officials in behalf of Mr. Hughes.

[In Hollywood, Mr. Hughes was quoted by The Associated Press as saying that, while pressure of business prevented him from going to Washington this week, he will be there Wednesday to answer questions.]

Meyer Flying to U. S.

Mr. Meyer was on his way to Washington from Paris by air tonight both at the committee's request and on instructions from his employer. He will take the stand alone unless there is a last-minute switch in the investigators' strategy.

Originally, Senator Ferguson announced that Mr. Hughes was to be the final witness. However, he changed his mind and asked that he appear on thirty-six hours' notice, following Mr. Hughes's charges yesterday about the investigation.

These were to the effect that Senator Owen Brewster, Republican, of Maine, chairman of the full Senate Committee, offered last winter to call off the Kaiser-Hughes investigation if Mr. Hughes would agree to a merger of Trans World Airline and Pan American World Airways. The aircraft designer, in addition to his other activities, is a principal stockholder in T. W. A.

Mr. Hughes charged that Senator Brewster had tried to "coerce" him into the alleged deal with Pan American at a private luncheon in the Senator's hotel suite in Washington.

Senator Ferguson said he was still uncertain whether he would ask Senator Brewster to take the stand and testify concerning Mr. Hughes's accusations.

The decision to subpoena Mr. Hughes followed the surprise disclosure at ths afternoon's session that Mr. Hughes's flying-boat contract with the government contains an unusual provision permitting him to operate the big craft for at least four years after it first flies before he has to turn it over to the government.

As an alternative, the Defense Plants Corporation, which drew up the agreement, may take over the aircraft by paying Mr. Hughes $2,000,000, in addition to more than $21,000,000 already invested in the project by the government, today's testimony showed.

Senator Ferguson read a clause from the D. P. C. "letter of intent," under which the Hughes Aircraft Company took over on March 27, 1944, the job of completing the flying boat after cancellation of the original contract with Mr. Hughes and Henry J. Kaiser, war-time producer of surface shipping.

According to the letter, the D. P. C. and Mr. Hughes committed themselves to a leasing arrangement whereby Mr. Hughes would take possession of the giant aircraft "within a year" after its delivery to the D. P. C. He then could operate it as he saw fit for a monthly rental of $37,500, plus $50 an hour for the time he flies it and an operating fee of $6.25 an hour for each of its eight engines.

Hughes Gets Lease in '48

Asked after the hearing whether this did not mean the government would have the use of the flying boat for a year after Mr. Hughes finished test-flying it, Senator Brewster said that, on the contrary, the plane had been "delivered" to the D. P. C. on Feb. 10 this year and that the leasing agreement will become effective on the corresponding date in 1948.

He and other members of the committee emphasized that the normal useful life of aircraft is reckoned at "four or five years" and that the flying boat will be a virtually worn-out product before Mr. Hughes has to turn it over to the government.

Purpose of the rental agreement, the contract declared, was to reimburse Mr. Hughes for personal funds which he put into the flying boat after the government refused to contribute more than the $18,000,000 originally allocated to the Kaiser-Hughes organization to build three such craft.

The commitee developed yesterday, through papers subpoenaed from the Hyde Park estate of the late President Roosevelt and by corroborative testimony from Jesse H. Jones, war-time chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and former Secretary of Commerce, that Mr. Roosevelt had intervened to prevent complete cancellation of the Kaiser-Hughes project and had been instrumental in bringing about the substitute arrangement under which Mr. Hughes alone carried out development of the flying boat.

Surprise Revelation

Mr. Jones's testimony indicated Mr. Hughes had put "several" million dollars" of his own into the project which he never would get back. As a consequence, development today of the fact that Mr. Hughes had arranged for at least partial reimbursement from the D. P. C., one of the R. F. C.'s subsidiary organizations, came as a surprise to those attending the hearings.

Almost equal surprise over the rental agreement was expressed by a witness familiar with the D. P. C.-Hughes contract. H. Robert Edwards, D. P. C. supervising engineer at the Hughes factory in Culver City, Calif., at the time the flying boat was being built, said that in all his experience as a government employee he had "never heard of any other such arrangement" and that he didn't know why it had been made.

Both he and J. H. Roper, the D.P.C.'s principal engineer in the Los Angeles area during the war-time phases of the flying boat's construction, read into the record and confirmed a series of reports by Mr. Edwards and other D.P.C. representatives concerning poor management conditions at the Hughes plant which resulted in the flying-boat project (1) falling far behind production estimates and (2) vastly exceeding cost predictions by the Kaiser-Hughes organization.

Admit Little Was Done

They insisted it was up to their "Washington superiors," rather than them, to do something about the situation. and admitted, under committee prodding, that little was done. As a consequence, they said, it rapidly became apparent that the one flying boat produced was going to exceed the original estimate of $18,000,000 cost for three such planes.

Asked what the government's final "total commitments" for the flying boat were, Mr. Roper said they included a basic price of $18,000,000, plus $1,350,000 for engines, propellers and other "government-furnished equipment," $1,500,000 allowed for moving the craft's wing and hull twenty-seven miles from the plant to a coastal site to be assembled and flown, and $265,970.44 for additional equipment furnished by the government. After some hesitation, he said this added up to $21,115,-970.44, exclusive of the $2,000,000 rental kickback to Mr. Hughes.

As a climax to the day's hearing, Charles I. Stanton, Deputy Administrator of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, and two of the C. A. A.'s aircraft technicians, A. A. Vollmecke and W. A. Klickoff, took the stand and stoutly disclaimed the C. A. A.'s reported "supervisory authority" over construction of the flying boat.

C. A. A. Check on Construction

Mr. Stanton testified that the C. A. A. merely had been asked by the old War Production Board, which authorized the Kaiser-Hughes project over opposition from the Army, Navy and its own aeronautical experts, to keep a check on the craft's construction from an airworthiness point of view with the eventual object of issuing it a C. A. A. "approved-type certificate" and to "keep the W. P. B. advised."

Mr. Stanton and his aids testified that the originally estimated empty weight of the plane was 225,000 pounds, whereas their latest information was that it would exceed this figure by 25,000 pounds, with a consequent reduction in its potential pay load.

Mr. Stanton added that, even if the flying boat passes all its tests successfully, the C. A. A. never will be able to give it anything except an "X" or experimental license. This will bar it from commercial use, he said. This, he said, is because a prerequisite requirement for a C. A. A. "C" license, or commercial certificate to carry passengers and cargo, calls for the "load-testing to destruction" of the wing and other components of aircraft to determine what their flight-safety factors will be. "There's only one of these ships," he said, "and we'd either have to break it up to test it or build another one."

Hughes Asserts Brewster Tries To 'Smear Me'

Denies Story About Plane Stewardess, Hits 'Circus Ballyhoo' by Senators

LOS ANGELES, July 31 (AP).—Howard Hughes, plane maker, charged in a statement today that Senator Owen Brewster, Republican, of Maine, chairman of a Senate committee investigating his war contracts, is attempting to "smear me," and added that he will be in Washington Wednesday to answer questions.

In his second statement of the day, Mr. Hughes said Senator Homer Ferguson, Republican, of Michigan, chairman of a subcommittee investigating his $18,000,000 flying-boat contract, had granted him "a ridiculously short" time in which to appear. He added that pressure of business will prevent him going to Washington until next week.

He said Senator Ferguson in a press release today had "insinuated that I had refused to agree to appear before his committee at any specific time."

Hits "Circus Ballyhoo"

He said Senators Brewester and Ferguson are trying to make it appear they "are hat on the trail of an esaping criminal," and spoke of their activities as "circus balyyhoo."

In his earlier statement Mr. Hughes charged that Senator Brewtser is trying to "smear me with a yarn about an airplane hostess." He referred to a statement attributed to Senator Brewster that a Trans-World Airline stewardess refused to accompany the flyer on a plane trip because she "didn't dare" to be alone with him. Mr. Hughes incorporated in his statements signed testimonials by the stewardess and a pilot designed to refute the assertion.

The manufacturer said, "It is a sad situation when a United States Senator has to drag a lot of innocent girls into a Congressional hearing in order to achieve personal publicity."

Mr. Hughes again referred to his allegation that Senator Brewster, while criticizing the plane maker's entetrainments for government officials, had once accepted $1,400 worth of free plane trips from Mr. Hughes.

First Hughes Statement

Mr. Hughes's first statement follows:

"Never mind the double talk, Senator, why don't you answer the question? And while you are quoting the Bible, how about the part that says, 'Thou shalt not lie'?

"When I charged that you accepted $1,400 worth of free airplane trips from me, you replied with a lie. I have proved that by the official records of the telephone company.

"Now here is another lie you told:

"You tried to smear me with a yarn about an airplane hostess. You made a statement to the press that the hostess refused to accompany us when I flew you, free of charge, to Columbus, Ohio, because she 'didn't dare' to be alone with me in the airplane on the return flight.

"But here is a signed statement by the hostess:

"'I have read Senator Brewster's statement that I refused to make the trip to Columbus in Mr. Hughes's airplane because I didn't want to return to Washington alone with Mr. Hughes in his airplane.

"'This is the most ridiculous statement I have ever heard.

"'There never was any thought, on the part of Mr. Hughes or any one else, that I would return in the airplane with him. It was naturally intended that I should remain in Columbus and return with the Senators in the other airplane to look after their needs on the return flight.

"'Even if I had returned in the airplane with Mr. Hughes, I would not have been alone with him because there was a flight engineer in the airplane also.

"'This accusation of Senator Brewster's is absolutely untrue.

"'HARRIET APPLEWICK.'"

Plane Captain's Statement

"And here is a signed statement from the captain of the other airplane which I furnished to cart you around the country free of charge:

"'I was the captain of the airplane which was sent to Columbus to pick up Senator Brewster and another Senator on the night of Feb. 11, 1947.

"'I was present when Mr. Hughes left Washington for Columbus with the two Senators in his airplane. I was present during all conversation with Miss Harriet Applewick, the hostess.

"'There was never any thought of her returning with Hr. Hughes in his airplane.

"'I am very familiar with the operation of Mr. Hughes's airplane and I can say to my knowledge he has never carried a hostess in his airplane at any time. The only reason for the hostess being present on this occasion at all was for the purpose of serving food to the Senators and looking after their requirements.

(Signed) "'M. E. BELL.

"It is a sad situation when a United States Senator has to drag a lot of innocent girls into a Congressional hearing in order to achieve personal publicity. But when he resorts to bringing in the Bible and finds it necessary to involve an air-line hostess with a sex implication, I think that is really the last straw."

By the Biblical reference, Mr. Hughes apparently meant Senator Brewster's remark yesterday, "I simply refer any one interested (in Mr. Hughes's contention that the investigation is an effort to force a merger of two air lines) to Chapter 6 in the Book of Nehemiah."

The Senator cited no verses, but an edition published by the American Bible Society summarizes the chapter thusly:

"Sanballat practiseth by craft, by rumors, by hired prophecies, to terrify Nehemiah. The work is finished to the terror of the enemies."

Hughes Statement on Plans

In his separate statement, dealing with his plans to appear in Washington, Mr. Hughes declared:

"Senator Ferguson's press release this afternoon insinuated that I had refused to agree to appear before his committee at any specific time.

"This is the most obvious proof that the apparent purpose of this entire investigation has been to put the screws on me through the release of unfavorable publicity.

"Every publicity release from Washington has been slanted to mislead the public.

"This last endeavor to show that Senators Brewster and Ferguson are the great protectors of the public interest and that they are not on the trail of an escaping criminal is typical of the earlier circus ballyhoo.

"The true facts are these:

"Last week the attorney for my company, Mr. Tom Slack, made a firm agreement with Mr. Rogers, counsel for Brewster's committee, which specified that I appear and testify before the committee Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 6 and 7.

Pressure of Work

"Now, I am trying to carry on my regular work out here, including the Army-required test flight of the XF-11, one of the airplanes which the committee is investigating. Along with all this, I have been forced to answer all of these lurid publicity blasts from Senators Brewster and Ferguson. And I am trying to conduct an expensive research and get together a lot of dates and figures involved in this matter so that I can testify intelligently when I get back to Washington.

"The original nine-day notice of this hearing, which is all I received, was ridiculously short.

"So I have gotten not more than about two hours a night sleep for the last week, which, as you know, was one of the hottest in history. In addition, I have not completely recovered from my accident of last year. (An XF-11 cracked up in flight, sending Mr. Hughes to the hospital for weeks.)

"So it was under these circumstances that Senator Ferguson called me on the phone yesterday afternoon at 5:30 p. m. and told me to appear in Washington before his committee this morning at 10 a. m.

Won't Be 'Trained Seal'

"I simply replied that, under the circumstances, I refused to jump through a hoop like a trained seal and fly all night and appear the next morning without any sleep to testify all day on a most important matter.

"I made a firm agreement with Ferguson's committee that I would appear Wednesday, Aug. 6.

"I expect to have my facts and figures and dates researched and available at that time. I have made my plans to go across the country to Washington at that time.

"I am a little tired of being pushed around and intimidated by Senators Brewster and Ferguson just because they have some very strong powers which are granted to all Senators, but which are not intended to be misused for the promotion of a three-ring publicity circus."

U.S. EXPORT TRADE DISPLAYS SIGNS OF WEAKENING

WASHINGTON, July 31 — (AP) American exports in June slumped 13 percent below May's record.

The census bureau, reporting today that June shipments were $180,000,000 below the May peak of $1,422,000,000 called it "the first substantial interruption in the recent rising trend of exports."

President Truman in an economic report to Congress last Monday, had classed the "extraordinary excess of exports over imports" as one of three "temporary props" beneath the nation's high employment and production levels.

Seen "Turning Point"

Some government foreign trade experts privately called the export decline "a probable turning point" —the beginning of a downtrend in a $16,000,000,000-a-year business now furnishing employment for an estimated 3,500,000 Americans.

Others, somewhat more cautious, noted that there was a two-day shipping strike in June and that the month had one less working day than May. They said this might have accounted for part of the drop.

But all tended toward agreement that if June did not mark the turning point, July or August almost certainly will show the export profit sinking.

There was agreement also on the causes:

1. Rapid shrinking of foreign holdings of gold and U. S. dollars, the only kinds of money that will pay for American goods.

2. Tightening up by foreign countries on their purchases to conserve buying power that is fading while need for it grows.

Commerce Department officials estimated foreign holdings of gold and dollars had dropped $1,000,000,000 or more during the second quarter of the year as foreign buying in the U. S. ate into this reserve.

They figured other countries still have upwards of $19,000,000,000 in gold and dollar assets, but observed that the holdings are unevenly distributed so that many countries in greatest need of reconstruction have little.

Tighten Up on Buying

The number of countries tightening up on buying in the U. S. through import restrictions has been growing. It now includes Sweden, Mexico and several South American countries, with Britain and others likely to join the list.

Simultaneously, the unspent amount of U. S. loans that have furnished the means for paying about half the net debt of other countries on trade with the U. S. has shrunk below $4,400,000,000 at a rate indicating exhaustion in a comparatively few months.

Hard-pressed Britain, spending its $3,750,000,000 loan twice as fast as originally expected, has used $700,000,000 this month alone and has but $1,000,000,000 left — an amount seemingly sure to be gone by the end of the year.

On the effects of dwindling foreign trade, government analysts made two principal points:

1. Business and employment would be thrown out of line, but there will be relief from some of the current inflation in this country as outsiders drop out of the competition to buy goods.

2. On the other hand, inflation will grow abroad as the flow of U. S. goods slackens and the economic crisis will bring increased political disturbances.

$13,000,000 CREDIT GOES TO AUSTRIA

Washington, July 31 (A. P.).—The Export-Import Bank announced today the grant of $13,005,000 to finance shipments of "urgently needed materials and equipment" for enterprises in Austria.

The credits will be extended to two Austrian banks, the Creditanstalt-Bankverein and the Laenderbank, but will be guaranteed by the Austrian Government, the Export-Import announcement said.

The money is to finance eight projects covering "minimum import requirements of specified enterprises" in these fields: alloy steel, electrical machinery and apparatus, non-ferrous metals, machinery and vehicles, and chemicals.

The bank said products of these enterprises are "not only urgently needed in Austria but also are in strong demand in European and world export markets." That, it observed, affords "reasonable assurance" that money to pay the debt incurred will be raised through shipments of Austrian products to other countries.

Of the total credit, $8,400,000 is to go for purchase of materials and $4,605,000 for purchase of producer goods.

Credits for materials are repayable over a period of three and three-quarter years and credits for capital equipment over a seven-year period.

Lehman Awarded Chinese Medal

Washington, July 31 (A. P.).—Herbert H. Lehman, former Director-General of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, was decorated with China's "Order of the Auspicious Star Grand Cordon" in a ceremony at the Chinese embassy today.

Lehman, ex-Governor of New York, was given the award on the personal order of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek for his work as head of UNRRA between November, 1943, and March, 1946.

TRUMAN RECEIVES NEW DUTCH ENVOY

Washington, July 31 (A. P.).—President Truman today welcomed Dr. Eelco Van Kleffens to his new post as Dutch Ambassador to the United States.

There was no word of reference to the fighting in Indonesia when the envoy and former Foreign Minister presented his letters of credence at the White House. Mr. Truman told him that "the cordial relationship between our two countries has been of very long standing," and added: "The people of the United States will not soon forget the gallant role played by the people of Holland during the war, and have viewed with admiration the efforts and progress toward reconstruction and recovery in the Netherlands since the war. I can assure you, Mr. Ambassador, that the officials of the American Government are prepared to extend to you their full co-operation in the fulfillment of your mission."

He asked also that the Ambassador convey to his Sovereign Queen Wilhelmina, sincere wishes for her welfare and her country's.

Van Kleffens said that his country and the United States have a strong bond in common "ideals of liberty and of respect for the rights of the individual."

Later on today Van Kleffens flew to New York, arriving at La-Guardia Field at 3 P. M., where he said he would attend a meeting of the United Nations Security Council. "I'll say what I have to say to the Council," he told reporters.

PRESIDENT SIGNS FUNDS MEASURES; SEES DUTCH ENVOY

WASHINGTON, July 31 — (AP) President Truman today signed appropriation bills totalling $608,819,012, vetoed a bill for a commorative Wisconsin half dollar, received the new Dutch ambassador and otherwise kept busy.

He passed up a news conference and arranged instead to meet newsmen and photographers in an off-the-record talk at the White House tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. E.S.T.

But he found time to fix the open season and shooting limits on wild fowl. The dates vary by states.

Bill Provides Flood Control

One of the appropriation bill carries $502,123,912 for non-military functions of the Army, chiefly flood control and navigation improvement work by the Army engineers. It is $117,803,188 less than Mr. Truman originally asked.

The second bill, appropriating $106,695,100 in supplemental funds for various agencies, is largely for the Postoffice department. It is $135,590,360 less than the President asked.

An $11,000,000 fund for checking the loyalty of government employes is provided for in the supplemental measure.

The coin bill Mr. Truman vetoed would have commemorated the 100th anniversary of the admission of Wisconsin into the union May 29, 1948. Mr. Truman said in a statement that there are so many similar proposals as to cause confusion. He said it would be "impossible to enact one bill and ignore all the others."

Commemorative half dollars in the past have been issued to organizations promoting ceremonies, causes, etc., and these in turn have raised money by re-selling them at a premium price. Some have achieved a rarity making them worth many times 50 cents.

Mr. Truman said that too many designs on coins "tends to create confusion, to increase the possibility of counterfeiting, to encourage traffic in commemorate coins for private profit" and to get away from the fundamental purpose of money—a medium of exchange.

Receives Dutch Envoy

In a White House ceremony, Dr. Eelco Van Kleffens presented his credentials as Netherlands ambassador. There was no reference in the formal remarks to the fighting in Indonesia.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross, in announcing tomorow's off-the-record conference, said Mr. Truman has no speaking engagement until Sept. 26. He will then broadcast in the opening of the annual community chest campaign.

In another action today the President re-named to the National Labor Relations board with interim appointments those men whom the Senate failed to confirm before it adjourned last Sunday. These are former Senator Abe Murdock (D.-Utah) and J. Copeland Gray of Buffalo, N. Y., to be members of the board, and Robert Denham of Washington to be general counsel.

U.S. To Start Broadcasts In Arabic And Turkish

Washington, July 31 (AP)—The State Department plans to start broadcasts in Arabic and Turkish probably in October despite a congressional budget slash which has reduced such overseas programs by 40 per cent.

Assistant Secretary William Benton said today the addition of the new languages, like the expansion of news broadcasts to Russia this week, will be at the expense of other programs.

He told a news conference that regardless of the reduction in operating funds for broadcasts, educational and related activities, he was "encouraged" over prospects for Senate passage early next year of the Mundt bill to give the warborne enterprise a permanent status. The legislation already has been approved by the House.

Marshall Turns Down Palestine Request

Washington, July 31 (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, today turned down a suggestion by 30 House Republicans that the United States restate its Palestine policy through its representatives to United Nations.

The legislators in a letter to Marshall recalled that President Truman and Congress have called for establishment of a Jewish national home in Palestine. They suggested that a United States representative appear before a special United Nations commission studying the Holy Land's future, and that he express the willingness of the United States to join in solving the problem along the lines of the policy laid down by the President and Congress.

HIRSHBERG AIDED MEN IN JAP CAMPS, WITNESS ASSERTS

NEW YORK, July 31—(AP) A defense witness at the navy court martial of Chief Signalman Harold E. Hirshberg, charged with mistreatment of fellow war prisoners of the Japanese, testified today that Hirshberg constantly interceded on behalf of his men and declared that "he treated me as fair as anyone else."

The witness was Robert E. Snell, 34, Lordsburg, N. M., former army private who said he was assigned to the 29-year-old Brooklyn petty officer's work section in two prison camps on Luzon, Philippines.

Defends Hirshberg

"Would you say that Hirshberg's relations with the Japs benefitted his men?" Snell was asked by Lt. Cmdr. John J. O'Neil, defense counsel.

"I would say that they did benefit his men," replied Snell.

The former army private said that Hirshberg obtained as many outside, or choice, work details as possible for men of his section.

Under cross examination, Snell told Lt. Cmdr. Fred H. Frey, judge advocate, that he had been trying "for two years to wipe all that out of my mind," after Frey had told the witness that his memory was "not too good."

Another defense witness, Frank J. Burns, 22, of Cayucos, Calif., testified that Hirshberg interceded with the Japanese more often than any American officer in attempts to get better treatment for his fellow prisoners.

But on cross examination, Burns declared that the chief signalman intervened only once for his men and then "in a joking manner."

The prosecution rested its case today before Burns took the witness stand. The defense will continue testimony tomorrow.

Eaton Advocates Warning Russians To Stop Conquest

New York, July 31 (AP)—Representative Charles A. Eaton (R., N.J.), chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, declared today that the United States must warn Russia to stop her "world-conquest" attempts or face ostracism from the United Nations and possibly war.

"I think we can still block Russia with psychology. If we don't, we must defeat her by force of arms," Eaton wrote in American Magazine. "It is time we told her so."

"We can put Russia in her place now without resorting to force," Eaton continued. "We can stop her by asserting our leadership of the other members of the Big Five group and of the smaller nations who aspire to our democratic ideals. . . .

"If she doesn't give in and behave like a civilized nation, we must read Russia out of the United Nations and proceed without her. . . . If we don't stop her now, there may come a time when we may have to keep her out by force of arms. . . ."

Bruss... on Coast Bombs Its Own Bubbles

SAN PEDRO, Calif., July 31 (AP).—Fear of possible saboteurs interrupted a party last night abroad the Kenya, an 11,000-ton British cruiser here on a good-will tour, and a small demolition charge was set off as a protective measure in the water where mysterious bubbles were rising.

However, Lieutenant John Stewart-Moore, executive deck officer, said an investigation disclosed that the bubbles were caused by an auxiliary engine of the Kenya, and the party proceeded without further incident.

Earlier in the day it was reported that the British Consulate received a telephone call protesting the Kenya's visit here.

Dropping of the demolition charge charge startled the party being given on board by the Kenya's commander, Captain Lennox Boswell, and his officers for senior United States Navy officers, members of the Los Angeles British colony and British consular officials.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, Navy intelligence officers and police were called to the scene, and all automobile traffic to the wharf was stopped immediately after the incident was reported, harbor police said.

SUPERFORTS MAKE STOP AT ALASKA

8 Planes Trying For Distance And Speed Record

Anchorage, Alaska, July 31 (AP)—Eight Texas-based B-29 Superfortresses striving for a distance and speed record, landed here today on a one-stop flight from Tokyo to Washington.

Seven of the big bombers landed during a driving rainstorm. The eighth plane came in about three hours later after a forced landing at Adak Island in the Aleutian chain.

The first ship, commanded by Lieut. Horace Nichols, of Ardmore, Okla., landed at Elmendorf Field at 11.10 A.M. Alaska time, after a close brush with a spruce-covered mountain, and the seventh touched the runway at 12.25 P.M.

Couldn't Transfer Gasoline

Nichols landed fifteen hours, five minutes after the takeoff.

The ship which put in at Adak was commanded by Lieut. John Upton, of Panama City, Fla. Upton had radioed during the long flight over the North Pacific that he was unable to transfer gasoline from reserve storage tanks to wing tanks.

The planes flew through seven hours of fog and overcast on the long 3,500-mile hop from Japan and saw the ocean only part of the time, pilots said. They hopped from Tokyo at 3.09 P.M. yesterday.

Saved By Quick Bank

Capt. W. J. Webster, Lubboch, Texas, one of the pilots, flew a Texas State flag from his big plane immediately after landing here. The planes planned a stop of about three hours before taking off on the next hop nonstop to Washington.

William C. Barnard, Associated Press correspondent, who flew in one of the B-29's said a sudden bank of the plane was all that saved those on board from death on a spruce-draped hillside as the Superfortress landed in a mist.

The weather was fine coming over Bristol Bay, over the Alaskan peninsula and up Cook Inlet, but 40 miles out of Anchorage the weather suddenly closed in and the radar operator, First Lieutenant Arthur D. Swanberg, of Sycamore, took over guidance of the ship. The bad weather began in the vicinity of Turnegon Arm.

Ship Heavy With Ice

At Cook Inlet, where snowy mountains line both sides of strong water, the ship started letting down from 11,000 feet. It was heavy with ice.

Five minutes from Anchorage the plane was churning through soupy mist. Colonel Hugos radioed that he was 30 miles from Anchorage and was going upstairs to find clearer weather.

"We'll beat him in," Lieutenant Nichols said. "We'll go right on in. We'll get in some way or other."

First Lieutenant William H. Walding, of Mobile, Ala., copilot, nodded. Our altitude dropped to 1,000 feet. "How high are the hills around the airport?" Nichols asked his Radar Man Swanberg.

"Five to six," Swanberg replied.

"We'll Have To Watch Out"

"We'll have to watch out," Nichols said.

You couldn't see two feet out of the ship's nose, where Bombardier Lieutenant James Chut, Holland, Mich., crouched straining for sight of the earth.

Suspense caught in every throat. The plane dropped 500 feet but still there was no sight of the ground.

"This is a hell of a thing," ground crew chief, Master Sergt. Charles W. Higgins, 34, Shawnee, Okla., said. Then the mist parted a moment.

There on the left was a spruce-draped hill.

"Turn right!" Walding shouted and Nichols banked sharply away from sudden death.

The field was sighted just as the rain squall was closing it in. "We got it," Higgins exulted.

Nichols gave terse commands to drop the wheels, lower the flaps and a moment later the B-29 nosed in over the rainswept runway.

GREECE FILES AGGRESSION CHARGE IN U.N.

Council Also Receives Call To Stop Fight In Indonesia

Lake Success, N.Y., July 31 (AP)—Greece hurled direct charges of aggression against Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria in today's session of the United Nations Security Council, and shortly afterward Australia demanded that the Security Council take immediate steps to stop the war in Indonesia.

As to Indonesia The Netherlands quickly countered that the United Nations had no jurisdiction in the fighting there.

After a four-hour session, at which the delegates several times approached a vote on a call for cessation of Indonesian hostilities, the United States announced that it had offered its good offices to both parties"—The Netherlands and the Indonesian Republic.

Adjourn Without Decisions

With the two charges of aggression on the table before them, the delegates finally adjourned until tomorrow without any decisions and without any discussion on the Greek charges.

The cases were the first two direct complaints of aggression in United Nations history. Both were submitted under charter articles providing for possible use of international force.

Pushing for action in the Balkans, the United States deputy delegate, Herschel V. Johnson, sought a commitment from Dr. Oscar Lange, Security Council president, that at least a portion of two meetings tomorrow would be given over to the Greek case.

Lange said only that both items would be on the agenda and Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, commented wryly: "Let's wait until tomorrow to worry what we will discuss tomorrow."

Blamed For Border Unrest

The new Greek complaint, submitted by Constantin Tsaldaris, Foreign Minister, put teeth in the original charges that the three Russian satellites were fomenting border unrest.

"Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia have continued their concerted activities of sending armed bands across the borders of Greece in continuation of the attempt to overthrow the duly elected government and to set up a minority dictatorship responsive to alien control," the Greek complaint said, adding:

"These acts of aggression and of defiance have been encouraged by a member of the Security Council which has used its special voting privileges in the Council to condone and protect violations of the charter."

"Actual War" In Java

Two days ago Russia vetoed the American plan for a semi-permanent Security Council watch over Greece's northern frontiers.

Declaring that "the hostilities proceeding (in Indonesia) are not merely police action but are in fact warfare," Australia's Col. W. R. Hodgson said any delay was "not justified because of the loss of life being sustained." He spoke to a packed council chamber.

Russia joined Australia in the call for immediate discussion and action, Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, declaring:

"We must take into consideration that there is a war going on in Indonesia."

Invitation Opposed

The Netherlands opposed an invitation to the Indonesian Republic to sit at the Council table.

Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens, new Dutch Ambassador to Washington, stepped into the debate just when it appeared that the Security Council might shatter all records for speed and ballot on the Australian resolution calling on the Netherlands and Indonesia to cease fighting immediately. The Ambassador flew here from Washington.

Van Kleffens said the United Nations Charter was not applicable to the Indonesian situation and declared that the Netherlands only wanted to see that "anarchy, chaos and lawlessness cease." He added that "this is a matter essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of the Netherlands."

To Ask International Probe

He said "our action shows we have gone to the last resort in patience and tolerance to settle this problem" and cautioned delegates to move slowly in stepping into a case which was of "no concern" to the Security Council.

"My Government is going to invite a number of other governments to send representatives into Indonesia to report to the world their findings," he said. A Netherlands spokesman said later that details of this step now were being worked out in the Hague.

Van Kleffens said that the military action being taken—which he termed police action—"has the full backing of all political parties in Holland with the exception of the Communists."

He said "the republic of Indonesia is not a sovereign state and never has been," and added that the "republic was founded as a political weapon of the Japanese."

Australia and India, cosponsors of the complaint to the Security Council, contended that the republic was a de facto government and thus should be called to participate in discussions affecting it.

India Goes Farther

India went a step farther than Australia in presenting its version of the case and said that in addition to a cessation of hostilities "it would in our view be desirable to ask the governments concerned to revert to their original positions which they held when the hostilities broke out."

B. R. Sen, India's Minister to Washington, added that "otherwise we apprehend the military success which the Dutch have already achieved may, when the time for negotiations comes, give the Dutch an advantage which may be unduly favorable to them."

LONDON, JULY 31-(AP)-BRITAIN ARRANGED HIGH-LEVEL ECONOMIC TALKS WITH THE UNITED STATES TODAY IN A RENEWED BID TO STAVE OFF HER LOOMING ECONOMIC CRISIS.

THE GOVERNMENT'S BOARD OF TRADE SAID ITS PRESIDENT, SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, WOULD FLY TO PARIS THIS AFTERNOON FOR A CONFERENCE WITH WILLIAM L.CLAYTON, U.S.UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE FOR ECONOMIC AFFAIRS, AND THE BRITISH PRESS SAID THEY WOULD CONSIDER SLASHING BRITAIN'S IMPORTS FROM AMERICA TO SAVE DOLLARS.

MEANWHILE, THE BRITISH PEOPLE TOOK CALMLY DISCLOSURES THAT THE GOVERNMENT ALMOST IMMEDIATELY WOULD CUT ITS ARMED STRENGTH, SCALE DOWN THE NATION'S STANDARD OF LIVING AND CALL FOR LONGER WORKING HOURS TO SAVE BRITISH ECONOMY.

FEW NEWSPAPERS COMMENTED EDITORIALLY ON THE REVELATIONS, WHICH FOLLOWED A "CRISIS" MEETING YESTERDAY OF PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE AND HIS LABOR MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT. THOSE THAT DID WROTE APPROVINGLY.

"IT IS HIGH TIME THAT THEY (THE GOVERNMENT) TOOK THIS STEP, THOUGH IT WILL MEAN A STILL MORE AUSTERE WAY OF LIFE FOR EVERYONE," SAID THE CONSERVATIVE YORKSHIRE POST, OWNED BY THE FAMILY OF FORMER FOREIGN SECRETARY ANTHONY EDEN.

"WE ARE EAGERLY WAITING TO SEE THE GOVERNMENT TAKE BOLD STEPS TO APPEAL TO THE NATION'S PATRIOTISM AND SELF RESPECT."

JUL 1947

THE DAILY EXPRESS, A PERSISTENT CRITIC OF THE SOCIALIST REGIME, DID NOT COMMENT ON THE HOME FRONT PLANS, BUT SAID "THE COUNTRY WILL HEAR WITH NO FRESH ALARM, BUT WITH RELIEF, OF THE CUTS IN THE SIZE OF THE ARMY X X X ."

NEITHER OFFICIAL NOR UNOFFICIAL SOURCES COULD SAY IMMEDIATELY THE PRECISE NATURE OF THE PROPOSALS WHICH CRIPPS WILL DISCUSS WITH CLAYTON.

A BOARD OF TRADE SPOKESMAN SAID MERELY THAT CRIPPS WANTED TO SEE CLAYTON FOR "A GENERAL DISCUSSION OF MATTERS ARISING OUT OF PREVIOUS DISCUSSIONS" AND ADDED:

"THE IMPORT PROGRAM COULD HARDLY BE EXCLUDED."

THE SPOKESMAN SAID THAT THE TWO MEN PREVIOUSLY HAD PLANNED TO MEET AGAIN AND THAT THE TALKS WERE ARRANGED SUDDENLY "ONLY IN THAT THIS PARTICULAR DAY WAS PICKED." CRIPPS EXPECTS TO RETURN TOMORROW.

THE U.S. UNDERSECRETARY HAS BEEN IN PARIS FOR SEVERAL DAYS FOR TALKS WITH FRENCH OFFICIALS ABOUT FRANCE'S FOOD POSITION AND OTHER UNDISCLOSED MATTERS.

INFORMED SOURCES, HOWEVER, HAVE SAID THAT BRITAIN PLANNED TO CUT DOWN HER IMPORTS FROM DOLLAR AREAS ALMOST AT ONCE.

JUL 1947

THE SLASH WAS EXPECTED TO AFFECT PRIMARILY AMERICAN MOVIES AND AMERICAN TOBACCO, AND THERE WAS EVERY INDICATION THAT FOOD IMPORTS ALSO WOULD BE REDUCED.

ADDITIONALLY, DEEPENING THE "AUSTERITY" WHICH HAS MARKED BRITISH LIFE SINCE THE WAR, THE GOVERNMENT PLANNED TO WITHDRAW SOME INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTS FROM THE HOME MARKET AND CHANNEL THEM INTO THE EXPORT MARKET IN ORDER TO EARN DOLLARS, INFORMED SOURCES SAID.

THE FIRST OF SEVERAL CONTEMPLATED GOVERNMENT APPEALS FOR LONGER WORKING HOURS WENT OUT YESTERDAY TO THE NATIONAL UNION OF MINE WORKERS WHOSE COAL OUTPUT IS THE MAINSPRING OF THE NATION'S ECONOMY.

AN AUTHORITATIVE GOVERNMENT SOURCE SAID THE PRIME MINISTER ASKED MINE LEADERS YESTERDAY TO PRODUCE ANOTHER 300,000 TONS PER WEEK AND THEN DISCUSSED WITH THEM WAYS OF GETTING THAT INCREASED OUTPUT.

THE SOURCE SAID ATTLEE LEFT IT UP TO THE UNION TO DECIDE WHETHER THE TARGET COULD BE REACHED BY ONE HOUR A DAY OR A HALF-HOUR A DAY OF OVERTIME.

EARLIER, AN UNOFFICIAL SOURCE SAID THE GOVERNMENT'S VIEW WAS THAT A FULL HOUR WAS INDICATED.

EXECUTIVES OF THE UNION MET PRIVATELY TODAY TO CONSIDER THE PROBLEM. A SPOKESMAN SAID NO ANNOUNCEMENT WAS EXPECTED UNTIL AFTER A FORMAL MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE NEXT WEEK.

INFORMED SOURCES SAID THE MINERS APPEARED TO HAVE RULED OUT THE IDEA OF ABANDONING THEIR FIVE-DAY WEEK, WHICH THE LABOR GOVERNMENT INSITUTED LAST MAY 5 ABOUT FOUR MONTHS AFTER IT BROUGHT THE COLIERIES UNDER PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

PRODUCTION REMAINED BELOW THE GOVERNMENT'S TARGETS AFTER THE NEW SCHEDULE WAS ADOPTED.

PRECEDE PARIS JEWS

LONDON, JULY 31-(AP)-AN AUTHORITATIVE SOURCE SAID TODAY BRITAIN WOULD SEND THE 4,500 JEWISH REFUGEES OF THE S.S. EXODUS OF 1947 EXPEDITION TO GERMANY--AND PERHAPS LATER TO AFRICA -- IF THEY PERSISTED IN REFUSING TO DISEMBARK AT PORT-DE-BOUC, FRANCE.

THE SOURCE SAID PRIME MINISTER ATTLEE AND HIS CABINET TOOK THAT DECISION AT A MEETING IN WHICH THE ENTIRE PALESTINE SITUATION WAS CONSIDERED.

UNDER THE PLAN, THE EXODUS OF 1947 REFUGEES WOULD REMAIN TEMPORARILY IN THE BRITISH ZONE OF GERMANY WHILE THE BRITISH CABINET PICKED A PLACE FOR THEM IN SOME OTHER BRITISH-CONTROLLED AREA OF THE WORLD, POSSIBLY AN AFRICAN COLONY, THE SOURCE SAID.

THE JEWISH REFUGEES ARRIVED OFF FRANCE MONDAY. THREE BRITISH SHIPS BROUGHT THEM FROM PALESTINE WATERS, WHERE THEIR SHIP, THE FORMER PRESIDENT WARFIELD, RENAMED EXODUS OF 1947, HAD BEEN INTERCEPTED AND RAMMED BY THE BRITISH.

BY WILLIAM L.PHILLIPS
(ADVANCE) LONDON, JULY 31-(AP)-SIR JOHN BOYD ORR, DIRECTOR GENERAL OF THE UNITED NATIONS FOOD AND AGRICULTURAL ORGANIZATION, WARNED TONIGHT THAT "SEVERE FOOD SHORTAGES" MIGHT LAST UNTIL 1950, AND SAID THE ORGANIZATION'S ANNUAL MEETING, OPENING AT GENEVA AUG. 25, WOULD BE "THE MOST IMPORTANT CONFERENCE SINCE THE WAR."

"THE FOOD POSITION IN THE WORLD TODAY IS NO BETTER THAN IT WAS A YEAR AGO," SIR JOHN WROTE IN A LETTER, RELEASED HERE TODAY, TO ACCOMPANY HIS ANNUAL REPORT TO REPRESENTATIVES OF SOME 50 COUNTRIES EXPECTED TO ATTEND THE GENEVA SESSIONS.

"UNLESS MEASURES ARE TAKEN TO PROVIDE THE WAR-DEVASTATED COUNTRIES WITH AGRICULTURAL EQUIPMENT, FERTILIZERS AND OTHER REQUISITES FOR THE HARVEST OF 1948, A SEVERE FOOD SHORTAGE WILL LAST AT LEAST TWO YEARS MORE," HE CONTINUED. IN ADDITION, HE TOLD A NEWS CONFERENCE, IT IS IMPERATIVE THAT A NEW, POWERFUL WORLD FOOD COUNCIL BE CREATED TO MEET PRESENT AND FUTURE NEEDS.

JUL 1947

"FAILURE TO AGREE ON POSITIVE ACTION MAY MARK THE FAILURE OF THE UNITED NATIONS EXPERIMENT," HIS LETTER SAID.

"IF, ON THE OTHER HAND, THE NATIONS AGREE TO COOPERATE IN BOLD MEASURES, THE CONFERENCE WILL CREATE A LIGHT AMID THE GLOOM CAUSED BY THE FAILURE OF POLITICAL CONFERENCES," SIR JOHN CONTINUED.

HE SAID THE NEW FOOD COUNCIL HE WAS RECOMMENDING WOULD REPLACE THE LIMITED-POWER COUNCIL FORMED AFTER LAST YEAR'S FAO MEETING AT COPENHAGEN, UNDER WHAT THE DIRECTOR GENERAL CALLED "THE PRESENT FUTILE, NEBULOUS FAO CONSTITUTION."

"I WANT A COUNCIL THAT CAN TAKE ACTION," HE DECLARED, NOTING THAT BESIDES IMMEDIATE PROBLEMS, THE FAO SOON WOULD FACE OTHERS OF A SERIOUS NATURE.

THE PROBLEM OF UNMARKETABLE SURPLUSES OF CERTAIN FOODS, DESPITE OVERALL WORLD SHORTAGES, ALREADY IS APPEARING IN THE UNITED STATES AND OTHER COUNTRIES, HE SAID, AND MUST BE DEALT WITH.

THE CONFERENCE, SIR JOHN ADDED, ALSO MUST CONSIDER THE LONG TERM LIKELIHOOD THAT WORLD FOOD REQUIREMENTS WILL BE DOUBLED IN THE NEXT 25 YEARS "TO PROVIDE EVERYBODY WITH A DIET CAPABLE OF MAINTAINING HEALTH AND WORKING EFFICIENCY"--A PROBLEM WHICH HE SAID WAS "AGGRAVATED BY THE FACT THAT THE TOPSOIL OF THE EARTH IS BEING WASHED AWAY AT THE RATE OF HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF ACRES A YEAR."

THE CONFERENCE ALSO MUST NAME A NEW DIRECTOR GENERAL. SIR JOHN'S TERM EXPIRES THIS YEAR. IN ADDITION, IT WILL HAVE TO DECIDE ON THE LOCATION OF ITS PERMANENT HOME AND FOR REGIONAL OFFICES IN EUROPE, THE MIDDLE EAST, ASIA AND LATIN AMERICA.

JUL 1947

"IF IT AGREES TO SET UP THE NEW COUNCIL, WHATEVER ITS OTHER DECISIONS, WE ARE OVER THE TOP," HE SAID.

HE COMMENTED THAT HIS OWN BELIEF WAS THAT IF THE FAO COULD CREATE REAL COOPERATION AMONG NATIONS ON FOOD PROBLEMS, COOPERATION ON INDUSTRIAL PROBLEMS WOULD BE BOUND TO FOLLOW, THEN ON FINANCE.

"AND THAT'S WHY I THINK GETTING A WORKABLE WORLD FOOD COUNCIL IS THE FIRST STEP TOWARD GETTING U.N. ORGANIZATIONS REALLY TO WORK," SIR JOHN ASSERTED.

PARIS, JULY 31-(AP)-THE FRENCH CABINET WEIGHED TODAY A NATIONAL ASSEMBLY RESOLUTION URGING IT TO PRESS BRITAIN FOR A SPEEDY AND HUMANE SOLUTION TO THE VEXING PROBLEM POSED BY 4,500 JEWISH REFUGEES WHO ARE STAGING A SITDOWN ON THREE BRITISH TRANSPORTS ANCHORED OFF FRANCE'S MEDITERRANEAN COAST.

THE RESOLUTION WAS ADOPTED LATE YESTERDAY BY UNANIMOUS VOTE OF THE ASSEMBLY, WHICH ALSO CONGRATULATED THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT FOR NOT ATTEMPTING TO IMPOSE A COURSE OF ACTION UPON THE JEWS.

DISPATCHES FROM PORT-DE-BOUC ON FRANCE'S SOUTHERN COAST REPORTED MEANWHILE SIGNS OF GROWING RESTLESSNESS AMONG THE SHIPBOUND JEWS, WHO HAVE REFUSED TO DISEMBARK IN PROTEST AGAINST BEING SHIPPED BACK TO FRANCE AFTER A FRUITLESS ATTEMPT TO CRASH THE GATES OF PALESTINE.

JUL 1947

THE DISCOMFORTS OF LIFE ABOARD THE CROWDED SHIPS, WHICH LEFT PALESTINE ALMOST THREE WEEKS AGO, WERE INCREASED BY EXTREMELY HOT WEATHER AND BY A SHORTAGE OF RATIONS.

SOME OBSERVERS IN PORT-DE-BOUC FRANKLY EXPRESSED BELIEF THAT THE BRITISH WERE PLAYING A WAITING GAME, HOPING THAT THE BROILING SUN MIGHT CHANGE THE JEWS' MINDS ABOUT GOING ASHORE.

ADVICES FROM LONDON, HOWEVER, INDICATED THAT THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT WAS AT A LOSS AS TO HOW TO DEAL WITH THE PROBLEM.

BRITISH SOURCES SAID IT SEEMED OUT OF THE QUESTION TO DISEMBARK THE JEWS FORCIBLY. THE ONLY ALTERNATIVES, THEY SAID, APPEARED TO BE TO SEND THEM TO DETENTION CAMPS IN CYPRUS OR TAKE THEM TO SOME OTHER EUROPEAN PORT UNDER BRITISH AUTHORITY--SUCH AS HAMBURG.

THE SITUATION WAS COMPLICATED BY THE FACT THAT THE CONVOY WAS NOT PROVISIONED FOR A LONG VOYAGE.

ABOUT 30 OF THE REFUGEES ALREADY HAVE LEFT THE SHIPS, MANY OF THEM TO SEEK MEDICAL AID, AND FRENCH SOURCES IN PORT-DE-BOUC SAID AT LEAST 15 MORE WERE EXPECTED TO DISEMBARK TODAY. ONE OF THE LANDED REFUGEES WAS REPORTED TO HAVE ELUDED FRENCH AUTHORITIES AND DISAPPEARED

FRENCH AUTHORITIES IN PORT-DE-BOUC ALSO WERE INVESTIGATING REPORTS THAT ONE OF THE REFUGEES HAD BEEN ACCUSED BY HIS FELLOW PASSENGERS OF BEING A GERMAN CONCENTRATION CAMP GUARD, PROMPTING HIM TO REQUEST THAT HE BE LANDED WITH THREE MEMBERS OF HIS FAMILY.

TWO OF THE TRANSPORTS, THE EMPIRE RIVAL AND OCEAN VIGOR, YESTERDAY MOVED FURTHER OUT TO SEA AND ANCHORED FIVE MILES OFF PORT-DE-BOUC. THE OTHER, THE RUNNYMEDE PARK, REMAINED NEAR THE HARBOR ENTRANCE.

THIS PLEDGE, THEY SAID, WOULD BE GIVEN BY AGREEMENT BETWEEN BRITISH AND FRENCH AUTHORITIES.

THE JEWISH REFUGEES, WHO WERE INTERCEPTED BY THE BRITISH NAVY WHEN THEY SOUGHT TO SLIP INTO PALESTINE ABOARD THE VESSEL EXODUS OF 1947 WERE RETURNED TO FRENCH WATERS IN THREE BRITISH SHIPS. THEY HAD SET SAIL FOR PALESTINE FROM SETE, FRANCE.

SINCE THEIR ARRIVAL OFF PORT DE BOUC THREE DAYS AGO, THEY HAVE REFUSED TO LEAVE THE SHIPS.

Frankfurt, Germany, July 31-(ap)-u.s. army authorities announced tonight that maj. harri i. jolly of mt. ida, ark., who disappeared six days ago from the frankfurt-to-paris express, had been located in a french hospital.

JUL 1947

Jolly, object of an intense search by army investigators, LAST WAS SEEN BY OTHERS ON THE TRAIN was seen aboard the train near kaiserlautern at about 10:30 p.m. july 25. [illegible] after his disappearance his luggage was found in his compartment and his pajams were neatly folded on the unused berth.

JUL 1947

INVESTIGATORS SPECULATED THAT JOLLY FROM THE TRAIN JUST BEFORE RETURNING FOR THE NIGHT.

the last person to see jolly aboard the french-operated train was a red cross girl, miss [illegible] schriane harbour of marion, s.c. The train daily carried hundreds of americans to paris.

Miss harbour said she had known jolly for a year and that when she met him on the train he said he was going to paris on duty.

"I left him standing at the door of his compartment at about 10:30 at night," she said. "He seemed perfectly okay. The next morning I got off the train with my bags and walked along the paris station platform to wait for him outside his compartment."

The girl said that she waited until everybody else had left the train and that then she went to the major's compartment and found his cap, his tie, his briefcase and his pajamas. She said she then reported his disappearance to the american graves registration command in paris.

A telephone call from France established that Jolly was in a French military hospital near Voelkingen, a few miles inside France near Saarbruecken. The call was received by the army signal corps headquarters in Europe, to which Jolly was attached.

"We have no definite information yet about his condition but apparently there was no foul play," an investigating officer said. #

PINNED TO THE BODIES OF THE TWO SERG HEBREW, TELLING OF THE "ARREST" OF THE AND EXECUTION IN THE NAME OF THE JEWISH THE INSCRIPTIONS TOLD HOW PLEAS FOR CLE "MILITARY TRIAL."

THE KILLINGS, THE INSCRIPTION SAID,

JUL 1947

EXECUTION BY THE JEWISH RESISTANCE TO THE ENEMIES OF OUR HOMELAND."
THE CONTORTED FEATURES OF THE TWO SERGEANTS INDICATED THAT THEIR DEATHS HAD BEEN CAUSED BY STRANGULATION BY CRUDELY FASHIONED NOOSES. THE ROPED WERE LOPPED AROUND LIMBS CLOSE TO THE TRUNKS OF THE TREES. THE MEN'S HANDS HAD BEEN TIED BEHIND THEIR BACKS AND THEIR FEET HAD BEEN WIRED TOGETHER. THE SERGEANTS' SHIRTS HAD BEEN USED TO BLINDFOLD THEM. THEIR UNDERCLOTHING AND ARMY TROUSERS WERE STAINED WITH BLOOD WHICH POURED FROM THE GASHES CUT INTO THEIR NECKS BY THE HALF-INCH ROPES.

A102 JUL 1947

THE BOOBY TRAP EXPLODED AS GRENADIER GUARDSMEN ATTEMPTED TO CUT DOWN MARTIN'S BODY. THE BLAST ECHOED THROUGHOUT THE HISTORIC FOREST PRESERVE IN THE PLAINS OF SHARON, SCENE OF MANY BATTLES OF BIBLICAL TIMES.
NATANYA'S MAYOR, OVED BEN AMI, WHO HAD RECEIVED INFORMATION FROM THE MODERATE UNDERGROUND GROUP, HAGANA, THAT THE BODIES WERE IN THE AREA, WAS ON THE SCENE WHEN THE BLAST OCCURRED.
TIGHT-LIPPED AND OBVIOUSLY FEARING HIS RESORT CITY ONCE AGAIN WOULD COME UNDER MILITARY RULE, HE DECLARED: "THIS IS THE MOST BRUTAL CRIME THEY HAVE DONE YET. ALL WE'VE BUILT AND PRAYED FOR NOW LIES IN THE DUST."
MILITARY PERSONNEL IN THE NATANYA AREA, HEARING THE CIRCUMSTANCES IN WHICH THE BODIES WERE FOUND, HASTENED TO BASES.
"THERE WILL BE SOME SEARCHES," ONE MILITARY SOURCE SAID, "AND THE POPULACE MAY BE INCONVENIENCED A BIT, BUT NO MILITARY CONTROL IS PLANNED, AT LEAST FOR THE PRESENT." #

WITH HANGINGS

JERUSALEM, JULY 31-(AP)-SGT. MERVYN PAICE, 20, DARK-HAIRED, GREY-EYED SOLDIER WHO WAS HANGED BY IRGUN ZVAI LEUMI, CAME TO PALESTINE FROM ENGLAND LAST AUGUST.
PAICE TRAINED FOR THE INFANTRY AT WARWICK AND COMPLETED AN INTELLIGENCE SERVICE COURSE IN ENGLAND. IN HIS OFF-DUTY TIME IN PALESTINE HE STUDIED MUSIC AND PLAYED THE CLARINET. HE IS SURVIVED BY HIS PARENTS, A SISTER, AND TWO BROTHERS, ONE OF THEM A ROYAL SIGNALS OFFICER. HIS FATHER, A CUSTOMS SERVICE OFFICER, SERVED WITH THE ROYAL WEST KENT REGIMENT IN WORLD WAR I.

JERUSALEM, JULY 31-(AP)-GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS MET TODAY TO PLAN A NEW AND MORE RIGID CAMPAIGN AGAINST TERRORISM FOLLOWING THE HANGING OF TWO BRITISH SERGEANTS.
ONE OFFICIAL SAID UNLESS THE JEWISH AGENCY GAVE ITS FULL COOPERATION IN A CAMPAIGN AGAINST UNDERGROUND RESISTANCE IT WAS PROBABLE SOME TYPE OF MILITARY CONTROL WOULD BE CLAMPED DOWN.
THE JEWISH AGENCY AND JEWISH NATIONAL COUNCIL JOINED IN A STATEMENT EXPRESSING THEIR "EXECRATION OF THE DASTARDLY MURDER OF TWO INNOCENT MEN BY A SET OF CRIMINALS WHO, IMPERVIOUS TO THE VOICE OF CONSCIENCE, ARROGATE UNTO THEMSELVES THE POWER TO DECIDE ON MATTERS OF LIFE AND DEATH."
"WE CALL UPON YISHUV (THE JEWISH COMMUNITY IN PALESTINE) AND THE WHOLE JEWISH PEOPLE TO STAND BY OUR SIDE IN FIGHTING THIS GHASTLY EVIL WHICH HAS BEFALLEN US UNTIL ITS COMPLETE ERADICATION FROM OUR MIDST," THE STATEMENT CONTINUED. "WE EXPRESS OUR DEEP AND HEARTFELT SYMPATHY TO THE RELATIVES OF THE INNOCENT VICTIMS OF THIS HORRIBLE DEED."
POLICE SOURCES SAID THEY BELIEVED THE TWO SERGEANTS HAD BEEN KEPT PRISONER IN A DESERTED FACTORY AT THE EDGE OF NATANYA, A CITY OF 10,000, SINCE THEIR ABDUCTION.
MILITARY AUTHORITIES CLAMPED A CURFEW ON NATANYA THREE DAYS AFTER THE KIDNAPING AND MAINTAINED HOUSE ARREST OF JEWS IN THE TOWN FOR 12 DAYS WHILE THEY CARRIED OUT A MINUTE BUT FRUITLESS SEARCH FOR THE HOSTAGES.
REPORTS FROM NATANYA SAID PASSERSBY RECALLED SEEING TWO SACKS BEING CARRIED OUT OF THE FACTORY AND LOADED INTO A CAR YESTERDAY. SUSPICION WAS NOT THEN AROUSED, HOWEVER.
REPORTS FROM THE SCENE OF THE "EXECUTIONS" SAID DOGS HAD BEEN PUT ON THE TRAIL IN THE HOPE OF TRACKING DOWN THE EXECUTIONERS, AND THAT THE WHOLE AREA WAS CORDONED OFF BY POLICE.

NEW DELHI, JULY 31-(AP)-THE CONSTITUTION-DRAFTING CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY TODAY CALLED A SESSION FOR MIDNIGHT AUG. 14 TO LAUNCH INDIA'S CELEBRATION OF THE TRANSFER OF POWER FROM THE BRITISH CROWN TO THE PEOPLE.

THIS SURPRISE ANNOUNCEMENT CAME AS THE ASSEMBLY WOUND UP 18 DAYS OF RAPID PROGRESS AND QUIT WORK UNTIL AFTER THE INDIAN UNION COMES INTO BEING. INDIA ON FREEDOM DAY, AUG. 15, WILL BECOME TWO BIG DOMINIONS--THE INDIAN UNION, PREDOMINANTLY HINDU, AND PAKISTAN, PREDOMINANTLY MOSLEM.

DR. RAJENDRA PRASAD, PRESIDENT OF THE ASSEMBLY, SAID THE PROGRAM OF THE MIDNIGHT SESSION WOULD INCLUDE A FORMAL INVITATION TO VICEROY VISCOUNT MOUNTBATTEN TO TAKE OFFICE AT 10 A.M. AUG. 15 AS GOVERNOR GENERAL OF THE INDIAN UNION DURING THE CEREMONY AT WHICH HE OFFICIALLY WILL HAND OVER AUTHORITY TO THE PEOPLE.

THE ASSEMBLY TODAY ADOPTED CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISIONS VESTING IN THE PRESIDENT THE SUPREME COMMAND OF THE DEFENSE FORCES AND THE RIGHT OF PARDON AND REPRIEVE OF OFFENDERS AGAINST THE FEDERAL CONSTITUTION.

THE PROPOSED CONSTITUTION AS IT NOW STANDS IS IN LINE WITH AN APPEAL OF PANDIT JAWAHARLAL NEHRU, LEADING MINISTER OF THE INTERIM GOVERNMENT, FOR "DEMOCRACY--BUT NOT TOO MUCH." UNDER OTHER PROVISIONS:

JUL 1947

THE PRESIDENT IN EMERGENCIES WOULD BE AUTHORIZED TO ENACT LAWS BY DECREE, BUT SUCH DECREES WOULD HAVE TO BE SUBMITTED TO PARLIAMENT WHEN IT RECONVENED, FOR APPROVAL, DISAPPROVAL OR AMENDMENT.

AN ELECTORAL COLLEGE OF FEDERAL AND PROVINCIAL OR STATE LEGISLATORS WOULD ELECT THE PRESIDENT TO SERVE FIVE YEARS. NO LIMIT ON TERMS HAS BEEN PROPOSED.

THE PRESIDENT WOULD APPOINT SUPREME COURT JUDGES WITH THE ADVICE AND CONSENT OF PARLIAMENT AND THE CABINET, AND THEY WOULD SERVE AT HIS PLEASURE.

GOVERNORS OF PROVINCES AND STATES MAKING UP THE INDIAN UNION WOULD BE ELECTED BY ADULT SUFFRAGE. THEY WOULD HAVE POWERS ON A LOWER LEVEL SIMILAR TO THOSE OF THE PRESIDENT.

THE UNITS WOULD BE ALLOWED TO SET UP ONE-HOUSE OR TWO-HOUSE LEGISLATURES AS THEY CHOOSE. THE CENTRAL GOVERNMENT WOULD BE EMPOWERED TO INTERVENE IN EMERGENCIES AFFECTING THE WELFARE OF THE WHOLE COUNTRY.

JOGJAKARTA, JAVA, JULY 30-(DELAYED)-(AP)-AN INDONESIAN REPUBLICAN ARMY DOCTOR, BROTHER OF AN AVIATOR-PHYSICIAN KILLED IN THE CRASH OF A MEDICAL PLANE HERE TUESDAY, DECLARED TODAY, "WE'LL NEVER GIVE UP UNTIL WE GET FREEDOM."

"THE DUTCH ARE SHOWING WHAT KIND OF PEOPLE THEY ARE BY THINGS LIKE SHOOTING DOWN THAT PLANE," SAID 40-YEAR-OLD DR. SUGIRI, ONE OF TWO MEDICAL MEN RUNNING A 150-BED FIELD HOSPITAL 14 MILES FROM THE DUTCH LINES ON THE SOERABAJA FRONT.

THE DOCTOR, SMALL AND ARISTOCRATIC LOOKING, WAS CALLED TO THIS REPUBLICAN CAPITAL BY THE DEATH OF HIS BROTHER, ONE OF NINE PERSONS KILLED WHEN, REPUBLICANS REPORTED, DUTCH PLANES SHOT DOWN A DAKOTA TRANSPORT BRINGING MEDICAL SUPPLIES HERE FROM INDIA.

DR. SUGIRI HAS BEEN ON THE MOVE SINCE THE BRITISH ENTERED SOERABAJA IN NOVEMBER, 1945, AFTER JAPAN'S DEFEAT. NOW HIS HOSPITAL AT LAMONGAN, 28 MILES FROM SOERABAJA, RECEIVES WOUNDED FROM THE BATTLEFRONT. SEVERAL DAYS AGO FOUR DUTCH SOLDIERS WERE BROUGHT TO HIM, HE SAID.

SUGIRI SAID REPUBLICAN FIGHTERS HAD BEEN SO SUCCESSFUL ON THE SOERABAJA FRONT THAT THE DUTCH COULD NOT MOVE FROM THEIR POSITIONS WITHOUT TANK SUPPORT.

"WHEN THEY BRING OUT THE TANKS, WE TAKE COVER AND GET THEM WITH MINES," HE REMARKED. "WE JUST DON'T HAVE THE ARTILLERY."

THE DOCTOR, WHO SAID HE HAD STUDIED IN VIENNA AND PARIS AS WELL AS IN THE INDIES, RECALLED WITH OBVIOUS PLEASURE A TRIP BE MADE TO THE UNITED STATES IN 1936.

HE EXPRESSED A PARTICULAR PREFERENCE FOR SAN FRANCISCO AND CHICAGO. IN CHICAGO HE SAID HE WAS BEFRIENDED BY DR. SAMUEL BURROUGHS, WHOSE ADDRESS HE THOUGHT WAS 62 IRVING PARK.

(ADVANCE FOR RELEASE EXPECTED AT 12 NOON (EST) FRIDAY, AUGUST 1)

(ADVANCE NEWARK, N.J., AUG. 1-(AP)-GENERAL JACOB L. DEVERS, COMMANDING GENERAL OF THE ARMY GROUND FORCES, SAID TODAY THAT THE ATOM BOMB PROBABLY WILL NEVER AGAIN BE USED IN WAR.

MILITARY LEADERS PROBABLY WILL AVOID THE BOMB "AS CIRCUMSPECTLY IN ANY FUTURE WAS AS GAS WAS IN WORLD WAR TWO," HE TOLD AN AUDIENCE AT NEWARK AIRPORT AS PART OF CEREMONIES MARKING THE 40TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ARMY AIR FORCES.

JUL 1947

GENERAL DEVERS SAID THAT IF THE ATOM BOMB WERE USED, AN "ATOMIC SLUGGING MATCH" WOULD FOLLOW.

"NEITHER SIDE COULD SO ACHIEVE ANY SUBSTANTIAL VICTORY," HE SAID.

WHETHER THE ATOM BOMB IS USED OR NOT IN FUTURE WARFARE, THE "FINAL DECISION COULD BE EFFECTED ONLY BY SURFACE FORCES," THE GROUND FORCES COMMANDER SAID.

HE SAW "EVERY PROSPECT THAT WE CAN AVOID WAR" WHEN THE UNITED STATES HAS A "FLY-TO-FIGHT" ARMY.

GENERAL DEVERS ANNOUNCED: "IN THE NEAR FUTURE, WE WILL BE ABLE TO FLY A STANDARD INFANTRY DIVISION, WITH ALL ITS ARMAMENT, TO BATTLE. OUR INFANTRY BATTALIONS, WITH THEIR ARTILLERY, ARE ALREADY AIRTRANSPORTABLE. WHEN PRESENT ORDNANCE AND AIR FORCES DEVELOPMENTS CULMINATE IN A HEAVY, AIRPORTABLE TANK, WE CAN FLY STANDARD INFANTRY REGIMENTS TO THE ATTACK. WHEN ENGINEER AND AIR FORCES DEVELOPMENTS PRODUCE HEAVY ENGINEER EQUIPMENT WHICH IS AIRPORTABLE, WE CAN FLY A STANDARD INFANTRY DIVISION TO WAR."

"WHEN WE HAVE AN ARMY WHICH CAN FLY TO FIGHT, AND AN AIR FORCE THAT CAN FLY IT, THERE IS EVERY PROSPECT THAT WE CAN AVOID WAR, AND MAKE THE PEACE PERMANENT," DEVERS SAID. "THE GUARANTEE OF SURE, SWIFT RETRIBUTION WILL CERTAINLY DETER ANY WOULD-BE AGRESSOR."

A105NR

THE GENERAL SAID IT WAS "IMPROBABLE" THAT ANY FUTURE AGRESSOR WOULD ATTACK UNTIL HE HELD WEAPONS EQUAL TO HIS INTENDED VICTIM.

ONLY THE UNITED STATES HAS YET DISCLOSED POSSESSION OF A WORKABLE ATOM BOMB, ALTHOUGH OTHER NATIONS ARE WORKING ON THEM.

DEVERS DESCRIBED THREE "DANGERS" FROM "TOO-VIVID PREDICTIONS OF VICTORY THROUGH AIR POWER".

JUL 1947

A PEOPLE MAY COME TO BELIEVE DESTRUCTION THROUGH ENEMY AIR POWER UNESCAPABLE AND ADOPT A DEFEATIST ATTITUDE...WHICH "IS HARDLY IN KEEPING WITH OUR AMERICAN HERITAGE, BUT IT EXISTS."

A FELLING OF FALSE SECURITY BEHIND THE ATOM BOMB MAY DEVELOP.

OR AIR POWER MAY BE DEVELOPED TO THE NEGLECT OF LAND AND SEA POWER.

DEVERS EXPRESSED REGRET THAT "RADICAL DEMOBILIZATION HAS SO DIMINISHED IT (THE AIR FORCES) IN SIZE THAT IT IS NOW THE WORLD'S MOST POWERFUL FORCE ONLY IN TERMS OF TECHNICAL SUPERIORITY AND KNOW-HOW."

"AUTONOMY FOR THE AIR FORCES WILL NOT MEAN MUCH IF WE STINT ON RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT ON PLANES, AND ON TRAINED MEN TO FLY AND MAINTAIN THEM," HE ADDED.

(WX) ANCHORAGE,ALASKA,JULY 31-(AP)-A SUDDEN BANK OF THE B-29 IN WHICH I HAD RIDDEN FROM TOKYO WAS ALL THAT SAVED US FROM DEATH ON A SPRUCE-DRAPED HILLSIDE TODAY AS WE LANDED IN A MIST.

THE LANDING WAS TICKLISH BUSINESS WITH OFFICERS, CREW AND PASSENGERS SWEATING IT OUT.

THE WEATHER WAS FINE COMING OVER BRISTOL BAY, OVER THE ALASKAN PENINSULA AND UP COOK INLET BUT FORTY MILES OUT OF ANCHORAGE THE WEATHER SUDDENLY CLOSED IN ON US AND OUR RADAR OPERATOR, FIRST LT.ARTHUR D. SWANBERG OF SYCAMORE, ILL TOOK OVER GUIDANCE OF THE SHIP. THE BAD WEATHER BEGAN IN THE VICINITY OF TURNEGON ARM.

AT COOK INLET WHERE SNOWY MOUNTAINS LINE BOTH SIDES OF BLUE TIDE-STRONG WATER, WE STARTED LETTING DOWN FROM 11,000 FEET. THE SHIP WAS HEAVY WITH ICE BUT WE FELT LUCKY.

AN HOUR AFTER LEAVING TOKYO WE HAD NOT SIGHTED ANY OTHER 29 BUT WE HAD KEPT IN CONSTANT RADIO CONTACT WITH THEM AND WE KNEW THAT COL. HUGOS' SHIP WAS ALSO IN THE ANCHORAGE VICINITY SINCE HE WAS REPORTING REGULARLY THROUGH OUR EARPHONES.

FIVE MINUTES FROM ANCHORAGE WE WERE CHURNING THROUGH SOUPY MIST. HUGOS SAID HE WAS 30 MILES FROM ANCHORAGE AND WAS GOING UPSTAIRS TO FIND CLEARER WEATHER.

"WE'LL BEAT HIM IN," NICHOLS GRINNED, "WE'LL GO RIGHT ON IN. WE'LL GET IN SOME WAY OR OTHER.

"FIRST LT.WILLIAM H.WALDING OF MOBILE ALA, CO-PILOT NODDED. OUR ALTITUDE DROPPED TO 1000 FEET. "HOW HIGH ARE THE HILLS AROUND THE AIRPORT," NICHOLS ASKED HIS RADAR MAN SWANBERG.

"FIVE TO SIX," SWANBERG REPLIED.

"WE'LL HAVE TO WATCH OUT, "NICHOLS SAID.

YOU COULDN'T SEE TWO FEET OUT OF THE SHIP'S NOSE, WHERE BOMBARDIER LT JAMES CHUT, HOLLAND MICH. CROUCHED STRAINING FOR THE SIGHT OF THE GOOD EARTH.

SUSPENSE CAUGHT IN EVERY THROAT. WE DROPPED 500 FEET BUT STILL THERE WAS NO SIGHT OF THE GROUND. "THIS IS A HELL OF A THING," GROUND CREW CHIEF MASTER SGT CHARLES W.HIGGINS, 34, SHAWNEE OKLA, SAID. THEN THE MIST PARTED A MOMENT.

THERE ON OUR LEFT WAS A SPRUCE DRAPED HILL, THE MOST TERRIFYING SIGHT I HAVE EVER WITNESSES.

"TURN RIGHT!" WALDING SHOUTED AND NICHOLS BANKED SHARPLY AWAY FROM SUDDEN DEATH.

WE SIGHTED THE FIELD JUST AS THE RAIN SQUALL WAS CLOSING IT IN. "WE GOT IT," M/SGT HIGGINS EXULTED.

NICHOLS GAVE TERSE COMMANDS TO DROP THE WHEELS, LOWER THE FLAPS AND A MOMENT LATER WE NOSED IN OVER THE RAINSWEPT RUNWAY. NO SOONER HAD WE STOPPED THAN GASOLINE TRUCKS SPED UP. WE NEEDED BETTER THAN 6000 GALLONS. THE JOURNEY FROM TOKYO HAD TAKEN 15 HOURS FIVE MINUTES, 38 MINUTES BETTER THAN THE SCHEDULE FOR 3566 MILE TRIP CALLED FOR.

FORT RENO,OKLA., JULY 31-(AP)-IF THE GREEKS CAN FIND A WORD FOR 1,000 ITEMS OF "RELIEF" BEING READIED FOR THEM HERE, IT MAY LOOK LIKE THIS:

"£$-£&?/"

AND WHY SUCH A WORD?

THE ITEMS OF "RELIEF" ARE U.S. ARMY MULES--HUNDREDS OF THEM!

THEY ARE GOING TO THE GREEKS AS PART OF A $400,000,000 GREEK-TURKISH AID PROGRAM APPROVED BY CONGRESS.

"THE WORD FOR THESE "&$-&£?/" MULES IS THE SAME IN ANY LANGUAGE," SAID GI ROY WALLACE OF CAMERON,N.C., THE FIRST CASUALTY OF THE READYING PROGRAM.

"SEE WHAT I MEAN," HE EMPHASIZED, INDICATING BANDAGES WHICH COVERED HIS RIGHT SIDE FROM HIS NECK CLEAR DOWN TO HIS WAIST.

"I WAS IN A CORRAL MINDING MY OWN BUSINESS WHEN A TRUCK UNLOADED SOME GRAVEL AND THE MULES STAMPEDED.

"ONE JUMPED ME FROM BEHIND--AND LOOK AT ME."

COL.MORRIS M.L'ABBE, A MULE-WISE VETERAN WHO COMMANDS FORT RENO, TOOK A MORE PHILOSOPHIC VIEW OF HIS FOUR-LEGGED CHARGES.

"THEY'RE A FINE BUNCH OF MULES," HE GRINNED.

"WE BOUGHT THEM IN RESPONSE TO AN ORDER FROM THE WAR DEPARTMENT FOR 1,000 MULES FOR THE GREEKS.

"NOW WE ARE GENTLING THEM---" AND HERE THE COLONEL PAUSED TO WATCH A JITTERY MULE JUMP AROUND LIKE A RODEO BRONC, DRAGGING THREE HAPLESS GI'S WITH HIM, AND THEN CONTINUED:

"OF COURSE THEY ARE A LITTLE SKITTISH RIGHT NOW--THEY HAVE BEEN SHOT FOR ANTHRAX, BRANDED AND OTHERWISE PROCESSED AND THEY EYE THE MEN WITH A LITTLE SUSPICION.

"BUT WE'LL MAKE GI MULES OUT OF THEM--TEACH THEM TO CARRY PACKS OF VARIOUS TYPES, BOTH LED AND FREE, AND ALL THE OTHER THINGS AN ARMY MULE SHOULD KNOW."

THE THREE GI'S WHO HAD BEEN BATTLING THE MULE SHOWING THE MOST RESENTMENT OVER ITS PROCESSING--W.M.WILLIAMS, PARIS,TENN., WADE PITTMAN, RAEFORD,N.C., AND JOHN SLOCUMB, DAWSON,GA.,--WERE RELIEVED BY THREE OTHER HAPLESS SOLDIERS AND CHORUSED:

"YES, SIR--AND A LOT OF THINGS THEY SHOULDN'T KNOW, TOO?"

THEN IN AN ASIDE, THEY COMMENTED:

"WE THOUGHT THOSE GREEKS HAD ENOUGH TROUBLES ALREADY WITHOUT ASKING FOR 1,000 OF THESE HAMMERHEADS."

(ADVANCE)..NEW YORK, JULY 31-(AP)-REP. CHARLES A. EATON, (R-NJ) CHAIRMAN OF THE HOUSE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE, DECALRED TODAY THAT THE UNITED STATES MUST WARN RUSSIA TO STOP HER "WORLD CONQUEST" ATTEMPTS OR FACE OSTRACISM FROM THE UNITED NATIONS AND POSSIBLY WAR.

"I THINK WE CAN STILL BLOCK RUSSIA WITH PSYCHOLOGY--IF WE DON'T, WE MUST DEFEAT HER BY FORCE OF ARMS," EATON WROTE IN AMERICAN MAGAZINE. "IT IS TIME WE TOLD HER SO."

JUL 1947

HE SAID RUSSIA HAS "SHOWN VERY CLEARLY" THAT "SHE INTENDS TO TAKE EUROPE, THEN THE WORLD." HE ADDED THAT WHATEVER CHANGES MIGHT HAVE BEEN MADE FOR OUTWARD APPEARANCES "SHE HASN'T CHANGED HER TUNE. I MEAN THE TUNE OF WORLD CONQUEST."

"WE CAN PUT RUSSIA IN HER PLACE NOW WITHOUT RESORTING TO FORCE," EATON CONTINUED. "WE CAN STOP HER BY ASSERTING OUR LEADERSHIP OF OTHER MEMBERS OF THE BIG FIVE GROUP AND OF THE SMALLER NATIONS WHO ASPIRE TO OUR DEMOCRATIC IDEALS...

"IF SHE DOESN'T GIVE IN AND BEHAVE LIKE A CIVILIZED NATION, WE MUST READ RUSSIA OUT OF THE UNITED NATIONS AND PROCEED WITHOUT HER... IF WE DON'T STOP HER NOW, THERE MAY COME A TIME WHEN WE MAY HAVE TO KEEP HER OUT BY FORCE OF ARMS.

"IT MAY BE A HARD JOB THEN, BECAUSE SHE MAY HAVE US OUTCLASSED IN NUMBERS AND WEAPONS. BUT WE STILL HAVE THE ATOMIC BOMB, AND I AM SURE THAT RUSSIA HAS NOT, AT LEAST AS YET...

"ONCE KICKED OUT OF DECENT SOCIETY, RUSSIA MUST EITHER SEEK TO RETAIN GOOD STANDING OR BE DISCIPLINED BY THE MILITARY ACTION OF THE UNION OF DECENT NATIONS. I AM SURE RUSSIAN LEADERS HAVE LEARNED FROM GERMANY'S TWO UNHAPPY EXPERIMENTS...THAT IT IS NOT AN EASY JOB TO LICK THE WORLD."

LEAD DAY U.N. (150)

LAKE SUCCESS, JULY 31-(AP)-RUSSIA AND AUSTRALIA TODAY DEMANDED OVER DUTCH OBJECTIONS THAT THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL IMMEDIATELY BEGIN DISCUSSIONS OF THE INDONESIAN CASE.

SUCH A STEP WOULD SIDETRACK DEBATE ON THE BALKANS ISSUE, IN WHICH GREECE FILED CHARGES OF AGGRESSION AGAINST YUGOSLAVIA, BULGARIA AND ALBANIA.

"WE MUST TAKE INTO CONSIDERATION THAT THERE IS A WAR GOING ON IN INDONESIA," SOVIET DEPUTY FOREIGN MINISTER ANDREI A.GROMYKO SAID.

THE COUNCIL PLACED THE INDONESIAN CASE, PRESENTED JOINTLY BY AUSTRALIA AND INDIA, ON ITS CALENDAR WITHOUT DEBATE. THEN GROMYKO SPOKE AS THE COUNCIL DISCUSSED JUST WHEN TO LAUNCH INTO DEBATE ON INDONESIA.

DR.EELCO N.VAN KLEFFENS, NETHERLANDS AMBASSADOR TO WASHINGTON AND FORMER MEMBER OF THE COUNCIL, WHO HURRIED HERE FOR THE MEETING, TOLD DELEGATES THAT "THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA IS NOT A SOVEREIGN STATE AND NEVER HAS BEEN A SOVEREIGN STATE." HE ADDED THAT THE "REPUBLIC WAS FOUNDED AS A POLITICAL WEAPON OF THE JAPANESE."

THE COUNCIL PLUNGED INTO THE INDONESIAN AFFAIR AFTER GREECE FORMALLY CHARGED THREE RUSSIAN BALKAN SATELLITES WITH AGGRESSION IN A DRASTIC NEW MOVE AIMED AT COUNTERING A SOVIET UNION VETO.

GREEK AMBASSADOR VASSILI DENDRAMIS HANDED THE COMPLAINT TO IVAN KERNO, ASSISTANT SECRETARY GENERAL, SHORTLY AFTER 3 P.M., AS THE UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL MET TO CONSIDER THE INDONESIAN AND BALKAN CASES.

JUL 1947

A197UN

DENDRAMIS SAID THAT HE HAD SUBMITTED THE COMPLAINT UNDER CHAPTER SEVEN OF THE U.N. CHARTER.

BY BRINGING THE BALKAN CASE BEFORE THE VETO-THROTTLED SECURITY COUNCIL IN A MORE DRASTIC MANNER, GREECE HAS NOW CHARGED

YUGOSLAVIA, BULGARIA AND ALBANIA WITH AGGRESSION.

DENDRAMIS TOLD REPORTERS THAT THE THREE BALKAN COUNTRIES WERE SPECIFICALLY MENTIONED IN THE NEW COMPLAINT WHICH HAD BEEN EXPECTED FOLLOWING TALKS IN WASHINGTON YESTERDAY.

CHAPTER VII PROVIDES FOR U.N. ACTION IN CASES OF AGGRESSION AND BREACHES OF PEACE.

SHORTLY AFTER THE CHARGES WERE FILED, THE COUNCIL, WITHOUT ARGUMENT, AGREED TO AN AUSTRALIAN REQUEST THAT IT TAKE UP THE INDONESIAN CASE PROMPTLY.

THE GREEK MOVE WAS MADE IN A LETTER FROM CONSTANTINE TSALDARIS, GREEK FOREIGN MINISTER NOW IN WASHINGTON, TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL PRESIDENT. IN THIS TSALDARIS DECLARED THAT ALBANIA, BULGARIA AND YUGOSLAVIA HAD CONTINUED THEIR CONCERTED ACTIVITIES OF SENDING ARMED BANDS ACROSS THE BORDERS OF GREECE "IN CONTINUATION OF THE ATTEMPT TO OVERTHROW THE DULY ELECTED GOVERNMENT AND TO SET UP A MINORITY DICTATORSHIP RESPONSIVE TO ALIEN CONTROL."

HE SAID THE "ACTS OF AGGRESSION HAVE INCREASED IN BOLDNESS AND INTENSITY, CULMINATING IN THE WELL-ORGANIZED INVASION OF GREECE..."

TSALDARIS WROTE THAT A MEMBER OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL HAD ENCOURAGED THESE "ACTS OF AGGRESSION AND DEFIANCE" BY USING ITS SPECIAL VOTING PRIVILEGE IN THE COUNCIL. HE DID NOT NAME THE MEMBER, BUT RUSSIA VETOED AN AMERICAN RESOLUTION FOR A BALKANS COMMISSION. HE SPECIFICALLY ASKED FOR ACTION UNDER CHAPTER VII.

THAT CHAPTER WAS INVOKED FOR THE FIRST TIME IN U.N. HISTORY YESTERDAY BY AUSTRALIA IN BRINGING THE INDONESIAN CASE TO THE SECURITY COUNCIL. BOTH THE INDONESIAN AND BALKANS ISSUES ARE ON THE COUNCIL'S AGENDA FOR THE MEETING TODAY (3 P.M. E.D.T.).

IT WAS SAID AUTHORITATIVELY THAT THE GREEKS HAVE BEEN TOLD BY THE UNITED STATES THAT THE TRUMAN AID PLAN REMAINED DEFINITELY IN FORCE DESPITE THE RUSSIA VETO OF AN AMERICAN PROPOSAL TO SET UP A BALKANS COMMISSION. FURTHERMORE, IT WAS SAID THAT THE UNITED STATES TOLD THE GREEKS THIS COUNTRY WAS FIRMLY BEHIND THEM IN THEIR EFFORTS TO ESTABLISH A STABLE GOVERNMENT AND STOP THE DISORDERS IN THE BALKANS.

CHAPTER VII INCLUDES STRONG MEASURES, FROM BREAKING OFF RELATIONS WITH THE AGGRESSOR UP TO ACTUAL MILITARY OPERATIONS BY THE UNITED NATIONS AGAINST ANY COUNTRY THE SECURITY COUNCIL DECIDES HAS COMMITTED AN ACT OF AGGRESSION.

HOWEVER, THE UNITED NATIONS POLICE FORCE WHICH WOULD CARRY OUT ANY SUCH MILITARY ORDERS STILL IS IN THE DISCUSSION STAGES. ONE SOLDIER HAS YET BEEN COMMITTED TO THE U.N. FORCE.

U.N. OBSERVERS SAID A SIGNIFICANT PART OF CHAPTER VII IS ARTICLE 51, WHICH PERMITS U.N. MEMBERS TO TAKE COLLECTIVE ACTION FOR SELF-DEFENSE AGAINST AN ARMED ATTACK UNTIL THE SECURITY COUNCIL CAN ACT. IT WAS SAID THIS WOULD BE ONE WAY FOR ACTION IN THE FACE OF A RUSSIA VETO WHICH HAS KILLED AN AMERICAN PROPOSAL TO SET UP A BALKANS COMMISSION TO WATCH OVER THE TROUBLED AREA.

HERSCHEL V.JOHNSON, U.S.DEPUTY DELEGATE ON THE SECURITY COUNCIL, WAS BACK AT HIS DESK TODAY AFTER A SHORT VISIT AT THE STATE DEPARTMENT IN WASHINGTON DURING WHICH, A RELIABLE INFORMANT SAID, STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS SPECIFICALLY APPROVED HIS CONDUCT OF THE FIGHT WITH RUSSIA IN THE COUNCIL OVER THE BALKANS.

THE POSSIBILITY THAT THE UNITED STATES MIGHT ANNOUNCE HER NEXT MOVE IN THE BALKANS CASE TODAY WAS ADVANCED HERE, BUT SOME SOURCES SAID THE U.N. LIKELY WOULD WAIT FOR ANDREI A.GROMYKO'S EXPLANATION OF THE VETO. GROMYKO WAS SLATED TO SPEAK THIS AFTERNOON.

THE UPSHOT OF DISCUSSIONS BETWEEN JOHN AND STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS, AN INFORMED SOURCE SAID, IS THAT THE UNITED STATES WILL SEEK EVERY WAY POSSIBLE IN THE U.N. TO SETTLE THE GREEK QUESTION; THAT THE UNITED STATES WILL CONTINUE ITS SUPPORT OF THE GREEK GOVERNMENT; THAT THE UNITED STATES IS BEHIND THE UNITED NATIONS WITH ITS FULLEST SUPPORT.

IN WASHINGTON GREEK FOREIGN MINISTER CONSTANTINE TSALDARIS SAID THAT VARIOUS POSSIBLE ACTIONS ARE BEING CONSIDERED BY HIS GOVERNMENT AND A DECISION LIKELY WILL BE MADE BY THE END OF THE DAY AS TO WHAT LINE OF ACTION SHOULD BE TAKEN. HE DECLARED HE COULD NOT SAY MORE FOR THE TIME BEING.

THESE SOURCES SAID U.S. DEPUTY DELEGATE HERSCHEL V. JOHNSON MIGHT DISCLOSE AMERICA'S NEXT STEP IN THE SERIOUS EAST-WEST STRUGGLE OVER THE BALKANS IN THE VETO-THROTTLED SECURITY COUNCIL THIS AFTERNOON OR TONIGHT.

A CALL FOR IMMEDIATE ACTION ON THE INDONESIAN QUESTION, BROUGHT BEFORE THE UNITED NATIONS YESTERDAY BY INDIA AND AUSTRALIA, MEANWHILE WAS PUT ON THE COUNCIL'S PROVISIONAL AGENDA FOR THIS AFTERNOON'S MEETING, PREVIOUSLY SCHEDULED ON THE BALKAN CASE.

THE COUNCIL ITSELF WILL DECIDE WHICH ISSUE GETS PRIORITY, AND U.N. OFFICIALS SAID THEY WERE PREPARED TO SCHEDULE THE COUNCIL'S FIRST NIGHT SESSION TONIGHT TO TAKE UP EITHER OF THE ISSUES IF THE COUNCIL DECIDES THIS IS DESIRABLE.

JOHNSON RETURNED EARLY TODAY FROM WASHINGTON, WHERE HE WAS SUMMONED BY SECRETARY OF STATE MARSHALL TO AID IN DRAFTING COUNTER-MOVES AGAINST RUSSIA AND HER SATELLITES IN RETALIATION FOR THE SOVIET VOTE.

ONE SOURCES SAID THERE WAS "A GOOD CHANCE" JOHNSON HAD RETURNED WITH A DEFINITE PLAN OF ACTION.

SPECULATION BOTH HERE AND IN WASHINGTON CENTERED ON THE POSSIBILITY THAT THE UNITED STATES WOULD REOPEN THE CASE IN THE SECURITY COUNCIL BY CLAIMING THAT THE BALKAN SITUATION HAS BECOME AN ACTIVE THREAT TO WORLD PEACE.

AMERICAN SOURCES EMPHASIZED THAT EVERY DISPOSITION WOULD BE MADE TO FIND SOME EFFECTIVE ACTION WITHIN THE UNITED NATIONS TO SETTLE THE PROBLEM.

DURING HIS CONFERENCES IN WASHINGTON, JOHNSON TALKED TO UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE ROBERT A. LOVETT, ASSISTANT SECRETARY NORMAN ARMOUR, WHO IS IN CHARGE OF ALL POLITICAL AFFAIRS, AND DEAN RUSK, CHIEF OF THE DIVISION OF SPECIAL POLITICAL AFFAIRS.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED IN WASHINGTON THAT JOHNSON DID NOT ASK TO SEE SECRETARY MARSHALL BECAUSE HE DID NOT THINK IT WAS NECESSARY.

AMERICAN SOURCES SAID THAT THE WASHINGTON CONFERENCES DID NOT START OFF FROM SCRATCH, SINCE STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS BEGAN SERIOUSLY CONSIDERING POSSIBLE NEW ACTION FIVE DAYS AGO WHEN IT SEEMED THAT RUSSIA MIGHT USE THE VETO. (more)
